FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT LEAVES FOR NEW YORK

President-elect Saddened By Injury Of Five Persons In Attempt On His Own Life

TWO VICTIMS OF GUNMAN IN BAD CONDITION

Mrs. Joe Gill Not Expected to Recover From Injury; Mayor Cermak of Chicago, Reported in Critical Shape; Italian Fires On President-Elect As He Completes Brief Speech at Miami; Assailant Caught, Not Regretful

Take Action Against Assassins. Miami, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP)—More information charging assault with intent to murder will be filed late today against Giuseppe Zangar, assassin, who fired at President-elect Roosevelt last night, County Solicitor Charles A. Morehead has announced.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP)—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt left Miami at 10 a. m., today by train for New York saddened inexpressibly by the shooting of five persons by a gunman who sought his own life.

Before leaving, Mr. Roosevelt visited the victims of the bullets meant for him in a hospital here, and found the physicians chiefly concerned over Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, and Mrs. Joe Gill of Miami, while the others were considerably improved.

A blood transfusion was performed on Mrs. Gill just before the president-elect reached the hospital, in an attempt to save her life, and physicians said they were losing hope for her recovery. They also said they were becoming concerned over the condition of Mayor Cermak and were watching his heart action closely, still fearful of performing an operation to relieve the bullet he received in his back.

Miss Margaret Kreyes of New York, was reported progressing favorably. A bullet grazed her head.

William Sennett, New York police man, shot in the head, and Russell Caldwell, also shot in the head, were reported in an improved condition.

Meanwhile, the would-be assassin, Joe (Husset) Zingra, native of Italy, was held in a cell in the Dade county jail located on the top floor of the court house building.

He was 21 floors above the ground and had been subjected to severe grilling during the night.

Assured and defiant, Zingra told his questioners he had no regrets from his attempt on the President-elect's life.

The penalty for attempted assassination in Florida is life imprisonment and that for assassination is death.

Leaving his yacht where he spent the night, Mr. Roosevelt sped in an open car to the hospital on the outskirts of the city. He was surrounded by an extra heavy guard of police and a bodyguard. The trip from the yacht was without incident.

Mr. Roosevelt was met at the hospital by R. C. Woodward, superintendent, who gave him a report on the condition of the victims. At the request of the President-elect, he was permitted to go alone to the bedside of the wounded.

With an old-fashioned 32-caliber pistol, Zingra fired wildly into the crowd gathered about the automobile of Mr. Roosevelt in the picture. Dade Front park just as the President concluded a brief speech.

Mayor Cermak, standing behind the Roosevelt car, was among the first hit. A bullet struck him in the abdomen and an operation was contemplated as doctors reported that he had a little better than a fifty-fifty chance to live.

LIGHT DOCKET IN COURT HERE

Negress Given Ten Days at County Home on Charge of Stealing Hams

Convicted of the theft of three hams and a considerable amount of lard from the home of a neighbor, Rosa Anderson, colored, was sentenced to four months' work at the county home by Judge Dink James, presiding over the weekly session of County Court here yesterday.

Rosa was arrested over the weekend by city officers after she allegedly entered the home of Hemp Pollard, colored, and obtained the meat and lard. The theft was said to have been committed while the family was away from home. Police found the hams secreted in a fireplace at the woman's home. She was given preliminary hearing in police court Monday morning and bound over to county court.

Dr. J. W. Perkins, U. S. Commissioner here, charged with assault upon Harvey Briley, well-known tobacco man, was fined $100 and cost but filed notice of appeal to Superior Court under bond of $200.

The charge grew out of an automobile wreck between Briley and a daughter of Dr. Perkins. Dr. Perkins charged Briley with insulting his daughter while they were attempting to straighten out responsibility for the wreck, and was said to have used a stick on Briley's cranium. Briley contended he did not insult the young woman.

Guy L. Moore, of Ayden, was fined $40 and cost on a charge of possessing considerably more whiskey than the law allows.

James Fleming, colored, was given a two-year suspended sentence to roads on a whiskey for sale charge.

Ella Carr and Matilda Bunch, charged with larceny, were given six months' suspended sentence to the county jail.

Jennis Manning was given the choice of between $50 and cost or twelve months in jail, and paid the fine.

Convicted on a whiskey charge, James Peoples, colored, was given four months on the roads.

Judgment was suspended on payment of cost in the case of Anthony Cozard, colored, charged with abandonment. Similar action was taken in the abandonment charge against Jasper Baker.

Three presidents of the University of Toledo died within a space of six years.

Average costs of indigent patients treated at the University of Iowa hospital have been reduced 32 per cent the last three years.

METHODISTS GATHER HERE FOR MEETING

Bishop Kern to Speak at Final Session of Conference at College Tonight

"At no time has there been greater opportunity for teaching the gospel in the Orient than at this time," declared Bishop Paul B. Kern, Methodist Bishop of the Orient, delivering the opening sermon at a one-day Mission and Spiritual Life Conference at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church this morning.

Over one thousand people, representing Rocky Mount, Elizabeth City and New Bern Districts, attended the conference, considered one of the most important held by the denomination in this part of the State in years.

The conference was to be addressed this afternoon by Bishop Edwin Mouson, of Charlotte, and again tonight by Bishop Kern in the campus building of East Carolina Teachers College.

Three presiding elders of the districts embraced by the conference, Rev. L. B. Jones, of Rocky Mount; Rev. J. H. McCracken, of Elizabeth City, and Rev. T. M. Grant, of New Bern, were among the hundreds of ministers and delegates in attendance.

Rev. H. I. Glass, of Elizabeth City, led the devotional when the conference opened this morning, and this was followed by an address by Rev. G. W. Perry, of Rocky Mount, on "Inward Strength." The speaker told his hearers in a convincing way of the inward strength afforded by belief in the teachings of Christ and urged them to always depend upon this inexhaustible source of power.

Following the address by Bishop Kern, the bishops, presiding elders and ministers were guests at a delightful lunch given in the church building.

The session this afternoon was to (Continued on Page Four)

DOLLAR DAY HERE TODAY

Wide Range of Values Offered Shoppers in Semi-Annual Trade Event

"Dollar Day" semi-annual trade event, was being staged in Greenville today and people from a radius of many miles were here to take advantage of the hundreds of bargains offered on the various counters.

Merchants—twenty of them—the largest number participating in several years—had been preparing for the trade event for several days, and when the vanguard of arrivals reached the city this morning they found counters and shelves checked full of the most attractive values in years.

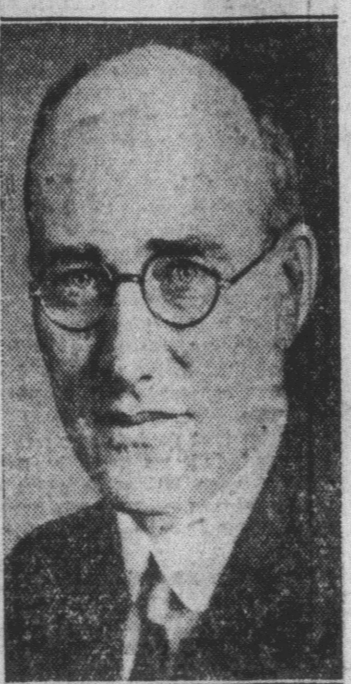

Greenville merchants always try to share their profits with their patrons on trade days, and especially on Dollar Day, and people buying here today were able to obtain many values far below the usual prices charged for them.

To meet the demand for certain kinds of goods, some of the merchant buyers to Northern markets to replenish their stocks, and the demand of hundreds of people was taken care of throughout the day.

Crowds thronging the streets during the morning hours were augmented by the afternoon and the various stores enjoyed the best business since the holiday season.

Nearly everything handled in the merchandising field was found on the counters here today because of the unusually large number of stores participating, and shoppers expressed gratification at the wide range of things they were able to obtain.

LIQUOR BILL PASSED TODAY

Senate Gives Approval to Blaine Bill For Repeal of Prohibition

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The Senate today adopted the Blaine resolution for repeal of the prohibition amendment with protection for dry states from liquor importation, ratification to be at state conventions. It now goes to the House.

Only this morning Speaker Garner predicted that if the resolution were adopted by the Senate in the form that it finally was, it would be approved by the House under suspension of rules on Monday.

The Senate vote was marked by tension on the floor, being crowded by members of the House who stood behind many senators seated quietly in their chairs answering to their names.

Before the final vote on which two-thirds was required, the Senate, by a previous majority vote, rejected one after another of an attempt by Senator E. Glass, Democrat of Georgia, and Reid, Republican, of Pennsylvania, looking to outlawing the saloon in the Constitution.

The vote on the Blaine resolution was 63 to 23.

By 46 to 38 it turned down Glass' endeavor to substitute the whole of the Blaine resolution with one by one aimed to make the Federal Government and the State concurrently responsible for outlawing the saloon.

REP. GOODWIN DIES IN FALL

Minnesota Congressman Killed in Fall From Hotel Window At Washington

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Godfrey Goodwin, of Minnesota, was killed early today in a fall from the window of his room at a local hotel.

Police said they did not know whether he had fallen or jumped from the window.

Goodwin, a Republican, was first elected to the Sixty-ninth Congress. He was not re-elected last November.

He was a member of the banking, currency and cotton committees.

Only a month ago, Representative Kendall, of Pennsylvania, shot himself to death in his quarters in the town house building.

The Driscoll Hotel at which Goodwin was staying is at the foot of Capitol Hill, only two blocks back of the Capitol building.

Hotel employees said Goodwin came here two weeks ago and had made his headquarters at the hotel for two years.

ROOSEVELT'S WIFE SAVED FROM TRAIN

Policeman Escorts Her From Tracks as Train Backs in Her Direction

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President-elect, today was escorted by a policeman out of the way of an incoming string of railroad cars that had come within twenty feet of her at the Lehigh Valley station shortly after her arrival here.

Mrs. Roosevelt had just alighted from a special train and was standing on one of the tracks with members of her party, including Herman Bergiot and Miss Flora Rose, director of the Cornell University College of Home Economics.

Neither Mrs. Roosevelt nor any member of the party noticed the string of cars backed in their direction by an engine until Motorcycle Officer Edward Moore took Mrs. Roosevelt by the arm and led her off the tracks.

En Route with Mrs. Roosevelt to Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Because she said she had a habit of doing things she said she will do. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was on her way to Ithaca today to make a speech on the program of the farm and home week at Cornell University. Pale and looking tired, she boarded the train several hours after receiving word that an assassin had fired five shots into the crowd surrounding her husband at Miami.

In the meantime, she had talked over the telephone with Mr. Roosevelt, had broken the news to his mother, had conferred over the telephone with her son, Elliott in New York, and had sent to the Broxton school in Massachusetts a telegram requesting the Roosevelt boys, Franklin and John, be told of the Miami affair and that their father was all right.

AYDEN NEGRO GIVES UP HERE

Leroy Pollard Surrenders to Sheriff After Shooting Jesse Earle

Leroy Pollard, negro, charged with shooting Jesse Earle, colored, during an argument in Ayden last Sunday night, came to the county jail the night afterward and surrendered with the laconic statement: "I don't want to give up to the officers of Ayden."

Earle who was not expected to live after a shotgun load of shot was fired into his stomach by Pollard, was still living today and some hope was being entertained for his recovery.

Running away from Ayden immediately after the shooting, Pollard beat his way to Greenville and went to the county jail to give himself up to "the law."

As Sheriff Sam Whitehurst left the jail during the early evening he was halted by a negro standing near the building.

"What do you want, boy?" the sheriff asked the darkey. "You didn't rob that store in Ayden, did you?" "No sir, I didn't rob any store," the negro replied, "but I shot a nigger."

The prisoner further informed the officer that he came to Greenville to surrender because he did not wish to be taken into custody by Ayden officers.

Sheriff Whitehurst placed the ebullient negro in the colored cell department at the jail where he will await the condition of Earle before facing trial.

BREAKS BUS LAW, FINED

Negro School Teacher Pays For Passing School Bus Without Stopping

Patsy Barnhill, colored school teacher, was fined $25 and cost in a magistrate's court here yesterday on a charge of passing a school bus while it was discharging passengers without stopping.

It is against the law to pass a school bus while taking on or discharging passengers, and since the death the past year of two children from violations of this kind, officers have started warfare on violators in the hope of curbing the practice.

The woman made no effort to deny the charge. She admitted she failed to stop when she met the bus between here and Grimsland while on her way to Washington.

HOUSE FAVORS DIVORCE BILL

Measure Gets Approval of Lower House Following Passage in Senate

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Easier divorce moved a step nearer North Carolina today as the House committee approved the Bailey bill to allow decrees after two years of separation. The measure has already been passed by the Senate.

The House Judiciary Committee placed its endorsement on the proposal without discussion.

UNABLE TO OPERATE CAR. HE IS OWNER OF GARAGE

Covington, Ky.—(AP)—William C. Blenke is the prosperous operator of a Covington garage, but he cannot drive a car; he does not have the slightest notion of how an automobile engine works; and, like many other motorists, his mechanical knowledge is just about limited to filling the gas tank.

The garage was washed on Blenke. Forty-three years old now, he spent twenty-nine years in the jewelry business. Automobiles were just pleasant vehicles in which to ride. And then the former operator of the garage failed to meet terms of the lease, and Blenke was persuaded to take it over.

The garage is strictly business with the new owner. He lets others with mechanical knowledge do the repairing.

The number of motor vehicles registered in Iowa on November 1 was 92,840 below the total for the same date in 1931.

DRIVE WILL BE MADE ON WIDE FRONT

Chinese Also Prepare For What is Considered Most Terrific Engagement Since Last September; Fifty Thousand Trained Japanese Troops To Be Used; 150,000 Loosely Organized Chinese to Defend Area

Mukden, Manchuria, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Many roads southward and westward of this important Manchukian city were alive today and night with Japanese and Manchukian troops moving toward positions where they will jump off probably within two weeks for the long awaited invasion of the Jehol.

The drive along the two-hundred mile front was expected to bring the biggest clash since the fighting began in September, 1931, with the capture of this city by the Japs.

The combined Japanese, Manchukian forces is expected to total 50,000, half of them tested Japanese soldiers, and they will oppose 150,000 loosely organized Chinese.

Realizing the campaign to wrest this important city from the Chinese will be difficult, the Japanese command has diverted the ablest of officers from other parts of the country to lead the drive.

The modern mechanical branches of Japan's powerful war machine, airplanes, tanks and armored cars, are being fully mobilized for battle.

EMERGENCY WORKMEN DEMAND HIGHER PAY

Seaboard, Feb. 16.—Thirty negro workmen who have been employed several weeks with county R. F. C. funds in a local highway bridge undertaking which involves eight hours hard labor in mud and water, struck Tuesday when their wages were cut to 40 cents per day. Only five workmen and two wagons remained on the job until the town commissioners guaranteed them 60 cents. District authorities explained that the cut had been effected over all the county because the farmers themselves considered it salutary with farming season at hand and farm labor in demand.

FACULTY STAFF TO MAKE STAGE DEBUT

The members of the staff of East Carolina Teachers College will step forth into the limelight on the evening of February 24, not for their own glory but for the students, for the cause of raising funds to enable worthy students to remain in college.

All three of the one-act plays to be presented are high class and serious work is being done to bring the performances up to a high standard. There is a great deal of talent among the members of the staff, many of whom have had considerable dramatic experience, both in producing plays and in acting. They have been the workers behind the scenes of most of the student performances throughout the past years.

REV. W. A. LILLYCROP SPEAKS TO COLORED MISSION

During last night's service of the mission now being conducted at the colored Episcopal Church, Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, rector of St. Paul's Church, delivered a beautiful and very helpful sermon which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. A group of ladies of St. Paul's Church furnished music for this service. Rev. Robert I. Johnson will continue his instruction tonight on "Lay Evangelism." A hearty welcome is extended to all.

Round Table Club Meets. A most enjoyable meeting of the Round Table Club was held at the home of Mrs. C. T. Munford on Tuesday afternoon, February 14th. Eighteen members were present and one guest.

The meeting was opened with the reading of a new Club Woman's Litany from Good Housekeeping Magazine, by Mrs. M. H. White. The business session was short. The referee on pronunciation reported on three words held in question—revere, isolation and carillon. It is interesting to know that the English pronunciation is given preference by Webster.

The paper of the afternoon was ably given by Mrs. J. L. Nobles on "Foundations Promoting Health." In spite of the reductions in family fortunes and incomes, philanthropic donations have not ceased. During 1932 the field of medicine and public health received a total of $17,144,000 in financial grants. It is a striking fact that this nation of people can go through "hard times" with no accompanying loss of physical health. Morbidity and mortality rates continue at the lowest levels on record, in spite of unemployment and attending reductions in necessities and comforts.

Some of the health foundation agencies discussed were the William Buchanan of Texarkana, Texas; the W. W. Burgess Charities, Inc., in Greenville, S. C.; and the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

This latter enterprise was described at length, and was most interesting on account of the benefit derived from it by our President-elect and his promotion of its activity. The foundation is a membership corporation without stock. It raises its funds from gifts and subscriptions. It was organized for the treatment of infantile paralysis, rheumatism and arthritis.

The treatments are given patients at cost, except such as are unable to pay. In these cases funds are made up from a patients' aid fund. The location is most beautiful, the hospital atmosphere homelike and unobtrusive. The water maintains a temperature of 90 degrees.

The Edgar P. Allen Foundation for crippled children of Ohio, the American Foundation for Mental Hygiene, the William Oxnard Moseley Foundation, the Milbank Memorial Fund and the Julius Rosenwald Fund were also described, and the benefits of colored people in Pitt county were especially touched on.

A social period followed this instructive program during which the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Wiley Brown, served a tempting salad course with reminders of St. Valentine.—Reported.

MANY TRAINING FOR WORK AS TEACHERS

Greensboro, Feb. 16.—One hundred and sixty students of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina are getting training as prospective teachers this year in Curry school of the state institution for women, according to a recent article in the Carolinian, weekly newspaper published by students at the woman's college.

SCRIP AND BARTER America's New Money Substitute

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of three articles discussing the growth of barter and scrip in the United States.)

By J. R. BRACKETT
New York.—(AP)—What stands between the unemployed and the nation's idle factories and surplus food? While governments and economists have sought the answer to that enigma, the unemployed themselves have undertaken to answer it—in part, at least—not only by bartering their labor for goods and services, but by establishing their own currencies for use primarily among themselves.

About 150 groups of unemployed, directly aided 500,000 persons, have organized into barter exchanges. These organizations as yet have no national organization and may not have, but it is the minds of some of their leaders to provide for barter on a nation-wide scale, perhaps even with a nation-wide currency.

Developments Legal So Far
Such an organization could develop in numerous ways. It might simply evolve in a more or less opportunistic fashion as exchanges of goods between the groups in different localities developed. The scrip money would not have to be exchanged, simple trades being arranged. Probably also money accredited by so many different organizations would have two variable a value for use in any but a single group.

On the authority of a government official it can be said that developments thus far have been legal. Scrip money, unless its acceptance is forced, does not interfere with legal currency which must be accepted in payment for goods and services.

In the view of a leading banking economist, governmental objection might arise if the element of compulsion, such as community pressure, were present. This economist believes neither banks nor government will object to more or less localized use of scrip.

Would Use Idle Factories
As for deliberate national organization of barter, the plan of Professor Frank D. Graham of Princeton University, a director of the Emergency Exchange Association, which is aiding in the formation of barter exchanges in the East and elsewhere, has received wide notice.

Professor Graham's plan is based on the simple statement that the best way to cure unemployment is to provide work. He would put the unemployed to work in idle or only partly operated factories, distributing the produce to the unemployed in proportion to their share in its production.

The workers, under his plan, would be paid in consumption certificates having value for one transaction only and losing purchasing value at the rate of 5 per cent a month, which would hurry their spending and insure the immediate absorption of the special production.

Raw materials would be purchased with the consumption certificates, and factories either could be paid in scrip or in shares of the production of the "unemployed" worker. The goods produced by the factories would be placed either on the shelves of stores or in special emergency stores, and those supplying the raw materials, as well as the workers, could buy the finished products with the consumption certificates.

The plan envisages no competition whatsoever with existing business, since it gives the unemployed what they want without the expenditure of money and releases funds now used in relief for normal purchasing.

Professor Graham believes such an organization should be nation-wide, if possible, but could be developed in States and regions. It would be strictly an emergency proposition, and, since the workers get subsistence only, it would tend to disappear as recovery progressed.

Protect Child From Traffic Club Formed

Beaver Dam, Wis.—(AP)—A certain type of news story almost never appears in the Beaver Dam Daily Citizen. Day after day the Dodge County newspaper goes to press without the distressing and familiar headline: "Motorist Injures School Children."

Every day without an accident clatters the editor, Joseph E. Helfert. He counts the day without a traffic mishap an achievement for constructive journalism, and another bull's-eye for his "Open Eye" Club.

The "Open Eye" Club, founded by Helfert, has expanded from an obscure department in a rural Wisconsin newspaper into an institution of inter-state importance. The Citizen's circulation extends little beyond the borders of Dodge County.

Nevertheless, a child in Corder, Wis., trips across the street carefully because the editor in Beaver Dam told him to—and sent him a badge and literature relating to safety. Another youngster in Miles City, Mont., stands at the curb and makes a conscientious effort to open his eyes very wide before stepping to the pavement, because doing so is living the motto of the "Open Eye" Club.

The "Open Eye" Club had its inception in Milwaukee in 1928 when a child dived in front of Editor Helfert's automobile, was struck and carried a distance on the front bumper. The youngster was only slightly hurt, but the incident made such an impression on the editor that he launched an editorial campaign for accident prevention and he has been at it ever since.

The State Department of the American Legion, by resolution, recognized and commended the ceaseless campaign which he heads.

18,000 Enrolled
About 18,000 children have enrolled in the "Open Eye" Club, a number exceeding the circulation of the Daily Citizen. Throughout Wisconsin there is a sprinkling of them and the club reaches out into a dozen other States.

Children pledge never to play in the streets, never to cross them without eyes open, and never to accept rides from strangers.

"Much of the success of the club is due undoubtedly to its complete lack of commercialism," said Helfert. "The club is not a promotion stunt, but a sincere effort to save lives. We don't care to print obituaries of little children."

Only ten inspectors are employed by the Ohio Public Utilities Commission to enforce laws regulating 1,700 more freight lines and 300 passenger bus lines.

New Congress Fight On Filipino Bill Hinted By Quezon's Trip To America

Manuel Quezon (below), veteran Filipino politician, is coming to the United States to satisfy himself that the new law for Philippine independence is the best that could be obtained by the island commissioners headed by Sergio Osmena (upper left) and Manuel Roxas.

Manila.—(AP)—Facing a momentous issue in the acceptance or rejection of the Hawes-Cutting independence bill, the Philippines are watching closely the maneuverings of their political leaders.

Decision of Manuel Quezon, mercurial leader of the dominant nationalist party, to sail for the United States on February 25, has revived rumors that an attempt might be made to re-open the question before the new Congress in Washington.

Quezon decided to risk his frail health on the long journey after the islands that opponents of the 10-year trial brand of self-government could rest assured that the welfare and freedom of the Philippines had been amply safeguarded.

Quezon said he wanted to learn this at first hand. He intends to talk with President-elect Roosevelt, congressional leaders and the Philippine commissioners in Washington.

Previously the veteran Filipino leader had expressed outright opposition to the bill. Long an advocate of complete and immediate independence for his native land, he called the American offer "fictitious independence."

Taxed then with having advocated just such a measure when he returned from Washington in November, 1931, Quezon answered:

"I don't recognize my son." In that earlier pronouncement Quezon recommended that the insular legislature favor, first, immediate independence; second, if that were impossible, a transition period under limited free trade; third, independence under less favorable circumstances.

It was his second best idea which he intimated had been altered beyond recognition by the Hawes-Cutting measure.

Favoring this bill from Washington were the members of the current independence mission headed by Senator Sergio Osmena. Quezon's one time political foe. With him are Manuel Roxas, speaker of the House; Camilo Osias and Pedro Quevarra. Roxas has been one of Quezon's lieutenants but he allied himself with Osmena in advocating acceptance of the bill.

Provided there is no re-opening of the subject in the American congress, the first test of Filipino reaction to the bill probably will come at the next regular session of the insular legislature. The 10-year law provides that the island's lawmakers may vote "yes" or "not" on the plan.

An affirmative vote would mean willingness to accept the responsibilities of nationhood under terms which critics of the measure consider onerous and dangerous to economic existence, but which advocates of the plan retort would seem cheap enough to the Filipino patriots who less than 35 years ago gave their lives for the same end.

Those favoring acceptance argue that a "no" vote would leave the issue as beclouded as it has been through years of agitation. It would mean that better terms—a shorter transition period, fewer conditions, more liberal free trade provisions—were hoped for from the incoming administration at Washington.

DUKE FACES BIG EVENTS SATURDAY

Durham, Feb. 16.—Two Saturday night events of paramount importance loomed larger on the Duke horizon today.

For on the last working day of the week the Blue Devils eager will invade South Carolina for a crack at the conference lead held by the all-powerful Gamecocks and at the same time the Duke boxers will be holding forth with the Carolina Tar Heels in their annual ring engagement.

The annual boxing matches which have had the state title at stake every year since the two institutions took up boxing, again offer that mythical prize to the winner and, judging from the past history of these pugilistic encounters there will be plenty of fireworks for lovers of the sport.

While every bout in these Duke-Carolina matches have been in the past a bout that could be featured, this season there will be one of the greatest attractions that has ever been offered—a clash between a pair of lads who are probably the two best featherweights in the conference.

Due has never beaten Carolina in boxing, and despite the fact that both teams tied 4-4, the experts say that this is not the year for the Blue Devils to break the string of Carolina victories. However this year will probably be no exception in the box office and another crowd like those of the past is expected to see the matches.

WILL U. N. C. FORWARDS BE ABLE REPEAT

Raleigh, Feb. 16.—A big question in Southern Conference basketball circles right now is will North Carolina's three all-southern forwards of 1932 repeat.

Basketball in the conference this winter has been close. Each of the ten schools claim individual stars and it may be that Verell Weathers and Wilmer Hines of Carolina and Jim Thompson of Duke will have to turn their titles over to others.

With the conference contest less than two weeks off, interest in possible all-southern men is picking up. A number of forwards have stood out during the entire season and should the teams these men are on get past the first round games, their chances are indeed bright for all-southern recognition.

Just who are these outstanding forwards? First, there is Weathers of Carolina, picked by AP sports scribes at Atlanta last year as a number one forward. Weathers has played excellent ball all season, and is seventh in the individual scoring column with 67 points.

Then there is Hines who plays in the 1932 tournament landed him on the second all-southern team. Hines has continued his brilliant play this winter and has scored 63 points to conference play.

Jim Thompson is out of the picture as far as retaining his second all-southern forward post as Coach Eddie Cameron has shifted the Duke star to center where he is expected to make another bid for individual honors.

WINTERVILLE WINS COUNTY CAGE TITLE

Winterville, N. C., Feb. 16.—Last night the Winterville High School basketball team sewed up the county-wide championship in a little piece of cloth and threw it on top of "The Tin Can" and gave it a signal to stay there until it was called for, by defeating the Bethel quint by a margin of 28 to 14.

The game was called at 8 o'clock with the locals taking the lead in the first half by the score of 16 to 8. The second half opened with visitors coming in to win the game and try in succession received the tip off from the center and attempted to score, but with the strong defense they failed to make the shots good and was held to only one field goal during the second half.

The first of the season the Winterville team had a very poor record winning only three of the first seven games they played, but for the last five games they scored 116 points to their opponents' 31.

The locals were defeated by the Greenville High School quint earlier in the season by the score of 17 to 16. One of the local subs was sent in about two minutes before the game was over; until then the locals had the lead, 16 to 15, and during the excitement shot a goal for the Greenville team, causing a defeat of one point.

But tomorrow the locals will return to Greenville knowing their goal and with a determination to

The line-up for last night's game was as follows:

Winterville—R. Cox, r. f., 4 points; Evans, l. f., 9 points; H. McLawhorn, c., 13 points; A. McLawhorn, l. f., g., nothing; C. Cox, r. g., 2 points. Total, 28 points. Sub: Williams for V. Cox.

Bethel—Bullock, r. f., 5 points; Highsmith, l. f., 4 points; Dunn, c., 3 points; Warren, l. g., 2 points; C. Cox, r. g., nothing. Total, 14 points. Subs: Wilson for Highsmith.

BASKETBALL TEAMS SPLIT DOUBLE-HEADER

The Grimesland and Pantego teams divided a double header Friday night on the Belhaven court. The Grimesland girls won 24-19, but in the boys' game, the Pantego boys were victorious 31-10.

At the end of the first half of the girls' game the score was 15-14. However, in the last half Grimesland made 9 points and Pantego 5. N. Stanley led the Grimesland girls with 17 points. C. Paul led the Pantego girls with 8. The Grimesland lineup:

Forwards—J. Moore (2), N. Stanley (17), M. Winchard (3); Center: L. Clark; Guards: R. Stanley, L. Edwards. Substitutes: H. Wilson (2).

Pantego—Forwards: L. Ting (6), Jarvis (3), C. Paul (8); Center: Elks; Guards: Adams, Bishop. Substitutes: Gray (2), Case.

At the close of the first half the Grimesland boys led Pantego 6-14. The game ended with Grimesland 10, Pantego 31. J. Proctor scored 5 points for Grimesland, Daw 9 for Pantego.

Grimesland—Forwards: J. Proctor (5), A. Fleming; Center: Heath (1); Guards: Porter (4); S. Fleming (2).

Pantego—Forwards: Hodges (8), Daw (9); Center: Robbins (8); Guards: Sadler, Cox (6).

SPORT SLANTS

The touch of irony in the cancellation for 1933 of the picturesque Poughkeepsie Regatta seems to me the fact it wipes out the climax to the one sport of which the Carnegie Foundation's Bulletin, 23, in 1929, was able to say:

"Rowing appears to be the only major branch of intercollegiate athletics from which commercialism is absent."

Do not question the costliness of maintaining crews. It has cost Cornell as much as $25,000 a year to float its big Navy on the historic waters of Cayuga and elsewhere. Washington has raised upwards of $10,000 just to send its best crews to the Hudson.

Obviously the present and prospective situation does not warrant most of the colleges continuing such expenditures, with their normal revenues cut in half, yet it is a fact that the pious phrases of the Carnegie Report of four years ago now sound quite hollow indeed, in the light of developments which show that only the self-sustaining or commercialized college sports, like football and basketball, are able to weather the economic tide.

Penalize the "Amateurs" Of course the Carnegie Foundation investigators and authors of Bulletin 23 pointed out the dangers in the structure of athletic financial operations which grew up with the boom times. Referring to the benefits of intramural events for example, the report remarked: "The pity is that such beneficial results as are now being achieved are allowed to depend universally upon the financial prosperity of football."

But it went on to say, also: "High gate receipts inevitably reflect commercialism and all the evils that follow in its train." Luxuries were cited, but among them were not listed the great sport of rowing or the other poor intercollegiate cousins of the money-eyed gridiron monarch. The fact now seems to be that the sports canceled or the events curtailed are being erased from the 1933 picture in direct ratio to the simon-pure element involved.

The more nearly amateur a given competition may be, the less chance it appears to have of surviving existing conditions.

Certainly it indicates those who derided the commercialism of 1929, when all the big colleges had surplus money in the bank, but who now are decrying the circumstances that force the abandonment of the least commercial of all college championships—the Poughkeepsie Regatta.

Weren't Given a Chance The stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association may be quite correct in their conclusions and decision yet I think many, including the rowers themselves, would have liked the chance to put up a struggle to retain so thrilling an event as the big regatta on the Hudson.

Who will ever forget how Stanford's boys scrambled their way to Poughkeepsie in 1915, borrowed a shell and almost beat one of Cornell's greatest varsity eight? Or, for that matter, what a fight all the old-timers made for years to keep rowing going, when its followers had to "dig down" or see the sport disappear?

Prestige would not have depended on having a capacity fleet on the Hudson again this June. With an earlier date, the boys would have managed to train at home and get to Poughkeepsie, somehow with enough shells to boat the crew.

Along with the movement to give horse-racing back to the horses, and college sports back to the boys this spring, it also appears business conditions are about to give those classic Eastern intercollegiate title events (hitherto the play of the West's sun-kissed lads) back to the East.

Not even the East wants the Poughkeepsie Regatta, however, for 1933, but I doubt very much, if the Pacific Coast tent will pass up altogether the chance to collect some additional athletic honors, even at the heavy price of a few transcontinental round-trip railroad tickets.

Even with Stanford and California withdrawn from the I. C. A. A. A. track and field championships Southern California's championship team seems certain to be represented in the big meet at Harvard Stadium, May 26-27.

The Trojans, even though they no longer have Frank Wykoff and Bill Graber of their 1930-1931-1932 title careers, probably could send on a half dozen lads capable of scoring enough points to make it four straight for U. S. C.

Among the few to have a big year in 1932, financially as well as artistically, Southern California should be able to finance such an expedition without undue strain on the treasury. It would be worth the Trojans' making a money-ay struggle anyway, for the sake of the prestige involved. And the Masters would be glad to have the man again, even if it meant losing the chance to put the classic I. C. A. A. A. cup back on an Eastern shelf after a lapse of nine years.

Penn Looks Powerful The Eastern outfits do not want to regain such ancient trophies as these by default. They prefer to win them, if possible, on their merits. In another year or two, Pennsylvania may burst forth with a title-winning track team. At least Lawson Robertson, favored by such law-abiding as Bill Carr and Gene Venizette is going about his job these days in a quite hopeful frame of mind.

Having overthrown the great Eastman, in individual competition contrary to all laws of Pacific Coast gravity and propriety, why not attempt the zurlier task of overthrowing Southern California's ubiquitous Trojans?

It is to be hoped meanwhile, that the sad state of fiscal affairs at Stanford will not make it impossible for Big Ben Eastman, himself, to be sent East, in his senior year, for a final whirl at the I. C. A. A. A. games and, if possible, a return race with the great Bill Carr.

Deserves a Chance It would be a crowning blow for the bold Californians, on top of a series of setbacks in his biggest races, to be kept at home this year. Though the greatest runner of his times, combining the 400-800 meter range, Eastman has twice been beaten by world record performances in the I. C. A. A. A. quarter, first by Vic Williams at Philadelphia and then by Bill Carr at Berkeley.

His subsequent attempts to gain national championship or Olympic gold medals last summer were, as everyone knows, frustrated in convincing style by Carr over the 400 meter route, under circumstances which deprived Eastman at his best distance, 800 meters.

be confined to group conferences marked by the sermon of Bishop Mouzon, who is considered one of the most forceful speakers in the country.

Making the concluding appeal of the conference tonight at 7:15 o'clock, Bishop Kern was to again discuss world missions and ask for more united support of the people.

Asking the question, "Is the missionary enterprise worth the sacrifice it takes?" Bishop Kern gave a graphic portrayal of conditions in foreign lands. Answering his own question, he said, "Evil means it is" and declared: "It may be out of our sufferings that a new faith will come."

Three reasons were advanced why he considered missionaries worth while. The first was attributed to various successes; the second, increasing need; and the third, to the fact that Christian religions stresses the worth of human personality.

Declaring that at no time was the opportunity greater for teaching Christianity abroad than at this time, the speaker asserted that missionary activities were indispensable to the welfare of the world.

The Senate refused to accept a House amendment to the bill to cut pay of solicitors.

The upper division insisted on a flat allowance including expenses of $4,250 annually. This is a cut of one thousand dollars.

The House was asked to concur though it passed a bill to make the pay $3,500 annually and allow $100 per week additional for each week over 24 a solicitor is engaged in the prosecution of cases.

Before the formal session it was learned that proponents of the selected commodities or luxury tax, were preparing a measure to tax tobacco, soft drinks, cosmetics, sugar, long distance telephone calls, automobile accessories and other articles and would offer it to a joint committee as a substitute for the sub-general sales tax. A House judiciary committee gave an unfavorable report to the Taylor-Boyd bill to make criminal syndicalism plan.

Bank Robber Slain in Gun Fight Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 16.—(AP) Within an hour after they had held the cashier prisoner and looted the First National Bank of suburban Ampler, four bank bandits today fought a thrilling pistol battle with police armed with sub-machine guns. One man was killed and three others were captured and three women held as suspected accomplices.

About $50,000 taken from the bank was recovered. Detective Lieutenant James (Huey) Houry said the surviving bandits confessed to three hold-up in New Jersey.

They also were suspected of two additional robberies in Philadelphia besides one at Ampler. The dead man was identified as William Ferguson who recently was released from prison in Baltimore after being held there in connection with a jewel robbery.

The cashier, Samuel Horst, 45, was captured when four men invaded his home after midnight. He was held prisoner along with his wife in a livingroom before 6 o'clock, when the robbers knew that the time lock on the vault was set to open at that time.

Ask Your Doctor Two Important Questions How Many Minerals Does the Body Contain? Why Are Minerals and Vitamins So Essential to Bodily Health?

When your doctor names the Mineral elements of the body write down the list carefully. Take this list to your druggist and ask to see a bottle of LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, the marvelous new formula that is bringing health to thousands. Compare the Doctor's list with the label on the bottle and you'll find, without exception, every one of the essential Minerals are contained in this famous compound. That's the reason for its amazing success. It's Nature's own way to health.

OUR WONDERFUL BODIES Strange as it may seem, these wonderful bodies of ours consist of a very limited list of fundamental chemical elements. It is now known that only eleven minerals and five gases are needed by Nature in building the strongest man or the most beautiful woman.

OUR BODIES ARE ROBBED All of these essential Minerals and gases are present in natural foods but improper cooking and an unbalanced diet rob us of these vital elements. The system becomes charged with acid. Indigestion and Constipation follow. We become nervous and irritable; subject to headaches, fail to get the proper rest at night, become weak and listless and good health disappears.

MAKE THIS 10 DAY TEST Convince Yourself! Stop dosing yourself with "patent medicines," harsh purgatives, oils and cathartics for just 10 days. Go to your nearest Druggist and secure a bottle of LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND. Take it regularly, and watch the results. You'll be amazed at the feeling of renewed strength and vigor that soon appears. No narcotics or alcohol to "boost you up" but a natural method of restoring health and energy.

NATURE DEMANDS HELP When any of the essential Minerals are deficient, Nature demands help. Harsh laxatives, "patent" medicines and "pain killers" won't do. You must feed into the body those missing elements that Nature demands. LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, the new scientific formula, contains a balanced supply of Minerals, in combination with vitamins and it is surprising how quickly the system responds to this Natural health building formula.
