Although it was impossible to say how far the cuts would extend, much speculation was centered around the proposed action and the public was watching the session with more than usual interest.

GENERAL ELECTIONS IN IRELAND ARE ORDERED

Dublin, Irish Free State, Jan. 3. (Tuesday)—(AP)—The government sprang a surprise early this morning with the sensational announcement it had decided to dissolve the Dail Eireann and to hold the general elections January 20.

The decision was taken at a prolonged cabinet meeting after which President De Valera, whose government recently was assailed because of its stand on civil service pay reductions, informed newspaper men that the Dail had been dissolved and that the new Congress would meet February 8.

The President declared that the country's attitude towards the government's program left no doubt that the government enjoys the confidence of the electorate.

It has been a systematic policy of the government's political opponents, President De Valera added, to transfer the job of reorganization to my successor was simply a device by which his plans could be defeated. The President recently sent a special message to Congress proposing regrouping of more than 50 agencies and commissions into nine

Gardner Seeks Sweeping Change In Parole System

Raleigh, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Recommendations for sweeping changes so as to enlarge parole facilities of the state and bring about the release of state's prisoners while they still have a portion of their sentences "hanging over" them were made today to Governor O. Max Gardner in the biennial report of the executive council.

Tyre Taylor, now the counsel, said that it was his belief and the belief of "all" who had preceded him, four men since 1929, "that a larger application of the parole system would result in substantial savings to the state and in a more effective administration of our entire prison system."

The report stated that 1,877 prisoners were paroled between January, 1929 and December 31, 1932, and that 4,800 other clemency petitions were acted upon unfavorably. Twenty pardons were granted, 94 commutations ordered and only 63 paroles were ordered revoked. Thirty electrocutions were carried out during the period. There were 7,485 applications for review of sentences handled by the office in four years.

Five deficiencies in the present system were listed by Taylor as: (Continued on page four)

Washington, Jan. 3.—(AP)—President Hoover today hit out at congressional opposition to his plan of regrouping government agencies saying in a statement that unless Congress keeps its hands off now it gives larger power to President-elect Roosevelt any reorganization will be "merely make-believe."

Calling in newspapermen for his first press conference since Sep. 13, Mr. Hoover said he considered the proposals of Democratic leaders in Congress to stop the reorganization to be "a backward step."

The chief executive added that "The proposal on Capitol Hill to transfer the job of reorganization to my successor was simply a device by which his plans could be defeated."

JUDGE JAMES ADMINISTERED OATH OF OFFICE

Jack Spain Sworn in As County Court Solicitor at Impressive Exercises

Jack James, elected judge of Pitt County Court in the last primary, was administered oath of office by Clerk of Superior Court J. F. Harrington at the opening of the regular session of County Court this morning.

Jack Spain was also sworn in as solicitor of the court. Judge W. L. Wheedee, retiring jurist, presided over the impressive induction ceremony, which was marked by short talks by members of the bar and adoption of resolutions by the Pitt County Bar Association paying tribute to the outgoing judge.

After the ceremony was over, court officials were delivered into a docket of thirty-five or more cases, consisting largely of violations of the prohibition law and larceny. Indications were that the sitting would last two days.

The induction of the new court officials was witnessed by members of the bar, court attendants and two or three hundred people who had gathered for the transaction of regular weekly business.

Judge Wheedee, in relinquishing the judgeship, said he had endeavored to administer the law as impartially and mercifully as possible and expressed appreciation of the loyal support which had been given him by the members of the bar and citizenship generally.

Judge James, after the oratorical fireworks were over, said he realized the responsibility of the office to which he had been elected and pledged himself to render the highest type of service in his power. He asked the co-operation of members of the bar and the public, de. (Continued on page four)

TALKS MARK ROTE MEETING

Club to Meet With Two Other Organizations During the Present Month

Short talks and acceptance of invitations to meet with other clubs during the month were the highlights of the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club last night.

The club accepted an invitation from the Kiwanis Club for a joint meeting at some date after the 20th of the month. On the 20th the club will go to Ayden where it will be guests of the Ayden club.

Members were looking forward with interest to the two meetings and indications were that they would be fraught with great possibilities, especially in view of the fact that each has indicated a desire to render a higher type of service to the community during the new year.

Speakers of the evening were Edler Graham, Jean Booth and Ed Outland, members of the Washington club. They spoke briefly of club activities, and the effort to accomplish greater things during the new year.

Charles Cobb, junior Rotarian during the past month, presented Harold Sugar, who had been chosen as junior Rotarian for the month of January. Each month some member of the high school student body is selected for this honor. The choice is based on scholastic achievement.

The program was in charge of Howard McClellis and Dr. John Winstead, and Dr. Herbert ReBarker presided in the absence of Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, who has been sick with the flu for the last two weeks or more.

FLU EPIDEMIC BETTER HERE

Health Department Says Few Cases Reported Since Advent Of Cold Weather

The "flu" situation in this county was described as "considerably improved" today by Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Pitt County Department of Health.

The improvement was attributed to the advent of colder weather, and the taking of additional precautions by the general public.

Eight hundred cases were estimated in various sections of the county the latter part of last week after several days of warm weather, but the health director expressed belief today that the illness had gained little ground since that time.

Although it was feared at one time that the light epidemic might interfere with the re-opening of city and county schools, all institutions opened yesterday morning with only a minor number of students absent from sickness.

When approached by school heads several days ago regarding the re-opening of schools in the face of the spread of influenza, Dr. McGeachy advised resumption of work, declaring the students would be better off in well-ventilated buildings than on the streets.

Buying Barbara
by Julia Cleft-Adams & Author of "YOU CAN'T MARRY"

SYNOPSIS: Mark Lodely tells Barbara Quentin, his fiancée, that he has agreed to go to London on their wedding day, and Barbara counters with the information there will be no wedding for a year. She has bargained with the millionaire Farrell Armitage that he may have a year in which to cure Mark's crippled body and establish him as an artist—and make Barbara love Farrell. Lela Cane, whom Farrell would have married had not been in love with Barbara at sight, is allied with Farrell.

MEAT FOR GOSSIP

"The easel should, I think, stand head," pronounced Jacques Malavie, Ltd. "but that, naturally, will be a matter for the painter."

He fixed the easel and paced back, his head tilted, his tired eyes half-closed. He was a long, thin, rather dry-looking man, suggesting perhaps a professor of archaeology; but a domesticated one, who took his wife and children out to dig for arrow-heads every fine Sunday.

"That velvet screen is beautiful," said Farrell Armitage pleasantly. "You consider the general result satisfactory?"

"Entirely, thank you! You've done wonders, especially as the job didn't take me much more."

"Barbara told the vicar the marriage was postponed."

"Ah, no. He put Armitage's check carefully away in his pocketbook. 'I thank you, Mr. Armitage. If you have no further commands, I will leave you.'"

Armitage had no further commands. He stayed where he was, big and intent in the middle of the gleaming room.

Under the great north light were all the fixtures which Malavie's had assumed the painter to need; round the recessed cabinets full of porcelain and bibelots, he had grouped low divans, heavy with velvet, dower-chests and the rough-hewn Warwick chairs that would meet more social requirements. There was, to Armitage's eyes, very little in the apartment to remind anyone of its previous character.

He was by the cabinet when the butler announced Lela. Armitage turned with a reluctance which he hoped she did not see.

"Your verdict in anxiously awaited," he said.

Lela nodded to him. She did not offer her hand—she had long ago announced that she loathed shaking hands; she must either nod or kiss, she said, and preferably kiss. She peered round him, into the cabinet.

"Oh, Farrell! They're enchanting!" The cabinet held a collection of dolls, minute and perfect. "Costume" was represented here, each tiny waxen figure an example of its chosen period. The figure in Lela's hand was powdered, panned, shod with exquisite red satin slippers no larger than holly-berries.

"They were Malavie's idea—he had the collection on his hands, and he thought they would have an appropriate setting here."

"Barbara would love her," she said, restoring the doll, and he flushed gratefully. Nice of her to realize that he had hoped that too.

"But Mark will be quite insufferable about them all."

Armitage's flush deepened.

"Why? I thought they would be just the sort of thing he'd like. They're so trifle."

"Do you think of Mark Lodely as a sweet, encased in-trail fish; and a beautiful moth broken upon the wheel of want; and a mystic who would give his life's blood to interpret a truth to us?"

"Well, I shouldn't have put it quite so tersely, but that is, I suppose, the gist of my attitude towards him."

She threw up her hands, wringing them above her head in a mock despair that somehow conveyed genuine concern.

"I know he can be rather above himself," admitted Armitage cautiously. "Self-obsessed, no doubt, and therefore cruel." He kept his eyes upon her lest she should guess his memory of a portrait. "Isn't that a result of his ill-health, though? If he were to be cured, if he could feel himself the physical equal of any man of his own weight—"

"He'd hit a bit harder below the belt, that's all."

Armitage realized that this was what he himself would like to pet one eem-mense burn? Or no, you are the painter—the genius? How can one know the which you are?"

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-cast mood, feeling is your liver. It should pour out the pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those gooey, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

ABOUT TOWN

The report that Mrs. Lyman Cotten is being prominently mentioned for a post on the Civil Service Commission will be received with interest here.

Mrs. Cotten is well known in Greenville, having visited here many times during the life of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Cotten. She is admirably qualified to hold the position and that she will administer the office with credit to herself and the state is not doubted by her many friends here.

John D. Rockefeller was able to wish many of his friends a "Happy New Year" from his winter home at Ormond Beach, Florida. This man of wealth is living to a ripe old age, and he is getting much out of life because of the fact that he has put so much into it.

He has given unestimated millions to the cause of improving the life of the nation, and this is especially so in public health work. Men who amass great fortunes and use it for the improvement of mankind, find unceasing pleasure in living, and the life of John D. Rockefeller should be one of incomparable joy because he has done so much to make life better than he found it.

Several changes marked the advent of the New Year in Greenville but they were few and of little significance in the general life of the community.

Other changes probably will take place during the year and it is believed they will be of a constructive nature. The country apparently is turning its face to the realization of better things at this time and the latter part of the year should witness a general improvement in national life.

The past year was one of the most difficult the nation has witnessed in many a day, but now that it is a matter of history, people will forget it and put all of their power behind the new year to make it of more importance.

J. C. B. Ehringhaus of Elizabeth City, will assume the office of governor of North Carolina Thursday and he has no easy task before him. With the state deficit drawing near the fifteen million dollar mark the new governor and the legislators are going to have the time of their lives trying to get the old bank of the state back on solid ground, and just how they are going to do this is a matter of much speculation at this time.

The reduction of expenditures is one of the main things under consideration and in view of the fact that new sources of taxes will be necessary to take the place of the fifteen cents school tax, which both the governor and the legislators have committed themselves to remove, a stupendous job is ahead. Where they will strike to obtain the additional revenue? That is the interrogation troubling all classes of people and nobody will sleep soundly until the question has been decided.

City and county schools got away to a good start yesterday and while attendance was reduced somewhat by flu and bad roads the situation was described as favorable by the school authorities.

The first part of the term was highly successful and the school heads are looking forward to continued development during the last half.

Greenville's recognition as the highest scholastically rated institution in the state from the standpoint of money expended will be maintained in the belief of those acquainted with conditions, and the year should end with a tight hold on the leadership.

The citizenship should be proud of the fine record set by the schools. It is something many a town would be glad to claim and we might as well boast over it while it is in our possession.

Christian Science Services
"God" was the subject of the lesson-lesson in all churches and societies of Christ. Scientist, on Sunday, January 1.

The golden text was from Psalms 65:1, 2: "Praise waiteth for thee, O God, in Sion; and into thee shall the vow be performed. O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-lesson was the following from the Bible: "But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his soul desireth, even that he doeth." (Job 23:13.)

The lesson-lesson also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "There can be but one Mind, because there is but one God; and if mortals claimed no other Mind, and accepted no other, sin would be unknown. We can have but one Mind, if that one is infinite. We bury the case of infidelity, when we admit that although God is infinite, evil has a place in this infinity, for evil can have no place, where all space is filled with God."—Christian Science, once Committee on Publication.

Commemorating the seventy-fifth anniversary of the introduction of postage stamps by Rumania, the postoffice is issuing a 1933 series of eight stamps ranging from 25 bani to 16 lei. Only 200,000 of each are being printed.

All the backgrounds are white, and none but the 16 lei is perforated. The 25 bani, black, rectangular, has the wild-ox design of the original 1858 stamp. The one lei, round, violet, shows the lion-bearing design formerly found on Rumanian coins. The 2 lei, green, round, carries the former coat of arms.

The 3 lei, round, red, has an eagle and castle design. The 6 lei, octagonal, wine-colored, shows the modern coat of arms. The 7.50 lei, round, light-blue, has the spread eagle of early coins. The 10 lei, round, dark blue, carries the wild-ox design. The 16 lei, light green, similar to the 1903 issue commemorating the opening of the new postoffice, shows a mail coach leaving the postoffice.

Rumania also has issued three welfare stamps, with a face value of 4, 6 and 10 lei, plus an additional charge in each case of 1 lei, for the benefit of the tuberculosis sanitarium for postal employees.

Fruitful Russia
A 50 kopeck stamp has been issued by Russia to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the MOPR (International Society for Aid of Political Prisoners). Printer in red, it shows a worker breaking into a jail to release prisoners, whose manacled hands are stretched out.

Russia, prolific issuer, also has put out stamps in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the revolution.

The 3k, deep violet, shows Lenin addressing the workers from the top of an armored car on his return from Switzerland in 1917; the 5k, dark brown, the capture of the Winter Palace; the 15k, dark green, a modern harvesting scene, and the 35k, slate brown, an allegorical scene representing the oppressed looking to the U. S. S. R., with the handwriting "Lenin" in the sky.

ISSUE MONEY IN NAME OF REORGANIZED BANK
Henderson, N. C., Jan. 3.—Receipt of the first $10,000 of a $100,000 issue of currency in its own name has been received by the new First National Bank of Henderson, R. G. Harrison, vice-president, announced today.

Insurance of the currency was authorized by the Federal Reserve Bank, of which the institution is a member, and consists of Federal Reserve notes. Posting of security for the notes makes this much new money available for commercial purposes. It was explained.

Bank officials think this act on the part of the Federal Government is an added evidence of the confidence of the Federal banking authorities in the stability of the institution, which grew out of and replaced the old First National Bank here which closed a year ago.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, Jan. 3.—(AP)—One of the easiest ways to begin an argument in capital political circles these days is to bring up the topic of what the Republicans will do to get themselves in shape for the presidential election in 1936.

It has been a much discussed question. The rumblings of the Democratic landslide on November 8th had scarcely subsided before G. O. P. leaders had begun to turn their thoughts in that direction.

President Hoover's first public observation after his defeat was the need for organization in the ranks of Republicans all down the line.

And with the return of legislators to the capital to wind up the 72nd Congress, the subject has increased in interest, and gossip as to future plans is to be heard everywhere.

Of course, the thing that must be settled first is whether Everett Sanders will remain as chairman of the national committee.

It is generally conceded that there is a wide difference of opinion among Republican leaders on this point. Some are represented as believing he should go, others that he should stay, while a third group would put in as directing head of the committee a new man.

Thus far Sanders has been silent. But that he would resent and resist as would his friends, any attempt to ride him roughshod out of the job when President Hoover leaves the White House next March hardly could be denied.

Among interesting reports heard is one that Jim Watson of Indiana and Vice President Curtis, both old hands at the game of politics and both of whom will retire to private life after March 4, are being considered for the chairmanship.

Either of these men, from the standpoint of political knowledge, would seem to qualify nicely. They are two of the castiest most astute of politicians. There are few tricks about politics that they don't know.

But whether the Republicans in case a change should be made, could agree on the selection of either of these such celebrated "Old Guards" is something else entirely.

Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 2.—Studies take a great deal of blame and criticism for releasing promising players from their contract lists when according to all heralds from fandom the same players would be well worth keeping.

Studios, of course, make mistakes in judging personalities, and too frequently to their own grief learn too late, after the slighted player has clicked with some other company. But the studios have their side, too.

One bright little starlet who no doubt will be missed from the screen because she had much charm, ability and a winning way with her comes to mind in this connection. She no longer is on the contract list, and not because she lacked in talent, beauty, or any of the qualities that make a movie winner.

"Hard to Handle"
She was simply "hard to handle." She made a hit in one or two films, and forthwith developed temperament, the kind that used to be pampered in Hollywood. This role would not do, she wanted that one, she wept and pleaded—she cried most effectively—and won her point, and then she did not want that one any more, but demanded this one.

No one denied she was talented, no one even hinted that she was not very important. But one day she was given the pink slip.

A Garbo may get by with it, but this girl was no Garbo. Studios can't afford to let temperament of the sort clog their production wheels.

Freak Talent
Among the pitiable figures who haunt casting offices of Hollywood are those individuals, in some manner deformed, who trust implicitly in their afflictions to put them across in pictures.

When I like something I evermore like it!

—and I like CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes. THEY'RE Milder—THEY TASTE BETTER

To me, they are mild—that is, they don't seem to be strong; and there is certainly no bite, so far as I can tell. To me, they taste better and they have a pleasing aroma.

Every CHESTERFIELD that I get is well-filled, and I feel like I am getting my money's worth—that there is no short measure about it. I like CHESTERFIELDS. They satisfy me.

THAT TECHNOCRACY QUESTION

EDITOR'S NOE: This is the fourth of six articles giving a new insight into Technocracy whose prediction of possible economic collapse started a farthing controversy.

By J. R. BRACKETT (Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

New York, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Debt, says Technocracy, is crushing the life out of the economic system, burdening the machine so that it cannot produce to the full, giving dictatorial power to the bankers—“debt merchants,” as Technocracy calls them.

Debt is overwhelming, Technocracy holds, because it increases almost constantly and thus requires the nation to pay an ever-growing burden of interest, while, in the meantime and as at present, profits do not increase proportionately. Debts are “fixed charges,” varying little, while income goes up and down violently.

Technocracy, a group of engineers at Columbia University working under the direction of Howard Scott, is delving into the effect of the machine on the present economic system. Its findings have led Scott to predict the existing structure of collapse unless drastic changes are made in the methods of control.

Debt is a major aspect of Technocracy's theories, perhaps the major aspect, because debt is the base of the price system, and the price system is the general name given to this and any other political entity which uses a commodity—gold in this instance—as a measure of wealth, and which seeks to produce for profit instead of for use.

Technocracy estimates that the total interest-bearing debt—mortgages, bank loans, bonds and so on—in the United States is about $218,000,000,000; that the fixed charge on this debt is equal to more than half the nation's present income;

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady one point to three points lower on fair trade demand and Southern selling. Foreign buying was of a fair proportion following openings.

Prices hardened a trifle to meet renewed Southern selling. The March position advanced to 6.03 and eased to 5.97. Around 1:30 the market was steady, unchanged to three points decline.

At midday March was holding around 6.02 and July 6.26, or about one to two points net higher. (Courtesy Speight & Co.)

Stock Market

New York, Jan. 3.—(AP)—The stock market put its best foot forward today but was unable to make headway against a sluggish current of selling.

After opening moderate higher the list slid off during the morning. Prices stiffened after midday but showed scant recuperative power.

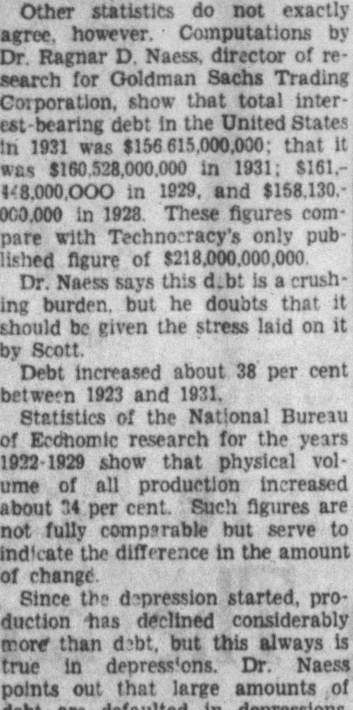

Losses of a point or so appeared in such issues as Allied Chemical, Case, Texas Corporation, and others.

These losses were reduced to a fraction in several instances and declines of a point or so were fully sustained.

Grain Reaches All-Time Lows; Outlook Better

By JOHN P. BOUGHAM Chicago, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Hope of a “new deal” for agriculture, with belief in better days ahead for the grain trade, enlivens the 1933 outlook in LaSalle Street.

Rank and file members of the Chicago Board of Trade, no less than official spokesmen, express themselves as desirous as the farmer for the result of a scale of prices which will represent to grain producers a fair profit above costs.

An authoritative summing-up of LaSalle Street's 1932 program is as follows: “When sound legislation is passed to correct the present agricultural situation, the grain trade will be found cooperating to make it a success.”

In 1932 wheat, oats and rye at Chicago priced in reaching all-time low prices recorded, while corn went far along the same path.

Board of trade reports show the 1932 gross income of farmers officially estimated at less than half the 1929 return. Traders point out that general commodity prices today are at about 80 per cent of the 1909-13 level, but if wheat were selling at 80 per cent of the 1909-13 level it would be bringing 84 cents a bushel—instead of less than 45.

In brief, 1932 board of trade history is that future delivery wheat fell to its lowest price November 25, touching 41.2 cents a bushel for December contracts, against 61-4 cents a year previous. Immediate delivery wheat reached its lowest price—44-3 cents—November 1.

Oats went through their previous lows December 3, when December contracts brought only 13-7 cents. They had sold more than 10 cents higher at the corresponding time in 1931.

December rye brought as low as 26-1-4 cents November 1 after selling at 44-1-8 the previous year.

YOUNG WHITE MAN KILLED BY WOMAN

Windsor, N. C., Jan. 3.—J. C. Connor, young white man, was shot to death near Aulander early Sunday morning by a young white woman, Eva White, who told officers she emptied the load from a shotgun into the man's chest as he attempted to break through a window into her home following an altercation.

According to the woman, who was lodged in the county jail here with one benefit of bail, Connor had come to her home in angry mood, had started a fight, struck her several times and threatened to kill her before she was able to get him out of the house. She said she then went back inside, locked all the doors and shot only when Connor attempted to break a window-glass in order to get back in.

No reason was given to officers for the trouble between Connor and the woman, although the White home is said to be located in a bootlegging section.

WOULD LET CITIZENS BUY BONDS OF CITY Philadelphia, Jan. 3.—(AP)—City Controller Will B. Hadley today offered a “prosperity” program whereby citizens would voluntarily buy up city bonds, hand them back to the municipality and thus cancel a portion of the city's $561,159,000 debt.

Hadley said he would practice as he preached and contribute his entire January salary of $666 to the city to retire bonds.

Fast Game In Store Tonight

At 8 o'clock tonight in the campus building the E. C. T. C. and Rocky Mount “Y” quints will stage what will probably be one of the fastest games of the season.

Both teams are exceptionally fast; neither one having lost a game this year. The locals will show even more speed with the addition of Eostic to the line-up, while a Rocky Mount “Y” bunch have a reputation for fast games built up over several years.

Machine Works Moving Today

The Greenville Machine Works today announced the installation of wood working machinery to take care of this kind of trade in the future.

In addition to the installing of new machinery, the concern was moving to the building formerly occupied by the Warren Wholesale Grocery Company on Washington street, a door or so above their former location.

B. T. Clark, owner of the concern said he planned to be able to take care of all kinds of wood work as well as machinery during the new year and would offer increased service in his new place.

F. C. Harding paid tribute to both the retiring and incoming judges. He said he believed things in every field of life at this time were on an upward trend and saw in the new year great opportunity for achievement in every vicissitude.

He lauded Judge Whedbee for his untiring effort to administer the law impartially during his term of office, and expressed the hope that he would live to see him reach the highest court of the state.

Judge James was also pictured as a man of justice and fairness as the speaker predicted that his term would be filled with great accomplishment.

He asked the incoming judge to consider the families of defendants, and to try to mete out justice in keeping with the case at hand. He joined in praise of Judge Whedbee and Judge James.

S. J. Everett, after expressing his appreciation of the services of the outgoing and incoming jurists, spoke of the splendid record of Jack Spain, the new solicitor, who was elected to succeed W. J. Bundy who was named to fill the unexpired term of W. S. Trson, who resigned to accept a position in Washington City.

Both teams are exceptionally fast; neither one having lost a game this year. The locals will show even more speed with the addition of Eostic to the line-up, while a Rocky Mount “Y” bunch have a reputation for fast games built up over several years.

WILSON COUNTY MEN CAPTURED AT STILL

Wilson, Jan. 3.—Jim Long and John Trevathan, white men, were arrested last night on charges of violating the liquor law following their capture at a whiskey still in the Sugar Hill section of Toisnot township by Constable J. L. Pittman.

Both were given preliminary hearing before Magistrate A. J. Hines today and were bound over to general county court, Long under $100 bond and Trevathan under $150 bond.

Long was surprised by the officer as he walked away from the still site with a five-gallon container of whiskey. Trevathan was discovered at the still, which was running full blast. Approximately 600 gallons of beer in two barrels and a huge vat were destroyed and its containers demolished and six gallons of whiskey found at the still was poured out. The still, a copper plant of 50 gallon capacity, was torn down and brought to this city by the rading officer.

CONFESSES SLAYING OF CHICAGO SALESMAN Chillothe, Mo., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Henry Maquar, 33, of New Orleans, pleaded guilty here today to killing L. O. Neal, Chicago salesman, on December 13, to obtain possession of Neal's motor car.

Circuit Judge Ira Beals deferred passing sentence. Officers said Maquar told them he shot Neal five times while the salesman was in the car in which the two were driving to Chicago, and tossed Neal's body over an embankment near here. It was found December 15, Maquar returned to Kansas City, where he was joined by two women, May Vaughan and Virginia Ross, still detained in the case, who accompanied him to Pensacola, Fla.

When arrested there Maquar was quoted by the police as boasting that Neal “was the fourth man I have killed.” Authorities here said that he had served a term in the Louisiana State penitentiary for forgery and another at the Leavenworth, Kansas, Federal penitentiary for desertion from the United States Army.

Maquar answered Neal's advertisement in Texas for a companion to defray expenses on a trip to Chicago. Neal went to Texas to attend funeral services for his brother at Clyde.

In Kansas City the two met the woman later arrested with Maquar. Police there said the woman sought to persuade Neal to go to Florida, but he declined, saying he must get back to his wife in Chicago.

Sherriff Roy Uhrmacher said Maquar had not talked about any other killings.

AMAZONIAN TIMBER TRIED IN U. S. MARKET BY FORD

Para, Brazil, Jan. 3.—(AP)—With the Ford plantations on the Rio Tapajoz in this tropical state turning to timber production, Brazil has new hopes for development of a lumber industry from its immense Amazonian forests.

The Ford interests recently shipped their second consignment of timber to the United States, sending 110 tons to the Boston and Maine Railway for tests as railway ties.

AWAKENED IN TIME TO ESCAPE FLAMES

Goldsboro, N. C., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Boney Warren, of East Vine Street, were awakened at 12:02 o'clock Sunday morning to find their house in flames, and that they had only time to escape and save their children. Mr. Warren caught up the two-year-old baby and ran with it in his arms to the fire alarm box at the corner of Vine and Daisy Streets, while Mrs. Warren followed with the two older children. The house was almost entirely destroyed and none of the contents were saved except a few articles of clothing.

Mr. Warren is a member of the fire department but was off duty.

Aycock, clerk of the court. Mr. Edmundson succeeds Judge D. H. Bland, who has been Wayne County judge for more than nineteen years, who resigned, and at the last election was elected to the State Senate. HOKE COUNTY ROADS LIKE ALL THE REST

Reeford, Jan. 3.—Hoke County roads are as bad as they can get, it is said. A Wilmington man arrived in town a few days ago, and he was asked if the roads south of town were bad, and he said: “They are worse than that.” Some here are wickered enough as to say that it is retributive justice overtaking the State force for criticising the county road-builders for a few years ago, when heavy rains washed all the roads into the creeks and rivers. There is no way to make good soil roads in wet weather, declares a road expert here.

GARDNER SEEKS SWEEPING CHANGE IN PAROLE SYSTEM

(Continued from page one) No facilities to prepare prisoners for parole except the effort of volunteer workers; virtually no facilities for preparing a community to receive a paroled prisoner; wholly inadequate supervisory facilities; a hap-hazard system for securing employment for paroled prisoners; and inadequate facilities for getting case histories.

With proper facilities, including the employment of four full-time parole officers at a total cost of about $12,000 annually, Taylor said the state could parole under advantageous conditions a minimum of 1,000 prisoners in the next twelve months and save the state some $150,000 to $300,000 as it costs 45 cents per day to maintain a prisoner.

“The parole is not in the correct sense, executive clemency,” Taylor's report asserted. “It is a modern process for dealing with men and women who are not incorrigible criminals and is analogous to the system of grading prisoners according to their demeanor after incarceration. It is a step beyond the honor grade, in which a certain degree of freedom is permitted, and undoubtedly exerts a wholesome restraining influence.”

The report agrees with a recent statement of George Ross, superintendent of state's prison, that lack of facilities for segregation of prisoners is causing our prisons “literally” to “become schools of crime.”

“The experience of other states indicates that a wider application of the parole system would not undermine respect for law, because as most modern penologists are agreed, certainty of punishment, rather than the length of term served, is the factor that deters from crime,” the report states.

BREAD TAKES TOP RANK AS CHEAP ENERGY FOOD

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—The woman running the low-cost food budget should remember that bread is the cheapest energy food, the U. S. Bureau of Home Economics advises. Provided the other essentials in diet are included bread can be used to “fill up on.”

Milk is rated the best supplement for bread for it contains more of the values bread lacks than any other single food. Milk-toast and French toast are suggested as two good food combinations. Others include ground beef broiled on toast; a cheese sandwich toasted and served with tomato sauce; stew served with croissants; toast and butter; and bread crumbs used as thickeners in baked dishes.

Infants Need Exercise The normal baby exercises constantly when awake, thus giving every part of his body the movements necessary for growth. Twice a day, at bathing time and bedtime, he should be allowed to exercise ten minutes in a safe, warm place, such as on a large bed with his mother watching.

How to Get Rid of Ants

In eradicating house ants spread gasoline, kerosene or disinfectant about the house. Since all of them are inflammable, rigid precautions must be taken to see that no fire is present. Keeping food supplies in closed metal containers also helps to drive the mount.

Give Children Simple Parties

Parties for children under six should be very simple and occur seldom. Above all, they should be very small, not more than three or four children, government child experts advise. Simple games played outdoors in a group, followed by a simple supper at the usual time, make the best kind of party for little children.

Choose Curtains Carefully

Washington, D. C.—Textures to be used together at the same window must be chosen carefully, says the Bureau of Home Economics. With cretonne drapes glass curtains or scrim, marquisette or linen gauze are pleasing. All for fine net lace or silk gauze.
