NEW WAR CLOUDS HOVER OVER JAPAN AND CHINA

Chinese Threaten To Withdraw Minister At Tokyo If Drive Starts

JAPS PUSHING NEW ADVANCE AROUND JEHOI

Chinese Acting Premier Says He Sees No Use of Keeping Minister In Tokyo If Japs Insist On New Drive In Jehoi; Declares Any Attack Will Be Resisted By Entire Chinese Nation. Japs Concentrate On Battlefront

Soon after Japan informed the League of Nations today that it was adamant in its determination to preserve the Manchukuoan government in Manchuria, a spokesman for the Chinese National government hinted that the Chinese Minister at Tokyo would be withdrawn in event Japanese started a drive in the adjoining province of Jehoi.

The Chinese spokesman, P. V. Soong, acting Premier and Finance Minister, said he did not see the use of keeping a Minister in Tokyo if there should be a drive on Jehoi as obviously diplomatic measures would be of no avail.

He replied that this matter was of no consequence, when asked if China will likely declare war on Japan, but added: "Any attack on Jehoi would be like an attack on the nation and would be met by the forces of the entire government."

The League, which has drafted recommendations to member nations, refused to recognize Manchukuo and requested Japan's views on proposals to discontinue the government.

Chinese dispatches said their forces resisting Japanese advances in the Jehoi province were hard pressed in the vicinity of the city of Chaoyang.

Seven thousand Japanese troops were reported as concentrating on the Jehoi battle-front.

MAN FLOGGED AND THEN SHOT

Sampson County Man Not Expected to Live After Attack Yesterday

Wilmington, N. C., Feb. 13.—Stacy Holland, 23, remained in a critical condition today after having accused Dallas Bradshaw, 26 and Roy Jones, 26, negro, with shooting him after flogging him yesterday near his home in the Delway section of Sampson County.

Bradshaw and Jones were being held in the Sampson County jail pending the outcome of Holland's wounds.

Holland, in a statement sworn to in the presence of a notary public, charged Bradshaw and Jones with flogging him in a house on the pretext of teaching him how to shoot, bound him and took him into the woods, and his across a log and beat him with a hickory stick.

He said Bradshaw then stood him against a tree, drew the pistol and asked him if he had anything to say before dying. He said he asked time to pray and that his request was granted before Bradshaw fired.

The bullet struck Holland in the forehead and physicians said he had a slight chance of recovery. Holland said Bradshaw accused him of telling lies.

EIGHTEEN DIE IN ACCIDENTS

Only One Fatality Reported In North Carolina During The Week-end

Atlanta, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Eighteen persons were killed in the south over the week-end. Eight died in automobile mishaps, three were burned fatally, three injured in explosions, two of exposure, one of asphyxiation and one of an accidentally inflated pistol wound.

North Carolina reported one fatal accident for the period.

NAMES CROP LOAN LAWYERS

Harry Brown and J. C. Lanier To Represent Pitt On Relief Loans

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 13.—Harry M. Brown and J. C. Lanier, of Greenville, have been designated as attorneys for Pitt County whose certificates of title for liens, chattels and mortgages will be accepted by the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation of Raleigh, N. C., for loans to be made to the people of this county.

John P. Stedman, executive vice-president and manager, announced the names of the county seeking to borrow money from the corporation in making out their applications in proper form, thus facilitating the preliminary work and helping to save time and eliminate "red tape" in getting the loans through.

Fees for attorneys, paid by the applicants, are limited to one-half of one per cent of the loan, with a minimum of $1 and a maximum of $12.50, on chattels and liens, while the fees on real property will be governed by the amount of work involved in preparing the abstract and mortgage. Attorneys, as well as county farm agents, are agreeing to perform the duties connected with making loans largely for patriotic community reasons, Mr. Stedman states, pointing out that county agents are co-operating splendidly.

Interest on the loans is at the rate of 5 1/2 per cent and a small inspection fee, depending on the size of the loan, will be added, Mr. Stedman states.

Loans are not to be made to persons who may be interested in agriculture and receiving the major part of their income from other sources, but they will be confined to actual "dirt farmers" whose main livelihood comes from farming, poultry, livestock and dairy productions, Mr. Stedman states. It is the farm owner, too, and not the tenant farmer, who will be the beneficiary of the Region Agricultural Credit Corporation's assistance. Those engaged in producing crops, raising cattle, operating dairies and raising poultry on their own land will be extended loans under the regulations of the corporation, the vice-president and manager announced.

Loans are made direct from the Raleigh office and do not have to be passed upon in Washington, thus eliminating time and trouble and permitting the borrowers to get their money much earlier than otherwise would be the case, Mr. Stedman states.

SEES AN INCREASE IN NUMBER OF JOBLESS

Tarboro, N. C., Feb. 13.—Reports from the office of Mrs. Ashby Williams, Welfare Officer, are that the number of unemployed people in the county and community is increasing. Her every effort is being made to render aid to the needy by furnishing them employment or giving them provisions where they are unable to work, Mrs. Williams states.

WINTER LOSES GRIP ON SOUTH

Mounting Temperatures Reported In Sections Visited By Ice and Snow

Atlanta, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Winter lost its grip on the south once more today and mounting temperatures drove away the snow and ice that struck deep into the heart of the cotton country Wednesday.

A bright sun yesterday chased the mercury up to 40 and 50 over most of Dixie after it had fallen to freezing during the cold attack.

TWO BISHOPS TO SPEAK HERE

Church Heads To Address Missions Conference at Methodist Church Thursday

Two Methodist bishops will be the headliners at a missions and spiritual life conference to be held at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church in this city next Thursday.

Bishop Edwin D. Mounson, of Charlotte, will speak at 11 o'clock in the morning, and Bishop Paul B. Kern, of Nashville, Tenn., resident bishop of the Orient, will deliver an address dealing with conditions in the Orient in the Campus building of the East Carolina Teachers' College at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

The conference will bring to the city ministers and representatives from three districts, Rocky Mount, Elizabeth City and New Bern, and over a thousand persons were expected to attend the one-day session.

Members of the committee on arrangements here have been busy the last several days making preparations to take care of the visitors and it was said today by Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, that ample accommodations had been provided.

The day sessions will be held at the church and at night the conferences will meet at the college for the address of Bishop Kern, who is expected to present a graphic portrayal of the economic, political and religious life of the Orient.

At the noon hour one hundred visiting ministers and elders will be entertained at lunch at the church. Although Bishop Mounson's speech had not been announced, it was believed he would discuss some of the most important problems confronting the church and the nation today. He is one of the most famous preachers in the world and his address will be delivered the principal sermon before the Methodist Conference, which opens here today.

It was expected a large crowd would attend the day and night conferences, and that both the church and the spacious auditorium at the college would be packed to capacity.

SHORT RECESS IN DEMOCRATIC POLITICAL LIFE

President-elect Roosevelt Expected To Land From Fishing Trip Wednesday

Miami, Fla., Feb. 13.—(AP)—There was a recess in Democratic political life today with President-Elect Roosevelt still at sea and Chairman Jas. A. Farley en route to a new base in New York. Mr. Roosevelt will land here Wednesday from a ten-day fishing and swimming trip in the waters of the Bahama Islands.

He will depart that night for New York to conclude preparations for taking over the government on March 4.

Miami is making preparations for the welcome to Mr. Roosevelt when he leaves the yacht of Vincent Astor in port late Wednesday. No arrangements have been made for the stopover in Washington by President-Elect Roosevelt, although some believe he will do so on the way to New York.

In the next two weeks Mr. Roosevelt will decide finally on his Cabinet make-up and pick other men to carry out the policies of the "new deal" he has decided upon.

DOLLAR DAY PLAN READY

Merchants Getting Things Lined Up For Big Trade Event Next Thursday

Plans were being rapidly whipped into shape for semi-annual "Dollar Day" to be held in the city Thursday. Always the greatest sales day of the year, "Dollar Day" this year was expected to be one of the most important in years.

Twenty merchants, representing virtually every field of merchandising, will be represented in the trade event this year, and more values than ever will be presented to the thousands of people expected to attend.

"Dollar Day" this year will be conducted under the auspices of the merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce, and the organization is putting forth unusual efforts to let the people throughout the great trade territory know about the affair.

It is impossible to describe the scope of materials to be offered here Thursday, but one thing is certain and that is some of the most exceptional values of the year will be offered by the various stores.

As customary on "Dollar Day" people from a radius of many miles were expected to throng the stores throughout the day and buy liberally of the splendid values to be offered them in every line of business.

It will be a gala day for the community and those who fail to attend will miss the greatest opportunity of months to obtain values at away below usual prices.

LIQUOR MAN UNDER BOND

Guy Moore Held For County Court Action Following Arrest Near Ayden

Charged with possession of five gallons and two quarts of contraband whiskey, Guy Moore, of the Ayden community, was out under bond today for his appearance in the regular weekly session of County Court here tomorrow.

Moore was arrested when officers raided his home near Ayden yesterday. Officers said they found a keg containing five gallons of whiskey in the back yard at the man's home and two pints on his person. Moore was given preliminary hearing and bound over to the regular weekly session of County Court here tomorrow.

Charles A. Lindbergh on threat of kidnaping his second son. Harvey and Bryant were held on bonds of $25,000 each. (Associated Press Photos.)

FARMER HELD IN RUM CASE

Jeness Manning Arrested For Possession of Four Gallons of Whiskey

Jeness Manning farmer residing about four miles west of Greenville, was being held under bond today for his appearance in County Court tomorrow on a charge of violation of the prohibition law.

He was charged with illegal possession of whiskey when county officers raided his place and found four gallons of contraband liquor in his possession.

The prisoner was able to provide bond and was given his liberty until Tuesday morning when he will face trial in the regular weekly session of County Court.

Continuance Asked In Case Against Men In The Lindbergh Case

Roanoke, Va., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Assistant District Attorney T. S. Parsons just before today's hearing for three suspects in the Roanoke-Lindbergh extortion case said he would ask for a continuance pending further investigation of handwriting samples in Washington.

The indicted George I. Vogel, counsel for Norman Harvey and wife, filed two of the three accused in attempting to extort $50,000 from Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in the kidnap attempt against his second son, as arrests to the continuance.

Late News Flashes

Attempt To Boost Tariff

Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The tariff boosting attempt of House Republicans was squelched today in the House by 212 to 174 votes against taking up legislation raising levies to offset effects of depreciated foreign currency.

The vote's one-sidedness attributed to recent Democrat caucus in which all members were bound to vote down the proposal. The Republican minority earlier had put itself on record for increase and 145 members had signed a petition compelling the vote today.

The action of the House, and the Senate debate on the war department appropriations both were preceded by addresses on Lincoln's birthday. (Continued on Page Six)

ELEVEN SLAIN IN FIGHTING

Sanguinary Clashes Continue Between Hitler Forces And Opponents

Berlin, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Sanguinary clashes between Adolf Hitler's Nationalist Socialists and political opponents showed no signs of abatement today with eleven having been slain and twenty-three injured in week-end battles.

Slayings occurred in eight different towns and cities of the Reich. Nazis who claimed they were freed from community headquarters raided the building and three persons were killed and fifteen injured in a hand-to-hand fighting.

Communists were reported as hiding their dead and injured. Police shot at a woman who left her window open when the storm troops were passing.

Since Hitler came into power two weeks ago citizens have been ordered to keep their windows and doors closed to protect the latter from assault.

NEGRESS HELD IN THEFT CASE

Rosa Anderson Faces County Court For Stealing Three Hams And Lard

Rosa Anderson, colored, charged with the theft of food supplies, was bound over to the next session of county court in a hearing in police court here this morning.

She was unable to provide bond and was remanded to jail to await the sitting of the higher court tomorrow.

The negress was charged with stealing three hams and 8 pounds of lard from the home of Hamp Pollard, colored, last Saturday night while Pollard and his family were in the business district shopping.

Breaking into the Pollard house, the woman obtained the hams and lard and carried them to her own home and hid the meat in an unused chimney of her home.

It was there officers found the hams when they visited the woman's home yesterday. The lard was located in the kitchen, no effort having been made to secret it.

ADOPT RESOLUTION ON SALES TAX PROBLEM

Goldboro, Feb. 13.—The following resolution was forwarded to Wayne county's representatives in the General Assembly at Raleigh by W. C. Denmark, secretary of the Goldboro Chamber of Commerce.

"Be it resolved by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Goldboro, N. C., that the Senator and members of the House of Representatives of the North Carolina Legislature from Wayne County be advised that it is the sense of this body that if this session of the Legislature shall see fit to adopt a general sales tax, then the rate of such tax should be sufficiently large to make it in reality a consumption tax, and not a tax upon the merchants or manufacturers.

"And in the opinion of this body, in order that such tax shall be in reality a consumption tax, the rate would have to be at least 3 per cent or more.

DENVER MAN SPIRITED OFF BY MASKED MEN

Charles Boettcher Taken From Wife As They Return From Party At Denver; Detective and Police Probe Disappearance of Wealthy Scion Of Pioneer Family; Ransom Note Handed To Wife of Abducted Man

Denver, Colo., Feb. 13.—(AP)—A scion of a wealthy pioneer Colorado family, Charles Boettcher II, today was held by kidnapers for a purported $50,000 ransom.

Two masked men accosted the 31-year-old heir to a fortune and his wife at a garage as they were returning from a party at midnight, herded them in an upstairs room of their home, remained several minutes, handed the wife a ransom note and departed with Boettcher in a car.

Detectives and police swarmed to the home and started search for the man, a friend of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, and they were told by a watchman on the grounds that he had been informed of the kidnaping a short time before it happened, and after investigating, decided there was nothing amiss.

Police said the watchman, identified only as Stevens, received his information from a neighbor who said he feared a robbery or kidnaping was taking place.

The investigators said the men were both armed and said to Mrs. Boettcher when they handed her the ransom note: "Give this to Claude and don't read it. He will know what to do." Claude is Boettcher's father.

The note was typewritten on a piece of white paper, and said: "Don't notify police. Tell Claude he had better get $50,000 ransom. He had better do business. Follow instructions and notify us through an ad in the newspapers. Ready to come, Mabel, when you are ready. Don't forget the Lindbergh baby who would still be alive if the ransom had been paid."

"And in the opinion of this body, in order that such tax shall be in reality a consumption tax, the rate would have to be at least 3 per cent or more.

"It is understood that this body does not see on record as favoring a general sales tax, or as opposing it, but merely desires by this resolution to express its opinion with respect to the minimum rate that should be levied in the event this tax is adopted."

The State of South Carolina netted $5,897 from taxes on thirty intercollegiate football games last fall.

Glass houses? Yes, but they are not transparent, and they will with stand cold, wind, rain, pressure and blows. Above are shown a small "Joseph's coat" factory office and one of the glass blocks from which it was built at Columbus, Ohio, for experimental purposes. Mortar joints cause curious color effects when the structure is viewed from varying angles.

Columbus, Ohio. (AP) — People who live in the "Joseph's coat" type of glass houses may throw all the stones they like, for rocks will not damage their walls. Nor will heat and cold, wind and rain or weight and pressure prove especially damaging to buildings raised from a new translucent glass block being developed in the experimental plant of a large glass company here.

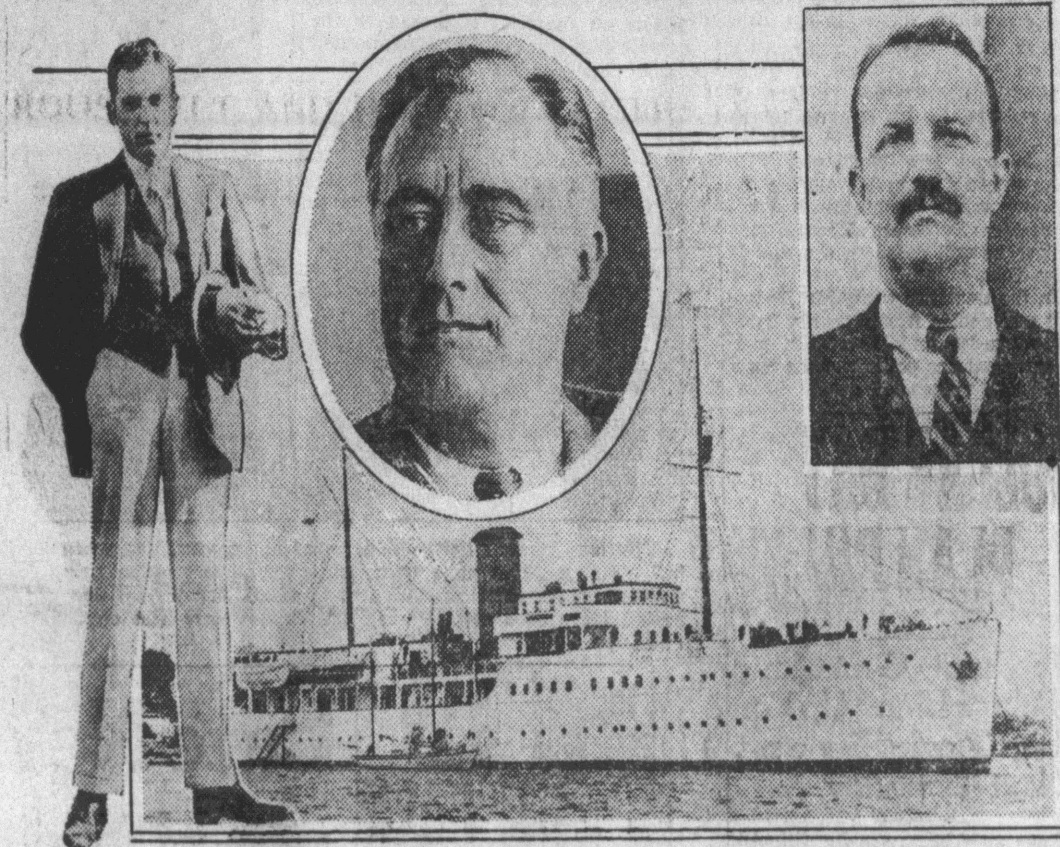

The brick, made by separately pressing a five-sided glass box and a 1 1/2 inch which then is sealed in place to form an airtight chamber, is being tested for its structural and decorative possibilities.

Experimental buildings have been erected. One of them is an office for the mould shop at the Columbus plant. It is all glass from foundation to roof.

This office has been dubbed "Joseph's coat" because of the color effects obtained as the building is viewed from varying angles.

Surfaces of the brick in contact with the mortar are coated with a colored cement paint to make the mortar stick to give the blocks suction when they are laid, to prevent water from penetrating the wall and to prevent unsightly air pockets in the mortar.

DODGERS FACE BIG SALARY CUTS

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press sports writer) New York—(AP)—From all accounts, there very shortly will be poignant suffering in the ranks of the Brooklyn Dodgers, the result of President Steve McKeever's decision to top something like $65,000 off last year's $240,000 payroll.

There will be weeping, bitter tirades, against the injustice of it all when the boys tramp in from the hills to the family mail-box, and scan the figures on their 1933 contracts.

The slashing going on over at Ebbets Field, they say, is something fierce. The feeling in Flatbush official circles is to put it succinctly, that Max Carey's gay cabalists have been in the velvet.

Big Pay, Little Play As a group they were popularly supposed to have received more money in salaries the last two seasons than any club in the National League. Yet they never were in the race. Hence the effort to strike a balance.

Dazy Bance, the veteran speed-baller, and Hack Wilson, the robust but brittle outfielder are expected to be among the principal mourners.

The Dezerine, who was drawing down a fat $25,000 a few seasons ago, only to have it sliced to $23,000 and then to $16,000 last year, may find no more than $10,000 in his stocking this time.

Wilson, recipient of a rare $40,000 from the Chicago Cubs three years back, is in line for about $12,000 for this season's work, a reduction of $4,500 from 1932. The Martinsburg Hammer doubtless will kick like a bay steer, but his employers are said to be very firm in their attitude.

Other Dodgers in line for a cut include Captain Glenn Wright, from $12,500 to $10,000; Johnny Frederick, $11,000 to $10,000; and Al Lopez, $8,500 to $8,000.

O'Doul Due For Raise Prospects are that Joe Stripp, Tony Cucinello, Danny Taylor and Bill Clark will hold their own, all four having done as well as could be expected last year. Clark, who won twenty games, drew down $11,000. The only man on the club in line for a raise is big Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, the National League's leading batter. His $12,000 check for last year is being hiked to $14,400, making him the highest salaried player on the team.

Entertain For Miss Washington.

Outstanding among the many lovely pre-nuptial affairs for Miss Mary Washington, was last Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Travis Hooker and Miss Faye Barnes entertained.

Spring flowers and potted plants in a variety of colors, were artistically used in the home of Mrs. Hooker on Fifth street.

Five attractively appointed tables were placed for bridge.

A double deck of bridge cards was awarded Mrs. Jesse Moyer for scoring high. Low score prize, a lace-edged handkerchief, was won by Miss Jesse Moyer.

Miss Barnes' gift to Miss Washington was ice tea glasses in her selected glass. Mrs. Hooker's gift was a lettuce fork in her selected pattern of silver.

Mrs. W. H. Bradsher, Mrs. Edna Dodson and Miss Louise Golphin assisted the hostesses in serving a delicious salad course with Russian tea and decorated cakes.

Mrs. R. L. Smith, Mrs. W. L. Hall and Mrs. Leon Fleming were tea guests.

All College Staff Ars In Plays

Every member of the faculty and the official staff of East Carolina Teachers College has some definite part to play or some special thing to do in connection with the production of the three one-act plays that will be presented in the Austin auditorium on the evening of February 24.

No one else will have anything to do with the project. The college girls and boys will be in the audience and will be ushered to their seats by faculty marshals, have their tickets taken by them, and see them as actors on the stage when the curtain goes up.

A committee from the staff will plan features for the interludes between the plays. The stage will be set by busy faculty hands working before the curtain goes up. Hostesses will greet the guests in the lobby. Ticket sellers and ticket-takers will all be from the staff. Others who will not be in evidence on the night of the entertainment will be busy ahead of time getting programs ready, "spreading the news" of the performance, managing the business end, and looking out for the many things that have to be done to make such an event a success.

The English department forms a steering committee, with Dr. L. R. Meadows as chairman. This makes him the general chairman.

The proceeds will go to the student loan fund and will be available for students in the spring term.

The urgent need for immediate help has aroused the faculty and students to sponsor activities for this cause.

Christian Science Services

"Soul" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 12.

The golden text was from Psalms 66:8-9: "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise be heard; which holdeth our soul in life and suffereth not our feet to be moved."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." (Is. 55:9).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The term souls or spirits is as improper as the term gods. Soul or Spirit signifies Deity and nothing else. There is no finite soul no spirit. Soul or Spirit means only one Mind, and cannot be rendered in the plural. Heathen mythology and Jewish theology have perpetuated the fallacy that intelligence, soul and life can be in matter; and idolatry and ritualism are the outcome of all man-made beliefs."—(Christian Science Committee on Publication.)

Vesper Service At College

AMERICA'S 10 BIGGEST PROBLEMS What Are They?

William F. Ogburn, who was research director of President Hoover's Research Committee on Recent Social Trends, will discuss what he considers the 10 biggest problems facing America. He is professor of sociology at the University of Chicago.

"The new era of the 1920s didn't last. Instead we have been led from the dizzy peak of 1920 into the deepest depression the modern world has ever known. To some it seems to be the beginning of the end, a collapse of civilization. But these fears are exaggerated.

"Nevertheless, society is facing a series of grave problems. There is unemployment on a scale not known before. There are more tariff barriers and higher ones than ever before, and foreign trade has almost ceased. There is the problem of the debts. Those who are not 'broke' have had their incomes greatly reduced, yet taxes continue. The farmer class is almost in ruins, and in many regions the states are feeding farmers and the land banks paying taxes for them. Yet these are not by any means all of the problems before us, nor the most important ones."—Prof. William F. Ogburn.

To deal with the issues facing America calls for the collective intelligence of every citizen. That people are searching their souls and thinking seriously about these issues is the testimony of newspaper editors, magazine writers and librarians.

But we must first know what these important problems are before we can plan intelligently. Before we can work them out we must not only know what they are but also their relative importance. It is only then that we, or our children, can expect to avoid similar or worse difficulties.

It would be interesting if each serious thinking citizen would ask himself what are the 10 most important problems before our nation today. If millions of our people would do that it would represent a tremendous effort in the right direction.

In 1929 President Hoover appointed a committee known as the President's Research Committee on Recent Social Trends to survey the state of the nation and report on the emerging problems that will confront society in coming years. This committee recently published a report and in its findings were listed hundreds of such problems.

The research director of this survey was William Fielding Ogburn, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, formerly president of the American Sociological Society, and vice-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

At least it is not to those who know the giant-like representative from Milwaukee and his ambitions. Schafer left the cab of a railroad locomotive some eight years ago to come to Congress. He admits that he didn't know very much of what it was all about when he first came to Washington, but he was anxious to learn.

It was a familiar sight in those days, and sometimes even now, to see him scribble down some reference made by a speaker on the floor of the House with which he was unfamiliar. When he got back to his office he looked it up, whether it related to some governmental problem or a reference to the classics.

And once having learned it he did not forget.

Brushing Up

In the biography he furnishes the Congressional Directory he states that what schooling he received was obtained at the school of District No. 11 in the town of Wauwatosa and in the West Allis High School. There is no mention of having attended any college or university.

In the House he soon realized if he was to do his job well, and as he wanted he'd have to better equip himself. So, without many people knowing about it, he enrolled in night classes at one of the universities in the capital for study. He'd help pass laws governing the nation during the day and then trot out his books and go to school at night.

In the last session of Congress it required more than two full columns alone to list the subject on which he spoke. And the topics ranged from prohibition (his favorite) to flourspar and back to beer.

LOCAL STORE MANAGER ATTENDS SHOE CONVENTION

Will Buy New Spring Line

N. R. Joyner of 408 Evans street left Saturday night for Columbus, Ohio, to attend the national convention of the Miller-Jones Shoe Co. Mr. Joyner who has managed the local Miller-Jones store at 408 Evans street for the past year will be among the 200 Miller-Jones managers assembled annually by the company to study the latest methods in shoe retailing. During Mr. Joyner's absence, Mrs. Joyner will be in charge of the local store.

Mr. Joyner will receive a short but intensive training in the latest and newest developments in shoe fitting and service and looks forward to the trip as a source of pleasure and of profit to himself and his many customers. With shoe fitting becoming more and more a professional service, such periodic studies are steadily becoming more important. The trip will also serve as a spring buying trip for Mr. Joyner since one of the features of the convention will be a footwear style show. Going directly to the plants of the company will give Mr. Joyner the widest possible range of selection and enable him to assure his many friends and patrons of Greenville and Pitt county of the lowest and finest in spring footwear which he will have on display a few days after his return.—(Adv.)

VARIETY OF USES FOUND FOR LEFTOVER PIE DOUGH

Leftover pie dough should be securely wrapped in waxed paper and stored at once in a very cold place. It may then be used any time within a week. Strips of dough 1-2 inch wide and 2 inches long, sprinkled with cheese and browned in a moderate oven are tasty to serve with appetizer, soups or salads. Bits of the dough may be rolled out and fitted into shallow patty pans and when baked the cases serve as containers for creamed foods, pie fillings or fresh or canned fruits.

A circle of pie dough fitted over the top of creamed meat, fish or fowl placed in a baking dish develops into a "pot pie."

Sweet For the Children

Suitable sweets for children include raisins, dates, jelly, jam, preserves, fruits that are raw, ripe or cooked, simple candies, cake and cookies that are not too sweet, cus-ards, puddings, ice cream, fruit sherbets and other simple desserts.

Don't Make Food Monotonous

The manner in which a food is presented has much to do with forming a child's likes or dislikes. Vegetables, fruits, cereals, eggs and meats lend themselves to much variety in cooking. It is unnecessary to make meals monotonous by overworking one type of dish. One example is serving white sauce over every vegetable. Used too often it makes food taste and look the same.

Use Liver in Varied Ways

To use the cheaper kinds of liver grind it and combine it with other foods for such dishes as creamed liver, liver hash, liver and rice loaf and liver croquettes. Liver salad may be made from chopped liver, raw cabbage and onions.

To encourage convalescing children to eat color the gelatin desserts in different colors and place in molds. Then they will appeal more to youngsters.

Serve orange marmalade with hot biscuits, graham gems, waffles or toast. It makes a very good filling for graham bread sandwiches.

One cup of milk heated and added to four tablespoons of sugar, one teaspoon of cinnamon and one-half teaspoon of vanilla makes a good sauce to serve with apple dumplings.

Serve These Foods Every Day

Every day the family should have the following foods: cereal in porridge or puddings; potatoes; tomatoes or oranges for children; a green or yellow vegetable; a fruit or additional vegetable; milk for all.

Make Stove a "Cooking Center"

The stove should be a "cooking center." Near it should be grouped frying pans and other utensils that are put on the stove to heat before food is placed in them; pan covers, forks, spoons and ladles used in cooking; and salt and pepper. Many utensils can be hung on the wall, especially if a sheet of zinc or composition material is tacked to the wall over the plaster. Narrow shelf can hold the rest.

Who owns them? A portrait of King George on the one-pound value indicates the answer.

What are their products and climate? A whole of the six-penny, a Romney marsh ram on the half-penny, an iceberg on the one-penny and a chilly-looking section of the coast on South Georgia on the four-penny reply.

Other values: 1 1-2 penny, whale catcher; two-penny, Port Stanley; one-hilling, the government house; two-shilling six pence, battle memorial; five-shilling, a king penguin; ten-shilling, the arms of the colony.

In brief, here is a painless geography, and more, on as attractive a set of stamps as we ever hope to see issued for a land whose population isn't quite 3,600.

No Records

Last year set no records in the varieties of stamps issued. Kent B. Stiles in his annual round-up, to appear in Scott's Monthly for February, sets the number at 1,692, as compared with 1,872 for 1931 and 3,153 for the record year, 1920.

New air-mails dropped from 355 to 278, with 1930 holding the record—462. Over half of the 2,650 issued since 1917, the date of the first one, have appeared during the past three years.

Commemoratives showed a big increase, from 435 to 537, but were still far below the record of 737 reached in 1930. Almost half of last year's were accounted for by the Italian postal administration.

Thirty-eight per cent of the new issues were created by overprinting. In 1918, with guns booming, cities and territories changing hands and surcharging offering the simplest means of keeping the post going, 80 per cent were overprints.

Pretty done, they would make charming prints for a doll's house, but their interest lies beyond attractiveness of color and designs.

Where are the islands? A map on the three-penny stamp tells you.

Lacking the book-length space needed to answer, we refer questioners to the issue commemorating the centenary of the Falkland Islands, sets of which have just come to this country.

Ways to Remove Scorch Stains

Washington, D. C.—Scorch stains can be removed in any one of three ways, advises the Bureau of Home Economics. If the stain is light, soap and water will remove it. The second way is to wet the spot with water and expose to the sun for a day, longer if necessary. The third is to place a cloth wet with hydrogen peroxide over the stain. Next place a second cloth, a dry one, over the two layers and iron with a medium warm iron. Ironing directly on the cloth wet with hydrogen peroxide leaves rust stains.

Sales Record for Past 54 Months Is Announced

Dayton, Ohio, January 3, 1933.—A record of achievement which is possibly without parallel in business history was revealed here today when officials of the Sargon Laboratories, Inc., reported that fifty-four months ago their medicines, Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills, were first placed on the market, and that up to date 7,417,428 packages of these two medicines have been sold.

In explanation of this truly remarkable record Mr. J. J. Gibson, Secretary of the Company, said: "We spent two years' time and a considerable fortune in developing these medicines before they were placed on the market, and we had good reason to believe that as soon as the public became acquainted with their effects there would be a very large demand for them. This is what seems to have happened during the past fifty-four months."

"As evidence of this," he continued, "thousands upon thousands of individual endorsements have literally poured in from all parts of the country, and we are shipping our medicines throughout the United States, Canada, and Hawaiian Islands, Porto Rico, the Philippine Islands, Cuba, Jamaica, and several Central American countries. Only yesterday we received an order from Nice, France. Indeed a large part of our business comes from sections where our advertising has never appeared. This indicates that people who use our medicines are writing or telling their friends about them."

When asked for a brief statement of what effects Sargon and Sargon Pills have on persons who take them, Mr. Gibson replied, "These are new medicines and they actually accomplish many things which the older remedies were supposed to do. For instance, it is now conceded by the medical profession that calomel and other laxative drugs have no effect whatever on the liver. Our medicines actually stimulate the liver to cleanse itself by increasing its production of bile. Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills also promote general glandular activity; build up the red blood cells, and correct the most prevalent causes of indigestion and constipation and the many ailments resulting from these disorders."

ABOUT TOWN

Shoppers of this part of the state will be afforded a splendid opportunity to obtain the best to be had in the way of merchandise values during observance of semi-annual Dollar Day here next Thursday.

The day is always a big one for the people of this section, and is of even greater importance this year due to the tendency of people to obtain the best of values for little money.

Twenty merchants have signified their intention of taking part in "Dollar Day" and this makes it possible for shoppers to obtain values from a wider field than ever before.

Greenville merchants are doing everything in their power to cling to the reputation of the principal shopping center of this section of the state, and this is one of the reasons they always set aside splendid values for "Dollar Day."

Everybody should make it a point to visit the city next Thursday and inspect the harvest of bargains to be offered them on every hand.

If the churches of the city have their way about it the public is going to be fully informed concerning the danger of the whiskey traffic at this time.

Sermons dealing with temperance will be delivered from nearly every pulpit in the city next Sunday morning and in the evening a mass meeting will be held in the Christian Church.

As the program now stands other towns and cities of the community will also hear something about the prohibition movement.

School children may also hear speakers tell them about the dangers resulting from partaking too freely of intoxicating beverages.

The occasion is being held in observance of the Anti-Saloon League field day and men high in the life of the organization will visit the community and boost the cause.

By reason of the effort now being made at Washington to change the constitution to permit the sale of beer and whiskey, the prohibition issue has assumed greater interest at this time, and movements similar to the one here will be held in other parts of the country trying to crystallize sentiment against whiskey.

Japan continues to be on the outs with the League of Nations. Sooner or later she will be out with some of the larger powers and we dread to predict what will follow.

Japan has taken the wrong position in the fight over far eastern territory. She may bulldoze the League and get by with it but the first time she tangles with one of the five great powers of the world, she may get something she didn't expect.

Germany one time had the idea she could boss the world, but she found it was a larger job than expected and found herself bossed as she was never bossed before.

We may feel great and powerful at times but when we remember that other nations of the world are just as powerful as we, if not more so, it is time to sit down and think things over. Solid, sober thought should at least be conducive to slow action.

The tonsil and adenoid clinics to be held under the auspices of the Board of Health and the Welfare Department should get much attention of the people in various sections of the county.

This is the first time in many a year that such a service has been offered through the two departments and that good results may be obtained is not doubted.

One out of every three school children examined in one district of the county were suffering from either tonsil trouble, adenoids or bad eyes, health authorities stated last week.

In many instances parents of the children are unable to pay for medical attention and the youngsters plod their way through school handicapped by physical disability.

The clinics open up great possibilities for the young people and should receive the hearty support and endorsement of people in all parts of the county.

Measles, we are told, has reached a light epidemic stage in the Crimmesland community and people of that section have been urged by public health workers to do their best to prevent further spread. It is impossible to estimate the number of cases at this time, but that an epidemic is in full swing is the belief of those who have visited the community.

This is the season of the year when whooping cough and measles are pronounced and people are urged to do everything in their power to prevent epidemics in other communities. Sickness is costly at the best and it is important upon the people to do their bit to help the health workers cope with the situation.

VALIANT DUST

by Percival Christopher Wren "BEAU GESTE"

singer, juggler, lion tamer, soldier of fortune, becomes a favorite of the officers in the Foreign Legion's desert post near Mekazze, commanded by Major Napoleon Riccoli, who dreams of a career such as his illustrious namesake had. This Bombelli also "shines up to" Otho Belleme and his three English "buddies," meanwhile Riccoli is concentrating his command at the post—and perhaps recounting in his mind the incident long before when Le Sage of the French Secret Service had found out too much about him, and had forced him out of the army—and into the Foreign Legion.

Chapter 7 BOMBELLI'S SUGGESTION

One moonlight night, as Otho sat leaning against the guard-room wall, thinking, as usual, of England, Home and Beauty—home at Yelverbury Castle and the beauty (mind, body and soul) of Margaret, a legionnaire, walking delicate, came and seated himself beside him.

"Hot," he said. "It makeda sweat. Pout!"

Bombelli again.

"You lika get outa dis?"

"Wouldn't you?"

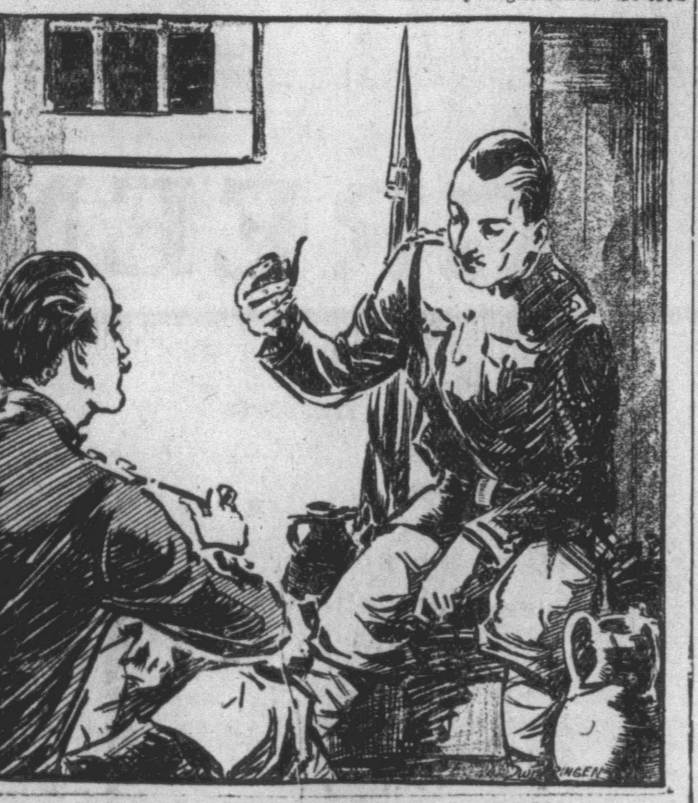

"Sure ting. Me, I tink I get outa dis."

"What do you mean?"

"I go on punmp. I makeda da promise. You deserta wit' me?"

"No, thank you."

"Why you not?"

"Did you ever hear of Philo Vance?"

"Not such a fool. Nor such a swine."

"By an' by, perhaps, when good chance come? I gota da dollars. We get clean away."

"Shut up."

Bombelli laughed, fell silent and lit a cigarette.

"Say, Britisher, don't get high-hat. I only makeda joke, I play fool."

"You certainly do."

"I don't tink you deserta wit' me. I tell you trick worth better dan dat. You betcha lifa."

Otho vauchsafed no reply.

"Lookit," continued Bombelli. "You wanna make good? You wanna get in good wit' Vittorelli? Wit' Vittorelli and da Major?"

"Why?"

"Because I can show you how. I got Vittorelli in my pocket, see?"

"No."

"Well, I have. And Vittorelli got Big Boy Riccoli in his pocket, see?"

"No."

"Well, he has. Like you got your three English frien' in your pocket. Eee? Lookit. Where you go, the other tree go too. What you do, the other tree do. You come in wit' us and bring them in too. Then you get in good wit' Vittorelli."

"What are you ldriving at? What's the game?"

"Big game. Riccoli's game. You like to be a Rajah?"

"Why, going to India, are we?"

Bombelli glanced anxiously around, placed his lips close to Otho's ear and whispered.

"India? No, Morocco. See? You like to be a Kald? Big man . . . officer . . . money . . . freedom . . . rank . . . wine . . . horses . . . women . . ."

"Call me Margurite," yawned Otho.

"What you mean?"

"Ever read Faust, my cheap Me-phistopheles?"

"Talk sense!"

"Same to you."

"Lookit, Belleme. Will you come in wit' us and bring Mummery, Bossum, Harris and Tant de Soil Pousin, Petrovitch and the rest of your gang? Bring them in wit' us and all happy together. Vittorelli smack you on back instead of on head; put you in his good books instead of punishment-cell. Big Boy Riccoli make you high officer, general, sheikh, kaid. Ever hear of Kaid Maclean—Sir Terry Maclean? Rose from drill-sergeant to be Commander-in-Chief, eh?"

"Oh, yes, I've heard of him. An honorable gentleman, decent, true to his salt and faithful to his word . . . and all that."

"Dat's him. Now, suppose you be honorable gentleman, true to salt and faithful to word—to good paymaster to employer that gives fine life, glorious chances—like Sultan of Morocco gave Kaid Maclean."

Otho laughed.

"Apply again at end of present contract," he yawned. "I have an engagement with France, haven't you?"

"What France promised?"

Now what is to become of the Corporation Commission? The Senate voted down a bill that would abolish the commission. Then realizing its error, the measure was reconsidered and was voted favorably, but when it came up for its final reading those forces opposed to abolishing the commission were strong enough to send the bill to committee again and now the question is, what will become of it? If these football tactics are a fair sample of the working of the Legislature it is easy to see why the session will not be able to complete its business and adjourn on time.

SALES TAX IS NOT "INEVITABLE"

Reports from Raleigh now indicate that the opposition against the general sales tax is growing, the people becoming convinced that the sales tax is not as "inevitable" as was at first thought. All this talk about the sales tax being "inevitable" is just so much propaganda put out by those interests that are not now paying their just share of the tax burdens and are determined to continue to occupy this favored position by so covering up the real situation as to fool the legislators into voting the sales tax.

No legislator purporting to represent the masses of people should give any consideration to a sales tax so long as there are sources from which the necessary tax money can be derived and in our opinion foreign stocks, power companies, utilities and other industries earning dividends on watered stock together with increased income taxes are enough sources to furnish the necessary additional revenues to balance the budget or the operation of our government and schools on an economical basis. Then if this is not sufficient there should be the luxury tax before any effort is made to place more taxes on the necessities of life.

If these moneyed interests are determined to evade their just share of the tax burdens through the passage of a general sales tax, then those legislators representing the people should be just as determined that the sales tax should not pass and if the result is a deadlock and failure to balance the budget might as well come now as any time. The special interests have been in the saddle in North Carolina long enough. Eventually the matter must be fought out and, we see it, now is the time for the masses of the people

Bombelli, who had seen Otho beat M'Bongu, the Senegalese Champion, accepted the cigarette, patted Otho soothingly, laughed and assured him he did not makeda da joku.

"Rotten joke," growled Otho as Bombelli rose and walked away.

Some time later, while Otho was standing "properly at east" on his sentry post he was suddenly aware of a burly Arab approaching—one of the scoundrels who were hucksters in the light of the sun and snipers by the light of the moon. Perhaps a spy.

"Hi you!" bawled Otho suddenly, "beat it! Allezi! Inshi, in fact, you—"

As the Arab passed Otho he looked straight into the sentry's face and said the one word, "Yelverbury."

Cramps and Pains In Side and Back

"I had suffered with cramping and pain in my sides and back," writes Mrs. J. V. Bourque, of Gonzales, La. "I was so weak I could hardly walk. Cardul seemed to build me up, and after about twelve bottles I was better and stronger than I had been in years."

Women who find themselves in a weak, run-down condition can hardly expect to be free from troublesome, painful symptoms. Where the trouble is due to weakness, Cardul helps women to get stronger and thus makes it easier for nature to take its ordinary course. Painful, nagging symptoms disappear as nourishment of the body is improved with the assistance of Cardul.

SPICY leaves of TURKISH tobacco are strung to dry and cure in the sun.

Well, that's something about cigarettes I never knew before the cigarette that's Milder

 the cigarette that Tastes Better

I'd never thought much about what's inside a Chesterfield cigarette. But I have just been reading something that made me think about it.

Just think of this, some of the tobacco in Chesterfield—the Turkish—comes from 4000 miles away! And before it is shipped every single leaf is packed by hand. All because Turkish tobacco is so small and delicate.

Of course I don't know much about making cigarettes, but I do know this—that Chesterfields are milder and have a very pleasing aroma and taste. They satisfy—and that's what counts with me!

DUKE CAGERS TO MEET N. C. STATE TUES.

Durham, Feb. 13.—In the first of two games which will determine their pre-tournament ratings, Duke University's cagers will clash with N. C. State in Duke gym tomorrow night.

The other crucial conference battle the Blue Devils face this week is their Saturday night encounter at Columbia with the South Carolina Gamecocks who have installed themselves as favorites to cop the conference crown by their recent performances.

Despite the wallowing they took at the hands of the Gamecocks last week, State will be no easy task to turn in what Coach Eddie Cameron said was their best game of the season to down the Wolves in their first meeting at Raleigh. The score of the contest was 36-29.

In fact, the Duke mentor ranks the Wolfpack right among the top-notchers of the Southern Conference. Although at times this season their playing has been somewhat spotted, at others they have turned in as fine performances as any in the conference.

Duke-State games of the past have always offered plenty of the thrilling. In that first encounter this season, the lead changed hands often during the game with Jim Thompson dropping in several baskets from the field midway of the second half to put Duke in the van and they were not headed although the lead was dangerously attacked all the way by the Terrors.

BIG CROWDS EXPECTED TO SEE CLASSIC

Raleigh, Feb. 13.—More than 10,000 people are expected to view the seven games of the twelfth annual Southern Conference basketball tournament which will be held in Raleigh this month, according to officials of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of this city.

The officers say the interest is steadily growing and that they expect several thousand people to be here for the tournament from out of the city.

The tournament, being held for the first time in Raleigh, will begin on Friday afternoon, Feb. 24, at three o'clock and will continue until the final championship game on Monday night, Feb. 27.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Raleigh secured the tournament for North Carolina's capital city last December at the conference meeting in Knoxville.

The seven games will be played in Raleigh's new Memorial auditorium. The court in the auditorium according to basketball authorities, is one of the finest in the south. It is made of hard maple and is 90 feet long and 50 feet wide.

Dr. Ray R. Sermon of State College, chairman of the tournament committee, says it is one of the finest courts he has ever seen and will give competing teams opportunity to display plenty of speed.

Wilson Takes Girl Cagers In Tow 32 to 20

Greenville High School girl cagers were defeated by Wilson High School 32 to 20 in Wilson last night.

Wilson gained an early lead and continued to do so. At the end of the first half the score was 31 to 8 in favor of Wilson. In the third quarter the Greenville guards allowed Wilson to score only one point. The Greenville guards played a fine defensive game.

In the return game the locals intend to win on their own court. Winifred Ehrbridge led the score for Greenville with a total of eight points. For Wilson Stewart, stellar forward, led with eighteen points.

The line-up follows: Greenville: Forwards, Hill (2); Etheridge, L. (4); Dixon, Crawford (4); Etheridge, W. (8); Tell (2); Garford, Guards, Gaston (captain), Hearne, Whitehurst, Moye.

Wilson: Forwards, Stewart (18); Dickinson (10); Woodard (4); Daniels, Guards, Carroll (captain), Davis, Blackburn, Thompson.

PEPPER MARTIN, 'FORGOTTEN MAN', MUST BEAT HIS WAY BACK-STREET

St. Louis, Mo.—(AP)—Among all the other "forgotten men" whose plight is being publicized these days, shed a tear for the forgotten man of baseball—John Leonard (Pepper) Martin.

Just one short year the "wild horse of the Osage," fresh from a vaudeville tour and with the echoes of world series cheers still ringing in his ears, was a personage of the diamond.

Sports writers speculated on what further deeds of daring-do this doughty Oklahoman might achieve. His physical condition was a subject of discussion. His departure for training camp was an event, his arrival another. His birthday anniversary was fittingly observed.

This year, thanks to a two-year contract signed after his personal triumph over the Athletics, he still is on the Cardinal roster without a pay reduction—a distinction to set him apart, surely.

But Manager Gabby Street doesn't know where "Pepper" is going to play on his ball team, or whether he's going to play at all.

Ernie Orsatti and George Watkins have first call on two garden berths with the 1933 Red Birds. Joe Medwick, Texas League recruit, is favored by Street for the other.

Gabby is "still considering" Martin, he said for "a trial at third base." However, this depends on the showing of the "experienced infielders," who include Frank Frisch, Rogers Hornsby and Sparky Adams, and possibly Charley Gelbert, should the latter's leg heal completely from a gunshot wound.

Pepper, in Gabby's phrase, will have to "beat his way back." There are plenty of fans and not a few experts, though, who believe he can do that very thing.

SEED LOANS READY SOON

Application Blanks For $9,000,000 Seed Loans Now On the Press

(By E. F. ARNOLD, County Agent)

The farmers' seed loan appropriation of $9,000,000 was signed Saturday, February 4, by the President of the United States. Application blanks are now being printed for the use of the farmers in applying for this money and it is expected that same will be ready around February 22. The rules and regulations governing these loans will not be announced from the Washington office until blanks are ready for the farmers' use. Blanks will be filled out in the county agent's office as heretofore and all farmers who are eligible for this loan and desire to secure same will be assisted by the county agent in getting their application blanks in proper form for securing loans.

Sweet Potatoes

The Pitt County Mutual Exchange moved four carloads of sweet potatoes from Greenville the past week. There are two cars in the process of being loaded at the station at this time and two additional cars will be moved from Greenville later in the week. They will also move one car from Fountain and seven cars from Gettison this week making a total of 14 or 15 cars moving in the past two weeks. The following farmers, who are members of the exchange, are cooperating in the loading of these potatoes: J. C. Galloway, J. B. Tucker, J. C. Parker, W. M. Taylor, L. O. Cox, S. N. Gilbert, R. F. Tugwell, J. L. Corey, L. R. Hardee, Frank Wilson, C. W. Harvey, A. R. Barnhill and K. R. Wooten.

Poultry Shipments

In addition to handling sweet potatoes the Pitt County Mutual Exchange was successful in shipping 15,121 pounds of poultry for 230 farmers for $1,465.85 last week. Plans are underway to have regular shipping days each week from Greenville and perhaps other points in addition to the car movements as heretofore. Announcements will be made as soon as definite arrangements can be had relative to small wholesale lot shipments from the county.

Curb Market

The curb market continues to offer a good variety of homegrown vegetables, poultry, dairy and meat products to the buying public of Greenville. In spite of the unusual weather conditions on market days, the market has been well patronized and some is appreciated by the members of the exchange. The market continues to operate on Tuesdays and Saturdays of each week.

Furniture Store Has Opening Here

The new home of VanDyke Furniture Company was thrown open to the public Friday night and Saturday and hundreds of people visited the store and viewed the extensive offerings of the latest creations of the furniture world.

The firm recently completed moving into the old Taft & VanDyke building on Dickinson Avenue, two doors nearer Five Points, and formally threw open their doors to the building public during the week-end.

The building, which has been completely remodeled, is one of the best appointed in the city, and presented an attractive appearance as friends and patrons visited the store to inspect the splendid stock.

Souvenirs were given away to visitors from 8:30 to 9:30 Friday night and during the morning and afternoon Saturday.

Representatives of the firm recently visited the great furniture-making centers of the country and purchased liberally of latest creations for the new store.

Persons who were not able to be present during the opening days have been invited to visit the store building on Dickinson Ave. two doors nearer Five Points, and view the latest styles brought together by the concern.

DEPENDENTS INCREASING IN COUNTRY DISTRICTS

Columbus, O.—(AP)—A higher rural birth rate than urban centers, plus the fact that in the past two decades many young persons are leaving the farm, is causing an increase in the number of dependents per rural worker.

These conclusions are from a four-year study made in eight typical Ohio townships by two rural economists at Ohio State University.

The rural population has 50 per cent more children under fifteen years of age or older per 1,000 population, compared with urban population.

The investigators found that of every one hundred boys, 41 remained to farm, most of them coming from families that had been the most successful in agriculture.

New Ford Car Viewed By Big Crowds Here

The fact that the great majority of motor car owners—both men and women—are mechanically minded, was conclusively demonstrated Saturday when the new Ford V-8 cylinder, 112-inch wheelbase motor cars were first placed on display at the showrooms of John Flanagan Buggy Co., Ford dealers.

The 75-horsepower V-8 cylinder engine, with its new aluminum cylinder heads and rubber mountings, the new double channel, double drop X-type frame, newly designed horn and cowling, bumpers and head, skirted front fenders, smaller wheels and larger tires appeared to attract fully as much attention as the new bodies with their flowing lines, distinctively modern design and luxurious interior appointments.

The new V-8 car is the fastest and most powerful car since Henry Ford launched into volume production of motor cars. It is exceedingly flexible in traffic and capable of a sustained speed of 80 miles an hour on the open road.

The secret of its power and alertness lies in the improved V-8 engine and its new cylinder head design. Because aluminum dissipates heat more rapidly, the all aluminum cylinder head permits unusually high compression pressure which results in increased speed, power and smoothness, unusual acceleration and fuel economy.

The cylinder heads have combustion chambers of improved design and are fitted with new 18 millimeter spark plugs with high heat resistance qualities. The high heat conductivity of the head material also obviates the tendency toward detonation or knocking, eliminating "hot spots" and reduces carbon deposit.

The 90-degree type crankshaft is fully counterbalanced and the piston and connecting rod assemblies are matched in weight to produce unusual operating smoothness. The engine is fitted with downdraft carburetor, air intake silencer and diaphragm type fuel pump.

Through achievement of Ford engineers the two cylinder blocks and crank-case are cast in a single piece, the cylinder blocks being set at an angle of 90 degrees. This design provides an exceptionally compact power plant. Basically the engine is similar in design to the first Ford V-8 engine introduced in 1932.

The engine reaches its power peak at 388 r.p.m. This point being unusually high in the speed range, the car is capable of negotiating steep grades at high speed.

The new frame is also one of the unusual features of the car. It consists of four channel members, the two members which form the X-brace being continued inside and almost to the ends of the main channels, thus providing a structure of great rigidity. Where the X-channels are brought together they are joined by a semi-circular cross-member on which the rear end of the power plant rests in a circular rubber mounting.

Still another feature of the new chassis, although not visible to the visitors Saturday, is the new three-quarter floating rear axle, with its straddle mounted pinion drive. The pinion is mounted in a double taper roller thrust bearing at the front and a straight radial roller bearing at the rear. This design permits maintaining permanent alignment of the pinion with the ring gear under all driving conditions and results in extremely quiet operation.

The wheels are 17 inches in diameter and of the Ford welded steel spoke type. Tires are of 5.50 inches section. The frame is cushioned by transverse cantilever springs and four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers which are adjusted both automatically and thermostatically for every variation in weather or road surface condition.

POLITICS

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

February has awakened the first post-election signs of life in that hardy but storm-scarred American political known as the Republican party.

After weeks of reverie, the important figures of the party are beginning to translate thought into action. Senator Watson has sounded a rally call. Vice-President Curtis has taken the chairmanship of a special reconstruction committee. President Hoover himself has consented to speak his political mind in a public address in New York.

It is true the specifications still are a little vague. But it is important to know that the sap is rising again, and that buds are swelling on the branches so mercilessly stripped of their foliage in the great freeze of last November.

Watson Starts Rally

Senator Watson's address of February 4 really amounted to the first major Republican campaign speech since the election.

In his attack on the Democratic record thus far, he reminded the country that sixteen millions voted the Republican ticket in November and "have not changed their opinion."

It was a call, not only to rally around Republicanism, but to rally around old-line Republicanism. The inference from the personnel of the new volunteer committee headed by Vice-President Curtis is that the "regulars" will control it, too.

If the Curtis committee really becomes a power in the party, how will it get on with the Hoover-constituted national committee, containing among its members many new-comers to whom old guardsmen were wont to refer privately during the last campaign as "Hoover's boy scouts?"

Hoover To Run Again

The answer of almost all well-informed politicians is that these two groups never will get on together at all.

Reports persist that Mr. Hoover will choose to run again in 1936. Certainly his friends show no disposition to step aside from control of the party organization. Some of the most highly-accomplished men in the party advised the President after the election to clean out the whole slate of party officials. Nothing of the kind has happened.

It now appears that Everett Sanders, the Hoover-picked national chairman, will not resign for some months to come. He may not resign at all without a fight.

But how real will be Mr. Sanders' party control, with the greatly-increased western insurgent bloc entirely out of hand, and Vice-President Curtis and his old guard friends setting up a reorganization machine of their own?

Action Below Surface

Not much of this can be expected to come to the surface in the near future.

For several reasons the outward attitude of most party leaders for the next year or so will be one of reticence and waiting. But below decks, things will be lively enough from now on.

POLICEMAN, HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE, GIVES ORATION

Cleveland, O.—(AP)—Patrolman Michael Powers, 27, one of the 85 graduates at West High School here had his idea of fitness when he came to deliver the graduation class oration. His subject was "Rackets."

Patrolman Powers has been a student at day and policeman a night for the past two years. Not only did he deliver the class oration, but he also was chief executive officer of the class. He plans to go on and get more education now.

Powers quit school when he was sixteen years old to help his other brothers and sisters through school. One of them became a Rhodes scholar.

GREENE COUNTY MAN PUTS END TO HIS LIFE

Goldsboro, N. C., Feb. 13.—John Wells, about 40, killed himself with a rifle at his filling station at Shine, in Greene County, Friday night, it was reported in Goldsboro today. As some of Mr. Wells' relatives left the filling station about 11 o'clock, they told them that if they heard anything to come back. Before they reached their home about three-quarters of a mile away they heard the report of a gun and, returning, found Wells dead. Several years ago he killed his brother-in-law, but was freed on the charge. Friends believed that this affair preyed on his mind. He was a son of H. W. Wells, prominent Green County man.

Beauty Hints

By MEATHER ANGEL
(Screen Actress)

All beauty culture is really an attempt at creating an illusion. It is a matter of transformation, in which we take what features we have and try to make them look like the ones we would like to have.

Therefore it is important to really look at your face and see its faults before selecting make-up. If your face is too thin and long your rouge should be applied high under the cheekbones and well out to the side of the face. If your hair is worn off the ears, by applying rouge to the ear lobes you will create a still more definite illusion of width.

Hoover To Speak

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—President Hoover today worked to complete his final address of high administration to be delivered tonight before the National Republican Club in New York in celebration of Lincoln's birthday. The main portion of the speech was finished yesterday, but some parts were left for completion today. Mr. Hoover and party left Washington this afternoon for New York.

Late News Flashes

Senator Smoot told his colleagues that the heritage of liberty which Lincoln preserved and handed down to us is scored as priceless heirloom in the hands of yokels.

In the House, Representative Beck said popular government was in serious danger.

The Senate expected to pass the Moore bill today making way for debate on prohibition repeal. This promises to be expensive because of declaration of drys that they will break at length in an attempt to defeat the resolutions.

The ambitious undertaking of the Senate finance committee for gathering views of America's leading men on ways of getting out of the economic slump opened today with Bernard Baruch, financier, on the stand.

Baruch advocated a program of a balanced budget and sound money. Chairman Bryson of the House appropriations committee, before starting conferences with managers of the post office bill which carries economy legislation, said he was convinced that if we ever want any real consolidation and elimination of bureaus we will have to give the power to the chief executive.

Leas G-4 New writ.

Jamestown, Tenn., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Col. Luke Lea and his son announced here today that they had obtained a writ of habeas corpus from County Judge E. E. Towlett at Crossville and that their fight against extradition to North Carolina probably will be transferred to the Cumberland county seat.

While Judge Towlett allowed bond—$10,000 for the elder, and $5,000 for his son—ending the hearing on the petition Feb. 28, it was undetermined whether furnishing of bond would enable them to return to Nashville. They left Nashville Jan. 26 and came to this county.

The publisher and his son under conviction in North Carolina for bank law violations, were scheduled to be given a hearing here at 10 a. m. today on another writ of habeas corpus, but at noon no judge had appeared to preside.

In a digest of the case given out here by representatives of the Leas it was explained that petition for a writ was filed at Crossville last night and was similar to one filed before Judge Henry Brown last Wednesday, but with some additions.

Jury Says Man Committed Suicide

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 13.—(AP)—A coroner's jury decided here today that Roy L. Jeterman, vice-president of several public utilities companies, found shot to death at his home last night, committed suicide.

Mrs. Peterman had been held under guard charged with murder. Mrs. Peterman did not deny the inquiry. She was under guard at a hospital, where she was taken a few minutes after police found her standing over her husband's body screaming: "I killed him."

The jury heard a few witnesses and then held the deceased came to his death as a result of self-inflicted pistol wound.

Police and other witnesses testified she was hysterical and in a highly nervous state when she made the declaration she had killed her husband.

Upon reaching the hospital she denied the shooting and did not know her husband was dead.

But late last night Frank Littlejohn, chief of detectives, swore out a warrant charging her with murder.

Seeks New Districts

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Massenburg, of Polk, said today that he planned to introduce a bill in the General Assembly to provide for redistricting of North Carolina into new State senatorial districts.

Operation For Sufferer

New York, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Ernie Schaff, injured Boston prizefighter, today underwent an operation at the Polyclinic Hospital to relieve a blood clot on the brain.

Condemned Men Paroled.

Raleigh, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Two negroes who three years ago faced death in the electric chair today had gained freedom through a parole by Gov. Ehringhaus.

Wright Bynum and William Randall, convicted in Wilcox county in May, 1930, of the murder of Callie Williford, were paroled because there was doubt as to their guilt.

Bynum and Randall were two of four men sentenced to die for the killing. On Sept. 26, 1930, Betty Richardson and Aaron Sharpe were electrocuted for the crime and before they died swore Bynum and Randall were innocent.

Would Abolish Tax Penalties.

Raleigh, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The first measure bearing the direct endorsement of Gov. Ehringhaus to be sent to the General Assembly will go up in the Senate tonight when the bill to abolish tax penalties will be introduced by Senator Clement of Rowan. The measure was not quite complete today but it was thought it would be read tonight.
