Three Persons Killed As Airplane Crashes During Fog In Mooresville Area

YOUNG WOMAN AMONG DEAD

CASEY AGAIN FACES TRIAL

Hal Padgett and 18-Year-Old Daughter of Lincolnton and Ed Byers of Charlotte, Meet Death as Machine Suddenly Falls During Fog; Plane Demolished.

Man Goes on Trial for Second Time in Kinston for Killing Jas. C. Causey.

Kinston, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Herman Casey, who has seen five dates set for his electrocution and each time escaped the State lethal chair, was called to trial for a second time today for the murder of James Causey, Suffolk lumberman.

A motion for a new trial and stay of sentence saved the man from the chair as his attorneys battled for a new trial for him.

Causey was shot to death July 4, 1930, and his automobile containing the body set afire on a little used road in Lenoir County.

Mooresville, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Hal Padgett and his eighteen-year-old daughter, of Lincolnton, and Edward Byers, of Charlotte, were instantly killed near here today when Byers' plane crashed through a heavy fog into the middle of a country road.

Padgett, 42, and Byers, 45, both were automobile dealers. Padgett's daughter, Earleen, worked in Charlotte. The party was returning to Charlotte after spending the weekend in Lincolnton when the accident occurred and Byers was piloting the machine.

L. B. Boyd, police officer here, who formerly lived in Lincolnton, identified the bodies after they were brought to the funeral home here.

The girl was thrown about twenty feet from the plane as it crashed, but Byers and Padgett were caught in the wreckage.

The party instantly became lost when they flew into a fog bank, and attempting to land, suddenly crashed about four miles from here. The plane was demolished.

BOOSTS NEW AMENDMENTS

Kemp Battle Would Submit New Amendments at Special Elections.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Adoption of a Constitutional amendment for the submission of future amendments at special instead of general elections was urged in a statement today by Kemp D. Battle, president of the North Carolina Bar Association.

Battle also said the proposed amendment to disassociate solicitorial districts from judicial districts should be passed by the voters of the State at the November 8 elections.

Both amendments were endorsed by the Bar Association at its annual meeting last July.

Speaking of the first proposal, Battle said: "It is suggested that the proposal is out of harmony with the traditions of the Democratic party because a larger number of voters usually participates in a general election than in a special one."

"Surely they who make this point must know that in the hurry-burly of a general political campaign, consideration of abstract measures is (Continued on Page Six)

Ducks Arrive on N. C. Coast

Washington, N. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Regular winter visitors to North Carolina numbering thousands have arrived for the season.

Charlie J. Moore, Assistant State Game Warden, of Washington, reported today that large numbers of ducks and geese had arrived on the coast.

Returning from a trip to Lake Umbagog, in Hyde County, Moore asserted he saw a flock of sprig tail and mallard ducks which he estimated to contain approximately 25,000 birds. He is also said to have seen several thousand geese.

As a result of the presence of these water fowl, the Assistant State Game Warden said he believed hunting will be better in that section than for the last three years. He reported an abundance of natural food for the birds, including fresh water grasses, soy beans and rice.

Recent heavy rains which have been experienced in the section, said Moore, have covered new areas and makes the tritry more attractive for the water fowl.

FARMVILLE HOLDS RALLY

Hoovercart Parade Witnessed by Several Thousand Democrats of Section.

Farmville, Oct. 31.—Several thousand people thronged Farmville's Main Street for the Hoovercart parade Saturday afternoon, preliminary to the Democratic rally, in which Harold D. Cooley was principal speaker.

Prizes of trade checks, contributed by various merchants of the town, were awarded as follows to winners in the parade:

The most up-to-date cart, to Joe Tugwell, whose bright blue vehicle bore an extra tire, the cover of which told the world that it was the Roosevelt Special; the prettiest girl, Miss Geraldine Gardner, who rode in this cart; the most delapidated, J. L. Rouse, of the Snow Hill section; the wittiest anti-Hoover speaker, to Barney Phillips, of Macleesfield, whose cart bore a placard: "I'm a hay burner now, but I'll be a gas burner after November 8th"; most freckish, Aubrey Skinner—this was one of the first model Fords dished and mounted on a wagon gear; most brilliantly colored, to Joseph Morgan, of Crisp, whose cart was so gorgeous in its coat of many colors that the judges did not hesitate for a moment in deciding upon its merit.

The rally was under the direction of John B. Lewis, attorney, and head of the Young Democratic Club, assisted by J. T. Thorne, J. W. Holmes and other Democratic leaders here. This community is thoroughly organized for the purpose of casting the largest Democratic vote in its history in the coming election.

Mr. Cooley, the principal speaker, vividly depicted the real state of affairs in this nation, guided by shifty, self-seeking politicians, who place personal acquisition of wealth supreme, and assailed the present administration as the most extravagant and wasteful that the world has ever known.

"They have spent this nation's money like drunken sailors," he said. "Two and a half million dollars went toward building the American embassy in Germany, $17,500,000 into the Commerce Building, which is (Continued on Page Three)

MAN TALKS IN KIDNAP CASE

Jean Saul, Held in Seville, Admits All He Knows is What He Heard on Train.

Madrid, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Jean S. Saul, arrested in Seville several days ago after he had told acquaintances he knew what happened to the $50,000 ransom money paid out in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, admitted today that all he knew he had learned on a train between Toulouse and Bayonne.

Saul said he would talk only with American police and declared he was born in the United States on June 26, 1874. The American consulate at Seville had previously taken no official action in the case when police said they were sure Saul was not an American.

DEAL SPEAKS TO BAPTISTS

College Professor Urges more Thought for Religious Problems of the Day.

R. C. Deal, member of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, and one of the best known speakers in this section of the State, filled the pulpit at Memorial Baptist Church last night in the absence of the pastor, Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, who opened a series of revival services at Stokes yesterday.

Taking his text from the third and fourth verses of the 8th Psalm, where David told the glory of God's handwork, the speaker brought to the congregation a forceful message dealing with the ability of the Christian to think and act for himself.

He discussed the glory of the heavens and the earth and the soul and mind of man.

People, he said, have always (Continued on Page Six)

GOV. GARDNER WILL SPEAK HERE TUESDAY

Chief Executive Will Deliver Most Important Address of the Campaign

Voters of six surrounding counties were looking forward with interest today to the coming to Greenville tomorrow night of Governor O. Max Gardner to deliver the principal address at a rally of Democrats at the courthouse at eight o'clock.

The meeting will be preceded by a torchlight parade in which hundreds of people are expected to participate. It will be the most important gathering since the opening of the campaign in the county by reason of the fact that the Governor will deliver the first address in defense of his administration. The speech will be broadcast to all sections of the State by a special hookup with the radio station at Raleigh.

The Governor and Mrs. Gardner will be guests of East Carolina Teachers College during the early evening, and he will make a short address to the student body. It is his first appearance in Greenville in several years, and the public generally was looking forward to his coming with more than passing interest.

W. E. Hooks, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee, said he had invited Governor Gardner to deliver the principal address at a rally of Democrats at the courthouse at eight o'clock. The meeting will be preceded by a torchlight parade in which hundreds of people are expected to participate. It will be the most important gathering since the opening of the campaign in the county by reason of the fact that the Governor will deliver the first address in defense of his administration. The speech will be broadcast to all sections of the State by a special hookup with the radio station at Raleigh.

MAN AND GIRL SHOT TO DEATH

Bodies of Prominent Jackson, Miss., Man and Woman Found in Bungalow.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Miss Bruce Kirpatrick, 28, formerly of Memphis, and Howard Evans, Jackson cotton mill executive, were found shot to death in a bungalow near here early today.

Sheriff Warren Ferguson expressed opinion they had committed suicide. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hawkins, of Memphis, guests of Evans and Miss Kirpatrick Sunday, were held for questioning. They told the sheriff a version of the death which the officer said he had accepted.

They were held in jail, however, pending a verdict of the coroner's jury.

The bodies were found by Charles Franklin, friend of Evans, who had stopped at the house. Officers revealed they found signs of a drinking party.

Evans was married and had five children.

NECK BROKEN IN CAR WRECK

Wilson Young Man Injured in Automobile Accident At Farmville.

Norwood Bass, of Wilson, employee of a picture show at Farmville, received a broken neck when the car in which he was riding crashed into a telephone pole at Farmville last night. Several other occupants of the car were reported to have escaped uninjured.

It was not at first thought Bass was badly hurt, but a short time after the wreck he complained of a pain in the neck and was rushed to a Wilson hospital where it was said it was indicated his neck was broken.

The accident occurred as the car attempted to make a corner in the heart of the Farmville business district. Police said that when the machine failed to turn the corner it crashed into a telephone pole. All of the occupants were badly shaken up, but Bass was the only one to receive medical attention.

Cooking School To Be Held By The Reflector

Lecturer of National Renown Secured By Reflector for Week of Home-Making, Demonstrations, Good Cookery And Items of Interest To Every Woman.

To Lecture Here

Miss Louise Dixon, daughter of Thomas Dixon, famous writer, will deliver the series of lectures at the Reflector's cooking school to open Tuesday of next week in the High School auditorium.

In announcing this Cooking School to the women of Greenville and Pitt County, The Daily Reflector knows that it is offering an event of momentous importance to the community but to every man and child as well and to every merchant who supplies home-making products.

For this notable week's program The Reflector has secured Miss Louise Dixon, a woman widely acclaimed as a food and cookery lecturer. Her fine platform presence, excellent voice and years of experience before large audiences, have given her an unsurpassable ability as speaker and demonstrator. Miss Dixon, who will conduct The Reflector's cooking classes, combines the valuable essentials of professional training in nutrition and culinary subjects with practical experience as a housekeeper and home-maker. She brings to her platform lectures the newest discoveries of Home Economics specialists, dietitians and nutrition chemists, and she interprets these scientific findings in terms of everyday cookery and home-making.

Miss Dixon's research and preparation for The Reflector Cooking School has also included a study and use of the newest in labor-saving and time-saving household equipment, and conference with style authorities on the newest modes of entertaining. Her Cooking School classes are enlivened with the most modern ideas in home equipment. (Continued on Page Three)

PITT CRIMINAL COURT OPENS

Second Week Session of Mixed Term Superior Courts Gets Under Way.

The second week session of a two-week term of Pitt County Superior Court resumed work here today and hundreds of people from different parts of the county were in attendance.

This week will be devoted to the hearing of criminal cases. Last week over thirty civil actions were disposed of.

The calendar for the criminal term contains around sixty cases, the majority of which are of a minor nature.

The most important case to be considered is that against T. H. Barnhill, farmer with the slaying of his ward, Jesse Barnhill, on the Flat Swamp road during the early summer.

The grand jury returned a true bill against Barnhill at the last sitting of court. He has been out under bond since that time.

A charge of manufacturing whiskey also faces the prisoner. Both cases are scheduled to come up for consideration tomorrow, but it was expected that more than a day would be required in completing the hearing of the murder charge.

Judge W. C. Harris, of Raleigh, is presiding over the term. As (Continued on Page Three)

HENRY MOORE PASSES AWAY

Funeral Is Conducted from Late Home this Afternoon at Three-Thirty O'clock.

Henry S. Moore, thirty-nine, died at his home near Winterville at 11:15 o'clock yesterday morning, after an illness extending over a period of about three years.

Funeral services were conducted from his late home this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. M. A. Woodward, pastor of the Free Will Baptist Church of Winterville, assisted by Rev. H. E. Canady, Missionary Baptist minister, also of Winterville. Interment was made in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Mr. Moore was born April 1, 1893, the son of Mrs. Mathilda Moore and the late W. W. Moore of this (Continued on Page Three)

OTHER TALKS WILL BE MADE

Chief Executive Will Also Speak at Newark, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Other Cities Along Route; Huge Crowd makes Reservation for His Appearance in Nation's Metropolis.

Washington, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Carrying his campaign for re-election into the East, President Hoover left here shortly after 11 o'clock today on board his special train for New York where he is scheduled to speak tonight.

On the way he was to speak at Baltimore, Philadelphia and Newark in addition to making brief platform appearances in five cities along the route.

The President and Mrs. Hoover were applauded as they walked through the union station to a waiting train after a ride down Pennsylvania Avenue in the crisp air of a typical October day.

Prominent Marylanders accompanied them on the trip.

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A huge crowd, Republican leaders predicted today will hear President Hoover tonight at 9 o'clock in Madison Square Garden. Republican headquarters said there had been so many applications for tickets that the capacity of 21,000 was exhausted several days ago.

SCHOOL HEADS TO MEET HERE

Conference to be Held at the East Carolina Teachers College on Thursday.

President Wright has sent out a letter to forty-four superintendents, principals and supervisors in this section of the State inviting them to meet at East Carolina Teachers College of this week, November 3, at 11 o'clock for the purpose of arranging for an annual conference for the consideration of problems of mutual benefit to the college and the public school of the eastern part of the State.

In this letter he says: "It is our desire to keep East Carolina Teachers College in vital touch with every phase of public education in the State. It is our ambition to do the best job of teacher-training humanly possible."

As the purpose of the college is to train teachers for the public schools, it is of the utmost importance that it keeps informed as to the needs of the schools and to find out whether or not the teachers sent out are meeting these needs. In order to get practical suggestions from the schools and to present the problems of the college, this meeting is called. Each person invited has been requested to bring in suggestions for a spring meeting if one is scheduled.

Some of the problems that the college has under consideration are these: Should the college offer a course training commercial teachers, and if so, what should be the requirements? Should the two-year course be discontinued? What should be the extra-curricular activities emphasized? Would it be practicable to have an exchange system by which young teachers could come back for a few days and teach under supervision and others go out from here to get practical work in the classrooms?

One of the questions asked the superintendents is: Why are girls trained as primary teachers given sixth and seventh grades?

Conferences in which these and other problems will be solved can be of inestimable value to the public schools as well as to the college.

Late News Flashes

Pleads Not Guilty Kinston, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Trial of Herman Saesey was set for tomorrow after he pleaded not guilty to a charge of slaying James Causey, Suffolk, Ba., lumberman.

Casey entered plea when arraigned before a special venire of 125 and was ordered to report tomorrow.

To Indict Floggers Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 31.—The Duval county grand jury today returned 24 indictments charging 26 men with flogging six persons here recently. Those named in the indictments were J. L. Nettles, W. A. Jackson, J. C. Godwin, E. M. Rabb, Hugh Lassiter, L. C. Bowers and Horace Stalling.

All had previously been arrested and were at liberty under bond. The persons "flogged" were Mrs. Sallie Derringer, Ola Ollstrup, her daughter; A. R. Byrd, Smith Kelly, O. K. Mitchell, Seard Burroughs. Names of all but the two women had been withheld because officers said publicity would interfere with the probe.

Roosevelt at Portland, Me. City Hall Auditorium, Portland, Oct. 31.—Governor Roosevelt, first Democratic candidate for president to visit Maine since William J. Bryan came here in 1896, drove 135 miles by motor today to, as he says, "thank the people of Maine for pointing the way for the nation in November."

Speaking to a cheering crowd of 6,000 in municipal auditorium, the governor said, "I am breaking another precedent in coming here. The nation needs to have precedents broken to bring it back to what it

Practical School Spirit
 Contrary to the popular illusion, school spirit does not apply only to the field of athletics. There is a definite spirit of cooperation which needs to be shown in nearly every phase of school life; and should be recognized as being just as valuable, if not as advertised as the well known hero, when found elsewhere than on the athletic field. Among the cooperative endeavors which should be ours we may mention keeping the appearance of the building, showing courtesy to speakers in chapel, and supporting the various activities of the much heard of Junior class.

Particularly do we wish to stress the last two of those named. If there is anything that reflects the character of a group it is the manner in which they receive a speaker. And regardless how much over our intelligence his talk is, it should be a part of our school spirit to give him a cordial reception. Similarly it is a part of our school spirit to lend our support to the Junior class, for their need is plentiful and their cause is just.

This exhibition of spirit may not receive sensational distinction but will sooner or later pay larger dividends. As in every way of life, it is not always he who gets the distinctions that proves most valuable in the long run.

High School Honor Roll
 On Wednesday of last week grades were passed out among the students of the high school for the first six weeks' work.

Several students failed some of their work and will need to adjust themselves at the beginning of the next marking period; but 26 students made the honor roll, which means that they made not less than a two on any subject.

The following students are on the first roll of honor for the year—Room 22—Leo Burks, Elizabeth Carico, Irma Cobb Dunn, Helen Foley and Carl Abee. Room 21—Mary Council Home, Neal Herring, and Carl Langley. Room 20—Ronald Slay. Room 11—Jeter Oakley, Carl Pierce and Charlie Mayo. Room 35—Estelle Baldree, Eihel Gaston, Dora Gorman and Geraldine Harris. Room 24—Ben Herring, Anna Mae Holliday, Berta Arnold, Margaret Eakes. Room 27—Louise Tadlock and Lewellyn Thornton. Room 31—Naomi Gaskins. Room 35—Martha Scoville, George Willard and Harold Sugg. Room 39—Dorothy Tyson.

Junior Party Success
 The Juniors of 1932 have at last been recognized as a hard working group. On Friday night of last week this was proved to be true when they put across one of the most successful school parties ever staged in Greenville high school.

The proceeds from this party will be applied to the Junior-Senior banquet fund, which cares for the banquet and entertainment in May. Dancing was enjoyed by the large crowd that attended. Chaperones included Mrs. Luther Herring, J. H. Rose, Miss Connie Horne and Miss Frances Rogers.

Outline Plans For Year
 On Wednesday morning during the assembly period about 25 girls met with Miss Mary Langston to discuss plans for the coming season. An enthusiastic meeting resulted and Miss Langston announced that practice would begin in about two weeks.

Miss Langston is seventh grade teacher at the Training school, but will coach the high school basketball team. Miss Langston is a graduate of Duke University and while there coached basketball in the West Durham high school and Y. W. C. A. She comes ably qualified to make an excellent coach for the girls. Her home is in Goldsboro.

Appointed Junior Rotarian
 During this week George Willard, an enterprising senior, was fortunate enough to be appointed Junior Rotarian. This is decidedly an honor to him and to the school.

Each month a senior will be appointed as Junior Rotarian. This senior will attend the meetings of the club and will be with them for four weeks. Students who are appointed have "nothing to lose and everything to gain." Students will be judged and appointed according to scholastic standing and athletic standing alternately.

The policy of the Rotary Club having a junior representative from the senior class at its meetings is being instituted in Greenville for the first time. Wherever the policy has been tried excellent results have been reported.

College Offers Scholarships
 Two competitive scholarships valued at $200 and $500 are being offered to deserving high school girls, according to announcement received in the office of the high school during the past week. Awards will be made on the basis of an examination to be held March 3, 1933 on four high school subjects which will count 75 per cent. Personality of the student and her participation in student activities will constitute 25 per cent of the scoring.

Twenty-five non-competitive offers are available to freshmen. These are valued from $50 to $200. Worth, need of applicant, and letters of application are the determining factors.

Any girls interested in this generous proposition made by Agnes Scott College of Decatur, Georgia, should consult the bulletin board carefully or get in touch with President J. R. McCain.

High School Line
 In history 11 class: Instructor—I don't have a "beard" but you may have my "fish."
 Student—I either want your heart, or I want a "fite."

 At the football game: Student—to Miss Horne—How many downs do you have to make to get a touchdown?
 In chemistry class: Instructor—Now, you see, when that air expands

Student—What air?
 Another student—That air air.
 In English 9 class: Instructor—What is an epic?
 Student—When a lot of people get sick. (Don't be discouraged, if you don't comprehend this).

Humor (or at least, an attempt at such)—A certain young senior gentleman with red hair gave his "sweet-pea queen" a bouquet of flowers. On receiving them she said "Ooog! They are beautiful, and I believe there is a little dew on them still." The same young gentleman, much embarrassed, answered, "Yes, but I'll see about that tomorrow."

Scarfie's the Word
 Familiar though seemingly indefinable, in the speaking vocabulary of the average high school student, is the word "scarfie." Just exactly what it means, no one is able to explain, and yet the word seems indispensable when applied to certain individuals. If one is hit with a chance-ball, prodded with the acute end of a compass, or is victim of the game "throw your friend's book out of the window to see if it responds to the law of gravity," he needs merely to utter "scarfie" at the antagonist; and thus save himself from the embarrassment of muttering many words of a harsh nature.

GEORGE WILLARD

Often during periods of recreation, these exclamations may be heard: "You're a scarfie!" "Quit scarfing around, pal, cause I'm busy," and "Now isn't that a scarfied predicament?" Perhaps some owner word, though inferior, might have been used in each of these cases instead of the word discussion; but anyway we maintain that "scarfie" is a good word, even in a classroom. We think it good enough in fact, to have a place in every dictionary even if it be necessary to call a convention of the "college wits" in order to gain a correct definition of same; for no education is complete without an understanding of this unique word.

But what right have I to suggest such a thing; I admit I'm a scarfie.

BETTER KIND

HERE are entirely different kinds of tobacco.

Blend them and you get a different taste.

Cross-Blend them and you get a better taste.

While blending mixes the tobaccos together, Cross-Blending "welds" and "joins" their flavors into one.

Imagine doing this with the world's finest cigarette tobaccos—many kinds of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley tobacco and numerous grades of Turkish tobacco!

What you have when you've finished is Chesterfield tobacco—better than any one kind, better than a blend of all kinds—really a new kind of tobacco flavor that's milder, more fragrant and a whole lot more pleasing to the taste.

Announce Engagement Of Two Popular Couples

To announce the engagement and approaching marriage of four popular members of the younger set, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin D. Sugg were hosts at a lovely dinner Saturday evening.

A bridal motif of green and white was effectively carried out in white chrysanthemums, dahlias, ivy and ferns.

The dining table was especially pretty, covered with a cloth of lace and centered with a reflector on which was placed a silver bowl of white chrysanthemums and ferns, and a miniature bride and groom. Crystal holders tied with misty bows of maline and wedding bells, holding white tapers, were placed at the corners. On the place cards were bags of rice holding a cat. When the cat was out the cards bore the announcement, "Archie and Evelyn, December;" "Studie and Lil, November;" thus announcing the engagement of Miss Evelyn Wright and Archie Sugg, and Miss Lillian Hardee and William Stuart Bost.

A tempting five-course dinner was served. The cakes bore the monograms of the brides and grooms elect.

Covers were laid for Miss Evelyn Wright with Archie Sugg, Miss Lillian Hardee with Stuart Bost, Miss Frances Morton with Dr. Robert H. Wright, Jr., Miss Eloise Garrett with Charles Woodward, Miss Helen White with Carey Mayo, Jr., Miss Virginia Jenkins with Charles H. Forbes, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Sugg.

As reminders of the occasion the young ladies were presented corsages of roses and the men boutonnieres.

Week of Prayer Methodist Missionary Society

Tent Destroyed By Fire Sunday

A small tent back of the branch of the Greenville Banking and Trust Company at corner of Dickinson Avenue and Pitt Street was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin Saturday night. The tent, firemen said, had been used by a show. The damage was said to have been slight.

Halloween Party

On Friday night Misses Jean Blount, Marian Tyson and Elizabeth Wilson entertained a few at a Halloween party in the Westbrook pavilion.

The Halloween idea was effectively carried out in the decorations and a great roaring fire in the open fireplace added much to the beauty of the scene.

Dancing, games and contests were enjoyed. Miss Frances Spillman, as winner of one of the contests, was presented a Halloween novelty.

The candles were then blown out and ghost stories caused shivers to play hide-and-go-seek up and down quite a few spins.

Roasted weiners, marshmallows, cool drinks, candy and apples were served.

Mesdames J. H. Blount and J. B. Spillman chaperoned the party.

Those present were: Misses Margaret Harris, Miriam James, Geraldine Harris, Ethel Gaston, Helen Planagan, Frances Spillman, Marian Tyson, Jean Blount and Elizabeth Wilson; Masters Judson Blount, Jr., and John Horne, and Mesdames Blount and Spillman.

Junior Woman's Club

Farmville, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Will Moore and Miss Clara Belle Modlin were hostesses to the Junior Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon at the home of the former. A business session, presided over by Miss Edna Foust Harris, preceded the program, which was made up of three interesting papers; the first related to Bruce Barton's Tribute to North Carolina, and was read by Miss Elizabeth Davis, the subject of the second, written by Miss Delphia Parker, was "Early Settlers of North Carolina," and a third, tracing development of religion and education in this state prior to 1700 was given by Miss Margaret Lewis.

This organization is engaged in a study of North Carolina history and a comprehensive outline, which will be distributed in year book form at the next meeting, was presented to the club by Miss Elizabeth Davis, who was assisted in this work by the president, Miss Harris. These members received much commendation for their efforts.

The harvest season was suggested by the refreshments consisting of pumpkin pie, gingerbread, hot coffee and a corn-in-the-shuck confection.

Merry Matrons

Farmville, Oct. 29.—With "Law and Order of the Frontier" as the topic, a splendid program was developed with papers; the first on Sam Houston by Mrs. J. O. Pajard and the second, a sketch of Wyatt Earp by Mrs. G. A. Rouse, at the Merry Matrons' meeting held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Loyd Horton, in which lovely fall flowers were artistically arranged.

Mrs. B. O. Turnage, vice-president, presided over a short business session, following which a frozen salad course was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Rumley.

Literary-Art Department

Farmville, Oct. 29.—Mrs. I. E. Satterfield and Mrs. Sterling Gates were joint hostesses at a delightful meeting of the Literary-Art department of the Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon at the home of the latter. A variety of fall flowers were used in the living room and library which were thrown ensuite.

Mrs. A. Q. Roebuck presided and appointed a book committee, composed of Mrs. J. B. Joyner, Mrs. Sterling Gates and Mrs. D. E. Oglesby and laws regarding the circulation of the new books were passed. Mrs. J. B. Butchin and Mrs. W. N. Spruill were enrolled as new members at this time. Mrs. J. H. Harris of the program committee, announced the study for the fall and winter would center about women of the Bible.

An entertaining program was presented by Mrs. H. L. Hendricks who related a charming Chinese story, "Kwan Yin," the Goddess of Mercy, in costume and exhibited a collection of articles exploiting the handiwork of the Chinese and by Mrs. Haywood Smith, who rendered a piano solo "In An Eastern Garden."

A salad course was served during the social hour following the program. Mrs. J. M. Duncan of Murfreesboro and Mrs. R. E. Lee of Mt. Olive, were especial guests of the hostesses.

HINTS TO THE FARMERS

(Stokes Voc. Agr. Dept.) Timely farm questions and answers:

Question: What causes black spots and small cankers on young twigs and leaves and hulls of nuts of many pecans, and how may this be controlled?

Answer: There may be two causes of this trouble in pecans.

1. Pecan scab is a fungous disease causing the formation of small black spots on the leaves, stems and nuts. Severe attacks may kill the tips of the twigs. However the greatest damage is done to the nuts which, if heavily infected early in the season, will either drop off the trees or shrivel and become little more than empty shells at harvest time. Pecan scab may be controlled by selecting resistant varieties. Clean up all nut hulls, fallen leaves and twigs of the orchard. Spray trees with Bordeaux mixture every two or three weeks from May 1 to September 1.

2. The green stink bug causes black spots on nut gernels. The green stink bug breeds on cowpea vines. Plant no cowpeas in a bearing pecan orchard.

Question: When should I prune my grape vines in order to avoid bleeding?

Answer: The muscadine group of grapes, or scuppernon, should be pruned from October 20 to November 20, or about the time the first light frost comes. If pruning is delayed until mid-winter which is done sometimes in pruning bunch grapes, the vines will "bleed" to excess early the following spring. The heavy flow of sap when vines are cut in winter, caused the growers to believe for a long time that the scuppernon grape vines could not be pruned. If large vines are cut, even in the fall, they tend to bleed some what when the weather begins to turn warm in the spring. For this reason pruning should begin when the vines are young and followed each year in such a way that the main frame work need not be disturbed.

Corn is cheap-but times are too hard to feed it to rats and mice. If the corn is not already rat-proof, it may be made so by lining it on the inside with 1-2 inch mesh hardware cloth. In most the savings the first year will pay the cost. If there is some old corn still in the crib, it is a good plan to take this out and put it where it will be fed early and give the crib a good cleaning before the new grain is put in. Old corn often harbors grain-eating insects which will rapidly infest new corn placed near the old. It's poor business to raise corn to feed to rats and insects.

COOKING SCHOOL TO BE HELD BY THE REFLECTOR

In accepting The Reflector's invitation to conduct a Cooking School for its readers, Miss Dixon said: "Please make it clear that the school is for every woman of Greenville and Pitt County. Brides will find valuable help in planning their kitchens and learning the rudiments of home cookery and simple entertaining. Experienced housekeepers will find the sessions a steady source of new ideas, new recipes new methods of handling foods and the house-keeping tools. Engaged girls will gather countless helpful ideas about how to market and shop, how to select kitchen and household furnishings, how to start a library of good recipes and cookery suggestions.

"I want to extend a very special invitation to those other housekeepers who may be doing their own housework this year for first time. They will learn at the Cooking School, besides cookery and serving ideas, that their new scale of living can be met with moderate priced wares and products found in the shops of Greenville for every home-making need."

The Reflector's Cooking School will open Tuesday of next week at the High School auditorium. It will consist of four sessions, ending on Friday. Later announcements will give the time and further details about the entertaining programs, the model kitchen display and a distribution of daily gifts, including market baskets and the dishes prepared that day on the platform.

Besides a daily free distribution of receipts, there will be new recipes and instructions given verbally by the lecturer. The merchants of the community have shown their interest in the school by offering a number of valuable gifts to be distributed on the last day of the week's session.

Admission to all sessions is free. Admission to all sessions is free. The Reflector extends an invitation to every woman of the community to be present at every session.

November 8, 9, 10 and 11

Many thousands of housewives have heard this Cooking School lecturer. They have learned from her new home-making methods, new recipes, new ideas. From her audiences and their house-keeping questions the lecturer has come into intimate contact with the family needs and the problems of the homes of America. She brings this wealth of experience to you next week in the Cooking School.

Free recipes given out at each session of the Cooking School include new cakes, puddings, salads and frozen desserts; new ways to cook low cost cuts of meat; better ways of preparing vegetables; the perfect method of making hot and cold beverages.

Miss Louise Dixon

It costs you nothing. Just come early to get a good seat. Bring your pencil and notebook with you. Watch the lecturer while she mixes a delicious, fluffy, light cake; watch her prepare the roast to savory tenderness in the handsome range. Watch her while she makes fascinating and appetizing garnishes for a new salad.

The complicated responsibility of preparing three meals a day every day of the year can become irksome to any woman. The key-note of the Cooking School is to relieve the monotony of this daily task. Any woman attending this Cooking School and interested in making her home run more smoothly will enjoy this homemaking event.

RAT CAMPAIGN OPENS DEC. 10

Pitt Farmers Reported Interested in Effort to Rid Farms of Pests.

By E. F. ARNOLD
County Agent.

I find that farmers in every section of the county are interested in the rat campaign to be conducted in Pitt County in Eastern Carolina on December 10. The farmers of the county will be given an opportunity at a later date to place a check for rat poison that kills rats only and will be requested to use this poison bait on December 10 in an effort to eliminate rats from this county.

The rat is the most destructive mammal pest the farmer has. Many thousands of dollars loss every year is caused by rats in Pitt County. It is estimated that rats yearly destroy or consume property worth at least two dollars for every rat. They cause disease and menace health. No one wants these pests about the premises, and the only way to eliminate them is for every farmer in the county to co-operate with his neighbor in a poison campaign. Rats travel from farm to farm, and if all do not join in, those who do poison may be visited by his neighbor's rats later.

The rat campaign will be conducted according to a plan perfected by the Biological Survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The bait that will be used is prepared under the supervision of this Federal bureau. In each community in the county there will be a local distributor to handle the bait for his community. These distributors will be announced later. This method is being used to make it easy for every one to be able to get rid of his rats with as little effort and expense as possible. The bait will be furnished—namely fresh hamburger fish and cereal, so that all rats will find at least one of them to their liking. To each of these three baits are used according to directions, they will not harm the chickens, cats, poultry or human beings, only rats and house mice. This bait has been prepared by the U. S. Biological Survey and is the safest and best rat poison known to science. Each package of prepared bait contains enough material to rid the average farm or business premises of rats, making about one hundred small baits. There is nothing more to add, simply expose the baits in small pieces about the premises that are infested. Full instructions for using the bait will be included in every package. The co-operative arrangement the baits will be furnished at wholesale cost, making a special price of 50 cents. Baits will be furnished to anyone in the county, but it is necessary to reserve the bait in advance. To be sure of getting baits write or telephone the office or the county agent.

Rats are highly migratory, so it is hoped that everyone will co-operate to free Pitt County of rats on December 10. Interest your neighbor—talk rats every place you go from now until December 10. Elimination of rats from an entire community can be accomplished only by organized effort.

hoped for immortality, but those before the coming of Christ had a more concrete conception of the kind of heaven they desired to go to than people of the present Christian era.

Referring to the various conceptions of heaven, the speaker said that when we get there we are going to want to do the things God wants us to do. He has a definite plan for those who follow His teachings, and regardless of our conception of earth, we will want to abide by His plans when we reach the celestial region. It was pointed out.

He impressed his hearers with the importance of independent thought concerning observance of the Sabbath without letting others do it for them. Too many people he declared are content to go along in the same old path, obeying the same rules, without striving to find their

E. C. TEACHERS PREPARE FOR DEACON FROSH

Although defeated 32 to 0 by Presbyterian College of Maxton in their first game, East Carolina Teachers College football team was undaunted today as they turned their attention to the three other games comprising schedule.

Commenting on the game last week, which was the first in the history of the college, E. C. Deal, member of the athletic committee, said they were proud of the performance of the local boys and felt sure they would meet with greater success in the remainder of the games.

The next game will be played in Greenville. Wake Forest Freshmen will invade the college campus next Saturday, and lovers of the sport are promised a royal battle.

The following Saturday the Teachers will play Guilford regulars at Guilford.

The final game of the schedule will be played here November 19th with State College Freshmen.

With the Teachers are lighter than the average team, Coach Ken Beatty had hopes that their speed would take the place of avoirdupois in the forthcoming games.

If the forefathers were right about their conceptions of worship, then it is well to abide by them, Mr. Deal stated, but if we have any doubt as to their wisdom, we should fit our actions to conform with present-day conditions. He stressed the fact, however, that certain principals were as applicable as life itself, and urged that they be perpetuated as the church goes about its business trying to improve human conditions.

Frank Spinks was in charge of the service and presided the speaker.

of the State. He will also give some attention to the national campaign. With the national election little more than a week away, the county chairman was optimistic over the outlook for victory. He said he believed Pitt County would return the largest majority ever given a presidential nominee. The fact, he said, was indicated by reception given to presidential speakers in all parts of the county.

General Gardner will be accompanied by E. C. Harding, one of the ablest attorneys of this section of the State, who is chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections.

NEW YORK COTTON

New York, Oct. 31.—Cotton futures opened steady one to three points decline in response to Liverpool cables.

Offerings from the South proved small and during early trading prices developed a steadier tone. December, after declining to 6.08, a loss of four points, advanced to 6.12, or unchanged from previous finals.

The market was quiet during the remainder of the forenoon but the prices were easier owing to continuation of Southern hedge selling, which was added to some local selling.

After December had sold off the general market eased to a net loss. Prices rallied to within a point or two of previous station.

Stock Market

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The stock market showed no inclination to break out of its narrow trading area today in which it had been fluctuating the past week. The list was low the first hour.

Trading headed rather feebly to the line hoping for a break in the business news that might help to establish definite trend.

During the first hour Union Pacific had lost nearly two points, and a decline of one-half had appeared in American Telegraph and Consolidated Gas. But these had been virtually been cancelled after the first hour. Stocks steadied after the early session and in late trading were unchanged. The market was around 2000 shares, one of the duller of years.
