MAKES VISIT TO PALACE

Bucharest Newspapers Provide new Sensation with Story that Prince Nicholas, Exiled Brother of King, Will Return in November Without Wife He Married in Defiance of King.

Bucharest, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Former Queen Helen of Rumania, the divorced wife of King Carol, arrived in the capital today and was escorted to the palace in the small hours of the morning with the greatest secrecy.

Queen Helen was not permitted to come in the main station, but her royal coach was detached from the Simpson express at Citila outside of Bucharest and taken around the city to the Moghila station.

A special engine was held in readiness for the arrival of the queen, who was accompanied only by a lady in waiting. Princess Helen was greeted at the station by the chief of police who escorted her to the palace.

Meanwhile, Bucharest newspapers provided a new sensation with a story that Prince Nicholas, exiled brother of the king, was returning home November 3 without Mademoiselle Lucia, the woman he married in defiance of the king.

DERBY TO END DRIVE TODAY

Automobile Endurance Driver to Complete 100-Mile Test Here at 4 O'clock.

Daredevil Derby, world's champion endurance automobile driver, will bring his hundred mile test to an end this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

After four days, four nights, and four hours at the wheel of the Chevrolet sedan, Derby will drive up in front of Brown-White, sponsors of the test, promptly at the appointed hour, receive the plaudits of the crowd and then go off to bed for a long, long snooze.

The daredevil started his grueling drive from Kingston last Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. He was handcuffed to the steering wheel by Kingston police and came on to Greenville where the handcuffs were inspected along with sealing on the hood and radiator.

A nurse was at the side of Derby this morning to minister to him in case he should not be able to stand the ordeal. He showed distinct signs of the grueling test when he rode through the principal streets of the city this morning. He looked like a man who had been dragged through purgatory and back, although he had been merely dragging himself over the highway between Greenville and Kingston over what seemed an interminable period of time.

Mrs. Bernice Gardner was the nurse chosen to give attention to the driver during the final hours of his hard grind. She will remain constantly at this side until the car is given up in front of the Chevrolet agency this afternoon and the momentous drive comes to an end.

Derby has taken part in many drives of this kind and is considered one of the best known endurance drivers in the world by reason of his long exploits at the wheel.

He has been viewed by thousands of people in Greenville and Kingston. (Continued on Page Four)

Late News Flashes

Roosevelt in Atlanta. Atlanta, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt waved his campaign hat to thousands of school children massed at strategic centers today for a glimpse of the nominee.

On this school trip he made no stop but his automobile moved slowly among children who cheered him. But the parade through the main section of the city in honor of the governor was the big act of the day.

A political luncheon at his hotel a series of conferences with leaders from southeastern states and an address at the city auditorium at 9:15 will complete his visit.

The governor's train is to leave at 10 o'clock tonight for Raleigh. Governors, U. S. senators and others high in public life and in the party from five states were among the visitors in the city to confer with the New York governor. The governors present included Gov. O.

SCHOOL HEAD STAYS ON JOB IN MARSHALL

Madison County Supt. of Schools Refuses to Resign While Under Fire.

Marshall, N. C., Oct. 24.—(AP)—C. M. Blankenship, Madison county school superintendent, who was asked to resign following the filing of charges of "disreputable conduct," resumed his duties here today refusing to give up his position.

The County Board of Education which conducted the investigation asked for an investigation.

The board stated that while charges against Blankenship did not lead to conviction, the evidence did not by any means alay suspicion in the minds of the people. Meanwhile, Miss Eloise Kite, his secretary, and the woman involved in the case, was not at the office.

Blankenship said he would appeal to the State Board of Equalization at Raleigh.

"I have not been given a square deal," he stated, "and there is too much money and liquor against me." He did not clarify his statement.

BETHEL MAN KILLS SELF

M. R. Matthews Commits Suicide as Result of Despondency over Ill Health.

Shooting himself through the heart with a shotgun, M. R. Matthews, 50, well-known farmer of Bethel, committed suicide at his home this morning at 7 o'clock.

Despondency resulting from ill health was ascribed as the motive for the act.

Lying in bed after the rest of his family had left the house, Matthews, investigating officers said, rested the gun between the wall and his body and pulled the trigger with a piece of tobacco stick. The charge entered the heart, producing instant death. Neighbors, hearing the report of the gun, rushed to the home and found Matthews already dead.

Coroner A. A. Elwanger was held advised of the shooting here, but held that an investigation was unnecessary.

Matthews, a native of South Carolina, moved to Bethel about fifteen years ago. He was engaged in the hardware business until about a year ago, when he confined his attention to farming.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed this morning. He is survived by his wife, a son, J. R. Matthews, of Greenville, and two daughters, of Bethel.

MOORESVILLE SCHOOL DAMAGED BY FIRE

Mooreville, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Fire believed to have been caused by defective wiring did $20,000 damage to the Central high school building here yesterday.

The blaze broke out in the attic above the auditorium about 4:30 p. m., and was not extinguished until late last night, but Mooreville and Statesville firemen confined it to the third story.

Greater damage possibly was prevented by C. L. Hood, principal of the school, who climbed a fire escape to the third story soon after the fire was discovered and removed chemicals and explosives from the science laboratory.

Officials said the building was insured for $50,000.

CIVIL COURT OPENS HERE

Barnhill Case Set for Hearing at Next Week's Session Of Criminal Court.

A two-week term of Superior Court convened in Greenville this morning. The first week's term will be confined to the hearing of civil cases and the second to criminal.

Judge W. L. Harris, of Raleigh, will preside over the term. The calendar for the civil session contains between sixty and seventy cases of more or less interest to the people of the community and the majority were expected to be disposed of.

The second week will consist of the hearing of criminal actions. The docket is comparatively heavy, but the major part of the cases are of a minor nature.

Probably the most important action to be considered during the second week is the murder charge against T. H. Barnhill, Bethel district farmer, charged with the slaying of his ward, Jesse Barnhill, for the purpose of obtaining $10,000 insurance said to have been made payable to the elder Barnhill in case of the ward's death.

The grand jury at the last session of criminal court returned a bill against Barnhill, who had been held in jail here for sometime awaiting court action. He was released under bond of $2,500 shortly following returning of the indictment.

Although Barnhill claims to know nothing of the slaying of his ward on the Flat Swamp Church road during the early spring, the State has collected a mass of circumstantial evidence which will be brought into play when the case comes up for hearing next week.

Young Barnhill and his guardian, together with two or three other people, were said to have been seen riding in the vicinity of their home, not far removed from the Flat Swamp Church, only a short time before the crime was believed to have been committed.

The body of Jesse Barnhill was found lying on the roadside with several bullet wounds in his head, and the coroner's jury returned a verdict that he had come to his death at the hands of a person or persons unknown.

Young Barnhill was said to have carried considerable insurance, and it was reported that $10,000 was made payable to his guardian in case of his death. The prisoner was arrested after lengthy investigation conducted by Sheriff Sam Whitehurst and members of his department.

NEWS MONOPOLY TIGHTENS JUGO-SLAVIA CENSORSHIP

Belgrade, Oct. 24.—(AP)—By granting a 15-year concession for sale of foreign newspapers to the country's official press bureau Jugo-Slavia has added another necessity to the things under monopoly control.

Some Jugo-Slavs hope the monopoly will clear up the price situation which made a London penny paper cost 12 cents, with other English and American periodicals proportionately high.

Other observers, however, regard the move as presaging a tighter censorship. They point out that a foreign paper carrying items disagreeable to the Belgrade government can be confiscated more easily by the monopoly than by the police.

Two Solutions.

Athens, Greece, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Eleutherios Venizelos, the veteran Greek statesman, said after visiting President Zamis that there were only two possible solutions of the present political crisis—a coalition cabinet or another election immediately.

KIDNAPED GIRL RETURNS HOME IN NEW JERSEY

Eight-Year-Old Child Identifies Man Who Attempted to Attack Her in Woods.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Anna Kleinhandler, eight-year-old kidnaped victim, today identified Samuel Morris as the man who lured her into the woods near Springfield and attempted to attack her. The girl, who previously exonerated Morris, told the chief of police here that Morris told her he would kill her if she identified him.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Anna Kleinhandler, eight-year-old child, was back at her home here today after a night of horror in a woods near Springfield with a man who lured her away from home.

After an all-night hunt, the girl early today emerged from the woods near a golf club and knocked on the door of a farmer. A farm hand heard her story and drove her to the Springfield police station.

The girl's clothes has been slightly cut and the body was badly cut and bruised. She was in a hysterical condition and at first was unable to tell of the kidnaping.

WIFE SLAYER HANGS SELF

Convicted of Slaying Wife and Two Children, Man Takes Life in S. C.

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 24.—(P)—Sargeant Charles Long, convicted two weeks ago of killing his wife and two children, strangled himself to death in his cell at the county jail here today.

A fellow-prisoner discovered Long hanging by a rope from the tip of the cage in the center of the cell block. A physician was notified, but Long was dead when the doctor arrived. The body was still warm.

No one saw the hanging so far as could be learned, and officials believed the man's mind had been affected by events following the death of his wife and two children.

SALE OF HOGS PICKS UP HERE

Thirty - Three Carloads Shipped From Pitt this Year; Rat Drive Begins Dec.

By E. F. ARNOLD County Agent

J. E. Winslow sold 150 finished hogs this week to the packing plant at Kingston. This brings the total number shipped by Mr. Winslow this season to 303 finished hogs. He still has a large number of hogs on feed either for local slaughter or shipping at a later date. This brings the total number of cars shipped from Pitt County to thirty-three, bringing a return of $19,299.94.

A rat poisoning campaign for Eastern Carolina has been set for December 10. At this time farmers of Pitt County will be given an opportunity to co-operate with one another in preventing rats from destroying their stored grains. Since the rat goes from farm to farm his destruction becomes a community problem and an organized effort should be made if effective control is to be had. The fact that any farmer may destroy all the rats that he has on his farm does not mean that he will be free of rats unless he can get his neighbors to do the same thing.

The Federal Government has prepared a cannot bait which they offer to the farmers at the rate of three cans for 50 cents. This is not a commercial bait, but a specially prepared bait put out at wholesale cost price to the farmers.

At a later date the farmers of the county will be requested to place their orders for poison bait with the county agent and deliveries for same will be made on December 10. It is hoped that inasmuch as the cost of one bushel of corn will prevent all the waste by rats on the farm that every farmer in the county will respond and help destroy this pest in this section.

HEAVY WEED SALES TODAY

Offerings of Tobacco are Reported Larger than Any Other Period of the Season.

One of the largest, if not the largest, sales was in progress on the Greenville tobacco market today and it was expected that work would not be completed until late in the afternoon.

It was estimated that there was over 1,500,000 pounds of tobacco on the floors of the various warehouses when sales got under way this morning. Tobacco town was a virtual sea of the golden leaf as hundreds of men engaged in the industry bent every effort to clear the floors and prepare for continued heavy offerings tomorrow.

The recent rainfall enabled farmers to grade their weed and prepare it for marketing, and this was largely accountable for the heavy offerings reported the latter part of last week and today.

With clear, crisp weather continuing the remainder of the week, it was believed sales would eclipse any other similar period of the season.

The price situation was more favorable here last week than any other time since the opening of the market, and farmers, many of them from remote communities, reported themselves as highly elated over the improvement.

The advance of price was reported to have resulted from increased orders for the better grades of leaf. The market averaged $14.41 Thursday on over a million pounds of tobacco. It was the highest average of the season and was recorded on one of the heaviest sales.

FIVE PERSONS DIE IN FAMILY TRAGEDY

Colorado Springs, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Theodore Gilberg, 25, a shoe repairman, in what authorities termed a sudden fit of insanity, shot and killed his father, mother and two sisters and then committed suicide at his home here yesterday.

The youth killed his father, Frank Gilberg, 65, and his two sisters, Mrs. Eada Stauffer, 30, and Bertha Gilberg 13 with a rifle as they slept, the latter two dying instantly and the father two hours later.

Gilberg shot his mother as she was preparing breakfast, the bullet going through her head.

He then took his money and insurance paper to a next door neighbor and told them he was going away, but returned home and killed himself.

Police said the youth had been goaded into desperation by his ill and partly mentally unbalanced father.

WILL SPEAK IN N. Y. SOON

Reaching the White House Today After Uneventful Trip To Detroit, President Confers with Henry Robinson, of the 12th Federal Reserve District; Indianapolis and Chicago will be Next Points of Attack.

Washington, Oct. 24.—(AP)—President Hoover was engaged today in plans for closing his campaign for re-election to the Presidency with a two-week tour with a special address in New York a week from today and another in the mid-West.

Returning from the third Western trip, which included his address at Detroit, Mich., he had already settled plans for going the fourth time into mid-West with addresses at Indianapolis and Chicago. At the White House it was suggested that the trip for the coming week-end would begin Thursday evening or Sunday.

At present plans hinge on completion of the address he will make in New York a week from today. If he does not finish the New York address in time, the tentative arrangement will permit postponement of the fourth mid-Western tour until a later date. Reaching the White House yesterday after an uneventful trip to Detroit, he conferred with Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker, and chairman of the central committee of banking and the industrial committee in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District.

Fire Department Called Out Twice

The home of John Stell, colored, on Tyson Street, was totally destroyed by flames of undetermined origin Sunday morning at 4 o'clock. The loss was estimated by firemen at $1,500. The building, a one-story wooden structure, was the property of the Stell heirs.

The fire department was called out again Sunday morning to extinguish a burning bale of cotton in a warehouse of the Atlantic Coast Coast Line Railroad. The cotton was removed from the building and the blaze quickly extinguished.

Mack Henderson left Greenville this morning by airplane for Atlanta, Ga., where he was called on account of the precarious condition of his brother.

The trip was made aboard a special chartered plane of the Hoffman line, operating in and out of Greenville.

Henderson received two messages yesterday telling him of the serious condition of his brother, Channing Henderson, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis and later developed pneumonia. His condition was described as critical and little hope was entertained for his recovery.

CAMPUS RADICALS SOW COMMUNISM IN CHINA'S SCHOOLS

Peiping, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Educational authorities here view with concern the growth of communism among Chinese students.

Almost every government university has its student "cell," it is said. The communists make a point of capturing key positions in student organizations.

When the Japanese occupied Mukden a year ago, the student associations of several universities formed an anti-Japanese society, but in less than a month it was brought under communist control.

Other familiar tactics of the radical students are to attend public meetings and beseech speakers who voice hostility to communist theories.

To assist the authorities in handling the situation, seven Chinese patriotic organizations here have banded into an anti-communist federation. They urge drastic action to root out the red menace in the schools.

ABOUT TOWN

Walter Murphy of Salisbury, long one of the leading political figures in this state, speaking at the political rally here last Friday night declared the Republican party had shown its inadequacy in meeting the unusual conditions affecting the nation at this time.

He declared the party of privilege and power had been given twelve years in which to prove its prosperity ballyhoo but that they had been unable to live up to expectations of the people.

The country can not expect to recover from the depression, he stated, until farming has been put on a paying basis, unemployed men find more employment and manufacturers can sell their goods for a profit on other markets.

He charged the Republican party with inability to supply these three things and urged the people to vote for the Democrats and assure themselves of an improvement.

People should be careful in driving over the highways of the state and always stop when they see a school bus taking on or discharging passengers.

Because a driver failed to recognize a school bus parked on a highway in this county some days ago, a seven-year-old boy received a broken leg when he was hit by the approaching car.

The driver did all he could to help the child, but he could not give back the strong, supple leg which the child had before the accident. The leg may heal up, but it will never be as strong as it was before the accident.

Highways are dangerous these days with hundreds of automobiles going in all directions and the state has thrown a safeguard around the lives of school children by making a law prohibiting automobiles from passing buses when they are taking on or discharging passengers. The law will be stringently enforced and people who do not wish to violate it should look carefully when approaching school buildings and see that they do not run by a bus.

The coming of Governor O. Max Gardner November 1st to make a political address here was received with interest in many parts of the county and if expectations of the Democratic committee are fulfilled five counties of the district will send large delegations to the rally.

This is the first time the governor has visited Greenville in a long time and what he will have to say regarding the campaign will play a big part in the outcome of the campaign.

The rally will be the fourth to be held in this county during the campaign and when the date of the election rolls around it is safe to say Pitt county will be ready to go to the polls and turn in a tremendous vote.

Governor Roosevelt is charging President Hoover with throwing tear gas bombs in an attempt to blind the voters to the actual issues at stake in the campaign.

The Republican party can do all the tear bomb tossing it likes but it will never be able to convince the public it is able to improve economic conditions. After twelve years at the helm of government, the party has proven itself a miserable failure by letting the nation sink deeper into the slough of despond.

President Hoover four years ago asked the nation to vote for him and he would bring one of the greatest eras of prosperity in history.

Mr. Hoover may know his dam, but he evidently doesn't know much about how to go about releasing money to bring about the desired improvement.

His effort to recapture the faith of the American people is absolutely hopeless and any promises he may see fit to make in the present campaign will go in one ear and out the other.

Registration books will be open one more Saturday and people who do not register by that time will be out of luck when the general election rolls around.

Persons who did not vote in the June primary and those who have become 21 years of age since that time will be required to register if they expect to cast their ballot in the greatest political battle the nation has known in many a day.

W. E. Hooks of Ayden, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee, has called on everybody to prepare themselves to go to the polls and help pile up a great vote for the Democratic party. He said he hoped people would not become careless of the responsibility resting upon their shoulders in this connection and that everybody of age would make it a point to go to the polls and express a preference for candidates.

Pitt county ranks next to Halifax county in turning in majorities for the party in national elections, and if everybody will go to the polls we should be able to capture first position held by Halifax.

PEP DEALERS START UNIQUE ECONOMY DRIVE

"Get acquainted with motoring economy" is the idea behind an intensive program of the Puro-Pep dealers of this city.

Recent check-ups by these enterprising merchants of motor needs, it was stated, show that Puro-Pep and Toluene are the most economical motor fuel and motor oil sold on this market. Hundreds of motorists attest to this fact, as evidenced by the growing sales of these products.

In order that every automobile owner in this vicinity may become acquainted with these super value products, this economy drive is being staged. Personal invitations are being issued to hundreds of local automobile owners and at attractive advertising campaign in the Reflector are being used.

However, it does not require an invitation to join this drive. All you need do, say these Pep dealers, is to drive up to your nearest Blue and White service stations where Puro-Pep and Toluene are dispensed, and try these "Twins of power and savings."

By the time your speedometer has registered a few hundred added miles of travel you will automatically join the throng of satisfied, thrifty local motorists who use only these quality products.

A PATH TO PARADISE

SYNOPSIS: Clive's flagging spirits, dashed because Santa became engaged to another, are a little revived by being appointed European representative of his firm. The day he tells Santa, for whom he now waits at the pier. The background is full of complication. Santa's mother was married by Eric Dawn only after Clive's mother had thrown him over. A rift, later closed, was effected, between the Dawns when Clive's mother enticed him to Eric Dawn's care upon her deathbed. Worse, Santa is a ruthless flirt, and now plans marriage with a man fourteen years older "for companionship" although she knows Clive adores her.

Chapter 7 BUT THERE WAS DICKY

Clive was despairing when he spied Santa. She was attired as for a ballroom. Exotic. Ecstatic. Been dancing. At a night club probably. So that was what had delayed her! As she scurried along the pier half running, he had time to waken her. At first he thought she was alone.

Reckless, Santa kissed Clive full on the mouth.

"In Europe? I might," she blurted.

"My headquarters will be at the Hotel Bristol, Vienna. Can you remember?"

"Rather!" she snuggled. "What fun to shock them!"

"You'll have no one to help you." He sank his voice to a conspirator's. "Poor little you! If you make a false move, everyone will pile into you. Cable your port of arrival; I'll be there to meet you. Better land in England, nicer to be married in our own language. You've always had everything done for you; know none of the ropes. Buy your ticket at a tourist agency; they'll procure your visas."

"Clive, darling, it sounds delicious."

"Fraid you must go, Miss," the steward interrupted.

They awoke. The deck had been cleared of all save passengers.

"Promise," he urged.

"I'll write."

"But if you don't agree now—"

She broke from him. As her foot touched the gang-plank she darted back and flung her arms wildly about him.

"Don't hate me."

"My own," he whispered.

Raising her face, reckless of spectators, she kissed him full on the mouth—a sweetheart's kiss. Then turned to discover that her forgotten fiance had been watching.

She felt so young and defenceless that she could have howled. There beyond the barrier stood Dicky Dak who had the right to spank her if ever a man had. The worst of it was that she there was no way of avoiding him. Dickey seemed to know more about her than she knew about herself. She'd tried in vain to surprise him. She'd accepted his proposal at least partly for the fun of discovering how an older man would react.

This time she was sure she'd surprised him. She'd surprised herself. Were he to leave her to struggle home alone, it was no more than she deserved. As for breaking the news to him of the full extent of her treachery, that was out of the question.

Gathering her opera-cloak about her, she minced through the barrier in a mood oddly abashed and defiant.

"Well, that's over!" Dicky greeted her with unruffled countenance.

So he wasn't going to begin the row in public! From sheer relief she could have hugged him.

He tucked an arm through hers and raised his hat.

"Your friend's waving, Santa."

She didn't look back. Daren't. Her heart was bursting. And here she was with this unwanted man on her hands whom she'd been idiot enough to believe she wanted!

In a crowded elevator she descended to the dreary dock front that smelt of garbage. Her escort seemed a policeman conducting her to the patrol wagon. He was handing her into their waiting automobile and spreading a robe about her ever a man had. The worst of it was that she there was no way of avoiding him. Dickey seemed to know more about her than she knew about herself. She'd tried in vain to surprise him. She'd accepted his proposal at least partly for the fun of discovering how an older man would react.

"Poor kiddy." He attempted to soothe her.

"Please don't." She shrank into her corner. "You saw, I didn't kiss him ordinarily."

"You were sorry for him. When one's young and has no money, he loves desperately. When he's older and has money, no girl wants him. You've known this boy for years—too well; the novelty's worn off him."

Suspicious that Clive was being belittled, she countered: "Novelty's not everything. About you I know next to nothing."

"You will."

She stopped sobbing.

"You're not jealous. You don't sound angry."

"Did you think I was going to strafe you?"

"You treat me like a baby."

"It's all you are, darling."

"You may put your arm about me. You're the kindest man I ever met! I've heaved. May I tell you?" She drew a long breath.

"I've promised Clive I'll marry him."

"I guessed you had."

Bring Your Tobacco On

Government Report just published shows GREENVILLE continues to be the World's Largest Bright Tobacco Market.

Greenville is also leading in prices paid for every grade of tobacco. Never before have the other markets tried so hard to induce and persuade growers in our territory to sell with them. Some of them are so desperate as to offer any kind of inducements, even going so far as to offer to haul their tobacco free.

We believe the farmers of Pitt county will stand by their market, which has proven to be the best and largest bright tobacco market in the state.

Grade carefully, keep your tobacco dry and "drive in" early in order to avoid any rush.

Entertain at Barbecue Supper.

The beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mayo, who reside two miles north of Bethel, Saturday night was the scene of a large barbecue and fried chicken supper, where they were joint hosts with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Andrews, to the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade. The beautiful country estate was elaborately decorated with colorful fall flowers. There were about one hundred members of the local board present and a few neighbors and friends of the hosts. A long table was placed on the lawn of the estate and the supper was served there. The school teachers of the neighborhood and of Bethel assisted the hostesses in serving the plentiful supper which consisted of barbecue, fried chicken and all the trimmings. A large punch bowl was at one end of the table over which Mr. Andrews gracefully presided.

At the conclusion of the supper, Lee Hannah acting as toastmaster, called on K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sale for the Greenville tobacco market, for a speech. Mr. Cobb, in his usual pleasing way, expressed to the joint hostesses his appreciation in behalf of the Board of Trade for the wonderful time given them. Mr. Cobb also stated that the Greenville market appreciated the loyalty of the people from the Bethel community for their loyal support to the Greenville tobacco market. In conclusion Mr. Cobb presented Mr. Squire of London, England, who is the English representative of the China-American Tobacco Company. Mr. Squire then made a few remarks expressing his delight at being present, and also took this opportunity to thank those present for the southern hospitality which had been shown him while he had been here.

Then P. H. Kasey, buyer for the E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company, made a few brief remarks. At the conclusion all present gave the joint hostesses three rousing cheers and declared them to be perfect hosts. All during the supper music and singing was enjoyed by the guests. The guests departed about ten-thirty o'clock declaring that they had never had a better time in their lives and again expressing to the hosts their appreciation and declaring them to be perfect hosts.

NO ENTERTAINMENT AT COLLEGE TONIGHT

There will be no entertainment whatever at East Carolina Teachers College this evening. Satisfactory arrangements for a substitute for Grace Moore could not be made in the short time between the reception of the first wire and the date advertised.

It was due the public to get an announcement into the first issue of the newspapers after the cancellation was known. Every effort was made promptly to get the news through the same sources that were used for publicity. Telegraph, telephone, special delivery letters, regular mail, every means possible, was used to stop the publicity. It was, however, impossible to catch up with all of it. A number of students had already left to spend the week-end at their homes, students had mailed out folders to friends scattered far and wide, and window cards had been placed in all the surrounding towns.

The indications pointed to a large attendance this evening.

Mrs. S. F. Allen III. S. P. Allen arrived yesterday from Denmark, S. C., to be with Mrs. Allen, who has been quite ill with diphtheria at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. L. Thigpen. Her friends will be glad to learn that she is better today.

THE ROADSTER

By Mary Graham Bohner

Now all the Toads hoppingly rushed over to a very big willow tree and from behind the tree they had made themselves.

Toadies had made the engine as he was a very clever young Toad, and the others had made wheels of wood and fittings of moss, while an extra tire was on the back.

"It's really a Toad Toadster," Willy Nilly said.

"That's a good name for it," Toadies said, "but it is also a Puddle Jumper."

"There are so many puddles around Toadtown and Puddle Muddle that we thought the best kind of an automobile we could have would be one that would jump the puddles."

"We have tested this out, and it will jump every puddle around here."

Old Toad got up from his seat on the toadstool and took his place back of the driver's wheel in the Puddle Jumper Toadster-roadster.

His eyes were almost popping out with excitement, and when he tried to speak, he couldn't get out a single Toad word.

"Has it more than one cylinder and a half?" quackingly whispered Mrs. Quacko.

"It has only a quarter-of-a-cylinder," whispered one of the Toads. "We're smaller than Ducks, and so we don't need a large car."

"I think you're right, quite toadishly right," nodded Mrs. Quacko.

Now Old Toad had stepped into the Toadster and placing his foot on the starter, was off for his first ride in his birthday automobile.

As he approached the first puddle over it jumped in magnificent style!

Tomorrow—"Jumping Puddles."

CHURCH EXPANDS ACTIVITY DESPITE DROP IN INCOME

New York, Oct. 24.—(AP)—In spite of a reduction of about $157,000 in income, the extension boards of the Congregational Church have increased their activities, a report by Dr. Ernest M. Halliday, general secretary, shows.

The report, which is for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1932, will be submitted to the annual meetings of the Congregational Home Missionary society, the Congregational Church Building society, and the Congregational Sunday School Extension society, to be held at Oak Park, Ill., on November 2 and 3.

The number of Congregational missionary churches in this country has increased in one year from 614 to 643, says the report, and the total membership of aided churches, missions and preaching stations has gained from 30,617 to 33,945.

The fourth quarter conference will be held at the close of the service Tuesday evening.

New York, Oct. 24.—These are the days of the grape in Little Italy. In the stretch south of Washington Square, in East Harlem—wherever there are Italians in goody numbers—the sidewalk stands are loaded with bunches of luscious Malagas. Tokays and their kin of the vine.

Fete days are coming thick and fast for the Italians—Immacolata, Santa Lucia, Natle, Cpo d'Inno, Carnevale. Anticipating these occasions, the sworthy sons of Florence, of Naples, and of Sicily lay in their stores of juicy grapes.

In many cases it is the man of the family who goes into the market place to pass upon the grape. The woman does well enough with cheese and sausage and such things. But you see the pater familias at the grape stands, appraising the quality of the red and purple clusters with a discerning eye.

Gotham Glimpses

The far sung onion soup so highly prized in France, may be found with all of its delectable aroma in several west Thirties—the heart of New York's French quarter, Little English is ever heard in these establishments.

The building that once housed Murray's famous cafe with the revolving dance floor is slated to go soon, to make way for a big modern structure on the south side of Forty-second. The demolition will take away a hotel which still proudly shows a room that John Barrymore occupied.

There are quarters in an old house on Washington Square which are pointed out as the John Barrymore suite, too.

The Nineteenth precinct, between Fifth Avenue and East River, Fifty-ninth and Eighty-six Streets, is said to call upon private detective agencies for more house guards than any other similar area. Here is one

Down in Chinatown the Oriental grocers still carry a weird assortment of herbs from the old country, and strange potions derived from bones, feathers and such things. Many Chinese come in and buy these things to treat their own ills, spurning the advice of physicians.

Night Life

The one thing your nocturnal New Yorker misses the most when he goes into the quieter parts of the hinterland for a visit is the sight of people on the streets at all hours of the night. He can get along well enough for awhile without his shows, his restaurants and his taxis. But the 12 o'clock quiet on Main Street makes him want to stand out in the middle of the street and scream his loneliness at the moon.

I have just been talking to a friend who went back to his Indiana home town for a couple of weeks. It's one of the smaller towns—peaceful, substantial, unhurried. Except that the townsfolk have that sensible practice of hurrying home when the last movie is over, leaving the down-town section as deserted as a singing ship.

During his years here this fellow got the night prowling habit. Now he can't sleep at the hour when Main Street takes to its bed. So all he could do was pass the nights in a sort of anguish, yearning for the 3 o'clock bustle on Broadway and the all-night stir in Sheridan Square

U. N. C. TEAM READY FOR STATE TILT

Chapel Hill, Oct. 24.—Coming through the Georgia Tech game in good shape except for minor injuries to Underwood and Melver, the Carolina squad today faced a week's rebuilding and retraining for the N. C. State game here Saturday with the same courageous spirit that has characterized the team in all its games.

The Tar Heels scored the last touchdown on Tennessee and Georgia Tech when the score was heavily against them, and on Georgia when a tie was in sight, and they expect to work and fight harder this week for their loss to Tech.

The score against Tech was a great disappointment, and what the Tar Heels regret most is that they literally blew up after playing the Tornado an even first quarter and after tying the score at 7-7 in the second.

Carolina led in first downs 13 to 3 and only fell 90 yards short of the 362 yards net Tech gained from scrimmage, but held Tech as they might for three plays out of four, it seemed that part of the defense would falter on the fourth. Tech made six touchdowns on runs or passes above 50 yards, and the errors and the weaknesses shown on these plays are what the boys are determined to wipe out before they face State.

Underwood with a painful but not serious leg bruise and Melver with a knee injury were the only more than minor casualties Saturday, but Melver may be out this week and Underwood is unfortunately both centers. Underwood will be all right in a day or so, and if Melver doesn't come around, Gardner will probably get the understudy job.

SPORT SEANTS

By ALAN GOULD

The Harvard scouts strolled into the smoker, on the way to one of the East's high-spot football games. Having no reason for making any apologies for the early showing of the Crimson, they proceeded to dwell at length on the subject.

"It's too bad Barry Wood is gone," suggested one of the newspaper boys. "He was my idea of a great athlete and a great guy, in any sport."

"They told me last year, though," that one of the Harvard coaches shocked a skull meeting by suggesting the club would be better off without Wood," responded another of the sports journeymen.

"Well, it's easy to get out the old hammer—say, I hear the Notre Dame sports are aboard. Anybody know 'em?"

Nobody did. Notre Dame football teams continue to roll on but their administration no longer captures the popular fancy that Rockne built up. This probably is natural enough since there was only one "Rock" just as baseball has only one Babe Ruth.

The consensus in the smoker was that Notre Dame would "take" Pitts-burgh again, even though the Panthers have shown plenty of girder-kick stuff and in Warren Heller, possess one of the best halfbacks in the country.

"Heller," volunteered a critic, "can run or pass for my All-American team any day in the week. He has class."

Yale Miss Booth.
"What's the matter with Yale?" one of the boys asked.
"It is probably a combination of things, including injuries and the difficulties of absorbing the Rockne shift," replied another. "but I hear several of the older players among the Elis have been taking it too easy."
"That sort of thing is likely to happen with any outfit early in the season. Older players feel they have their jobs pretty well cinched and don't exert themselves. The result is, the whole team's development is slowed up."

All-America Nominees
For All-America backfield consideration, here are a few of the names that October has developed for the main November and December arguments:
Quarterbacks—Newman of Michigan, Mohler of Southern California, and Montgomery of Columbia.
Halfbacks—Heller of Pittsburgh, Reister of Northwestern, Feathers of Tennessee, Zimmerman of Tulane, Roberts of Vanderbilt, and Koy of Texas.
Fullbacks—Cai of Alabama, Viviano of Cornell, Graham of Kansas State, and Manders of Minnesota.

Wright's hat blew off as he walked along the side of the highway. When he attempted to cross the road to recover it, he was hit by an automobile whose driver continued on his way without stopping.
County officers, augmented by the highway patrol, were investigating the case today in an effort to determine the identity of the driver of the car, but their activities had proven fruitless up until the noon hour today.

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE
The general pattern of the presidential campaign may now be said to have taken definite outline after weeks of preparat'on.
Some surprises may still be in store, but hardly anyone expects any real change from now on either in the basic strategy of the opposing forces or the general style of their respective operations.
The one big fact is that both parties are basing their final bid for power on a conviction that the depression, in all its past and future aspects, will be the paramount factor in the decision of November 8.
The Democratic thesis is that President Hoover's handling of the emergency has been so unsatisfac-

Twenty Birds in One Film
Twenty of his birds appear as Allison Skipworth's pets in "If I Had a Million"—and Kerr's collection includes more than five-score more. He has 35 dogs, 30 cats, and an assortment of 400 other animals, each of them trained as far as possible to do nothing a director might wish.
"I have an eagle that will scream on signal, an owl that will howl, and four wolves that will howl when told," he said.
It's a business that employs seven men two to take care of the cages and five to work the animals in pictures. Kerr also has to continually raise new birds, beasts and insects because some of his "actors," principally insects, are always being lost.

Beer Tax Would Bring Big Sum
White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Legal beer and a Federal tax thereon could bring the government as much as 754,000,000 additional revenue, the Investment Bankers' Association said today.
Without giving an opinion on prohibition, the committee reported that a tax up to 40 cents a gallon on beer might be levied, which would bring this large sum and which is equivalent to three-quarters of income tax collected last fiscal year.

Two Taken For Ride
Gadsden, Ala., Oct. 24.—(AP)—The body of Miss Velma Groover, daughter of a Methodist minister, and Tom Russell, married man and father of three children, were found in a field near here today.
Close by was a gun, some-what used to shoot the woman, and to beat the woman.
Police believe they were taken for a ride, slain on a nearby highway, and dragged to the field.
The gun gave no evidence of the killers. Its stock was shattered as blows were rained upon the woman's head and body. The coroner found fingerprints on the gun barrel but otherwise no clues of slayer's identity.

Lea Issues Statement
Nashville, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Luke Lea, Jr., issued the following statement today following action of the U. S. Supreme Court in the case of himself, his father and Wallace Davis.
The high court of the United States has granted until November 3 to file a petition for action of N. C. Supreme Court in dismissing a motion for a new trial on the grounds of newly discovered evidence. Until that petition is filed lory that a new deal at Washington is essential to insure leadership for recovery. The Republican doctrine is that the President has done well against great odds and that things are likely to be much worse if the Democrats are entrusted with power.

It is on these precise lines that both party organizations are preparing to fight out the last encounters of the campaign, and there are evidences on both sides that the concluding periods of the debate will be characterized by much personal bitterness.
A dozen collateral issues will be discussed in limited degree. The principal dispute is due for a revival in some localities, such as ultra-dry sections in the east and ultra-dry sections in the west. But over the whole picture both parties expect to see an election day the dominating shadow of the depression and the question what to do about it.
Thus with respect to issues, the last stage of the campaign conforms rather closely to the expectations of six months ago. The same cannot be said of the personalities involved.
President Hoover had been expected—and apparently he himself expected—to take little active part in the canvass for votes. Actually he is now taking a very active part. He had been expected to take no direct notice of what the opposition did or said. Actually he now is giving major attention to an attack on the words and acts of the Democratic leaders.
As for Governor Roosevelt, he has followed predictions by making a stumping campaign, by directly attacking the Republican record, by asking for the support of the groups he calls "progressives." He has not, as many expected, put all his eggs into the western basket and let the traditionally conservative east go Republican by default. His final major effort will be in his home state of New York.

There was only a moderate volume of business done on and the market held steady. At midday December was around 6.17 and March 6.42; but two points higher.

Stock Market

New York Oct. 24.—(AP)—The stock market zigzagged quietly in a narrow trading range today as Wall Street awaited U. S. Steel dividend and reports to appear after the end of tomorrow's trading.
The list slid off a point or more in the early trading, rallied in the late morning to show a gain and slid off again in the early afternoon. Some issues recorded losses from one to two points.
Pronounced heaviness erped out in some stocks. Selling began in some of the rails after midday with Union Pacific and New York Central losing one point or more. American Telephone lost a point. Tobacco recovered for a time with American "B" Liggett and Myers dropped about a point before sliding off again. U. S. Steel was heavy. Preferred stocks pushed up more than two points. Turnover was only about 600,000 shares.

Luke Lea, said this afternoon that he would ask the State Supreme Court tomorrow to stay execution of Lea's sentence despite a refusal of the U. S. Supreme Court to reverse conviction of the publisher.
Beer Tax Would Bring Big Sum
White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Legal beer and a Federal tax thereon could bring the government as much as 754,000,000 additional revenue, the Investment Bankers' Association said today.
Without giving an opinion on prohibition, the committee reported that a tax up to 40 cents a gallon on beer might be levied, which would bring this large sum and which is equivalent to three-quarters of income tax collected last fiscal year.

Two Taken For Ride

Gadsden, Ala., Oct. 24.—(AP)—The body of Miss Velma Groover, daughter of a Methodist minister, and Tom Russell, married man and father of three children, were found in a field near here today.
Close by was a gun, somewhat used to shoot the woman, and to beat the woman.
Police believe they were taken for a ride, slain on a nearby highway, and dragged to the field.
The gun gave no evidence of the killers. Its stock was shattered as blows were rained upon the woman's head and body. The coroner found fingerprints on the gun barrel but otherwise no clues of slayer's identity.

Lea Issues Statement

Nashville, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Luke Lea, Jr., issued the following statement today following action of the U. S. Supreme Court in the case of himself, his father and Wallace Davis.

TO STOP RAIDS ON N. C. TREASURY

Raleigh, Oct. 24.—Preparations to prevent any attempted "raids" on the state treasury through the 1933 General Assembly by organized and powerful minorities are rapidly being made through formation of local chapters and securing members to the North Carolina state branch of the National Economy League. Frank Page, state chairman, said today.

Through activities of Paul N. Montague, executive secretary of the state branch and member of the national council, chapters have already been formed at Wilmington, Kinston, Greenville, Rocky Mount and other points, while Durham and other cities are to have chapter organizations this week, Mr. Page said.

Mr. Montague is spending most of his time in the field, making talks before various community, civic and taxpayer groups and forming local chapters. Chairman Page expects to have from 140,000 to 200,000 members in the state before the General Assembly meets, and a force large enough to speak and have its voice heard in the legislative halls.

In addition to Willard L. Dowell, secretary of the North Carolina Merchants Association, Mr. Page announces that W. Kerr Scott, Haw River, master of the North Carolina Grange and prominent in agricultural activities, has accepted a position on the advisory committee of the state branch of the Economy League. Mr. Scott's advice and aid will be valuable and constructive, Mr. Page said.

Also, Mr. Page announces, Dr. B. B. Dougherty, president of Appalachian State Teachers College, and also a member of the State Board of Equalization, has accepted a place on the advisory committee. Dr. Dougherty's knowledge of school matters and prominence in educational circles of the state make him a very valuable addition to the League's advisory committee. Additional members of this committee, to be composed of leading citizens in all walks of life and activities of the state, are to be named at an early date, Chairman Page said.
