ROOSEVELT TO HOLD CONFAB WITH GOVERNORS

House Of Commons Gets Proposal For Lump Sum Payment Of War Debts

PROPOSAL IS PRESENTED BY LIBERAL

Chancellor of Exchequer Not Present But Secretary Thinks He Would Desire to Wait Until Washington Conference Before Starting Anything; British Debt Totals $4,499,520,000; Payment Due Next June

London, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Payment in a lump sum of 100,000,000 pounds or about $339,000,000 at current exchange to the United States in full and final settlement of Great Britain's war debt, was proposed today in the House of Commons.

The payment would include $95,500,000 paid last December 15. The proposal was made by Geoffrey Mander, a Liberal. He made in an indirect manner in the form of proposal to the Chancellor of the Exchequer so as to conform with parliamentary procedure.

Mander asked whether the Chancellor would consider the advisability of the proposal.

Major Leslie Hore-Delisha, financial secretary of the treasury, remained non-committal for the chancellor was not present.

"The chancellor," he said, "is aware of various suggestions of the nations for deferred debt payments, but he does not think it desirable to express an opinion on the question pending the forthcoming debt negotiations at Washington."

Great Britain's debt to the United States after the $95,000,000 payment of last December totalled $4,499,520,000. On next June 15 a payment of $75,950,000 is due.

CHOWAN DETERMINED ON REMOVAL OF TOLLS

Elizabeth City, N. C., Feb. 8.—Chowan County people are centering their thoughts and efforts on getting a bill through the General Assembly to remove the Chowan bridge toll.

Each week-end when the Chowan law-makers go home for a visit, the homefolks want to know what progress has been made, and although the bill has not yet been introduced, Representative W. J. Berryman told Chowanians Monday that he was determined to get such a bill through, and Senator Lloyd E. Griffin echoed Mr. Berryman's sentiments.

A large number of Chowan citizens attended the meeting at which the legislators spoke.

IS INSTANTLY KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Fairmont, Feb. 8.—John Wilkes, Dillon, S. C. negro, was killed instantly Saturday night when run over by Oscar Anderson, of Fairmont, on the highway near Dillon.

Anderson, on his way to Clio, S. C. stated there were two negroes on the highway and one jumped in front of his auto as if to hold him up. He thought it was a hold-up and ran into the negro. Testimony of the negro with Wilkes before a coroner Sunday absolved Anderson of any blame, and he was exonerated by the jury. The surviving negro said he crossed the road to the side they should be walking on and that Wilkes started across right in the path of the automobile.

Grant Extension on Penalties

Newton, Feb. 8.—An extension to March 1 on penalties of delinquent taxpayers of Catawba County was granted by the county commissioners in session here Monday. This penalty was to have gone on the first of February, but due to the difficulty in securing money, the commissioners decided to give the extension of one month.

The Great Wall of Peru, recently discovered, is said to be a barricade more than 1,500 miles long.

GOVERNOR TO ATTEND MEET

Ehringhaus Plans to Attend Conference Of Governors at Washington City

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, of North Carolina, said today he had not received an invitation to attend the conference in Washington March 6 with President-Elect Roosevelt and the governors of all the States.

He said he would have no comment to make until he received a formal invitation.

The governor will go to Washington for the Roosevelt inaugural if it is possible for him to make the trip, and it is understood he would attend the conference of governors while there.

MUCH RELIEF WORK IS DONE

Five Hundred Men Employed in Emergency Program Last Week

Five hundred people were employed in emergency relief work in this community last week, according to information given out today by directors of the relief campaign.

An average of about three hundred per week have been employed on various work projects since the Federal emergency aid fund became available the latter part of last year and much of the suffering existing among the poor has been relieved, although it was impossible to prevent all distress and uncertainty connected with the abnormal financial situation which has swept over the nation the past two years.

Much of the labor is being used in street improvement, clearing off of unsightly lots, cutting down trees and erection of public buildings, and while the pay isn't as much as it used to be for such labor, it is sufficient to keep body and soul together and prevent outright destitution and physical suffering.

Among the most prominent improvements throughout the county are among school and churches. Additions have been made to some of the schools and churches, and campuses have been improved in a way that adds to the general appearance of the structures.

In Greenville proper improvements have been made to both white and colored schools. The colored school on the Falkland highway has received an addition and a club-house has been erected at the Third Street school as well as seats on the athletic field. Bricks for the two structures were obtained from the Old Model school building which was dismantled when the emergency campaign first got under way.

The labor for all the improvements is provided through the emergency relief money allotted to the county through the Reconstruction Corporation and materials are furnished by the sources for which the work is done.

J. A. Long Dies At Charlotte

FIRE FANNED BY GALE THREATENS CONEY ISLAND

Coney Island, famous New York playground which was badly scarred by a costly fire last summer, again was threatened by a blaze that roared through the empty amusement places. The flames were fanned by a southwest gale. Firemen are shown fighting the fire which was brought under control after the wind suddenly shifted. Loss was estimated at $100,000. ## ROAD BILL IS FAVORED

Joint Committee of Legislature Okays Plan to Halt Road Building Two Years

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The General Assembly's joint committee on roads today favorably reported the bill to prohibit any new highway construction in the State for two years unless in case of emergency and announced a public hearing for Friday to hear proposals on the State-wide driver's license law.

The measure to suspend new highway construction which will be presented to the Senate is a substitute for the re-organization committee bill prohibiting and new highway building.

LONG FLIGHTS IN PROGRESS

Fliers Make Effort to Shatter Speed Marks in Various Parts of World

The world non-stop long distance flight was continued today by two British fliers while the South-African attempt to break the England-South African record ended in a crash-up.

Another speed flight, that of James A. Mollison, flying from England to Brazil, continued without incident.

At 12:27 South African time, O. R. Garford and flight Lieutenant E. C. Nicholas of the British Royal Air Force, said they had passed off DeFretted which is 5,120 miles from Crenewell, England, where the pair took off Monday at 7:15, South African time.

The distance bettered that of 5,012 miles made by Russell Boardman and John Poland, Americans in flight from New York to Instabul, Turkey. The airmen continued flying.

At Hoan, Algeria, Ciceto Smith, South African, attempting to better the record of Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison's England-South Africa record, damaged his plane in landing at 6:05, or 2:05, Eastern Standard Time. He suffered minor injuries including a cut over one eye. The plane was damaged so badly the flight was halted.

Mollison arrived today at Chies, near Dakar, Senegal, where he plans his South Atlantic take-off tomorrow to Brazil.

To Conduct Model Initiation

Wake Forest, Feb. 8.—Dr. Hubert M. Potest, Latin professor at Wake Forest College, will be in Charlotte Friday of this week conducting a model initiation for the Kappa Alpha Pi chapter at Wake Forest.

Late News Flashes

Today In The Legislature. Raleigh, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The General Assembly accomplished little business today but both houses heard extended debate on several measures.

The Senate gave approval to a bill to shorten the period of separation before an aggrieved party could sue for divorce from five to two years but refused to pass it on final reading.

It probably will be passed tomorrow. In the House long discussions were heard on the Flanagan bill to direct the state highway commission in driving trucks engaged in highway work and on the Hamilton measure to repeal debt book statute but both proposals were finally sent back to committee for further study.

The committee did little work in the morning but this afternoon the appropriations group and finance group were to continue their closed sessions.

The Senate adopted a resolution requesting all joint stock banks and other holders of mortgages and deeds of trust to grant a moratorium on principal payments until Nov. 1, 1934 in case the interest and taxes are paid.

The House passed the McDuffie (Continued on Page Four)

FIRE WRECKS LEAF PLANT

Tobacco Company Plant, Tobacco, and Peanuts Destroyed By Tarboro Blaze

Tarboro, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The Carolina-Virginia Tobacco Company's $80,000 re-drying plant and stemmery with the contents of 100,000 pounds of tobacco and 7,000 bags of peanuts were destroyed by fire here last night.

Origin of the blaze, the most destructive that has visited this city in many years, was undetermined. The loss was covered by insurance.

The value of the tobacco and peanuts was not definitely determined, but estimates ranged from $20,000 to $30,000, depending upon the grade of the commodities.

Firemen from Rocky Mount assisted in combating the flames.

COLD WAVE ON THE WAY

Forty Degree Drop of The Mercury Predicted for North Carolina Tonight

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Temperatures of North Carolina will drop approximately 40 degrees before morning, the State Weather Bureau announced today, with sub-freezing mercury predicted for the entire State tomorrow.

During the cold snap of last week-end Raleigh's coldest weather was 18 degrees.

Peroxide Effective As Bleach

Hydrogen peroxide is an effective bleach, not harmful to most fabrics. It can be used in various concentrations, depending on the amount of bleaching required. One pint to a gallon of water is an average quantity. A teaspoon of concentrated ammonia solution or of sodium perborate added to each gallon of the solution makes the action stronger.

Move Viewed As Attempt To Map Steady Drive To Regain Lost Prosperity

NEGRO KILLER IN JAIL HERE

Perry Little Bound Over to Superior Court Following Hearing Today

Given preliminary hearing in police court this morning on a charge of slaying his sweetheart several weeks ago, Perry Little, colored, was bound over to the next term of Superior court without bond.

The negro was captured in Kelford Sunday and was returned to Greenville last night in the custody of Chief of Police George Clark.

The prisoner, said to be of low intelligence, told police he killed Lucy Sugg because she became interested in another man after he lost his job and couldn't provide enough money. He was said to have stated that his greatest hope was to miss the electric chair, although his chances apparently were mighty slim.

Following a quarrel with the woman, Little was alleged to have followed her to the home of a neighbor with a shotgun and to have emptied a load of shot into her body. She died instantly. He escaped and apparently had made good his departure when word was received from Kelford police that he had been nabbed and was being held for the arrival of local authorities.

FUND ENCOURAGES STUDY INTO MOVIE CRITICISM

Columbus, Ohio.—(AP)—The Ohio State Department of Education and Ohio State University are undertaking a study which they expect to complete about 1934 on how best to teach children to judge between a "good" moving picture and a "bad" one.

An appropriation of $10,000 from the Payne fund, a foundation interested in research in new fields which particularly concern youth, is to finance the study.

NEGRO DRAWS ROAD TERM

John Henry Wilson Sentenced in County Court on Theft Charge

John Henry Wilson, colored, of Ayden, charged with stealing parts from machinery in the Ayden Lumber company plant, was sentenced to eight months on the roads by Judge Dink James, presiding over the regular session of County Court here yesterday.

About a dozen cases were disposed of during the day, two or three being transferred to Superior court for final action.

The docket was one of the shortest in the last month or so and work was completed in the early afternoon.

John Peyton, colored, charged with possession of whiskey, was given four months' suspended sentence to the roads.

George Washington, colored, was adjudged not guilty of a charge of larceny.

Clarence Pridden and Jonas Edwards, charged with assault, had judgment suspended on payment of cost.

During the morning session Jack Moore, colored, arrested over the week-end for breaking and entering two negro houses here, was given eight months on the roads for an assault on a colored woman by the name of Sarah Gardner, and will face the breaking and entering charges in the next session of Superior Court.

Moore, one of five men who escaped jail here seventeen years ago, was captured by police shortly after his attack on the woman, said to be a traveling companion of Richmond, Va.

NUMBERS OF SUBJECTS TO GET THOUGHT

Taxes, Federal Aid For Unemployed and Mortgage Foreclosures to be Given Attention at Washington Conference; Flood Prevention And Effort to Reduce Taxes Also to Get Consideration

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—President-Elect Roosevelt's invitation to forty-eight governors to meet in March at the White House in a conference extraordinary were seen by supporters today as a move to map out a program in which the government unites to regain prosperity.

The subjects Mr. Roosevelt has outlined for discussion in the invitation-made public last night were: Taxes; federal aid for the unemployed; mortgage foreclosures, especially on farm land; better land use for reforestation; elimination of marginal agricultural lands; flood prevention and other steps, and reorganization and consolidation of the local government to reduce taxes.

TOWN OF SNOW HILL TO HAVE SWIMMING POOL

Kinston, N. C., Feb. 8.—Overflow water from Snow Hill's waterworks will be diverted into a swimming pool. The practical-minded town council will use a deep sand hole near the waterworks for the pool.

Not only that, but the pool will be located within a stone's throw of the baseball park. Nearly everybody in Snow Hill is a baseball fan, and the town supports fast semi-pro teams. This summer fans will wear bathing suits under their regular clothes and go swimming after the games.

Artesian wells supply Snow Hill with water. The waste has been considerable. The council plans a community swimming hole with a bottom of sand filled with water of a temperature of about 70 degrees.

TWO BOUND OVER IN ROCKY MOUNT HOLD-UP

Rocky Mount, N. C., Feb. 8.—Marion Hamm and John Holland, negroes, were in Edgecombe County jail last night unable to provide $500 bail after probable cause was found in an assault on Mrs. C. B. Foy, near the central high school building here.

Mrs. Foy told police that one of the negroes seized her arms from behind when she passed the school in company with another woman and that while she was held, another negro took her pocketbook.

The negroes later were arrested in the passenger depot where they awaited arrival of a train.

Neither of the negroes is a resident of this city.

THE IDEAL MAN FOR THE PLACE

With all the publicity of the names of probable cabinet officers and major ambassadorships it seems, according to our opinion, that one of the greatest North Carolina possibilities has so far received little or no notice. We refer to Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy during the Wilson Administration. It goes without saying that no doubt Mr. Daniels could have a cabinet post if he so desired and so far as we know, such a place may or may not have been offered to him. However, we are sure that Mr. Daniels could desire no cabinet office or any other office just for the honor of holding it, for already he has held such office and needs no office of any kind to add to his prestige and reputation as a statesman of great ability.

However, if Mr. Daniels could see fit to accept, we would like to see him named as Ambassador to Great Britain, not for the honor that is attached to the office but because we feel that at the Court of St. James there is opportunity for a great man to be of inestimable service not only to this country and Great Britain but to the world at large. An ardent advocate of the League of Nations since its principles were laid down by Woodrow Wilson and his long study of and insight into world affairs fit Mr. Daniels admirably to fill this position and unless his private affairs render it impossible for him to accept, we would certainly like to see him sent to England as our representative under the new administration.

a "new deal" to the American people.

The operatic endeavors of the high school glee club shows what can be done when we set out to do a thing.

The production presented last Monday night was everything expected of it, and in many ways more than expected, because the public didn't realize the youngsters were able to put across such a difficult program.

The acting was superb, and the singing far above the average to be found in public schools. It lends strength to the belief that the glee club will be able to capture more honors at the state-wide music contest to be held in Greensboro in the spring.

Presentations of this kind afford patrons of the schools a good opportunity to see what their children are doing, and also what the teachers are doing to put them into the forefront of public school education.

Greenville for years has been recognized for its splendid scholastic rating and with continued development of the musical talent it is believed the honor will be held for many years to come.

The directors of the recent opera are to be congratulated upon the success of this endeavor and the students in their achievement of putting it over in a big way.

Business men who complain of slack business at this time will be getting their share of trade in the near future. The coming of Easter always turns the thought of the people to new dress wear, and this season will be no exception in spite of the general disposition of the public to complain about hard times.

We have seen many hard times in the long and colorful history of this nation, but we have always managed to live them down and it is to be assumed we will live to see better times again.

Merchants will not go amiss by brightening their stocks in preparation for the coming of the Easter season and those who take the first step will be the first to realize from the effort.

Coast guardsmen have refuted a recent statement from Wilmington that rum runners have threatened retaliation for interference in rum-running operations.

The public will be glad to hear this news because a warfare along the coast is something the country does not want. Men who defy the laws of the nation—the constitution—must realize eventually that they may get by with some of their operations but will be caught sooner or later.

Threatening men charged with the responsibility of enforcing the law is only increasing the seriousness of their violations and would result in the federal government taking more drastic steps along the coast.

Enough people are killed as result of the traffic without threats of additional violence and rum runners would find it to their advantage to deal as lightly with human life as possible.

Three people were killed on the highways of this patrol division during the month of January. The previous month five persons met death through a similar cause.

Scores were injured over the three month period, showing that people insist on driving carelessly despite repeated warnings that they slow down and take it easier.

The sacrifice of human life has been appalling the last two years or more even in the face of decreased operation of automobiles and unless people give more attention to the operation of their cars the condition will not improve. It is risky business driving the best we know how and when we begin to get reckless we might as well apply for a place in the graveyard.

the four Englishmen laughed, causing a crampulous and litherish old Legionnaire, known as Tant de Soif, to growl that, by the Name of a Name, the sacred dogs of Englishmen grew madder every day.

They knew that when they halt they will lie down as they are; lie down on the wet ground beneath the pitiless rain the stinging sleet, or the driving snow; unfed, unwarmed, unsheltered. It will be impossible to light fires, to cook food, to boil water, and make coffee.

However, they are soldiers, and take life—and death—as it comes. But a few days ago men suffered sunstroke. Tonight they suffer cold, exposure. Heat-stroke then; frost-bite now.

Some may die of . . . . Bang! What is that? Automatically the little column staggers to standstill. Major Napoleon Riccoli halts, wheels about, and rides back.

There is confusion in the ragged, straggling ranks. An attack? No, only a single shot.

Only young Hamononez, it appears, has had enough. The Legion shrugs its shoulders. Everyone to his taste. Le Legionnaire Ramononez will not suffer from the cold tonight.

An attack, it may be of heat that he will complain, suggests old Tant de Soif, rubbing the end of his blue nose with the back of his shriveled hand.

"It will be of heat that we shall all be complaining in a day or two, look you," observed old Tant de Soif's "pail," another old man, veteran of Cochin China, Madagascar, Senegal, and the Western Sahara in general.

"...Those of us who do not die of cold up here . . . . When we've crossed these mountains and get down into the valleys and the plains, we shall be in the hottest place in the world. I know, I who speak. I have soldiered there before. The Sultan of Mekazen hunted us and hounded us and cut off stragglers, but it was the heat that killed us."

"Hold your tongue, my grandchild," interrupted Tant de Soif. "You talk too much, like all young people."

As the old being of "Pere Poussin" was not quite so long, nor quite so light a grey cat of Tant de Soif, nor his years of service probably quite as many, it was the custom of Tant de Soif to treat his elbow as a boy.

A garrulous old gentleman, especially when under the influence of alcohol—his normal condition—he suffered sorely though not in silence, from Tant de Soif's sense of duty, the duty of keeping his junior in his place, and in a sense of his unworthiness.

"Am I, then, a child that . . . . "Yes, in intellect," interrupted Tant de Soif, "though your never still tongue runs in an unwise old head."

Pere Poussin fell silent. "You drink too much, you know," observed Tant de Soif. "Far too much."

"What?" ejaculated Pere Poussin. "So, rum is bad for boys. It stunts their growth and fuddles their intellects."

"If any," he added.

VALIANT DUST

by Percival Christopher Wren

SYNOPSIS: Lieutenant Napoleon Riccoli who has ambitions to retrace the path to fame of his illustrious namesake, has been tested and found wanting by Lieutenant Le Sage—and the Lieutenant's wife. He made advances to Madame Le Sage, and when caught he tried to murder her husband. But all this is in the past, and Major Napoleon Riccoli he is a "Man of Destiny."

Chapter 3 NAPOLEON AGAIN

Major Napoleon Riccoli rode at their head, looking according to his wont, as Napoleonic as possible. Thus, he reflected, must his great ancestor—well, no, perhaps not exactly ancestor—his great namesake, prototype, forerunner, exemplar, what you will, have looked on the Retreat from Moscow. Not that this Napoleon was retreating—of course. Au contraire, advancing. Very much so. Advancing a good deal farther than some people proposed, expected or intended. Ho, ho! Advancing indeed. . . . And with an independent command. An independent command at last; the chance for which this Man of Destiny had waited so long; worked and waited, plotted and schemed. . . . And actually on the very borders of Mekazzen!

Now that world should hear something; hear of a newer—and a greater—Napoleon. Emperor Napoleon Riccoli—Emperor of the Sahara. Emperor of Northern Africa. Emperor of the World!

And meanwhile it was extremely cold, and the future Emperor had no handkerchief. . . . At the heels of the weary and half-starved horse that had the honor to carry Major Napoleon Riccoli—a horse named Marengo after another famous charger—stride Major Napoleon Riccoli's humble retinue, henchman, and fervent admirer, the excellent Sergeant-Major Vittorelli.

Excellent indeed from the point of view of his superior officers, though the soldier of this Regiment used other, many other, adjectives when describing Sergeant-Major Vittorelli. . . . What his men knew of Sergeant-Major Vitt

These visiting home economists are here for the purpose of attending a week's school under the direction of a nationally known home economist sent here by the Kelvinator Corporation.

The Kelvinator Corporation selected Greenville as one of the six cities in the United States where these schools should be held.

This school is under the direction of Miss Dorothy Covert, a nationally known home economist. Miss Covert will instruct the class in food preparation and food care. The home economics class of E. C. T. C. will observe her class on Wednesday.

A feature of the week's training course will be a large public demonstration which will be at the Woman's Club Thursday. The public is invited to this demonstration which will be conducted by Miss Covert, who will be assisted by members of the class.

THE SANDWICH—FIRST AID TO THE HOSTESS

By Dorothy H. Covert) Kelvinator Home Economics Dept.

Hats off to the Earl of Sandwich! Great is our indebtedness to that noble man. Perhaps you know the story—how one day he became so engrossed with the "fall of the cards" that he could not tear himself away from the gaming table even to eat, and ordered his man to bring him "a piece of meat between two slices of bread."

Since that day the "sandwich family" has grown amazingly (not the family of the Earl of Sandwich) and many of our present concoctions bear but little resemblance to their humble "ancestor." In all walks of life, in all classes of society some members of the sandwich family are to be found, firmly established—perfectly at home.

There is hardly an occasion when the hostess can not turn to the sandwich for first aid. From the most formal "high tea" to the most plebeian picnic—from dainty appetite teasers to the one-dish meal—in every instance there will be one or many sandwiches which will exactly fill the bill.

Sandwiches also solve many problems for the "involuntary" hostess. Many women have found it most expedient to keep on hand in their electric refrigerators, jars of different sorts of sandwich spreads which may be used in emergencies. The refrigerator is also a help when sandwiches must be prepared ahead of time. In this case the sandwiches should be placed in covered containers which are first lined with damp towels.

The following suggestions for sandwich spreads and fancy sandwiches come to you from the Kelvinator Kitchen and are offered through the courtesy of Carolina Kelvinator Co., local Kelvinator dealer, who will be happy to furnish you with many delicious refrigerator recipes.

Sandwich Fillings and Sandwiches

Work cream cheese with a fork or spoon until smooth and creamy. Add an equal amount of strained honey and blend thoroughly. Spread thinly on slices of whole wheat bread.

Combine 3-4 cup chopped dried beef, 1-4 cup grated cheese and 1-4 cup chopped celery. Mix thoroughly and add enough mayonnaise to moisten. Spread between slices of white or whole wheat bread.

Combine 1 package cream cheese, 1 tablespoon chopped dates, 2 table spoons chopped mixed nuts and 1-4 cup chopped marachino cherries. Moisten with mayonnaise and spread between thin slices of whole wheat bread.

Toss watercress in French dressing. Drain. Butter thin slices of white bread and place crisp watercress between two slices.

Tartlet Sandwiches. Cut circles of whole wheat bread with round cookie cutter. Using doughnut cutter of same outside dimensions, cut doughnut shaped pieces of white bread. Spread brown bread with butter, place white circle on top, and fill center with preserves or jelly.

Cut very fresh bread in thin slices. Butter and sprinkle with grated

New Books

By JOHN SELBY

New York—There is a strong turn toward non-fiction observable in the spring lists of many publishers and the turn brings readers face to face with a vast number of rival treatments of the same topics—Russia, for example, and Technocracy.

Nevertheless, recent issues include some good novels, with more to come. They include novels as dissimilar as Fannie Hurst's "Imitation of Life" and Robert Reynolds' "Saunders Oak."

Miss Hurst has filled "Imitation of Life" with what is known in the trade as "women's stuff." It fairly drips the detail of home and fire-side, homely things about turning collars and cooking as well as the great extents.

Business Story

But what makes this story of a woman forced into business a valued performance as a novel is its authenticity. One learns to know Atlantic City like a book, and Beal and Dalilah and everybody else.

Reynolds, on the other hand, Miss Hurst's choice of material is extraordinarily shrewd.

"Imitation of Life" embodies also Miss Hurst's idea that most successful big business women detest their life. In expressing that thought there occur, occasionally, some sentences that take off one's hat like a thrown dagger. There can be merit even in lack of restraint.

Writes more compactly and with less elaboration of detail. He also continues, in "Saunders Oak," the conscious strength and self-conscious poetry of "Brothers in the West," with which he won the 1931 Harper prize, but transfers them from the West to Connecticut (where, incidentally, he just has bought a farm).

Yankee Passions

The new book is about that harsh Yankee native, from whom commuters buy farms, although commuters do not enter the book. It is a little

"stark" at times; Ed is enormously strong, his laugh, upon his return to the land of his boyhood, shakes down boulders and rattles the leaves of the trees. Similarly, Edith is such a very deep girl, and Lavinia such a very jealous mother.

Unless indeed Saunders is subtle enough to try for an effect of dissonance. There are first rate possibilities in the purposeful juxtaposition of material oddly off key, and it is possible the writer wishes to create an effect of unreality by making his Ed laugh a little too loudly, his Edith toss off too penively go mad a little too easily.

Venturing also into a chill world are North C. James' "Jealousy," a carefully wrought novel of love and marriage by the writer of "Eveless Errand"; "Mrs. Van Kleek," Eleanor Mordant's story of South Sea life a little in the Norman Douglas manner (but not with his technique); and a bright little romance of girls in the Black Hills by the practiced Ethel Hueston, called "That Hastings Girl."

Scraps Goes On

Collins heard him through, then shot the sarcastic question: "Does that conclude your campaign speech before the committee? You have no other oration like that of a political nature to make?"

This enraged one of the representatives that he took it to the floor of the House, demanding that

Sluggish Feeling Gone And Pains Relieved After Use of Cardui

"A few years ago, my health wasn't good, and I suffered from cramping," writes Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hillsville, Texas. "My pain would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so I decided to give Cardui a try. I began to mend. I was tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me."

CARDUI is safe and wholesome for women of all ages. Try it! Sold at the drug store.

His Pet Aversion

Collins' pet aversion is what he describes "patriotic rackets." The

R. O. T. C. and C. M. T. C. he pounces upon at every opportunity. He boasts that he doesn't have a fort, training camp or any sort of military activity in his district. What licks the "generals" most perhaps—those in and out of Congress—is the manner in which Collins rawhides them when they appear before him.

During the hearings on the bill before it came before the House a full-fledged major general appeared before Collins and made a statement on what he terms the necessity for military training in the R. O. T. C. and C. M. T. C.

Collins at least show courtesy to the generals."

"When generals make political speeches," retorted Collins, "I usually tell them about it. . . . I do not fawn in the presence of a man because he happens to be a general and do not. . . . I treat 'em all alike."

STATE WILL TACKLE S. C. GAMECOCKS

Raleigh, Feb. 8.—The Southern Conference basketball game between South Carolina and North Carolina State Friday night in Columbia may decide temporary leadership in loop standings.

The Gamecocks are leading the race with one victory and no defeats and a State victory would send the South Carolinians half way down the ladder in the won and lost percentage, and would leave the Techs in a tie with Duke for leadership with a record of six wins and two defeats. On the other hand a win for the Palmetto team would give it a strong hold on the top rung.

The Duke Blue Devils will have a chance this week to strengthen their position when they meet North Carolina at Chapel Hill Saturday night.

South Carolina was idle in conference play last week while State was staging a successful march through Virginia where it defeated V. P. I., Washington and Lee, V. M. I. and Virginia on successive nights. However, the Gamecocks met and defeated Kentucky, the undefeated leader of the Southeastern Conference. This win stamped the elongated Gamecocks as one of the most powerful teams in the Conference.

GRIMESLAND WINS DOUBLE CAGE MENU

Tuesday night the Vanceboro basketball teams were defeated in two games by Grimesland in the gymnasium of the latter.

During the first half of the girls game the Grimesland girls scored 18 and Vanceboro 0. Though the opposing team played well, Grimesland girls won an easy victory, for the Vanceboro team scored nothing until the last quarter when they made four points.

Grimesland Girls — Forwards: N. Stanley, M. Elks, M. Whitchard; Guards: R. Stanley, J. Moore, L. Edwards. Substitutes: K. Ross, H. Wilson.

Vanceboro Girls—Forwards: Coward, Heath, Franks; Guards: Buck, Sutton, Helen.

The boys' game was very close, as the teams were evenly matched. The first half closed with Vanceboro leading 12-10. In the next quarter they tied and the game closed with Grimesland leading 17-16. The lineup follows:

Grimesland—Forwards: J. Proctor, D. Elks; Guards: G. Porter, A. Fleming; Center: M. Heath. Substitutes: S. Proctor, S. Fleming.

Vanceboro—Forwards: L. Heath, H. Heath; Guards: Laughinghouse, Hill. Substitutes: Bower and Clev. Referee: Proctor, Grimesland.

Cotton Cut Gets Favor.
Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A conviction that the bill designed to reduce cotton production by 3,500,000 bales will be reported favorably by the Senate committee, was expressed today by Senator McNary and other attendants at the session of the committee.

Prompt committee action on the proposal involving a big government pool was urged by Senator George of Georgia, Connelly of Texas and Smith of South Carolina, whose names the measure bears.

Smith also expects the committee to approve the measure at the next meeting. Consideration of the cotton measure prevented the committee from getting far in its effort to rewrite the domestic allotment bill passed by the House and designed to raise the price of several farm commodities by taxing the processor and paying proceeds to participating producers who would cut production.

This bill also will be taken up on Saturday at which time McNary said it is hoped to determine what commodities as will be included.

One suggestion is that it be confined to cotton and wheat.

Sees Greater Use of Cotton
Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Representative Boswell, of Wilson, and others, introduced a bill in the General Assembly today to require that cotton seed and other commodities in amounts larger than fifty pounds which are in bales or bags be covered with cotton material.

Boswell also introduced a joint resolution to memorialize Congress to pass duties on jute.

The bill would prohibit the use of jute for bagging in this State.

Anyone violating the law would be subject to a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment of thirty days.

Bill Approved
Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The principal of the bill designed to use $500,000,000 credit to stall farm mortgage foreclosures was approved by members of the Senate Banking Committee today, although several details remained to be worked out.

Salem Gets Church Meeting
Concord, N. C., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The North Carolina class of the Reformed Church today selected Burlington for its semi-annual session October 3 and chose Winston-Salem for the 1934 annual meeting to open January 6.

Four Burned to Death
Tisdale, Saskatchewan, Feb. 8.—Four women and a man were burned to death and at least five other persons were injured seriously today when fire destroyed the Imperial Hotel here.

DeValera Again Heads Irish
Dublin, Feb. 8.—(AP)—DeValera, head of the Sinn Féin party, was re-elected president of the Irish Free State today by a vote of 82 to 54 as the Dail Eireann convened for its annual meeting.

Frank Fahy was re-elected speaker of the House on the proposal of DeValera who spoke in Gaelic.

night and some amazing goof wrote out this nightmare, which Harrett read.

"Night after night I've been dreaming in an aerialist in a circus. I swing off a platform at the top of the tent, and two blond girls in another swing are supposed to catch me when I turn loose in a somersault. But they never can catch me, and it just leaves me turning flips in the air. Can you tell me what this means?"

Bodenheim Back
Max Bodenheim, Ben Hecht's old friend who wrote the sensational "Benjaming J. Sica," is back at Paul's his old stand, after a Hollywood excursion.

Bodenheim says it was all wrong about him going "u" there to write for the movies. He just went to visit some friends.

Blond Max o' the pale eyelashes has another book in the making—but that's not worrying him anything like as much as his dancing. After each spin around the floor with a little brunette, he would ask us:

"Now, really, don't you think I'm a good dancer?"

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN CLONS

Hollywood—(AP)—Screen personalities in the cradle may vanish when the baby dons his first rompers.

So Norman Taurog cautiously declines to predict a brilliant future for eight months old Leroy Weinbrener, pick of the 172 infants tested for the new Maurice Chevalier film, "A Bedtime Story."

"But for the present," says the director emphatically, "that youngster has personally all over the place. Everybody on the set is crazy about him, including Chevalier. Whether he'll still have it when he grows up, no one can tell."

"By the time he's 5 years old he may be a different sort of child entirely. Right now he laughs all the time, is always full of fun. He stood out instantly from the rest as we ran the tests."

To the average fan who smiles the moment any baby is seen on the screen it may be news that some youngsters are totally lacking in ability to draw those smiles.

Many of those tested, Taurog commented, showed no personality whatever.

If Leroy develops into a youngster retaining that exuberant personality, Taurog can add a name to his list of young screen discoveries that already includes Big Boy, former top reel comedy star, Jackie Scar, Robert Coogan, Donald Haines Bruce Line and his own nephew, Jackie Cooper.

Jackie Cooper, Taurog believes, may be one of the boys stars to survive the adolescent stage as an actor. Jackie's histrionic future, he predicts, will be in roles of the Wallace Beery type. The prediction is justifiable when you reflect that little Jackie has grown half a foot taller since he appeared in "Skippy" and that he is filling out in proportion.

The new film, by the way, will be a return for Chevalier to the simple, human character that endeared him to his own people. It will be as replete as ever, however, with romantic interest.

The studio though enough of the infant's part to spend about $23,000 in tests, at from $150 to $200 a test, to find the right one.

DUKE MATMEN TO MEET N. C. ON THURSDAY

Chapel Hill, Feb. 8.—The Carolina and Duke wrestling teams will clash at Duke Thursday night in another feature between these ancient rivals. The varsity matches will start at 8:30, preceded by a Carolina-Duke freshman meet at 7:30.

Although neither team is of championship calibre this year, both the Tar Heels and the Blue Devils have been giving all opponents a hard run in every match and both outfits have several stars who should put up some feature matches.

The Tar Heels wrestled perhaps the strongest team in the conference at Washington and Lee last Saturday, coming off with a 19-13 loss but looking good in defeat. Duke lost its last start to a better than usual Davidson team by a somewhat similar score 15-11.

The feature of the Carolina-Duke matches is expected in the unlimited Keefe of Duke won the only fall of the match with Davidson in this class, and Captain Percy Idol, who handles this class for Carolina, has won all his matches this year by falls.

Stock Market

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The stock market tried to rally for a time today but found the way to higher prices blocked by selling of tobacco issues.

Sails acted fairly well and American Telephone resisted selling, but the market developed an easy tone after midday, although most losses were limited to fractions.

Liggett-Myers lost two points and Reynolds lost a point or so. A decline of a half to one point appeared in U. S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, National Biscuit and Westinghouse. American Telephone rose a point and lost most of gain. General Motors held a narrow range.

Extreme rises of one-half point in Union Pacific was erased after mid-day.

Balls came to the fore in the late trading, and toward the close advances of a point appeared on Union Pacific, Dupont, American Telephone and Steel.

Sales approximated 700,000 shares.

Burcin is author of a bill which the Senate passed and then called back and sent to the organization committee. It would abolish the park commission and would make members of the conservation and development serve as commissioners.

Sterilization Law Invalid.
Raleigh, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The State Supreme Court today held that the North Carolina 1931 law to provide for the sterilization of persons mentally deficient was unconstitutional.

Associate Justice Clarkson writing the opinion on an appeal from Forsyth, said the law was unconstitutional in that it violated the 14th amendment by failure to require that such operation be given because the party to be sterilized was

About NEW YORK

By WILLIAM GAINES

New York.—At a "Spanish atmosphere" night club on Sheridan Square—the heart of Greenwich Village—three insomniacs sat at table together: an American, an Englishman and a tango dancer with patent leather hair.

The tangoist is connected with the establishment. He is not by profession a tango, but occasionally he acts as a woman patron to dance. This management considers a favor. The dancing man himself considers any proffer of a fee as a reflection upon his dignity, he says.

Suddenly he crasped the arms of his two companions and exclaimed: "See that couple coming in? Well, the last time they were here I danced with the fat fellow's blond. When they were leaving he handed a walter a five-dollar bill to give to me."

"I have never been more humiliated. Yet he is a good customer, and I hesitate to say anything to him about it."

"Aw, why don't you just forget it?" the American yawned. "Who knows and who cares? Money isn't so easy to get these days, anyway."

"He certainly should not forget it," the Englishman insisted. "He is a gentleman, not a gigolo."

"Then what am I to do?" moaned the sleek gentleman. "I can't drive customers away."

"I'll tell you," the inspired English advised. "Go sit at their table. Act nonchalant and a bit superior. The first time that fellow takes out a cigarette you touch a match to the five dollar bill and light his cigarette with it. Then laugh it off."

"Ah," sighed the tango aristocrat, "but I can't do that."

"I spent the money."

Village Dream Doer
At the very "Village" club operated by Boris Paul, former Cosack, and Paul DeMiko, once an officer in the Hungarian navy, one of the star performers these nights is an alleged "psychologist."

The professor takes himself very seriously, much to the delight of Master of Ceremonies Lee Harrett. An altogether odd figure, he takes the floor and "psychoanalyzes" the customers. Harrett requisites patrons to write out their dreams, so the psychoanalyst interprets them.

He dropped in the club the other

Greenville Loses Boxing Contest With Wilson

Greenville High School inaugurated a new sport last night when the local boxing team went to Wilson to take on the strong Wilson team. Wilson has not lost a match this year. As was expected, the locals were defeated, but not by the wide margin that many had predicted. Wilson won three out of the four bouts, but two of those were so close that the judges could not agree unanimously and rendered a two-to-one decision.

The first bout of the evening was between Halem, of Greenville, and Shaw, of Wilson, in the 115-pound class. Shaw was much the better fighter, and the referee stopped the fight to award him the fight after two minutes of fighting in the third round.

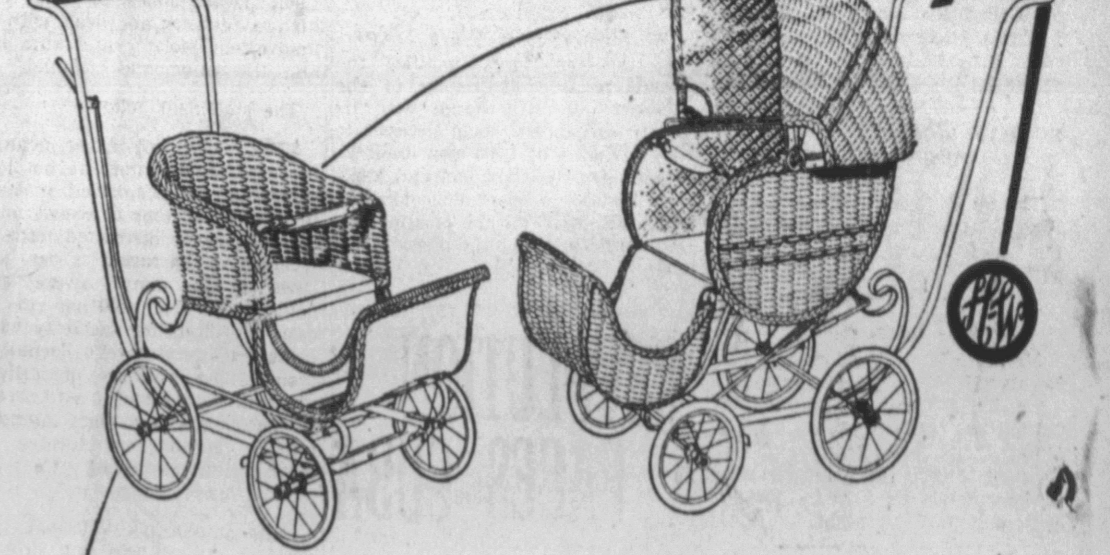

The next fight was a good one between Blanchard of Greenville, and Hudson, of Wilson, in the 125-pound class. Blanchard took the first round by a wide margin, but lost the other two after spraining his arm in a clinch.

Perhaps the fight that interested fans most was the one between Smith, of Greenville, and Hazard in the 145-pound class. This fight was wide open with both boys hitting.

Dress, of Greenville, put up an exciting the mat for counts before Smith finally put Hazard away to win the only Greenville points. A reluctant fight against Bunn Hearne, but a bad start was against him and Hearne had too much weight and experience. The judges voted two to one to award the fight to Hearne.

The Wilson fighters will return the bout here on February 23. At that time there will be about eight bouts put on as several additions to the local squad have been made in the past few days.
