STATE GIVEN NEW PORTRAIT

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 26.—A portrait of the late Captain Nathan O'Berry, of Goldsboro, who was Treasurer of North Carolina when he died suddenly a year ago, was presented to the State today by his family at exercises in the hall of the House of Representatives here.

Kenneth Royal, of Goldsboro, a long friend of the late Treasurer, tendered the portrait to the State for the family, and Josephus Daniels, editor of the News and Observer, accepted it for the State.

Mr. Daniels paid tribute to Captain O'Berry in the words of former Governor O. Max Gardner, who drafted the Goldsboro man to make him Treasurer.

"In my opinion the State has never had a more patriotic public servant," was the appreciation of Governor Gardner when Captain O'Berry died. The tribute of the former chief executive expressed the opinion of the entire State, Mr. Daniels said.

The Raleigh publisher said if he were asked to describe Captain O'Berry he would say he was a typical North Carolinian, incarnating all the pride and patriotism of spirit of the State conscience inherent in a true Tar Heel.

BEAMAN FACES ARSON CHARGE

Former Minister Indicted a Second Time by the Grand Jury This Week

Thos. E. Beaman, former preacher and U. S. Commissioner, held in jail here on a charge of embezzlement, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday on a charge of arson growing out of the damage to his home by fire one night last week.

Beaman, who was at liberty under $1,000 bond on a Federal charge of bribery and conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, was indicted for embezzlement by the grand jury here the first of the week and confined in jail to await trial probably at this term of court.

The charge of arson was brought following an investigation of the fire at the home of the former minister by W. A. Scott, Deputy Insurance Commissioner, who filed a complaint with Solicitor D. M. Clarke, who presented the bill to the grand jury.

The building, belonging to Mrs. Hortense Moyer, was badly damaged by fire between 4 and 5 o'clock last Sunday morning.

Firemen reported finding of burlap bags saturated with kerosene in different parts of the building. The fire, originating in the upper part of the building, practically destroyed that section of the structure.

Beaman was said to have denied firing the house, declaring he knew nothing about it. He was said to have rushed from the burning structure in his night clothes when the alarm was sounded.

In the first indictment here this week Beaman was charged with accepting premiums on insurance policies without turning them over to the proper authorities. About thirty people said they had made payments to him on policies, and the complaint resulting in his indictment was filed by an official of the National Guaranty and Finance Corporation, the concern for which he accepted payments.

The Federal charges resulted from his alleged acceptance of bribes from members of the whiskey traffic for information concerning the operation of members of the law-enforcement departments of the county. He was nabbed by police and county officers at a negro store about two months ago while in the act of accepting a bribe from a negro storekeeper used by law-enforcement officers to obtain final evidence against the former U. S. Commissioner.

Beaman denied the charge, declaring he was merely collecting payments on insurance policies.

NEGRO DRAWS THREE YEARS FOR ROBBERY

Two Others Sentenced to Two Years on Breaking and Entering Charge Here

Remie Stewart, colored, charged with breaking and entering the Carolina Dry Cleaners here during December and stealing a considerable amount of clothing, was sentenced to three years in prison by Judge H. A. Grady in criminal court here yesterday.

Jerry Groom and Solomon Herring, also colored, held in connection with the same case, were sentenced to one year each. Clothes valued at $200 were taken by the men when they entered the dry cleaning establishment here prior to the Christmas holidays. They apparently had made good their escape until police discovered some of the clothing in Wilson and Edgecombe counties.

Stewart, who was being held in the Wilson jail on a similar charge, implicated Groom and Herring who were serving time on Edgecombe County roads. With the aid of the prisoners, Chief of Police George Clark recovered most of the stolen property which had been disposed of in three counties.

Groom and Herring will be returned to Edgecombe County to complete road sentences, after which they will begin service of the sentence imposed by the court here. Stewart will also complete his term in Wilson County before beginning the new sentence.

AGREE ON NEW RELIEF PLAN

Measure Said to Carry Out Suggestions of President-Elect Roosevelt Approved

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—(AP)—A general relief program understood by its sponsors to carry out suggestions of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt was agreed upon today by the Senate Manufacturers Committee and a report of the measure was sent to the Senate authorities without a vote.

This latest proposition combines the La Follette-Costigan and Cutting bills which had aimed at different angles of relief.

Senator La Follette and Cutting, who supported the Democratic Presidential ticket, conferred at Warm Springs recently with the President-elect and said they found him sympathetic.

The new bill authorizes direct granting of the total fund of $500,000,000 to be available and increased by a lump sum and notes and obligations which the corporation is authorized to issue. It sets up a Federal emergency relief board of three members to be named by the President to the board to allocate the fund to the Reconstruction Corporation when payments are made.

The combined bill removed the provisions of the La Follette-Costigan bill that the chief of the Veterans' Bureau shall be the executive officer of the board and substitutes authority for the board to elect its own officers.

YEGGMEN FRIGHTENED FROM WILSON OFFICE

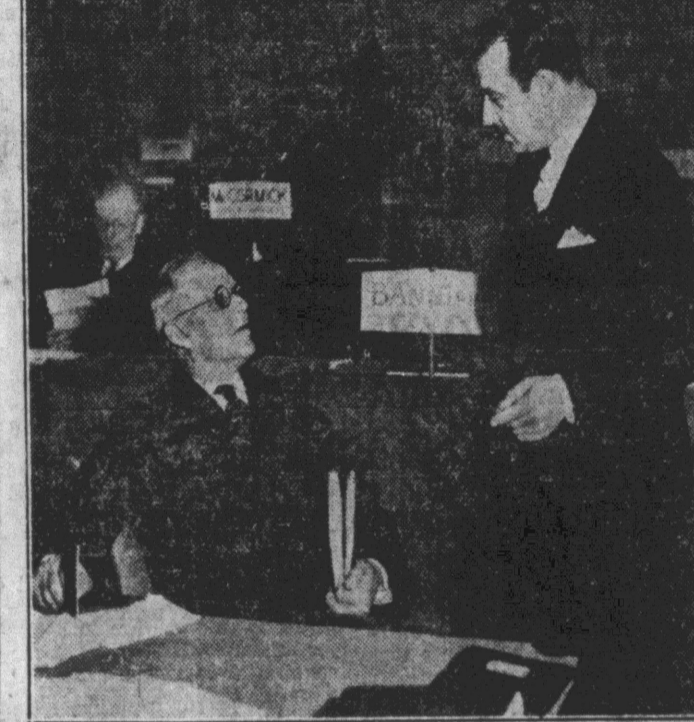

Wilson, Jan. 26.—Four or five supposed yeggmens were frightened away from the office of the Standard Grocery Company, wholesale concern operated by John W. The men leaped into a waiting automobile and drove off at a high rate of speed.

The men gained entrance to the building by breaking two locks off the front door. Nothing was missing from the office or the warehouse and indications were the men intended only to crack the safe and get its contents.

NEGRO GOES ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Herbert Rogers Faces Court Charged With Attacking White Woman

Herbert Rogers, colored, arrested the latter part of last year on a charge of criminally attacking a white woman in the Chicago section of this county, went on trial for his life in the criminal term of Superior Court here this morning.

Presentation of evidence began about 11 o'clock following selection of a jury. Judge Grady yesterday ordered a special venire to be summoned but only five or six of the veniremen were used.

Six witnesses will be used by the state in an effort to convict the negro of the alleged criminal attack on Mrs. Mattie Waters' farm tenant, living in the Chicago territory. Several witnesses were also to be presented by the defense.

The attack was said by Mrs. Waters to have occurred one night during December, when a negro entered her home, dragged her from bed, threw her out of a window and carried her to an outhouse where the crime was alleged to have been committed.

Officers said they followed footprints to Rogers' home where they found wet overalls believed to have been worn by the negro the night of the crime. They said the footprints corresponded with those of the negro.

Mrs. Waters was said to have identified Rogers when he was carried before her two or three days after the attack was reported to have taken place.

The negro vigorously denied the allegation following his confinement in jail here. He admitted having been out in the bad weather that night but asserted his innocence of the crime.

The case was expected to consume the remainder of today and probably part of tonight's session.

Late News Flashes

Today In The Legislature: Raleigh, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Discussion of the possibility of a eight months school term in the Senate education committee and voting of an unfavorable report to the bill designed to abolish the state-wide primary by the House election committee held legislative spotlight today.

The Senate held a most lifeless session passing a number of local bills but not taking up its public calendar. A number of new measures were introduced.

Senator McLean, of Beaufort, long a champion of the cause of school-proposed to the Senate's education committee that it seriously consider drafting a bill to provide for an 8 months school. McLean is chairman of the group.

The Beaufort colon said such operation could be done cheaper than under the present plan.

The election committee heard Rep. Murphy of Rowan assert that better men for public office can be had under the convention plan than by primaries, but after several opponents of the proposal charged it would rob the people of a voice in the matter and that selection of candidates in convention amounted to disfranchisement of voters, an unfavorable report followed.

Dempsy of Wilson proposed to a bill sent to the Senate that the state commissioner of labor be named executive officer of the industrial commission and that it have two

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Representative Snell, of New York, the minority leader, said today that President Hoover was in accord with agreement of House Republicans to seek action to raise the American tariff against countries with depreciated currency.

He had conferred with President Hoover for nearly an hour, and told newspapermen they had discussed also the Great Britain note of yesterday on war debts to be held after March 4.

Snell expressed the view it would be better to discuss the economic problems first with Britain and other nations before making any settlement on debts.

Maj. Gen McCoy Diplomat of Army Returns to Ranks

By HERBERT PLUMMER: Washington, D. C., (AP)—The diplomat of the army is returning to the ranks and to "hoss" duty at that.

Major-General Frank R. McCoy has received his orders to return to troop duty as commander of the first cavalry division at Fort Bliss, Texas.

It's a far cry from Manchuria to Texas, from Armenia to Fort Bliss, from Nicaragua to routine troop duty, but the General has demonstrated during the thirty-five years he has served in the army that such gaps can be bridged very easily.

Few officers in the army have had as varied and colorful a career as McCoy. Since the time as a 24-year-old lieutenant who fell wounded in the charge on San Juan Hill until just recently when he was entrusted with the delicate task of helping negotiate a settlement of the Manchurian dispute as a member of the Lytton commission his experience has been surpassed by few in the military annals of this country.

His ability as a diplomat reveals his skill as a soldier.

Aid To Roosevelt: It was after he fell in the charge on San Juan Hill that McCoy received his first experience in state affairs. Major-General Leonard Wood was governor of Cuba in 1902 and made him his aid. Four years later President Roosevelt appointed him as his aid and a member of the Peace Commission to Cuba.

McCoy's diplomatic missions, however, were sandwiched in between his duties as a soldier. For, although he has had marked success in diplomacy, he regards himself first, last and always a soldier.

Thus in the World War he commanded a regiment of the famous Rainbow Division, having previously fought on the Mexican border. He also served as director of the army transport service as well as director-general of transportation.

Given Difficult Tasks: In 1919, however, he was on his way to Armenia as a member of General Harbor's military commission and a year later he was in the Philippines on a diplomatic mission.

Then came the delicate job of supervising the elections in Nicaragua, next the chairmanship of the commission which endeavored to settle the dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay over the Chaco and finally, what was probably his most noteworthy assignment, membership on the Lytton commission to restore peace in the Far East.

He is of medium height, with cropped black mustache and street bearing.

ABOUT TOWN

Roosevelt is preparing to confer with foreign nations on the war debt question, but in the opinion of leading party members, there will be no reduction or cancellation of debts.

This is the sentiment of the majority of members of Congress and while some of the countries apparently are seeking cancellation their hopes are doomed to be blasted.

This country considers that it aided the foreign nations at a time when they needed it worse than they ever needed it before and thinks they should come across and pay. If America owed the powers herself she wouldn't be able to pay too quickly.

It doesn't seem exactly right for such demands to be made in view of the fact that this country was forced to pay the foreign powers for the privilege of fighting on their own ground for their own cause in addition to the paying out millions of dollars in actual conflict.

It is felt that the money loaned should be paid back and members of Congress undoubtedly will stick steadfastly to their contention despite what the representatives of other powers have to say at the Roosevelt conference.

Prediction of revolution in this country if farmers are not given desired relief from low prices has been made by prominent leaders of the industry recently, and this has caused members of Congress to do some serious thinking in connection with the farm measure now being given consideration.

Nobody cares for revolution at this time when we can hardly make ends meet, and everything will be done to give growers as much relief as possible.

The farm bill will place growers on the same basis as manufacturers and give them the same protection as enjoyed by manufactured products. If this isn't going a long way to solve the problem, the opinion of men high in public life counts for nothing. It is believed such a measure would work to the direct benefit of growers and the sooner it passes Congress and becomes law the sooner the farmers will get back to the high grounds of better times.

Persons who violate the law must pay for it. This fact was emphasized in criminal court here this week when numbers of men found their way to prison and the roads for violation of the law.

The majority of them resorted to home and store breaking, and while nothing was taken in some cases, these guilty of the crime had to pay along with those who accomplished their purpose.

There is too much of this kind of crime going on at the time and the only way to halt it is in the court to deal out punishment in proportion to the seriousness of the offense. Officers are kept busy in all parts of the county apprehending men guilty of violation of the law but they cannot hope to accomplish what they should if the offenders are not properly punished.

The court here this week has proved that it is not dealing lightly with criminals and the action should have a salutary effect on the future life of the county.

The coming of new business and new folks to Greenville at this time shows the outside world is becoming interested in the "greatest bright spot" tobacco market in the world, and the principal shopping center of this section of the state.

The town has grown rapidly the last fifteen years and it is no idle prediction to say it is destined to show even more pronounced growth in the future.

Located in the finest bright leaf producing county in the world, there is no reason why Greenville should not continue to enjoy attention from people desiring to find a better place to live and do business.

The possibilities of the community, despite the wave of depression, are as great now as they have ever been, and men who take advantage of the opportunities which the city has to offer will ride with the tide when it begins to reach new heights of achievement.

Advertising pays it has been asserted repeatedly until every child in the country recognizes the phrase. It will continue to pay because the American people have been taught to watch the columns of daily papers if they wish to be able to obtain the best the market has to offer.

Greenville merchants always have the best kind of stocks on hand. They let the public know by constant advertisements in the columns of this paper. They have been richly repaid for the effort as have the consumers, and the future for increased advertising is bright. It is going to be one of the most vital factors in recovering from the setback brought on by depression. Men who realize this fact and get down to business will be the first to see the blush on the pale cheeks of the depression when the regal day of prosperity appears again.

Buying Barbara

by Julia Cleft-Addams Author of "YOU CAN'T HARRY"

SYNOPSIS: Barbara Quentin blunders into a wild party and decides that Farrell Armitage, who has taken charge of Mark Lodely's career and is making him a famous artist, is really trying to debauch Mark. Barbara is engaged to Mark, but has promised not to marry him until the end of Farrell's experiment, for Farrell loves Barbara. Barbara asks Mark to leave Farrell; Mark tells her the wild party she saw was all his own idea. Then he in effect orders Barbara to leave him. She does, and collapses as his car disappears.

Chapter 40 FINDING BARBARA

It was a month later that Armitage again came to the West country. He drove the beautiful Devalat tenderly, because it was one day to be Barbara's; but he drove resourcefully, demanding every ounce of power and speed, because he was in a hurry.

He remembered with detachment how he had been in no hurry at all on his first journey down. He had almost dawdled on the roads, postponing the moment when he should present himself, the conventional week-end guest, at South-of-the-Water; wishing that it was the Upper Mallard vicarage to which he was going; wishing that he had stayed at home. Not even dimly sensing what havoc was to be made of him by a girl's upturned face, pearl-clear in the dusk.

He entered Kings Mallard on this second occasion in the late afternoon and found his way at once to the house where Barbara had had her lodgings. He knew he would not find her there, but he hoped for information.

Mrs. Lodely had frightened him. Mrs. Lodely had complained to him loudly and irrelevantly of the sudden silence of Barbara. "Slippin' away that party night, without sayin' good-bye."

"And only a line since to say the Way End house is sold furnished and my poor old belongings stored in some furniture warehouse that I'll bet is damp and costin' me I don't know what! It's selfish of her, puttin' me to expense like that. And Mark smilin' to himself whenever I ask him where she is and what she's up to! No use ever tryin' to get a scrap of news out of Mark."

Armitage had politely commended her patience whilst his own had immediately and entirely deserted him. He had ordered the Devalat and a packed bag and had left London within the hour.

"No, sir," Barbara's landlady leaned her shapeless bulk against the poor-post. "Miss Quentin ain't been in Mallard, not since she tuk Mrs. Lodely's boxes away. 'To Toxeter, she'd be, likely."

"No, I've inquired in Toxeter. Nothing is known of her at the house she had there and her shop is sold to a comparative stranger."

Armitage reflected. His mind was blankly silent. The Yarn Market lay unanswering under the winter wind. He sighed, re-started the Devalat—and found that he was muttering "At Bogey Cove."

Barbara there? It seems nonsensical. He glanced at his watch—it was not yet six o'clock, not too late, really, and not too cold for a healthy girl to walk by the seashore. The bay could not be far from here.

He was there in four minutes, for the stony road of his memory had been replaced by very fair paving. There was even a parking-place where he could leave the Devalat.

"Do you know if there is a lady on the shore?" he asked the man who came to collect the fee.

"Up towards Bogey Head she went. She didn't ought to go further. Tide's coming in."

"I'll bring her back."

Armitage stepped out on to crisp solid shingle. The moon was young and faint in an uncertain sky. He strode towards a group of rocks that awakened childish memories.

As he rounded the rocks, he saw her. She was standing with bent head, kicking a hole in the sand with her heel. She was bare-headed and, under the cloud-whisper moon, her hair looked like a crest of foam.

She had not heard him come and, afraid of startling her, he stopped and attempted to light a cigarette. He knew exactly when the abortive spurt of flame caught her gaze and he threw away the cigarette and moved nearer.

"Barbara!"

"Who—who is it?" And then, a though ashamed of the evasion—

"—are as great now as they have ever been, and men who take advantage of the opportunities which the city has to offer will ride with the tide when it begins to reach new heights of achievement."

Advertising pays it has been asserted repeatedly until every child in the country recognizes the phrase. It will continue to pay because the American people have been taught to watch the columns of daily papers if they wish to be able to obtain the best the market has to offer.

A SEAT in the CABINET

ALFRED E. SMITH

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a series of articles picturing briefly possible members of the Roosevelt Cabinet.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, scanning the list of Cabinet possibilities, perhaps has found there the names of as many men of "Presidential caliber" type as any President-elect in American history.

Included in that classification, of course, is the man whom Roosevelt himself so long supported for the highest office in the land. Yet Alfred E. Smith, while among those first mentioned as a Cabinet prospect, has never publicly indicated that he had the slightest desire for such a post.

There has been talk of employing his administrative talent as Secretary of Commerce, but many admirers of the former New York governor are of the opinion that such a position would have scant attraction for him. They see almost any Cabinet position as a political "come-down" in a sense for the recent leader of the party.

As the time for decision by President-Elect Roosevelt draws nearer, the idea has been gaining currency that Smith may be named directing head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—an agency upon which the new administration is expected to rely considerably in fighting the depression.

"Barbara?"

"If the vicar didn't tell you I was down here by the sea, how could you possibly have known?"

"I shall not tell you that until I am quite certain that you will believe me."

He thought that the color swept her face, but the moonlight was treacherous. The end of her scarf touched his shoulder. He held it gently.

"You didn't marry Mark," he said very low.

"You didn't cheat," she said, on a quick, timid breath. "I've been trying to find courage to apologize for accusing you of it, but I simply couldn't write. And I thought it might be easier when I met you."

"It was Poole you heard commenting on Lodely," he said after a silence. "Ho McLaughlin, the cartoonist. Apparently Lella Cane told Lodely that you were downstairs, but went home directly afterwards. When I heard that you had come to my house," his voice thickened, "alone, late at night, and had not received the barest sign of common hospitality, you, who ought to have been carried over the threshold. He checked himself as she took a startled step backwards."

"But it wasn't anybody's fault," she protested, "except Mark's. No harm was done—"

How CARDUI Helped Weak, Nervous Woman

"I was nervous and weak and my back hurt," writes Mrs. Emma Nichols, of Murfreesboro, Tenn. "I could hardly rest. I had a nervous, weak trembling in the lower part of my body and a bearing-down feeling. I had read of Cardui and decided to take it. After my first bottle, I felt better and kept taking it. It helped me. I took three bottles, and by then I was much improved and rid of the nervousness, so much so that I have recommended Cardui to my daughters and friends. I think it is a splendid medicine to build up the whole system."

MAKES WOMEN LOSE FAT Miss Rea M. Haines of Dayton, Ohio, writes: "I weighed 180 so started to take Kruschen. I never was so surprised as when I weighed myself the first week—I lost 7 pounds. I just bought my 3rd jar and am down to 145—am still taking them and never felt better in my life!" (June 17, 1932).

To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks cost but a few cents—get it at any drug store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and harmless way to lose fat—your money gladly returned. Don't accept anything but Kruschen because you must reduce safely.—(Adv.)

DUKEMEN AND CAROLINA IN RACE FOR LEAD

Durham, Jan. 26.—If Duke and Carolina, at present engaged in a Big Five race that has no parallel in the history of state basketball campaigns, are able to hurdle the big obstacle that lies in their paths this week-end, their engagement at Duke next Tuesday night will be for the lead in the southern conference as well as the North Carolina race.

The big obstacle is the V. M. I. case team, said to be the best to represent the cadet institution in several years which will invade the state to meet the Tar Heels at Chapel Hill tomorrow night and the Blue Devils in Durham Saturday evening.

To make the next Tuesday Duke-Carolina battle one for the lead in both state and conference races, both the Tar Heels, atop the southern conference as well as led by the Devils for the state lead, and the Duke five will have to down the Cadets. In that case, Duke would advance to third where the Cadets are now holding forth and be within striking distance of their neighbors.

However, the two state teams are in for trouble this week-end with the Flying Cadets. Built around a pair of veterans, Capt. Paul Edwards, forward, and Stumpy Travers, guard, the Cadets have a fast and smooth working outfit. Travers and Edwards, the former of football note, serve as leading influences on Bill Downey, forward, and Hancock, center, who are said to be two of the most promising sophomore cagers in the south and who have been the most brilliant performers on their team this season. Hancock has averaged 10 points a game in six games and Downey has hooped an average of 13 points in the past four games.

COACH HANDS SOME PRAISE TO U.N.C. QUINCY

Chapel Hill, Jan. 25.—Coach Bo Shepard, youthful pilot of the high-powered and undefeated Tar Heels, who meet V. M. I. here Friday night in probably their hardest game to date, gave his squad their first praise on record today and a second later toned it down to almost nothing.

Referring to last Saturday night's game with Wake Forest, which the Tar Heels led at half 21-3 and won 38-28, Coach Shepard said the team locked its best of the season in the first half, but quickly added that their last half play was as careless and sloppy as their first half play was good.

Coach Shepard is a conservative fellow, sparing in his praise, but he has the support of the barber shop prophets and other experts in his high respect and fear for the V. M. I. quint which plays the Tar Heels here Friday night at 8:30.

Captain Wilmer Hines and Vargil Weathers, forwards, have been setting the scoring pace all season. Hines bagging as many as 21 points in a single night, but George Brandt and Earle Beale's defensive work at center, and the five floor play of Dave McCachren, Stuart Allen and Stuart Chandler at the guard posts have also been factors of equal importance in Carolina's undefeated record.

Doll Harris And Her Basket Team Seek New Victims

Durant, Okla., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Like Alexander the Great, Doll Harris and her Oklahoma Presbyterian College basketball teammates are slaying for new worlds to conquer.

The Cardinals are the National A. A. U. women's champions; they have won forty-five games in succession, all by decisive margins; and their only real rivals, the Golden Cyclones of Dallas, have lost Mildred Babe Didrikson, who turned professional.

However, even with Babe playing, the Cyclones lost three games last year to the sextet from Durant. When the two teams clashed this season at Dallas, the Presbyterians emerged victors by 33 to 24.

A return engagement is scheduled at Durant February 13.

"Unless the Golden Cyclones give us stronger competition than I expect," said Coach S. F. Babb, "we should complete another season undefeated."

Miss Harris, captain of the Cardinals and All-America forward, said she still expected "plenty of trouble" from the Dallas girls.

Until last season the Cyclones ruled the world of feminine basketball. Then Coach Babbs' "just a bunch of country girls who like to play basketball" swept everything before them.

The future looks dark for the Cardinals' opposition, as the first string squad of twelve girls comprises three juniors, eight sophomores and one freshman.

None of the dozen lives in Durant, hailing without exception from small towns in scattered sections of Oklahoma.

Ocean-going Golf Champ Retires After 40 Years

London, Eng., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Andrew Cockburn, chief engineer of the Mauritania and "golf champion of the Atlantic," has retired after forty years' service with the Cunard line.

On his miniature golf course aboard the Mauritania he has beaten Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen. But he modestly admits the roll of the ship had something to do with that.

He probably has been concerned in more record breaking than any other engineer, for he has served on five Cunarders, all of which have held the "blue ribbon" of the Atlantic.

Medalists Win Tourneys

Amarillo, Texas.—(AP)—The general belief among golfers that medalists do not win tournaments was shaken in Amarillo during 1932. In seven tournaments five medalists were crowned champions.

Riding Four Winners A Habit With Young Parke

New Orleans, La.—(AP)—Many jockeys wish they could ride four winners a day just once in a lifetime, but young Monte Parke, a "riding fool" from Idaho, has turned the trick three times at Jefferson Park.

The little apprentice, a brother of the famous Fran, put together two of his sensational performances in three days.

Will Hold Hearing On Game Legislation

Raleigh, Jan. 26.—Sportsmen of the state will have an opportunity to express themselves on game laws next week. The sub-committee from the joint legislative committee on game will hold a public hearing prior to framing new game legislation. The hearing will be at 9:30 o'clock on the morning of Friday, February 3 in the agricultural building.

Even With Old foe

Portland, Ore.—(AP)—Paul Schisler, who resigned as head football coach at Oregon State rather than accept a salary cut, leaves with the record all-square against the school's traditional rival—Oregon. In the nine years of his coaching regime, he won four, lost four and played a scoreless tie with the Eugene foe.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady unchanged to four points higher on steady Liverpool cables and buying.

March sold at 6.31 and October to 6.63 on initial demands, making advances of two to five points on active months.

Selling was in comparatively small volume and the market was quiet at the end of the first half hour.

March sold up to 6.20 later in the morning, or about five points higher, on bulges and further selling became irregular.

At midday May was selling at 6.90 with the general market quiet at net advances of two to four points.

Stock Market

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Ralls again provided a rather dim high light in another arithmetic session of the stock market.

Pennsylvania's ordering of a dividend yesterday and Delaware and Hudson's announcement of a substantial purchase of New York Central evidently generated fresh interest in the carrier issue.

The market remained quiet a professional affair and tobacco was adversely influenced by American Tobacco discontinuance of its regular dividends.

Gains of a major fraction to a point appeared in New York Central and others.

Delaware and Hudson recovered. Other issues up half a point included American Can, Allied Chemical and Montgomery Ward.

U. S. Steel common and preferred and General Motors were about steady. American Tobacco lost two points and Reynolds and Liggett Myers eased a little.

Sales were 800,000 shares.

Rep. Sprull of Bertie sent in a measure to prohibit the levy of tax on tangible property for state purposes, especially for the abolition of the 15 cent ad valorem tax for schools. He also sent in a measure to validate all postmortem of land tax sales in the state during the last two years.

Votes to Improve Waterway

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—(AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee today favorably reported the House bill to improve the inland waterway from Norfolk to Beaufort inlet by Federal construction of a bridge where the waterway cuts road from Fairfield to Columbia.

A minority report will be filed. The bridge would cost about $90,000 and require $5,600 annually for operation and maintenance. It would be constructed when in the opinion of the Secretary of War it is justified by needs of traffic.

The cut through the highway was completed six years ago, and since then the department has been operating a ferry across the waterway at government expense.

Says Banks Control Industry

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—(AP)—A charge by labor leaders that New York banks through interlocking directorates have obtained a stronghold on American industry by preventing improved working conditions drew a demand from Senator Norris of the Senate Judiciary Committee for a broad probe.

John P. Frey, secretary-treasurer of the metal trade department of the American Federation of Labor, testified before a joint committee considering the thirty-hour week legislation that because of banker control of industry Federal regulation was necessary to improve labor conditions.

Storm Cripples Shipping

Elizabeth City, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Eastern Carolina was swept by strong winds today. Reports reaching here from Manteo said waters from the sound were sweeping through the main streets and had reached the depth of two feet.

Sam Midget, driver of the Manteo-Elizabeth City bus which arrived here at mid-morning said the water started rising at Manteo about 11 a. m. and was still rising when he left.

Merchants were standing by their stores prepared to move stocks if the water continued to rise.

All cats were confined in the harbor and the sea was breaking across both the Manteo bridge and the Wright memorial bridge between here and the island community.

The road from Kitty Hawk to Carolina Beach was reported blocked with sand and the causeway at Manteo was under water.

At Ocracoke the trawler Lone Wolf of Miami Fla., was aground in the harbor with Capt. Charles Walker, master, and crew of five on board. The ship went aground last night when the gale started.

Flood tides were reported by all stations between Hatteras and Ocracoke inlet.

A large number of ship were weather bound at Ocracoke.

The ferry boat at Dare ran ashore near the south end of Roanoke Island and asked assistance from the coast guard cutter Pauline.

Report R. F. C. Loans

Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The House of Representatives and the country were told in detail today, despite strenuous objection from the Reconstruction Corporation members, just how that huge federal relief agency is expected to help 195,000,000 in five months to help business to get on an even keel.

In compliance with a special resolution adopted by the House the corporation sent to Special R. Garner a statement showing the loan authorized by it between the date of its creation on Feb. 2 and July 21, 1932. Following the policy he insisted upon last spring, Garner made the report public.

Decline in Marriage Licenses

Statesville, N. C., Jan. 26.—There has been a steady decline in the number of marriage licenses issued in Iredell County for several years, the past year showing the greatest falling-off.

Policeman Acquitted in Revolver Killing

Red Springs, Jan. 25.—A jury of Coronor D. W. Biggs of Robeson County today acquitted Policeman A. J. Breen, of Red Springs, of shooting to death Larry Johnson, negro, here early Tuesday morning. Breen told the jury he was chasing out of the yard of M. M. McManus, before day, that he fell and the pistol discharged, the bullet striking Johnson thirty yards away.

The jury held the shooting was an accident.
