ROOSEVELT CONFERS WITH LEADERS OF CONGRESS

Tennessee Development Project Also Discussed With Cabinet Members

NEW PROPOSAL ABOUT READY FOR CONGRESS

He intends to submit proposals to Congress next week providing for government development of the Tennessee River valley through reforestation and flood control. Restoration of Muscle Shoals, the Alabama power and nitrate plant is included in the program. Those included in the White House party today were Senators Norris, of Nebraska, sponsor of legislation for the operation of Muscle Shoals; Chairman McSwain of the House Military Committee which handles Muscle Shoals legislation; Secretaries Wallace and Ickes, and Representative Hill of Alabama.

COURT TERM HERE APRIL 17

Judge Henry A. Grady To Preside Over two Week Term of Criminal Court

A two weeks' criminal term of Superior Court will be held in Greenville beginning April 17. Judge Henry A. Grady, of Clinton, will preside and a docket of over a hundred cases probably will be on tap for the occasion.

Although the calendar is rapidly taking form, it will not be completed until probably the latter part of next week. Several important cases were scheduled to come up for consideration, including numbers of charges of robbery, breaking and entering, prohibition law infractions and other charges.

The civil term of court which has been in progress here the last two weeks was concluded yesterday. Between two and three hundred cases were completed during the term. Although only six or eight actions were disposed of during the one-day session of the first week because plaintiffs showed no desire to complete them, court got down to business in earnest the second week and did away with a big part of the docket. Over one hundred and fifty of the actions were not suited by Judge Grady because of the inability of plaintiffs to defray their cost at this time, the death of some and a general desire on the part of others to stall consideration.

Something over a year ago more than two hundred cases were cleared from the docket in one day. The final session yesterday was consumed in the hearing of motions, restraining orders and other odds and ends, usually marking the closing of court.

WEEKLY WEATHER FORECAST

THREE DIE IN HOME ROBBERY

Ben Cannon and Two Nephews Killed at Farm Home Near La Crosse, Va.

LaCrosse, Va., April 1.—(AP)—Three men were killed and one seriously wounded in the robbery of a private home in Mecklenburg County, five miles south of here last night.

The dead are: Ben Cannon, 77, his two nephews, Thomas Cannon, 56 and Bill Cannon, 28.

Another, Willis Cannon, 81, was rushed to a Petersburg hospital with bullet wounds in his head.

The crime was discovered after daybreak today when negro workmen went to the home of the farmhouse to get instructions for the day's work.

An investigation indicated that Ben was enticed to the smokehouse on the pretext of buying meat. He was found shot to death in the smokehouse ash pit.

The two nephews evidently had given battle at the front door of the home for they were found dead on the steps.

A brother, Willis Cannon 81, was home. He had been shot while lying in bed. The safe in the house being rifled.

BEER DEALERS TO ADVERTISE

Extensive Program to Be Launched as Soon As New Law Is Effective

New York, April 1.—(AP)—Several large advertising schedules are ready the day beer is legalized and on subsequent days thereafter, W. S. Thompson, director of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Association, said today. No details as to the extent of the plan were available, Thompson said. Release of the appropriations may be retarded pending classification of regulatory legislation and the establishment of production facilities. Thompson said no estimate of what the appropriations total would be, but estimated from other sources were from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000.

MAKE CANVASS FOR CLOTHING

Boy Scouts Visit Homes For Dundles To Aid Relief Campaign Here

In response to an appeal from the relief head here, about a dozen Boy Scouts canvassed the city today for clothes to meet the constant demand made by the indigent of the community.

In a public statement the latter part of the week, K. T. Putrell, director of the Department of Welfare and distributor of the Reconstruction Emergency relief fund, asked the public to contribute liberally of clothing and shoes. Relief funds he stated, are dwindling rapidly, and it will be impossible to continue the public works program started the latter part of last year and to provide for the needs of the indigent.

The relief director said numbers of people throughout the county were in immediate need of clothing and shoes especially tiny children, and persons having any they desire to give to the cause were asked to have them ready when the Scouts made their rounds today or inform the Welfare department.

In spite of the April showers during the early morning hours, the Scouts left the court house after conferring with members of the Department of Welfare. Acustomed to duties of this kind the Scouts were prepared to speed up the canvass and complete their rounds by the noon hour or the early afternoon.

GREENE MAN KILLS WIFE

Former Constable Viciously Attacks Wife and Commits Suicide at Shines

Goldsboro, N. C., April 1.—(AP)—James Price, 43, former constable, cut his wife's throat, shot her to death, and then committed suicide at their home at Shines, in Greene County, yesterday, authorities learned here today.

The tragedy was revealed when Price's son came to Goldsboro to buy a shroud for his mother, but refused to give any information about the affair.

Wayne County officers said Price recently had been in court on a bad check charge. Police said so far as they could learn, there were no eye-witnesses, but neighbors said the couple had been having domestic difficulties for a long period.

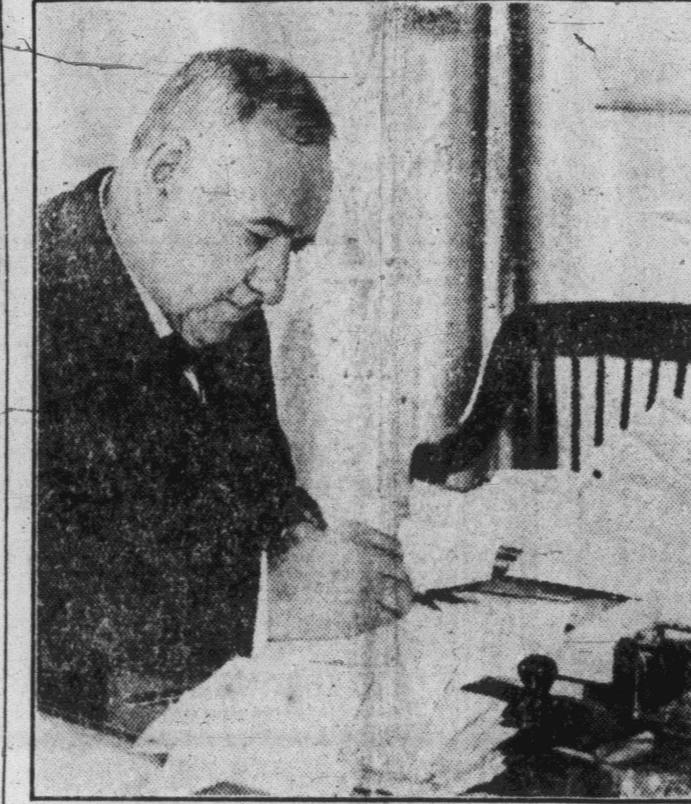

Price was shot near the heart, his wife was shot in the head, left breast and her body showed a number of knife wounds.

Sheriff H. K. Cobb, of Greene County, said an investigation was conducted yesterday and that Coroner J. H. Harper held that no inquest was necessary.

The couple left three sons and had been married twenty years. Price was a farmer. Sheriff Cobb said the husband and wife would be buried near Shine this afternoon in separate cemeteries.

STILL ISSUE LOAN FORMS

Application Blanks For Farm Loans Obtainable During This Month

H. E. Lane of the Crop Production Loan Office emphasizes that farmers who still wish to apply for loans may get application blanks from him as well as help on making the application. The law forbids any charge being made for help in the preparation of the loan applications, but such fees as that of a notary, for recording, etc., are allowed.

The rush seems to be over and one can be served any day that is convenient to him. It is no longer necessary to secure a number on the waiting list.

A loan may not be approved for the amount applied for, and if it is reduced, the proper reduction will be made on the forms filled out at the time the application is made. In the event that the loan is not approved, the note and mortgage will be returned to the applicant, the application and voucher being retained by the C. P. L. office.

The loans this year are not only limited to $300, but the regulations require that borrowers reduce the acreage of their cash crops 30 per cent under that grown in 1932, except growers who farm very limited acreages. The regulations provide a fine of up to $1,000 and imprisonment up to six months for material false representations made to get a loan.

As in the past, the borrower must give a first lien on his crop. Loans bear interest at 5 1/2 per cent and are due on or before Oct. 31, 1933.

The regulations make it unlawful for any person to dispose of or assist in disposing of any crops given as security for any loan, except for the account of the Secretary of Agriculture and provide for fine and imprisonment for violation of the regulation. Each borrower must agree to plant a garden for his home use and to plant sufficient acreage to furnish feed for his livestock.

BEER BILL IS SET FOR HOUSE TEST MONDAY

Measure Passed by Senate Yesterday to Receive Debate and Probable Vote

Raleigh, N. C., April 1.—(AP)—The Francis beer bill took its place on the public bills calendar of the House today, and therefore will come up for debate and probably vote Monday night.

The House was holding its regular Saturday session for the consideration of local bills and only a dozen of the 120 members were present, but the beer proposal went on the calendar under an agreement adopted yesterday.

The placing of the bill on the public list was equal to passage on the first reading, but the test vote will come on the second reading. The House passed three local bills in nine minutes.

Conferees of the Senate had some difficulties in their effort to abolish fees for seizure of illicit stills, it was announced. They will try to bring the Senate abolition of $20 fees and the House exemption of nineteen counties down to a common ground.

Eight Senators attended an eight-minute Senate session. One new bill by Senator Francis of Haywood, to tax roadside billboards five cents per square foot was received.

EDENTON MERCHANTS OPPOSE SALES TAXES

Edenton, N. C., April 1.—The merchants of Edenton have voiced their protest against either general or luxury sales tax in a petition to Senator Lloyd Griffin and Representative Berryman requesting a negative vote upon both.

This petition states to the General Assembly that on account of the proximity of cities in Virginia any sales tax would be especially hard on merchants engaged in business so near the State line.

MISSISSIPPI COUNTS DEAD AT 36 TODAY

A mad spring storm which for two days battered areas from Texas to Alabama, left 68 known dead, hundreds injured, wreckage and threat of floods in its wake today.

Mississippi suffered the heaviest loss of life with 36 killed.

The death list mounted rapidly last night as reports trickled in from communities cut off by tangled communication lines, flooded highways as the wind moved into the northeast.

The storm broke in Texas Thursday, wiping prairies like a flail and killing, injuring and wrecking.

It dipped into the southeastern corner of Arkansas and drove still force up the Mississippi Valley and was accompanied by rain in horizontal sheets.

TWO CLINICS NEXT WEEK

Public Health Forces To Visit Farmville And Ayden During Coming Week

Public health forces of the county will visit Farmville and Ayden next week to hold tonsil and adenoid clinics and further extend the movement to improve the health of children of the various schools of the county.

Clinics will be held in Farmville Tuesday and Ayden Friday. Health workers have already visited the two communities for the purpose of examining children suffering from adenoids and tonsils and everything will be in readiness for the operations when they visit the schools next week.

Out of a total of nine clinics held in various communities the last month and a half, approximately 210 children have been operated on. An effort was made at first to limit each clinic to twenty operations but the condition in each school was found so bad that the number has been exceeded except in one or two instances.

The largest clinic was held at Grimesland where fifty-six children underwent operations. The situation in this school was described as the most serious in the county.

The clinic at Chichester for the past Friday was postponed on account of an epidemic of measles and the clinic was carried to Bethel instead. The Chichester school will be visited, health authorities said, as soon as the measles situation clears up.

WHO GRABS THE HOE SHOULD DIG THE POTATOES

(News and Observer)

As observers seem to believe, the present General Assembly is going to legalize beer in North Carolina without any reference of the matter to the people, it ought at least to pass a thoughtful beer bill.

In other words, if the Legislature is going to presume to do the whole job, it ought to do it.

All but the most fanatical friends of intoxicating beverages admit that some form of regulation of their sale, manufacture and use is proper. At the present moment such wet organizations as the Society against the Prohibition Amendment and the Crusaders in the nation are working for proper control to prevent the graft, debauchery and corruption which in the past attended the liquor and the beer business.

But the Francis bill makes no real effort to regulate the use of beer in North Carolina. True, it says beer shall not be sold in a place "primarily" used for that purpose, but "primarily" is a very elastic word. A half dozen sandwiches might serve to evade it. It gives to the Commissioner of Revenue powers for regulation in connection with the gathering of revenue and like powers to county commissioners. It is not at all certain that either of these, however, have any moral discretion in the whole matter. The only certain safeguard in the bill is that the beer may not be sold to minors under 16 years of age.

Under the bill there would seem to be no reason why a man who had served terms on the chain gang, in the State Prison and in the Federal Penitentiary, would not be entitled to a license to open a beer place if it were "primarily" devoted to the sale of a few sandwiches. There is no assurance that the legal selling of beer will not fall into the hands of the present bootleggers. Except for violation of the elastic "primarily" clause there is no provision for revocation of the license once granted, no matter what happens.

If the friends of beer in North Carolina are really its friends, they should at least pause long enough to safeguard it from the evils which attended it in the past and which were responsible for its prohibition. If the Legislature is going to bring beer back to North Carolina without letting the people speak, the least it can do is to provide a regulating act which, as far as possible, protects the people from evils which intelligent wets as well as dries know attended the selling of beer in the past.

DANGER IN A BIG CROP OF TOBACCO

(Williamston Enterprise) Noah preached righteousness to the people during the hundred years he was building the ark. The world did not heed and were drowned.

The farmers of the country are being told that we have a good supply of tobacco on hand and that general conditions are bad all over the tobacco world, which means that a moderate crop will fully supply the demand and at a price but little above cost. If we have a small crop, prices will be good. But, on the other hand, if we have the big crop that is now indicated, there is no hope for prices at a profit. Every farmer should remember that crops that bring no profit will ultimately prove a severe loss.

Good authorities on tobacco conditions advise cutting the cost of production and striving to make good quality tobacco.

A 100-year-old tree, sentenced to "death" at Bournemouth, England, has been reprieved owing to an outcry from residents.

VALIANT DUST

SYNOPSIS: Lurking about the ancient Moorish Citadel of Mekazzen was treachery to France. But it suddenly was ended by Colonel Le Sage of the Secret Service with death for the Kaid of Mekazzen, death for Jules Maligni, Margaret Maligni's trickery husband, and capture for Major Riccoli of the Foreign Legion, the worst traitor of all. Margaret is awakened by the sly enticement of Raisul, son of the Kaid. Raisul swears that unless Margaret yields to him he will torture and kill Margaret's girlhood sweetheart, Otho Belleme, who is in the Citadel as a private in Riccoli's command. Margaret is on the point of yielding.

Chapter 48 THE DUEL

Raisul laughed merrily. He was amused.

"No, no, no! This won't do at all. You've got to kiss me. I'm not going to do all the kissing, maddeningly, thrillingly wonderful as it is. What the devil are you staring at?"

Turning about Raisul followed Margaret's incredulous hypnotized gaze and lithe and swift as a springing panther, leaped to his feet.

"Ah!" said Otho Belleme, with a sound of unfathomable satisfaction. "Raisul ben Abd' Allah Karim."

Without taking his eyes from those of his adversary, Raisul bent sideways to the low table on which he had laid his long dagger, drew it from its sheath, and advanced, poised and crouching.

With a laugh that belied that look upon his face, "Another visitor, Margaret!" he said. "Very much 'at home' tonight, aren't you? I'm afraid I've overstayed my..."

"Steel or bare hands?" interrupted Otho Belleme as he drew his bayonet.

"We-I-I," replied Raisul, circling sideways and yet advancing as he spoke. "I think we'll give the lady a dagger-versus-bayonet exhibition, eh? Bit fairer perhaps, what? Personally I'm not a professional buis-ness." "Right," replied Otho Belleme, holding the long thin bayonet before him, like a foil.

This ought to be a good fight, and Margaret looking on. But he must go warily, for he must win—for Margaret's sake, as well as for his own.

Here was he, Otho Belleme, in Margaret's room.

In a state of absolute funk and horror he had slid down a few feet of rope that dangled over hundreds of feet of sheer drop—in pursuit of that devil. And he was in Margaret's room.

Raisul sprang, and stabbed. Otho lunged and thrust, and his left hand seized Raisul's wrist, as Raisul skillfully evaded the swift blade, and in turn, seized Otho's right wrist.

Breast to breast. Stale-mate. Yes, yes! the dagger-hand was slowly going back, back, while the hand that held the bayonet moved not at all.

Suddenly Raisul threw the whole of his weight violently forward and, mightily twisting his arm, sprang backward, releasing Otho's wrist as he did so.

Round one, and honors easy. Otho sprang and drove a lightning thrust at Raisul's throat.

With equal swiftness, Raisul ducked beneath the lean sharp blade, and simultaneously slashed upward with the terrible disemboweling stroke, which will lay a man open from thigh to breast-bone.

Well for Otho Belleme that, albeit a heavyweight, he was one of the quickest boxers of the day.

Striking swiftly downwards and sideways with lightning speed and all his strength, his left fist encountered Raisul's wrist with such force, that, as he whirled sideways, the knife fell from his hand, and clattered on the stone floor.

Disarmed, Raisul backed away from the gleaming bayonet that in an instant would be through his throat or his heart.

Setting his foot upon the knife, Otho spoke.

"There was a time when I should have told you to pick that up," he said. "I'm not quite the fool I was, but..."

And Otho sheathed his bayonet. "Put up your fists," he said, "and fight any way you can. I can't stab you in cold blood."

Raisul backed, backed into the corner, stooped and rose in one swift movement—Margaret's pistol in his hand, and levelled. At Margaret.

Bang! At Otho.

Click. Margaret screamed, and Otho turned hips heat. Her hand was pressed to her breast.

A crashing blow in the face as the flung pistol struck him, and his hands closed about Raisul's throat.

Jove! but the fellow was strong—and agile as a cat; slippery as an eel.

Free again. Otho drove a straight left. Raisul ducked beneath it and flung his arms about Otho's waist.

Down together. A cry from Margaret. "The knife, Otho! The knife!"

By Jove, he'd got it. Raisul leapt to his feet, and stabbed. Otho, rising, struck with his right. The blow sent him staggering backward.

As he brought up against the wall, beside the balcony, his arm shot forward as he flung his knife—too hurriedly.

Again Otho struck, and as Raisul side-stepped to his left, Otho smashed home a crashing right that drove Raisul heavily against the low balcony wall.

The White Cockatoo

BY MIGNON G. EBERHART

CHANCE brought Sue Tally and Jim Sundeau to the same eerie hotel in a provincial French town. An elusive, phantom danger drove Sue to Sundeau with her pitiful plea for help—and from that instant there surged about them terrifying, threatening events.

Murder, shots from the dark, a ghostly face at the window of an unoccupied room, intrigue, mystery, harrowing nights and fearful days . . . and over it all watched the cold, black, staring eyes of Pucci, the white cockatoo, awaiting the fateful moment to strike. A heart-warming romance with its crashing excitement, it is the most absorbing story by this popular author.

OPENING GAME FROM WILSON
HEAVY CARD NEXT WEEK

Greenville High School opened the baseball season yesterday afternoon in Wilson and turned in a 7 to 3 win in their first Northeastern Conference game. Fourteen base hits rattled off of Greenville bats, and the result of the game was never in doubt after the first inning.

The locals started their scoring in the first inning when Madrin singled, stole second and came home on Taylor's smashing single through the pitcher's box. Two more runs came in the second on singles by Hodges and Gibbs, bases on balls to Cobb and Wells, and Madrin's two-base hit to left center. The third inning was Greenville's big inning, and incidentally, marked the end of Greenville's scoring. Gaston walked to open the inning, Taylor was safe on the third baseman's error. Forbes struck out and Cobb hit one to left center to score Taylor and Gibbs. Wells then walked, Clark struck out and Madrin again came through in the pinch to score Cobb with a single. Greenville had men on the bases in each of the remaining innings, but could not get them around to the counting station.

Wilson scored their runs in the first and last inning. In the first, Hayes' single, a sacrifice and Taylor's single scored one. In the last inning Turner singled, went to third on Hamric's error, and scored when Taylor was safe at second on the play to get Taylor to home. Hamric then struck out the last batter, but Hamric dropped the ball and threw wild to first to let Diddy core. Smith then struck out Hayes to end the game.

Greenville batters smashed out 14 hits with Cliff Madrin leading the procession with a safe knock on each of his five trips to the plate. Forbes, Cobb and Ernest Wells each had two hits. For Wilson, C. Taylor was the only man to garner more than one hit and only four hits were obtained off the combined deliveries of Taylor and Smith. Roger Taylor struck out five and Preston Smith six, to make a total of eleven whiffs for the local pitchers.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN PICTURES

Oddities From Foreign Sport and Scientific Field

There's news in these pictures that hit the high spots in important fields. Any one of these represents something sensational. Getting three in one day is a real achievement.

FOREIGN: It's Ghandi, of all people, all decked out in golf gear with a smile that looks as if he's just got a birdie—perhaps with a pinch of salt. Maybe this was his day for golf. At any rate, he seems pleased.

SPORTS: Babe Ruth himself—see him over the bar—putting a little finesse into pole vaulting. His regular exercise on days like this one. Fine for redheads—and the Babe's gone in for that lately.

SCIENCE: Discovery's afoot, and see what it has found! A sport model of Bucephalus that emerges once a year. All in the day's work when a cameraman does a bit of picture-taking on April Fools' Day.

Stock Market

New York, April 1.—(AP)—The stock market began the new month in an uncertain frame of mind today. The close was irregular. Transfers for the two hours was 450,000 shares.

The setback in rail shares was in the face of a favorable weekly card report. The weekly business report indicating this pickup was under way in a number of lines of business.

A number of industrials closed with gains of reactions from one or more points. They were American Tobacco, Case, Drugs, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, American Can and others.

Late News Flashes

(Continued From Page One) between the committee concerns the rate of sales tax to support the six months school for which the House voted appropriation will be two 2 to 2-1/2 and a half per cent.

Members of the committee are divided as to individual factors as well as to the House and Senate differences on proposed ad valorem tax relief and eight months term would give.

One side holds that corporations pay no excess taxes. The state should raise the franchise tax above that of 1931 to recapture the saving.

Signs Veterans Measure

Washington, April 1.—(AP)—Pres. Roosevelt ordered a reduction in veterans allowances totaling $400,000 today.

Using executive power in view of the economy act the chief executive after 1:30 this afternoon signed the order drafted by Louis Douglas, director of the budget, and Frank Hines, veterans administrator, who were present when he signed the bill.

The reduced rates are effective July 1. Making public the lower schedule the president issued the following statement:

"In connection with the publication today of regulations in connection with veterans benefits, I do not want any veteran and his comrades to think they are singled out to make the sacrifice. On the contrary, I want them to know the regulations are but an integral part of our economy program embracing every department and agency."

Ready To Open Investigation. Washington, April 1.—(AP)—Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the stock market investigation committee, said today he had advised officers of J. P. Morgan and Company to hold themselves in readiness for summons in connection with the committee's proposed inquiry into all banks and investment houses.

Cut Products out of Farm Bill. Washington, April 1.—(AP)—Cattle, sheep, and peanuts were cut out of the farm bill today by the Senate agricultural committee whose members then agreed on a general form for the bill that will be about the same as the administration relief bill passed by the house.

Chairman Smith announced the bill would be reported to the Senate Monday and that the only question to be determined was whether to incorporate as an alternate relief plan the so-called Simpson production cost guaranty proposal.

Cattle and sheep will be eliminated on motion of Senator Kendrick of Wyoming, assistant Democratic leader, by 9 to 6 vote.

WOULD FORBID SHORT SALES ON EXCHANGES

Goldsboro, April 1.—B. G. Thompson, well known merchant and farmer, has sent the following telegraph to Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

"It seems that you are determined to have Congress to pass a farm relief bill of your own making which in my opinion in its present form will destroy commerce in every commodity line. You could make it very effective by amending the bill and make it a part of it to restrain all of the exchanges of American from executing typical short sales of commodities for speculation only."

YOUNG MOTHER FOUND DEAD NEAR HER HOME

Lexington, N. C., April 1.—Miss Lucy Lee Burkhardt, 21, daughter of Lee Burkhardt of the Sandy Grove section, three miles east of here, was found dead in an outhouse near her home about 3 o'clock this morning. A new-born infant was still living and was reported likely to survive.

Coner R. V. Yokeley, who was summoned to the scene, found no evidence to connect anyone else with the affair. Parents of the unfortunate girl were quoted as telling the coroner they were unaware of her condition.

A brother-in-law told the official he discovered the girl was missing from the house and aroused others in the home. The light from a lamp burning in the outhouse led to the discovery.

REMAND RELEASE OF PART OF DEPOSIT

Greensboro, April 1.—The Guilford county commissioners yesterday notified the North Carolina Bank and Trust Company to immediately release $70,000 of the $87,500 county has on deposit in the bank of the county will proceed with the sale of $130,000 of the bonds which are posted at the Chemical National Bank in New York as security for the county account in the local bank. Of these $70,000 are Federal bonds.

It was proposed to leave $17,500 in the bank secured by $25,000 of Guilford county bonds. The action resulted from demands of Greensboro and High Point for payment of school and welfare funds overdue from the county.

Action by Greensboro's council similar to that of the county board is not unexpected since the city has a large secured deposit in the bank and is facing immediate necessity of paying some $73,000 on interest and principal of its debt.

The North Carolina Bank and Trust Company and its 14 branches are all open but on a restricted basis.

WOMEN SEEK PLACES ON BOARD AT ZEBULON

Zebulon, April 1.—Club women of Zebulon have begun to put into practice some of the knowledge of government gained by study of the various departments of state. Feeling that women would be helpful in administering town government, they have asked Mesdames J. D. Davis and J. B. Outlaw to be candidates for election to Zebulon's board of commissioners, promising the club's support. Both have consented and their candidacy has been announced.

Mrs. Davis is a member of the Woman's Club, and Mrs. Outlaw has been a member, but has not been connected with the club for two years.

A most important thing, if you wish to retain that youthful freshness and charm, is plenty of rest. I always make it a point to get at least eight hours' sleep a day, regardless of how late I have been up the night before. After my ride or swim—one of which I take each morning, I have a warm and then a cold shower and lie down for an hour before starting the day.
