Congress To Meet Thursday To Crush Financial Crisis Threatening United States

LEGISLATORS WILL CONSIDER BIG PROGRAM

President Roosevelt May Appear Before Solons With Program For Financial Recovery; President Allows One Day In Which To Put Thru Relief Measure

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(AP)—A new Congress—the Seventy-third—will assemble Thursday at noon charged with the responsibility of crushing the most serious crisis in the nation's proud history.

The law-makers will gather at the call of President Roosevelt issued yesterday in a brief proclamation asserting that "public interest requires the national legislature to meet to enact legislation which will permit the orderly reopening of banks."

Before it in person President Roosevelt may go with a program he has drafted after weeks of study of plans for curing the ills of the nation. That he will depend upon his compelling oratory to drive home to the legislators his ideas instead of the drone of a reading clerk, has not been definitely determined, but it was indicated today this might be his policy.

In a brief message issued through his secretary following the issuance of the proclamation, the President said:

"Anticipating the special meeting of Congress on Thursday, I am preparing an immediate program directed to meet the monetary emergency. It is of course essential that the first business be confined to banking and financial institutions."

And by his own movements the President has allowed Congress one day in driving his program through.

The bank holiday will end Friday morning, and by that time the President just two days since taking office hopes that the climb upward will have begun. If by then the legislation has not been put through an additional banking holiday may be taken.

Cotton Co-ops To Hold Meeting Here Friday 17th

Pitt county members of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association will hold their annual primary convention in the court house here Friday, March 17, at 2:30 to elect delegates to the first district convention which will be held here prior to April 15.

M. G. Mann of Raleigh, secretary and treasurer of the cotton cooperative, will be the principal speaker at the meeting. His speech will embrace production credit, national legislation, improved seed and fertilizers and the activities and policies of the cooperative.

The purpose of the district convention, to be held here, is to nominate candidates for director of this district.

John T. Thorne of Farmville, is present director of the first district which is composed of Pitt, Beaufort, Bertie, Martin, Hyde, Tyrrell, Perquimans, Camden, Washington, Chowan, Pasquotank and Currituck counties.

The meeting to be held here will be an open one and letters have been mailed by the cooperative to members inviting them to bring their non-member friends—farmers and business and professional men—along with them to meeting.

The meeting here will be the 21st of a series of 45 meetings which was started February 9 and will end on April 15.

BANK HOLIDAY IN FORCE HERE

Banks, However, Remain Open To Make Change For Convenience of Patrons

As a result of a proclamation yesterday by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus calling a banking holiday in this State followed by Presidential proclamation last night making the holiday mandatory throughout the nation, banks in Greenville today cashed no checks and accepted no deposits, but for the convenience of the public, the banks remained open for the purpose of making change.

As stated in these columns Friday and Saturday the banks of Greenville are in possession of a greater amount of cash than is usually carried on hand, and are in position to take care of any situation that might arise, and at the meeting in Raleigh yesterday of the Advisory Banking Commission, representatives of the bank here protested against a State banking holiday and asked permission to continue to do normal business, but the Governor's proclamation followed by the Presidential proclamation made the cessation of business mandatory with no choice for the banks here but to observe.

The local banks will re-open immediately they are permitted to do so, and what restriction, if any, will be in force, will depend upon the government requirements rather than the local conditions, as the banks could go ahead unhampered but for the mandatory proclamations.

FOUR ESCAPE FROM ROADS

Desperado Among Those Breaking Away From Chain-gang In South Car.

Lancaster, S. C., March 6.—(AP)—Four negro convicts, one of them classed as a desperado, escaped from the Lancaster county chain-gang last night and police were scouring the section today in search of them.

One of the four was George Washington, who has a criminal record dating back over a period of several years.

Indiana ranks second in production and value of soy beans and fourth in acreage.

Nation Begins Four-Day Banking Holiday Called By President Roosevelt

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(AP)—The nation today entered upon a four-day modified banking holiday which President Franklin D. Roosevelt, vesting himself with war-time authority, exerted the great powers of his office to wrest financial order out of the economic confusion prevailing over the country.

The first step, a direct precedent-shattering objective to bring back an orderly exchange of currency, was taken last night by Presidential proclamation suspending banking operations throughout the nation, placing an embargo on exchange of gold and prohibiting acceptance of gold for foreign accounts.

Today Treasury officials prepared orders for the issuance of clearing house certificates to be used as script during the holiday, and President Roosevelt and his advisors shaped emergency legislation to be presented to Congress Thursday.

Governor who attended the inauguration Saturday were called to the White House to lunch and for a conference dealing with the crisis at this time. The governors' views were sought for drafting remedial legislation which Congress will be asked to enact within a few hours after it meets.

Secretary Woodin, of the Treasury, was emphatic in his assertion that the President's action in suspending banking business didn't take the United States off the gold standard. Some financial authorities raised the question, but Woodin said it was without merit in as much as the measure was temporarily in effect.

Woodin indicated cash windows of the Treasury would be closed through the holiday and with the Federal Reserve also closed all redemption of currency or gold would be stopped.

Train Hits Car, Three Killed

Kanapolis, March 6.—(AP)—Three members of one family, a father and two daughters, were killed here today when their auto was hit by the Southern Railway train No. 39 at Graver's crossing.

The dead are Henry Davis, 34, Thelma Davis, 16, and Catherine Davis, 15, all of Kanapolis.

Davis was taking his daughters to school. He did not see the fast train which does not stop here, as he drove on the tracks. The engine caught the car squarely on the track and carried it 675 feet before being thrown aside on the right of way.

Any eye witness said Davis apparently did not look in the direction from which the train was coming. He said the body of Catherine was catapulted from the machine first. It was hurled through the air after being carried 200 feet. Catherine was thrown clear a hundred feet further.

Hold Funeral For Walsh

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—The urgent cares of state were laid aside today while American officials gathered at the flower-banker bier of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, in the Senate chamber to pay him a last tribute.

President Roosevelt and members of his cabinet, in which Walsh would have sat if he had lived, headed the list of notables who sat silently near the silver bronzed casket and joined in mourning.

Archbishop Michael J. Curley of Baltimore and Bishop John McNamara of Washington, the auxiliary bishop of the Baltimore diocese, officiated.

Apply For Farm Loans

Farmers Begin Filing Applications For Federal Seed Loans Here Today

Applications for government seed loans were being filed by Pitt County farmers at the courthouse here today. The first day for the acceptance of applications brought over two hundred growers to the city during the morning hours with indications that scores of others would follow while the filing period is in progress.

The applications were being filed at the farm department office in the courthouse and three stenographers and office assistants were employed to expedite the handling of business. The applications were being filed under the supervision of H. E. Lane, government seed inspector for this area, assisted by E. F. Arnold, director of the Farm Department, and office employees.

The maximum loan available to an individual is $300, but a farm is able to obtain as high as $1,200. Certain restrictions are attached to the loans, the most important being the requirement that growers agree to reduce their cotton, tobacco and peanut crops 30 per cent. This was expected to help relieve the glutted condition of the world market and eventually bring about more active demand for the commodities.

Applications filed here will be passed upon by a local committee before being forwarded to the government loan agency. Loans should be available two weeks after the date of filing, it was said, providing they are favorably reported.

Americans Aboard Feel Banking Pinch

Rome, March 6.—(UP)—More than 5,000 Americans in Italy are being affected by the banking holidays in the United States, according to an estimate made today by the American embassy.

While the American Express Company continues to honor letters of credit drawn on the larger banks, it has absolutely refused to risk cashing any personal checks.

An official of the company told the United Press that "we will pay anything drawn on us. We have never yet failed to honor any of our own paper. We paid every cent that was demanded at the outbreak of the war, and we will do so now."

Cable companies reported they were exceedingly busy today transmitting requests to the United States for money.

STATE BANKS BEGIN 3-DAY HOLIDAY PLAN

Banks Suspend Operation By Order of the President and Governor

Raleigh, N. C., March 6.—(AP)—North Carolina banks were closed today under double orders from President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus.

Before the Presidential proclamation declaring a national banking holiday was issued Governor Ehringhaus had already decreed a holiday for this State beginning today and continuing through Wednesday.

Soon after the Governor's order was issued, Dan C. Boney, State Insurance Commissioner, wired all State Building and Loan Associations ordering them to suspend during the holiday.

Governor's Proclamation

The Governor's proclamation follows: "To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come—Greeting:

"Whereas, an emergency has arisen which is nation-wide and which threatens the banking institutions and the financial life of our own State, and

"Whereas, practically every State in the Union has declared a banking holiday, and

"Whereas, a sound public policy suggests that we protect our own State against the danger which arises from the action of our sister States, and which threatens to leave us isolated unless similar action is taken by us, and

"Whereas, the Commissioner of Banks and the Advisory Banking Commission, and practically unanimous sentiment among the bankers of our State, representing both State and National banks agree that such action is necessary, and

"Whereas, a number of Federal Reserve Banks have suspended their normal operations,

"Now, therefore, I, John C. B. Ehringhaus, Governor of North Carolina, do hereby proclaim and set apart Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 6, 7 and 8, 1933, as a banking holiday throughout North Carolina. All banking institutions, both State and National, doing business in this State are hereby enjoined and commanded to observe the three days as holidays with the same force and effect, in the same manner and to the same extent as legal holidays are observed in this State."

The recommendation adopted by the bankers follows:

"Resolved, That in view of the bank holidays declared in every other State of the Union except North Carolina, and a resulting cessation of ordinary banking functions throughout the nation, North Carolina is left without protection from unreasonable withdrawals of bank deposits for transfer to other States without the reciprocal right to draw against deposits in other States, it is believed to be necessary for the protection of the banks, their depositors and the business interests of North Carolina, that a banking holiday be declared for the State, and it is hereby recommended to the Governor that he at once declare a banking holiday for the State of North Carolina for such period of time as he, with the Commissioner of Banks and the Banking Advisory Commission may deem advisable; and that upon the termination of the holiday, the Commissioner of Banks put into effect such uniform regulations as may be deemed necessary for the protection of the depositors and the business interests of the State."

DUNN FACES NEW CHARGE

Young Man Held In Robbery Also Faces Charge of Theft of Auto Wheel

After being released under bond in connection with the robbery of Watson's store here last week, Luther Dunn, young white man, was being held in county jail today on a second charge—that of stealing an automobile tire and wheel.

The second charge was preferred against the prisoner by police the latter part of last week and he was bound over to County Court under bond of $200 following hearing in police court Saturday morning. He was remanded in jail upon his inability to provide bond.

When the second charge was preferred Dunn, along with David Pulley was at liberty under bond in connection with the robbery of Watson's store the middle of last week. They were alleged to have taken a considerable amount of sugar and cigarettes from the store, but were later granted $500 bond for their appearance in the next session of court.

It was while investigating the Watson robbery that police were said to have discovered a number of automobile tires and tubes in the possession of Dunn. One of the tires and wheels was identified as belonging to a citizen who made complaint to the police several days prior to the arrest of Dunn.

DEFER SALES OF POULTRY

Shipments Set For This Week Deferred Until Banking Situation Improves

As a result of the banking holiday declared throughout the United States, all poultry sales scheduled for Pitt County this week have been indefinitely postponed, it was announced today by E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Farm Department, under whose direction all sales are conducted.

Shipments were scheduled to have been made from Ayden Wednesday, Greenville Thursday and Bethel Friday, Mr. Arnold said, but owing to conditions prevailing in the banking field it has been deemed advisable to defer sales until the financial situation clears up.

Mr. Arnold expressed hope it would not be necessary to postpone sales longer than the present week and said the notice would be made in the affected communities as soon as the new date of sales has been decided upon.

The movement of carload shipments of poultry from this community is always fairly heavy at this season of the year, and in view of the fact that they bring additional revenue to growers every effort will be made to expedite shipments when the national banking situation makes this possible.

HIS FAMILY PRESENT AT TIME DEATH

Death of Man Who Received Bullets Intended For President Roosevelt Follows Pneumonia and Gangreen In Lung Penetrated By Bullet

Chicago Council To Prepare For Funeral At Special Session Tuesday: Home Town Sends Expression of Sympathy

Miami, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—Mayor Anton Cermak, of Chicago, the victim of a bullet Giuseppe Zangara fired February 15 in an attempt to assassinate President Roosevelt, died in the Jackson Memorial Hospital here today at 6:57 a. m.

Death followed a series of complications against which the Chicago mayor had rallied valiantly time after time.

Members of the family and friends were at the bedside. Mrs. Floyd Kenney, daughter of the mayor, was holding the hand of her father when he died. Vivian Graham, a granddaughter, held the other. The little group remained in the sun parlor of the mayor's room several minutes after he died.

"Oh, he wanted to live so much," Mrs. Richey Graham, daughter-in-law, said.

Mrs. Frank Girka, another daughter, added: "He fought so hard; he didn't want to die."

Mayor Cermak had previously rallied after three crises in his condition. Colitis, threatened heart failure and pneumonia beset him, but rapid succession just as his condition began to improve and hope was held out he would recover. Doctor still were optimistic Saturday, but last night gangreen appeared in the right lung—that grazed by the bullet of the assassin Zangara. A third blood transfusion was given yesterday in an effort to save his life, and in an effort to check the gangreen but he did not respond.

He lapsed into a coma last night and after midnight physicians said death was a matter of only a few hours. The mayor died peacefully.

Father Mirron of St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church of Chicago had been praying at the bedside of Mayor Cermak a short time before he died.

Chicago, Ill., March 6.—(AP)—Plans for the funeral of Mayor Anton Cermak will be made at a special session of the city council Tuesday. Burial will be in the Bohemian National Cemetery on the north side of Chicago, the burial place of Mr. Cermak. It was understood that arrangements have been made for Catholic priest, Protestant minister and Rabbi to participate in the services.

The entire city council will meet the special train bringing the body of Mayor Cermak to Chicago when it arrives Wednesday.

Kladno, Czecho-Slovakia, March 6.—(AP)—Mayor Cermak's home town was grief-stricken when it was learned he had died the victim of an assassin's bullet.

The mayor cabled his sympathy to members of the family.

THE BANK HOLIDAY.

The action of President Roosevelt last night in declaring a nation-wide banking holiday and calling Congress to meet this week to give the financial affairs of the nation immediate consideration, is we believe, the beginning of the way out for our people and our nation as a whole.

So far as the safety of money in the banks, we believe that the efforts of Mr. Roosevelt will be rewarded with a plan of protection for bank depositors that will remove all the hazards that have heretofore existed and that such a plan will remove forever the necessity of runs on banks and the hoarding of money by persons who now fear the banks.

From a local standpoint, we feel that money in our banks, even though it may be tied up temporarily because of the banking holiday and the restrictions that may follow, is still safe and will be paid to the depositors every cent of it.

Last week when holidays were being declared all about us we urged our people not to draw their money out of the banks, and while some may criticize us, now that the banks are taking a holiday we still feel that it was good advice and that those who heeded it had nothing to lose by so doing, and are far better off than if they had their money in cash now with no safe place to put it.

We reiterate, we believe we gave our people sound advice when we urged them to hold their heads and not grow panicky in this emergency and we urge them to continue to show this faith when the banks re-open following the holiday.

VALIANT DUST

RAISUL, son of the Kaid of Mekazan, takes time from his intrigue against France with Major Napoleon Riccoli, of the Foreign Legion, to slip into Margaret Maligni's room late at night. When Margaret protests angrily her mother-in-law rushes to Jules, Margaret's husband, and declares that by repulsing Raisul Margaret has endangered the influential position of the Malignis with the Kaid. Margaret hurries from El Isa Beth 'Ain's apartment, and is stopped by a curious sound.

Chapter 25 A NEW FRIEND

What a heavenly sound! Someone was positively whistling, quite near; someone was softly whistling an air that she recognized. Where had she heard it? Paris, Marseilles, the ship, Gibraltar, Tangier? A hand had been playing it in one of those places. Where?

And whoever was whistling must be a European. Moors don't whistle. Jules? Of course, it might be the Senior Pedro Maligni. Raisul! He was a Moor, but having been educated in France, and lived so long in Europe, he might whistle. She had never heard him do so—nor Jules either, for that matter.

What would happen if Raisul caught her there? Anger mingled with the fear that clutched at Margaret's heart. Who was she, that she should dread this wretch; this beastly native? Margaret's mouth set in a straight line; her hands clenched; and she realized that she was carrying the heavy dagger with which she had hammered on the door of El Isa Beth 'Ain's room.

Drawing it from its cut-steel sheath, Margaret saw that the blade was bright, keen-edged and sharp-pointed. "This is ridiculous," she said, and crept forward in the direction of the sound.

A few yards farther on, yet another corridor of this warren branched from the passage in which she was. Standing at an unglazed Moorish window that was little more than an arrow-slit with a horseshoe top, was a man, wearing a hooded cloak, and yellow heeled slippers; a very much bigger man than Raisul, bigger than Jules or his father.

Motionless, in the dark shadow of the wall he watched intently someone or something that interested him below. Suddenly, hearing her footsteps, with a swift movement he turned toward Margaret, at the same time drawing farther back than the light, but not before she had recognized to bearded face of Ober-Leutnant Carl Von Mittengen alias Herr Schlacht.

"Oh, good morning," said Margaret. "I've rather lost myself. I'm afraid. Could you tell me how to get to the court-yard—the inner court-yard, from which three flights of stairs lead up to the part of the castle where my husband's mother's apartments are?"

"The man bowed courteously, swiftly studying her face with a steady gaze which, though keen and penetrating was yet not offensive. In the moment of her sudden appearance, it seemed that something wary, watchful, anxious, peeped out from behind the hooded, bearded mask that was his face. As he did not immediately reply, Margaret began all over again in French.

"Bon jour, Monsieur. Je suis... " "I spik Anglisch," interrupted the man. "Please to spik it to me if you had prefer it. I understand it quite perfect, though I do not spik it so quite perfect."

"Oh, good," replied Margaret. "My French is very far from perfect, and so is my understanding of it, especially if it is spoken quickly. Will you kindly show me the way out?" "Yes, I know the way out," replied the man, and added, with a slow smile: "Sometimes the way out is easier than the way in, isn't it?"

"Sometimes," agreed Margaret, and sometimes it is a great deal harder. "Ah," he observed, "do you, perhaps, think you find it more difficult to leave Mekazan than to come into it? I me myself, find it more difficult to come into Mekazan than to out."

Motionless, he watched intently.

you could help me in any way. Not that I require any help from anybody. Of course not. Why should I?" "You do need help," replied Herr Schlacht, shaking his head and smiling upon her in a kindly, almost fatherly manner. "When I need help I will appeal to my husband, thank you, and he will help me."

"Pray forgive me if I offend, but I know. Suppose you want help last night when Raisul came to your room?"

P. T. A. TO OBSERVE MAGAZINE WEEK

The week of March 6-11 has been designated as "Magazine Week," among the Parent-Teacher Associations of North Carolina.

An intensive drive will be launched to interest more readers in the Child Welfare Magazine, official publication of the national Parent-Teacher congress.

Mrs. W. B. Aycock of Raleigh, state chairman in charge of promotion of the magazine, is calling the attention of district officers, local presidents and grade representatives all over the state to the contest for the silver loving cup which is to be awarded the district having obtained the largest number of magazine subscriptions.

Special recognition will be given to the council and local association having the largest number. She points out that North Carolina has led in its classification during the past year and hopes to maintain its lead when the year officially ends on March 31.

Awards will be made at the state convention in Greensboro in April.

Throughout the week, it is expected that widespread interest will be shown in the campaign for more readers to the magazine, which deals especially with child welfare and family problems, and serves as guide for Parent-Teacher Work.

The magazine is widely used in planning programs for meetings and child study groups.

North Carolina's quota is 4,000 subscriptions, Mrs. Aycock said. The many local Parent-Teacher Associations of the state will concentrate during the week of March 6-11 on meeting this quota, with the view to placing the magazine in a large number of homes which heretofore have not had it.

District presidents and magazine chairmen are:

Southeastern, Mrs. A. B. Holmes, Fairmont, and Mrs. Tom Gilbert, Dunn; South Piedmont, Mrs. H. K. Sledge, Charlotte, and Mrs. H. G. Hunter, Charlotte; Northeastern, Mrs. A. J. Flowers, New Bern, and Miss Ruth Burke, LaGrange; Central, Mrs. Roy E. Wilder, Spring Hope, and Mrs. C. H. Poe, Durham; Northwestern, Mrs. Homer Andrews, Burlington, and Mrs. W. J. Barker, Burlington; Western, Mrs. C. S. Freel, Canton.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO PRESENT PLAY

"Short Thirty-Six" advertised as "A Real Show," will be presented by the young people of the Christian Church at the high school Tuesday, March 7th, at 8 p. m.

"Short Thirty-Six" will make you laugh. The interest of the play centers about Gordon Dansard, a reckless, rich young man who disguises himself and becomes "Miss Withers" and later on the Countess Westbrook-Hallis. This role is played by Wm. A. Ryan, minister of the church. His colleague, Jo Ripley, is played by Robert Mosey, who becomes an English count before Gordon can square himself and marry the charming Patsy Huff, played by Miss Nellie Rowlett. Added to Gordon Dansard's difficulties and greatly to the amusement of the audience are the activities and interests of a nutty, millionaire artist, a part played with unusual ability by V. M. Mulholland. A chagrus girl, a dictatorial aunt, headstrong uncle, irate ather, incensed Irish washerwoman, sarcastic hotel clerk, a colored maid and a modern girl friend of Patsy's all add to the hilarity of the play.

John Samuels, recently come to Greenville, and an experienced coach, is supervision the presentation of the play. The Tat Furniture Co. is furnishing the stage settings, the Rosebud Beauty Parlor is serving as official hairdressers for the men and Mrs. Reid Perkins looks after makeup. Between the acts Ray Munford will entertain with tap dancing and acrobatic stunts, and the male quartet of the Christian Church will render vocal selections.

The night's entertainment is given for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund used to send young people to the Summer Training School for Church Leadership. The cause is worthy and the night's entertainment is good.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood, Calif.—Film observers agree that life is going to be a more serious business for the movie star, once Hollywood has readjusted itself to new conditions financially.

Excessively high salaries, of which there are still a few specified in contracts made before Hollywood realized it had not the Midas touch, will be trimmed to figures commensurate with the box-office worth of their recipients.

So we are assured in divers comments, from the movie mighty who see the need for economies, to cope with the industry's headaches.

Lower salaries, the gradual weeding out of some of the most highly paid stars as their contracts come up for renewal, are the order of the day.

John Gilbert's expensive contract with M-G-M expires with completion of "Rivets." The increase demanded in Ann Harding's contract next option time is virtually certain to bring her release in May.

Yet there is little solid indication of a weakening of the "star system" which has controlled Hollywood for years.

But Curtiz Differs

Michael Curtiz, the director, differs from that general Hollywood view, citing "Cavaleade," "I Am a Fugitive" and "Mädchen in Uniform" as films in which success was attained through a combination of efforts rather than through the appeal of "names."

He sees a tendency on the part of audiences to patronize films interesting in themselves rather than because of their stars.

Time Will Tell

That sounds like a director's paradise. True, it is being realized in a measure now with the selection of well-known players for even minor roles in many features.

Whether its realization will be complete, whether the present star system will survive, can be told only by time, which solves most movie questions.

Bright, Fresher After Taking Black-Draught

"Seven years ago, I was troubled with constipation," writes Mrs. L. E. Williams, of Jackson, Miss. "My mother told me she thought it would help me to take Black-Draught. She had used it herself and it had helped her. I found it relieved me of this troublesome complaint. I suffered from sick headache and biliousness which made me feel dull and lifeless. I had no ambition to do anything. I felt bright and fresh after I took Theodor's Black-Draught. It is a splendid medicine for constipation. I take it dry, at night, followed by a generous glass of water."

Stymied By Gallery

Johnny was a dapper, pink-checked stripling, then only 27, when he beat Bob Jones in a play-off at Olympia Fields for the 1928 Open crown.

And Then Jones Slipped
Parrell played his 36 holes that day in 71-72 for a final total of 294.

Then out of a clear sky a youth named Roland Hancock bolted down the stretch, needing 9-5 on a pair of par-four finishing holes to beat Parrell and perhaps win.

The next afternoon, on the 36th and last green, while lightning flashed and thunder rolled the warning of another storm, Johnny Parrell stepped up to a slipper until putt of eight feet and rammed it home to beat Jones by a single stroke.

Push Student Welfare Work

Chapel Hill, March 6.—An administrative board of fifteen University officials and a student advisory board of nine outstanding student leaders have been appointed by President Frank P. Graham to co-ordinate and promote the work of all University agencies affecting student welfare.

Dr. F. E. Bradshaw, Dean of Students, has been appointed chairman of the group which will act as an administrative head for the University of student welfare.

The work of the two boards is to embrace all University relationships with students other than formal instruction. These relationships all have an educational significance and are recognized as an integral part of the educational program on the campus.

Explaining the need for such groups, R. B. House, executive secretary of the University, pointed out that in recent years of University, pointed out that in recent years of University growth many agencies have come into existence to promote in various ways the wholesome growth of students and student life.

The organization was established primarily as an effective and economical means of grouping together in an administrative unit the several agencies of the campus performing the same function. University functions, including the most important one of teaching, have been well organized with the exception of student welfare.

The present period of financial retrenchment necessarily demands thorough integration of resources and it is felt by President Graham that the creation of this board will serve this end.

LEADS FIELD AS 'DARK HORSE'

By JAMES L. RENICK
Columbus, Ohio.—(AP)—The dark horse of Western Conference basketball is leading the field as the ten teams start down the home stretch of the 1933 season.

After eight lean years, Ohio State University followers are beginning to see visions of a Big Ten championship as the scarlet-clad courtiers mark up victory after victory.

While there are whispers of top honors among the faithful, they are not talking out loud—yet. Too many times have their pennant hopes soared, only to fall.

Nevertheless, Ohio State has proved the surprise team of the conference, one of the toughest circuits in the country. The Buckeyes scored thirteen consecutive triumphs out of fourteen starts, seven of them in the Big Ten and fourteen victories in fifteen games played.

Ohio rolled up a total of 569 points in fifteen games, an average of 38 per game as compared with 395 for their opponents. Only four teams have been able to score thirty or more points against the tall Buckeyes and their fast-breaking team play.

Only Two Regulars
It was a rebuilt team that took the floor for Ohio at the start of the year, only two regulars from last season, Captain Howard Mattison, guard, and Bobby Colburn, forward.

The fighting broke out when a group of whites and blacks, negroes predominating, set out from a meeting hall to march to the district building to demand larger relief allowances and equal treatment of the whites and blacks.

Prepare Certificates
New York, March 6.—(AP)—Plans of New York banks for issuing clearing house certificates have been completed, it was reported in Wall Street today, and it was regarded as probable that banks would be open for payment of certificates on a rationed basis tomorrow morning.

Push Bank Relief Plans
Washington, D. C., March 6.—(AP)—Immediate steps to lighten hardships caused by nation-wide bank shutdown were announced today by Secretary Woodin, asserting that banks would be re-opened if necessary to meet payment of pay-rolls.

Chinese Make Last Stand
Peking, March 6.—(AP)—Twenty miles north of Koukiaw, Chang Hsiao-Liang's army is making its last stand against the Japanese toward the great wall from Jehol City. Chinese headquarters said this afternoon.
