Arms Conference Begins Study Of 'Hoover' Plan For Limiting Effectives

JOIN LEAGUE ON JAP ISSUE

Committee of Nineteen Expresses Regret that Japan Had Recognized the New Manchurian State; Reject Protest of Chinese Representatives Over Delay Of Consideration of the League Commission Report.

Geneva, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The effective committee of the World Disarmament Conference agreed today to an immediate discussion of President Hoover's plan for limitation of effectives.

Taking up the plan submitted yesterday by Hugh Wilson, American Minister to Switzerland, the committee began the first study of division effectives into police and national defense forces.

They adjourned until Monday. The committee of nineteen, which is the executive body of the extraordinary assembly of the League, joined the League Council today in regretting officially that Japan had recognized the new Manchurian state of Manchukuo. In doing so, the committee said, Japan took "a step likely to prejudice settlement of the dispute."

It is believed, however, the protest of W. W. Yen, Chinese representative, against the delay granted by the council in considering the report of the League commission of inquiry in Manchuria.

Approving the committee's expression of regret, M. M. Benes, Czechoslovakian delegate, said:

"In our meetings heretofore it has been customary to express our confidence that the disputants would clarify their engagements and not aggravate the situation. Unhappily events have decided our confidence. The remark of M. Benes was agreed to by the Swedish delegate.

As a result of the rejection of the Chinese request that consideration of the commission's report be not delayed, the committee will call a special meeting of the assembly only after the League Council examines the report and refers it to the committee of nineteen.

For this reason it may be late November or December before the special assembly convenes.

G. O. P. Press Ballot Fight in S. Carolina

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 1.—(AP)—South Carolina's Republican leaders pressed plans today to have names of both Democratic and Republican candidates in the general election placed on one ballot.

The Republicans claim two ballots will destroy "the secrecy of the ballot" following a conference with Democratic officials yesterday at which no agreement was reached. J. C. Hambright, Republican, National Committeeman, issued the following statement:

"We proposed to put all of our energies and resources behind this fight, and we are determined to press our efforts to a successful conclusion."

Claud N. Sapp, Democratic State Chairman who had been asked to attend the conference but did not, made public a letter he had written a Republican leader, stating "I have no right to assume that the Board of Election Commissioners and Members of the laws and regulations affecting the conduct of the election as well as the provision with reference to the secrecy of the ballot."

Geese Roost On Top of Bank

Fayetteville, Oct. 1.—(AP)—A flock of wild geese, southbound for the winter, found a pent house here and stopped overnight.

Believed blinded by the glare of lights, the flock settled down for the night atop the Cumberland Bank building. At dawn they were on their way again.

ROBBERS GET BIG PAYROLL

Five Men Hold Up Armored Truck in New York and Escape with $10,000.

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Five robbers, armed with revolver and working at high speed, today disarmed two bank messengers in a Bank and Trust Company payroll truck, seized four payrolls totaling $13,000 and escaped in an automobile.

The hold-up occurred at the entrance to pier 40, Hudson River, at the foot of Bank Street, and the robbers worked so quickly that the two bank messengers and the driver of the payroll truck told police they doubted whether they could identify the hold-ups.

Several longshoremen who saw the robbery also said they failed to get a good view of the men, who disappeared in their car in less than a minute and a half after they began the robbery.

Michael Nichell was driving the truck and the two messengers, Jacob Holder and Henry Bond were in the glass-paneled rear of the machine where the money was being carried.

The truck was just turning in toward the pier to deliver a $39,500 payroll to the Southern Pacific Steamship Company when the robbers car pulled directly in front of them.

By the time Nichell brought the machine to a stop to avoid striking the bandit car, four of the robbers had alighted and were smashing the glass panels of the truck front. (Continued on Page Four)

TEACHERS ARE CLUB'S GUESTS

Faculty City Schools Entertained by the Kiwanians Here last Night.

Marked by a program of music, speeches, presentations of gifts, frivolity and fun, Kiwanians entertained teachers of city schools at the Woman's Club building last night.

"Teachers' Night," an annual occasion with the club, is always one of the highlights of the year, and last night was no exception. The club members and the teachers were never better than when they attempted to beat one another in praise of efforts looking to improvement of community life.

The affair developed into something of a "love feast" with Edgar Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, and Ralph Deal, member of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, doing honor; for the club, and Mrs. Luther Herring holding the spotlight for the (Continued on Page Four)

ROOSEVELT IN CHICAGO FOR BIG BANQUET

Democratic Nominee Will Also Attend the Ball Game Between Cubs and Yankees.

By WALTER T. BROWN (Associated Press Staff Writer) Chicago, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt today had before him a busy program, including attendance at the third game of the World Series, a conference with Illinois Democratic leaders and a banquet, before continuing on to Detroit, the last stop on his far-flung Presidential campaign trip.

Chicago welcome the Democratic nominee last night with a spectacular and colorful demonstration that rivaled in noise and enthusiasm all of the score or more greeting he has received during his 8,900 mile journey through twenty states. "It was marvelous, I have never seen anything like it," was his comment upon the old-fashioned red fire and torch light parade that (Continued on Page Four)

HIGH SCHOOL BOY KILLED

E. C. Hollar, Jr., Accidentally Shoots Himself While Out Hunting Here.

E. C. Hollar Jr., of this city was accidentally killed while hunting late yesterday afternoon. "E. C." as he was known to all his friends, left his home on the Winterville road yesterday afternoon attired in his hunting suit. He took his gun and told his parents that he was going to look for some squirrels. He did not return by supper time, but the family was not alarmed because he frequently came in late from hunting. However, about eight o'clock, when he did not show up, his parents became uneasy and after ascertaining that he was not to be found at the home of any of his friends, instituted search. About 9:30 his body was found some hundreds of yards from the house. Corporal Ellwanger was called and immediately empaneled a jury. The verdict of the jury was that the deceased died as the result of accidental gunshot.

"E. C." was sixteen years of age and a prominent member of the present senior class of the high school. He possessed a fine mind and was universally liked by the faculty, student body and all others who knew him. His father, Dr. (Continued on Page Four)

HELP GROWERS TO KEEP FARMS

Whole Power of Reconstruction Corporation to be Used in Behalf of Farmers.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The American farmer was assured today that the whole power of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be used, through various established agencies, to "help the farmer keep his farm."

The assurances were given at the conclusion of a conference held here yesterday at the suggestion of President Hoover. Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles, chairman of the conference, attended by representatives of governmental groups and private organizations, said, after the meeting had adjourned:

"The result is that the whole power of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is to be thrown back of the agencies which lend money and receive farm mortgages. The policy of these united groups will be to help the farmer to keep his farm."

The meeting was attended by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, Gardner Cowles and Wilson McCarthy, directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, together with representatives of the following agencies: Joint stock land banks, insurance companies, Federal Farm Loan Board, and the twelve regional banking and industrial committees of the Federal Reserve System.

Assurances of co-operation in aiding "deserving farmers" to avoid foreclosures were given by representatives of the agencies.

South America In Grip Of Civil Stife And War

(By The Associated Press) Disturbances of the public order, running all the way from comparatively minor attempts at revolution to first-class civil war, are afflicting seven of the ten republics in South America. Paraguay and Bolivia are having "undeclared war" over the Gran Chaco territory which lies on their borders. Colombia and Peru are at loggerheads as a result of the seizure of the Colombian city of Leticia by Peruvians. Brazil is racked by civil war. Another of a long series of revolts is under way in Chile, and in Ecuador, which is (Continued on Page Four)

LEAF SALES PICK UP HERE

Over Million Dollars Paid For Over Ten Million Pounds Leaf This Season.

The largest sale of the season was recorded on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday when 1,283,212 pounds of leaf was sold for $128,779.11 at a general average of $10.40 per hundred pounds.

The sale swelled the season's total to 10,634,438 pounds for which the market paid out $1,072,374.54. The tremendous offerings placed Greenville in a comfortable lead of all other markets of the bright leaf belt, sustaining recognition accorded the city by the government last year as "the greatest bright leaf tobacco market in the world."

The offerings yesterday consisted largely of inferior grades. Prices were described as strong for better grades and demand was quite active. K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, stated today that people from many far-off sections marketed their tobacco here this week and expressed appreciation of the splendid service accorded them. Ehringhaus To Speak At Ayden Democratic Rally

Hon. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Democratic candidate for governor, will speak in Ayden on Saturday, October 8, at 7 o'clock p. m. Mr. Ehringhaus has a number of friends in this little town, and he will be received with a very warm welcome. This will be Mr. Ehringhaus' first public speech in Pitt County during the campaign. His preparations are being made by the citizens of Ayden for one of the biggest Democratic rallies ever held in Eastern North Carolina.

At 11 o'clock a. m. a big Hoover cart rode will be staged, and from present indications, several hundred Hoover carts will participate in this parade. Information has been received by the committee in charge that a number of Hoover's carts will be here from Greene, Beaufort, Martin, Wilson, Lenoir, Edgecombe and Craven counties, in addition to the large number of Hoover carts which will be furnished by the citizens of Pitt County. Greene County claims to have the distinction of originating the Hoover cart idea, although there are more Hoover carts in Pitt County than perhaps any county in Eastern North Carolina. It is nothing unusual to see in this little town on Saturday Hoover carts of various designs, from twenty-five to fifty in number. Those participating in the Hoover cart parade will be served free barbecue dinner, following the parade. Arrangements have also been provided for the feeding, free of charge, of all mules, horses, oxen or goats.

A number of specially designed Hoover carts in this section are being constructed for this occasion. In view of the large number of Hoover cart entrants that are expected to participate in this parade, the committee in charge, in order to avoid confusion, will give to each Hoover cart entrant a number immediately preceding the parade. All Hoover cart entrants, who will participate in the parade, will, upon arrival in town, proceed immediately to a large vacant lot near the National Veneer Company's plant. They will be greeted, upon arrival, by Mayor J. D. Cannon, who is in charge of the parade and his assistants. Consecutive numbers will be given to each Hoover cart entrant by Mr. Cannon's committee, in order that each participant in the parade will bear a given number. This number will be so displayed that the judges may intelligently determine, by number and otherwise, the winners in the contest.

Seven Killed By Wall Of Water In A Cloudburst

Bakersville, Calif., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Leaving seven known dead and at least twenty missing, a forty-foot wall of water roared through Thachapi Pass, forty miles from here, last night after a cloudburst. The torrent struck a Southern Pacific trestle at Woodford, 40 miles south of Bakersfield, hurling a locomotive and seven freight cars into a canyon and killing the engineer, A. H. Ross, of Bakersfield. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kadd and their two children perished when the water wall struck their gasoline service (Continued on Page Four)

SEVERAL HURT IN MINE AREA

Canton, Ill., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Six men were injured today when a crowd estimated at 1,000 attacked miners as they attempted to go to work in the Clearview and Pschirrer coal mines, among the largest in the Fulton county independent field. State police and deputy sheriffs were rushed to the scene. Several shots were fired.

The crowd of pickets forced a Toledo, Peoria and Western train crew to abandon efforts to move cars from the Pschirrer mine. A number of automobiles and trucks were badly damaged in the melee. Deputy Sheriff Harvey Williams was dispatched to Canton at the first inkling of trouble, but he was powerless to disperse the throng. Chief Walter L. Moody of the state highway police sent a patrol and left Springfield with reinforcements.

CIVIL COURT CLOSES HERE

Forty or More Cases Disposed of During One-Week Sitting In This City.

The one week civil term of Superior court completed a part of its calendar and adjourned yesterday. About forty cases of more or less interest to the people of this part of the country were disposed of during the five-day session. While only about a dozen cases were actually tried out, the remainder were settled through compromise action.

Several tax suits brought by the county against property owners in different parts of the county were compromised and the remainder were left for consideration at the next term of court. The suits were for collection of 1929 taxes and something over a dozen were on file. Two or three cases consumed over (Continued on Page Four)

SAYS INSULTS WAS INFLATED

Auditor Charges Utility Values Over Twenty-One Millions.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—(AP)—A new chapter to the storied high finance of the fallen Insull utility empire has come to light with testimony of an auditor that the value of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., had in his opinion, been inflated $21,200,000.

Frank E. White, a member of the auditing firm of Arthur Anderson & Company, appearing as a witness before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley in the search for assets of the $250,000,000 bankrupt concern, said that his calculations indicated the inflation was made by charging to income items which he believed should have been charged to capital. His testimony, given yesterday, was (Continued on Page Four)

Gov. Roosevelt In Stands as Yankee Home Run King Hits One of Root's Twisters for Four Bases with Two Runners on the Paths; Cubs Nearly Even Count in Third With Brace of Runs, Including a Homer by Cuyler; At Start of Fourth the Game Stood 4-3.

A brilliant drive for the circuit by Babe Ruth with two runners on base in the first inning of the third game of the World's Series at Chicago today, gave the Yankees a 3 to 1 lead in the race for world supremacy in baseball.

The Cubs came back in their half of the same inning and sent one runner across the rubber.

George Pipgras was pitcher for the Yankees and Charlie Root for the Cubs.

Among the thousands attending was Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, Democratic nominee for the presidency, who is spending the day in Chicago attending a conference with Democratic leaders.

Play-by-play account of the third game of the world series: In the Yankees' half of the third inning Gehrig hit a home run with nobody on, increasing the Yankees' lead to 4 to 1.

First Inning Yankees—Combs up, Ball one, inside. Ball two, outside. Strike one, called. Foul, strike two. Combs grounded to Jurgens and went to second on the shortstop's wild toss to first. Sewell up, Ball one, inside. Foul, strike one. Ball two, low. Ball three, outside. Sewell walks. Ruth up, Ball one, outside. Ball two, low. Ruth smashed a home-run into the right centerfield bleachers, scoring Combs and Sewell. It was the Babe's 14th home run in world's series competition. Gehrig up, Ball one, Gehrig grounded out, Herman to Grimm. Lazzeri up, Strike one, called. Strike two, swinging. Ball one, low. Foul. English misjudged the ball in the sun and lost the chance for a put-out. Lazzeri fanned on a called third strike. Dickey up, Ball one, low. Ball two, inside. Strike one, called. Strike two, called. Dickey lashed a sing's down the first base line, Chapman up, Strike one, called. Strike two, swinging, Chapman singled to left. Di-key stopping at second. Crossetti up, Malone was warming up for the Cubs. Crossetti drove a high fly to Stephenson.

Three runs, three hits, one error. One left.

Cubs—Herman up, Ball one, inside. Ball two, inside. Ball three, low and inside. Strike one, called. Herman was kd. English up, Ball one, inside. Ball two, inside. Ball three, low. The crowd was in an uproar. Strike one, called. Strike two, called. Pipgras threw to first. Foul, into upper deck. English fled out to Ruth, Herman held at first. Cuyler up, Ball one, high. Foul, strike one. It was a smash into the lower boxes off right field. Ball two, low. Foul, strike two, into lower boxes again. Cuyler hit against the right field screen for two bases, scoring Herman. Stephenson up, Strike one, called. He grounded out, Crossetti to Gehrig. Cuyler holding second. Moore up, Ball one, high. Ball two, high and outside. Ball three, outside. Moore walked. Grimm up, Strike one, called, it was a floater. Grimm bounced to Crossetti and was out at first.

One run, one hit, no errors, two left.

Second Inning Yankees—Pipgras up, Ball one, inside. Strike one called. Strike two swinging. Pipgras fanned, swinging at a fast ball. Combs up, Ball one, wide. Strike one, swinging. Combs hoisted to Moore, who took the ball near the bleachers in left center. Sewell up, Foul, strike one, off the first base line. Ball one, wide. Ball two, outside. Ball three, inside. Sewell walked, the fourth ball being low and outside. Ruth up, Strike one, called. Ball one, low. Ball two, low. Ball three, outside. Foul, strike two. ABOUT TOWN

The move made by President Hoover to grant a moratorium to wheat growers of the west is a bit of political strategy probably tendered to offset the inroads made by Franklin D. Roosevelt in that part of the country.

No sooner had announcement of the President's intentions been made than political leaders of the south demanded that cotton and tobacco growers be granted the same leniency on their loans. The idea of the President was to collect a third of the loans now and postpone the remainder until Congress had made new provisions for collections.

Conditions among the growers in this part of the country are probably as severe as those of the west and it would be positively unfair to favor one section and neglect another.

The President certainly stuck his feet in a hornet's nest when he made such a proposal and whether it will boost his political aspirations remains to be seen.

The movement to enlist one out of every four boys in the nation as members of the Boy Scout organization is one of the most ambitious ever attempted and promises to result in a higher type of citizenship in every community.

The work of Boy Scouts in Greenville has been very conspicuous in recent years. Wherever there has been a public gathering of any note Boy Scouts could be found on the job doing their bit for the public. These youths are trained for a high type of service to the community, and usually develop into sturdy young men with visions of what the world needs to hold intact the foundation upon which the nation is founded.

They are trained in the necessity of high moral conduct and responsibility of service to their fellowmen and whenever Scout sars found they are usually doing their best to live up to the obligations imposed by their organization.

Greenville Scouts are backed by men of character and with a keen understanding of what the world demands of them, and are trying to impress upon these youths the importance of developing into manhood with due appreciation of their obligation to society. It is a great work they have undertaken and is bound to reflect in a higher type of citizenship.

Colored people as well as members of the white race are deriving inexpressible benefit from activities of public health departments of the nation. Health conditions in the majority of communities have shown a decided upward turn in recent years and promise to show a more pronounced trend as colored people are more completely informed concerning the need of preventative to ward off illness.

The campaign in Pitt county has been marked by conspicuous success in recent years, and especially among the colored people who have received direct attention through a special campaign conducted through funds furnished by the Rosenwald Foundation.

The county was fortunate in being made the testing ground for general clinics and hundreds of people who received treatment are in much better physical condition than before.

Through other campaigns the health situation has been boosted immensely and the county probably has the lowest death rate from certain kinds of diseases of any other county in the state.

Education is one of the dominant factors in this fight against disease and death and people not familiar with preventative measures should acquaint themselves by reading literature sent out by the public health departments and other agencies engaging in work of this kind.

Democratic leaders of the county are holding pow-wows from time to time in the hope of making the campaign more effective. Within

Nothing Venture

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SNOPSIS: Jervis Weare is awakened at 2 o'clock in the morning by Rosamund Carew, the girl who jilted him in an effort to secure his fortune for herself, and goes with her to help with a car she says she has ditched nearby. Following Jervis through the night is the memory of his wife Nan as he saw her a short while before, when he comforted her terror at having dreamed that he was dead.

Chapter 36
WHERE IS JERVIS?

Nan came early to breakfast, and Ferdinand Francis late, with his red hair sticking and ruffled from the sea. He had made some attempt to brush it, but except for the color it looked a good deal like a coat of a Scottish terrier. Jervis did not come to breakfast at all.

"Alfred says he went out early," said Ferdinand over his bacon. "It's going to be hotter than ever, so I guess he's wiser to get through with anything strenuous before the thermometer breaks."

By eleven o'clock Alfred was being questioned.

"Did Mr. Weare say he was going to be late?"

"No, ma'am."

"Well, did he say where he was going?"

"No, sir."

"Did he say anything at all, Alfred?"

"No, ma'am."

"Well, did you see which way he went?"

Alfred looked agonized. He was a shy lad with a strong objection to committing himself.

"No, sir."

Nan made a flashing guess.

"Did you see him at all, Alfred?"

"No, ma'am. I can't say I did."

"He wasn't there when you went to wake him?"

"No, ma'am, I can't say he was."

"There wasn't anything more to be said. It was the most ordinary thing in the world for Jervis to get up and go out before the servants were afoot. He would go down to the sea for a swim at three in the morning if the fancy took him. Since Nan had been at Weare he had been out every morning. Once he had walked into Croyston and breakfasted there because he wanted to see a man about a deal in sheep. He might have done the same thing again, and he would certainly be frightfully angry if he were pursued by fussy inquiries."

Lunch time passed. At 4 o'clock she got up from her chair as Ferdinand came into the library, and went to meet him. When they met, she looked at him, and then looked quickly away.

"We've got to do something," she said.

"Well, what do you want to do?"

"I don't know. I'm frightened."

"Oh, I wouldn't be frightened."

"He'd never stay away like this—would he?"

"Well—he might. But we'll do some telephoning and see if we can't get him. If he went into Croyston, he'd go to the hotel."

Jervis had not been in the hotel, nor in any of the other places that they tried. They rang up the Tetterleys and Rosamund answered.

"Did you want Janet?" She's away. She and Basher went off last night to put in a couple of days with his sister. Jervis? No, he hasn't been here. Has he gone off? Well, he does, you know—he always has. I expect he's forgotten he's married. I shouldn't ask too many questions if I were you—he won't like it." She laughed.

Nan's voice came small, and steady, and clear.

"You haven't seen him?"

"Not since yesterday."

Nan hung up the receiver. She turned a composed, colorless face on Ferdinand.

"What are we to do?"

"What did she say?"

"The Tetterleys are away. She says she hasn't seen him. She says he goes off—suddenly—like this. I that true?"

F. F. ran his hands through his ginger hair.

"Well—he's sudden. Jervis has always been extraordinarily sudden. It's his temperament. If he gets an idea, he doesn't want to wait and turn it over in his mind—he wants to get going and do something about it quick."

"Without letting anyone know?"

"Well, he might give a telegram to someone to send, and they might forget it. That's a thing that's very liable to happen. But I was thinking I'd run down into Croyston and make some inquiries."

Jervis had not been seen in Croyston. He had not been seen at the railway station. There was an early train to town at seven-forty-five. They tracked down the two porters who had been on duty. Neither of them knew Mr. Weare by sight—but the train had been quite crowded as there was a day excursion.

The agent, a long melancholy man with a thin neck and an embarrassingly mobile Adam's apple, proved to be the type of witness who responds instantly to any suggestion. Asked if he had noticed a tall gentleman with black hair, he fingered his Adam's apple and looked vaguely over Nan's head.

"Tall gentleman? Black hair?"

"Yes," said Nan. "Did you see him?"

"Well, I might have."

"But did you?"

"Very tall gentleman?"

"Six feet," said Ferdinand firmly. "The agent's eyes came down an inch or two. From his manner it appeared that if he had wanted a gentleman of six-foot-three or upwards, he could have obliged them—but six . . . He shook his head mournfully."

"Well, I can't say as I noticed anyone of that description."

"You'd be likely to notice Mr. Weare—he's noticeable. Quick walk—strong build—very black hair—holds his head up and looks as if he'd bought the earth."

"Well, I couldn't rightly say I'd know him."

"Was there anyone on the train who might have been Mr. Weare?"

"Well, there might have been."

The man brightened slightly.

"Was there?" said Nan.

The agent seemed to think so. He stopped fingering his Adam's apple and scratched his head in a melancholy, ruminative manner.

They had to leave it at that.

When they were driving back from Croyston, Nan said in a suffocated little voice:

"I dreamt—last night—that he was dead."

"Well, that means he's alive," said Ferdinand. "Dreams go by contraries." But he didn't look at her.

"Stop the car!" said Nan rather breathlessly.

Ferdinand pulled up at the side of the road. They were out of sight and hearing of the sea, in a lane with a straggling hedge on either side. The sky over them was veiled with something between haze and fog. The hedges were powdered thick with dust. It was very hot and very still. The light was pitiless—glare without sun.

"I think there's going to be a storm," said Ferdinand.

Nan took no notice.

"I dreamt—last night—that he was dead." She looked straight in front of her, and neither face nor voice had any expression. "It was a dreadful dream. There was a dark place—and I saw him—he was lying on wet stones—it was quite dark."

"How could you see him if it was dark?" said Ferdinand. Nan was affecting him very uncomfortably. He made his voice as brisk as possible.

"I don't know—you can in dreams. I saw him. He was lying on the wet stones—and his eyes were shut. I woke up screaming, and he came in."

"What time was it?"

"I don't know. I looked at my watch afterwards—it was a quarter to two."

"He was up at two—perhaps he went out then. What clothes are missing?"

Nan knocks imploring on a door, Monday, and it remains closed to her.

Seeing Through My Windshield

(By Ethel Nice, H. D. A.)
New Home Demonstration Club
 A new home demonstration club has been organized in the community about six miles beyond Farmville. This group of women has met several times, but had not organized because of the distance between them. However, they have decided that in some way they will get together for regular monthly meetings. One member became discouraged, one day earlier in the year and it seemed about everything was going wrong. As she worked in the tobacco by herself that day she organized (in her mind) a woman's club for her community. This club is growing and the members expect to accomplish much by being organized. The officers are: President, Mrs. A. C. Caraway; vice-president, Mrs. J. R. Lewis; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Hinson.

Food Leaders' Meeting
 The last meeting of the home demonstration food leaders was held at the Greenville Woman's Club on Wednesday afternoon. The women have been intensely interested in the lessons brought by Miss Mary E. Tromas, extension nutritionist. Miss Thomas' final lecture and demonstration dealt with "The Hot School Lunch." There is nothing more necessary in Pitt county today than an adequate hot lunch for the school children. There are so many who come to school having no breakfast or a very scant one. With a cold lunch quickly eaten, the child goes back to the school room for another period of work. Both the health of the children and the school work could be improved by having at least one hot dish at noon. Several schools expect to make their first attempt at the hot lunch this year and home demonstration members are anxious to help with them.

4-H Girls Organize
 Six 4-H clubs have been reorganized this week. Each fall the girls reorganize their groups, elect new officers and begin a new program. This year only the girls who sign and return a 4-H club contract will be considered members. As soon as all groups have sent in their new list of club officers, a meeting of the 4-H council will be called. The county officers have outlined an interesting program to present to the local clubs for their consideration. There are two 4-H contracts, one for beginners and one for the older girls. They should be signed by the club member and by one parent before they are returned to the home agent. The contracts are as follows:

Junior 4-H Contract, 1932-33
 (I expect to do the following things):

1. Junior clothing: Make a sewing box; make a nightgown; make a simple dress.
2. Take part in health contest.
3. Read and report a book from the reading list.
4. Plant at least one tree or shrub.
5. Take part in club programs when asked.

Other Meetings Held.
 Red Oak, Stokes and Red Banks home demonstration clubs held their regular meetings this week. The subject was "Re-bottoming Chairs." Mrs. Ed Smith, member of the Winterville club, has visited all but two of the home demonstration clubs this month. Mrs. J. Brooks Tucker president of the county council, has

HOW DO THEY DO IT?

GENTS, MEET UP WITH MR. AH FOEY WHO'S BEEN APPOINTED CHIEF COOK AND BOTTLE-WASHER—YOU'LL PLEASE LEND HIM YOUR HEARTY CO-OPERATION IN SEEING WE GET OUR MEALS ON TIME—

LOOKS LIKE THIS PLACE IS GETTING TO BE A REGULAR LEAGUE OF NATIONS, EH, LOUIE?

HEY! DON'T BE LOAFING! RUSTLE SOME FIRE WOOD FOR THE COOK AND MAKE IT SNAPPY!

GOSH! I'M GETTING UP IN THE WORLD—I CAME HERE AS MANAGER AND NOW I'M A CHINAMAN'S ASSISTANT!

You said it, Bill.

That the East Carolina Teachers College in this city is attracting attention of people in all parts of the nation is evidenced by the large enrollment this year. Students represent many far away states as well as nearly every county in North Carolina.

The opportunities offered by this college to young people desiring to enter the teaching profession are innumerable and the coming years will find enrollment even greater than it is today.

The value of education is being more keenly appreciated today than ever before, and when depression like the nation has had the last two years fails to discourage improvement of the mind, then nothing else may be expected to interfere.

Greenville High Blanks Kinston By Score Of 13-0 In Conference Battle

Greenville High School's football team unleashed a powerful offensive drive and won its first conference game of the season yesterday by defeating Kinston by a 13 to 0 score. The locals showed much improvement over the work in last week's game with LaGrange; the line blocked and charged nicely and the interference was the best displayed by a local team in some years.

Greenville scored early in the first quarter. Taylor punted over the Kinston safety man's head and in his hurry to get the ball he fumbled it. Warren, local right end, recovered on the 22-yard stripe. Three tries gained six yards, but on the fourth down Harjee went around right end behind nice interference to score standing up. MacAdams added the extra point on a line play to make it seven to nothing.

Several times during the first half the locals were in scoring distance, but each time a penalty set them back. In fact, Greenville was never held for downs except after they had been penalized fifteen yards. Taylor and Hardee got off several nice runs during this period and MacAdams hit the line for substantial gains. Just as the whistle blew for the end of the first half, Taylor went off right tackle for nine yards. On the play Kinston was penalized to the one-yard line for piling on.

The referee ruled that the half was over and that Greenville was not entitled to another play free from any foul. The Greenville coach contended that play was not over until such a play was run and during the half showed the officials where they were mistaken. As a result, the half started with Greenville having the ball on the one yard line and a one play to carry it over. MacAdams took it over with plenty of room to spare.

Yesterday's game marked the high spot in the performance of several of the Greenville veterans. Joe Gaston never performed better at end. He was named captain for yesterday's game, and it seemed to inspire him. Not an inch was gained over his end all day and he was half the field on every punt ready to make the tackle. David Hardee ran the ends as though he had winged feet, and the punting of Roger Taylor, along with his interference running was beautiful to see. Graham Mac Adams backed up the line in a fine way and J. T. Williams ran the team like a real veteran. In fact, the work of every lineman was commendable with Gaton, Rivers and Wilson outstanding performers. For Kinston, the work of Dudley and Rochelle was outstanding.

Greenville plays its first home game of the season next Friday when they take on the strong Wilson outfit. Wilson is a newcomer to the conference and has an exceptionally strong team. It is hoped that a large crowd will be out to witness the opening game of the local season and see the best team that the local high school has produced in several seasons.

They hurried back to the house. Alfred rummaged about for a long while. He found trousers, a blazer, a blue serge suit, dinner clothes, socks, shirts and trunks were missing. Most important of all, Jervis' razor and tooth brush were not in the bath. Hair brushes he had left behind; dressing gown too. But a dozen new handkerchiefs were gone—Alfred remembered them particularly.

"Why should he have taken all those handkerchiefs and left behind his hair brushes?" Nan asked in a low tone.

Douglas Fairbanks appears as a modern Robinson Crusoe in his new starring vehicle "Mr. Robinson Crusoe," which opens at the State Monday.

This production deals with the experiences of an adventurous sportsman who isolates himself on a South Seas island to win a bet. With nothing but a toothbrush and his faithful dog, he comes to grips with nature in the rough, encounters cannibals and no end of harrowing experiences, and finishes with a bamboo penthouse and a beautiful South Seas maiden in his hands. The picture abounds in humor and rapid-fire action, and is framed in a gorgeous and novel tropical setting. In fact, its rhythm and movement is reminiscent in many instances, of "Robin Hood."

AID SOCIETY MEMORIAL BAPTIST CHURCH TO MEET

The Ladies Aid Society of Memorial Baptist Church will meet Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the church. The Sunbeams and Royal Ambassadors will meet at the same hour.

ATTEND DEMOCRATIC MEETING IN RALEIGH

Mrs. J. B. Spilman, Mrs. J. H. Blount, Mrs. H. S. Ragdale and Miss Ward Moore attended a meeting of the Democratic women of the state which was held in Raleigh yesterday.

They were accompanied to Raleigh by W. M. Moore, Miss Bonnie Windham and Milton Harrington.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY WILL MEET MONDAY

The Woman's Missionary Society of Immanuel Baptist Church will hold the regular monthly business meeting at the church Monday at 4 o'clock.

The Sunbeams will meet in the primary department at the same hour.

All members are urged to attend.

BAPTISTS CELEBRATE RETURN OF PASTOR WITH RALLY DAY TOMORROW

Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church, has returned from California where he has been receiving medical treatment for the last two months. He will fill his pulpit here at both the morning and evening services tomorrow. The day has been set aside as "Rally Day" by members of the congregation in recognition of the return of the pastor and hundreds of people were expected to attend the services.

Mr. Fleischmann said he was greatly improved and returns to his pastorate greatly rejuvenated and encouraged.

Improving After Operation.

Some friends of R. N. Simmons of Bethel, will be glad to learn that he is improving after undergoing a series of operations on September 23 in the U. S. Naval Hospital in Portsmouth, Va.

RETURNS AFTER AIDING CANADA'S TOBACCO CURING

Joseph Palmer has returned from Norfolk county, Ontario, where he has been the last several weeks assisting in the curing of the tobacco crop of that territory. Mr. Palmer brought back several photographs of curing operations as well as samples of the tobacco. Tobacco growing is a new industry in Canada and experienced tobacco men of this section are obtaining each season to assist in the curing process. Mr. Palmer was among the number of Eastern Carolina men who went to Canada to assist in the operations.

SEVERAL INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Several persons injured in an automobile collision near Ballard's Cross Roads Thursday night, were able to leave the hospital here today.

L. C. Fletcher of Winterville, and Misses Julia, Mary, and Ethel Wade were painfully cut and bruised when a car crashed into the automobile driven by Mr. Fletcher. The other car, said to have been driven by a man named Mewborn, hit the Winterville car as it attempted to pass a truck.

The Fletcher automobile was practically smashed to pieces and it is considered short of miraculous how the occupants escaped alive. Another of the Wade sisters, whose name could not be learned, was also numbered among the injured.

JAMES LITTLE IN DUKE HOSPITAL

Friends of James T. Little will be glad to know that he is getting along nicely, following an operation which he underwent a few days ago in Duke Hospital, Durham.

LOCAL HORSE WINS HONORABLE MENTION

One of three Greenville horses placed on display in the horse show at Raleigh Thursday night won honorable mention, and probably would have carried off higher honors had he been entered in his class.

The animals were carried to Raleigh by Milton "Chick" Johnson who was well pleased with recognition shown the steeds belonging to Dow Lassiter, Clifton Edwards and W. H. Duff, Jr. Owing to the fact that the show did not have any plantation class, it was impossible for Johnson to get a proper rating on the horses. Had there been such a class, he believes he would have returned with blue ribbons to his credit, as the horse owned by Lassiter and known as "Red Bird" has never failed to carry off first honors in his class.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S AUTUMN TOURNAMENT A SUCCESS

Farmville, Oct. 1.—The autumn tournament, of Thursday evening, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club, of which Miss Edna Foust Harris is president, was a brilliant success. Goldenrod and autumn foliage formed a lovely background for the 14 tables arranged in the dining room of the Davis Hotel, tables and other appointments being suggestive of the Bicentennial of Washington's birth. Auction and contract were played with the winner receiving prizes donated by local merchants: 1st, contract, Mrs. G. S. Vought, carton Chesterfields; 1st, auction, Mrs. J. L. Shackelford, pottery; Mrs. W. M. Willis, cigarettes; Buck Jones, oil; Mrs. J. Loyd Horton, dress material; Mrs. R. O. Lang, towels; Mrs. G. M. Holden, cigarettes; Mr. Sparkman, auto polish; Mrs. G. A. Jones, stationery; Ben Vernon, Mrs. B. Streeter Sheppard bowling allye tickets; Mrs. Ben Vernon, tickets; Miss Mae Joyner, theatre tickets; Ben Lewis, motor oil; J. J. Weikel, shoe repair tickets; A. W. Bobbitt, auto polish; Mrs. J. J. Weikel, tickets barber shop; Mac Carraway, motor oil; Miss Elizabeth Fields, brush; Mrs. P. E. Jones, costume jewelry.

Pythians Enjoy Facts Dealing With the Past

Facts dealing with historical developments of the organization marked the meeting of Knights of Pythians here Thursday night. F. C. Harding was the principal speaker and presented his hearers with considerable information concerning the lives and activities of members of the past.

The speaker presented a program dealing with the annual banquet of the lodge June 5th, 1900, and spoke of some of the characters appearing during the entertainment. Some of them are dead and some living, but the reminiscences of the speaker proved interesting to club members.

The program of the 1900 meeting follows:

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY, OCTOBER 3

South Atlantic States: Mostly fair weather with moderate temperatures most of week.

Grissom Gives to Democratic 'Victory' Fund

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 1.—(AP)—G. William Grissom, Collector of Internal Revenue for the State and Republican leader for years, has contributed to the Democratic "victory fund" but he's still a staunch supporter of the G. C. P.

When Jake F. Newell, Republican candidate for the Senate, called on Grissom here he found two bars of soap the Democrats are selling on the Collector's desk.

Grissom explained he bought it, not, to help the Democrats, but to enable the young lady selling the soap to win a bet that "you can't sell Grissom any of that Democratic soap."

Kills Two Deer and Rattlesnake Goldsboro, Oct. 1.—(AP)—When Frank Pearsall goes hunting, he does the job right. Just as dawn was breaking Pearsall left home to go hunting and before breakfast he had killed two deer and a six-foot rattlesnake.

Warships Bomb Buildings Torn Down by Quake

Athens, Oct. 1.—(AP)—British warships began bombarding today a number of buildings partially wrecked by the recent earthquakes in order to prevent them from falling upon rescue crews searching through the ruins for the bodies of victims.

The danger to the rescuers was considerable because of continued earth shocks.

Crews probing through the wreckage in the quake area found a large proportion of the victims were women and children. The fishing village of Ierissos, with a population of 2,000, was razed by a single shock.

Stageira, the birthplace of Aristotle, was among the towns destroyed. Others were Stratonic, Nearoda and Fomation. The village of Karydohori was abandoned when fire, following the quake, destroyed a number of homes.

Great numbers of the survivors were suffering today from colds and there were numerous cases of dysentery.

Lincolnton, N. C.—(AP)—The board of aldermen slashed Lincolnton's tax rate for the fiscal year from $1.15 to 95 cents.

Davidson, N. C.—(AP)—Slightly over 50 per cent of Davidson College's enrollment are students from North Carolina while the remainder of the student body is drawn from twenty states and seven foreign countries.

The season for hunting opossums and raccoons with dog and gun will be the third in the series of seasons which have opened this fall. The first was for squirrels, doves, rails and gallinules (except coot) on September 1.

Fifteen days after the hunting lid was lifted the first open periods, deer season began in Eastern North Carolina on September 15, but deer season will not be open in Western North Carolina until November 1.

Bear hunting begins today throughout the state and extends until January 15 in Eastern North Carolina, but closes 15 days earlier in the western part.

HOOPER PLEDGES HIS SUPPORT FOR NEGROES Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Standing before a group of more than 150 negroes gathered from a score of states, President Hoover today told them "you may be assured that our party will not abandon or depart from its traditional duty toward the American negro."

Twelve Injured in Trolley Wreck

Charlotte, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Twelve persons nursed injuries today because a street car containing twenty passengers ran into a Piedmont and Northern Railway electric locomotive on the edge of Charlotte last night.

Three of the injured were believed to be in a serious condition. The street car's motorman, J. G. Norris, received severe throat lacerations, body bruises and other cuts which may prove fatal. Two brothers, D. T. and Carol Threatt, of Hoskins, also were badly injured.

All of those hurt were from Charlotte or its immediate vicinity.

Hunting Season For Opossums Opens in N. C.

Raleigh, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Woods of North Carolina will once more resound with the baying of the hound as the season for hunting opossums and raccoons with dogs and guns opened today, the Department of Conservation and Development said.

Trapping season, however, it was pointed out, will not open until 45 days later on November 15. Fur-bearing animals which may be taken with traps beginning with the middle of the eleventh month include mink, muskrat, otter, raccoon and opossum.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened easy, 10-20 lower in response to disappointing Liverpool cables and more favorable weather. There appeared to have been quite an accumulation of selling orders over night, partly from the South, but there was considerable trade buying and covering. December contracts which had sold off to 1.05, 17 points net lower, rallied to 1.15 after first offerings had been absorbed, but the bugles met further liquidation or scattered selling and were not fully maintained. The market at the end of the first half hour was quiet, active months ruling about 12 to 18 points net lower. Liverpool cables reported hedging and liquidation and that Manchester was unsettled. Cotton on shipboard at U. S. ports awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 138,000 bales against 79,000 last year.

Grain Market

Chicago, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Helped by evidence of powerful support for at least the time being in the Winnipeg market, wheat values here had an undertone of strength today. Winnipeg messages suggested, however, that continued bolstering of wheat prices would be requisite unless there was a pronounced revival in export demand. Deliveries of wheat today on Winnipeg October contracts were big, totalling 7,458,000 bushels, and rural marketings in Canada yesterday amounted to 5,696,000 bushels against 1,938,000 a year ago.

Stock Market

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The stock market stood virtually still until the last quarter hour today when late short covering gave the list a mild flip.

Activity was at the lowest ebb since early summer, or before the July-August boom got under way, and what trading there was appeared to consist almost entirely of professional operations. Transactions approximated 400,000 shares for the two dull hours.

Net advances of a point or thereabouts appeared in U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical and American Telephone, while New York Central, Case, Harvester, United Aircraft, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and some others had the advantage of fractional improvement. Rails, which had been slightly lower, steadied toward the close and the closing tone of the market as a whole was firm.

An increase of 8,444 cars was reported in the weekly statement of carloadings a rise somewhat under many advance estimates. The total stood at 595,746 which, while 20,142,290 below the corresponding figure for a year ago, narrowed the percentage decline to the lowest level for this year. Loadings 19.2 per cent below the 1931 level.

Somewhat markets were fairly steady, except for a dip in cotton. But trading was quiet. Copper buying was still at low ebb, although some improvement was reported in demand for lead.

reached the Illinois city from Milwaukee. Police estimated that more than 400,000 people packed the downtown streets for a glimpse of the nominee and that no less than 15,000 persons marched behind Mr. Roosevelt's flower-decked motor car. Showers of ticker tape and torn paper floated down from the windows of office buildings.

The governor and Mrs. Roosevelt also had arranged for today a luncheon for the seventy-five members of the trans-continental contingent. A "family party," the New Yorker called it.

Three months ago today Mr. Roosevelt reached Chicago by airplane to accept the Presidential nomination voted to him the night before. Since then his campaign has carried him into all but four States of the west and to half a dozen States on the Atlantic seaboard and the Middle West.

For the governor, attendance at a World Series game is not a new experience but for his son, James, his daughter, Mrs. Curtis Dall and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. James Roosevelt it is. They have never seen a game of the annual baseball classic.

At the banquet tonight Mr. Roosevelt will speak briefly. He is scheduled to talk at 8 o'clock (Central Time).

Mayor Anton J. Cermak, of Chicago, who greeted Mr. Roosevelt at Milwaukee yesterday, told the candidate that Illinois would be in the Democratic column this fall by a wide majority.

Tonight Mr. Roosevelt will leave for Detroit where he will spend Sunday. On Monday morning he will be in Albany, facing a fight in the Democratic State Convention to obtain the nomination for governor of Lieut. Governor Herbert H. Lehman. Opposing the Lehman nomination is a group headed by the O'Connell organization of Albany which advanced Mayor Boyd Thatcher of the capital city. The issue likely will turn on the activities of the Tammany Hall and Brooklyn delegations which with scant up-state support can name the nominee.

EHRINGHAUS TO SPEAK AT AYDEN DEMOCRATIC RALLY

(Continued from Page One) Judges will be Mr. Ehringhaus and other prominent political leaders. The winners in the parade will be announced at the High School auditorium at 3 o'clock P. M., immediately following the speech by Mr. Ehringhaus. Twenty-five valuable prizes will be given to the winners participating in the parade.

The speech by Mr. Ehringhaus will be made in the new High School auditorium at 2 o'clock P. M. The auditorium has a seating capacity of approximately 1,200 people and it is expected that Mr. Ehringhaus will be greeted by the largest crowd ever assembled in this section. Numbers of prominent people from all over this section have signified their intention of hearing Mr. Ehringhaus on this occasion. Congressman Lindsay C. Warren of Washington, N. C., will introduce the speaker. While Congressman Warren lives in Washington, this little town has considerable claim upon him and feels that while his citizenship is in Beaufort county, in reality he belongs to the people of the First Congressional District and certainly so to the little town of Ayden. He numbers his friends here by the number of people who live in the corporate limits of this town.

At 3:30 o'clock P. M., immediately following the speech of Mr. Ehringhaus, a football game will be played on the Ayden athletic field. The Beaufort "Sea Dogs" will meet the Ayden "Tornadoes" in a game which will attract much interest and a large crowd. The Ayden "Tornadoes" are composed of high school boys, and for the past two or three seasons, have a splendid record, having lost only a few games. The Beaufort "Sea Dogs" will provide for the spectators a real thrill against the Ayden "Tornadoes" at the athletic field in the rear of the High School building and is recognized as one of the best athletic fields in Eastern Carolina.

A brass band composed of Greenville High School boys will be here for the occasion and will furnish music during the day. This band has most capable leadership and is one of the best bands in this section of the state. Following the speech, the band will also play during the football game.

The various committees in charge of this occasion are working earnestly with the view of making this occasion a big day for Ayden and surrounding community. An attendance of 3000 to 4000 people is anticipated. The 1700 people who live in this little town are all eagerly waiting, with outstretched arms to extend to every visitor a hearty welcome.

POLITICAL POT PUTS ON STEAM

(Continued from Page One) The first rally in the county, which will also include a Hoover Cart rodeo to fully impress upon the public what the Republican administration has done for this part of the country and the nation generally, for that matter.

Ayden people were making elaborate preparations for the rally and accommodations for several thousand people from all parts of Eastern Carolina were being prepared. Hoover carts from many surrounding counties will participate in the parade over the principal streets of the city and participants will be given proper awards.

In addition to Ehringhaus, Mr. Hooks said he had been assured Clyde Hoy of Shelby, Walter Murphy of Salisbury, and probably Bob Reynolds, Democratic nominee for Congress.

Negotiations are now under way to secure Reynolds as chief speaker of the Young Democratic rally to be staged during the early part of October, and while the engagement has not been confirmed, belief was expressed he would come.

Mr. Hooks said he had one of the best organizations in the history of the county and was anticipating the largest Democratic vote on record. Renewed interest is being manifested in the campaign by the women headed by Mrs. J. B. Spilman, and the vote in this field was expected to be the greatest ever.

Full particulars concerning the speakings will be announced as soon as dates have been confirmed, the chairman said, and everybody will know what to expect in political developments.

SAYS INSULLS WAS INFLATED

White's testimony came after Harry L. Steuart of the brokerage house of Halsey, Stuart & Company, and an associate of Samuel Insull, had told the court that the Insull vestment concern was virtually bankrupt last December when he and Samuel Insull, Jr., went to New York to seek the aid of Eastern bankers.

White said his examination of the Insull books from January 1, to April 14 of this year, when the company went into receivership, showed an inflation of $16,000,000 in the handling of stock rights placed under the income account. He added that an additional inflation of $5,200,000 was indicated in the crediting of stock dividends to surplus.

YOUNG SEAMAN HERO OF WRECK

E. J. Stull, third officer of the Madison, was placed in charge of the rescue party.

The captain's report: "The lowering of the boats was perfect and also was their approach to the beach. The President Madison, at that time was approximately a mile and a half from the shore line, from which point all operations would be closely observed. When the rescue party approached the beach, the surf was breaking so high they could not land a boat.

"The launch was then anchored, they drifted the lifeboat into the edge of the surf and Mr. E. Blomberg, able seaman of the President Madison, age 22, took a small line and swam to the rocks. He then hauled a larger line ashore with the buoyant life preservers, and managed to get the three men survivors through the surf to the lifeboat, after which he followed."

In addition to these fatalities the bodies of two unidentified persons had been recovered today.

The train carried an undetermined number of itinerants and authorities believed many had been swept and buried under the debris in the wake of the torrent.

EXPECT DUCE TO ASK PEACE

Sharp comment on the League and its failure to achieve disarmament have recently been made by Il Duce, his ministers and parliament. The Grand Council, on April 4, said the many international conferences should cease and it voted to discontinue tonight's meeting "Italy's Position in the League."

Mussolini himself, in a recent article, said if Germany withdrew from the Disarmament Conference it would be a "mortal blow to the organism of the League of Nations, already so gravely compromised by the attitude of Japan and the reservations of Italy."

ROBBERS GET BIG PAYROLL

The revolvers of the surprised messengers were wrested from them by two of the robbers, while another seized the bags containing the money. All four robbers then leaped into their own car and sped away.

Judge Clayton Moore of Williamson, presided over the session and did everything in his power to speed up consideration.

TEACHERS ARE CLUB GUESTS

(Continued from Page One) Mr. Hillman welcomed the visitors and declared their entertainment was a joy and pleasure to the club. He praised the educators for what they are doing toward producing a higher type of citizenship and declared their work was in keeping with the slogan of the club, "We build."

Responding, Mrs. Herring declared the hospitality of the Kiwanians always started the school year off pleasantly for the teachers and was looked forward to with joyous anticipation. She emphasized the fact that both the Kiwanians and the teachers had the same objectives in view—the improvement of society—and hoped the co-operative effort would always exist.

It was left to Ralph Deal, imitable fun-maker and humorist, to deliver the principal address which he did with a vein of humor that captivated his hearers. In spite of the fact that he was admonished to lay off of the "light stuff," speaker dealt largely in personalities, and "gentle digs" at club members who had been converted into men of prominence in the fields of business and education by marriage to school teachers, furnished something of a revelation of the school teachers' power to take a man down to the heels and make something of him. Not a ray of common sense was injected into the speech, although the speaker is distinguished for his attainments in the field of education. He was simply Ralph Deal, no more and no less.

Mrs. Dink James and Miss Agnes Fullilove, members of the faculty of city schools, rendered two duet numbers and received liberal applause. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ray Tyson. Ten awards of shampos, finger waves and tickets to State theatre were presented to the following teachers: Mrs. Moran, Miss Fullilove, Miss Louise Foley, Miss Alma Lee, Miss Connie Horne, Mrs. Elizabeth Savage, Mrs. A. B. Corey, Miss Cleo Rainwater, Miss Mary York and Miss Ona Shindler.

President G. V. Smith, whose gruff voice did not permit his participation in oratorical effort, announced that Greenville high had captured two football games, and that Greenville tobacco market continued to lead the belt in poundage. The program was in charge of Dr. S. M. Crisp and D. C. Moore, Jr., and a delightful supper was served by members of the Woman's club. J. H. Rose, superintendent of schools, directed the singing and invocation was pronounced by Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., OCT. 1.—(AP)—

Favored by Crisp Weather, North Carolina's football teams went into action in the Carolinas and Virginia today.

In the Old North State the biggest spot of attention was Kenan Stadium, Chapel Hill, where the State University opened its Southern Conference season against one of Dixie's highest ranking teams, Vanderbilt. Vandy was favored, but the Tar Heels hoped to show more than they did against Wake Forest.

Another center of gridiron activity was Davidson, where the Wildcats took on the Generals of Washington and Lee. Reports that Davidson's offense might get to clicking behind a commendable line made it a slight favorite over the Jimmy Dehart coached invaders.

Duke also opened its Southern Conference season, meeting Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va. The Blue Devils were in good shape with the exception of Center Joe Sink and Durham expected them to bring home the bacon.

Expecting tougher opposition than it received from Appalachian, but still favored to win, North Carolina State fought it out with the University of Richmond, at Richmond, Va.

Other games found Catawba receiving Newberry at Salisbury, while Guilford plays Randolph-Macon at Greensboro tonight.

Lenoir-Rhyne met Presbyterian College at Clinton, S. C.; High Point opened its season against Wofford, at Spartanburg, S. C., and Elon was to engage Roanoke at Salem, Va.

FOXX AGAIN WINS LEAGUE BAT HONORS

Chicago, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Big Dale Alexander of the Boston Red Sox snatched the 1932 batting championship of the American League from Jimmy Foxx, but the star first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics collected enough individual leadership to stamp him as the most valuable batsman in his organization.

Semi-official figures, which have been checked and double-checked, give Alexander an average of .367 for 124 games, while Foxx amassed a mark of .364 in 154 contests. Foxx, however, batted in the most runs, scored the most runs, had the most home runs and the most total bases. His 58 homers left him just two short of Babe Ruth's major league record, but ahead of it mark of 54 for right handed swatters, set by Hack Wilson of the 1930 Chicago Cubs.

He slugged in 169 runs, scored 151 himself, and his 213 hits were good for 438 bases.

Foxx's teammate, Al Simmons, who will be with the Chicago White Sox next season, led in hits with 216, with Heinie Manush of Washington, right behind with 214. Eric McNair, the young Philadelphia infielder, won the two base hit crown with 46, while Joe Cronin of Washington, had 18 three-base hits for a leadership. In stolen bases, Ben Chapman of the Yankees, repeated as champion with 37.

Alexander went to bat officially 392 times, made 144 hits of which 27 were doubles, three were triples and eight were home runs. Ranking behind the new champion and Foxx were the following regulars: Gehrig of New York .349; Manush of Washington .342; Ruth of New York .341; Cramer of Philadelphia .336; Simmons of Philadelphia .323; Walker of Detroit .322; Rice of Washington .321; Combs of New York; Cronin of Washington and R. Ferrell of St. Louis .319.
