PRESIDENT SEEKS GOVERNMENT REORGANIZATION

DR. NOBLES IS CHOSEN HEAD OF MEDICOS

Other Officers Elected as Medical Society Entertains The Ladies.

Annual observance of ladies' night and election of officers marked the regular meeting of the Pitt Medical Society at the Episcopal Church last night...

Dr. T. G. Basnight, of Stokes was named a delegate to the State Medical Convention and Dr. L. C. Skinner was selected as alternate.

In addition to a delightful supper served by ladies of the church, the doctors, their wives and sweethearts enjoyed a program of speeches, songs and games.

Hosts were: Drs. Massey, Joiner, Schultz, McGeachy and Morrill. The program was in charge of Dr. Tom Watson and Dr. K. P. Pace...

The response was made by Mrs. Tom Watson, who assured the guardians of public health that the ladies always found particular pleasure in participating in such meetings.

Dr. L. C. Skinner spoke on the subject, "From Gold to Chicken Standards," and needless to say, much humor was injected into the talk.

Dr. R. H. Wright, Jr. spoke on "Why I Am Not Satisfied As I Is." His logical presentation of the subject afforded other unmarried members of the society an opportunity to gain valuable insights on the inadvisability of "single-blessedness."

Rev. A. W. Lillycrop, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, spoke on "Going Out At Night's." It was a peculiar subject to be handled by a "son of the light" unaccustomed to rambling in purgatorial blackness...

Dr. J. C. Green, who has enjoyed the bliss of single life for a number of years, was assigned the subject, "Why I Am Satisfied As I Is." Young members of the club were provided with some sober, solid thought intermingled with plenty of merriment.

A song was sung by Drs. Basnight, Beasley, Garrington, Brown and Skinner, assisted by Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Beasley, Mrs. Pace, Mrs. Crisp, Miss Osborn, and Miss Fleming.

Following a game of bingo, favors were awarded to Mrs. E. T. Dickinson, Mrs. C. O. Laughinghouse, Miss Osborne, and Miss Fleming.

Forest Fire Loss About the Same As Previous Year

Raleigh, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Damages from 1,785 forest fires in organized counties of North Carolina the first six months of this year did damage estimated at $339,983 and burned over 170,118 acres of the 6,946,244 wooded acres in counties cooperating in forest fire prevention.

The Department of Conservation and Development reported today that the area burned was proportionately about the same this year as for the period last year. The area under protection was 18 per cent less this year and the average burned decreased accordingly.

Fire fighting costs decreased 27 per cent during the first six months as compared with the same period in 1931. Total cost was $14,441 this year, an average of $8 per fire. The cost was $9.50 per fire in 1931 when 2,149 were reported as compared with 1,785 this year.

Only three of the fires this year were caused by lightning, all others being preventable.

Incendiaries started 482 this year and brush burners were responsible for 422 with smokers causing 318.

Eight country schools in Bryan County, Oklahoma, fed a total of 50,000 hot lunches to pupils in a year.

EHRINGHAUS IS FACED BY GREAT TASK

Governor-Elect Has Hundreds of Appointments Ahead of Him.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Governor-Elect J. C. B. Ehringhaus, of Elizabeth City, will as one of his first duties after he assumes office in January, be faced with appointment of persons to several hundred State posts.

Various and sundry are the appointments which an incoming governor has to make. They range from special judges and secretaries through heads of State departments down to membership on boards of institutions, members of commissions, and directors of public organizations where directors are required.

Mr. Ehringhaus has made no announcement as to the appointments. Speculation links the name of Edwin Gill, of Laurinburg, private secretary to Governor Gardner, as possibly being retained. This would set a precedent. Another man mentioned for the place is Thad Eure, of Hertford, and assistant director of personnel and former legislator.

It is generally believed that George Ross Pugh will be named again as superintendent of State's Prison. There is some speculation as to the next Revenue Commissioner, but it is thought that Allen J. Maxwell, who opposed Ehringhaus for governor in the June primary, will be continued.

He was taken back to jail to await transfer to the penitentiary at Raleigh.

Lost: Key to Jail

Zanesville, O., Dec. 9.—(AP)—The situation looked bad for the prisoners in Zanesville's jail for apparently some one had thrown away the key. For a whole day it was lost. It was necessary to postpone court for the minor offenders until a skeleton key was found that would open the door. Finally the lost key was found in a laundry bag where a trusty had dropped it.

Erection of Vari-Colored Lights in The Business District Is Going Ahead.

NEW WARNING FOR PARENTS

Health Office Warns Against School Attendance from Quarantined Homes.

Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Pitt County Health Department, again called attention of the public today to the regulation governing school attendance from homes under quarantine.

All children living in a home quarantined because of diphtheria, scarlet fever, or septic sore throat, the health officer stated, must stay out of school while the house is placarded. Some exceptions to this rule may be made in the case of diphtheria. If a child will leave home and not return even for a visit, he may return to school after ten (10) days.

In the case of whooping cough and measles, Dr. McGeachy said, those children in the families who have had the disease may attend school but those who have not must stay out.

The health officer asks that the public be cautioned about the strict observance of quarantine in scarlet fever. Unfortunately, this disease can only be controlled by thorough isolation and quarantine, and it is a much more dangerous disease than most people seem to think it is.

Recommends Reshaping Of Many Executive Branches And Reducing Of Agencies

NEGRO KILLER GETS REPRIEVE

Governor Halts Execution of Jake Jones to Study His Mentality.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—One hour before he was to be electrocuted today, Jake F. "Sunshine" Jones, 19-year-old negro, convicted for the murder of J. H. Pool, local filling station operator, was granted a reprieve by Governor Gardner.

Tyre C. Taylor, executive counsel, issued a statement saying the reprieve was granted on his recommendation and a communication from Judge W. A. Devin, who tried the negro, and because of doubt of the mentality of the prisoner.

The reprieve under North Carolina law extended Jones' stay on Death Row until at least January 13, unless his sentence is commuted.

Jones, diminutive negro, who started his criminal career at the age of thirteen, has repeatedly stated that he had rather die than spend the rest of his life in prison.

LEAF SALES LIGHT TODAY

Season Sales on The Greenville Market Reach 38,048,286 Pounds.

Season sales on the Greenville tobacco market today were given as 38,048,286 in the weekly report of K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales.

The total amount of money paid out by the market was given as $4,634,646.50, at an average of $12.18 per hundred pounds.

Sales for the week, it was indicated, were 1,033,180 pounds, for $123,491.63, at an average of $12.11 per hundred pounds.

Growers were again urged to work the remainder of their crop and market it as rapidly as possible in view of the closing of the bright leaf belt December 21.

The price situation remained fairly firm throughout the week, and the market average held its own despite the offerings of large quantities of common grades, and especially scraps.

Sales continued light today and work was completed before the noon hour.

NEGRO YOUTH DRAWS 15-YEAR SENTENCE

Waynesville, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Charles Rose, 17-year-old negro, was convicted of assault with attempt to commit rape in Superior court here today and Judge Hoyte Sink sentenced him to 10 to 15 years at hard labor at the state prison at Raleigh.

The jury was out more than 24 hours having reached a verdict at 5:25 p. m. today after considering the case since 1:47 p. m. yesterday. Rose is also under indictment for the slaying of Bill Ray, Waynesville deputy sheriff, but the state made no mention of what it intended to do about this case.

The state contended Rose mistreated a 5-year-old girl after luring her into his room in a hotel basement here. The negro denied the allegations.

The deceased is survived by his mother, his wife and the following children: Mrs. A. D. McArthur, Misses Eloise Curtis, Henrietta Stallings, Elizabeth Lillian, and W. H. PROPOSALS GO TO CONGRESS; NO COMMENT

Members of Congress Withhold Comment On The Proposed Changes; Democrats Silent in View Of Roosevelt's Declaration to Make His Own Reorganization; Hoover Plan Would be Effective in Sixty Days.

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—In a bulky message President Hoover today placed before Congress a series of recommendations for partial reorganization of the government by reshaping 58 executive branches into new patterns and reducing a number of independent agencies to fifteen.

The maze of proposals called for no additional offices but re-grouped duties of four assistant secretaries in the little province.

The new titles of offices would be: Assistant Secretary of the Interior for public works; of the Interior for Education; Health and Recreation of Agriculture; for Main Utilization of Commerce and Merchant Marine.

Under them would be grouped the bureaus and agencies now spread throughout the government.

Simultaneously with outlining the plan, the President submitted an executive order for carrying the plan into effect. If no objection is raised in sixty days, the reorganization will go forward. Senators and Representatives of both parties were chary of immediate comment.

Early speculation was that some opposition might be placed in the path of the President by Democratic leaders in view of the recent announcement of President-elect Roosevelt that he intends calling in experts for a free study of the government to produce re-organization when he assumes office.

In addition to the consolidation of the four departments, the President contemplated other groupings such as the consolidation of the coast guard; border patrol of the labor department's immigration service; the border patrol of the treasury department.

The Weather Bureau of the Department of Agriculture would be shifted to the Department of Commerce and powers of duties of the Federal Oil Conservation Board would be shifted to the Bureau of Mines and the board abolished.

The Chief Executive told Congress he would not make an attempt to tabulate the saving expected from the plan. He pointed out that the total appropriations of the agencies is $700,000,000.

Continuing the study of American Foundations Mrs. C. T. Munford gave an excellent paper on Carnegie's philanthropies. The humanitarian spirit of this great man found expression in various types of benefactions.

Giving away millions of dollars before his death, his appropriations have continued under his will, and since 1911 the Carnegie Corporation has distributed more than one hundred and thirty-five millions. A large part of this amount has been accessible for education and research. One and one-half millions were given for church organs. Pensions for teachers and the Hero and Library funds were established by Mr. Carnegie, but his greatest interest was in his project for universal peace. The magnificent tribunal at the Hague was one of his many donations through the Peace Endowment.

At the conclusion of the program the hostess served a delicious salad course.—Reported.

MRS. SPILMAN ENTERTAINS FOR MISS WRIGHT

On Thursday evening, December 8, at six o'clock Mrs. J. B. Spilman entertained, honoring Miss Evelyn Wright, bride-elect.

The party was given in the Home Economics practice house on the college campus. The rooms were lovely with Christmas decorations and the glow of many candles.

Mrs. Spilman was assisted in serving a delightful buffet supper by Mrs. Robert Wright and Mrs. M. K. Fort. The centerpiece of the lace-covered serving table was a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake.

Much excitement prevailed as the ribbons were drawn revealing the symbols hidden in the cake. Immediately after the supper, little Miss Suzanne Kilgo and Master Walter Clark Jones, dressed as bride and groom, entered the room drawing a tea wagon which contained a miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect.

Those invited to share Mrs. Spilman's hospitality were: Miss Evelyn Wright, the honoree; Misses Frances Morton, Zelle Foley, Mary Langston, Helen White, Eloise Garrett, Mary Wright, Frances Wahl, Mary Forbes, Annie L. Morton and Mary James Lipscomb; Mesdames M. L. Wright, Robert H. Wright, M. K. Fort, H. C. Sugg, Marvin Sugg, A. D. Frank, E. B. Ficklen and Adelaide E. Blotson.

Recital At College

The annual Christmas piano recital which is the one public recital of each year was given Wednesday evening at 6:45 in the Austin auditorium of East Carolina Teachers College.

The entire program was very pleasing for every person who took part played with distinction and reflected credit upon the music department.

Miss Gorrell's introductory explanations of certain numbers enabled the audience to enjoy all the more the musical interpretations.

The two piano numbers by Misses Edith Marslender and Melba Watson at the beginning and end of the program were especially enjoyable. They were very different and gave the musicians an opportunity to show their ability to interpret the music they were "Sicilienne" by Bach, "Minuet" by Boccherini and "A Norwegian Dance" by Grieg.

There were three very beautiful numbers. Octave Study, by Low played by Berkeley Sauls and "Arabesque" and "The Combat" by Heller, played by Katherine Bradley.

The idea of different bells was brought out in "The Bells" by Rebock, played by Frances Reek and "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" by Rachmaninoff, played by Katie Lee Johnson.

Miss Edith Marslender who is perhaps the most advanced and talented of the college student musicians, proved her gift to this place by two very delicate interpretations of lovely numbers, one a "Minuet" by Delahaye and "A Spring Breeze" by Boyle.

A lovely Schumann and Grieg number "The Prophet Bird" and "Papillon" were played very well by Elizabeth Smith.

The only two voice numbers on the program, which were sung by a trio composed of Misses Mary Belle Wilson, Beth Brantley and Emma Lee Davis, were "A Brown Bird Singing" by Wood, and "Were You There," an arrangement of Burleigh's. They added very greatly to the pleasure of the evening.

A. A. U. W. TO CHANGE TIME OF MEETING

At its regular monthly meeting yesterday, the local chapter of the American Association of University Women voted to change its time of meeting from 4 o'clock on the third Thursday of the month to 8 o'clock on the third Monday night.

The group entertained at Ragsdale Hall, heard Miss Mary Ellen Powell talk on the dance in America.

Miss Powell, whose topic was "America's Contribution to Fine Arts in the Field of the Dance Within the Last Fifty Years," snowed clearly that America offers little scope to the professional dancer.

Even our best known dancers have received most of their recognition abroad.

Beginning with the definition of dancing as "silent music," the speaker went on to say that though many nations have their own typical dances—the Scotch, the reel; the French, the minuet; the English, the may-pole—America has no dance which is a real expression of its people.

"Only one theater in America," said Miss Powell, "is built for the dance"—with no footlights and with a raised stage.

She spoke of the difference in style of Isadora Duncan's classic dancing and orientation type favored by Ruth St. Denis, the one westerner who can dance India's famous Nautch dance; and mentioned as one of our most modern dancers Agnes Enters, "a modern psychologist in the dance."

Miss Mamie Jenkins and Miss Lucille Turner, hostesses, surprised the group with a Christmas touch. Each member drew a number to match a numbered package with a souvenir reminiscent of the fine arts.

Miss Alice V. Wilson and Mrs. Leon R. Meadows were guests at the meeting; and Miss York of the high school was welcomed as a new member.—Reported.

"The Scene of the Nativity."

Throughout the passing centuries men have celebrated the Nativity of Christ in a variety of ways.

Among the Pennsylvania Dutch, near the city of Philadelphia, there grew up a custom connected with the Christmas season, of reconstructing the "Scene of the Nativity" in miniature. These Dutch people would carve out little houses representative of the Bethlehem homes, and the inn, and make the stable in which Christ was born; beneath it, little figures of the sheep, camels, horses, donkeys and cattle; the shepherds, figures of the angelic visitors, Joseph and Mary, and the Judean hill-side where abode "the shepherds watching their flocks by night." These scenes were placed in some room in their homes in connection with the Christmas tree and their giving gifts to one another found rote in G-d's gift to men.

An illustration of this manner of depicting the "Scene of the Nativity" transferred from a home among the Pennsylvania Dutch to a living room of another American home may be seen in the window of Quinn Miller Co., East Fifth street.

Citizens of Greenville and vicinity will wish to avail themselves of the opportunity of viewing this interesting representation of the "First Christmas."

SANTA and the MAGIC DOLL

by SIGRID ARNE

SYNOPSIS: Inga is proclaimed the most beautiful doll in Santa's toyshop. She was made by a lazy gnome assigned to the work by Santa after he had fashioned Pinocchio, an ugly clown.

Now all the world of magic isn't kind, you know. There are witches who harm people and quite naturally they don't like Santa Claus because he is so good.

But Santa guards against them by never letting them enter the Toyshop.

"You are free to come and go up here," Santa told Inga. "We all have a good time because when you go down to the world on Christmas Eve you are only free to talk and play with other dolls after midnight. But there is one thing you must promise me—don't ever let any witches in. You will know them because they all have very old faces."

"Indeed, I won't," said Inga. And then she dismissed the subject from her mind, for there was so much doing in the Toyshop. In the center stood the huge Christmas tree on which grew all the little Christmas bells. A whole new crop pops out of the branches each day and funny little elves in brown suits and pointed green caps run up and down the branches cutting them off and dropping them down to other little elves.

Along the sides of the large rooms are long tables where fairies work painting faces on dolls, curling their hair and dressing them.

In another room gnomes work on toy trains and wagons. They even have little furnaces where they melt the metal. And they look very important indeed hammering away.

Mrs. Santa is in charge of all the little fairies that make Christmas goodies. They pop corn and make long white strings to trim the trees.

ABOUT TOWN

The election of John Coward of Ayden, as county auditor will be received with interest by the public generally in view of the prominent position which he has held in the Ayden business field for so many years.

So well acquainted was Mr. Coward with the business life of the community that he was named district representative of the North Carolina Joint Stock Land Bank sometime ago.

Having been in intimate touch with the hopes and aspirations of the people for so long he should be able to render invaluable services as head of the county auditing department, one of the most important of the government.

Decorating for Christmas has hit its stride in Greenville and in a short time now the business district will be all aglow with thousands of varicolored lights.

This is the season of the year when joy fills the hearts of the people, but there are those who will not see a single ray of hope or joy unless the beneficent hand of mercy of the citizenship is extended to them.

Through the decorations in home and business houses the tingling sensation that accompanies thoughts of Christmas will be experienced by rich and poor alike and it is the hope of the directors of the movement that everybody will do what they can to make the decorations as extensive as possible.

Trees in the front of stores will add much to the transformation expected to take place in the business district and merchants would do well to consider this phase of the decorating program and provide themselves with pine or holly trees.

Tuberculosis Christmas Seals went on sale in the city this week and the public appreciating what the sale of the seals mean to the sick are urged to buy liberally.

Members of the Woman's Club are making an effort to dispose of as many seals as possible but their efforts will be fruitless without the whole-hearted cooperation of men and women who desire to aid the sick confined in hospitals suffering from the dread disease.

If you haven't made your purchase yet, see some member of the club and do so at once.

Farmers who received certificates from the North Carolina Bankers Association at the banquet here Wednesday night should be inspired to keep up the fine record of service.

Only through living up to such requirements are the growers of the nation going to be able to overcome changing conditions which the last two years have brought about the most deplorable financial situation in the nomenclature of the nation.

Well-balanced farm programs accompanied by accurate records of what the farmer is doing should do much to lift agriculture out of the rut. Pitt county has taken the lead from the standpoint of the number of Grade A farmers and it should be the object of the growers to cling tenaciously to this record as long as they can.

A PATH TO PARADISE

by Comingsy DAWSON

SYNOPSIS: Santa escapes from the taxi in which Dicky, her first husband, has held her prisoner. But knowing how well founded her present husband's jealousy of Dicky is, she hesitates to tell him the whole story. When Clive leaves next morning she is afraid Dicky may make another attempt to see her.

Chapter 47 THE WOLF SMILES

The day following Santa hid within four walls. Each time the telephone tinkled her heart quickened. Like a beleaguered city, she watched for Clive's return. Never had he seemed so precious.

On the second day she ventured out, but took her maid with her. The third day she went out unaccompanied. Gradually her alarm subsided.

The fourth day she had a fitting at Bloomhoff's, that extraordinary institution where grand duchesses and bootleggers' wives elbowed each other in the anxiety to be served by the redoubtable Bloomhoff himself. As Bloomhoff left her she raised the curtain to return to the show-room and the endless parade of manikins in evening gowns, negligees, pajamas. On a couch between herself and the elevator, baring escape, sat Dicky. He smiled like the wolf in Little Red Riding Hood.

Touching her arm affectionately he conducted her to the elevator. The clients of Bloomhoff doubtless imagined that they were witnessing love's young dream.

In Fifth Avenue she shook herself free.

"What's your name?" "I can't live without you."

"But how did you know that I would be at Bloomhoff's?" "Rang up and discovered."

"She took her time in answering. They walked a block. She broke the silence."

"What do you imagine you gain by persecuting me?" "That you'll fall for my charm."

"How do you mean fall?" "That you'll marry me."

"That you'll marry me?" "Dicky, please believe me. The only flowers you'll ever receive from me will be in a wreath at your funeral."

"I'll rise from my grave," he responded lightly. "But what do you want?"

"That you'll lunch with me." To lunch with him where they could be seen only by a few people seemed preferable to courting the publicity of the streets. He selected a high-class speak-easy in the East Fifties. Seated elbow to elbow on a red plush couch, a table pinning them to the wall, she tackled him.

"Insult me all you like. You'll never get another chance."

"If we quarrel, we shall attract attention. That was why I brought you. Act as though we were a pair of pals, like any of these other couples. Take a peep in that mirror opposite. We don't look so monstrous."

"I look like a young niece on a spree with her hard-boiled uncle."

"That's more in your style. You have always laughed at my expense. Lord, what will I do if the day ever dawns when I'm forbidden to hear you laugh?"

A pair of cocktails had been placed before them. She had intended to refuse hers. Changing her mind she toasted him.

"Here's to our parting."

"May it be a false alarm," he jests.

"It isn't. Don't kid yourself." His face collapsed like a child's.

"I'd commit suicide if I believed you were through with me."

"But Dicky, that's not news to you. I've been through with you for ages."

"May be. You haven't acted like it."

He called for another cocktail. She prayed that he might call for twenty. Meanwhile she argued.

"May I speak frankly for your own good?" he questioned.

Polish Monarchist's Rumor Factory Names Pilsudski Daughter as Queen

Warsaw, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Agitation for resurrection of the kingdom of Poland is growing as the health of Marshall Joseph Pilsudski, the republic's constitutional dictator, wanes.

Trading on the magic of his name, the monarchist elements are holding up as future queen, Wanda Pilsudski, the eldest daughter of the aging general.

The fact that she is only fifteen years old and so engrossed in her "home work" that she is leading her school classes, has not deterred the rumor mongers from linking her name with one of the other of almost all the eligible royal bachelors in Europe. About the only exceptions were the Prince of Wales and his younger brother, Prince George.

The Polish government has not seen fit to dignify these rumors by denials, the newspapers treat them as jokes and Miss Wanda is too busy with algebra, geography and Latin to pay any attention to them.

Efforts toward a closer union between Poland and Rumania motivated some of the most persistent of the marriage reports. First Prince Nicholas, brother of King Carol, was named, but his morgantic elopement silenced the whispering.

Next the gossips dragged in young Prince Michael, ex-"boy king" and now heir apparent to the Roumanian throne. But since he is only about half Wanda's age and because a marriage between them would take Wanda to Bucharest rather than bring Michael to Warsaw, the fantastic report died.

But salons of Europe feast on such gossip and every vagrant whisper respecting Miss Wanda sets them buzzing afresh.

COLLEGE CAGE OPENS SEASON NEXT TUESDAY

The first game will be played in Greenville Tuesday, Dec. 13, with the strong Goldsboro Red Shields. This promises to be a good opening test for the local team.

Under the direction of Coach C. K. Beatty, the E. C. T. C. basketball players are rapidly coming into their stride. A squad of 25 men are working out every afternoon in the college gym. The majority of the men are former Greenville High School players, others coming from neighboring towns.

Among the regulars from last year's team are Tucker King, Eason VanNortwick in Tucker; the college has one of the best forwards in Eastern Carolina, while Eason and King are stellar guards. VanNortwick shows promise at center.

Many of the fans will be glad to see former high school stars, Burnett P. King, Woodard Deal, Barrett, Bostic Brown. Other prospects are Wright, Worthington, Page, Parker, Jolly, L. James, Carr, Dennis and MacMillan, a former star at Mira High School, New York.

U. N. C. GRID MEN TURN TO CAGE PLAY

Chapel Hill, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Several of the Carolina griders have exchanged football for basketball togs and are making strong bids for berths on this year's Carolina quint.

George Brandt, star end of 73 inches and 175 pounds is out for center. Some of Coach Bo Shepard's worries about replacing Paul Edwards may be alleviated if he comes through as he did in football.

Fast, powerful and rugged, Brandt played 430 of 600 minutes this fall, and gave an exhibition of defensive end play in the Duke game which rates with the best seen in Kenan Stadium in years. He won his letter understanding Edwards last year and has prospects of developing into a splendid center.

Stuart Chandler, spark-plug in the Carolina backfield, is a leading candidate at forward, but Coach Shepard may shift him to guard since he has the two aces, Hines and Weathers, available at forward.

Chandler is not so tall but like Brandt is quick and heady. He is a former star at Durham High and Oak Ridge and is the only three-letterman on the Carolina campus at present, although Brandt is due to join the ranks as soon as the football awards are announced. Chandler's third sport is track, while Brandt's is baseball.

BIG SCHEDULE SET FOR DUKE CAGE OUTFIT

Durham, Dec. 9.—A 19-game schedule opening with a three-game pre-season trip to Baltimore and Washington, was announced today for the 1933 Duke University basketball team.

University of Baltimore at Baltimore on Thursday, Dec. 15, will be the first foe for the Blue Devils on their pre-season trek Georgetown will be met in Washington Friday night and George Washington there Saturday night. The first home game will be with Furman University, January 6.

Ten Southern Conference games are listed and the annual two games with each member of the North Carolina Big Five Duke teams have won the Big Five title for the past three years.

Reserves from the 1932 team appear to have the upper hand for positions on this year's outfit. Four members of last year's outfit are gone: Roy Albert, center; Pete Carter, forward; John Shaw and Nelson Colley, guards; Jim Thompson, all-southern second team forward. All have been shifted to center in Albert's vacated post.

Experienced men returning are Henry Lewis, Wendell Horne and Charles Hayes, forwards; Jim Thompson, center; Phil Weaver, Herb Thompson and Fred Lewis, guards; Sophomores are Bell and Polack, forwards; Pargo, center; May, Clark and Keown, guards.

The highest bidder at the above sale will be required to make a deposit of ten per cent.

Bill Beals a football and basketball reserve and a junior is a third football man who may be heard from.

He was a star forward on the Wilmington High team three years back and is about due to find himself in college competition.

an apprenticeship at South Bend led him to seek a coaching career. Their success has not rested upon duplication of a set of maneuvers and formations, but in applying the basic principles they learned, under Rockne, to the situations and material at hand.

Some of the Rockne products, like "Sleepy Jim" Crowley, caught his humorous spirit; others, like Stuhldreher, his painstaking attention to detail and resourcefulness; still others, such as Adam Walsh, his dynamic forcefulness.

Even if some of the alarmists at South Bend are blowing the whistle, there seems no real reason for worry about the football future of Notre Dame.

Ask Your Doctor Two Important Questions

How Many Minerals Does the Body Contain? Why Are Minerals and Vitamins So Essential to Bodily Health?

When your doctor names the Mineral elements of the body write down the list carefully. Take this list to your druggist and ask to see a bottle of LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, the marvelous new formula that is bringing health to thousands. Compare the Doctor's list with the label on the bottle and you'll find, without exception, every one of the essential Minerals are contained in this famous compound. That's the reason for its amazing success. It's Nature's own way to health.

OUR WONDERFUL BODIES

Strange as it may seem, these wonderful bodies of ours consist of a very limited list of fundamental chemical elements. It is now known that only eleven minerals and five gases are needed by Nature in building the strongest man or the most beautiful woman.

OUR BODIES ARE ROBBED

All of these essential Minerals and gases are present in natural foods, but improper cooking and an unbalanced diet rob us of these vital elements. The system becomes charged with acid, indigestion and Constipation follow. We become nervous and irritable, subject to headaches, fail to get the proper rest at night, become weak and listless and good health deserts us.

NATURE DEMANDS HELP

When any of the essential Minerals are deficient, Nature demands help. Harsh laxatives, "patent" medicines and "pain killers" won't do. You must feed into the body those missing elements that Nature demands. LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, the new scientific formula, contains a balanced supply of Minerals, in combination with vitamins and it is surprising how quickly the system responds to this Natural health building formula.

CLEAR THE SYSTEM

LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, with Vitamins, sweeps the system clean of impurities, drives out dangerous "toxic" poisons, eliminates excessive acids that destroy health, supplies the body with essential minerals, builds rich, red blood, new strength and energy, restores the appetite and aids digestion.

MAKE THIS 10 DAY TEST

Convince Yourself!

Stop doing yourself with "patent medicines," harsh purgatives, pills and cathartics for just 10 days. Go to your nearest Druggist and secure a bottle of LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND. Take it regularly, and watch the results. You'll be amazed at the feeling of renewed strength and vigor that soon appears. No narcotics or alcohol to "boost you up" but a natural method of restoring health and energy.

For Sale by Warren Drug Store, Greenville, and other good dealers everywhere or, send $1.25 to Lee's Laboratories, 167 Forsyth St. S. W., Atlanta, Ga. for large bottle postage paid.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

Is the Rockne System, so-called, on the down-grade along with the brand of football exhibited by the headquarters forces of Notre Dame? Perhaps so, if you leap quickly to conclusions after noting that Georgetown has discarded the Rockne style of play, that Yale probably will do the same thing after this season, and that Frank Carideo, Rock's last All-American quarterback, has performed no miracles at Missouri.

Probably not, if you notice on the other hand what fine work has been done this year at Purdue by Noble Kizer, at Auburn by Chet Wynne and his Notre Dame staff, and by Slip Madigan, the sage of St. Mary's who may in time take over the mantle of Rockne at South Bend, if he yields to increasing pressure.

Didn't Look the Same

The truth is that the Rockne "system" really was a one-man proposition. It was distinctly individualistic, but the belief it could be transplanted grew from the fact so many pupils of Rock entered the coaching highways and byways. Somehow, it sidom looked the same as it did at Notre Dame. Madigan, Chuck Collins, Harry Mehre, Adam Walsh, Harry Stuhldreher and others made their own interpretations.

The thing that made the "system" successful at South Bend, under Rockne, was his basic method of teaching, rather than the structural character of play. Rockne could make a Zupke, a Stagg or a Doble creation look better than the original. Rock never laid claim to much originality in plays. He contended there was nothing much new, anyway, and that the simplest form of attack was the best and most effective, given the correct performance in the fundamentals of blocking and tackling.

In short, Rockne based his success on drill and execution, rather than originality; on speed, rather than deception; on finesse, in preference to brawn. He popularized lightweight guards, specialized in stalwart ends (making them offensive key men) and adopted silk pants. Aside from the bickhead shift, which was not, of course, a Notre Dame or Rockne creation, there was little in the "system" to transplant which did not require Rockne's touch or method, in order to look like the original.

His Pupils Alert

If the "system" nevertheless is well established about the country, it is due mainly to the fact that Rockne helped turn out an alert, resourceful type of young football player whose natural talents and inclination, after

One of these scouts, after coming back East in time to view the Notre Dame-Army proceedings, opined that the Trojans and the Irish will block each other bow-legged when they meet on December 10 before perhaps 105,000 fanatics in the Olympic Stadium or, if you insist, the Memorial Coliseum.

"The boys made no mistake in selecting Ernie Smith for All-America tackle," reported our roving reporter. "He cuts 'em down like a threshing machine and loves it. He looked to me like the nearest thing to a perfect tackle and his running mate, that standard. On the basis of what Captain Brown, is not far short of Krause and Kurth of Notre Dame showed me, the big game should be an all-time battle of all-star tackles."

Extra Point Blues

Some of the more prominent of our football coaches no doubt would be glad to join a post-season movement looking toward abolishment of that extra point after touchdown, the thin margin that so often separates victory or defeat from a tie.

Among them, our Mr. James Renick of Columbus point out, are "Doc" Spears, whose Wisconsin team lost to Purdue, 7 to 6; Lou Little, whose Columbia Lions met their only defeat of the season at the hands of Brown, 7 to 6; Ossie Solem, whose first Iowa eleven was edged out by Nebraska, 14 to 13; H. J. Mehre of Georgia, whose Bulldogs dropped their opening game to V. P. I., 7 to 6 and Jimmy Phelan, whose Washington Huskies lost a 7 to 6 decision to California.

These are just a few, the season's score will show dozens more. Then, too, there seemed to be an epidemic of safeties, leastwise in Ohio, where there were not less than 23 made during the year, a few accounting for this to the limitations on defensive use of the hands, as nearly all were made from linemen blocking punts.

O. K. With "Rock"

The "floating" wingback seems to be the key to Notre Dame's offensive power this year. This variation of the Warner system may seem heretical at South Bend to followers of the late Knute Rockne, but it should be remembered that "Rock" himself never hesitated to adapt the best he could borrow from other strategists, inasmuch as he freely dispersed his own ideas. He was going in for splinter plays and even double spinners before he died.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

After review of the corporation's loans in an executive meeting members indicated no fault would be found with the administration of the gigantic government agency on the basis of records examined.

This did not include loans made for short periods last summer before the House began to make the action of the corporation public.

Overall farmers had presented a petition for aid to Vice-President Curtis and Speaker Garner.

The President's plan carrying no estimate of economies to be achieved through shifting of federal activities was read to the Senate without evoking comment but the House committee promised to take it up immediately.

The farm petition drafted by the national farming relief interests started a squall of debate as Rep. Howard of Nebraska read it to the House.

Curtis presented it to the Senate. Whenwhile the House ways and means committee pressed toward an agreement on the beer bill.

The joint committee on veterans' legislation took up with Frank Hines the question of economizing on ex-soldiers benefits.

Philippine independence remained the official order of business in the Senate and debate on the issues continued.

Twenty-Three Miners Trapped Harlan, Ky., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Twenty-three men were reported trapped in the Harlan Newell coal mine at Yancey today.

A rescue crew was sent to Yancey, six miles from here, but gases prevented contact with the men believed to be trapped.

The company is one of the largest in the country, had been employing about 300 men on a part-time basis.

Trading was active on the late rally and transactions were about 800,000 shares.

Stock Market

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The stock market remained quiescent today, steadily absorbing ripples of selling, but failing to attract active buying.

Sentiment in brokerage quarters was more cheerful than in the past few days but more bullishly-inclined traders acknowledged they were not sure when an upward impetus will come, or where from, and that corporate earnings were holding close to low levels of the summer.

Oils and a few of the rails were firm for a time but U. S. Steel and American Telephone sagged about a point and copper eased.

Gains of a point or so in Allied Chemical and Case failed to hold. McKeesport was a firm split. Some of the gold mining issues encountered profit-taking.

In the oils, Standard and Texas Corporation were higher temporarily.

BRAMAN WILL FACE TRIAL AT WILLIAMSTON TODAY

(Continued from Page One) additional evidence against the man in an investigation covering a period of four weeks or more. Although it was impossible to estimate the amount of money alleged to have been collected from members of the illicit whiskey traffic it was said that several colored people had complained to officers of Beaman's demands previous to and during the investigation which led to his arrest.

Beaman, after giving up pastoral duties with the Free Will Baptist denomination, was named U. S. Commissioner here about two years ago. He directed several raids of federal prohibition officers here and numbers of defendants found their way to penitentiaries or to the roads from time to time.

For the last year, however, he has been in close contact with county and city law enforcement officers presumably to assist them in apprehending criminals but for the purpose, officers said, of obtaining information concerning bootleggers, many of whom were believed to have paid bribes for information furnished by Beaman.

About NEW YORK

By WILLIAM GAINES

New York, Dec. 9.—It was an inquisitive New York that Clara Bow faced on her first trip back home in three years.

The curiosity of the natives was not unfriendly toward the red-headed actress who made a screen come-back after a two-year retirement, but it was a curiosity which searched for intimate details.

La Bow's arrival was quite an occasion, with many a flashlight booming as she stepped from the train. And at once the eager autograph hunters were upon her trail.

When she reached her hotel, she was besieged by so many interviewers that it was hours before she could have a moment to herself, as the saying goes.

When she did manage to get out, around town, people stared and waved to her in the street, and crowded about the door of any place she entered.

How did Clara like all this? It's my guess that she thought it was simply grand, although she does profess a fondness for some privacy.

Sam Rork, the independent producer who lured her back to the talkies, came East with her and was her guardian angel. Sam is the "old friend of the family" type. Clara spurned fast-stepping company, doing everything she could to put at rest those rumors that a la la was not well between her and her husband, Rex Bell.

Kisses For Clara Her 121 pounds (reduced from 145) fetchingly arrayed, the irrepressible Clara received me in the parlor of her luxurious Fifth Avenue suite.

"All the talk is just because Rex couldn't come with me," she said. "He had to delay his trip to complete a picture."

"Just look at these." She handed me three telegrams she received from Rex. One had just arrived at the hotel, in which he addressed her as "Dearest love baby" and told how he yearned to join her for their European journey. It ended: "Yours with kisses and kisses."

who will direct Jimmy's next picture, came to town to get an eyeful of metropolitan newspaper cameramen in action. Jimmy is going to play a demon photographer who always gets his man (or his woman). The pair arranged to knock about with some tabloid flashlight men on several choice assignments, and seemed to get a big kick out of it.

As everybody expected after the opening night of his Broadway show, Francis Lederer, young Czech matinee idol, was signed to go to Hollywood. Lederer, who has had the local girls ga-ga from the opening curtain, is the 999th candidate for the romantic mantle of the late Valentino.

CORN SUGAR PUTS DRIBE IN OHIO WESLEYAN TEAM Delaware, O., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Coach George Gauthier, of the Ohio Wesleyan University, credits corn sugar with some of the success of his football team this year.

"Ordinary sugar long has been used for the purpose of giving players quick energy," Gauthier explains, "but corn sugar is better. Ordinary sugar must go through the process of digestion in the stomach, while corn sugar is absorbed directly by the blood stream."

Maybe the idea worked, for in at least two games the battling "Bishops" showed marked improvement in their play in the second half.

CHILDREN GO TO SCHOOL IN TAXIS TO SAVE TAXES Rocky River, O., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Riding to and from school in a taxicab would be considered a luxury by most school children, but it is an economy move for pupils of this Cleveland suburb.

To save money school officials closed one of the schools in a sparsely built up section of the suburb, and engaged a taxicab company to carry the children to and from school each day at ten cents each.

The schools save about $5,000 a year by the move, according to Clerk-Treasurer Fred Fenker.

Hints on Contract Bridge Up-to-Date MAKING THE MOST OF A DOUBLE By Tom O'Neil

When the declarer is in trouble with a bad contract, skilled adversaries exact the utmost penalty.

In point is a hand from a rubber game in which an adversary by under-declaring an ace-king set a vulnerable declarer four doubled. Any other method would have confined the set to two tricks.

Mrs. Augusta Dinwiddie attracted immediate attention by her skilled playing after removing recently from New Orleans to New York. Here is a hand in which she was the partner of the veteran expert, William J. Huske:
