Several Prisoners Hurt As They are Fired on In Escape from Road Camp

ONE YOUTH IS CAPTURED

Brady Clarke, One of Six Men Escaping from Camp Polk, Tells Officers He Believes Some of His Companions Were Injured by Shots of Pursuing Guards; 3 Run After Falling Down in Hail of Bullets.

Raleigh N. C. Oct. 19.—(AP)—Six young prisoners of the Camp Polk prison farm of the North Carolina State Prison were reported today to have escaped Monday night and several of the youths are believed to have been injured when they were fired upon by pursuing officers.

Warden H. H. Honeycutt of the Central Prison, said he understood the youth made a hole in the brick wall of the upper story cell block and climbed down a water pipe, scaled the wire fence around the stockade and made off unseen.

Late Monday night the prisoners were sighted at Method, some distance from the prison camp, and were fired upon.

Brady Clark, one of the six, was caught and told officers he believed some of his companions had been hit by the shots.

Guards in the searching group said two or three of the boys fell to the ground when they were fired upon, but that they then got up and ran.

AMENDMENTS UP FOR VOTE

State Voters to Ballot on Four Constitutional Changes In November.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Henry M. London, legislative reference librarian, has prepared an explanation of the four Constitutional amendments to be submitted to the voters of North Carolina on November 8.

The first amendment explained would change the length of the term of office of coroners and sheriffs. Today's article discusses that amendment with the succeeding articles to discuss those relating to Constitutional amendments, insurance and solicitor districts.

In order that the voters may be informed as to the nature and effect of the four Constitutional amendments proposed by the General Assembly of 1931 to be voted on at the approaching election, the text of the present section and the text of the proposed change is given with an explanation following, Mr. London says. "There is no purpose either to advocate them or to criticize them."

No. 1. To Article IV, Section 24, an amendment making term of office of sheriff and coroner four years instead of two.

Old section: Section 24—Sheriffs and Coroners—In each county a sheriff and a coroner shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof, as is prescribed for members of the General Assembly, and shall hold their offices for two years. In each township there shall be a constable elected in like manner by the voters thereof who shall hold office for a period of two years. In each township there shall be a constable elected in like manner by the voters thereof who shall hold office for a period of two years. When there is no coroner in a county.

Section 24, Sheriffs and Coroners—In each county a sheriff and a coroner shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof, as is prescribed for members of the General Assembly, and shall hold their offices for two years. In each township there shall be a constable elected in like manner by the voters thereof who shall hold office for a period of two years. FIFTY JAILED FOR RIOTING

Defendants in London Court Ordered Pay Fines or Go To Prison for Month.

London, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Fifty men and four women were arraigned in police court today for participation in yesterday's unemployment riot and were sentenced to pay fines of four or a shilling or to spend from two weeks to one month in jail.

Thirty of them were sentenced in Lambeth court where crowds of unemployed gathered this morning. Police kept them back from the courthouse and there were no disorders.

TWO TRAINMEN HURT IN WRECK

Conductor and Flagman Injured in Collision of Southern Trains at Marion.

Marion, N. C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Victor Goodman, conductor, and Joe Paris, flagman, both of Asheville, were injured here today when a string of freight cars broke loose from a west-bound train, roled down a hill and crashed into their caboose on the main line Southern tracks.

Five cars were splintered in the rear-end collision. They caught fire but the Marion fire department arriving quickly on the scene of the blaze extinguished it.

Goodman and Paris were taken to the Asheville hospital where it was said their backs had been injured. They were in the caboose of an east-bound freight when the accident happened.

STATE FIRE LOSS MOUNTS

Damage from Total of 174 Fires in September Given Out as $374,460.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Fire loss in North Carolina was $374,460 from 174 fires, or almost $240,000 more than reported in September, 1932, when 144 blazes did damage of $134,592. State Insurance Commissioner Dan C. Boney said today. There were 148 urban blazes with a loss of $295,585 and the other were rural blazes.

Thirteen of the blazes cost property owners $193,000. Fayetteville suffered the greatest loss from a $70,000 hotel fire.

Other big losses were reported at Greensboro where the library at North Carolina State College burned at a cost of $50,000, and at New Bern when a lumber plant suffered damage of $20,000.

SEEK RETURN OF 2 INSULLS

Illinois Officer Demands that Samuel Insull Return and Face Accusers.

Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The suggestion that Samuel Insull, indicted in Chicago for the collapse of his giant utilities interests, follow the example set by the ancient philosopher Socrates and stand trial before his accusers, was made today by Andres Banchos, Illinois official here seeking the return of Insull from Greece.

MANN SPEAKS TO FARMERS

Explains 9 1-2 Cents Per Pound Collateral Seed Loan Offered by Govt.

Explaining how cotton may be applied at 9 1-2 cents per pound as collateral on seed loans under the government's recently announced collateralization plan and advising borrowers to take advantage of it and hold their cotton for a more favorable market, M. G. Mann, secretary-treasurer of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Co-operative Association, addressed a meeting of Pitt county borrowers and co-operative members in the courthouse here this morning.

It taken full advantage of the plan will mean the release of at least $1,500,000 to North Carolina farmers, Mr. Mann estimated. He told the borrowers how they of the co-operative's around 250 receiving agents or approximately 40 warehouses, draw an allowance of 80 cents per hundred to defray picking and ginning expenses which is deducted from the 9 1-2 cents collateral allowance, and have the remainder of their crop released by the government when enough cotton has been delivered on this basis to satisfy their loans.

CAPONE AGAIN AFTER LIBERTY FROM PRISON

Gangster Seeks to Get Freedom from Prison in Habeas Corpus Hearing.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Al Capone, whose gang exploits stole the thunder of dime novels of another decade, put aside his prison clothes today to go to court in a last desperate attempt for freedom from the penitentiary.

The swarthy gangster, who was forced to give up the role of beer baron for that of prisoner 40888 while under a ten-year sentence for violation of Federal income tax laws, went over with his attorneys to the prison conference room where he planned to seek relief under habeas corpus proceedings.

Federal Judge Marvin Underwood had set the hearing for today, but there was a chance it might be delayed until tomorrow by another trial.

STATE RIVER ON RAMPAGE

Roanoke is Reported away over Its Banks in Weldon District Today.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—With the Roanoke River having shown a remarkable rise of twenty-one feet in twenty-four hours, flood waters of that stream were overflowing bottom lands, and Weldon with a level of ten feet above the banks, Lee A. Denson, in charge of the United States Weather Bureau here, said today.

Denson said the Roanoke stood at thirty-two feet at Weldon this morning, having been eleven feet yesterday, and that it would go above forty feet before reaching the crest Thursday and Friday.

The weather man said he did not think there would be any serious damage as most of the land being inundated was either idle or of the crop in the main had been harvested.

FINE WHITLEY IN BOOZE CASE

Principal in Ballard Robbery Case Ordered Pay $50 and Cost by Court.

Convicted on a charge of possession of whiskey, Elmer Whitley, one of the principals in the sensational Ballard highway robbery case which held the attention of court circles here over a period of two years, was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and cost or to go to the roads for sixty days by Judge W. L. Whedbee, presiding over the weekly session of county court here yesterday.

A gallon of whiskey said to belong to Whitley was taken by police in a raid several days ago.

Whitley was unable to raise the amount of the fine and was confined in jail until he could do so. He was still in jail this morning, but it was indicated he would be able to pay the fine probably later in the day.

Casey Cade, charged with reckless driving, was sentenced to the roads for sixty days.

Cecil Haddock was allowed to pay one-half cost on a charge of trespass.

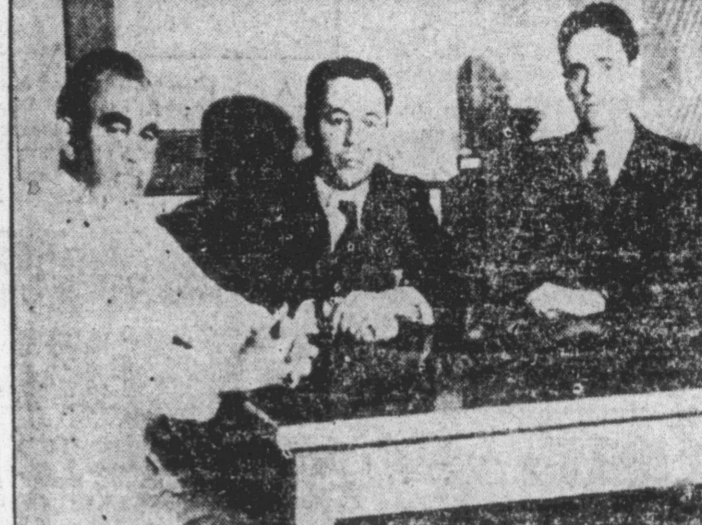

Willie Spencer, colored, was sentenced to serve ninety days on the roads on a charge of immoral relations with Maggie Evans. Judgment was suspended in the case of the woman.

Charged with possession of whiskey, J. B. Outlaw of Duplin County, was permitted to pay cost of action. Judgment was suspended in the case of Henry Jones, charged with possession of home brew.

Judgment with withheld in the case of Jesse Godley, charged with stealing two chickens valued at 50 cents.

LEGION HOLDS MEET IN AYDEN

Officers Installed At Interesting Monthly Meeting Neighboring City Last Night.

Induction of officers and outing of activities for the new year marked the monthly meeting of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion held in the Methodist Church at Ayden last night.

The Post was the guest of its Ayden members, and in addition to the disposition of business, a delightful barbecue dinner was served by the ladies of the church.

Commander C. C. Martin, of Ayden, called the meeting to order and invocation was pronounced by S. L. Briggers, of Greenville.

Officers for the ensuing year were inducted into office by Dr. G. G. Dixon, of Ayden.

In surrendering the gavel to J. C. Lanier, of Greenville, incoming commander, Mr. Martin expressed his appreciation of the co-operation shown by the membership during his administration. He declared the Post had shown him every consideration in his plans to improve work of the organization and that this had meant much to the success of the work.

Mr. Lanier said he would devote the major part of his time to improving the condition of disabled veterans, widows and orphans, and mutual helpfulness.

He also expressed the desire to greatly increase the membership during the new year, setting the goal at four hundred members. He urged his hearers to do their best to help him realize the ambition and to use their every influence toward interesting former service men in the work of the organization.

J. B. Kittrell and Commander Lanier offered to take any products of members for their dues and to convert them into sufficient money to pay the membership fee.

No sooner had the announcement been made than Dr. G. G. Dixon announced his intention to turn over $3 worth of C. C. pills to be used for this purpose.

Pennies Pay For Education

Lamon, Iowa, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A trunk and a suitcase packed with pennies and other small coins which he had saved for years accompanied Ross Mortimore, a Canadian when he enrolled in Gracefield College here. He expects to pay for most of his education out of his slowly accumulated treasure chest.

Accountants To Meet

Charlotte, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Two hundred members from all parts of the state are expected to assemble here Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the 13th annual convention of the North Carolina Association of Certified Public Accountants.

AT WHEELING FOR THE P. M.

Democratic Nominee Last Night Told Enthusiastic Audience at Buffalo that He Did Not Expect To Campaign in New York Because "You People Know Me;" Leaves it to Good Judgment of New Yorkers Help Elect Him by Another Big Vote.

Island Stadium, Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt, Democratic Presidential nominee, speaking here today, asked: "Are you afraid of a change in Presidents?" and a course "noes" roled back from the crowd gathered in the high school stadium on an island in the Ohio River.

Police estimated that more than ten thousand persons were in the grandstand and on the athletic field.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Carrying his Presidential campaign into the Pittsburgh district, "the workshop of the world," Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic Presidential candidate arrived here on his special train at 9 o'clock.

The Democratic nominee was met by a crowd of his supporters. He prepared to leave immediately by motor for Wheeling, W. Va., where he will speak this afternoon.

After the Wheeling meeting, the Governor will return to Pittsburgh for an address tonight.

To an enthusiastic Buffalo crowd last night, Governor Roosevelt said (Continued on Page Six)

ELECTION DAY IS A HOLIDAY

November 8 to be Legal Rest Day for the People of North Carolina.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Legal holidays, when all the banks usually close and school children get a day off, are comparatively "new things" in North Carolina.

A half-century ago there wasn't a legal holiday in the State, but in 1881 the Legislature got busy and created seven. Today there are an even dozen.

Incidentally, the next one is an important one. The Legislature of 1907 set aside as a legal holiday "Tuesday after the first Monday in November, when a general election is held."

Thus when North Carolinians go to cast their votes for President, Senator, Congressman and State officers rest November 8, the day will also be a legal rest day.

Although New Year's Day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day have been observed in the State as general holidays from the beginning, it was the 1881 Legislature that made them legal.

The other three added to the list at that time were: February 22, George Washington's Birthday Anniversary; May 10, Confederate Memorial Day; and May 20, Anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence.

Democratic Victory Drive

The National Executive Committee of the Democratic Party has just issued an urgent appeal to the voters of Pitt County to help ensure the election of Roosevelt and Garner by contributing to the campaign fund. J. C. Lanier has been designated as chairman of this fund, and he will give a bronze medallion of Roosevelt and Garner, designed by Gutzon Borglum, to anyone contributing a dollar or more to the campaign.

Mail or send your contribution at once to J. C. Lanier, Greenville, thereby doing your bit to get a new deal in National Administration.

Late News Flashes

Libby Holman Talks. Winston-Salem, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Libby Holman Reynolds was quoted today by Bennett Polkoff, her attorney, as saying she wanted the cloud hanging over her as result of her indictment for the slaying of her husband, Smith Reynolds, "lifted permanently."

Polkoff said she indicated she might reject a nol pross if one was taken. "I want this cloud hanging over me lifted permanently and not temporarily as my earnest desire is for complete exoneration," he quoted the 26-year-old former Broadway blues singer as saying.

R. J. Reynolds Jr., brother of Smith Reynolds, in a statement today said he had agreed with the sentiment expressed by his uncle to the solicitor but did not believe his brother committed suicide.

Cut Prisoners' Cost. Raleigh, Oct. 19.—(AP)—George Ross Pou, superintendent of state prison, reported today that the cost of keeping prisoners during the first quarter of the present fiscal year averaged $37 compared with an average of $37 for the first quarter of last fiscal year, or a decrease of 10.81 per cent.

About NEW YORK

By WILLIAM GAINES

New York, Oct. 18.—This is the open season for celebrity parties. With the first flush of fall the invitations begin to pour in and they keep coming until hot weather makes celebrity-tired people rebel at being crammed into hotel and apartment suites.

Most every visitor of any consequence from Hollywood, most every author with a new book ready for release, is the honoree at one or more of these shindigs.

There is a limitless supply of dowagers who thrill to the opportunity of having celebrities in their homes. Then there are the countless parties given by organizations, the home offices of movie companies and publishing houses.

Frequently the entertainments occur in the afternoon in the guise of a "tea"—or so the invitations read. Yet out of a high number I can remember, tea actually was served at only two of them.

Horses and Politics

Cornelius Whitney, well-known country over for his successes in the racing game, says he is finding the same sort of sporting fascination in political racing these days. He is, you know, running for Congress in rich Nassau County.

A man of many interests, he has the capacity for throwing his large enthusiasm into new ventures.

Before the death of his father, Harry Payne Whitney, he had taken no great interest in racing. He believed, however, that the Whitney stable should be maintained as a turf institution. The sporting public had learned to have faith in the Whitney colors and Whitney entries added importance to any track event.

The law does not permit an estate to continue the operation of a racing stable, and it was necessary that it be sold immediately.

Cornelius Whitney solved the problem by buying the stable in his own name for $1,261,000. This was during the bad times of 1930, and he had to borrow the money to do it.

Since then he has been one of the most enthusiastic turfmen in the country.

What Price Alimony

The Alimony Club, with headquarters in the county jail, comes as near to achieving the country club atmosphere as any jail anywhere. The inmates, there for the crime of refusing to keep up alimony payments, have no cause to complain from overwork or lack of attention. Yet many of them find the sentence to the club particularly harsh.

Reason? Because of the 7 o'clock rising hour. All of the members are routed out of bed at that time, and numbers of them, direct from a life of luxury and ease, never were called upon to get up at such an hour before.

Night clubs are cutting down on cover charges this season. No longer does it cost a small fortune for the privilege of sitting at table in some of the snappier places along Broadway, in Harlem and in Greenwich Village. The managements disheartened over the slack business of the past year, are hoping that cheaper evenings will bring more people, for more profit in the quantity trade.

Scanning NEW BOOKS

By JOHN SELBY

New York, Oct. 19.—A top the heap of autumn books (it is a large heap, incidentally) lies Octave Aubry's "The King of Rome," almost an ideal biography of an almost perfect subject.

"L'Aiglon" was born of Napoleon I and Marie-Louise March 20, 1811 and lived twenty-one years which was enough to carry him into Louis-Phillippe's reign. The greatest of all modern empires was snatched from him; he was subjected to the systematic and cruel enfeeblement of Metternich. He was a spirited and charming boy, and the center of scintillant and harsh events.

It is made to order material for what has been the curse of Napoleon I and his relatives... the sentimentalized history. But M. Aubry decided to write it in the cool, clipped style of the French realist. This clear-headed approach was exactly what the story needed to make it what it is—one of the season's finest.

Fifty-seven Poets

Of equal value in a different field is Mark van Doren's new anthology, "American Poets." "My aim," says van Doren, "was... to leave out as many poets as I conscientiously could on the theory that those who remained would then appear to possess a genuine distinction."

He has left out all but fifty-seven of them, and his volume does contain a great amount of distinguished writing, subject always to the restrictions attendant upon compiling such a work. For example, there is only a handful of sonnets (by no means her best work) to represent Edna St. Vincent Millay, considerably less space than van Doren allows himself; less even than is allotted James Rorty.

With the possibly unavoidable restriction of Millay, and the possibly excusable emphasis on van Doren and Rorty out of the way, there remains a well chosen and important collection of good verse.

The Novels

Among the many novels is Donald C. Peattie's brilliant "Sons of the Martian," an exposition of what happens when an American and a Czech, both sons of the same father, meet. A sincere novel is Rollo W. Brown's "Toward Romance," in which a sensitive and serious boy trails after romance. The book is intelligent, too, for Brown treats his small boy as a little person and not as a little nuisance.

An exotic novel is J. Leslie Mitchell's "The Lost Trumpet," the trumpet being Joshua's, the scene being Egypt, and the technical detail impeccable. For Mr. Mitchell is also an archeologist.

Finally there must be mention of a distinguished reprint: Paul Wilschach's "Potomac Landings." The book's history is curious. In 1921 1,640 copies were printed from type. The type was distributed, whereupon those with a passion for Tidewater lore turned the book into a collector's item in half a dozen years.

The present edition is from plates, and is destined for those to whom the text and not the rarities of a work appeals. "Potomac Landings" has a lazy charm, and Lees, Custises, Fitzhughs and Washingtons abound on its pages.

Bring Your Tobacco On

Government Report just published shows GREENVILLE continues to be the World's Largest Bright Tobacco Market.

Greenville is also leading in prices paid for every grade of tobacco. Never before have the other markets tried so hard to induce and persuade growers in our territory to sell with them. Some of them are so desperate as to offer any kind of inducements, even going so far as to offer to haul their tobacco free.

We believe the farmers of Pitt county will stand by their market, which has proven to be the best and largest bright tobacco market in the state.

Grade carefully, keep your tobacco dry and "drive in" early in order to avoid any rush.

Social and Personal

Curtis Perkins is spending several days in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cobb and daughter, Jean, of New York, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Cobb.

Mrs. E. A. Parker is spending the week in Winston with her son. Miss Katherine Uley is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. F. M. Simms Jr., in Winston-Salem this week.

Mrs. Louise Lampier of New York who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. K. W. Cobb, has returned home.

Mrs. Olivia Darden of Ayden, is the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Darden Jr., on Holly street.

Mrs. S. O. Worthington and little daughter, Lina Hackett, are visiting friends in Raleigh.

L. R. Whichard of Stokes, was here today.

E. A. Griffin of Goldsboro, was a Greenville visitor today.

American Legion Auxiliary Meets

The American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 18, at the home of the president, Mrs. R. S. McGeachy. The meeting was opened with the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. K. B. Pace read the preamble and led the salute to the flag.

The president gave an interesting report of the meeting of the executive board of the Auxiliary held in Salisbury.

The Auxiliary was delighted to have the commander of the Pitt County Post, J. C. Lanier, extend greetings from the Legion.

The members were pleased to have Mrs. Travis Hooker and Mrs. R. L. Smith, members of the D. A. R., as guests of the afternoon.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. B. S. McGeachy, Miss Estelle Greene, Mrs. Bert Greene and Mrs. Hubert Joyner.

Mrs. Batchelor Club Hostess

Mrs. Edward Batchelor was hostess at a delightful meeting of her bridge club yesterday afternoon at her home on East Ninth street.

The home was attractively decorated in colorful dahlias.

For high score, Mrs. G. B. Bridgforth was presented bridge cards. Low score prize, a Halloween novelty, was won by Mrs. Jack Edwards.

Tempting refreshments were served.

Presbyterian Church

The prayer meeting service at the Presbyterian Church will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Bruton, in the absence of the pastor, who is holding a meeting at Tarboro.

Prayer Service Methodist Church

Regular mid-week prayer service in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church this evening at 7:30.

Primitive Baptist Church

On account of the members attending the association, there will be no services at the Primitive Baptist Church this meeting.

CONFERENCE AT IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH THURSDAY

A conference will be held at Immanuel Baptist Church tomorrow of unusual interest to all workers with elementary grades in the Sunday school. This is one of four such conferences held in North Carolina and workers from the other churches in the Roanoke Association are expected to be present.

L. L. Morgan and Mrs. A. V. Washburn, our own state Sunday school workers, will have charge of the conference, and two of our south-wide workers from Nashville, Tenn., will address the conference. The new lessons will be discussed and explained, and problems peculiar to this division of work will be taken up. The afternoon session will begin at 2:30 and the evening session at 7:30. All who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Ray Bray in Hospital

Friends of Ray Bray will be glad to learn that he is getting on nicely following an operation yesterday in Pitt Community Hospital. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bray.

Memorial Baptist Prayer Service

Mid-week service of prayer, praise and Bible study led by the pastor. We invite every member to be present and find joy in our fellowship and spiritual strength in the study of His word.

T. E. L. Class To Meet Thursday

The T. E. L. class of Memorial Baptist Church will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 with Mrs. D. M. Clark. All members are urged to attend.

Mr. Hassell in Hospital

Friends of J. L. Hassell will be sorry to learn that he is in the New Protestant Hospital, Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. Lucy Gibson Ill

Friends of Mrs. Lucy Gibson will regret to learn that she is quite ill at her home on East Fifth street.

Surprise Party

Miss Irma Cobb Dunn was given a surprise birthday party last night by a number of friends.

After games were enjoyed by everyone, refreshments were served. Miss Dunn was remembered with several attractive and useful gifts.

Those present were Misses Helen Foley, Elizabeth Carico, Winifred Etheridge, Helen McGinnis, Marian Wilson, Lou Nichols Joyner and Messrs. Herbert Scoville, Neal Herzing, Ennis Blanchard, Bob Fleming, Robert Dixon, Louis Gaylord, Jr., James Dudley Simpson Jr., Matt Phillips, Hill Horne Jr., and Bill Clark.

CHORAL CLUB HAS FIRST FALL MEETING

The initial meeting of the fall season of the Choral Club was held at Sheppard Memorial Library last night with 22 members present, and 36 enrolled. Mrs. Ray Tyson presided over the meeting, explaining in detail the rules and regulations, and announcing plans for the new year.

Officers were elected as follows: President, J. H. Rose; vice-president, Mrs. Ray Tyson Jr.; secretary, Mrs. Dink James; treasurer, Mrs. Tom Watson; librarian, J. H. Gaylor; pianist, Mrs. Guy V. Smith; assistant accompanist, Mrs. Katherine Thomas; director, Frank R. Hufty.

The club plans to give its first concert early in January. Rehearsals will be held each Tuesday evening at the library promptly at 7:30 and new members will be eligible to join until the first Tuesday in November. There will be no dues and the only expense to members will be the cost of the music.

If you are interested in music, the club will give you a very cordial welcome and can assure you that it will be time well spent.

METHODIST CHOR TO MEET THURSDAY EVENING

The Methodist choir will meet in the church Thursday evening promptly at 7:30. Every member is urged to be on time.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET FRIDAY

The Junior Woman's Club will meet Friday afternoon at 3:30 in the Woman's Club building.

Mrs. Norman Winslow, Mrs. Bryce Sigmon and Mrs. J. T. Clifton will be hostess.

A. A. U. W. TO HOLD FIRST MEETING

The Greenville branch of the A. A. U. W. will hold its first meeting of the school year in the parish house of the Episcopal Church on Thursday, October 20 at 4 o'clock.

Miss Laura Rose, Miss Lucille Charlton and Miss Annie Newell will be hostesses to the group.

For the program of the afternoon Miss Annie Newell will discuss "America's Contribution to Music During the Last Half Century."

This will be the first paper in the year's series on the general topic, "America's Contribution to the Fine Arts in the Last Fifty Years."

Other papers will follow in the order given below: "The Dance"—November—Miss Mary E. Powell.

"Painting"—December—Mrs. E. L. Hillman.

"Sculpture"—January—Miss Clem Bridges.

"Architecture"—February—Miss Lella Higgs.

"Literature"—March—Miss Mamie Jenkins.

"The Dream"—April—Miss Emma Hooper.

"The Movies"—May—Miss Lorraine Hunter.

The American Association of University Women has ten branches in North Carolina, and the Greenville chapter, in the three and a half years since its organization, has been one of the most active. The program as outlined promises another interesting and worth-while year.

SUNDOWN STORIES

OLD TOAD'S BIRTHDAY

By Mary Graham Bonner
From behind the trees there now came a number of Tree Toads who played in the Toadtown band.

They wore smart uniforms of yellow and brown and were led by the Tree Toad Drum Major who waved a fern in the air in very grand fashion.

The drums went like this: "D-rum, d-rum, drum drum, drum, d-rum, d-rum, drum, drum, drum," while the Toads who had been playing now began to sing in their croaking way:

"We're the Toadtown band. We hope you think we're grand. We'll sing a toadish song. It will not take us long. For all we have to say Is happy returns of the day!"

Everyone cheered and looked at Old Toad, who got up on top of the toadstool and made a bow.

Then Toodles began his speech which went like this: "Toads, Ducks, One Dog, One Rooster, One Mr. Willy Nilly, we are gathered here—a-hem!" (He cleared his throat and then continue.)

"Yes, we are gathered here to do honor to Old Toad, the finest, grandest, most wonderful, most handsome, most superior Old Toad who ever hopped in Toadtown.

"We are proud to have him as our leader, and I now put our birthday wreath around his lovely Toad neck."

At that Toodles was handed a wreath they had all helped to make out of pond lilies and put it around Old Toad's neck.

"Now we're going to give him the automobile we have made for his birthday, the finest automobile in Toadtown, and other places in the world.

Everyone stood up and cheered. Tomorrow—"The Toadster"

Talks to Parents

A SAD LESSON

By Alice Judson Peale
Two little boys were allowed to keep in their bureau drawers the chocolate given to them with the understanding that they might eat of it every evening before going to bed. Usually they held their candy in common and shared and shared alike.

One evening mother brought home to them each a box of chocolate "cigarettes." Delighted, they put them away for the evening treat.

Long after mother thought them both asleep she heard her name called by the younger child. She entered the room to find him in a state of high excitement. "Mother," he cried, "Billy's gone and eaten all his cigarettes and now he says that tomorrow evening I'll have to divide mine with him, because he says we always divide our candy. It isn't true the way he says, is it, mother?"

"No," said mother, "you each started out with the same amount. If Billy wanted to eat all his in one night, then he had a big treat all at once. But he just hasn't any candy left to eat tomorrow night and the next."

Billy was greatly disturbed. According to his ideas, there was no reason why he should not eat all his own candy one night and share the remaining half with his brother on the evenings to come. Only slowly and painfully was he made to see justice, and that his first step in learning that one cannot eat one's cake and have it, too. Such little situations may be the means of helping a child to learn the sad but necessary lesson, that over-indulgence one day is likely to mean lean days to come; and that when we use up our own stores we cannot then expect to poach on those of others.

ABOUT TOWN

Rev. James Cox, presidential nominee of the unemployment party in this country, has withdrawn and asked his followers to support Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The priest, known as "the shepherd of the poor" because of his ministrations to the indigent of the nation, declared Roosevelt stands for the best interests of the American people.

He lauded the courage of the Democratic nominee who made no bones concerning his support of repeal of the prohibition amendment.

The action of the priest will throw the support of thousands of unemployed people on the side of the New York governor, who is generally conceded to be leading Hoover for the presidency.

He is only one of several prominent people who have come out in favor of the New Yorker during the last several weeks and when the date of the election rolls around the Democratic nominee will have enough supporters to put him in the White House by an overwhelming majority.

The fire demon visited Greenville's tobacco town again Monday evening and caused staggering loss.

This is the third fire of the kind the last two years, and has resulted in the loss of nearly a million dollars.

It is impossible to stop a fire when it gains headway in a place of this kind and nobody knows it better than Greenville firemen who have combated three of the most disastrous fires the city has experienced in years.

But for the excellence of the fire department, the loss would have been several times as great as it was in each instance.

By providing the department with sufficient hose to meet emergencies of this kind, the city council threw a protection around the property of other citizens and prevented them from losing additional thousands of dollars.

It is mighty hard to have to put out money in these days, but when fire departments invest in equipment they are preparing against a day when every fire fighting resource of the community will be called into action to save public life and property.

The people should stand behind the councilmen as they attempt to throw adequate protection about the city. It is money spent in a cause that will bring rich returns in years to come.

Plans looking to the administration of the federal relief fund have been just about worked out in this county, and it will not be long now before work projects destined to provide labor for the unemployed will get under way.

The funds will be spent in public works programs and will be available to any section of the county where the unemployment situation is acute and people suffer from lack of work.

The fund is to supplement local relief effort and the people who gave liberally to relief purposes last year are urged to continue to do so this year. The government expects local effort to match what it is giving and will be slow in furnishing funds if it should be found out that local effort is lacking.

Public spirited citizens should bear this fact in mind and be ever on the alert to do their part.

Young Democrats of Pitt county are determined to do their bit toward boosting the cause of their party in the forthcoming election.

They will begin their campaign Friday night when Walter Murphy of Salisbury comes here to speak at a rally at the courthouse.

Murphy is one of the best known political leaders in his part of the state and his coming is expected to attract hundreds of people to Greenville.

The general public is urged to cooperate with the young party members as they attempt to spread the Democratic gospel to all sec-

A PATH TO PARADISE
 by Coningsby DAWSON

SYNOPSIS: Clive drives madly through the night, summoned by a telegram from Santa Dawn, whom he loves and who begs him to join her. Santa just has returned from Europe, where she was taken by her mother, who feared Clive was making an "impression" on her daughter. Santa had wirelessed Clive from mid-ocean that she must see him, but he ran away from New York the day she landed. Now he has forgotten everything but this second message, and his dash through the night.

Chapter 3
CLIVE THINKS BACK

Clive re-wrote his past in terms of glamor as he tore through village after village. Eric Dawn, Santa's father, had been engaged to Clive's mother. She had changed her mind by the ruthless expedient to elope. The bold Lochivar, Clive's father, had died within a year of the marriage. Five years later Clive's mother had died, appointing and on the point of entering Princeton, as arbitrarily as she had flown the domestic coop. Judy had reclaimed her shelter. Her motives were as usual magnanimous. Santa was thirteen. If she were eventually to marry and settle in America, it was high time she became an acclimatized American.

Again Eric Dawn had performed the dog-Fido trick and acquiesced. It was his beloved guardian's lack of dignity in playing dog-Fido that had so determined Clive, even though he forewent Santa, never to become a dog-Sido himself. Judy Dawn had discovered that since Clive was at Princeton, he also might prove serviceable.

She had also discovered that he was handsome as the bold Lochivar, his carelessly deceased father, which dismissed any doubts she may have harbored with regard to his paternity. She had appointed him Santa's unpaid male-governor. That a cosmopolitan girl-child, over-sophisticated and brotherless, required an escort goes without saying.

Clive's memories warmed now that they were approaching the present. His earliest recollections were of a stately little foreigner dressed in a black velvet frock with white lace cuffs and collar. Boys used to say that butter wouldn't melt in her mouth. No one had suspected that this pattern of all the elegancies was nothing more nor less than high expensiveness. Clive had discovered the secret when he had kissed her and she had murmured: "O, lovely!" From that night his madness had dated.

He considered her poses, the deception that gained most applause touched her reputation for dignity being her pose for the soul's awakening. She reserved this for dances and public functions which elite people attended. It consisted in a starry-eyed stare of expectancy, Judy Dawn thought Clive, at Princeton, might be useful.

Registration books have been opened for the registration of voters desiring to express their sentiment in the election next month.

It is very necessary that people who did not vote in the last primary register as well as those who have become 21 years of age since the primary.

The only way for Pitt county to pile up a record vote is for the people to register as they should. The matter should be given early attention because the books will be open only four weeks and two weeks of the time has already expired.

If you haven't registered, see that you do so at once.

of her mischievous beauty were not yet fully opened. Her second season—course of study she would have called it—would soon be commencing. Her telegram must mean that the last of her wild oats had been sown.

He imagined that he was hurrying to her rescue. Had he been older he would have known that to attempt to reform a member of the perfect sex is the surest way to lose her.

TICKET SALE AT CAROLINA TAKES JUMP

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 19.—The ticket sale for the Carolina-Georgia Tech Homecoming Day game here Saturday has been jumping by leaps and bounds, since Carolina tied Georgia and Tech held Auburn 6 to 0.

Every indication is that the year's largest crowd will flock to Kenan Stadium to see the old rivals, who have tied these last two years, revive their series with a game which has all the earmarks of a football natural.

Yikened to their national championship team of 1928, this year's Tornado may be a slight favorite, but that isn't giving a bit of worry to the Tar Heels, who looked mighty good at Georgia and who have found themselves after much hard luck in early games.

If Tech has star backs like McArthur, Barron, Hart and Cherry, Carolina backers will point out that the Tar Heels have linemen like Walker, Smith, Barclay, Kahn and Underswood, and they will explain that these boys held Georgia's great backfield to five first downs and one touchdown after the Bulldogs had bagged 25 points on Tulane the week-end before.

The Tar Heels are also planning to surprise Tech with the strength of their own offensive, and will shoot the works to win. Their passing attack has been ready and waiting for a dry field for weeks now, and Chandler, Phipps, Lassiter, Thompson, Daniel and others have been running the ball in scrimmage this week with the same speed and drive that marked their defensive play against Georgia.

Moreover, Harry Hodges and Bill Collins are back in shape, and their return to the Carolina line makes even Coach Chuck Collins admit that Carolina will be stronger for Tech. Every man on the squad says that Carolina is out to win, not to tie or hold the score low, and even the conservative Coach Collins thinks Carolina's chance excellent if the Tar Heels do not make the "mental and technical errors they committed against Vandy and Tennessee."

Scrimmages Under Way At College

The E. C. T. C. football squad is scrimmaging four days a week now, and is showing better form on each succeeding day. The squad is rather small, but there are enough boys out to have very good scrimmages. There are about seventy-two boys in school, but there are only about twenty-five students out for football. It is hoped that this number may be increased in the near future.

During the last two weeks, fundamentals such as tackling, blocking, falling on the ball, conditioning and running signals have stressed, but now the rough work has begun.

The reserve strength of the team is not so strong as would be liked. Perry King and Dan Wright, ends, are showing good form; Dennis and Van Nortwick, tackles; Worthington and Woodward, guards, and John Hodges, center form the second line; Broadhurst, quarter, MacMillan and Page halves and Tucker full, form the reserve backfield. Some of these men were mentioned in yesterday's resume of the squad, and may break into the line-up. Tucker especially is showing good drive and kicking and passing ability.

The team is coached by Kenneth Beatty. Beatty played football at Guilford and State, and is proving to be a very good coach.

Woman Communist To Pilot Reichstag Speakership Vote

Berlin, Oct. 13.—(AP)—To the chagrin of Nationalists of almost every hue, Clara Zetkin, "grandmother of the revolution," again appears as the probable presiding officer at the opening session of the next Reichstag.

When the 75-year-old Communist left the rostrum on August 30, after piloting the house through the election of a speaker, the nazis called after her: "Once, but never again!"

The Hitlerites had intended to change the rule which gives the opening gravel to the oldest member, but the sudden dissolution of September 12 made this plan impossible.

Those who know the veteran woman fighter, insist she will claim her right if she is dean of the new house. Hence the only way to keep her out of the chair will be for some party to elect on November 6 a member who is more than 75 years old.

Germany, going through her fifth major campaign within a year, has been hearing radicalism preached with greater vehemence than in the other campaigns.

The national Socialists, or nazis, no longer can plead for an authority government imbued with nationalism, for the Von Papen cabinet fills that bill. Hence their newspapers teem with appeals to overthrow the economic emergency degree of Von Papen on the ground that the measure benefits the rich alone.

The Catholic center, usually known for its moderation and its effort to compose differences between the classes, also is stressing his issue. Typical of their campaign talk is this utterance by Johann Becker:

"We must conduct an impassioned fight against social reaction as embodied in the Von Papen economic emergency decree. The workers must be stirred and incited to an extent that will make it impossible for the police to dissolve the meetings."

The Social Democrats too are increasingly radical, and Paul Loebe, their former speaker of the Reichstag, demands in his stump speeches that the Reich take over the key industries, such as coal, iron, steel, cement, chemicals and banking.

Clara Zetkin, aged German Communist, may again wield the gavel in opening the next Reichstag.

Outing all others, the Communist party continues to agitate for a Soviet Germany.

Of the five major political groups, only Hugenberg's Nationalists, are campaigning for retention of the present economic order.

line up as being able to hold its own against the Deacs and, on offensive if they are able to open up even the smallest of holes, Mason, Laney and Cox will be able to get through them. Of course, Deacon followers counter with the statement that even little holes will not be opened in their line.

DUKE-DEACON TILT OFFERS MANY THRILLS

Durham, N. C., Oct. 19.—Pitting an offensive attack that has not been stopped this season against an unscoring defensive, the Duke-Wake Forest game in Duke stadium Friday is expected to offer all the thrills available in a contest on the gridiron.

No team as yet this season has been able to completely silence the Blue Devil running attack. While Auburn kept the Duke tam close to its goal line by the great punting of Jim Hitchcock, when once the Devils had a chance to score, they took advantage of it, the running attack, even without the services of Nick Laney, an important cog, made a sustained drive.

On two occasions this fall, the Devils have run wild, pouncing on V. M. I. for a 44 to 0 score and on Maryland last week to the tune of 34 to 0. Three sustained drives against Davidson in the opener netted two touchdowns, the third falling a bit short just before the game ended. With Laney back in good shape, Cox there to give the line-plunging punch, Captain Lowell Mason to direct things and Artie Ershler to do the blocking, Duke is a bit proud of its running attack.

On the other hand, Wake Forest has everything to make it exceedingly cocky over its defensive. North Carolina, South Carolina and State were acclaimed as fine offensive teams. They could not get by the Deacons for a single touchdown, so, Wake Forest followers ask, why should Duke?

The battle will probably be fought in the line. Of about the same height, with Wake Forest may be having a slight edge, both forwards are "go-getters." Duke followers stack their

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

The new football rules, although finding favor generally with coaches and officials, unquestionably have had some tendency to slow up the play and, in the application of the new "dead ball" rule, extract some of the more spectacular features of ball-carrying.

It remains to be seen, in a full season's test, whether they accomplish their object of reducing the number of hazards and injuries. Coaches who objected so strenuously to the regulation making the ball "dead" if any part of the carrier's body touches the ground, except this hands or feet, have agreed to "go along" with the National Rules Committee and await results. If the dissatisfaction with this rule is sufficiently pronounced after the close of the 1932 campaign, it will be brought up for overhauling again.

The evidence in the early games is that many of the players are having difficulty in adhering to the new rules. The ball carrier's instinct to gain the last possible inch is strong. Equally so is the defensive impulse to jump on the man with the ball, without stopping to realize that the ball is automatically "dead" if he is down. A star Syracuse player was injured by this instinctive desire to "pile on."

Football being football, owing much of its popularity to the relish of physical contacts as well as the skillful touch, it is fair to assume that injuries will continue to develop among the combatants. The rule-makers had no idea they were making the game altogether harm-proof. If however, they succeed in eliminating the cause of many unnecessary injuries or fatalities, they will not be not be obliged to make any apologies or give the game back to the rough-house boys.

Giants Wanted Dean
It seems that the Giants were more anxious to get Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean than Ray Starr, before concluding the big deal with the Cardinals, but discovered no desire on the part of Messrs. Riskey and Breardon to part with the eccentric right-hander.
Dean may be a trifle difficult to handle, subject to streaks of temperament, but he has as much pitching stuff as any young man to break into the big leagues in years.

With a sixth place team this year Dean compiled a fine record for effectiveness. Considering the difference in team records, Dean's performance was just as brilliant as that turned in by the Chicago freshman ace, Lonnie Warneke.

"I think we are sure to have another pennant-winner within two years, at the very outside," remarked Sam Breardon, president of the Cardinal system, during a world series fanning bee. "For obvious reasons we picked this year to start overhauling."

Pretty Fair Traders
The Cardinals were rapped earlier this year for trading away their pennant chances, but the records reveal the Red Birds executed the smartest series of deals in the league.
By shutting Hack Wilson to Brooklyn in connection with the deal sending Burleigh Grimes to the Cubs, the St. Louis outfit came off with a $50,000 cash profit.

Two Indians Durable
Cleveland, O., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Earl Averill and Joe Vosmik were the only members of the Cleveland Indians baseball team to participate in every one of the games played during the 1932 season. Wesley Ferrell led the mound staff in innings pitched with 277.

COACHES' SONS CARRY-ON OLD GRIDIRON RIVALRY
Baltimore, Md., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Like father, like son, is not just a saying in the homes of "Curley" Bird and Ray Van Orman, football coaches at the University of Maryland and Johns Hopkins University, respectively.
In the years from 1906 to 1909 Byrd won fame as a ball carrier for Maryland, while Van Orman at the same time was playing a great end for Cornell.
There always is a keen rivalry when their teams meet in the annual Maryland classic, but it promises to be warmer than ever this season.

Each has a son on his own squad, and in each case the son is a candidate for the same position his dad used to play.
Gets Big Welcome
Gainesville Fla., Oct. 19.—(AP)—About the most welcome news Chas. Bachman, University of Florida coach, has received this season comes from Welcome Shearer. That's his name, and he already has proved he can play a whole of a game at center, tackle or end.

The Campaign Puzzle

Study Past State-by-State Votes in Making Your Forecast

Delaware's Vote in 1928
Hoover 68,986; Smith 35,359
Delaware's record at a Republican state is of 40 years' standing. Since voting for Cleveland in 1892, the state has given its vote to a Democratic presidential candidate but once, in 1912, when Theodore Roosevelt's candidacy on the progressive ticket split the Republican vote.

The only important statewide election since Hoover's victory in 1928 was the Senate race in 1930, when Daniel O. Hastings (R) defeated Thomas F. Bayard (D) with 57,000 votes to 39,881.

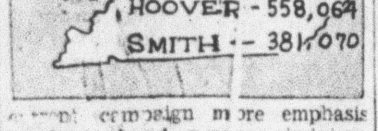

No statewide agency exists for gathering statistics on registrations but political leaders say they expect a vote which will be slightly larger than the total of 104,345 cast in 1928.

State platforms of both parties in the current campaign adhere closely to the national party pronouncements. Both parties stress economy in government. The prohibition issue, expected by leaders in both parties to figure largely in the current campaign, has been subordinated to discussions of the economic programs of the two parties in the early part of the campaign.

Delaware's electoral vote this year remains at 3, the same as before reappointment.

Kentucky's Vote in 1928
Hoover 558,064; Smith 381,070
Kentucky in the last half century has voted 11 times for Democratic candidates for the presidency and three times for Republicans. Its Republican votes were recorded in 1876, 1924 and 1928.

Presidential elections in the state since 1896 have been close except in 1912 and 1928. James M. Cox won the state in 1920 by 4,017 votes. Prohibition was an outstanding issue in the 1928 campaign. In the

Texas' Vote in 1928
Hoover 367,036; Smith 341,032
Texas stepped out of the ranks of the Democratic "solid south" in 1928 for the first time since the civil war, to vote for a Republican candidate for president.

The campaign of that year was fought with unusual vigor in Texas. Alfred E. Smith's prohibition views were attacked by large groups within the Democratic party and prominent party leaders in the state openly opposed him in the campaign.

The year which saw Texas giving its presidential vote to Herbert Hoover witnessed the election of Tom Connally (D) to the United States Senate by a vote of more than four to one over his Republican opponent.

In the state elections of 1930 Morris Sheppard (D) was re-elected to the Senate with 266,550 votes against 250,047 for his Republican opponent. In the same year Ross S. Sterling (D) received 252,738 votes against 62,224 for the Republican candidate.

Prohibition has been a live issue in the current campaign, although adoption of a modification plank by the Republican party has tended to remove some of the emphasis upon the issue in 1928. Party agricultural relief programs also are widely discussed.

premiums ranging from 25 cents to as much as $10.50 per bale will be allowed on seed cotton and added to the collateral allowance of 91-2 cents per pound on middling 7-8. Mr. Mann quoted government reports showing that about 70 per cent of the cotton ginned in North Carolina up to October 8 was 15-10 or longer and as such would be entitled to a premium.

He contrasted this record with the quality of cotton five years ago when only about 15 to 20 per cent of the cotton produced in North Carolina was better than middling 7-8, or premium cotton, and briefly reviewed the part the cotton cooperative has played in this improvement in staple through distribution of improved seeds and payment of grade and staple premiums on all cotton better than middling 7-8.

"I see nothing in the picture at this time to indicate that cotton should not go higher before the next planting season rolls around," said Mr. Mann as he entered a discussion of the price outlook from consumption, production, export and carryover angles.

"I'm not one to believe when a man is down he is out," he added. "I believe cotton is going back to 10, 11 and 12 cents per pound or higher—maybe not this year—but I believe it will go higher sometime."

As indications that cotton may rise, Mr. Mann cited that the world crop this year is the smallest in nine years, increasing American exports, a general revival in the textile industry, and the depleted stocks of cotton goods in most stores which must be replaced.

C. C. Hixon, local co-operative field representative, introduced Mr. Mann and presided over the meeting to which all co-operative members and seed loan borrowers were invited. John T. Thorne of Farnville, co-operative director for this district and a former president of the association.

New York Cotton

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today 6 to 8 points higher in response to higher Liverpool cables and foreign buying.

Houses with Liverpool connections were buyers and there was also covering on trade buying, but advances after extending to 6.38 in December met considerable southern and local selling.

The market at the end of the first half hour ruled about 5 to 7 points net higher. December contracts worked off to 6.28 and March to 7.43 or within a point or two of yesterday's close. The market was quiet at mid-day.

STOCKS

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The stock market continued its low wobbling move met today as speculators looked about to find a definite clue to the trend.

Mid-week business statistics showed an upturn in business was well maintained with seasonal tendency toward contraction over remainder of the year, and Wall Street failed to draw any particular bullish inspiration from the showing.

The list pushed up a point or two in the first hour, and then lost its gain during the middle of the day with fresh heaviness cropping up in tobacco. Selling was in small volume.

Rails were firm for a time with Union Pacific up. American Telephone was up 1 point at one time and slid off to show a loss of one point.

Gains of a fraction of a point were shown in steel, gas and other stocks that were converted into small losses. American Tobacco "B" lost 2 points and Liggett and Myers "B" about as much.

The net gain of 1 to 3 points prevailed in the late dealings. The turnover was 1,000,000 shares.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—Just over the broad east plaza of the capitol the other day, in the presence of the foremost jurists and lawyers of the country, a ceremony took place that might well have been called a memorial to William Howard Taft.

It was the laying of the laying of the corner stone for the stately new home of the nation's highest court.

The late President and Chief Justice long dreamed of the day when that should come to pass. For it was under his steady pressure that general plans for the building were completed, title to the land acquired and the structure itself authorized by law. He died just before the actual appropriation could be made.

Far back in the first years of Taft's Washington life, Theodore Roosevelt, then his Chief, suggested that Taft was available timber for the Presidency. Taft, however, let it be known that he had wanted a place on the Supreme bench.

Realized Ambition

Taft was drafted for the Presidency, however, if a man ever was. And it brought him in the end of one of the bitterest political defeats any man of his party has known.

Yet time brought him consolation. As Chief Justice he reached the pinnacle of his lifelong ambition.

At the start he set himself to intensive study of the practices and processes of the court. Under his guidance there much was done to speed up Federal judicial machinery.

Yet his heart was not set upon that so much as it was on the realization of his long cherished dream of a stately independent building to house the court—a structure in keeping with the dignity and power of the judicial arm of the government.

A Memorial

Now the court is to have its home as he had dreamed it. Even the architectural design bears the stamp of his individual taste.

And whether it is so designated or not, to many the structure will stand as a memorial to his long and distinguished public service.
