Government Is Rushing Preparations For Sound Banks Open Next Week

PRESIDENT'S ORDER SETS WHEELS GOING

Washington, D. C., March 11.—(AP)—Preparations for gradual reopening of all sound banks next week went ahead today under Presidential order directing twelve Federal Reserve Banks to perform necessary functions.

The immediate objective of the twelve banks was to supply enough money to meet pay-rolls and provide funds for necessities over the week-end. Between time the Federal Reserve banks are to make advances for some sound banks to go to work Monday.

The re-opening of State as well as National banks will be under a licensing system. Before any institution can resume unrestricted service it must have a certificate of soundness from the Treasury as is the case of National banks and other institutions.

EXTENSION INSTITUTE TO BE HELD AT KINSTON

Kinston, N. C., March 11.—The eighth annual undenominational extension institute or ministers and church workers, conducted by the faculty of the school of religion of Howard University, Washington, D. C., will be held at Kinston March 13 to 17. Moredcai W. Johnson, D. D., will be president and D. Butler Pratt, D. D., dean. The executive committee of arrangements is composed of McKinley Battle, Dr. J. P. Harrison, E. K. Patterson, Clyde A. Albritton, W. D. Dawson, Rev. E. M. Hill and Rev. U. G. More. The opening service Monday night will be at Mount Zion Baptist Church; all other sessions day and night at St. Johns, F. W. B. Church. Out of town ministers will be furnished meals free, it is announced.

TWO ARE ARRESTED ON LOTTERY CHARGES

Charlotte, N. C., March 11.—With the arrest yesterday of Dick Smith and Ervin Kantor, rural police charged they had smashed two of Charlotte's leading lottery operators. Both men were released under $200 bond.

Smith was charged with operating a lottery from an office building on South Tryon that was raided Wednesday by Officers Fesperman and Hunte.

Kantor was arrested when the same two officers raided his office on South Tryon Street. Thousands upon thousands of tickets for gambling on the Chicago butler and egg market were confiscated. A large safe containing approximately $100 and several adding machines were brought to rural headquarters. Both Smith and Kantor will face trial Tuesday in county recorder's court.

INTEREST FISHERMEN MAKING GOOD HAULS

Beaufort, N. C., March 11.—More than 60,000 pounds of fish have been brought here this week from the Ocracoke-Hatteras fishing grounds by Carteret County fishermen. About two-thirds of the fish caught were grey trout and the remainder were croakers. Grey trout brought three cents a pound and croakers sold at 60 cents a hundred pounds.

Last week was said to have been the most productive since the Carteret fishermen began fishing in the Ocracoke-Hatteras area five seasons ago. Meet of the county fishermen said that fish in that section come from Beaufort, Morehead City, Harker's Island, Davis, and Atlantic.

LEGISLATURE STOPS WORK UNTIL MONDAY

Few Local Bills Passed at Brief Session of Both Houses This Morning

Raleigh, N. C., March 11.—(AP)—Meeting to consider only local bills as customary, thirty-six of the 170 members of the Legislature attended sessions lasting 29 minutes this morning.

In the house twenty-two members met for nine minutes, received a bill by Representative Gatling of Gates relating to pay of Gates officers. Rules were suspended and the bill passed, after which the House adjourned.

In the House twenty-two members present, met twenty minutes and passed five strictly one-county measures. Both divisions of the Assembly will resume regular work Monday night. The House has as a special order the Cover bill, seeking repeal of the prohibition laws.

IMPROVE PITT COURTHOUSE

R. F. C. Money Being Used in Cleaning up Interior of Structure Here

Reconstruction Corporation money appropriated to this county was being used for another new purpose today—the general improvement of the court house.

Work of cleaning the building from top to bottom was begun recently and was nearing completion today. The operations are being conducted under the personal direction of J. C. Coward, county auditor.

Mr. Coward said this morning the building and equipment would be greatly improved when work was completed with little expense to the county.

A workshop has been set up in the boiler room of the basement and from that vantage point chairs and tables used in the various offices of the building are being refinished and those completed look almost as good as new.

No office has been omitted in the general clean-up and brightening process, and even the walls in the corridors and offices have been washed to keep step with the other improvements.

Another improvement effected by Auditor Coward is the converting of a storage room on the third floor of the building into an office for the Home Demonstration Department. Another room across the hall from this office will be set aside as a conference room for Home Demonstration activities and when completed the department will be more completely housed than at any time in its history.

Although it is a fairly long climb to the lofty perch of the department, Miss Ethel Nice, director, said she liked her new location and would be able to do some very effective work there. Unlike other parts of the building, complete privacy is afforded on the third floor and in the new conference room in the office adds much to this feature.

In the courtroom all chairs, seats and tables have been gone over by the cleaners, and some of the seats which have been broken by long use will be replaced by new ones. The jury box and judge's stand have been overhauled and like other parts of the building present a fresh and inviting appearance.

Mr. Coward said he was pleased with progress of the work and would continue the improvements until an entire change had been effected in the interior of the structure.

House Passes Emergency Bill

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—The House rallied behind the President this afternoon to pass his drastic economy bill. Republican support more than made up for the Democratic defection on legally empowering the President to slash a half-billion from federal spending on account of veterans and pay-rolls.

The Senate prospect is doubtful in view of the apparently increasing opposition. The Senate finance committee approved the bill today but attempted to get an agreement to begin consideration Monday failed.

Veterans and labor organizations are promoting opposition. The House vote followed immediately on the heels of plans to pass the bills of floor leaders of both parties.

The outcome had been certain even before the roll call was over although House Democrats had fallen short of fourteen votes in a caucus to bind the party behind the bill.

MRS. HOOVER SAID TO BE SAFE

Family of Former President Reported Unharmed in California Disaster

New York, March 11.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover talked with Mrs. Hoover and other members of his family over long distance telephone today, his secretary said, and was assured they were safe.

BRUNSWICK OFFICERS RECEIVE SALARY CUTS

Southport, March 11.—A schedule mapped out some time ago and put into effect this week will reduce courthouse expenses here approximately $3,000 per year. The entire board voted approval of the various cuts.

The county commissioners take a slash of 10 per cent for themselves and at the same ratio curtail the pay checks of County Accountant R. C. St. George; Register of Deeds R. I. Mintz; Mrs. J. Fred Smith, county nurse, and Mrs. Ada Foster, home demonstrator. Farm Demonstrator J. E. Dodson had 15 per cent lopped off his salary and Clerk of Court S. B. Frink and Assistant Clerk B. J. Holden were sliced 5 per cent each as was Miss Annie Gertrude Carr, deputy in the office in the register of deeds.

Attorney J. W. Ruark lost a hundred dollars a year in his salary as county attorney and a like sum in his salary as prosecuting attorney of the recorder's court. Judge Peter Rouark was likewise docked a hundred dollars per year.

CORAPEAKE WOMAN CRIMINALLY ASSAULTED

Gatesville, March 11.—Miss Brinkley, of Corapeake, who was attacked Monday night at her home at Corapeake, and criminally assaulted by a negro, was unable to positively identify Webb Simpson, who was arrested late Tuesday afternoon and taken before her.

Simpson is being held in jail for further questioning, and in the meantime officers are trying to gather evidence in connection with the attack.

Miss Brinkley lives with her brother, and she heard the negro when he entered the front porch of the home, and was trying to open the door to her room. She told him to wait and she would open the door, thinking it was her brother coming in. When the door was opened, the negro grabbed her. He told Miss Brinkley that if she told of the attack he would return and shoot her through the window.

Two county officers and two from Virginia spent practically the entire day running down Simpson, who has a criminal record.

2,000 BALES OF COTTON ARE DAMAGED BY FIRE

Tarboro, N. C., March 11.—Fire this afternoon damaged 2,000 bales of cotton stored in a tobacco warehouse by the Edgecombe Bonded Warehouse Company. The origin of the fire is unknown. The firemen fought the flames two hours or more before the fire was checked. Three thousand five hundred bales were in the warehouse. The damage was covered by insurance.

Pres. Roosevelt Offers To Send Government Aid To Earthquake Sufferers

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Possible federal assistance through the army, navy, and public health service was extended to California earthquake sufferers today at the order of President Roosevelt.

Before midnight, for the first time in days, the President was awakened to be informed of the extent of the earthquake and told Governor Rolfe in a personal message: "If there is anything needed the government can do, wire me at once."

AKRON BEGINS PANAMA TRIP

Giant Navy Dirigible Expected to Stop in Florida Enroute to South

Lakehurst, March 11.—(AP)—The Navy's dirigible the Akron, went aloft at 4:15 today and pointed its nose in the direction of Miami, Fla., the first stop of a flight that is expected to continue to Panama and return.

The giant craft is expected back at the base March 24.

THREE FLIERS DIE IN CRASH

Los Angeles, Calif., March 11.—(AP)—Three men were killed today when their plane crashed as they were en route to Long Beach to render aid to stricken earthquake victims.

ACCUSED ATTORNEY GIVES $20,000 BOND

Charlotte, N. C., March 11.—(AP)—Bond of $20,000 was made here today by W. T. Shore, Charlotte attorney who was indicted in Forsyth County on charges of embezzling $100,000 from his cousin, Mrs. Maud B. Trotman while he acted as her agent.

The bond, signed by R. L. Goode, president of the City Industrial Bank and the Goode Construction Company here, was for his appearance at the next term of Superior Court in Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Trotman is a daughter of the late F. M. Bohannon, Winston-Salem tobacco magnate, who was Shore's uncle.

The indictment charge that Shore appropriated to his own use certificates of deposit obtained with funds from the Bohannon estate.

GATES RED CROSS HELPING THE NEEDY

Gatesville, N. C., March 11.—At a meeting of the Gates County Chapter of the American Red Cross, held in the home of Mrs. Wolford of Sumbury, it was decided that bedding to supply 150 families in the county would be ordered.

It was reported that fifty barrels of flour had been ordered and would be ready for distribution in the near future. The chairman of the investigating committee was directed to secure a list of those to whom the flour should go, presenting them to the central committee that the distribution might go on without delay.

Four Thousand Reported Injured As 'Tremblors' Still Shaking The State

Search of Debris Expected to Reveal Additional Killed and Injured; Long Beach Hardest Hit With 65 Dead And 1,000 Hurt; From More Than Hundred Communities Come Reports of Casualties And Damage; Property Loss Expected To go Into Tens of Millions Dollars

What officials of a New York bank believe to be the largest single deposit made by an individual since the government suspended gold payments was made by a hoarder who brought in $35,000 in gold coin. The motive for bringing the gold out of hiding was unknown but bank officials assume it was a case of "conscience." The deposit was carefully guarded as it was taken into the bank's vault. ## LOAN DEMAND STILL GREAT CALIF. BANKS TO AID RELIEF

Washington, D. C., March 11.—(AP)—California banks were authorized today to advance cash necessary to relieve the distress and suffering caused by the earthquake, and that if further assistance was necessary, it will be granted by the Treasury.

The stock exchange remained quiet today after a featureless short session. The undertone was confident, however. Liverpool futures opened two to six lower on the cotton exchange today and the close was steady with a decline of 11 to 12 points. Stock prices were firm to one lower.

Weakly Weather Forecast Occasional rain except in southeast Florida the first half of the week. Fair until Saturday when rain is probable. Warmer Tuesday and colder Wednesday and Thursday. Warmer by Saturday.

Individual growers are able to obtain as high as $300 under the present loan provisions but farms are able to get as high as $1,200. Loans applied for here this week ranged largely around the $300 mark with a few farms taking advantage of the relief measure.

The filing period opened last Monday morning and will continue for a period of sixty days. The rush this week was expected to be the most pronounced to be experienced and while the department may be forced to work at top speed for the next two weeks it is not believed crowds visiting the court house from time to time will be as great as that in evidence this week.

UNSUCCESSFUL EFFORT AT JAIL RELIEF MADE Washington, N. C., March 11.—Discovery of an attempted jail break involving one of five white prisoners locked in the county jail together was announced Thursday morning by Sheriff William Rumley. No one escaped, however, and the five prisoners are now locked up separately.

John Oden, Odell O'Broghton, Jack Waters, Gotha Ingles and a prisoner named Beacham, locked in the main corridor of the jail in the rear, rather than in separate cells, were placed in separate cells after the attempted escape.

DEATH LIST IS EXPECTED TO INCREASE

Los Angeles, Calif., March 11.—(AP)—Counting its earthquake toll at 120 or more, its injured at 4,000 and property damage in the millions of dollars, Southern California today felt the aftermath of the two major shocks which tore the state at intervals last night and early today.

Long Beach, where the tremors struck the hardest, it was reported 65 were dead and 1,000 injured. Anaheim Boulevard extending two miles east in the residential section was the hardest hit and scores of buildings escaped without damage. Rehabilitation work was started by C. S. Dobbin, who said State aid would be available. More than ten thousand men were called to help clear away the debris today.

Los Angeles counted five dead and estimated 3,000 injured, witnessed the crumbling of many walls, the collapse of a few old buildings and cracks in the new 28-story city hall. The first shock came at 5:34 p.m. Seismologists said the shocks might continue for weeks.

From more than one hundred communities came reports of casualties and damage in the most severe quake in the modern history of Los Angeles and vicinity. It was feared that at daylight search of the debris might cause the death toll to mount. Compton reported 13 dead and 150 injured.

Santa Ana, Huntington Park, San Pedro, Wilmington, Bell Flower, Martesia and Harnos, Garden Grove, Walnut Park and Norwalk had at least one dead each.

Search was started at Long Beach and other cities and the debris explored for the missing. Authorities said the toll would increase, the death toll to one hundred or more. Property damage amounted to millions of dollars, possibly ten or beyond. Smaller buildings were unable to withstand the shocks and in many cases were reduced to piles of brick and cement. The sturdy buildings cracked but did not collapse.

Shocks continued through night in Los Angeles County and into today, when nearly a score of strong tremors were being felt with several others of less intensity.

Shocks were believed to have resulted from a great upheaval in the Pacific Ocean southwest of Long Beach.

At Long Beach the front of a two-story hotel fell away almost immediately, leaving the bedrooms and baths exposed as in a show window. Over a wide area smaller brick buildings collapsed. Larger Long Beach buildings remained firm against the attacks of the elements, although police forced occupants of many houses out and prevented others from entering.

In Los Angeles only a few buildings collapsed, and they were all old structures. In the downtown business district cracks appeared in buildings and materials were thrown into the streets.

Fire added an additional menace to the scene and high schools at Huntington Park and Norwalk were burned.

WAS HENDERSON RIGHT?

While we have never taken much stock in the various campaigns carried on by "Old Man" Henderson over his radio station at Shreveport, La., we do recall that during his fight some time ago against the chain stores, he singled out the A. & P. organization as one of the leading grocery chains in the field, and declared that this organization would prove fair weather friends as long as your money was plentiful and then turn you down when the pinch came.

Today citizens of Greenville came to recall this saying when laborers who have been working on local relief projects were refused food on orders issued by the local relief department and which would be redeemed in cash from government funds temporarily tied up by the bank holiday. Of course, the heads of the A. and P. chain have the right to run their business as they see fit and the local managers are not responsible for today's condition when they are forced to such action by general orders from their headquarters.

When it was learned yesterday that the local relief body could not get funds from the banks for today's payrolls it was announced that food orders acceptable at all stores would be used to pay off the labor and that this would be redeemable in cash just as soon as the banking situation cleared sufficiently to permit this withdrawal of government funds.

To the surprise of all, these orders were turned down by the local A. and P. stores this morning, even though, so far as we can learn, every other grocery store in the city including the Pender's Stores and the Homq Grocery Store chains were not only willing to accept these food orders, but appeared to be glad to render this form of service during this emergency.

Just what the reaction locally will be to this action on the part of the A. and P. organization cannot yet be determined, but if next week when cash is paid out to the laborers instead of food orders no doubt they and many others will proceed to spend their cash with the firms that today were willing to lend a helping hand by accepting the orders for groceries instead of demanding the cash.

It looks like "Old Man" Henderson might have known what he was talking about in this one instance at

by Perceval Christopher Wren, Author of "The Sign of the Cross"

When Margaret saw her husband, Jules, that Raisul, son of the powerful Kaid of Mekazen, broke into her room the night before, Jules takes anger. But Margaret finds he really only wishes to avoid a break with Raisul, while her own desire is to return to her native England. But Jules and his father are agents for the Kaid and Jules will not leave. Margaret is horrified when suddenly he turns the tables by suggesting that she had tried to attract Raisul.

Chapter 30 JULES' AGREEMENT

In her need and dire extremity her husband helped her. "So we'll cry quits," he said, "and understand each other. Any time that I'm—ah—defeated, shall we say, 'or took,' under the influence—I have been drugged. Any time that Raisul makes himself, shall we say, 'a nuisance'—it's a harmless irritation and no harm done. As you say, we're absolutely in his power. And what's got to be done may as well be done cheerfully and with a good grace."

Margaret's blood boiled, and her fighting spirit raised its head. Not for nothing had she grown up with Otho Bellemere, shared all his games and sports and pastimes, followed him, fought with him, loved him and imbibed his ideas, adopted his beliefs, accepted his standards. "I Say I Do" was Otho's motto.

She raised her head from her hands, looked at her husband in wonder and rose to her feet. "I'm going home," she said quietly. She had said it, and she would do it.

"Some day, perhaps," assented her husband. "When Raisul agrees—and provides the camels, mules, water, provisions, fodder, camelmen, muleteers and escort."

"I am going home," repeated Margaret. "Will you take me?" "I won't and I can't."

"I fully agree. You certainly won't," replied Jules Maligni. It's a pity Otho Bellemere rushed off to the French Foreign Legion, isn't it?"

"I also fully agree. It certainly is," replied Margaret quietly, gently. "And nothing more that her husband could say had any power to provoke her to recrimination, contradiction or any show of anger."

"More than once she had encountered Raisul, in court-yard, garden and corridor and had frankly fled with more speed than dignity, pursued by his mocking laughter."

At least when he described the organization as being without a heart. It seems to us that the organization has made the mistake of handing a club to its opponents with which to fight.

"SIGN OF THE CROSS" HERE TWO DAYS

Roosevelt landslide. Each of these men had been a definite and important part of the Republican leadership in the House for a long time. They were the backbone of the G. O. P. organization.

There was nothing for him to do but create new leaders. It became necessary in some instances to disregard the time-honored rule of seniority and place those men accepted by Republicans generally as the most able or forceful in the ranking positions.

In the closing days of the "lame duck" Congress evidence of the new arrangement began to be seen. New faces appeared, those of men who will be seen in the next Congress, doing the sharp shooting from the committee trenches at Democratic bills when they came up on the floor for debate.

Mrs. Rainey Gets A New Job Too; She'll Be 'Assistant Speaker' Now

Representative Henry T. Rainey's selection as the new Speaker of the House means a "promotion" for Mrs. Rainey too. She has been his research secretary for twenty-five years.

By SIGRID ARNE Washington—(AP)—When the Democratic caucus chose Rep. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois to be the new speaker of the House, it unconsciously named an "assistant speaker."

By HERBERT PLUMMER Washington, D. C.—While the Democrats busied themselves perfecting their organization for the incoming Congress, the Republicans were not entirely idle.

Many Stairwars Gone G. O. P. stairwars for years back in the House were missing from the list. Will Wood of Indiana; Hawley of Oregon; Michener of Michigan; Bachman, of West Virginia; Purnell of Indiana; Hauzen, of Iowa; Johnson, of South Dakota, all had gone down to defeat in the the earlier version. This change doubtless will recall Masi Hayes' recent appearance in "A Farewell to Arms" inasmuch as in both films she loves—and loses—an Italian soldier. The themes, of course, are radically different.

The Film Parade

Viola Dana is making a comeback, working in a comedy—all Joseph Hergeshimer's novels have made successful films, but since one venture in Hollywood he prefers sticking to his books—"Tampico" is the latest to be filmed—A "trial contract" for a dog star is that of Silver King, a German shepherd—the dog's son of Dynamite, retired, who worked in pictures under various names—If Silver King succeeds in his first with Tim McCoy his trainer, Louis Vokall will get a contract and we'll have a series of barbies—Boris Karloff is being loaned to a British film company for one picture—just for a change, this starring vehicle of the "monster man" will be titled "The Ghoul."

My Beauty Hint

By MARJORIE BEBE (Screen Actress) Even though beauty is not essential for my type of actress, all women take pride in keeping themselves as pretty as possible. For my complexion, I use an application of egg-white and lemon juice once a week which I leave on my face for half an hour and then remove with cold water. This not only bleaches the skin but makes it firm and prevents wrinkles resulting from frowning.

PRIVATE MINT IN CHINA

Sydney—(AP)—Detectives are trying to locate a mint in China which is producing huge quantities of almost perfect counterfeiters of Australian silver coins. Three Chinese who were found with counterfeit coins have been deported, but anxiety has been increased by the fact that the police in giving evidence against them revealed the correct formula used in Australia's coins. With this knowledge the pirate mint can produce perfect money.

Turkey Raising.

The following paper was read in a recent club meeting by Mrs. Jerome McGlohon or Pierce. For several years Mrs. McGlohon has been successful in raising turkeys. This is given for the benefit of those who would like to profit by her experience. Turkey raising is not half the horror that one would imagine. With a little experience and close adherence to details, anyone may work out a plan by which young poulters may be reared to grace our Thanksgiving tables.

New York—(AP)—An increase last year in assets and members of the annuity fund for Congregational and Christian ministers is noted in the annual report of the general secretary. The number of annuitants receiving pensions rose to 728, a jump of 50. Payments totalled $284,005. The present market value of the investments shows a shrinkage of only 10.58 per cent from the original cost, the report says.

By WILLIAM GAINES

New York—(AP)—The curious sight of a portly gentleman living in a tent on the roof of a Times Square hotel has been occupying those who peer from the windows of nearby skyscrapers.

Doubtless they think the man is strange—perhaps a trifle barmy. Well, they might as well know that Colonel Harry K. Eustace, big game hunter, explorer and all-around fresh-air fiend, has no better opinion of their condition than the man who stood on his head and remarked that the world was upside down.

To the colonel's way of thinking, New York is "just a big mistake." He can't understand why people should want to cram themselves into the towering buildings of this city.

When he came to town on a visit the colonel paid for a room at the hotel but he wants us to know, he used it only for a bath.

The kind hearted manager charged him nothing extra for setting up a tent house on the roof and did what he could to make a pursuer of African and Australian big game feel at home.

Some old Christmas trees were resurrected and planted around the tent. Some green grass mats of the sort used on the stage, were spread at his canvas door. The colonel slept on a cot in the tent, with the flashing signs of Broadway talking the place of his beloved jungle moon.

Though we had some chilly days (the day I talked to Colonel Eustace there were icicles on my fingers), he says he kept to his roof abode in all his leisure moments.

The hotel manager's favor proved to be astute business. Sight-seers, reporters and news cameramen flocked to the roof to see the colonel in his Rialto wilderness, with the soaring spires of the city as a background.

Colonel Eustace (the middle K stands for Kaigh, by the way) was born in London 56 years ago and is readily identifiable as English. His pate is bald, with a snow-white fringe of hair that matches his mustache and chin whiskers. He has the hardy look of an out-door man.

Early in his youth he began his hunting and exploring, and found the open air so to his liking that he won't stay indoors any longer than he simply must. Since 1922 he has spent much time in this country. He has a place in the Berkshires where his wife Edyth Mary K. Eustace, author, and his 27-year-old daughter were waiting for him. They are outdoor enthusiasts, too, but not so wholeheartedly as the colonel.

If you invite Eustace to be a guest at your home, he will arrive in a big sedan, equipped with a bed. He will sleep outside in his car, and only come into your house for his bath. As for his meals, he will be much happier if you give him a sandwich and let him go up on the roof to munch it.

Speaking of jungles: One of the sights of this air city is the hair on the head of the editor or that smart weekly which snickers at our urban cobles. Such looks are seldom seen on man—at least, on a man who doesn't carry a violin. They shoot up, cascade and rumple, a black bush and undergrowth. His name was mentioned at a party the other night. The vivacious Ina Claire perked up immediately.

"One of my fondest ambitions," said Miss Claire, "is to take off my shoes and stockings and wade in Harold Ross' hair!"

College President And Pastor Rated Good Businessmen

New York—(AP)—May the pastor and the college president be better fitted to give advice on business than the business man himself?

A. C. Marts, head of a firm of financial counselors for philanthropic institutions, thinks the depression has shown the answer to be "yes."

In support of his belief he presents these findings: Of 54,000 church edifices of six denominations, only 23, or one out of 2,344, have been lost during the past three years because of financial distress.

The record for 680 privately controlled four-year colleges is 17 closed, or one out of 40; for 4,700 voluntary hospitals, 106, or one out of 45.

But of approximately 2,100,000 commercial and industrial concerns in 1929, 96,000 or one out of 22 have failed to survive the storm; while of 25,300 banks, 4,300, or one out of six have gone under.

Marts sees two reasons for philanthropy's better showing. One is that "big business usually operates on borrow capital, while philanthropy follows a more conservative pay as you go policy."

The other is the "unselfish attitude" of the executives of philanthropic institutions. "They have not only accepted salary cuts," he says, "they have actually asked for them in many cases."

BETTER MARKET FOR LARD WOULD BOOST POG PRICE

Lincoln, Neb.—(AP)—A better market for lard should be the aim of American farmers if they want good hog prices, in the opinion of A. E. Anderson, state and federal agricultural statistician here. Loss of foreign lard markets due to tariff barriers, he said, has been a factor in reduced hog prices. To meet this, he favors a campaign to wean American consumers of lard substitutes back to lard.

SPORT SLANTS By ALAN GOULD

The story behind the story of Glenn Cunningham's development as one of the great American mile runners of all time has been partially told, but we are indebted now to J. P. Woodward of the Plainview (Texas) Herald for an account of the Kansas boy's youth that sets forth details for the first time from a first-hand source. "As a boy, Glenn and a brother arrived early at the little rural school they attended near Ikarat (Kan.) one winter morning," writes Mr. Woodward. "They started a fire in the stove, there was an explosion and in the ensuing conflagration Glenn's brother was fatally burned and Glenn was so seriously burned that doctors for days despaired of his life. He was in the care of physicians for weeks. "They considered it almost miraculous that he should develop into one of the world's outstanding athletes. "Later on, as a high school student, Glenn was sent to a national high school meet at Chicago with funds raised by Elkhart citizens. He was taken ill and failed to carry away any of the high honors, although he did compete and try his best. The following year he again was sent to Chicago, where he justified the faith of his backers by winning the events in which he was entered. "He is the son of poor parents and has reached his present high position in athletics under most unusual circumstances. "My informant is Dr. J. Harvey Hansen, now of Plainview, who said he attended Glenn after the tragedy of the school-house. High School Mile In 4:24.7 It was in the 1930 interscholastic meet conducted by A. A. Stagg for the University of Chicago that Cunningham first stamped himself as a coming middle-distance ace. The Kansas youth won his mile race in the excellent time of 4:24.7, good enough to lead many a college field. He also was a member of the winning medley relay team. He was only a sophomore at the University of Kansas last year when he ran to an American outdoor record of 4:11.1 in the National Collegiate A. A. Mile, followed that up by gaining a place on the United States Olympic team and finished fourth in the Olympic 1,500 meter final. State For Olympics Cunningham, like Venzke, Tallwell and the other American middle distance stars, was not at his best for the Olympics. All had run their fastest races in the winter or spring and were further set back on the coast by an epidemic of colds in the U. S. training camp. On top of that they were outrun in the roughest Olympic 1500 meter final I have ever seen.

TAR HEELS BEGIN HARD WORK OUTS

Chapel Hill, March 11.—Postponement of spring holidays at the University on account of the bank situation may be of considerable help to the coaches in getting Carolina's spring sports teams in shape for the hard campaign ahead. The result will be an extra week of needed practice, and although examinations were over only today, Monday will find every Tar Heel squad hard at the training grind. The baseball team will probably be the first to open its season, having a home game scheduled with Washington and Lee March 28 and another pending March 22. Coach Bunn Hearn has nine of last year's 18 letter winners to work with, but faces a big task rebuilding the pitching staff, developing a first baseman and shortstop, and polishing a catcher. Joe Griffith is the only veteran pitcher. Willie Powell who plays third base, is captain. The track team should be strong in the lead events, where LeGore, Mullis and Hsby hold university records in the javelin, shot and the broad jump, respectively. They lost their southern indoor crown this winter, however, and must develop men in the sprints, quarter-mile and in other track events to keep the pace of other years. Twelve lettermen are available plus several good oophomore prospects, and with hard work a creditable team should be developed. Outstanding teams are expected in tennis and golf. These entries won national and southern team championships, respectively, last year, and all of the regular tennis players and three of the four lettermen in golf are eligible another season, supplemented by several sophomores who are good enough to push the veterans for their posts.

ANNOUNCE WINNERS IN NATIONAL CONTEST

Chicago, Ill., March 11.—(UP)—Individual winners in three national high school journalistic contests conducted by Quill and Scroll, international honor society for high school journalists, were announced by H. F. Harrington, director, Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern University. Elizabeth B. Donahue, St. Mary's high school, Sandusky, Ohio, won the award in the feature story division. Louis Bonsib, South Side high school, Fort Wayne, Ind., placed first in the advertisement section and Leonore Eckhardt, Notre Dame Academy, Belleville, Ill., won the vocabulary contest. Some ten thousand students in all States entered. Judges were Lloyd D. Herrold, professor of advertising, Northwestern University School of Commerce; Miss Hazel Murray, East High School, Cleveland, O., and Harrington.

GIVEN SIXTY YEARS FOR DOUBLE MURDER

Kinston, N. C., March 11.—Haywood Croom, Greene County negro, is under sentence to sixty years in the penitentiary for murdering his uncle and aunt, Gray and Laura Spell, according to a report from Snow Hill. The couple were killed at their rural home several months ago. Croom entered a plea of guilty of second degree murder. Judge J. Paul Prizzelle in Superior Court sentenced him to thirty years on each count.

GETS 12 TO 15 YEARS ON ATTEMPTED ASSAULT

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 11.—(AP)—A Forsyth County jury today found Howard Wells, of Winston-Salem, guilty of attempted criminal assault upon a young white woman and the defendant was sentenced to twelve to fifteen years in State's Prison. The State had asked the death penalty under a charge of criminal assault, but the jury returned the lesser conviction. Trial of the case began yesterday with Wells seeking to show the victim mistook him for someone else in identifying him as her assailant. Among Wells' witnesses was Nollie Cop, nineteen, who face trial at a later date on charges of attempted criminal assault on the same girl.
