Grows Potato Like a Snake

Lester Sutton, of the Fraz Level community, today took his place in the ranks of producers of unusual potatoes.

Sutton brought to The Reflector office this morning a potato in the shape of a rattlesnake. The thing is coiled and apparently ready to strike like any venomous reptile of this species, and attracted much interest from passersby.

Sutton said he obtained the potato from which the freak was raised from Greene County. It is of the Norton Yam variety.

FOUR ARE INJURED AS AUTOMOBILE WRECKS

Williamston, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Bettie Griffin suffered a bruised shoulder and a broken collar bone. Mrs. George Williams is seriously injured, thought to have a punctured lung, while Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hardison are stretched and bruised considerably from an automobile wreck which occurred near Robersonville late Friday. The parties were on their way to Florida. It had been raining and the pavement was slick as they met a rapidly approaching car on a bad curve. The brakes were jammed on, the car skidded, turned over, caught fire and burned up. The men in the car cut a hole through the top of the automobile, took out the injured and cleared the passengers just before the car burst into flames, destroying all the luggage. There were three small children in the party. A few moments delay and all would have met a tragedy.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The residential real estate market is "ready to move ahead" the United States Building and Loan League said in a report that home building now is on the increase during September. SON HELD IN SLAYING OF HIS FATHER

Officers Query Noah McLawhorn and Negro in Slaying Near Ayden.

Noah McLawhorn, son of John McLawhorn, Ayden Township farmer who was mysteriously shot and killed at his home on the night of November 11, was held in county jail today for questioning in connection with the death of his parent. Will Braxton, colored, was also being held for questioning in the same case, but officers said that they had been unable to furnish any information that would lead to a solution of the case. Although the two men have been quizzed in the murder case, they are being held principally on charges of participation in the illicit whiskey traffic. They were nabbed by county officers Sunday night, two days after the shooting of McLawhorn. Young McLawhorn is charged with selling a (Continued on Page Six)

Paris, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Premier Edouard Herriot and a large official party arrived in Paris safe and sound today despite an attempt to blow up their special train in Brittany during the night. The railroad track was blown up at Ingress, fifteen miles from Nantes, early yesterday just before the train reached the spot and in time for section men to flag down the train. Premier Herriot was unaware of the violence until several hours later. When he reached the capital today he said: "Breton autonomists were to blame for the explosion."

YOUTH HELD FOR SLAYING

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A solution of the "Eastern slaying" of Mrs. Ellen Saxe, 60, retired educator of Riverside, Illinois, a Chicago suburb, was claimed by investigators today following the confession obtained from a step-grandson, Betram Arnolds, 16. RELIEF DRIVE STARTS HERE

Canvassers Begin Annual Drive to Raise Funds for the Community Poor.

The community relief drive got under way in Greenville today and will continue through tomorrow. Soliciting committees under direction of J. S. Picken, chairman, began a canvass for funds today and the public was called on to give liberally to the cause in a statement issued Saturday by Mayor R. C. Flanagan.

The mayor stressed the seriousness of the situation prevailing among the poor this winter and said conditions were worse than last year when the relief body was taxed to its utmost capacity in meeting demands from the hungry people of the community.

Mayor Flanagan asked that everybody give liberally to the cause and enable the committee to cope with the situation. People not able to give money were urged to give non-perishable foodstuffs which will do much toward providing for the needs of the hungry.

No definite amount was set as a goal for the canvassers, but they were instructed to go out and get as much as possible and to impress upon contributors the seriousness of conditions this year. The canvass will be conducted in whirlwind fashion and will be concluded tomorrow.

Although the community is receiving government aid in its effort to meet the needs of the indigent this winter, Mayor Flanagan drove home the fact that the people were expected to contribute as freely as ever to the cause. He said the amount of money which the government will subscribe to the section would be reflected largely in local relief effort.

PREPARING TO SHIP POTATOES

Pitt County Growers to Sell Fifteen Carloads Through Cooperatives.

The potato growers of Pitt County have signed marketing contracts with the Pitt County Mutual Exchange to the extent of fifteen carloads of sweet potatoes according to reports from the office of the county agent, E. F. Arnold.

The Mutual Exchange has selling contracts with the Carolina Co-operatives of Florence, S. C., who in turn has buying connections throughout the United States. A representative of this organization was in the office of the county agent last week and stated that they were moving cured potatoes at the present time for the Thanksgiving holiday market and that they would be in Pitt County moving potatoes during the month of December.

Last year the organization handled five carloads of sweet potatoes for the farmers of the county, and the satisfactory service given is reflected in the increased number of cars signed up with the organization this year. (Continued on Page Six)

Dr. Griffin, one of the owners of Appalachian Hall where Robbins is a resident, issued the following bulletin:

TWO HELD IN LIQUOR CASE

Negro Man and Woman arrested in Raid of Home Over the Week-End.

George Beasley and Ida Beasley, colored, were held in jail here today charged with violation of the national prohibition law. They were arrested by police during a raid on their home over the week-end and were bound over to county court this morning following hearing in police court.

Police said the couple had gone into the liquor business on a wholesale scale. Eighteen gallons of the contraband beverage was found in the home and was seized and placed in the confiscation cell of the police department to be used as evidence against the defendants.

The seizure was one of the largest made among the bootlegging element in sometime, and police expressed opinion that this was one of the many supplies of whiskey being held by bootleggers in preparation for the holiday season.

LIQUOR PLANT TAKEN IN PITT

Several Barrels Beer Destroyed by Officers in Raid Near Gray Swamp Church

Continuing their relentless fight against the illicit whiskey traffic of the community, county officers captured a copper still and a considerable amount of beer in the Gray Swamp Church neighborhood over the week-end. It was revealed at the sheriff's office today.

The still, an eight gallon copper affair, was one of the usual type devoted to the distillation of contraband whiskey in this part of the State and was in operation.

Officers said the distillers fled before their arrival, being scared away by several squirrel hunters who were hunting in the vicinity.

Thirteen barrels of beer were destroyed along with the still.

It was one of several plants seized by county officers during the last several days in their effort to reduce the amount of whiskey being prepared for holiday consumption.

The majority of the plants have been small, but their contribution to the unlawful traffic has been great in recent months, and probably would have been greater during the holiday season had they been permitted to function.

Negro Confesses Making Human Sacrifice in Mich.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21.—(AP)—A self-styled "king" of a weird religious cult that demanded human sacrifice, was held today upon his reported confession that he invited the first stranger he met into his home and killed him on an altar. "The ninth hour of the twentieth day," police quoted Robert Harris, 44-year-old negro as saying, "it was predestined 1,500 years ago at that hour I must make a human sacrifice to my God. It must not be a member of the Order of Islam, but some stranger, the first person I met after leaving home."

TO NAME HEAD OF ARMY DRIVE

Chairman of Salvation Army Budget Appeal to be Selected Today.

The Advisory Board members will meet at campaign headquarters today at 4 p. m. at 312 Evans Street and choose a general chairman to head the campaign. The general chairman, in turn, will choose the vice-chairman needed to help the various divisions of workers, and the date for the campaign will be set and the budget named.

Brigadier Casler has already secured several ladies of the city to set up the various committees, and the brigadier is pleased with the warm reception he has received from those of the friends he met and made for the Army last winter.

As the Salvation Army's resources has been taxed to the very limit, and Ensign and Mrs. Willett have, at times, taken the food from their own table to give others, and many of the good citizens of Greenville know this to be a fact. We feel confident it will be easier for us to raise the budget this year than last. The good friends who are interested in the work of this splendid organization will come to their aid at a time when funds are so greatly needed. (Continued on Page Six)

MARKET LEAF RAPIDLY HERE

Over Half Million Pounds of Tobacco Offered for Sale in Greenville Today.

Responding to the appeal of tobaccoists that they market the remainder of their crop as rapidly as possible growers offered over a half million pounds of leaf for sale on the floors of the various warehouses here today.

With the markets of the bright leaf belt to close December 21, several weeks ahead of previous seasons it was expected that sales would be fairly heavy the remainder of the season in spite of the 60 per cent crop reduction reported for the belt.

When the market closed for the week last Friday, Greenville continued to hold the poundage lead of all other markets of the belt. Figures showed the market almost two million pounds ahead of the nearest rival and this was expected to increase this week with farmers from a radius of many miles offering their tobacco for sale here.

In spite of the inferior grades of tobacco accompanying the end of the crop, the price situation here showed a firm here last week. With over a half million pounds of tobacco on sale the average was well above the $13 mark.

Winston-Salem, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Idaho was selected as the 1933 convention state of the National Grange as that body's 65th annual convention here today. The city will be selected at a later date. The selection of Idaho was made by the assembly, the Grange's legislative body.

The 1933 convention will be held, the assembly announced today, about this time next year. Selection of the convention city will be made at a later date by the national executive committee after various cities of the state are considered.

Fred J. Freestone, of Interlaken, N. Y., master of the Empire State Grange, and member of the New York state power authority, was re-elected one of the three members of the National Grange executive committee. He has served for the usual three year term on this committee and his re-election came today with butling dissenting votes these being complimentary to W. Keen Scott, of Haw River, North Carolina, master, and other state masters.

PREPARE FOR BUDGET WORK

General Assembly's Members to Start Drafting State Budget Tomorrow.

Raleigh, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The "advance guard" of the 1933 General Assembly—the State Budget Commission—will convene here tomorrow to begin preparing the state budget to be presented to the legislators when they gather here on January 4.

All state departments and institutions will submit tentative figures to the commission, and after individual hearings, they will be either approved or pared down for transmission to the assembly, where budgets may be further cut.

The drafting of the budget is one of the most important pre-legislative functions of the state government. The recommendations in 1931 included a ten per cent salary cut and an additional cut has been made since then by Governor Gardner as head of the budget bureau.

Governor-elect J. C. B. Ehringhaus, who will succeed Gardner in January, has announced he expects to sit with the budget commission here to familiarize himself with the financial requests of the departments and institutions.

The commission includes four members of the 1931 assembly—Senators L. L. Gravelly of Rocky Mount and R. G. Rankin of Rockingham, and Representatives U. L. Spence of Cashmere and R. S. Harris of Roxboro. Harris is a candidate for speaker of the 1933 House.

"CONJURE" DOCTOR GETS RESULTS IN A HURRY

Windsor, Nov. 21.—Considerable excitement reigned in the courthouse here for awhile on Friday afternoon. The case of Andrew Carter, negro on trial for the murder of his wife about two months ago, was in full swing. An old negro who claims to be a conjure doctor had dashed to be taken up the courthouse, and promised that she would put a stop to that trial. The woman was proceeding slowly down the aisle when Attorney J. H. Matthews of the defense announced he was deathly sick. Court was recessed and Dr. J. L. Pritchard took Mr. Matthews to the nearby drugstore where he soon responded to treatment. During the intermission such exclamations as "O, Lordy," and "Lord, have mercy," were continually heard.

BEAT VIRGINIA IS THE CRY AT CHAPEL HILL

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 21.—The ancient and spirited cry to "Beat Virginia" rang out over Kenan Flats louder and clearer than ever today.

The Carolina squad was to begin an intensive if short period of drills this afternoon, and all interest is centring on their approaching Thanksgiving classic at Virginia.

The Tar Heels and the Cavaliers have been battling brilliantly for 40 years and Carolina has just about come to regard a victory over Virginia as the sine qua non of a successful season.

Carolina has won the last five games, although some of them have been very close. The Tar Heels have high hopes of running their string to six, but all indications are that a hard job and a heavy battle await them at Charlottesville.

The 1932 Cavaliers have had their reverses, but they have also shown great power, and especially in the line.

Columbia's Eastern leaders are about the only team that has scored on them by straight smashes through the line, and V. P. I.'s surprise package of the Conference only beat them two touchdowns.

The Cavaliers have ten days for exclusive drilling, and pointing to this game to Carolina's three. They are expected to be right mentally and fresh physically as a result, and the tradition and intensity of this rivalry are expected to bring them to their peak.

The Tar Heels settled at their home affairs in the State championship game with Duke, and the men came through with their share of the glory and in good shape. Everybody is set to give his best to beat Virginia and keep up the victory stretch, but the Tar Heels fully appreciate the task confronting them.

Eight of the team's finest performers are especially determined. The seniors want to close their careers without a loss to Virginia.

They include Stuart Chandler and Norman McCaskill, backfield stars; June Underwood, Harry Hodges and Erwin Walaker, regulars in the line; and Cabell Philpott, Elliott Newcombe and Zeke Cozart, first rate reserve linemen.

Student and alumni interests and enthusiasm is keeping pace with that of the players. The Southern Railway is running special trains and offering special rates, and every indication is that the Tar Heels will lead a big invasion to Virginia.

NINE MEN TO END FOOTBALL DAYS, STATE

Raleigh, Nov. 21.—Nine Wolves of the State College Wolfpack will complete their football days at State this week when the Pack plays South Carolina here Thursday afternoon as a feature of Thanksgiving Day.

Heading the list of seniors is Capt. William "Red" Espey, the Pack's brilliant all-southern center candidate. Espey is ranked among the south's best centers this fall and will be a hard man to replace.

Seven of the seniors are linemen. In addition to Espey, they are: Willie Duke and Reid Tull, guards; Felo Stroupe and Rudy Seitz, tackles; and Bob Greason and Allen Nelms, ends.

Three of these are making bids for all-star berths. They are: Seitz, Tull and Greason. Greason, one of the finest punters in the south, is also being mentioned for all-southern honors. The Wake Forest boy has been playing a great defensive and offensive end this fall in addition to doing the best kicking of his career.

The other two men are Hank McLawhorn, halfback; and Charlie Jeffrey, fullback. McLawhorn is one of the fastest backs on this fall's squad. He was one of the big stars in the 14-0 win over Duke last fall.

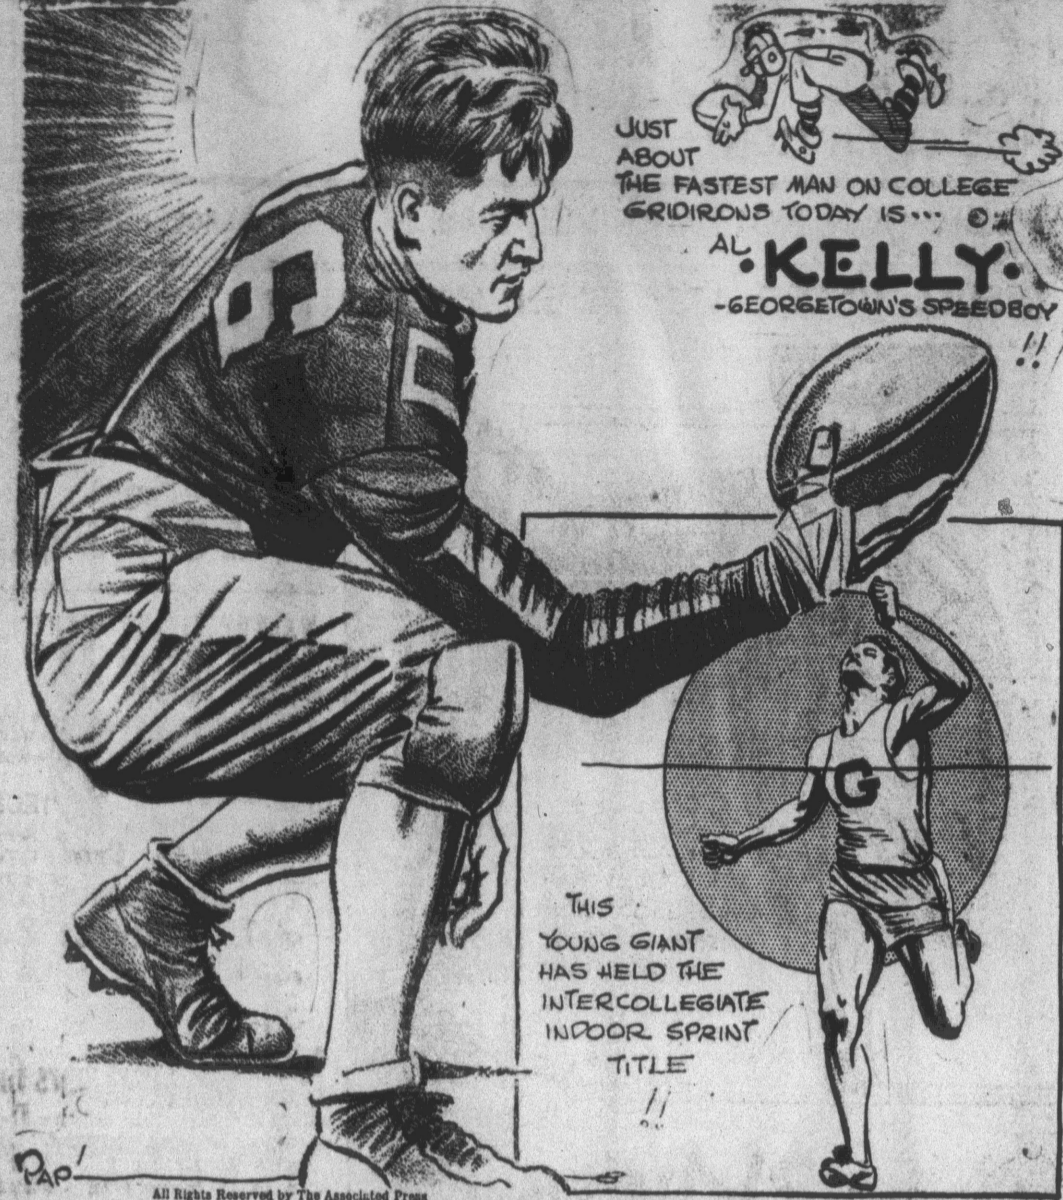

The men have never played on a Wolfpack that has beaten the South Carolina Gamecocks for State's honor. The Carolina Gamecocks for State has been unable to defeat Billy Leval's Calumet crew since 1928. In 1929, South Carolina won 20-6. The score was 19-0 in 1930 and 21-0 last fall.

SYRUP PAYS MORE PROFIT THAN COTTON IN CAROLINA

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Sorghum syrup crops in Johnston County paid farmers a net profit of $18 an acre, says C. R. Hudson of the Extension Department of State College, where total returns from cotton this year did not exceed $20 an acre.

The average syrup yield, Hudson said, was 104 gallons an acre at a cost of 22 cents a gallon. Sold at the present price of 50 cents a gallon, this allowed a profit of $18.72.

Cotton yields about one-half bale an acre in the same county, Hudson asserted, and at eight cents a pound, would return only about $20 an acre with little or no profit.

DUKEMEN GET READY MEET GENERALS

Durham, N. C., Nov. 21.—The Blue Devils of Duke will close their second season under Wallace Wade by meeting the Washington and Lee Generals here Saturday.

Duke and Washington and Lee met for the first time in 1927, the Devils being handed a 12 to 7 licking by the Generals after a close and hard battle. The loss came as a surprise since Duke had just the week before defeated the strong Boston College team, 25 to 9.

In 1930 the Generals came to Durham to renew the rivalry and the Blue Devils got revenge for the 1927 defeat with a 10 to 0 victory.

Duke got the edge in number of wins last year after the Devils eked out a victory when Lowell Mason ran the second half kick-off back 88 yards for the only score of the game, and Duke won, 6 to 0.

A familiar face to the Durham fans will be seen with the Generals when they come to town Saturday. Coach DeHart, former mentor of the Duke eleven, will bring his Washington and Lee warriors to Durham and past experience reveals that his teams always puts up a great battle.

The Generals got off to a slow start in this football season due to many injuries and a small squad but since then they have steadily improved. They showed potential strength when they downed a favored University of Virginia team, and have come along well since then.

Coach Cameron, who has scouted the Generals, speaks favorably of them. He says that they have a team which will have to be watched. Their offensive passes and double passes behind the line make them a threat at all times. Coach Cameron had high praise for the whole team, and especially Sawyers, who kicks, passes and is an extraordinarily good open field runner.

The game will mark the close of five Blue Devils' careers. They are Captain Lowell Mason, Ken Abbott, Arthur Ershler, John Brownlee, and Pop Warner.

GRINS FROM THE GRID

By O. W. "RED" SEVERENCE (Written for The Associated Press) Having played John Aiden long enough in relating the favorite football stories of American's leading coaches, I've decided to end the series by "speaking for myself."

For keen humor and incomparable wit in time of deepest gloom my personal nomination for "All-Time Wise-Cracker" goes to Vernon "Catfish" Smith, 1932 All-America end of the Georgia Bulldogs.

The Georgia team, which opened the season brilliantly by trouncing Yale for the third straight year, now was returning from California after its disastrous game with the University of Southern California.

Broken in body and spirit from the 60 to drubbing, members of the team were sleeping soundly as their cross-continental train roared eastward during the early morning hours.

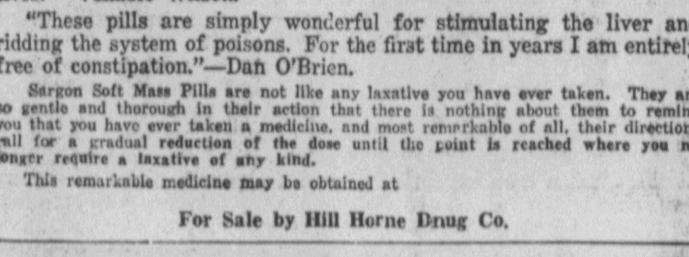

Passing through a tiny town, the train stopped for water and an enthusiastic football fan of 15 boarded the car for a quick look at the thrice-conquerors Yale.

Scurrying through the train, youth was bitterly disappointed upon finding nothing but row upon row of green curtains.

Finally he reached the observation car and spied a lone figure standing on the rear platform, evidently an early riser unable to sleep.

Tapping him on the shoulder, the youth inquired: "Say, where are all the football players?"

To which "Catfish" Smith made the immortal reply: "Out on the coast, son, out on the coast."

Sargon Soft Mass Pills are not like any laxative you have ever taken. COSMIC RAY SALLED "ELECTRIC BOOMERANG" BY PROF. PICCARD

By W. F. G. SWANN (Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

Swathmore, Pa., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Imagine the air filled with invisibly small electrical boomerangs cast by giants capable of making a 1,000 mile toos and you have a mental picture of what is happening among the cosmic rays observed by Professor Auguste Piccard ten miles aloft.

He concluded that cosmic rays at high altitudes come equally from all directions, upward as well as downward. This is at variance with previous observations at low altitudes, which recorded the rays falling almost perpendicularly, like rain.

If the rays are electrons, as Dr. Arthur H. Compton's world-wide observations indicate, their rushing about in all directions as observed by Piccard is explainable.

All about the earth there is a row of green curtains.

Finally he reached the observation car and spied a lone figure standing on the rear platform, evidently an early riser unable to sleep.

Tapping him on the shoulder, the youth inquired: "Say, where are all the football players?"

To which "Catfish" Smith made the immortal reply: "Out on the coast, son, out on the coast."

Many of these secondary rays are of considerably less energies. They can complete their circular paths in a few miles.

We have reason to believe that the secondary rays are ejected initially downwards. If they are of such a nature that they can turn before striking the earth, they will succeed in traveling upwards in a portion of their path.

Rays From All Directions
Those rays which are emitted at high altitudes will be able so to turn without striking the earth, so that at those altitudes we may expect to find the secondary rays coming from all directions, upward in the case of those which have completed a self-circular path and horizontally in those which have completed only one-quarter of their path.

Electrons corresponding in energy to the majority of electronic rays emitted by radio-active substances would travel in circles of diameters of about 600 meters, but would not be sufficiently penetrating to enter the apparatus used by Professor Piccard.

There is reason to believe that there are both primary and secondary cosmic rays. The primary rays come from a source outside of earth. The energy these must have to enable them to reach our globe without being turned back into space is such that over distances of a few miles they would be bent but little from straight paths.

The secondary rays are electrons ejected from atoms of the atmosphere when a primary ray collides directly with the nucleus of an atom.

backs into linemen and caters and guards into backs. In their first year most of these boys are aver-anxious and under the new surroundings often pull some stunt that marks them the rest of their colleg days.

This particular incident occurred in a game between the freshmen teams of Florida and Mercer. A tackle on the Florida team in tackling a runner, was able to grab the ball away from the backfield man and started to run toward Mercer's goal.

This all was perfectly legal and a fine play if it can be done. The Florida coach was elated and was cheering his tackle on when suddenly the player stopped and, turning, handed the sphere back to the opposing backfield man, who was running just behind in hopes of stopping the runner.

The coach yelled and immediately sent in a substitute to relieve the lineman. When the tackle reached the bench the coach demanded his reason for giving the ball back to the opposing team once he had captured it. The freshman exclaimed:

"Well, as soon as I got the ball the referee took out after me. I thought he was going to penalize me, so I hurried and returned the ball."

MARKET REPORT

Market will close of Thanksgiving after Wednesday's sale, re-opening Monday, November 28th.

Greenville is nearly 2,000,000 pounds ahead of all other markets and gaining every day.

Scrap Tobacco

Beginning at once, we will gain sell your scrap tobacco at Auction. For many years the warehouses in Eastern Carolina have not offered scrap for sale. This year some of the markets have resumed selling scrap at auction and Greenville will do likewise.

Greenville is leading all other markets because we are paying more for every grade of tobacco. Competition has never been keener, and some of the markets are getting frantic offering all kinds of wild inducements, even to hauling tobacco free if they will bring their tobacco to them. Every thinking farmer knows he pays the bill if he takes up with these wildcat schemes.

We believe the farmers of Pitt county will stand by their market, which has proven to be the best and largest bright tobacco market in the state.

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ. Scientist on Sunday, Nov. 20.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 130:5: "I wait for the Lord, my soul doth wait, and in His word do I hope."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God; wherefore turn yourselves and live ye."—(Ezek. 18:32).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is neither growth, maturity, nor decay in Soul. These changes are the mutations of material sense, the varying clouds of mortal belief, which hide the truth of being."—(Christian Science Committee on Publication).

FOOD MATINEE AT STATE WEDNESDAY FROM 2 TIL 3

T. Y. Walker announces that Wednesday afternoon from 2 until 3 o'clock a quarter's worth of food-stuff will be accepted as an adult admission at the State, to see the Constance Bennett picture "Two Against the World."

The food received by the theatre in this unique manner will be turned over to the Salvation Army to be used in their special Thanksgiving Day dinner for the needy, or any other way they may see fit to use it in their relief work.

"Two Against the World" is a powerful dramatic story, a little different from the kind you usually see Miss Bennett in. The background for all the scenes in the picture are lavish and magnificently done. Nell Hamilton plays opposite Miss Bennett.

"Who Me" a new Educational comedy and "Curious Customs," a Bitaphone novelty, complete the program.

HARRIS-FOUNTAIN

Fountain, Nov. 19.—The Presbyterian Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding this evening at 7:30 o'clock when Miss Allie Louise Fountain became the bride of William Roderic Harris with Rev. Howard M. Wilson, the bride's pastor, officiating.

Against a background of palms and ferns, pedestal baskets of white chrysanthemums, cathedral candelabra, each bearing seven tall ivory tapers, alternated on each side of an improvised altar, made an artistic setting for the bridal party which entered to the strains of the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin."

Prior to the ceremony a program of nuptial music was given with Miss Nell Owens of Norfolk, as pianist, Harold A. McDougall of Tarboro as soloist, and Ed Stallings of Wilson, as violinist. Mr. Stallings opened with Schubert's "Serenade" and "Lobstrum" by Liszt. The vocal numbers were: "If God Left Only You" and "Heart of Gold." The "Venetian Love Song" was softly played as a violin solo during the ceremony. Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as a recessional.

John N. Fountain, brother of the bride, and Peter D. Finch of Zebulon, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, acted as ushers. The groomsmen, Wallace Chambliss of Zebulon, Berdon Bell of Raleigh, S. G. MacManus of Lexington, Va., and Robert A. Fountain Jr., brother of the bride, were followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Dorothy Self, Lenoir, Louise Smith, Farmville; Dorothy Billups, Norfolk, Va.; and Mrs. William T. Pendleton, Shelby. The bridesmaids wore lovely pink costumes of Stehli crepe with little capes trimmed with ermine and carried arm bouquets of white chrysanthemums tied with pink ribbons.

Mrs. Peter Finch, sister of the bridegroom and matron of honor, and Miss Mary King Fountain, the bride's sister, as maid of honor, wore lovely yellow and powder blue dresses made in same style as the bridesmaids. Both carried beautiful bouquets of bronze and gold chrysanthemums tied with bronze and gold ribbon. Mrs. Robert Allen Fountain Sr., the bride's mother, wore a handsome blue lace dress with shoulder corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Pattie Chambliss Harris, the bridegroom's mother, wore a lovely black lace dress with a shoulder corsage of pink roses.

Preceding the bride to the altar were little Betsy White Fountain, the bride's niece and Miss Anne Harris, niece of the bridegroom, as flower girls. They were lovely in powder blue dresses, colonial style, carrying bouquets of pastel shades tied with pink ribbon. Little Dave Finch, nephew of the bridegroom, as bearer, wore a crepe blouse with white flannel trousers.

The bride approached the altar with her father by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a handsome phosphora satin gown, Patou model, cut on Medieval lines. Her veil was imported lace arranged cap fashion caught across back with orange blossoms. The bride carried a lovely bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley, tied with silver and lace.

The bride was met at the altar by the bridegroom, accompanied by his brother, Samuel Marion Harris of Zebulon.

Mrs. Harris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen Fountain. She is a niece of Lieut.-Gov. Richard T. Fountain. She was educated at Peace Junior College for Women, Raleigh, and Greensboro College. Since her engagement, she has been the recipient of many lovely parties.

Mr. Harris is the son of Mrs. Pattie Chambliss Harris and the late Samuel Webster Harris of Zebulon. He received his education at Wake Forest, and is connected with R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. in Lexington, Va.

Immediately after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Harris left for an extended trip through the northern states. The bride's going away costume was of tomato crepe trimmed with milk following their wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Harris will make their home in Lexington, Va.

Preceding the wedding a buffet supper was given by the bride's parents with the members of the wedding party and the bridegroom's family forming the receiving line.

The guests were met at the door by Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Fountain Sr. and Mrs. W. L. Goodwyn assisting in the receiving line. A delicious salad course was served with the pink and green color scheme predominating. Those assisting in the dining room were: Misses Martha Brown Fountain, Catherine, Nellie Bryan and Margaret Newton, Elsie Fountain and Mary Louise Lawrence.

Hollywood, Nov. 21.—In Richard Barthelmess' own words, his beach house is "the kind of place where you can grow a beard—and nobody objects."

It is a distinctive spot, this house where the Barthelmesses spend many of their week-ends even in cold weather. In the first place, it is not Southern California in architecture, but Cape Cod. A New England white gabled farm-house with narrow porches and rocking chairs on them—chairs that cost $2 each and in their simplicity strike the keynote for the rest of the home.

Just What They Like "Both Mrs. Barthelmess and I," Dick says, "like being more in stormy weather. There's enough New England background in each of us for that. We planned it ourselves—with the help of an architect, of course. It's what we like."

The furnishings are unpretentious, some of them admittedly "bargains." There is an oval, marble-topped table in a corner of the big white-walled living-room that cost $10

Dick is especially keen on a clock that cost but $12.

"The maker wasn't proud enough of it to put his name on it, but it runs and it has a loud tick. That's what we hunted for, a clock with a loud tick. It's cheerful, even if it doesn't keep perfect time, he grins.

On the mantel with the clock, over the white-washed fireplace, rest many sentimentally treasured souvenirs: The old flintlock he carried in "To'able David"; a colonial lantern he picked up long ago in New England; an old knocker, dated 1680; little framed silhouettes of each member of the family.

Perhaps your husband just loves pie—but he may think that pie-crust doesn't agree with him. Then examine your shortening to see if it's to blame.

Smell your shortening. Taste it. Then open a sanitary can of Crisco. Smell Crisco. Taste it. No strong-smelling or stale-tasting fat there—Crisco is as sweet and fresh as new-churned butter.

Crisco's own secret process keeps every spoonful in the can fresh and sweet!

Your family's digestion is safe with foods made with Crisco. For isn't it reasonable to believe that a sweet, fresh-tasting shortening will digest easily? Crisco does digest easily. It is a vegetable shortening.

Try delicious Old-fashioned Cranberry Pie on your husband tonight. A Crisco pie-crust tastes so flaky and sweet that he'll probably ask for a second piece—and eat it safely!

In the cooking school conducted last week under the auspices of The Daily Reflector, Miss Louise Dixon used and recommended Crisco, the modern shortening that digests easily.

At these 3 danger points, ordinary fats may cause digestive troubles. Crisco digests easily.

Protect your husband's digestion

Don't load pie-crust with indigestible fat

Darling, your pie taste so much better now—and they agree with me. What's happened?

Oh, I've stopped using ordinary fat. I've switched to Crisco. It's such a sweet, digestible shortening!

OLD-FASHIONED CRANBERRY PIE

2 cups cranberries
1 1/2 cups hot water
1 cup seedless raisins

1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt

1 tablespoon CRISCO

Mix cranberries, sugar and salt. Add hot water and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add cranberries, raisins and Crisco.

CRISCO PIE-CRUST

2 cups flour
5/8 teaspoon salt

6 to 8 tablespoons cold water
3/4 cup CRISCO

Sift flour and salt together. Now cut in your Crisco. For really digestible pie-crust, be sure to use the sweet-tasting, digestible shortening—Crisco. You will find Crisco is wholesome and digestible because it is creamy, not tallowy; sweet-tasting, not strong-tasting. Cut in the Crisco with two knives until consistency of small peas. Add only enough water to hold mixture together. Roll 1/8 inch thick. Fit into pie-pan as usual. Add filling. Over the top arrange strips of pastry about 1/2 inch wide, criss-crossing them. Fasten the ends of the strips to the bottom crust by moistening with water. Build up the outside rim with an extra strip of pastry. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) for 20 minutes.

ABOUT TOWN

It was fitting that the government should honor Wilbur and Orville Wright with a memorial at Kill Devil Hill, North Carolina. Their contribution to transportation is the greatest in the history of the nation and it is impossible at this time to foresee the full significance of their discovery.

Already the crude plane with which they made their first flight in 1903 has been developed into a thing of immense speed and durability and science has developed by leaps and bounds over the 29-year period since their discovery.

The shaft, one of the most important in the country, will convey to the world the everlasting fame which the brothers carved for themselves in that memorable flight. It will speak in eloquent terms to future generations of the brilliance of the man who first discovered the plan for enabling people to fly through the air like winged creatures.

North Carolina and the Wrights are inseparable and to mention their brilliant achievement in coming years will turn the pages of memory back to Kill Devil Hill on the crest, the scene of one of the greatest achievements of man.

The people of the city should bear in mind the special service to be held in the Emmanuel Baptist Church next Thursday morning in honor of Thanksgiving Day.

People of all denominations will be given an opportunity to attend the service and join in the community-wide effort to give full expression to our gratitude for the blessing bestowed upon us the past year.

Thanksgiving is linked with the beginning of this nation and who knows but this annual custom of offering up thanks for our blessings has not been one of the most potent factors in the growth of this nation.

Money may not be as plentiful as it used to be and millions of people may walk the streets without employment, yet the nation should go down on its knees and express gratitude for the bountiful harvests produced in all parts of the country. We have enough foods stored away in our packhouses to feed every hungry person in the nation, and while some may go hungry for a time the eleemosynary spirit of the American people will see that they are fed.

The campaign to raise funds with which to carry on charity work in Greenville during the winter was started today and will continue through Tuesday.

We are urged to give liberally to the cause and help the committee provide for the hundreds of unemployed people throughout the state of cold weather.

Although no definite amount has been set by the committee, it was hoped to raise as much as possible and show the government that the community is putting forth the best effort to care for its indigent.

Federal funds will be increased to communities where the need is found to be more acute than can be coped with, and the more we do to improve our condition the more the government will make available to the cause.

The situation is more severe this year than ever before and unless people give freely it is impossible to say what will become of men and women striving to keep sufficient food in their homes to prevent tiny children from starving.

A PATH TO PARADISE

SYNOPSIS: After two months of job hunting, Clive learns his rich wife Santa has found him a position paying twice his old salary. He suspects something strange in the background, but can not be sure. His hesitation, however, offends Santa and they part with a quarrel on the day he is to make his decision.

Chapter 31

MR. CLEASBY'S SURPRISE

To whom could he turn for advice? He must learn something of this firm which was so anxious to secure him when hundreds could be hired at a third the price. Though his old employer's business was in the receiver's hands, there must be someone in authority who could unearth the information he required.

Luck favored him. Silver-haired and pink-jawed, leading the familiar desk sat Mr. Cleasby. "Grand to see you, Clive." He stretched out his hand. "We're on the crest of the wave, as doubtless you've heard."

"I've heard nothing, sir." "What—not about that English plant you investigated? We trusted your report and invested heavily. It's turned up rumps—made us solvent. Congratulations. If it had not been for my nervous breakdown, we'd have weathered the storm anyhow. But where have you been hiding? I suppose someone's snapped you up—no chance of re-engaging you?"

"Whose estate do they handle?" asked Clive.

"Snapped me up!" Clive laughed, his confidence returning. "I'm a white-collar man. Employment agencies don't exist for people of my class. I'm a drug on the market. I've tramped more miles, mounted in more elevators, sat for interviews on harder chairs than I ever thought possible. It's kind of you, sir, to believe that I'd been snapped up."

Removing his spectacles, the old bachelor polished the lenses. "You surprise me. Have you been aiming too high?" "I didn't have the proper introductions."

"But you must have received offers?" "One. The salary's twice what you paid me." Clive waited for an explosion.

"While you were with me," Mr. Cleasby continued polishing, "you were worth twice what I paid you." Clive gasped.

"If that's so, it makes this offer more plausible. May I consult you?" "I'd like to get you back if you're not too high-priced. I'll do my best, however, to advise you without bias."

Clive detailed the circumstances which had so puzzled him, omitting Santa's share by disguising her as a friend.

"What's the name of this firm?" Mr. Cleasby screwed up his shrewd eyes. "What they're wanting is probably the list of our clients. Come back at two and you shall hear all I've discovered."

At two, when Clive returned, Mr. Cleasby had a single sheet of typewritten paper before him. He commented perfunctorily, as though addressing a directors' meeting.

"They're a family concern—that's being given in a way that bespeaks success.

Thanksgiving Day is a time when people who have been blessed with the good things of life should turn their attention to helping those who have been the victims of circumstance. A good meal is nothing out of the ordinary to most of us, but to those who have been without work for months it is a godsend, and the Salvation Army is hoping to feed every hungry person in the community next Thursday.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt will confer with President Hoover tomorrow on the troublesome war debt question and the people in all parts of the world will watch for the outcome of the conference with keen interest.

The conference will terminate in one or two decisions to allow the debtor nations further extension of time or to tell them plainly they must meet their payments on December 15.

There is a growing conviction that both President Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt are against a new debt holiday, and if that is true the nations to which this country loaned money so liberally when they were "up against it" will have to come across and pay.

HINTS TO THE FARMERS

(Stokes Voc. Agr. Dept.)

Every farm should produce the pork and pork products which are consumed on the farm.

Selling pigs and buying pork involves profits for some but for the farmer that wishes to engage in that practice.

Home curing of pork is an old practice. It nearly went out of style but the style is rapidly becoming popular again.

Home cured pork, fresh canned pork, scrapple, sausage, head-cheese, pickled pig's feet, and lard afford a variety of products to supplement the daily meals.

Preparations of high nutritious and palatable pork products for home use are easily made.

There is no surer way to set a better table and to increase the value of a good many farm dollars than through efficient curing and canning of pork.

See things from my angle. "Neither will you tomorrow." In a huff she left the room. Before he had guessed her intentions the hall-door slammed.

(Copyright 1931-1932, Coningsby Dawson)

Clive gets a jolt, tomorrow, that sets his heading spinning.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, Nov. 21.—For the first time in almost fifty years the political good fortune which has kept Charley Curtis in public office almost continuously has deserted him.

After next March 4, unless something crops up in the meantime, he'll be just Charles Curtis, Topeka, Kansas, private citizen. At seventy-three years of age he'll quit "the hill" where he has served so long.

Yet, uncanny politician that he is, will reduce the forms of natural bacteria that are present in the blood and tissues of the live hogs.

The job of slaughtering is also made much easier when the stomach contains the minimum amount of food.

The six important steps in preventing bacteria growth and turning out good meat are:

- (a) Hogs that are quietly handled.
- (b) A thorough bleed.
- (c) Quick and efficient chilling.
- (d) Proper application of the salt.
- (e) Cleanliness in handling the meat.
- (f) Proper attention when curing.

A veteran like Curtis didn't overlook that record, you may be sure. Then just why he chose the course he did, instead of trying to recapture his old seat in the Senate from Kansas, which it was generally believed he could have had, is a question only he can answer.

Those who knew the broken Kansas prophesy that he's not through with public life by a whole lot. A man who has figured so prominently as he has is not likely to settle down quietly from now on.

Some objected at the Republican convention in Chicago that he was too old to run again for the Vice-Presidency. Curtis' reply was a hearty laugh. He proceeded to show 'em up by his activity in the campaign.

INTO THE VALLEY OF DEATH "Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by John Charlton, after the famous painting depicting the heroic Charge of the Light Brigade in the face of a withering fire at the battle of Balaclava in the Crimean War (1854). "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
