POLICEMAN SHOT IN ATTEMPTED BANK ROBBERY

Two Bandits Are Believed Injured In An Attempt To Rob The Bank Of Fountain

YEGGS MAKE ESCAPE IN CAR

J. O. Bryant, Chief of Police of Fountain, suffers bullet wound in leg as he and Trio of Others Frustrate Attempt to Enter Bank at Small Pitt County Town; Bandits Cutting into the Safe When Firing Between Outposts and Officers Begins.

J. O. Bryant, chief of police of the town of Fountain, in the northwest section of Pitt County, was injured as he shot it out with bandits who made an unsuccessful attempt to rob the Bank of Fountain early today.

The officer was said to have received a painful bullet wound in the leg, but his condition was not described as serious. The bandits escaped.

Two of the five men taking part in the attempted robbery were believed by officers to have been wounded in the exchange of gunfire with the officer and three other men who had been called out to their beds to assist the policeman.

Two of the bandits worked on the inside of the bank as two stood on guard on the outside and a third remained at the wheel of an automobile to assist in a quick get-away.

It was the automobile parked in front of the bank about 3 a. m. that attracted the attention of Chief Bryant as he made his round of the town. Realizing that an effort was being made to rob the bank, the officer rushed to the homes of Wm Langley, Dawson Jefferson and Jim Sutton and asked them to aid him in rounding up the bandits.

Armed with shotguns, pistols and rifles, the four men returned to the vicinity of the bank. As they neared the institution, Chief Bryant told the two men posted on the outside to "halt!"

Hardly had the command been made than the bandits opened fire. The officers returned the fire, and it was during the exchange that Chief Bryant was shot in the leg.

Covering their retreat with continued firing, the bandits jumped into the car and fled in the direction of Farmville. The automobile in which they were riding was said to have been a Hudson sedan of the 1929 model.

Officers said the dial had been broken and that the bandits were cutting into the safe when the firing began. Acetylene torches were used in cutting into the safe. It was said, and in their hasty departure the robbers left several feet of hose and two tanks.

Sheriff Whitehurst, who was called to Fountain immediately after the attempted robbery was reported, expressed belief that the bandits were professionals. Every member of the band was believed to have been white, although it was impossible to identify them in the early morning hours.

Resentment flared in congress against the French refusal to meet its debt payment. "France has less excuse not to pay than any other nation," said Rep. Sam D. McReynolds, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee. (Associated Press Photo)

POLICE SEEK CRAZY SLAYER

Second Mutilated Body Found in Tennessee Attributed to Maniac.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Discovery of the second mutilated body within a few days in North Hamilton county today led officers to advance the theory of a maniac slayer.

Officers said the body, that of a white man, was found nude beside a log near Daisy by two brothers. The head, shoulders and arms were missing and Dr. W. H. Cheney, county physician, expressed belief the victim had been killed by a maniac and dismembered to prevent identification.

A few weeks ago the mutilated body of another man was found in the same section and officers today offered the theory that a maniac was responsible for the death of both.

Will Present Pageant Here

A Christmas program arranged around the pageant, "The Star Came," will be given at the Emmanuel Baptist Church Sunday night, December 18, at 7:30 o'clock.

Children from the Sunday school departments are taking the parts of Kings, Wise Men and other characters usually associated with the spirit of Christmas. The program is enacted around a manger where Mary sits beside the crib which holds the baby Jesus. The costumes lovely in their simplicity and colors add much to the beauty and sacredness of the program. Christmas carols are sung throughout the play by the choir. Soft music will be played before and during the program by Miss Eugenia Thomas.

At the close of the play packages wrapped in white will be taken to the front and placed around the manger. These will later be sent to the orphanage at Christmas gifts for the children.

NEW INLET IMPROVED BY THE RECENT STORM

Manteo, Dec. 16.—What a few days ago was thought to be the finish of New Inlet, when the sands were piled upon its ocean bar until there was only a depth of water of around thirteen inches, may yet turn out to be the real agent for enlarging this inlet, only working backwards.

Latin America, says a U. S. survey, has 15 per cent of the potential water power of the world.

TWO NEGROES DIE IN CHAIR

Killers Pay the Death Penalty for Slaying Merchant and Filling Station Man.

Raleigh, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Two negroes were electrocuted at state prison here today. Both were convicted of murder, and one admitted his guilt today.

Harvey Wallace, convicted in Lee county of the murder of a storekeeper at Cummock, and Alec Grier, sentenced for the slaying of a filling station operator, paid the supreme penalty demanded by the law for their crime.

Wallace went to the chair first, being killed by one shot of electricity. He did not change his statement that he did not kill N. H. Perry, storekeeper. The current coursed through his body about one minute and sixty-nine seconds, an unusually long time.

Grier confessed this morning to Warden H. H. Honeysutt that he was guilty of killing Harold Carter while attempting the holdup of his filling station.

It took three shots of more than a minute to take his life.

POU SCORES JAIL SYSTEM

State Prison Head Says State Parole System Has Proven a Farce.

Raleigh, Dec. 16.—(AP)—North Carolina's prison system is proving a school for crime rather than treatment for social ills, George Ross Pou, superintendent, told Governor Gardner in his annual report in which he attacked lack of adequate parole plan.

The present probation and parole system, the report said, "has been more than a farce."

"The condition is due," Pou said, "to the fact that at no time has there been adequate provision for proper supervision of these persons who have been placed on probation or released from prison, or released by means of parole."

CITY SCHOOLS CLOSE TODAY

Basketball Game and Junior Dance Will Mark Closing Activities Tonight.

Greenville public schools closed for observance of the Christmas holidays this afternoon and work will be resumed on January 2.

Numbers of faculty members will leave late today and tomorrow morning for their homes in various sections of the country and will return in time for resumption of work the first of the new year.

Among the activities in connection with the holiday closing will be the football game between high and Raleigh in the high school auditorium tonight and the junior class dance to follow the game.

The coming of Raleigh has been anticipated expectantly by the student body for sometime, and it was expected the largest crowd of the season would be on hand to see the local attempt to vanquish one of the strongest aggregations in the State.

The dance which will be held in the auditorium immediately following the game was also expected to be largely attended and class members were looking forward to it with anticipation.

LEGISLATURE MUST RUN ON LESS MONEY

$20,000 Less to Be Devoted to Operation of General Assembly Next Year.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 16.—(AP)—North Carolina's 1933 General Assembly which will convene here January 4 has an appropriation of $173,535 on which to operate, $20,000 less than the $194,535 appropriated for the 1931 Legislature which was in session five months.

Members of the Assembly are slated to receive $600 for their services, regardless of the time they are in Raleigh. With 120 members of the House and fifty members of the Senate, the salary cost will $102,000.

The rest of the money will be spent for legislative help and supplies. There are numerous committee clerks and stenographic positions to be filled. These posts will provide jobs for many.

The 1931 Legislature appropriated the $173,535 for the 1933 session. The pay of members is fixed by the Constitution. It was based on an average session of sixty days fixed on a per diem pay of $10.

The State's four largest counties, Forsyth, Guilford, Mecklenburg and Wake, will be represented by three members in the House and a Senator each. Apportionment is on the same basis as it was in 1931 session, having failed to redistribute the membership according to the 1930-1931.

Eleven counties will have two representatives. They are Buncombe, Durham, Gaston, Johnston, Nash, New Hanover, Pitt, Robeson, Rockingham, Rowan and Wayne. All others will have only one member of the House.

The fifty Senators are apportioned by districts, but in the case of the largest counties the districts are arranged so they always will be represented in the State Senate.

Lieutenant-Governor-Elect A. H. Graham, of Hillsboro, will be the presiding officer in the Senate, and the House will elect one of its members to the Speakership.

YAMS PRODUCE AT RATE OF 120 BUSHELS ACRE

Hickory, N. C., Dec. 16.—(AP)—A yam field at the rate of 420 bushels per acre was grown here this year by J. F. Allen, who has become a local authority on gardening.

Allen planted a small plot to sweet potatoes, which he measured carefully, and state the seven bushels he harvested would have been 420 bushels if the field had covered an acre.

The total cost of fertilizer and plants for the plot was $7.95. Allen said he gave the plants no more than ordinary care, and added if the summer had not been dry, the yield would have been higher.

SENTO PRISON FOR HAVING KILLED SON

Williamston, Dec. 16.—Believed to have figured in more unnecessary trouble than any man in Martin County in this country, Harvey L. Gardner, who recently shot his son, inflicting a wound from which death resulted, was sentenced here yesterday by Judge Frank Daniels to serve from seven to twelve years. The aged man was immediately turned over to State Prison authorities in Raleigh, and will probably be sent to Caledonia.

He testified he stole a car in Raleigh and went in it to Pine Level, where he held up Waverly C. Jones, the cashier, and took $300. The other three indicted with him were Rufus Wilson, John Hamilton, and Victor Wallace. Barbour pleaded guilty yesterday when trial of the men was started and presentation of testimony against the others was made.

Evidence was to the effect that Barbour and Wilson were together in Pine Level and that Barbour alone went into the bank. Other testimony was that the four men were together before the robbery.

COLD ATTACK VISITS STATE

Week of Rainfall Followed by Lowered Mercury and Snow Flurry Here.

After remaining as docile as a lamb for several days, Old Man Winter launched a new assault on this territory today and indications were that the mercury would set a new seasonal record if it continued to fall this afternoon as it did during the morning.

The cold snap followed in the wake of rainfall which started the latter part of last week and continued until yesterday morning. Clouded skies gave forth a slight flurry of snow about three o'clock this morning and a few flakes were reported seen about 10 o'clock. With the skies still leaden at the noon hour there was every indication the section might see more of the snowman before the cold spell is broken.

This is the third cold snap of the winter. The second about two weeks ago was one of the coldest in years and resulted in additional demands being made on the coal men who up to that time experienced only a mild flurry of business caused by the brief visit of winter a short time before.

The mercury at 11 o'clock this morning tumbled to 28 degrees. It was reported by B. T. Clark, director of the local government weather bureau. This lacked two degrees of being as cold as the cold snap two weeks ago when the reading was given at 26 degrees.

With temperatures showing a further downward trend at the noon hour it was believed the record of the former cold attack would be equalled if not exceeded.

Bank Robbery Case Before Jury

Smithfield, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The state of three men charged with robbing the Bank of Pine Level on August 30 rested with a Johnston county jury today.

The jury started its consideration shortly after noon.

This morning Ralph Barbour pleaded guilty to similar charges and took the stand to absolve his three companions of any guilt.

He testified he stole a car in Raleigh and went in it to Pine Level, where he held up Waverly C. Jones, the cashier, and took $300. The other three indicted with him were Rufus Wilson, John Hamilton, and Victor Wallace. Barbour pleaded guilty yesterday when trial of the men was started and presentation of testimony against the others was made.

Roosevelt Plan To Meet Huge Improvement Cost To Receive Early Action

BOGUS DOCTOR IS SENT TO JAIL

Dan Harris Sentenced to Fifteen Years in Prison for Attack on Girl.

Raleigh, Dec. 16.—(AP)—"Dr." Dan C. Harris, self-styled cancer specialist who was convicted yesterday of having carnal knowledge of a female under 16 years of age, was sentenced to ten to fifteen years in the state prison after Judge N. A. Sinclair denied a motion to set aside the verdict because of alleged irregularities in the trial.

His counsel announced today they would appeal the case.

S.C. WATCHMAN PUT TO DEATH

E. S. Howell Electrocutted for Shooting Man Who Attacked His Wife.

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 16.—(AP)—O. E. S. Howell, former Sumter night watchman, was electrocuted in state prison here today at 10:13 for the murder of E. Hart Williams, Sumter filling station operator who Howell's wife pointed out as the man who had attacked her.

Howell went to his death calmly. Three shots were necessary to kill him. He told death row witnesses as he sat strapped in the chair: "I feel like I done what anybody would have done under the circumstances."

NAME CHAMBER COMMITTEEMEN

Pres. Stroud Appoints Members of Various Departments of New Organization Here.

President Stroud of the Chamber of Commerce appointed three important committees to serve during the year 1933.

The finance committee is composed of J. Herbert Waldrop, chairman; C. Heber Forbes and J. J. White. This committee will have jurisdiction over all matters relating to the finances of the Chamber. They shall make a report at each annual meeting as to the financial condition of the organization and in case the income is not sufficient, this committee shall make recommendations as to some method of securing more funds.

K. W. Cobb was appointed chairman of the membership committee; J. B. Kittrell, John Mitchell, W. S. Brown and J. G. Clark were also made members of this committee. The committee on membership shall devise plans to secure more members. To this committee shall be referred all applications for membership.

J. H. Blount was made chairman of the Trade-Expansion Committee. Other members are: S. T. White, C. M. Warren, C. W. Parsons, Curtis Perkins, E. L. Baker, J. W. Farmer, J. E. Winslow and E. W. Griffin. The work of this committee includes establishing closer relations with outlying trade through personal acquaintance trips to rural communities, featuring special retail sales days, such as "Dollar Days," "Suburban Days, Profit-Sharing Days, and others; Promotion Christmas Shopping Days, Window Displays, Parades, Music, Spritz and Fall Concessions, and other attractions.

In a few days President Stroud will announce members of several other committees such as Legislative Committee, Committee on Taxation, Athletic Committee, the Committee on Civics.

SEN. BYRNES PUSHES PLAN

South Carolinian Is Pushing Measure and hopes to Receive Decision Before Session is Over; Legislation Regarded as In Step with Democratic Program; Mills Is Reported Against It.

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The Roosevelt plan—sponsored in the Senate yesterday by Senator Byrnes of South Carolina—to meet huge prominent improvement costs by long term bond issue—is due for early attention in Congress.

As a member of the important appropriations committee Senator Byrnes, friend of President-elect Roosevelt, is advancing the legislation and hopes for a decision before the session ends.

This legislation is regarded as one of the key steps in the program of the incoming Democratic administration to balance the treasury budget. It would transfer from the taxpayers of today the huge burden of financing permanent improvements.

By lending the expenditure to long term issues it was the belief of Democratic leaders that much of the short term government paper now in the financial channels would be disposed of and the way opened for new credit to industry.

Secretary Mills has withheld final opinion on the proposal but those who have questioned him gained the impression he did not regard it favorably.

Brazil's Debts Cut By Paying Pressing Bills

Rio de Janeiro, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Brazil seeking to ease her $800,000,000 Federal and State foreign debt burden, and at the same time satisfy creditors, has paid $35,000,000 on the most pressing obligations this year according to semi-official banking sources.

The payments include $11,700,000 paid by the Federal government for funding and amortization in London and New York. The others have been funding operations by state governments and payments on coffee loans.

To Prune State Debts. To meet the problem of state and municipal foreign indebtedness, which takes up more than 40 per cent of the lump sum, a government commission has suggested that the Federal government sanction agreements between creditors and debtors in line with "financial and economic possibilities of debtor states."

The proposal was advanced by Major Juarez Tavora, who has studied the state foreign question for the Federal government.

He has pointed out that revenue of some states does not equal interest charges on defaulted obligations.

Pay Rothschilds First. Refunding and other agreements are proposed as cures for state and municipal issues which require such surgical methods.

The Federal government, by drastic exchange control, has concentrated on paying off a $20,000,000 debt to Rothschilds of London and then proceeding with its funding plan.

When payment of the Rothschild obligation is completed, the treasury will be in a much better position to tackle its foreign debt problem as a whole.

7 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Meet THE NEW PRESIDENT!

By WILLIAM GAINES
New York, Dec. 16.—Children get lost in New York just like needles in a haystack.
They get separated from their mothers for a moment and the surge of humanity sweeps them still further apart. Or the kids get frightened in strange places and run in the opposite direction. Then the walls begin, with children and parents out of earshot of each other.
Sympathetic persons flock about the lost child. At some other point would-be helpers flutter around the screaming mother. The situation at both ends seems very complicated and almost hopeless for awhile. But it seldom is that bad.
Usually some level-headed individual thinks to call a policeman to take care of the child. The officer takes the straying to the precinct station. And sooner or later the excited mother is guided there by some other calm adviser.
If the child is not called for at the police station by 9 p. m. the law requires that he be turned over to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. In 1931, out of all of the thousands of children who strayed or were temporarily misplaced, only 213 were delivered to the society. In five years the total reached 956. Of these only one was left in the society's hands, unidentified.

By WALTER T. BROWN
(Associated Press Staff Writer Who Accompanied Roosevelt On His Campaign)
Albany, N. Y., Dec. 16.—(AP)—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt has many interests but few hobbies. He is a stamp collector of renown and he collection of books on the navies of the world is notable.
The last few years have been such busy ones that Mr. Roosevelt has not been able to devote much time to the stamps. Occasionally, however, he has an hour when he goes over his stamp books.
The President-elect carries on a correspondence with stamp collectors he never has met. An Indianapolis youth has written Mr. Roosevelt for several years. He first wrote him about a rare stamp in the Roosevelt collection.
When the Democratic standard-bearer visited Indianapolis the young stamp collector managed to shake his hand.
Mr. Roosevelt rides and swims before he was stricken with infantile paralysis he was a golfer.
Poker playing was one of the President-elect's diversions before the business of statecraft occupied his time. Occasionally on the yearly trips to Warm Springs, Ga. he would sit in with newspaper correspondents accompanying him.

A lasting tribute to his card playing ability is a row of straight flush hands on the wall of an exclusive club near Washington. There are seven of these hands, and that is all that have been held in the club.
Two of these are labeled "F. D. Roosevelt."
Albany, N. Y., Dec. 16.—(AP)—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt's friendliness and conversational facility often present a problem to Guernsey T. Cross, James Mahoney and others of his secretarial staff.
Frequently, the secretaries find themselves with an outer office of visitors on their hands and Mr. Roosevelt talking twenty minutes with an individual allotted five.
The President-elect is an eager seeker of information and, if the actual visitor is well acquainted with some one subject that has intrigued

Mr. Roosevelt's fancy but which he has been unable to pursue, that visitor likely will remain much longer than the secretaries intend.
There is no formality about a visit with Mr. Roosevelt. If his hours at the State capital are crowded, he likely will invite the caller to have dinner at the mansion, or drop in after dinner or see him at breakfast.
Once or twice a week the Executive Mansion household attends the movies in an improvised theater on an upper floor of the old house.
Mr. Roosevelt and his guests may have important matters to discuss; there may be appeals to save men from the electric chair to be decided before the next day; or there may be impending important conferences with party leaders or legislators—but all these are pushed aside for the session at the movies.
The Roosevelts and their guests occupy the front seats in the theater, and the servants and other attendants sit behind them.
The show over, Mr. Roosevelt goes back to his tasks, and all other subjects are sidetracked for the business at hand.

March Madness
When Fredric March, the current cinema rave, was playing stock under his real name of Frederick Bickel he had a season in a company in Dayton, Ohio. Mill Caniff, the artist, was an actor in those days and happened to be a member of the Dayton Stock Company. He tells this yarn:
Bickel had some words with the manager of the outfit and handed his notice to the woman who owned the company. The play that week was "Madame X." Bickel said little about the quarrel through the week, but on the last night of the play, with his trunks packed and his pay in his pocket, he spoke his mind plenty.
The woman owner was playing Madame X, and in the scene when Bickel, playing the young attorney defending his mother in a murder trial, stood to sum up the case he let loose.
He punctuated the impassioned plea for mercy with poisoned darts at the woman herself who sat agape in the prisoner's box. She couldn't think quickly enough to control the situation, and the panic was on. The cast was convulsed (knowing the feud between the two). The audience was mystified at first, but soon got the drift, as Bickel's asides called their attention to her well known Shylock tactics.
Bickel finished his blow-off and when the play was over blew the town while she blew up.

MONEY IN CABBAGE
Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 13.—(AP)—An increased income from cabbage amounting to over $10,000 by reason of using good seed was secured by growers in the late producing area of North Carolina comprising nine mountain counties.
H. R. Niswonger, extension horticulturist at N. C. State College, said today.
Niswonger said for every dollar invested in this improved seed a return of $25 was secured above the cost of the seed and that the difference would have been greater had it not been for the extremely dry season this year cutting normal production by one-half.
In Jackson County, one of the leading cabbage producing counties of the mountains, the average seasonal price was $14 a ton, and the value of the increase by reason of better seed amounted to at least $5,000, he estimated.
The new seed used by the mountain growers is known as the Reed strain of the Danish variety and was introduced into that section five years ago by Niswonger in his work with the county farm agents.

RECIPE for the best French-fried Potatoes you ever tasted!

You're going to find that French-fried Potatoes are delicious and digestible—IF—they're fried in Crisco. Crisco is a pure, sweet fat that makes foods taste better, digest more easily.
Paré 5 or 6 potatoes. Cut into strips 1/2 inch thick. Soak in cold or chilled water one hour. Drain. Dry thoroughly between towels, so they won't spatter. Fill ordinary saucepan two-thirds full of Crisco, the digestible vegetable fat. Heat Crisco. It is correct frying heat when thin cube of bread browns in 30 seconds (300° F.). Fry potatoes to rich brown. (OR—fry potatoes in the morning to very delicate brown. Then, just before mealtime, reheat Crisco and finish frying.) Drain on unglazed paper. Sprinkle with salt. My, how good they'll taste because Crisco is a sweet, digestible vegetable fat! Don't throw away the Crisco you fry with. Strain it—and fry with it again and again. Crisco does not carry the flavor of one fried food to any other.

"FRENCH FRIED" but... don't endanger his digestion with the WRONG fat!

Do you think you have to wait for your frying fat to smoke before it's hot enough to fry in? Then—beware. Smoke tells you that fat is burning. And a burnt fat is a decomposed fat. Why risk painful indigestion with a decomposed fat?
Fry with Crisco and treat your digestion kindly. Crisco is a pure, wholesome fat, made by Crisco's own secret process to keep sweet and fresh and digestible.

Don't wait for Crisco to smoke. Crisco does not smoke at correct frying heat (see directions in recipe). It is sweet and pure and digestible when it gets into your stomach, duodenum and small intestine. These are the danger points where a burnt fat may irritate and cause indigestion.
You never ate such delicious and digestible French-fried Potatoes as you'll get when you fry with Crisco—the digestible fat.

Cheap fats may turn rancid or indigestible
CRISCO [IN VACUUM TIGHT CAN] stays fresh and digestible

In the cooking school recently conducted under the auspices of the Reflector, Miss Louise Dixon used and recommended Crisco, the Modern shortening that digests easily.

Ask Your Doctor Two Important Questions

How Many Minerals Does the Body Contain? Why Are Minerals and Vitamins So Essential to Bodily Health?

When your doctor names the Mineral elements of the body write down the list carefully. Take this list to your druggist and ask to see a bottle of LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, the marvelous new formula that is bringing health to thousands. Compare the Doctor's list with the label on the bottle and you'll find, without exception, every one of the essential Minerals are contained in this famous compound. That's the reason for its amazing success. It's Nature's own way to health.

OUR WONDERFUL BODIES
Strange as it may seem, these wonderful bodies of ours consist of a very limited list of fundamental chemical elements. It is now known that only eleven minerals and five gases are needed by Nature in building the strongest man or the most beautiful woman.

OUR BODIES ARE ROBBED
All of these essential Minerals and gases are present in natural foods but improper cooking and an unbalanced diet rob us of these vital elements. The system becomes charged with acid. Indigestion and Constipation follow. We become nervous and irritable; subject to headaches, fail to get the proper rest at night, become weak and listless and good health deserts us.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood, Calif., Dec. 16.—Rambles behind the reels:

Richard Halliburton, writer-adventurer who swam the Hellespont and accomplished other glamorous feats, took the count from Hollywood—and on his first day as a star. Appearing in Walter Futter's production of "Jade" he had to make rain sequences the first thing. Result, flu—and so to bed.

Betty Compton is still officially Mrs. James Cruze, although Hollywood considers them divorced. She never bothered to get her final decree. "Just a precaution," she says, "to keep me from leaping hastily into matrimony again." The two are, of course, friends.

Buck Jones in New Role

The Western stars are stepping out of their class. Buck Jones appears in a civilian role with Nancy Carroll in "Child of Manhattan," and now John Wayne, who finally emerged as an open-spaces star after his great beginning in "The Big Trail," plays a prize-fighter with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. in "Sucker."

Dolores Ray, the Broadway actress who hated Hollywood and plined for the bright lights when she arrived, has changed her mind and now is trying to get ahead in pictures.

It costs Paramount $2,200 a week to provide for Kate Smith's broadcasting from this coast during her film engagement, which isn't allowed to interrupt her ether warbling.

A Wig For Julie

Julie Hayden plans to play her first big role, opposite Richard Dix in "The Great Jasper," wearing a dark wig. Can that have any relation to the fact that her resemblance to Ann Harding has been noted often? It can, and does. No actress like to be eclipsed as a new edition of a star—especially when the two are on the same lot.

There's a possibility that G. B. Stern's novel, "The Man Who Pays the Piper," may serve Ann Harding as a vehicle. Miss Stern, noted English novelist newly under contract to Radio, uses her initials only, because she loathes the name of Gladys. Her friends call her "Petter."

India's population has increased more than 10 per cent in a decade. Japan's rubber footwear industry.

Rules Co-Ed Circus

Kinston, Dec. 16.—Sterling Mason, negro, was under sentence to twelve to fifteen years in the penitentiary today for robbing the home of Mrs. Laura Brogden in North Kinston. He submitted to a second degree burglary charge in Superior Court. Authorities had expected him to be convicted of first degree burglary. Persons were sleeping in the house when Mason looted it.

The negro stole jewelry and money. A part of the loot was in his pockets when detectives arrested him. On a bracelet were the names of all the members of the Brogden family.

JELLY BEAR EXPLAINS

By Mary Grhm Bonner

"How did you ever get in the pantry window?" Willy Nilly asked. "It's not very big."

"I know that, oh, I know that," said Jelly Bear. "I never would have been able to get in after I had had my feast as I would have been too fat."

"It was a tight squeeze as it was. I almost got stuck half-way through the window. But I managed to roll in somehow."

"It would have served you right to have been stuck," said Flotilla Botilla, "but still it would have been so hard on you that I'm glad you didn't."

"Maybe I could knock down some more apples and you could make more jelly," Jelly Bear suggested. "Aren't there some other apple trees around?"

"Well, yes," Willy Nilly answered slowly, "but do you mean for us to make jelly for the winter or for you to eat it up as soon as we get it made? Making jelly is a lot of trouble."

"Oh, I would only want another little taste," Jelly Bear grinned. "I really must start my winter sleep soon; so you'll be safe from my appetite."

"You see, I'll explain. I only need a little more to eat and then I'm ready for a good long sleep."

"Have you any old caves around here where I could put up for the winter?"

"Maybe we could find you one," said Willy Nilly.

"And then," continued Jelly Bear, "I'd be no trouble at all. Of course when I first woke up in the spring I'd be mighty hungry, but after that I'd just have a regular Bear appetite and I wouldn't eat you all the way out of house and home."

ABOUT TOWN

Information that Santa Claus will be on the streets of Greenville December 21 will be of interest to children and grown-ups alike.

The appearance of Old Saint Nick person saint of millions of children throughout the world, always causes a thrill to course up and down the spinal column of everybody, whether it be man, woman or child and Greenville will look forward expectantly to the coming of the cherry old gentleman.

Additional significance is given to his coming by the fact that he will distribute gifts just how he will make the distribution has not been made known but everybody will be apprised of the condition of the gift giving before the date set for his coming.

Thousands of people throng the business district of the city during days preceding the Yuletide but it is easy to surmise that the largest crowd will be present the day Saint Nick walks up and down the streets distributing gifts among those fortunate enough to receive them.

In fact, Greenville childhood will surely embrace and the welcome accorded Santa Claus will be one of the most profound ever before given a character in the business district.

Countries that paid their war debt installments to the United States will receive due recognition for meeting the obligation, and those that did not—well, it is difficult to say what will become of them.

The nation cannot take any definite action to force collection of the installment, but the integrity of the nation that defaulted will be questioned by the remainder of the world for years to come. It is an easy matter to tell a debtor you will not pay him an honest obligation, but it is difficult to live down the stigma which will follow in the wake of the declaration.

Great Britain will not suffer for leading the way in installment paying. She will forever receive the support of this government but these that did not come across in proper style will have to wait many a day before this country will again send soldiers on the other side of the ocean to protect their properties against invading hosts as was done in the world war.

The Salvation Army plea for funds to make the Christmas stocking actually this year continues to be heard from one end of the city to the other, and it is probable the fund will swell considerably by the time stocking-hanging receives attention.

Members of the organization are doing their best to make Christmas happier for the hundreds of poor children this year, and if the public contributes as it should there is no reason on earth why every stocking should not be filled to capacity.

The least we can do is to carry cheer to the fireless of those whose lives are drab because of lack of employment the last several months and if we do that we should be in position to more thoroughly enjoy what Santa Claus provides for our own fireless.

First shopping days to Christmas is the warning sent out by millions of merchants of the nation at this time and those who take advantage of the admonition will not only be able to get the best to be had but will relieve employees of some of the tremendous strain of the day before Christmas.

Stores in every city of the nation are filled to capacity with gifts for the season of good-will and those who make it a habit to shop early should obtain the best to be had in every field of merchandising.

Greenville merchants are doing their best to render the highest type of service to their patrons and it is hoped everybody living within a radius of a hundred miles or more will visit the city and take advantage of the splendid bargains.

Merchants on the highways of the

Buying Barbara

by Julia Cleft-Adams • Author of "YOU CAN'T HARRY"

SYNOPSIS: Mark Lodely has found someone to finish his work, and hurries from the Kings Mallard bank as fast as his crutch will permit. Outside, in the old Yarn Market, waits his fiancée, and unknown to both, Farrell Armistage, the wealthy protegee of the Vicar of Kings Mallard. Armistage awaits Leila, daughter of Sir James Cane. Cane is the surviving member of the long since defunct firm of Quentin, Lodely & Cane. The Quentins and Lodelys were impoverished by the crash; Cane was not. Mark's mother has cheated for years the memory of a telegram she saw Cane stuff into his pocket the day her husband committed suicide—a bankrupt.

Chapter 5

"LET ME GO!" SHE GASPED

Farrell looked about him. He was walking along the sea side and Leila had said she would be in this neighborhood at about this time. She could give him a lift back to South-Water, Cane's big white house on the bay.

Out of the entrance to High Street a big truck came clattering; it had no lights and Armistage thought it was being driven too fast. As it plunged towards him across the clear space of the Yarn Market, he was abruptly recalled to his own immediate foreground. On his left was the sea wall; parked alongside it was a second truck also with no lights. As Armistage's eyes fell upon it, a girl in dark furs darted out of its shadow and began to run swiftly out into the Yarn Market, towards the bank.

A slight bruise was forming on the edge of his jaw and he wanted to make her beg his pardon for it. At the same time he hated to embarrass her.

He was soon near enough to her to see that the figure she supported was that of a man, a cripple, apparently, for a crutch had slithered a foot or two away. Armistage lengthened his stride, but as he stepped on to the pavement Leila Cane's scarlet roadster slid out of the bottleneck of High Street and drew up before the bank. Armistage could see the gleam of Leila's eyes as she leaned over the side of the gay little car. Her voice rang high in the crisp evening.

"Barbara Quentin? What is it? Can I help?"

The girl had drawn the cripple to his feet. Armistage was now at her elbow, but she ignored him, answering Leila in a voice that was at once soft yet lingeringly clear.

"Mark has slipped on some orange peel. He's very shaken. Could you take him home. . . . Oh, but Mark, it's only three spaces and Leila will help you get in. Do try, Mark!"

Here, ease over on to me!" protested Armistage, as he heard the Barbara girl's breath quicken under the strain of supporting Mark; but short of re-arranging the whole grouping, he could not lighten her burden to any great extent.

"You've done it," encouraged Leila from the wheel. "Sit back, now Mark, you're all right. I'll have you home in five minutes. . . . Hop in amongst the jam-pots in the rumble Barbara? No? . . . Oh, it's you, Farrell! I wasn't sure. No room for Tonight, a pearly-pale face with dark brows and firm, sweet lips looked up into his through the chill of dusk; and the beauty of all other women was wiped out of his life, utterly and forever.

He was extraordinarily moved. The lost dream was in his heart and the voice of the dream in his ears—"This is she O blind and careless—this is she."
"I don't think any severe damage was done," he said, steadying his voice by an effort. "When people are really smashed up, they can't bear to be touched, you know. Honesty, you needn't worry."
She turned away in silence and began to walk towards the High Street. Armistage looked after her. She swung round and came back.

"I forgot to say that I am sorry I struck you," she said gravely. "I made a mistake."
"You didn't hurt me," said Armistage, also gravely.

"No," she admitted. "I don't suppose I did. But I wanted to."

Farrell makes up his mind, tomorrow to a course that may mean tragedy.

Talks to Parents

By ALICE JUDSON PEALE

In a class discussion of truthfulness the teacher was making an effort to help the children clarify their ideas as to when, if ever, truth was permissible.

It was decided that there were occasions when it was better to lie than to tell the truth. One had to lie sometimes to keep from hurting people's feelings; to keep from them a piece of information, the knowledge of which would make someone unnecessarily worried and unhappy without doing any good.

It was agreed that in certain instances it is not always easy to decide whether it is more moral to lie than to tell the truth.

At this point in the discussion a big boy blurted out: "Well there isn't any excuse for the way our parents lie to us!"
"What do you mean?"

At this the class cried almost in a chorus. "All those stories about the Easter rabbit and Santa Claus and the stork!"

It was easy to see here that the universal resentment concerned not the first two deceptions but the last. "Yes," the children went on. "They tell us all that nonsense about babies lying on lily pads and about the stork bringing them and dropping them down the chimney."
"Nobody but a baby would believe that, and they expect us to. If we don't, they act as if we were doing something wicked."

"When I told my mother I didn't believe her she just wouldn't speak to me any more. You call that being truthful?"

"If our parents can lie like that I don't see why we can't lie too. I lie to my mother just for spite because I know she doesn't tell me the truth either."

"Goody, goody," she cried. "It really is a magic basket. I'm going to take it back to Toyland and I'll take the magic bottle of water back to the woods fairy, but I guess we can keep the little gold mirror until we find the princess to whom it belonged when the witch took it."
"Why don't we get help for all these other people who have to go home?" suggested Pinocchio.

With a sweeping bow, Pinocchio returned the magic water bottle to the little woods fairy.

the right size for some person in the crowd—little ones for the dolls and big ones for the knights. And of course, the woods animals didn't need any.

Then they all started out from the witch's mountain to go home. Half way through the woods the whole company stopped because there stood the little woods fairy smiling because the two dolls had come back safely.

Pinocchio hopped out of the doll's carriage and with a big sweeping bow returned the little water bottle she had lent them.

"Without your help we would not have been successful," she said. "Thank you so much." And then they rode on.

At last they saw the roofs of Toyland, and at the crossing of the roads the whole company stopped. The dolls bade goodby to the rest because, you see, no one but toys are permitted in the fairyland where Santa works.

"Then Pinocchio and Inga and the dolls hurried on to find Santa."

FEES TO ATTORNEYS PUBLISHED IN LENOIR

Kinston, Dec. 16.—According to the county auditor's records, F. E. Wallace and the firm of Wallace & White, serving as county attorneys since 1928, have received for all services for the five years, 1928 to date in 1932, $9,571.20.

Of this amount $3,102.20 has been paid this year and Mr. Wallace states that there are some fees due his firm for tax foreclosures and other services rendered and pending. The exact amount of these accruals is promised for later publication, when the amounts can be accurately determined. In this connection there are quite a few matters pending which Mr. Wallace, it is understood, has agreed to transfer to the new whole-time attorney, William C. Douglass, who was elected.

Barbara's breath quickened under the strain.

The bulk of the stationary truck hid her from the driver of the oncoming vehicle and if she heard his groaning and rattle she was oblivious. Armistage shot out a long arm and plucked her back; she half fell against his shoulder and incomprehensively to himself, he laughed.

"Let me go!" she gasped furiously. She swung her free hand up and struck him smartly on the jaw. He laughed again—this time with conscious enjoyment—and then the dark mass of the second truck crashed past them.

"Oh!" cried the girl. In the next second she had wrenched herself free and resumed her dash across the open space. Armistage, watching her, saw that she made for the bank. He screwed up his eyes and discerned a figure crumpled upon the steps. The girl was bending over it.

It seemed to him fitting that he should cross the Yarn Market also state during the approaching holidays should lend their ears to the plea to drive carefully.

The highways will be filled with people in a hurry to reach their homes in time for the visit of Old Saint Nick and some may become careless and take chances they wouldn't take otherwise. This makes it judicious for everybody to pay attention to the condition of the road and attempt to drive slowly and carefully where traffic is the heaviest.

SANTA and the MAGIC DOLL

SYNOPSIS: A cruel witch is burned by Inga and Pinocchio, two of Toyland's dolls, after they had been helped by a woods fairy who disguised them as foxes. As the witch burns, nearby rocks turned into people who had also been under the witch's spell. Inga has a magic gold mirror.

Chapter IX THE MAGIC BASKET

All the people and dolls and woods animals that Inga and Pinocchio had freed clustered about them and thanked them, and there was much merrymaking.

"Now we can go back to Toyland with you," shouted the dolls. There were tin soldiers, lady dolls, red-leather dogs and little black monkeys that Santa had lost many years before.

"Oh, Santa will be so glad to see you," said Inga, clasping her hands. "First I must get my mirror out of the cave. So they waited until the smoke had blown out of the passage and then Inga and Pinocchio and some knights went in together.

"You've forgotten my crutch, Barbara," called the cripple and she ran round with it. Armistage saw her lay her hand on the tin fingers.

"Mark is the pain bad? Are you much hurt?"

"How on earth can I tell? I may have broken something. Tell Fort I must have that canvas—bring it yourself if he has no one he can send."

"I will—I promise I will. But wouldn't it be better if I came home with you first—"

"No, it wouldn't. Go to Fort's at once or he'll be shut."

Leila let the crutch in, nodded to Armistage and drove off. The Barbara girl turned fiercely upon the orange peel that had caused the accident and kicked it into the gutter.

"It's monstrous," she said, "that people should leave it lying about. It might be dangerous to anybody—even to a strong person. Think what it may mean to Mark!"

Her voice grew softer as she grew angrier—softer and clearer. She looked up at Armistage in the half-dark and he saw that her face held that same quality of clear, soft strength.

Her eyes were dark—he guessed them a very dark hazel, but he could not be sure; they were heavily lashed and the brows above them were dark and perhaps a little heavy for the child-like face. Armistage had admired many beautiful women while he was money-making and women more beautiful still was ready and willing to help him spend what he had made.

THIS is Chevrolet Week throughout America. And the new car that millions have been watching and waiting for—the latest product of the world's leading builder of automobiles—is now on display: the New Chevrolet Six—at a new scale of low prices. Front, side, rear—inside, outside—everything about this new car is advanced, improved, exciting. Longer wheelbase makes it the biggest automobile in today's low-price field. The latest principle of car design, "Aer-Stream" styling, gives it a totally different, ultra-modern appearance. The new Fisher bodies are larger, wider—faultlessly streamlined—swung lower to the road—and offer the first basic improvement in travel comfort in over ten years: Fisher No-Draft Ventilation. Chevrolet performance in every gear is faster, flashier, more brilliant. The time-proved six-cylinder engine is more powerful as well as more economical. Improved Free Wheeling is combined with a "silent second" Syncro-Mesh gear-shift. Chevrolet engineers have developed a remarkable new invention that wins a complete victory over vibration: The Cushion-Balanced Engine Mounting. And as far as prices are concerned, several models now sell at the lowest figures in Chevrolet history. Chevrolet is able to do all this because Chevrolet has the advantage of being the world's largest builder of cars for 4 out of the past 6 years. Chevrolet builds cars in greater volume—buys materials in greater quantities—does everything on a bigger, more economical scale. Hence, Chevrolet is in a position to provide a better car at a better price than could possibly issue from any other source. The leader can accomplish what others dare not try!

RALEIGH TO MEET LOCAL FIVE TONIGHT

The basketball team of the two Raleigh High Schools will come to Greenville tonight determined to put one game in the win column and the Greenville High team will be equally determined to keep a game out of the loss column. Raleigh has played several practice games, and has yet to win a game, while Greenville has both of its practice games on the right side of the ledger, although each game was won by only a small margin. The game will start at 8 o'clock sharp.

The starting line-up for Raleigh will be Statistky and Holding, forwards; Poe, center, and Chappell and Graham, guards. Greenville's starting line-up will probably be Hardee and Gibbs, forwards; Warren, center, and Taylor and Madrin, guards. Several others, among them Hodges, Wilson and Windham will probably see action.

Tonight's game will mark the first time that the two schools have met since 1929. That year the locals took the first game by a 28-24 score and Raleigh took the second by a 30-25 count. The game tonight will be in the nature of the deciding game of a three-game series. It should be a hard-fought battle between two evenly matched teams.

VEILED PROPHET FESTIVAL CREATES WORK FOR 1,000

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Preparations for the Veiled Prophet carnival, annual fall celebration in St. Louis, provided employment for more than 1,000 persons this year. About one hundred persons were needed to make costumes, and 200 to help stage the parade, one of the main features of the festival.

Some 165 band musicians were engaged for the procession, in addition to a concert orchestra for the Veiled Prophet ball, two dance orchestras and an orchestra to play at the supper in honor of the Veiled

DUKE GRID TEAM FACES 9 GAMES, '33

Durham, Dec. 16.—Duke University's 1933 football team will play nine games, six of them in Duke Stadium according to the schedule for next year which was announced yesterday.

Four of the games are with members of the Southern Conference while three members of the newly formed southeastern group will be met. Davidson and Wake Forest, state foes complete the list. Washington and Lee does not appear on the 1933 card.

Of the six games to be played at home are contests with Tennessee and Auburn, the two leading teams of the Southern Conference last season. The Vols will come here October 14 while Auburn will appear in the stadium November 4. Others listed at home are V. W. I. Wake Forest, North Carolina and North Carolina State.

Duke officials have been in communication with Carolina all fall in regard to the formation of their 1933 grid schedules and all conflicts except three have been avoided. Duke officials still have hopes that those can be eliminated. They are: Sept. 30, Duke-V. M. I. at Durham; Carolina-Davidson at Chapel Hill; Oct. 14, Duke-Tennessee at Durham; Carolina-Georgia Tech at Chapel Hill; Nov. 4, Duke-Auburn at Durham; Carolina-State at Raleigh.

PAINT AND 'SILENCERS' MAKE TAME GEESSE DECOYS

AMARILLO, Texas, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Lloyd Liston, camp manager on a ranch near Amarillo, found the goose hunting season upon him without any decoys. Catching the tame geese about the camp, he painted their backs, necks and heads black, with a splash of white on their throats, and staked them in a field.

When the wild geese swooped down the first time, the decoys began squawking and frightened the wild birds away. Liston, not to be denied, took pieces of string and tied the bills, of the tame geese. The flight decoyed in again and Liston killed two.

A. C. C. MEETS STATE QUINT AT RALEIGH

Raleigh, Dec. 16.—Basketball quints of Atlantic Christian College and N. C. State met here tonight at 7:30 in the Frank Thompson gymnasium.

A large crowd is expected to turn out for tonight's battle as the game prizes off of State's winter court schedule calling for 18 games.

Coach Ray R. Semon will likely start a Red Terror quint composed of four letter men and one newcomer to the varsity. The seasoned men are Jimmy Brown and Ralph Johnson, forwards; and Gilbert Clark and Allen Nelms, guards. George Beaghen, a member of the 1931 freshman team, will be at center. Beaghen was not in school last season.

SPORT SLANTS By ALAN GOULD

Jack Mookley, Cornell's veteran track coach, thinks the metric standard newly adopted for this country by the A. A. U. will lead to considerable confusion, especially in schoolboy ranks, and that some falling out of interest may result. But it seems to me the radical character of the change itself will react to the benefit of American track and field sports.

Nothing arouses youthful interest in these events so much as the Olympics, which glorify the sprinter, the distance runner and the weight tosser. In an Olympic year track and field sports get more publicity than in the preceding three all over the world.

Since all the Olympic footraces are at the metric distances, readjustments for the time being are necessary, for the American athletes as well as their followers, accustomed to yards and miles, instead of meters and kilometers.

Under such conditions a world standard is not only desirable and sensible but likely to have a stimulating effect. The readjustment of ideas and arrangements would not be so great as is required almost annually, for example, in college football with its ever-shifting regulations.

Furthermore, it would obviate the necessity of re-measuring the big college tracks every four years for Olympic trials and competition.

One of the incidents of the Olymp-

New York Cotton

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Cotton futures closed steady, 1 point lower to two higher, with lower Liverpool cables and a forecast of bad weather.

If anything the market was a shade steadier after the call with January holding around 5.88 and May 6.00 at the end of the first half hour, or about one to two points higher.

After selling up to 5.90 for January and 6.13 for May, or about 3 to 5 points higher, the market reacted slightly.

Prices at mid-day were holding around yesterday's close.

Table with columns for Jan, Mar, May, July, Oct, Dec and prices for various cotton grades.

Stock Market

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Stocks again slid down grade in a sluggish market today. Coppers and oils were adversely affected by the price situation and both industrial and steel shares were under pressure with U. S. Steel pfld. dragged down with the rest of the list.

Steel preferred lost a couple of points and issues losing a point or so were Steel common, American Can, Santa Fe, National Biscuit and Westinghouse.

Case and Union Pacific lost two. Gold stocks were firm and tobacco were temporarily a little higher.

Some further buying of professionals caused bullish activities in Aviation Corporation.

Prices fluctuated narrowly about the earlier low points.

Transfers totaled 900,000 shares.

Fails to Form Cabinet Paris, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Camille Chautemps, who told Pres. LeBrun yesterday that he would try to form a cabinet to succeed that of Premier Herriot, informed the president today that difficulties of the task seemed insurmountable.

Report Wine Bill Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The House ways and means committee rejected the Lea wine bill today because of feeling it to be contrary to the 18th amendment.

At the same time a committee of senators was agreeing on inclusion of protection for dry states in a proposed substitute for the amendment.

Chairman Culler of the House committee said the 14 to 9 vote against wine resulted from belief that the alcoholic content in naturally fermented wine was in violation of the spirit of the amendment.

The first attractions of the closing were the pageant, "Wonderous Night," presented at the high school auditorium last night under the direction of Miss Ona Shindler, director of public school music, and Miss Irene Mozelle Jones, faculty member.

One hundred and fifty members of the sixth and seventh grades of intermediate schools took part in the presentation described as one of the most gorgeous probably in the history of the schools. Groups of children from the primary grades also took part.

The beautiful story as unfolded by the pageant was interspersed with tuneful musical numbers, including chorus singing. The pageant was well attended by patrons of the various institutions who expressed themselves as highly pleased with the production and the talent displayed by the youngsters.

though mainly a post-war development, has risen fast enough to make the empire one of the world's leading producers.

WINDSOR LUMBERMAN IS INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Windsor, Dec. 16.—Jimmie Pierce, young Windsor lumberman, was injured Wednesday afternoon when a Ford car he was driving, a new Ford car, skidded and turned over three times on the Edenton highway, near Harcen's Filling Station, six miles from town.

After receiving treatment at a doctor's office here, he was removed to his home to recuperate from a chest injury and cuts about his face. A negro boy riding with him was hurt only slightly. The car was badly damaged.

New Hampshire's highways date back to 1796 when legislators passed an act incorporating a company to build the first turnpike.

FORT BARNWELL BOTES TO RETURN SCHOOL TAX

New Bern, Dec. 16.—Fort Barnwell citizens voted Tuesday to retain their special school tax of 15 cents on the $100 property valuation. The vote was 170 for the tax and 130 against it, the latter number including those who failed to vote after having registered. The majority for the tax would have been greater, it is said, except that the inclement weather kept many citizens from going to the polls.

TALKS TO THE PARENTS

THE STORK LEGEND (By Alice Judson Peale)

The children whose parents promptly and truthfully had answered their questions about where babies come from, some time later were heard telling each other the story story with the greatest pleasure and seeming belief in its authenticity.

"There you are," someone will surely say, "You see how much good it does to talk to children about these things when they are little! They don't understand anyway. They forget all about it and believe the first silly nurse maid or old fashioned gully-up they hear!"

Sometimes it does seem as if this were true. Even when we have answered the child's questions at his own time and according to his own lead, we are amazed to see that, apparently, we might as well have spared ourselves the effort.

Those who have made this observation will be interested to learn that these same two children who seemed to have forgotten the truth they had been told, later were seen laughing at a younger child who professed belief in the stork story.

This curious inconsistency is the result of the fact that although the child craves the truth, and although (of this we may be quite sure) he never forgets it, he may reject it temporarily because the stork myth better suits the needs of his phantasy.

It has certain advantages from his point of view, in that it avoids a number of implications which he is not yet able to face.

Sooner or later, as he grows and as increasingly, he is able to meet all sorts of realities, he shows that he has understood those early explanations and that they have contributed enormously to his peace of mind.

Medicine Co. Makes Remarkable Record Atlanta, Ga.—Almost every line of business has suffered more or less on account of the depression. The manufacturers of Sargon Soft Mass Pills have made a record they may well be proud of. Although Sargon Soft Mass Pills were first placed on the market about 4 years ago, over 142,000,000 of these Pills have been sold and their fame has spread to many foreign countries. They not only enjoy a tremendous demand throughout America, but they are also in large demand in Canada, the Philippines Islands, Hawaii, Alaska, Porto Rico, and other foreign countries.
