HOOVER VETOES PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE BILL

President Declines Plan Invites Grave Danger Of Foreign Invasion, War

LONG MESSAGE TRANSMITTED TO CONGRESS

Without Favorable Trade with United States, Chief Executive Declares Philippines could not Compete with Low Costs and Competition of Other Countries; He Sees A Diminishing Revenue Followed by an Unbalanced Budget.

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The House today passed the Philippine independence bill over the veto of President Hoover.

The Senate has yet to act, however.

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—A flat veto of the Philippine independence bill was placed by President Hoover before the House of Representatives today, prior to an attempt to override it.

Asserting the measure invited grave danger of foreign invasion and war, the president contended in a lengthy message that its terms would lead to the "economic downfall of the island."

The vetoed measure provided for creation of an intermediary after about two years if approved by the Filipino people. A ten year period of economic freedom would follow during which American authority would be curtailed.

Complete independence would be established by the 11th year. Some of the arguments given by Mr. Hoover for approving the bill follow:

"The Philippines economically and absolutely are dependent upon favorable trade with the United States and the period during which this would be whittled down and finally cut off too short would be too violent.

"Without favored entrance to American markets many Philippine industries could not compete with nearby low costs and standards of living, adding eventually to the plight of capital, diminishing revenue and an unbalanced budget.

"American agriculture would be given no protection of any kind during the first two years and during the following five would have no effective protection.

"The several civil authorities of the United States on the island would be brought to a state of impotence, but with the American flag still flying it would be safe with the likelihood of having plenty of military measures to maintain order within the island.

"The Philippine government has not had sufficient income to support even the Philippine scouts, much less an army and navy, while the United States spends annually on the minimum necessary to American military force a sum equal to 28 per cent of the entire island income.

"In comparison with neighboring countries, the Philippines offer large areas of undeveloped resources and the pressure of those immense populations, peaceful infiltration or forcible entrance into this area are most potent."

ITALY FAILS DUCE IN BIG FAMILY DRIVE

Birthrate Keeps Going Down Despite Request of Mussolini For Increases

Rome, Italy, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Although Mussolini frequently has praised his people for their increasing obedience, he has in at least one point failed to live up to his hopes.

He has preached, warned, almost commanded larger families—but the birth-rate keeps going down.

He has declared that a nation to be powerful must be prolific and that the blackshirt regime wants many "bombini"—but the number of births is smaller each year.

Most students of the situation believe it is due to hard time. Others think it is a new mentality.

At any rate the government statistics department found its census returns for the first eleven months of 1932 showed that the natural increase in population was 44,459 below the same period of 1931 and 128,356 under that of the first eleven months of 1930.

The natural increase represents number of births in excess of deaths.

Births were 40,657 fewer than those of 1931 and 96,134 under those of 1930. The increase in the number of deaths—4,402 over 1931 and 30,230 over 1930—was not enough to offset the difference in births.

NORRIS SENT BACK TO VA.

Prisoner Arrested Here Returned to Hampton on Burglary Charge

Herbert Norris, captured by county officers at Ayden Monday, was returned to Hampton, Va., today to face a charge of first degree burglary.

He left here in the custody of two rural policemen who came down from Virginia last night to take their prisoner back to the Old Dominion city for trial.

Norris was arrested in Ayden last Monday following advice received from Virginia authorities. He was brought to Greenville and placed in the county jail to await the arrival of officers. He is charged with breaking into a house in Hampton, but full particulars of the case were not obtained.

The young white man was non-committal when arrested by county officers, and awaited arrival of the Virginia officers steadily and with little show of interest.

Escape from Wilmington Jail. Wilmington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Two men sawed their way out of the New Hanover county jail today, but one of them was recaptured a few hours later. It was the first delivery from the jail since it was built 14 years ago.

The man recaptured was Sam Goins of Wilmington.

Goins is awaiting trial on charge of attempting to criminally assault Mrs. Gus Langley, wife of a man on death row in State's prison at Raleigh, awaiting execution for the death of Lonnie Russell, Asheville filling station operator.

SNOW CAUSES SCHOOLS QUIT

County System Unable to Open This Morning; City Shuts Down at Noon.

On account of the heavy snowfall, which visited the community last night and today, virtually all county schools were unable to operate today.

He stated the schools probably would resume operation next Monday if weather conditions improve by that time.

The snowfall was so heavy during the morning that practically all school buses were unable to make their regular runs and this made it impossible for children to reach the schools, some of them many miles away.

Although the city school system opened this morning, work was suspended at the noon hour and children were permitted to go home until the weather improves.

J. H. Rose, superintendent of city schools, stated work probably would be resumed Monday morning.

He stated that only a minor number of students were missing from the various schools this morning and that work continued with little interruption until the noon hour.

Children in the schools which managed to open were more interested in passing snowballs at the head of some unsuspecting student than the serious business of improving their mental condition, and the remainder of the week will be given over to the favorite outdoor sport so seldom enjoyed in this part of the country.

Goins was arrested at a store in Wrightsboro, near here.

Unemployment Insurance Proposed. Raleigh, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Unemployment insurance was proposed for North Carolina in the General Assembly today as two more bills looking to reduction of the cost of automobile licenses were introduced.

Senator Burgin sent in a bill providing that employers and employees pay to the state which would administer a sum equal to three per cent of employees' salary.

Payments of persons out of work would start 26 days after reemployment.

Representative Makepeace of Lee and Cameron of Moore, joined in a House bill to cut the cost of automobile licenses 50 per cent and Senators Ehrdd of Stanley and Cross of Lee, sent in similar measures in the Senate. Yesterday a House bill was introduced calling for a minimum

TO TAKE UP FARM BILL ON MONDAY

TWO HELD IN KIDNAP CASE

Man and Wife Face Hearing at Atlanta for Plan to Kidnap N. C. People.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 13.—(AP)—A couple held in an extortion plot against Joe P. Cannon, Concord textile magnate, today faced a charge of conspiracy to kidnap two members of his family, carry them away in interstate commerce and hold them for ransom.

The charge was contained in a warrant preferred by District Attorney Clint Hager who said the couple, Odell C. Boyles and his wife, would be given preliminary hearing today.

WOOTEN WILL HEAD TAX TILT

Local Man Chosen to Represent League in Effort to Remove Power Tax.

P. M. Wooten, Greenville attorney, has been selected by the Municipal League of the East to go to Washington City in connection with an effort to get the government to take off the federal tax against the individual users of power and light.

He was chosen at a meeting of the league recently held in Wilson which was attended by about fifteen mayors, utility managers and members of boards of aldermen from different sections of Eastern Carolina.

The organization is working with other associations of the country in an effort to further relieve the public of taxation. Representatives from other sections will also be sent to Washington at the same time to assist in the movement.

The tax has added to the expense of individual users of power the last year or so, and with unusual financial conditions existing throughout the nation at this time, it was believed that a lifting of this tax would be a decided relief to taxpayers.

Although the date upon which the delegations will visit the capital city has not been determined, it was stated this would be decided upon at an early date.

OFFICIALS OF COURT TAKE VOLUNTARY CUTS

Lenoir, Jan. 13.—Judge A. R. Crisp of the Recorder's Court, has taken a voluntary cut in salary of 10 per cent, effective immediately. It was learned this week. The judge's salary is $1,800 per annum.

It was also learned that V. D. Guire, clerk of the Recorder's Court had taken a cut of approximately 15 per cent, effective last September.

Other salary cuts are anticipated in the near future as the Democrats' victory in this county, had pledged themselves to "reasonable reductions" in salaries.

Agricultural Unrest Again Breaks Out in Iowa

Restless while waiting for relief legislation, Iowa farmers took it upon themselves and organized to halt tax sales and farm mortgage foreclosures. At La Mars they stormed the office of Judge C. W. Pitts (upper right) demanding a halt in foreclosures. Judge Pitts suggested a five to seven months moratorium on farm mortgages. Gov. Clyde Herring (upper left) predicted the new Iowa assembly will pass relief measures. Below is a group of Iowa farmers.

AUTO DRIVERS ARE ARRESTED

State Department Orders Nabbing of All Persons Driving with 1932 Licenses.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Highway patrolmen in all parts of the State today were instructed to "take them to the license bureau" when motorists were found operating cars with 1932 licenses.

Captain Farmer sent out orders to all men today to place motorists under technical arrest without issuing warrants and take them or send them to the nearest license bureau and make them buy plates. Chairman E. B. Jeffers, of the Highway Commission, said.

No definite information as to the number of arrests made since January 10 was available.

EHRINGHAUS STILL AT DESK

Snow Fails to Keep Governor away from office at Raleigh this Morning.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Though snow was more than three inches deep on the ground, Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus went to his office today in spite of his recent illness.

"I really feel better than I did yesterday," the governor said. "I am going to stay off that seat of fever which I had this week."

MEPMAN'S FIELDING SKILL SURPRISE TO CHICAGO FANS

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Chicago baseball fans, under the impression the Cubs had acquired Babe Herman almost solely for batting purposes, found something of a shock in the National League fielding averages.

The official figures show that Herman, only two years ago tagged "the self-defense outfielder" because, one scribe wrote, he learned to catch fly balls to avoid being hit on the head, had a better fielding record for 1932 than the Cubs' own Kiki Cuyler, long regarded here as a paragon of our fielding skill.

Iowa Farmers Seek Own Relief; Balk Tax Sales

By L. E. SKELLY. Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Agrarian Iowa, focal point of farmers' "strikes" last summer, again seethes with agricultural unrest as county officers attempt to conduct delinquent tax sales and mortgages seek to foreclose on farm land.

Hard hit by the lowest prices in eighty years, many Iowans have lost farms that have belonged to the same family for generations.

Farm leaders predict others will experience a similar fate unless either State or Federal relief is obtained.

There must be an immediate rise in agricultural prices or a scaling down of all farm mortgages, or both, they assert, if the Iowa farmer is to survive.

Resless while others debate the future, Iowa farmers have taken things into their own hands. For once they contradicted the old theory that the farmer would not organize. Groups were merged throughout Iowa to prevent tax sales and foreclosure of mortgages.

Success of their strategy was strikingly illustrated by the gathering of (Continued on page four)

SNOW MAN ON A VISIT HERE

The snowman visited Greenville today and blanketed the countryside with what the weather department described as eight inches of downy white flakes at twelve o'clock.

The snow started falling shortly after midnight last night and at 8 o'clock this morning, B. T. Clark, director of the local government weather bureau, said five inches had been recorded. The mercury dropped from about fifty degrees to 29.

It was the second visit of the snowman since shortly before the Christmas holidays when a light coating of both sleet and snow covered the community for a day or so. The precipitation was the most pronounced since the record snow of March 1, 1927 when the heaviest fall in the memory of the oldest inhabitants visited sunny Eastern Carolina.

The snow had reached such depth at the noon hour that traffic was seriously affected, although some automobiles plowed their way perilously along streets in the main business section.

Sidewalks were treacherous and only a few pedestrians risked themselves out in the open. Business men, however, went to their places of business as usual during the morning hours and waited for any business which might fall their way. The snow was greeted joyously by (Continued on Page Four)

MOUNTAINS AND COAST UNAFFECTED

Three Inches of Snow Recorded in All But Western and Extreme Southeastern Parts of State; Wilmington and Asheville Without Snow; Half-Inch Reported at Charlotte With Flakes Still Falling; Fall Continues in All Other Sections.

Charlotte, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Winter turned loose its fury over North Carolina today and showered the state with snow.

The fall reached a depth of a fraction of an inch in some places, to nine and a half inches around Fayetteville.

Charlotte, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Crawling up on North Carolina in the hours before dawn, a snow ranging from a half to more than three inches deep had blanketed the state today except in the western and extreme southeastern sections.

The flakes started falling shortly after five o'clock and continued a few hours in the Piedmont region and was still falling at the noon hour with no indication of slackening in the north central and northeastern parts of the state.

It was the state's second snow of the winter.

Asheville, where snows in this state are often bigger and better than elsewhere, and Wilmington, on the coast had had none at noon today.

Skies were cloudless in Asheville and the mercury was rising after sinking to 29 degrees.

In Wilmington, however, rain fell and the temperature dropped to 33 and the weather man said there would be more rain and freezing tonight.

Three inches of snow with no sleet fell at Raleigh and it appeared the fall would continue there all day. The weather bureau said the absence of sleet was unusual.

The Charlotte weather bureau said approximately a half an inch fell there and forecast fair and continued cold after the flakes stopped falling.

Away in the northeastern part of the state Elizabeth City had two inches and the flakes were still falling.

Rocky Mount, Washington, Wilson and other points were covered with three inches this morning and more was falling.

Storm Warning Is Issued Today

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The weather bureau today issued the following storm warning: Advisory 10:30 a. m., northwestern storm moving between Atlantic City and Cape Hatteras, and small craft warning south of Hatteras to Savannah.

Disturbance central over Florida and moving northeastward.

YOUTHFUL FORGER IS RETURNED TO JAIL

Elizabeth City, Jan. 13.—Stephen Stephen Bateman, seventeen-year-old Woodville youth, was returned to jail in default of $2,000 bond when a finding of probable cause on a charge of forgery was returned in recorder's court Wednesday.

Bateman was arrested Tuesday when he appeared in a local bank here and presented a check for $310.14, alleged to have been signed by North Bright of this city.

Bond was set at $1,500 Tuesday but Bateman was unable to furnish this amount. Wednesday the bond was raised to $2,000. He will face trial at the next term of Superior Court.

Some newspapers are now provided with wax overcoats when delivered in wet weather.

IT SHOULD PASS

Senator Arthur Corey, of this county, has introduced a bill in the legislature that would require the strict examination of every automobile driver in this state before issuing him or her a license to drive. If our highways are ever to be made safe for travel the physically and mentally unfit and the otherwise irresponsible driver must be prohibited from driving automobiles and this bill offers the only means of accomplishing this end. It is hoped that Senator Corey will leave no stone unturned in his efforts to get this measure through the Senate and that our Representatives in the House will give him their fullest co-operation when the bill comes up in the House for action. The passage of this bill would prove of great benefit to the whole state.

ABOUT TOWN

Two children have been killed by automobiles while leaving school buses in various sections of the county the last six months. The last of the accidents occurred in the Grimesland community and resulted in the death of a ten year old boy. The driver of the death car stated the accident was unavoidable. That may have been the case but had been stopped as the law provides while approaching a standing school bus the accident would not have happened. The law provides specifically that cars come to a halt when school buses are taking on or discharging passengers, and people who obey the law will not be guilty of running over some child leaving such a vehicle. Nobody would intentionally kill a human being but we take too many chances at times in the hope of getting by safely as we have done hundreds of other times. We should not trust to chance when a human life is involved, and by obeying to a letter the state traffic laws we can have a charge of criminal negligence brought against us. The lives in six months is a heavy toll of violation of one law, and it would cause the people to awaken to the dangers of violation and induce them to be more cautious in the matter of school buses. The reduction of diphtheria and other toxic in this county the past year will be received with interest by that great mass of people who give much attention to public health activities. Many diseases were cut to an appreciable extent during 1932 records of the department of health indicate and effort will be made to improve the condition this year. The reduction is attributed to education and vaccination. In other parts of the state people have been taught that education is the only way to immunize, and that they have taken advantage of the teaching is evident in the report of the health department. Health is one of the first consid-

Buying Barbara

By Julia Cleft-Addams • Author of "YOU CAN'T HARRY"

BUYING BARBARA SYNOPSIS: Farrell Armitage's fiancée, Mrs. Lodely's misgivings as to why he does so much for her son Mark with a further promise to have a famous doctor try to cure his crippled body. Mark makes his hostess ridiculous in some sketches drawn in a night club, then sells them to her. The check he offers by insisting that the check form part of an allowance for "incidentals." Farrell's deeper plan is to win Mark's fiancée, Barbara Quentin, for himself.

that lights were springing up in the town, although it was only a little after 4 o'clock. She was very tired. Her assistant at the shop had been stupid, customers had been trying and none of her wholesale orders had arrived for a house she was decorating. She made a dispirited way towards the room she had occupied until a few days ago. There, rising up behind the town, was Upper Mallard hill, where Farrell Armitage had spent one of his early years. Somewhere in its folds was the terraced slope where the Lodelys had had their house and where she, too, as a very little girl, had lived and played in the sun. Not for the first time she found occasion to wonder by what strange financial jugglery her father and Mark's should have died ruined and broken, while Cane, their partner, had prospered.

erations of a community. Healthy men and women are able to accomplish more than those who are constantly affected by poor health, and money spent in improvement of public health is diverted to a good cause. If the legislature can cut automobile license fees and keep the state out of a hole, they everybody will be glad to hear of such a thing being taken. A bill providing for a $5 minimum license fee as against $12 at the present time is being sought in a measure introduced yesterday. Its fate is problematical in the face of the serious shortage in state finances, and should it get through both houses it will be because the solons can make up for the shortage from some other source. Cuts without impairing public service is what the people want at this time and the mere legislature is able to provide the better the people will like it.

The government survey, having as its purpose the saving of game on the Atlantic seaboard, will be received with interest by sportsmen of this part of the state who have been troubled and distressed because of reports of game perishing along the coast of this state. The unknown disease affecting certain kinds of grasses which wild game feeds on has proved a puzzle to scientists, but the investigation will be continued until its nature has been determined. When the government gets behind a thing it is a ten to one bet it will not give up until all facts are in its possession. Lack of feed has caused the death of hundreds of wild geese in recent years, and unless something is done to improve the condition the game supply along the Atlantic coast will be virtually depleted as birds seek other areas. The survey is a very important one and means much to the coastal section of this state which derives considerable money from hunters who visit here from other states in quest of the excellent sport to be found.

The fight against influenza in this county has been quite successful and if conditions do not change an epidemic of the disease will be avoided. This is in striking contrast with other parts of the state where schools have been forced to close because of prevalence of flu of unusual scope. While there are hundreds of cases in the county health authorities believe they have the situation well in hand and that the return of cold weather will result in dissipating the remaining cases.

moment consider the possibility of doing what he asked. To work for Farrell under Mark's sneering smile would be intolerable. Besides, if she did go to London, there would be Miss Raoul's commission first. She found that she had passed the garage where she must order a car to convey the Lodely luggage to Toxeter. She had to retrace her steps and order it. It was to come in two hours. Two hours gave her only just long enough, but as she let herself into Kings Barn, she was glad she would have no time to waste. She put on an old smock of Judy's and dragged the trunks from their dusty corners. She tackled Mark's room first, but he had left very little behind him. When things were in place, she said good-bye to the room and went across to Judy's. Here there was more to do. Barbara, who had known her so long, was appalled at the litter. Old scarves, old stockings, bits and ends of ribbon—Barbara took upon herself to throw away at least half the accumulation. There remained now the two downstairs rooms and the kitchen. Except for Mark's books which had to be packed separately, there was little here belonging to either mother or son. A cigarette case of Judy's lay on the mantelpiece, Mark's gramophone was on a table. There was a battered darning basket. In the drawers of a desk there were some papers. Without examining them, Barbara lifted them out. She added to the collection some note-paper and a fountain pen and then, on an impulse, sat down and wrote Farrell Armitage that she was not free to come to London. The truck was due, but not yet in sight. Barbara decided to run out and post her letter.

She had posted it and was back on the threshold of the house when she heard someone move in the sitting-room. Idiot that she was—she had left the door ajar! (Copyright, 1932, Julia Cleft-Addams)

Some Cabinet "dopesters" have put him at the head of the huge Department of Commerce, others have "picked" him for Attorney General or Secretary of the Interior. The high fiscal standing attained by the Free State during his regime and maintained in the economic crisis has given national status to his reputation as an administrator. Some political observers have envisioned Ritchie as Ambassador to disappointed that he had found no time to say. She did not for one Keen but courteous, a distinguish-way along the street. Presumably they have found pickings so slim down there that they don't think it worth while to accost any one on the bowery sidewalks. They go up town to bum their dime.

The height of something or other was in evidence on Forty-second Street, near the library, the other afternoon. One of the Bryant Park bench warmers was leaning against the fence with a sort of capitalistic disdain on his stubbled face, permitting a little colored boy to shine his shoes for a nickel.

The toe of the right shoe was cut away and the lad applied polish to a gray wool sock. There was snow on the ground, too. Christmas tree was set up in Times Square for the first year in succession. Whatever the disadvantages of the arrangement, the huge tree that stood just north of the Old Times building was one of the most flamboyant sights New York had to offer.

English Accents Be Heard Often In Films in 1933

By ROBBIN COONS Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 13.—This year is likely to see the triumph of the "English accent" on the screen, a speech that has had its ups and downs in the talks. Ruth Chatterton (born in New York) brought a broad-a to early talkies that many Americans resented as an affectation, and the result was a general veering away from any suspicion of artificiality in diction. Some players even went to extremes and vaunted their Middle-Westernisms and Southern drawls as proofs of naturalness.

TALKS TO PARENTS

Intuitively we feel that this is the result of the school day with its long hours of sitting still and working at tasks which require effort and concentration.

About NEW YORK

By WILLIAM GAINES New York, Jan. 13.—Lucius Boomer, the big hotel man, dropped into the Actor's Dinner Club, now accommodated in a Forty-second Street restaurant. He was curious to see how this organization of theatrical folks goes about its business of feeding needy actors without charge. In its first year the club served more than 100,000 free meals.

debate—unless someone arouses him. These changes were noticeable the day he took the floor to explain his bill. The fact that Senator Long of Louisiana had pushed in ahead of him before he had had a chance to talk irked him a little but he refused to get unduly aroused.

In a calm, conversational tone, speaking almost wholly without notes, but with that exact diction and sure memory for figures and dates so characteristic of him, he started.

As he went on, perhaps he pounded his fist on the desk or a forefinger waved in emphasis. But it wasn't often. Most of the time he talked to the senators grouped around him much as if he were a professor lecturing a class.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

ROUND-TOED SHOE REVIVAL PREDICTED BY DESIGNER

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 13.—(AP)—A revival of round-toed footwear for ladies is predicted as one of 1933's fashion innovations by W. G. Hunt, designer for a large St. Louis shoe company. Broad-strap sandals and ties in pigskin will feature the new "blunt" models, he prophesies, with even high-heeled sandals and pumps influenced by the change. Hunt doesn't expect the round toe to shove the narrow toe into the background, however, at least not this year.

CAROLINA TO BEGIN PLAY WITH 'CATS'

Chapel Hill, Jan. 13.—The Carolina basketball team will open its Big Five schedule with Davidson at Charlotte Saturday night.

A fast game is expected from the Wildcats who are led by Capt. Bruce Peabody and who are rated one of the strong teams in the Big Five.

The Tar Heels came through their opening game with Guilford in fair style, but without displaying a number of weaknesses.

Captain Wilmer Hines and Vergil Weathers at forward and Dave McCahren at guard, showed flashes of the form that carried them to the conference finals last year.

The shooting was not sure however, the passing was inclined to be ragged at times, and the boys had obviously not developed their wind or their organization.

George Brandt looked fair in Paul Edwards' old center post, but Coach Bo Shepard is still worrying about finding a man to fill Tom Alexander's vacated shoes at guard.

Oddly enough, the All-Southern Alexander was from Charlotte, and Edwards is now playing for the Charlotte "Y" team. Further, Stuart Aitken, who is one of the leading men being tried for Alexander's old post, is from the Queen City, and also Dave McCahren, star at the other guard.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, five to seven higher on steady Liverpool cables and trade buying.

Demand was supplied by southern selling combined with local selling on the decline of 6.20 for March and prices held fairly steady later in the morning.

At midday prices were about 3 to 5 net higher.

Stock Market

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The stock market today idly teetered through a dull session in which prices ranged either fractionally below or above the previous closing quotations.

Major fractions were surrendered by Allied Chemical, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Loew's and Druggs, Inc.

U. S. Steel, American Telephone and Union Pacific were lower. Case dipped fractionally while Harvester gained as much.

Tobacco was firm, shares of the "Big Three" gaining as much as a point. Eastman and Columbian Bicarbonate were higher.

Stocks drifted aimlessly in the late trading, easing irregularly lower. Transfers were 800,000 shares.
