Action Is Aftermath Of Disagreement At Geneva Over Manchukuoan Plan

FINAL PLANS ARE MAPPED BY COUNCIL

Emperor Hirohito Issues Message to His Subjects Setting Forth Reason For Secession; Despite Withdrawal, Nation Plans to Cooperate With League's Plans To Assure Peace and Maintain Friendly Relations With Other Nations

Tokyo, Japan, March 27.—(AP)—Japan formally ended today a membership of more than thirteen years in the League of Nations.

The final action was taken at a privy council meeting in the imperial palace and the long awaited decision was transmitted to Geneva with the approval of Emperor Hirohito.

The emperor in a brief message issued to his subjects said:

"His majesty has been disposed to command his government to secede from the League of Nations following disagreement over the empire's support of Manchukuo and opinion of the League."

The rescript added that despite secession, Japan intends to continue co-operation in the League's efforts to assure peace and maintain friendly relations with other powers.

MODERN CONNECTORS ARE GIVEN APPROVAL

Washington, D. C., March 27.—(AP)—Immediate application of modern connectors in the building industry has been assured through the establishment of an engineering service organization in the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

This advice was given today by Dr. Wilson Compton, secretary-manager of the association to the National Committee on Wood Utilization of the Department of Commerce which, on March 1, released jointly with the Forest Products Laboratory of the Department of Agriculture the book, "Modern Connectors for Timber Construction."

"The organized lumber industry has wasted no time in taking advantage of these remarkable discoveries in the field of wood construction," says Dr. Compton. "This new construction system is the ray of hope for the building industry and the lumbermen of the country are taking the lead in co-operating with the governmental agencies responsible for introducing these important inventions into the United States."

The new engineering wood construction involves the use of different types of metal connectors, rings, plates or discs, replacing present timber-jointing devices by which the capacity of timber joints is increased several fold, with resulting efficiency and economy in construction.

STILL SEES THREAT OF WAR IN CHINA

Peiping, March 27.—(AP)—Despite Tokyo's assurance that the Japanese have no intention of proceeding south of the Great Wall the possibility of an attempt to occupy the Peiping-Tientsin area cannot yet be precluded, Ho Ying-Chin, Chinese Minister of War, said last night.

He is now commanding Chinese troops in north China following the recent resignation of Chang Hsiao-liang as military overlord of the territory.

Denying reports that direct negotiations were imminent with the Japanese, the minister said:

"The Chinese government regards present Sino-Japanese controversy a matter between the League of Nations and Japan and will not consider any kind of direct negotiations for settlement of any question, political or military, with Japan individually."

MINERS SLAY RELIEF AGENT

Two Others Injured When Men in Car Fire on Public Aid Leader

Centon, Ill., March 27.—(AP)—John Ward, member of the West Frankfort relief committee, who has been active in prosecuting twenty-five persons receiving public aid while they had bank balances was shot and killed at West Frankfort at 9 o'clock today by several men who fired at him from an automobile and then drove away.

Two men standing with Ward were wounded. Their names could not immediately be determined.

Sheriff Browning Robinson said he and his deputies entered the headquarters of the Progressive Miners' Union at Zeiler today and confiscated several guns. They made no arrests.

The sheriff then notified Mayor Smith at Zeiler where a Progressive miners' meeting was held yesterday that no miners would be allowed in Frankfort County until all possibility of violence had passed.

Roosevelt Task of Blending Political and Professional Runs Upon its First Snag

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

No feature of the big legislative push at Washington is more fascinating to observe than the play and counter-play of ideas between President Roosevelt's coterie of college-professor advisers and the more politically-minded leaders in Congress.

Mr. Roosevelt has surrounded himself with an extraordinary number of experts from college faculties—more, probably, than ever before sat in the inner circle of a President's confidence. Nobody knows exactly how many there are. A good many hold official positions in the

HOUSTON MAN IS KILLED BY 'TERRORISTS'

Woman Companion Also Attacked by Two Negroes on Houston Roadside

Houston, Texas, March 27.—(AP)—William W. Porch, Jr., was brutally slain and Miss Nelle Tourain, 24, attacked early today by negro terrorists. Both are members of prominent Houston families. The crime occurred about 12:30 last night on the Scott road between South Moore and Bray's bayou.

Officers with bloodhounds from the city prison farm were combing thick woods of the neighborhood today.

The hysterical young woman told police she and her escort were sitting in the car when two negroes appeared on each side of the car. The negroes ordered them out of the car.

"I thought I told you to hold up your hands," one of the negroes said, according to Miss Tourain.

Immediately after speaking the negro fired the shot which killed Porch who was facing the negro. The bullet penetrated his back.

Miss Tourain said she threw herself over Porch's body and begged the negroes for mercy, pleading with them to take her to a hospital.

Unheeding, they blindfolded and gagged her. Then one of them took her up bodily while the other dragged Porch's body to a roadside ditch and under a fence into thick woods about one hundred yards from the car. The negroes rifled Porch's pockets and fled into the woods, Miss Tourain said.

After removing the blindfold and gag, Miss Tourain went to the home of John Anderson, a blind man living on the nearby boulevard, and telephoned police.

BUSY WEEK FACES COURT

Three Hundred Cases Ordered Taken up By Court Here in one day

The second week of the civil term of Superior court got under way this morning with the avowed determination of Judge Henry A. Grady to relieve the congested docket as much as possible.

When the first week's session was adjourned abruptly last Tuesday because of the lack of cases to be given hearing, Judge Grady ordered that three hundred cases be taken from the docket to be presented for consideration some day this week, although no definite day was set aside for the work.

Many of the actions have been hanging fire for sometime and as litigants have been slow in having them completed it is the desire of the court that some action be determined upon the day set for consideration.

Three hundred cases were completed in a single day last year following a similar order by the court, and the docket was relieved to no little extent.

With this work ahead of the court in addition to the regular calendar of sixty or more cases set for hearing this week, a busy term was in prospect when work got under way this morning.

Push Roosevelt Employment Bill. It was rejected by 13 to 7. Washington, March 27.—(AP)—Opposition wilted before President Roosevelt's substitute employment program today and the measure went to both House and Senate with committee approval. There was prospect that it would be taken up immediately in the Senate for action.

Approval in the Senate committee for the measure giving the President authority to put men to work in the nation's forests was easy but in the House committee a measure by Chairman Connery came up first.

STOLEN MOTOR FOUND IN CREEK

A motor stolen from an automobile here about three months ago was found at the bottom of Tranter's creek, near the bridge in the Pactolus community, during the latter part of the week, police, divulged today.

The motor, it was stated, was stolen by David Dudley, young white man who is being held in the county jail here for questioning in connection with other alleged thefts.

He was arrested first for complicity in the robbery of Watson's store here over a month ago and is also being held for trial on this charge.

The motor, officers said, was taken from the car of Edward Charles, carried several miles from the city and stored in a barn. When police began checking up on the theft, Dudley was said to have carried it to the creek and dumped it overboard.

Information regarding the location of the motor was obtained by police from a young man said to have been in close touch with Dudley at the time the theft was reported. The name of the informant was not divulged.

ROBBER SHOT IN GUNFIGHT

Man Fatally Wounded in Clash With Police Officers at Fayetteville

Fayetteville, N. C., March 27.—(AP)—A. W. Bradford, about 34, of near Fayetteville, was shot and fatally wounded here early today in a gunfight with Chief of Police J. C. Jones, a deputy and grocer, after Jones said Bradford had broken into the grocery store.

Neither Jones, the deputy, Earl Weatherington, nor the grocer, Sam Tillinghast, were hit but Bradford was riddled with bullets as the four shot it out in the darkness of the store. The three were posted in the store following a series of robberies here and a number of officers and citizens also had been posted in other parts of the business district to guard against robbers. The shooting occurred at 2 a. m.

Jones said Bradford, who had been seen about Fayetteville on several occasions, broke into the grocery, flashed his light which fell on the police chief. The officers said Bradford pulled his pistol and started firing after extinguishing the light.

Jones, Tillinghast and Weatherington returned the fire and Bradford fell mortally wounded. He died in a hospital a few hours later. No inquest was called pending completion of the investigation of the affair.

REOPENING PLAN FOR BANK GETS APPROVAL

Asheville, March 27.—(AP)—Officials of the First National Bank and Trust Company said here last night that the Comptroller of the Currency had approved a plan under which the banking holiday, might reopen. The plan includes a 50 per cent assessment of stockholders, to raise new common capital of $150,000.

Depositors, it was said, would be asked to accept at least 20 per cent of their deposits, as of March 2, in stock of the bank which will bear 6 per cent interest.

Time for reopening, it was understood, depended upon how quickly the agreement of depositors and stockholders could be secured.

STRIKE OCCURS IN ENGLISH FORD PLANT

Dagenham, Eng., March 27.—(AP)—The majority of the night shift at the Ford factory here went on a strike tonight.

The strike began at 10 p. m., when hundreds of employees arriving to start work found the entrance picketed.

They were informed that at a meeting the strike had been decided upon as a protest against wage reductions said to have been instituted during the past week.

The reductions were said to range from three pence an hour to 17 per cent an hour. (The penny at current rates of exchange is approximately 1.5 cents.)

After listening to the arguments of the speakers, a majority of the workers agreed to join the strike.

FIRST BATCH PLANS READY OF CHECKS FOR GROWERS HERE TO BE GIVEN TO CONGRESS

Applications For Government Seed Loans Continue to be Made Here

The first batch of government seed loan checks for this county was received by the farm department over the week-end and will be distributed among growers during the week.

H. E. Lane, government seed inspector here, asked that farmers not call for their checks until notified as special days had been set aside for distribution of the funds. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays were designated for this purpose and growers were urged not to call until properly notified what day to make their appearance.

The end of the third week of the filing period here last Saturday showed that 1,089 applications had been made for loans from this county, and the total figure was expected to be near the 2,000 mark when the filing period ends the last of April.

While the application rush was not as great as the beginning of the fourth week as was evident the first three weeks, employees of the farm department were forced to work at top speed to meet the demand of growers.

Although crowds which have literally swamped workers from day to day have decreased considerably quite a number of people were on hand this morning to file applications.

The average loan applied for here is around the $175 mark. E. F. Arnold, director of the farm department said several days ago. The individual farmer may obtain as high as $300 and the farm $1,200.

Applications up to the present date have more than doubled those for all of last year. The movement of applications has been speeded up from day to day so that checks may be returned as rapidly as possible.

Applications received one day are passed on by the local committee at night and forwarded to Washington the next day.

Now they are ready to sell coal from their co-operative mine to neighboring communities.

Bill Establishing a $500,000,000 Fund For Direct Aid to State In Caring For Unemployed Also Ready For Introduction Of Farm Agencies Part of Scheme to Refinance Farm Mortgages

Washington, D. C., March 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today advanced another phase of his reconstruction program with an order consolidating government agricultural credit agencies which is ready for submission to Congress.

At the same time the bill establishing a $500,000,000 fund for direct aid to States in caring for the unemployed was prepared for introduction on the President's behalf by Senator Wagner, Democrat, of New York, Costigan, of Colorado, and La Follette, of Wisconsin.

Consolidation of farm credit agencies is the basis of Mr. Roosevelt's program for refinancing farm mortgages which will also go to Congress this week.

The order which the Chief Executive said he would send to Capitol Hill at noon would tend to result in an annual saving of $2,000,000 and is the first part of the general reorganization scheme designed to save $100,000,000.

BATTLE CLOUDS IN ILLINOIS MINE AREA

West Frankfort, Ill., March 27.—(AP)—Battle clouds scudded over Franklin County coal fields today as Progressive miners prepared for their big picketing on its collieries.

The stronghold of their union rivals, the United Mine Workers of America, and Illinois' largest coal production sector, Franklin County, was the Waterloo of the Progressives last August 24.

Then, at the famous battle of the Mulkytown, 15,000 of their members, in a motorcade fifteen miles long, were repulsed and fled in disorder before the gun-fire and clubs of deputy sheriffs.

County and city officials announced today the section was still closed to picketing. Arthur Hughes, secretary to the president of the Progressive miners, said:

LET THE PEOPLE SAY

A legislative committee tomorrow will again take up discussion of legalization of beer for this state and again there will begin a review of the prohibition arguments in this state. As previously expressed in these columns, there is but one way out for the legislature in this matter pertaining to the prohibition question in this state and that is to hand the matter back to the people at the first opportunity for their decision. The first prohibition acts in this state came through a vote of the people and if there are to be changes they should come from a like source and until the people have had an opportunity to express themselves the matter will continue to be one of much discussion and discontent among our people. The legislature will show real wisdom by giving the people an opportunity to vote on this matter now but to attempt to change our present statutes without a vote of the people would certainly bring the legislators into bad repute.

CONTRASTING BANK CASES (Cleveland Star) In these days it isn't necessary to remind that it is easier to get a camel through the eye of a needle than to get a rich and influential man behind the prison doors. It isn't necessary because it is continuously revealed and reiterated in actual happenings all about us.

Some months ago—just how many was it?—the Luke Leas, father and son, rich and politically powerful, were convicted of criminal complicity in Asheville bank affairs. The Leas are Tennesseans and at last account, despite writs, requisitions and other legal whatnots, were still at liberty, or, at least, still in Tennessee and no nearer a prison cell in North Carolina than they were before being tried months ago. But why go on with that story? All know it, for long before now the story has been banded about as another example of that righteous dame Justice peeping from behind the blindfold over her eyes.

But contrast the still at-large Leas with Tom Carpenter and Steve Morris, young Gastonia bank officials. Only last week, late last week, both young men confessed shortages. Three days later they were in court. Three hours after entering the court room they had been tried, found guilty, sentenced to prison and were en route to their cells. Evidence had it that Carpenter and Morris were hard-working young men who had worked themselves up in the world. One was the support of his own family and also his mother; the other became involved in debt. Both took the so-called easy way out, the way that often is not so easy, and now they must pay the price. Neither, however, was anything like as rich or influential as the loophole Leas of Tennessee. We are offering no alibi for Carpenter and Morris, no condemnation, no excuse. The public would lose faith and confidence in its tribunals of justice if such men as Carpenter and Morris were permitted to evade punishment—but doesn't that same public begin to lose something when the Tom Carpenters and Steve Morris are bundled off to jail in three hours while the Luke Leas continue to play around on the outside for days, weeks and months? We wonder.

VALIANT DUST

by Perceval Christopher Wren "LEAU CENTE"

...suddenly, Colonel Le Sage of the French Secret Service strikes to end the festering intrigue in the Moorish Citadel of Mekazzen. First he captures traitorous Major Riccoli of the Foreign Legion and his crony, Vitorrelli. Riccoli has the effrontery to try to corrupt Le Sage who then tells his captive that shortly the Kaid of Mekazzen and his son Ralsul are to be arrested, and gives him the bad news that the Kaid's agents, the Maligins, have betrayed their master to Le Sage.

LE SAGE'S PLAN

"Really?" asked Riccoli. "And with that force do you propose to do these wonderful things?" "Ample, admirable and efficient—a half-hundred of legionnaires. And who could want anything better?" Le Sage smiled. "You think they'll obey you, do you?" "Certain of it. I'll tell you why. Do you remember an excellent orderly who had at Post One—a man named Bombelli, who, alas, deserted and was never heard of again? Yes, well—he's been heard of now and in correct uniform and rank-badges, is putting the fear of God and sudden death into some of the poor rascals you corrupted and suborned, Major Riccoli. Your Bombelli, my good Major Riccoli is the famous Langeac himself. Yes, that's a nasty shock for you, isn't it? Oh, your legionnaires will obey me and follow me all right!"

"I'd have fired into the bulge," declared Riccoli.

"Ah! These who live longest will see most, Le Sage. "You are absolutely right there, Major Riccoli. They will." "Yes, and it is you and Major Langeac who should feel anxiety. How did the fellow get there, by the way?" "On a camel! And in the role of my servant. He takes his teeth out and turns his eyes in, you know. And his own mamma wouldn't know him. At least, I hope not, for mamma's sake."

"Well, I'll take his eyes out and put his teeth in—in the eye-sockets," promised Riccoli. "I doubt it," smiled Le Sage. "In fact, Major Riccoli, I should advise you to think of your latter end. It draws near."

"Major Riccoli smiled and brushed his aside with a wave of his hand. "Uninteresting, Le Sage. Boring. But there's one point that does interest me, I confess."

"The door opened and Otto Bellame, saluting, announced that Sergeant-Major Vitorrelli was in the hands of Major Langeac, also in the punishment cell."

"Good. And your three companions?" "Present, sir."

"Good. You four will await me outside this door."

"Well, Major Riccoli—the point of interest you mentioned?" "Yes. It's this. Why exactly did you choose tonight for this—er—exhibition?"

"I'll tell you. I paid a visit to-day to the apartment of the Kaid's Vizier, Senor Pedro Maligni who, besides being the Kaid's confidential adviser, is also my soundly paid hireling."

"Now whether he was not only double-crossing, but treble-crossing me, I don't know. But after I had had his assurance that I could safely say what I'd got to say, I suddenly became aware that I wasn't so sure of this. I felt, a-what the Americans call a 'hunch,' that we were not alone; and the devil of it was that I'd said all sorts of dangerous things, given away a sort of deadly secrets."

"Not only generous and deadly for me, but also for the noble Senor Pedro Maligni. We'd said enough between us, to send us both to the torture chamber," added Le Sage.

"Then obviously, my good Le Sage, Pedro Maligni was fooling you. He was giving you away to somebody who already knew Maligni's game, but didn't know yours."

"Anyhow, there it was. Someone was listening, and the game was up. If Pedro Maligni knew—then I was trapped. If he didn't know—then we were both trapped, and my one idea was to get out of the trap as quickly as possible. So I politely bade the noble Pedro to hold his tongue for a moment, because I wanted to think."

"I did. I also wanted to hear and to smell. For, among the few qualifications which I possess for this sort of work, an abnormally cultural message came down that there would be no rushing such a bill through as some of the others had been.

Young Senator Russell of Georgia was about to object to the introduction of the agricultural bill when he was assured that there would be plenty of time for discussion.

"I want at least to have an opportunity to read the bill," said Russell.

And in the House the state banking bill was brought up and its passage urged for that afternoon. Snell was on his feet at once, declaring:

"I want to be fair, but there is a limit to taking everything and every request... without any explanation!" The bill went over for three days.

Talks To Parents

THE OLDER CHILD'S POSSESSIONS

(By Alice Judson Peale)

One of the chronically difficult situations in a family, where there are children of different ages, is to prevent the younger children from breaking and spoiling the work materials and playthings of the older ones.

Big sister's fine set of paints, her doll house furnished in minute and painstaking detail big brother's toy motor or his collection of shells and birds' nests—the toddler's fingers are bound to work havoc with these.

And then of course there is a scene. The baby didn't know any better, or if he did, it was too much to expect him to resist such continual temptation. Punishing him won't help and, besides, will not do him any particular good.

The only sensible thing to do is to provide a safe place for the possessions of the older children.

Their desks, toy cupboards and book shelves should be quite separate from those of the younger children and should be either so high as to be inaccessible or provided with lock and key.

It is much the best for a number of reasons for older children and younger ones to have separate rooms. The elder children's rooms can be kept locked. Indeed, unless this is done, it will be virtually impossible to keep a large but fragile plaything, like a doll house, from being demolished.

Such arrangements are worth while not only because they prevent breakage but also because they remove one cause of strain between brothers and sisters.

My Beauty Hint

With the studios trying for signatures, the men who sat and fought through many an all-night session in formulating that vastly less stringently salary waiver have been smoking a sort of verbal peace-pipe.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS and SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood, Calif.—Studios here, moved by the spirit of optimism that has come to Hollywood with the settlement—temporary, at least—of the salary situation, are making big pictures.

"Dinner at Eight," the Broadway hit, is limslighted because M-G-M plans another "Grand Hotel" cast, this time including Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore, Madge Evans, Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy, Karen Morley and the young newcomer, Franchot Tone.

The wisdom of the producers in "selling short" so much talent at once doubtless will be challenged, but M-G-M seems satisfied with its return on "Grand Hotel," and there is the answer.

"International House" at Paramount is vying for interest with Chevalier's "A Bedtime Story," what with Peggy Hopkins Joyce had a large comedy cast to which that warbling child, Baby Marie Rose, has been added.

New Gold. "Gold Diggers of 1933," with an assorted group of stars, and "Voltaire," with George Arliss, are head-liners on the Warner schedule now in production, and Radio is going ahead with its big musical, "Maiden Cruise," co-featuring Phil Harris and Helen Mack, a girl who has been waiting two years for a real chance in films.

Fox's Janet Gaynor-Henry Garat film, "Adorable," will continue where it left off when studio troubles began, as will the same studio's "Pilgrimage," and other features in preparation will go forward.

The busy atmosphere is quite a contrast to unsettled conditions of recent weeks, when nobody seemed to know who was going to happen to Hollywood. At least for the present it is well-barring the refusal of some of the contract people to sign those amended wage cut agreements. But nobody likes to think of that possibility.

RECEIPT LEADS TO ARREST FOR ROBBERY

Oakland, Calif., March 27.—(AP)—Harold Lutes, twenty, was in jail today charged with robbery, because, police said, a receipt bearing his name came back with a group of stolen checks. A robbery last week netted $600 in cash and checks and later the checks came back by mail. In the envelope was a receipt bearing Lutes' name. Lutes was arrested two years ago on a charge of holding up

Less Suffering After She Took Cardui

"Periodically I have a dull ache in the lower part of my back," writes Mrs. Ruth Hill of Charleston, W. Va. "I get real dizzy, my head swims, and I have a weak, 'gone' feeling that keeps me from doing my work well. I have found that taking Cardui prevents this. I have been greatly benefited from its use." "When I'm really aches and pains are due to a weak, run-down condition, take CARDUI. It has been used by women for over 30 years. Liver Sufferers Amazed At Results Obtained From Remarkable New Treatment

Thousands Reporting Sargon Soft Mass Pills Have Brought Them Lasting Relief From Constipation—Sour Stomach—Sick Headaches—Gas—Bad Breath—Coated Tongue—Nervousness and Dizzy Spells After Everything Else Had Failed. If Your Liver Is Not Performing Its Proper Functions—Sickness—Suffering and Ill Health Are the Inevitable Result. Science Has Proved That Salts, Calomel, Mineral Waters, Oils, Laxative Pills, Herb Teas or Extracts Have No Effect Whatever on the Liver or Its Production of Bile. Unless you have tried Sargon Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of the effects produced by this natural cleansing of your liver and bowels. It makes you feel years younger, stronger, healthier and happier. It brings back life and color to faded eyes and checks, restores the appetite and sound digestion—gives you a new outlook on life itself. Bile is nature's laxative and your stomach and bowels require at least one quart of fresh bile every day to keep them clean, pure, free from fermentation, gas and disease germs. When your liver becomes sluggish the bile stagnates and stops flowing freely. The contents of your bowels become the breeding place for germs as if poisonous; your food does not digest—it just ferments and decays in the bowels. The blood absorbs these poisons and you suffer from constipation, gas, sick headaches, biliousness, nervousness and sour stomach. Sargon Soft Mass Pills remove the cause of this condition in nature's way. They are not like any other medicine you have ever taken. They are so gentle, thorough and natural in their action there is nothing about them to remind you that you have ever taken a medicine, and most remarkable of all you gradually reduce the dose until you no longer require a laxative of any kind. Insist on genuine Sargon Soft Mass Pills. Don't be misled. There are only two generally recognized substances which will actually stimulate a torpid or sluggish liver to cleanse and purify itself by increasing its production of bile. Sargon Soft Mass Pills contain both of these substances and no other advertised medicine on the American market today does contain them. Only one for a full 30-day treatment. GRID PLAYER SHOW UP WELL ON THE TRACK

Durham, March 27. — Freddie Crawford, Howard Andrews and O. C. Britton, three members of the Duke University football team, have made track prospects considerably brighter by their performances during the past week of practices. All three of them have been making long throws in the discus event while Crawford has shown especially well in the javelin and Andrews and Britton in the shot put. Field events men were causing Coach Carl Boyce no little worry until these boys came out. Dad Clark, star coach, is also helping matters by his brilliant work in the high hurdles, another Blue Devil weakness. The government might get a lesson in budget-balancing from the Duke University baseball team. Coach Jack Coombs recently got his Blue Devils together and talked to them for the first time about the business side of baseball. "Boys, I'm in the 'red' but if you'll save me ten dozen balls this season we'll be able to overcome the deficit," he said. Saturday night Coach Coombs counted 16 in the same bag. Outstanding newcomers to the University of Tennessee football squad are Toby Palmer, halfback and Alf Austelle, a tackle, according to reports received from the Vols' winter drills. Palmer's showing has been such a flash that Vols' followers are looking for him to work in the backfield with Beatty Feathers, Duke Brockert and Bessy Wynn, the three veterans. Austelle's showing has been particularly pleasing to Coach Bob Neyland of the Vols since both of last year's tackles are gone. The Vols show early in this state, meeting Duke in Duke Stadium on October 14.

SPORT SLANTS By ALAN GOULD

The "son of the prairies," as Glenn Cunningham is described by his former college coach, Brutus Hamilton, owes much of his fame as America's greatest mile runner to the ruggedness of his background. "He has added to the traditional resourcefulness and endurance of his pioneer forebears a courage seldom equaled," writes Hamilton. "The Kansas prairie is no place for a cry-baby. There's work to be done and a boy is soon initiated into it. Cows to milk, wheat to harvest, hay to put up, wood to chop and chores to do. It's a hard life, but a wholesome one and furnishes an excellent background for future athletic achievement. "While he is by no means a cripple, as some writers have observed (due to the fact he was badly burned about the legs at the age of eight) he does not have normal circulation in the leg muscles or normal muscular protection over the shin bones. This necessitates a program of training quite different from that of the average boy. He does much long walking, many exercises of the bicycling type, and endures himself to very little running on the track. "He seems to be able to run more this winter, and that, combined with a tonsillectomy he underwent last September, will probably make him considerably faster when warm summer days come around."

Bulldog and Greyhound Cunningham did quite enough running on the boards and did it rapidly enough to discourage just about all his outstanding rivals, especially long-legged Gene Venzke, the Pennsylvania freshman. If he gets any faster, as Hamilton suggests he will by all odds the best American bet to wipe out the world outdoor record of 4:09 1-5, which now stands in the books to the credit of Jules Ladoumègue of France, now banished from amateur competition along with the runner whose mark he displaced, Paavo Nurmi. Venzke, of course, cannot be counted out of this picture. No boy who has done 4:10 for the mile can be overlooked in any discussion of this kind. Cunningham not only has demonstrated he has a superior finishing "kick," however, but he also seems a more rugged, determined type. Glenn resembles more the bulldog in running spirit, Gene the greyhound.

Give Them a Chance From a writer whose name we obviously cannot disclose comes this salient comment: "There are hundreds of embryo Glenn Cunninghams in this country today who are denied the right to get an education because of the famous Bulletin No. 23 of the Carnegie Foundation. "I have helped hundreds of young men get into college, just as some one has helped Cunningham get into Kansas. I intend that because a boy is a good athlete why should it be held against him if he desires to use it in order to get an education?"

Stribling Cousin May Give Georgia Light-Heavy Title

By DILLON GRAHAM (Associated Press Sports Writer) Daytona Beach, Fla., 27.—(AP)—There's been little ballyhoo in the pugilistic rise of young Bob Godwin, the two-fisted puncher who fights Maxie Rosenbloom in New York March 24 for the world's light-heavy-weight title. The night life as well as ring tactics of slapslick Maxie have furnished sport writers with "copy," but down South, where this 22-year-old blond youth has done most of his fighting, life play is given to boxers on the clim. And then there's nothing unusual in the life and habits of Godwin. The straight and narrow path has always been wide enough for him and today his vices are few. He works hard, tends to his knitting and learns through ring experience rather than from instruction by veteran fighters or trainers. Over the same small town trail traveled by his cousin, "Young" Stribling, the barrel-chested boy, has flung his way to victory after victory. He's lost some fights but has been knocked out only twice. Started At Sixteen Stribling was bowling over the pa-lookers in the tank towns and had already received the name "King of the Canebreaks" when his sixteen-year-old relative rubbed his feet in the resin and nervously advanced across the ring for his first professional fight a half dozen years ago. Fighting Rosenbloom will be no new experience for Godwin—but it will be a novelty for him to have the clowning Maxie boxed within the ropes with a title waiting for the winner. He's battled Rosenbloom three times, lost one close decision and earned two draws. A triumph a short while back over Joe Knight brought Godwin the opportunity to meet Rosenbloom. Knight previously had soundly beaten George Nichols, recognized for a time as the N. B. A. light-heavy champion. Is Georgia's Hope Godwin is a Georgia boy born in Moultrie, but has lived for many years at Raylons Beach. Georgians, their title hopes for Stribling blasted, look to Godwin to bring the State its first white boxing championship. A few years ago the negro middleweight, "Tiger" Flowers, brought the State its first championship. Like Stribling, Bob is managed by his father, Arthur Godwin. And his mother takes as much interest in him and his bouts as does "Ma" Stribling with W. L.

ROOSEVELT TASK OF BLENDING POLITICAL AND PROFESSIONAL RUNS UPON ITS FIRST SNAG

(Continued from page one) enough from the standpoint of the President. He was able to get what he wanted from Congress with a minimum delay. But there are certain signs, as he himself has observed to some of his callers, that the going may become more difficult as the "honeymoon" of his administration fades away. Outwardly, these signs include such things as the objections interposed against the farm relief and labor corps bills by the two Democratic committee chairmen who naturally would have been looked to as sponsors of these measures in the House. Underneath the surface there are other indications of a growing restiveness in both Senate and House. And underneath the restiveness is an apprehension, or a jealousy, or at least a suspicion that the professional influence is feeding Congress certain legislative raw material which may prove politically indigestible. When it comes to public affairs, it would be hard to conceive of two American citizens more widely separated than the professor, with his deep grounding of doctrine and idealism, and the average politician, with his inevitable concern for hard practicality and political consequence. Some of the proposed legislation drafted (there is no secret about it) by the professors, has failed entirely to penetrate the comprehension of some members of Congress. They not only do not understand the language of these measures, but when it is explained to them they don't think it will work. Many have not hesitated to say so on the floor. The net result is that the professional mind and the political mind are coming more and more into conflict. Instead of combining, the chemicals are beginning to react. There is increasing tendency among the politicians to credit Mr. Roosevelt's program in toto to the influence of the professors, however true or untrue that supposition may be. Everyone foresaw that the blending process Mr. Roosevelt hoped to achieve would be difficult, and now the difficulties really are becoming assertive. They present, at this stage one of the President's major problems.

BABE RUTH DENIES HE IS TO RETIRE

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—Babe Ruth, New York Yankees' slugger, last night denied reports that he planned to retire from baseball at the end of the 1933 season. "There is nothing to it," said Ruth, when advised by the Associated Press that reports were current he was being urged by Mrs. Ruth to retire and that they were planning a tour of Europe next winter. "You can say for Mrs. Ruth and myself that there is no foundation to the reports of my retirement at the conclusion of this season, as neither of us has made any statements to that effect. And, besides,

It is a long time before the end of the baseball season, the Babe added.

RACE TRACK FLOODTD WHEN DIKE COLLAPSES

Henderson, Ky., March 27.—(AP)—The Dade Park race track, located on a semi-island in the Ohio River here was covered with ten feet of water today when an earthen dike built around the one-hundred-acre plot of land broke under the severe pounding of the flooded river. All horses quartered at the track had been removed when the river started rising more than a week ago. The dike had been weakening for several days. The racing tables and other buildings connected with the plant were almost completely covered with water. The damage was unofficially estimated at $5,000. Last year the track operated twenty-two days.

Stock Market

New York, March 27.—(AP)—The financial market began the new week placidly today with trading light and price fluctuation narrow. The stock market still was waiting Washington developments in railroads and farm relief. Allite scattered selling appeared but the market remained steady. Silver stocks such as America and Smelting rose a point and sugar was again firm. Rails, tobacco and wets were unchanged. Farm implements and electric power sagged fractionally. A few of the industrials dipped a point or so, notably Allied Chemical, American Can, Dupont and National Biscuit. American Telephone and U. S. Steel sagged fractions. In the last hour sporadic selling caused shares to drift. Trading was dull throughout and the turnover was 500,000 shares.

Late News Flashes

(Continued From Page One) Get English-French Views. Washington, March 27.—(AP)—Simultaneously the English and French views on economics which the Roosevelt administration considers is closely linked with American debts were presented today to the president and his secretary of state. While President Roosevelt was engaged in discussing the French attitude with Ambassador Claudel and Jacques Stern, vice-chairman of the finance committee of the French Chamber of Deputies, Secretary Hull was talking for a second time with Ambassador Lindsay of Great Britain. After their talk with the President, Claudel said he had discussed the forthcoming world economic conference and that they favored holding it as soon as possible. Federal Workers Face 15 Per Cent Cut. Washington, D. C., March 27.—(AP)—Indication that the 15 per cent cut for Federal employees would be imposed by the President Roosevelt after April 1 were given today following presentation of a survey by the Labor Department of the cost of living had fallen 33 per cent over the country since 1928. The President is empowered by the economy bill to reduce salaries up to 15 per cent based on living costs reductions. The executive order for action is being prepared by the Budget Bureau and official word has gone out that it would be issued in time to take effect the first of the month. After a survey, the Labor Department Bureau reported the following drops in costs between 1928, and December 6, 1932: Rents, 34 per cent; fuel and lights, 13 per cent; house furnishings, 26 per cent; miscellaneous, including doctors, car fares, movies, newspapers, telephones, 1 per cent; laundry and tobacco, four-tenths of one per cent. The cost of living in the District of Columbia where thousand of government employees live, was placed at 20 per cent.

Consolidates Agencies.

Washington, March 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt informed Congress today of an executive order establishing all federal agricultural credit agencies under one unit. In the same order the President abolished the stabilization operations by the Farm Board. The new agricultural financial organization is to be known as the Farm Credit Administration and will include the farm board, farm loan bureau and various credit agencies in the department of agriculture and reconstruction finance corporation. A better coordination of the agencies involved in the agricultural credit system will produce a more uniform program for agricultural credit and will result in substantial economy, the President said. A savings of more than $2,000,000 will go into effect with this order. The President emphasized the main tenance of federal government by promising aid to cooperative agriculture.

Construction Held Up.

Washington, March 27.—(AP)—All construction of federal buildings yet to be contracted for will be held up by the treasury until President Roosevelt has defined his new program which is to be financed on a bond issue rather than appropriations. This was made clear today in informed quarters as explanation for the letting of new contracts or selecting new sites under the existing construction program. All buildings already under contract will proceed but many bids for new federal structures or for sites to erect them on will not be acted on until the new construction plan is made known. There are under contract at the present 303 buildings to cost $328,188,000.

Grants Review of S. C. Case.

Washington, March 27.—(AP)—South Carolina was today granted a review by the Supreme Court of the action of the North Carolina court in releasing from arrest Ray Bailey, alias Ray Keith, of Asheville, wanted in South Carolina for trial on a charge of murdering Policeman A. B. Hull, of Greenville, S. C., last May first.

To Discuss New Bank.

Raleigh, N. C., March 27.—(AP)—More than fifty bankers are expected to attend the meeting here tomorrow called by Gurney Hoed, Estate Bank Commissioner, to make plans for organizing a State-wide commercial bank. Hood said every banker in North Carolina had been invited to attend. A committee was busy preparing a program for the meeting which will be held at the Sir Walter Hotel. Banks not now open for unrestricted business will be invited to prove their liquid assets with any other banking institution welcomed into the merger. Aid is expected from the R. F. C., which will be asked to subscribe $3,000,000 in preferred stock to bring the new bank's capital assets to $6,000,000.
