RELIEF FUNDS PROVIDE JOBS FOR MANY MEN

Over Four Hundred Unemployed Working on Projects Over the County.

Many improvements are being made throughout the county with unemployment relief funds allotted to Pitt county by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation since the funds became available last October. It was revealed today.

The money is being spent in improvement of streets, schools, churches and other projects through which hundreds of men are being kept from the grim spectre of starvation from darkening their doors.

K. T. Futrell, director of the Pitt County Department of Welfare, who has charge of the distribution of the federal aid fund, said today that 450 men with families were being employed in the various work programs started in virtually all sections of the county.

Improvements were reported to be under way today at churches at Reedy Branch, St. John's, Simpson and several other communities. Funds have been appropriated for work on schools at Grimesland, Belvoir, Bethel, Greenville and other districts.

In Greenville funds were used in demolition of the old Model school building on Cotanch Street and the erection of a room to the colored school building on the Falkland road on the outskirts of the city.

A grandstand was also erected at Third street school grounds along with dressing rooms and bath underneath the grandstand.

Broken pavement in many parts of the city is also being improved, along with the beautification of unsightly spots.

The improvements at county schools consist largely of additions to buildings and improvement of campuses. At Belvoir where the school building was destroyed by fire sometime ago, the campus has

VICTIMS IN ARMY POST SHOOTING

A negro soldier ran amuck at the Fort Huachuca, Ariz., army post killing two captains and their wives and wounding another officer before he was shot and killed by another soldier. The negro's brooding over demotion in rank was advanced as a possible motive for the slayings. The dead were Capt. Joseph R. Wesely (left) of San Antonio, Tex., and his wife, and Capt. David A. Palmer (center) of Beverly, Mass., and his wife. Lieut. Harvie R. Mathews (right), of Chapel Hill, Tex., was wounded. (Associated Press Photos)

DEATH COMES AFTER ATTACK OF THE HEART

Thirtieth President Passes Away While His Wife is on Shopping Tour.

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge, thirtieth president of the United States, died suddenly today. He was 60 years of age last July 4th.

Returning from a shopping tour Mrs. Coolidge found the body of her husband on the bed at the Beeches estate, to which he retired at the conclusion of his career at the national capital.

His death was unexpected, although for the past three years he had complained of indigestion. Physicians said his death was due to heart disease.

The former president, who up to the time of his death was the only surviving former president of the United States, had gone to his law office as usual this morning. After a short time in the office he became distressed and returned home.

Harry Ross, his secretary, returned to the Beeches with him. Mrs. Coolidge had gone to the center of the city to do some shopping.

Mr. Coolidge assured Ross he would be all right after a short rest and the secretary returned to the first floor of the house to await the return of Mrs. Coolidge.

When Mrs. Coolidge returned 20 minutes later and Ross told her of his illness, she went to her husband's bedroom. There she found her husband's body. A doctor was summoned but the former president was beyond aid.

The doctor said that he had been dead about 15 minutes; that he must have died within a few moments after Ross left the room.

The former president had been leading a quiet life since his return home after his successor, Herbert Hoover, was inaugurated in 1929.

His day to day program varied little and it had not changed despite the slight indisposition of the past three weeks.

Ordinarily he spent a part of the day at his law office with writing magazine articles, which he had contributed from time to time to various publications.

SENATE OKAYS BILL TO CUT PAY OF OFFICIALS

Measure Providing 15 Percent for Elective Officers Meets Opposition.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Opposition to the bill to cut salaries of State elective officers 15 per cent rumbled in the Senate today as the measure passed 45 to 4.

There was no opposition to the measure when it was taken up under suspension of rules, many of the Senators explained. Five Senators as late as last night said they would vote against the measure, and those who offered the explanation were Rankin, Wayneck, McLean and Gwyn.

Most of the Senators said they doubted the constitutionality of the act. Senator MacLean, said he doubted if the bill is worth the paper it is written on, and said he would vote for it, and added he planned later to introduce a resolution asking judges who are not affected by the act to take similar action.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The huge use of economic force by calling strikes if necessary to bring about establishment of a shorter work week in industry was advocated by William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, at a hearing today.

Appearing as the first witness before the Senate Committee on the Black bill to establish a five-day week and six-hour day in all industry, Green said he was convinced of the necessity for shorter hours. He said that we are prepared to support the plan to bring it about either through legislative enactment, persuasion of those ready to yield, or the exercise of our economic force in compelling employees to accept.

"How would you use such force?" Senator Norris asked.

"By calling strikes where men are organized," the labor leader replied, "and thus do without service of the employees until industry establishes a shorter week."

Dreams Close Race Chicago, Ill., Jan. 5.—When Will Harridge, president of the American League, was asked what was uppermost in his mind these winter days, he came back:

"Closer races in the American League. Why, the other night he dreamed it was August and that every club in the league was tied for first place. I woke up right away then, as I knew it was a dream."

The final rites for the beloved former school teacher were largely attended and many flowers attested in a mute way the high esteem in which she was held throughout the community.

The deceased was a native of Pitt county and was a member of the public school faculty for a number of years, later being engaged in the business life of the town.

Funeral services for Miss Mamie Worthington, who died in Winterville late Tuesday afternoon, were conducted from her late home yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. R. F. Pittman of Ayden, pastor of the Bethany Free Will Baptist Church. Interment was made in the family burying ground near Beason.

New Governor

J. C. B. Ehringhaus of Elizabeth City, who was inaugurated Governor of North Carolina at immensive exercises at Raleigh today. He is the first governor to come from the Albemarle section in a hundred years.

Of sturdy German stock, the first Ehringhaus—John Christoph—came to America in 1812 and shortly thereafter settled in Elizabeth City. Since then the name of Ehringhaus—which in literal German means, "house of honor"—has been one that carried prestige in the Albemarle.

Trying Times Three members of the family have served each two terms in the State House of Representatives. John Christoph, founder of the family, started the legislative trek in 1810 and was re-elected in 1820.

Governor Ehringhaus' grandfather, John Christoph Blucher, the first, followed the path of his father and represented Pasquotank County in the State Assembly for two terms beginning in 1842.

Governor Ehringhaus was born in Elizabeth City 51 years ago, the son of Erskine Ehringhaus, who is still actively engaged in the banking business in the Pasquotank capital at the age of eighty.

Like his grandfather, Governor Ehringhaus went to the University of North Carolina, where he was graduated with honors in 1901 and received his law degree two years later.

By 1905, when he was 23, Ehringhaus was a member of the General Assembly. The first bill he introduced provided for the establishment of a teachers' training school in Eastern North Carolina. He was re-elected to represent Pasquotank County in the 1907 House, but that session brought an end to his legislative career.

Turning to the practice of his profession, Governor Ehringhaus in 1910 was named Solicitor of the First Judicial District and held this post until 1922. His eyes were directed toward the governorship. Ten years later the goal was reached.

Mrs. Ehringhaus, who before her marriage to the governor in 1912, was Miss Matilda Houghton, of Washington, is considered one of the loveliest women in Eastern North Carolina.

There are three children in the Ehringhaus family. The oldest, Blucher Jr., who is 19, is a student at the University of North Carolina, the third Ehringhaus to matriculate there. The other two, Matilda and Houghton—named after their mother—the twins, they are 16.

Miss Ehringhaus is a student at St. Mary's School for girls here, where her mother was educated. Her twin brother attends Woodberry Forest Academy at Orange, Va.

Twins are not uncommon to the Ehringhaus family. The governor's father was one in a set of twin boys. And his sister, Mrs. W. P. Duff, of Elizabeth City, has twin boys, Erskine and Mack.

The Ehringhaus' are members of the Episcopal Church. Rev. Thomas Tenbury Houghton, Episcopal minister and chaplain in the Confederate Army.

As North Carolina's fifty-fourth Chief Executive since independence, Governor Ehringhaus is the best man to be elevated to the State's highest office from the Albemarle.

Trying Times Marked Gardner Administration

Raleigh, Jan. 5.—(AP)—North Carolina today looked back upon four trying years as the administration of Governor O. Max Gardner came to an end and took inventory of what it did to meet the changing conditions.

The Gardner administration, beginning in 1929 when prosperity was in bloom, saw the bubble burst and before it was two years old, the state was struggling to keep its head above the water.

With the depression came other woes for North Carolina. Strikes broke out like eruptions of volcanoes; many banks collapsed as paper houses in strong winds; agriculture prices struck rock bottom; unemployment became a serious problem; the need arose for emergency relief measures.

The state's government was put to one of its most strenuous tests. There were no special legislative sessions called, the only two being held during the biennial sessions of (Continued on Page Four)

Wilson County Board Makes Cuts in Salaries

Wilson, Jan. 5.—Economy was the watchword at the monthly meeting of the Board of County Commissioners, and as a result, the salaries of three county employees were reduced, making a saving of approximately $1,000 annually to the taxpayers of the county.

Wilson County's part of the salary of the farm demonstration agent was cut from $1,350 to $952.40, the same amount the State pays. The board declined to adopt a motion cutting the salary of Auditor W. J. Boykin from $2,700 to $2,100. This salary was left unchanged.

Late News Flashes

Reject Proposal Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—A democratic proposal that the President be authorized by the new economy law to abolish departments was rejected by the Senate Appropriations Committee considering the special recommendation for saving in government expenses.

The committee agreed to the recommendation that the President be empowered to slash other agencies than departments which would include bureaus, commissions and the like.

It also agreed to the suggestion that executive transfers and consolidations would become effective unless disapproved by concurrent resolution of both Houses of Congress.

ASHEVILLE BANK TRIALS PROVE VERY COSTLY

Asheville, Jan. 4.—Criminal actions growing out of the failure of Asheville and Buncombe county banks in November, 1930, have cost more than $100,000. It was estimated today by court officials.

This sum includes the costs to state and federal courts and estimated fees paid more than 25 attorneys employed by the defendants, as well as incidental costs of trials to the defendants.

W. S. Coursey, special investigator employed by the Buncombe county grand jury during the early part of 1931, was paid $6,085.54, which included compensation for assistants employed by him.

FEDERAL MEN FACE NEW CUT

$30,000,000 Saving Is Recommended to the Senate Committee by Sub-Committee.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Economies in government cost of $30,000,000 in addition to amounts saved under the existing economy laws were recommended to the Senate Appropriations Committee today by the special sub-committee.

High up on the list the first mentioned was a fresh cut of 1 2-3 per cent for Federal employees.

The present furlough reduction of 1 1-3 per cent affecting Federal employees would be continued another year, and to this would be added the reduction of 1 2-3 per cent.

Chairman Bingham estimated this would result in a saving of $18,000,000. A 10 per cent reduction would also apply to enlisted personnel of the Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guards which Bingham estimated would save an additional $10,000,000.

He gave no explanation for the committee's failure to incorporate the 11 per cent salary reduction recommended by President Hoover.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR HONORED AT DANCE

Outstanding among the affairs of the holiday season was the dance Tuesday evening at the Country Club, when Mrs. E. B. Ficklen and Mr. and Mrs. James S. Ficklen were hosts, honoring Mr. and Mrs. J. Ficklen Arthur who were recently married.

Long leaf pine and cedar interspersed with glowing candles, and a cheerful open fire made a festive background for the dancers. In the receiving line were Mrs. E. B. Ficklen, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ficklen, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Arthur, Mrs. Stuart Carr of Norfolk, Va., Misses Eugenia and Vivian Scarborough of Kingston, sisters of Mrs. Arthur, and Louis Stewart Ficklen.

Ayden To Have Library

Ayden, Jan. 5.—Through the untiring efforts of Mrs. W. D. Johnson and other members of the Woman's Club, the town is to have a public library. Like some other great things it will have a small beginning. The use of a brick filling station, located on Main street, just back of John Burgess' store, has been secured for the purpose. It is an ideal location, convenient for the business men and women of the town. All who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity have some happy hours awaiting them.

A book shower will be given during the month of January, and with the books which the club already has, the library will have a fair beginning.

The first dollar has already been donated for the Encyclopedia Britannica which will be quite an addition to the reference literature of the school and community.

Ayden Woman's Club Meets

Ayden, Jan. 5.—Keen interest was manifested and attendance excellent at the meeting of the Woman's Club held on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. C. R. Riddick, chairman of the welfare department, had as a special feature on the program a speaker from Greenville, Mrs. E. L. Hillman, whose subject was "Intelligent Welfare Work That We Can Do." She covered the subject from every angle and in her charming manner held her audience in rapt attention for the allotted time after hearing Mrs. Hillman each member of the club came away feeling that she could do her community work much more efficiently and with a greater interest than ever before.

With 2250 heads of families in Pitt county asking aid the call is great indeed, and the scriptural passage "Am I my brother's keeper?" has a deeper meaning than ever before.

No less interesting an enjoyable part of the program were the vocal and musical selections rendered by our home talent. A vocal duet "Happy New Year" by Mrs. Lloyd Turnage and Mrs. J. C. Andrews, a saxophone solo "Neapolitan Favorites" by James Ray Pittman, and a vocal selection "The Flight of Ages" by Rev. R. F. Pittman.

FILLING STATION ROBBED. BANDIT GETS ABOUT $100

Southern Pine, Jan. 5.—Looting of the Standard Oil Company filling station here, managed by Mercer Covington, was the second filling station robbery for this section in a week.

Two men drove in the station, made a minor purchase, and tendered a twenty dollar bill to the lone operator in payment. Covington had to open his safe to make change and when he arose found himself facing a gun.

The bandits robbed the safe and knocked Covington senseless and drove away. According to Policeman Ed Newton, the company has not made public the exact loss but it is thought to have been about $100.

Covington was not able to give a very clear description of his attackers nor did he get the license number and the police said they were baffled.

Jockey Ellston Coasts In Third on Hospital Cot

Lattonia, Ky., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Apparently headed for the riding championship of the country, Jockey Gilbert Ellston plunged to the hard surfaces of the jockey club track here, and now may never ride again, although doctors say that is far from likely.

But even if he is unable again to take the saddle, Ellston probably will finish third among the leading riders of the year because of the brilliant work that put him at the top early in the season.

The accident that sent him down killed the hopes of two jockeys for riding leadership in 1932, for Monte Parke was held responsible and was suspended for the remainder of the season.

At the time Ellston had taken 748 mounts, and had won on 168 of them. His elimination left the contest for top honors between Johnny Gilbert and Hank Mills.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—Louisiana's "kingfish" Huey P. Long gave the Senate its first filibuster of the short session in a manner that promises much for the time when he chooses to really tie up that body.

It was while the Senate was considering the Philippine independence bill, Senators had been talking about the subject for days when the disgust of Long who wanted to see a bill granting independence passed.

Restless and fidgety by nature (it seems impossible for him to stay more than a minute or so in one place), he stopped long enough in his roaming the chamber to shout: "If these speeches keep up, I'm going to make one myself. . . . If we can't get a vote there is nobody that the Senate had better listen to than myself."

Threaten to Speak
And then amid laughter from his colleagues, he added: "I expect to speak at great length, something like seven or eight hours beginning some time this evening."

Things started happening a little bit too fast for the "kingfish," however. Many of the Senators weary from the prolonged debate and on Long's side had left the chamber. The opposition was about to force a vote on an amendment which Long found objectionable.

He tried then to force the Senate into adjournment until the next day.

He Starts a Filibuster
They voted him down on this, so he started a one-man filibuster. Calling on Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, in the chair at the time, to protect his rights to the floor, he held on. He let Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, in long enough to get authority to have printed a document on battlefields and Senator Capper, of Kansas, time to have a bill passed closing barber shops in the District of Columbia one day in session.

The others he kept out. Senator McNary, acting floor leader, finally realized that it was useless to go on. The "kingfish's" mind was made up. So at 20 minutes to 5 o'clock he gave in and moved adjournment.

Senator Huey's first filibuster was a success.

Hints on Contract Bridge Up-to-Date

AFTER THE BIG SLAM
(By Tom O'Neill)
Bridge players are eagerly seeking the increased premiums for grand slams. Their success varies with their skill and luck.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Jacoby succeeded with the following:
NORTH—S—9 5 3 2; H—6; D—8 6 4 2; C—Q 9 7 3.
JACOBY WEST—S—A; H—A 10 9 8 4 2; D—A Q J 3; C—J 5.
SOUTH DEALER—S—Q 10 8 6; H—7 5 3; D—10 9 7; C—K J 7 6.
Mrs. Jacoby WEST—S—K J 7 6; H—K Q J; D—K 5; C—A 6 4 2.

With the adversaries passing all the while the Jacobys' bidding went: One heart (west); two spades; three diamonds; four clubs; four hearts; seven hearts; "Well, Oesie," asked somebody, "what would have happened had your partner bid four clubs on four or five to the king-queen, instead of four to the ace-10?"

"I would not have waited until sunrise to shoot," he answered.

Alan Gould regretted his confidence in the following handsome set of aces adorned with kings, which he dealt to himself:
NORTH—S—8 4; H—Q 8 3; D—J 10 8 4 2; C—J 10 7.
WEST—S—7 3; H—9 5; D—K 9 7; C—K Q 9 8 3 2.
Gould EAST DEALER—S—A K 9 5 2; H—A K; D—A 5 3; C—A 6 4.
SOUTH—S—Q J 10 6; H—J 10 7 6 4 2; D—Q 6; C—5.

Gould opened the auction with two spades, his fair partner offered three clubs and Gould zoomed to seven no trump, which the skeptical gentleman in the south doubled. South discarded hearts and made a spade trick.

The lure of 150 aces was as irresistible as ever to Philip F. Farley in the national pair tourney of the American bridge league, but he triumphed in the following deal:
Farley NORTH DEALER—S—A Q 7 6; H—A Q 8; D—A Q; C—A K J 10.
WEST—S—K 10 9 5 3; H—K 10 7 6; D—8 2; C—5 4.
SOUTH—S—8; H—3 2; D—K J 10 9 7 6 3; C—8 7 3.
EAST—S—J 4 2; H—J 9 5 4; D—5 4; C—Q 9 6 2.

Farley opened with two no trump and his partner, Stewart W. Bowlers, bid four diamonds. Then Farley went the limit in no trump. A club opening helped him. After playing the ace of diamonds he entered the dummy by means of the queen of diamonds to get five discards. A spade finesse at the end worked.

A tale of woe comes from the ritzy Sutton Place district where Elsworth Charles had great ideas after dealing these tickets:
NORTH—S—9 7; H—8 6 4 3; D—6 5 2; C—Q 8 6 3.
WEST—S—A J 10 3; H—9; D—J 9 4; C—K J 7 5 4.
Charles SOUTH DEALER—S—None; H—A K Q J 7 5; D—A K Q; C—A 10 9 2.
EAST—S—K Q 8 6 5 4 2; H—10 2; D—10 8 7 3; C—None.

Charles made the only bid no less than six hearts right off the bat. He had an idea he should have shot at grand slam. West led the club knave. "Aha," thought Charles, "I cover with the queen from dummy, east naturally should play the king. I take it with the ace and the bid is in, maybe more."

"Crash!" yelled east, trumping South had to lose another club trick later.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Jacoby succeeded with the following:
NORTH—S—9 5 3 2; H—6; D—8 6 4 2; C—Q 9 7 3.
JACOBY WEST—S—A; H—A 10 9 8 4 2; D—A Q J 3; C—J 5.
SOUTH DEALER—S—Q 10 8 6; H—7 5 3; D—10 9 7; C—K J 7 6.
Mrs. Jacoby WEST—S—K J 7 6; H—K Q J; D—K 5; C—A 6 4 2.

Ride Victim

The body of a girl identified as Miss Gertrude Modrow (above), 19, was found slain in gangland fashion beside a lonely road near Wheaton, Ill., Chicago suburb. (Associated Press Photo) pretty but also her school reports are excellent and her general deportment especially her sense of responsibility leave nothing to be desired. Her manners are beautiful she says little but says it charmingly. Altogether she is a child who presents no problems.

Gerda presents no problems but she has one even though at the moment she may know this but dimly or not at all. Where are her friends? To be sure she is well liked at school (for who could fail to like Gerda?) but she herself is hardly aware of boys of her own age to say nothing of boys who simply do not exist.

Friendship in the sense that it implies mutual confidences common interests and any degree of special affection has not yet appeared in her life. In father and mother she still finds the beginning and the ending of all the love and all the recognition she desires.

Both parents realize that Gerda is exceptionally "sensitive" and since they love her as intensely as she loves them do all in their power to keep her happy. The picture is one of a child who has been kept so deeply satisfied with parental love that she feels no impetus to make her way outside the home circle. At 17 the casual observer can see no problem. But in five years unless a gradual emotional weaning is accomplished it will be clear that something is wrong.

Gerda herself will be either deeply unhappy torn with the most devastating emotional conflicts or she will remain content always to be what she is today a sweet child.

A postage stamp is the cause of a spat between the Vatican and Italy.

It is one of a series issued by the government on the occasion of an anniversary of the Dante Alighieri society. It carries the portrait of Peolo Sarpi, a Dante scholar of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

Sarpi, a learned priest who was called the instructor of Galileo, wrote against the Baccian. Hence the Vatican newspaper, "L'Osservatore Romano," says: "The Dante Alighieri" would have done well to have kept Sarpi in the shade."

Issue For Charity
Stamps of the current German "welfare" issue carry pictures of German castles. The 4 pf., light blue, shows Wartburg; the 6 pf., olive, Stollenfels; the 12 pf., orange, Nuremberg; the 25 pf., dark blue, Lichtenstein; and the 40 pf., violet purple, Marburg.

Each value bears a supplementary charge for charity, ranging from 2 pf. in the case of the 4 pf. value to 40 pf. for the 40 pf. value.

United States Reprints
Plans are being made for the first complete reprint of all the stamps issue by the United States government, for a display being considered for the Chicago World's fair.

Of many of the issues the Post-office Department owns only the approved proof and a copy. The color has faded on many of the prints, and the proposed collection would show the stamps in their original shades.

DUKE CAGERS OPEN PLAY AT HOME FRIDAY

Durham, N. C., Jan. 5.—The first blast of Duke's winter sports season will be blown tonight when Coach Eddie Cameron's Blue Devils cagers, after a triumphant three-game pre-season eastern trip, make their local bow by meeting the Furman University Purple Hurricane. The varsity game will start at 8:30, being preceded by a contest between the Duke freshmen and the Danville highs at 7:15 o'clock.

The Blue Devils will be handicapped in their quest tonight for a fourth straight victory by the loss of their veteran and star guard, Herbie Thomson, who sustained an ankle injury in practice this week. Phil Weaver and Fred Lewis will be at the guard posts tonight. They have been alternating at one of the guard jobs this season.

Jim Thompson, who won All-Southern second team honors at forward last season, will be seen at a new post tonight, he having been shifted to center in the place left vacant by Roy Alpert. Thompson is one of the South's outstanding cagers and has been setting the pace for the Devils this season, having averaged eleven points a game in Duke's three contests.

Squire Hayes, Henry Lewis and Wednell Horne will be alternated at the two forward posts, and it is likely that Sam Bell and Bunn Polack, forwards on the 1932 freshman team, will see action.

It will be the opening 1933 game for the Duke frosh who will offer at the center job, Connie Mack, Jr., whose handling of the ball and floor play in the recent intramural tourney, stamp him as one of the most promising cage artists ever to enroll at Duke.

About NEW YORK

By WILLIAM GAINES
New York Jan. 4.—Grading a few metropolitan types (A means excellent; B, good; C, fair; D, poor; E, very poor; F, failure):

Rental agent who insists any flat opening onto a bare roof with a pot plant on it is a terrace apartment, D.

Columbia collegian who doesn't try to act collegiate when he comes down town, C.

Blow-hard who saw Al Smith in a parade, or Ed. Wynn from the balcony, and speaks glibly of "my friend, Al," or "my pal, Ed.," E.

Actor who manages to make himself heard in the rear rows without ranting, B-plus.

Cop who jams up traffic for three blocks to show what a bawling out he can give an unintentional transgressor, E.

Show-off who talks right through the performance at opening nights, X-minus.

Delicatessen man who invariably sends the wrong kind of ginger-ale, D.

Barber who wants to sell you some sort of hair oil because one of his well-known actor patrons always calls for it, E.

Night life neo-celebrity who raises a rumpus because he can't get a floorside table in a club when all of the tables are occupied, E.

Janitor who never can be found when the apartment is running refrigerator temperatures, F.

Taxi driver who always manages to be shy of enough change, E.

Chorine who goes ermine coat in her first show, F (but maybe she would be a failure).

Nominations for A grade are in order.

Caterwall
These New York cats are amusing, sneaking home in the down after a night out.

Some of the felines one glimpses in the early morning evidence of good breeding and gentle care, but, alas, they quit the back fence revels as mused and soiled as the Tom who feeds from ash cans.

They slink close to buildings, scurrying for blocks. An unfamiliar sound tops them in their tracks; their hair bristles and the next move is a cautious, tip-toe tread as though they walked on ice of tissue thinness.

A New York cat crossing a street is a marvelous example of the adaptability of these hardy survivors of the animal struggle. They have a most accurate sense for timing the speed of motors and more skill than Al-American halfbacks at broken field running.

On the Shaky Ladder
George Olsen tells about the time Fannie Brice, impressed with his orchestra, advised the late Flo Ziegfeld to sign the outfit. She wired the producer to offer Olsen $1,750 a week.

"He'll take $800 and like it," was Ziegfeld's telegraphic response.

"I took the $800 and loved it," Olsen recalls.

Owen Davis, one of the Pulitzer prize playwrights, offered his first script to the Charles Frohman office. The Frohman play-reader was Charles Klein, who wrote "The Lion and the Mouse."

Summoned for the report, the ambitious young Davis trembled under the critical gaze of the reader.

"You appear to be a strong young man," Klein commented.

"I am," was the puzzled admission.

"Then take this thing and throw it as far as you can," Klein advised, "and never write another."

Football Warning
Dan Desmond of the Slous City (Iowa) Journal not only endorses this sentiment that the customers "no longer can be fooled," but adds: "Football is 'on the verge' right now, I believe, and unless they slash those prices in half, the 1933 campaign will be noteworthy for the privacy in which man 'big' games will be played.

"The old reliables — Army-Notre Dame, Southern California - Notre Dame and others — will, like the old reliables in the theater world continue to bak 'em in.

Modern Residence Burns
Jonesboro, Jan. 5.—The modern residence of Hubert I. Ogburn, located in the White Hill section near Sanford, was destroyed totally by fire Thursday night.

The origin of the fire is unknown, the members of the family being away. Mr. Ogburn, who is a representative of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, was on a business trip in Raleigh. Mrs. Ogburn and the children were visiting relatives in Virginia.

The loss is covered partly by insurance.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

The shock extended to both branches of Congress where preparations were made to adjourn without delay in respect to the late leader.

Knots of legislators gathered on the floors of the chambers and discussed the death.

One of the first to mention the death was Speaker Garner, who said: "I was fond of him and knew him well. He had many characteristics of outstanding Americanism."

Within a few minutes after the passing of Coolidge reached Washington, the flag of the Capitol and White House and government buildings were lowered.

Senate adjournment came in a few minutes after Senator Glass, who had the floor, announced to the chamber he had been advised of the death of Mr. Coolidge and he thought the Senate should recess out of honor for him.

been improved, shrubs have been planted and other attempts made to beautify the school grounds.

One of the most important phases of the work program is the drainage activity started in many communities with a view to improving general health conditions. Scores of ditches containing stagnant water have been drained and placed in proper condition, and this movement alone was expected to be worth thousands of dollars to the county from a health standpoint.

Unskilled workmen are paid at the rate of from 61-4 to 10 cents an hour for work on the various projects and skilled labor receives from 12 1-2 to 20 cents an hour. The work is divided in such way to provide employment for as many as possible and thereby relieve the acute unemployment situation which has prevailed in all sections of the county the last year or so.

1929 and 1931, the first a comparatively quiet affair, but the second a five-month event during which the woes of the state were thoroughly aired.

The 1929 session was short lived and harmonious. The governor's calling for workmen's compensation act and a secret ballot law was accepted.

But sensing what the future might hold if the good times of the day did not continue, Governor Gardner also successfully sponsored legislation to restrict the creation of additional debts by local governments and sponsored legislation for reduction of local taxes which were beginning to mount under increasing bond issues.

When the 1931 legislature convened the storm of depression was in its full fury. The bank debacle had swept the state, striking down many institutions once considered impregnable. The five-month session was the longest on record in the state.

The banking laws were strengthened and a bank department created.

State expenditures, which had been reduced by Governor Gardner in 1930 under the executive budget act when it became apparent conditions would not improve in the near future, were further slashed; state maintenance of roads and schools to reduce local taxes was voted; the scope of state supervision over the fiscal affairs of local governments was broadened.

The net result of the Gardner administration, as cited in the state Democratic manual, has been a reduction in property tax from $63,300,000 in 1928-29 to $47,680,000 in 1931-32 and a decrease in the total cost of state and local government from $102,000,000 in 1929-30 to $90,300,000 in 1931-32.

One of the major programs of the administration of the retiring chief executive was the "live-at-home" movement he proposed in his inaugural address to encourage the decrease in production of cash crops and an increase in the production of feed and feedstuffs.

This program, the agricultural department of State College estimates, increased by $50,000,000 the value of food and feedstuffs produced in the state, while the value of cash crops dropped from $293,000,000 in 1929 to $144,000,000 in 1931 because of the fall in prices of cotton and tobacco—the state's two principal farm products.

To meet unemployment conditions, a program of road building was inaugurated with federal funds. A state department of relief was established and money for its support borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Although the administration came to an end with a deficit estimated between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 more than $19,900,000 was paid off during the four years on the state's funded debt. Indicating revenue collections during the period have exceeded the cost of government by $7,500,000, according to the tax commission's report.

Like Wyoming In Rocky Mountain Basketball Race

Denver, Colo., Jan. 2.—(AP)—The difficulty task of preventing the virtually intact championship teams of the University of Wyoming and Brigham Young University from retaining their Eastern and Western division titles, respectively, confronts aspirants to the Rocky Mountain conference basketball crown this season.

The Wyoming Cowboys, who were undefeated in eastern division competition last season and defeated Brigham Young for the conference flag in the interdivision series, lost only one player, McNiff, center, through graduation.

Brigham Young also lost only one regular Johnson, guard, from last season's titular quintet. Both schools have an abundance of new material which is expected to make the 1932-1933 products vastly superior to last season's teams.

My Beauty Hint
By ELIZABETH PATTERSON (Screen Actress)

During a woman's life her hands are a vital part of her beauty. A good nail brush is the first invaluable aid for lovely hands. Use it several times a day, not only on the nails, but on the entire hand. Scrub the fingers individually.

If there is a tendency to "creepiness" in the skin, lemon juice should be used liberally. Rub the hands vigorously with a piece of lemon, allowing the juice to dry on the skin.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't realize a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. See at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

Striking a note that was somewhat dominant in the replies to our poll on the outstanding trends, or developments of 1932 in sport, Fiam R. Hall of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, wrote:

"Wrestling, put on as a show rather than a contest, has reacted better than any other sport in this section to survive business conditions. All other sport contests to which admission is charged have suffered, football least and baseball most. Amateur baseball, tennis, golf and other sports followed for competition rather than compensation have stood up very well."

Along the same lines, Dale Stafford of the Pontiac Daily Press noted: "The average sport fan wants some genuine entertainment for his dollar. In this area prize-fighting fits at a zero ebb simply because the customers won't pay to be bamboozled. They have been 'suckers' in the past and don't intend to be again."

"In football the teams like Notre Dame that put on a good show have attracted big crowds despite the depression. Hockey, a thrilling game, is also maintaining its popularity in this vicinity."

Football Warning
Dan Desmond of the Slous City (Iowa) Journal not only endorses this sentiment that the customers "no longer can be fooled," but adds: "Football is 'on the verge' right now, I believe, and unless they slash those prices in half, the 1933 campaign will be noteworthy for the privacy in which man 'big' games will be played.

"The old reliables — Army-Notre Dame, Southern California - Notre Dame and others — will, like the old reliables in the theater world continue to bak 'em in.

Opinions Varied
The variations of opinion are sharp and distinct in a number of subjects opened up for discussion in this year's sporting poll.

For one expert who hailed the advance of women in athletics, there was another to point out a reaction against it.

Night baseball or football was found practical in some parts of the Middle West but opposed in the East.

Football was viewed as largely "de-emphasized" in the East, but in the Middle West and Far West the so-called "evil" of subsidizing and commercialization were described as spreading.
