ABANDON HOPE FOR RESCUE OF AKRON'S 72 MEN

Search For Survivors Is Pushed Forward Rapidly Today By Sea And Air

THINK DOWN DRAFT CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

Navy Men Believe That Big Airliner Was Swept Into Sea When Caught by Draft During Terrible Thunderstorm; Demands For Investigation Come From Both Branches of Congress

Hope has been abandoned for the rescue alive of the 72 missing officers and men who were aboard the huge Navy dirigible Akron when she crashed into the sea early Tuesday.

"If they are alive," said Captain Turner, commandant of the coast guard base at Atlantic City, "it is a miracle."

The search for survivors—or their bodies—went on today, however, with air and sea craft hunting out at dawn searching the sea along the coast as far south as the Virginia capes.

The condition of the survivors picked up by the tanker Phobos shortly after the Akron crashed was reported good. They suffered no injury but were weak from submersion and shock.

The general belief among Navy men was that the accident to the Akron was caused by the big craft was caught in the vortex of a terrific thunderstorm and was swept into the sea by a down draft. Very few wrecks were found.

Two men lost their lives in yesterday's search for the Akron survivors when the non-rigid blimp J-3 plunged into the sea off Long Beach, New Jersey.

Five of the company of seven men aboard the blimp were saved by a small police plane.

Demands for a probe of the accident were heard in Washington with inquiries demanded from both branches of Congress. Despite the wide extent of the search of the seas the body of only one of the missing 72 men had been found when the search was resumed at dawn.

Admiral William Moffett is among the missing.

Corey, member of the Legislature from Pitt county, was completely exonerated of the criminal charge of acceptance of compensation for aid rendered in connection with veterans' compensation when the jury in Federal court here Tuesday returned a verdict of not guilty.

The case was called Tuesday morning. The government limits the amount of compensation an attorney may receive for obtaining compensation for veterans and Senator Corey is charged with accepting more compensation than the government allows.

MRS. CALVIN COOLIDGE GUEST IN MOUNTAINS

Tryon, April 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, widow of the former president, is the guest of Mrs. Florence Bannard Adams of Northampton, Mass., at Mrs. Adams' country estate on White Oak Mountain, six miles from Tryon.

Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Adams, old friends, arrived here Sunday from Northampton. Mrs. Coolidge's last visit to the mountains of Western North Carolina was while her husband was vice-president. Both visited in Asheville.

Resources of North Carolina State banks were increased about $5,000,000 during the last quarter of 1932, says the State Banking Department.

TOWN OF TELA, HONDURAS, IS RUINED BY FIRE

Three-Fourths of The Fruit Shipping Center Reported Destroyed Today

Washington, D. C., April 5.—(AP)—The State Department received word today that three-fourths of the town of Tela, Honduras, has been destroyed by fire which was still raging at 6 o'clock this morning.

Kenneth Stout, American vice-consul at Tela, notified that the fruit company settlement there had not been touched, but that most of the other business section was ruined.

Tela has a population of about 3,000, and is the chief fruit shipping port on the north coast of Honduras. It is the terminus of the Tela Railway which is 130 miles long and runs through the extensive fruit development.

CONVENTION CLOSES TODAY

Albermarle Presbyterial Auxiliary Will Close Session This Afternoon

Officers elected by the Presbyterial Auxiliary here this afternoon follow: Mrs. Frank Lee Wilson, president; Mrs. H. L. Hicks, Rocky Mount, vice-president at large; Mrs. Claude Fox, New Bern, vice-president; Mrs. John God, Wilson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. R. McPherson, Pinetops, secretary of foreign missions; Mrs. W. H. Bowling, Rocky Mount, treasurer; Mrs. Z. T. Piephoff, Williamson, district chaplain, No. 1.

The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Albermarle Presbyterial Auxiliary which convened at the Presbyterian Church here yesterday morning will come to a close this afternoon with election and installation of officers.

The installation ceremony, always of a very impressive nature, will be conducted by Mrs. C. H. Norfleet, of Winston-Salem, president of the North Carolina Synod.

Between two and three hundred representatives of the various auxiliaries of the eastern section of the State were on hand when the convention opened yesterday morning and the majority remained over for today's session.

The highlight of the session last night was an address by Rev. A. P. Hassell, missionary to Japan. This followed the presentation of a pageant "The Path of Peace" given under direction of Miss Ruth Hill, house director of young people's religious education of the local church. Numbers of young women representing the student body of the college and Presbyterian congregation took part. The presentation was of an inspirational nature and formed a splendid setting for the address on foreign missions.

Mr. Hassell, who has spent many years in Japan, said the nation is misunderstood by many people, and that this led to considerable criticism of the nation's activities. He described Japan's action in Manchuria as providential in view of the inroads which the Russians, with their cruelty and dangerous beliefs, were attempting to make in the area.

He declared religious forces were making progress in Japan in spite of financial handicaps, and that followers of the teachings of the Bible were contributing liberally to the cause.

The convention reconvened this morning at 10 o'clock and enjoyed a stewardship program and heard a report on the Missions Court by Mrs. A. P. House, Rev. W. B. McInnis, of Washington, spoke on "Evangelism" after which reports dealing with activities of the organization was heard.

At 2 o'clock the visitors enjoyed

BEAMAN CASE GOES TO JURY

Jury Expected to be Sometime in Returning Decision in Case of Former Preacher

Indications that the Federal court jury at Washington would deliberate quite awhile before returning a verdict in the case of Thomas E. Beaman, of Greenville, former U. S. Commissioner and preacher, charged with accepting bribes and conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, came shortly before the noon hour today when jurors notified Judge Meekins that a verdict could not be expected soon.

The case went to the jury this morning at 10:30 o'clock following completion of argument and presentation of testimony.

A true bill was returned by the grand jury the first of the week. Beaman, who has been held in jail here for the last several weeks following the bringing of a charge of incendiarism against him, remained composed and unruffled throughout the trial it was said, and felt confident of his acquittal.

The charge was brought against the former minister here several months ago when officers said they had caught him accepting alleged bribes from bootleggers for information regarding the movement of law enforcement officers.

When caught in the act of accepting a small sum of money from a negro storekeeper, Beaman denied it was in payment for information, declaring it was the premium on an insurance policy.

He was given a hearing in Wilmington and bound over to Federal court. The incendiarism charge resulted from damage by fire to his home the first of the year.

Rev. Charles Gable Tells of Persecution Of Christians In Rome

Continuing the lectures on Early Christian Church History, the Rev. Charles A. Gable, pastor of the Catholic Church, outlined for his hearers the causes and the sufferings of the first general persecution under the emperor, Nero. A summary of the lecture was as follows: Little did the hearers of the Master realize how terribly true his words of future persecution would be. From what He had taught them, from their conduct, and from what it would bring to men, they could hardly see how it could be possible. But only after it had burst upon them in its awful reality

Statesmen Of Two Nations Will Confer With President Roosevelt

House Will Not Report Any Revenue Bill Until Compromise Is Reached

CONFEREES WILL MAKE REPORT SOON

Senate Stand For Eight Months' School Adopted Instead of House Six Month Term With Extended Aid; Controversial Items Still to be Settled

Raleigh, N. C., April 5.—(AP)—The House Finance Committee today reversed the position it took last week and voted not to report any revenue bill for the next biennium until after the compromise of the appropriations conferees has been adopted.

Last week the money raising group voted to report its bill on Monday night and then take it up again last night. This morning the reversal was made on the suggestion of the sub-committee working on means and methods for forcing merchants to pass on the sales tax to the customer instead of absorbing it.

The decision to hold off the revenue bill was reached when members of the appropriations conference notified Chairman Doughton that the compromise between the Senate and House bill would be ready today. Under the compromise agreed to by a majority of the conferees the Senate stands for an eight months' State supported school term to cost $16,000,000 annually would be adopted instead of the House provision of $14,650,000 yearly for the six months' term and extended aid.

State salaries would be cut from 38 per cent under the July 1, 1930 scale to the 32 per cent the Senate voted and 44 per cent demanded by the House.

Some controversial items had not been agreed upon this morning. Final drafting of the revenue bill which will contain a general sales tax was postponed.

PERQUIMANS BOARD ASKS FOR MORE COURT

Hertford, April 5.—Decision to re-establish the January term of Perquimans superior court, which was abolished two years ago, was made by the board of county commissioners at their regular meeting Monday when the clerk was instructed to request the Perquimans representative to procure the necessary enactment. The court will be for civil cases only.

It also was agreed tentatively that a special term of court for trial of civil cases only would be petitioned for, to be held during early summer.

PASQUOTANK IS GIVEN HORIZONTAL REDUCTION

Elizabeth City, April 4.—A horizontal slash of 33-1-3 per cent in real estate valuation in Pasquotank county was ordered by the county board of commissioners in regular session here Monday.

The slash will bring the total real estate valuation in the county down to approximately 12 million dollars. It was revealed by figures in the office of the register of deeds.

Late News Flashes

Today In The Legislature. Raleigh, April 6.—(AP)—Prohibition legislation received new impetus in North Carolina today while the House was debating and refusing to pass a bill proposing to rewrite the state constitution by amendment. The Senate met for a short session as the state supreme court sent to the legislature an opinion that either of two bills pending in the assembly to create a convention to pass on the Blaine resolution to repeal the 18th amendment would be constitutional.

The general assembly had asked the court in a joint resolution to adopt the unusual procedure of ruling on the validity of the convention bill before any such measure was passed.

By unanimous agreement the

TO DEDICATE NEW STADIUM HERE FRIDAY

Mayor Flanagan To Toss First Ball Following Flag Raising Exercises

The new athletic field at Third street school will be dedicated and formally thrown open to the public next Friday afternoon, it was announced today by J. H. Rose, superintendent of city schools.

The opening will be marked by elaborate exercises and an effort was on foot today to get business houses of the city to close from 3:30 to 5:30 to give employees an opportunity to be on hand and help celebrate the occasion.

In addition to the opening exercises, the high school baseball team, considered one of the best the city has had in years, will go about the serious business of trimming New Bern in retaliation for the defeat handed them yesterday.

Mayor R. C. Flanagan has been chosen to hurl the first ball from the grandstand setting the game in motion and incidentally throwing the field open to the public.

This will be preceded by flag-raising exercises, band concert and inspection of the field and community building, or clubhouse, which were built with Reconstruction funds and from materials obtained from demolition of condemned public buildings the past year or so.

The club house, a brick affair, is considered one of the finest of its kind in this section of the state. It contains shower baths and rest rooms for the high school athletes, and large airy rooms where people of the community may gather for meetings, parties or similar gatherings.

The turtle back ball field is second to none in the state, and was expected to play an important part in the development of future ball clubs.

Construction of the field, which contains large grandstands capable of seating several hundred people, has been under way the most of the winter and finishing touches were put on the latter part of the week.

Supr. Rose said he hoped to make the opening day a red letter day in the life of the city, and expressed hope business interests would take part in the afternoon holiday movement and help swell the crowds expected to be on hand to help open the stadium in real style.

SUES FOR ENFORCING CONTRACT OF SALE

New Bern, N. C., April 5.—Suit has been brought in Federal Court here by the Federal Government against Mrs. Alice H. Bryan, Col. Charles S. Bryan and wife, Mrs. Annie McW. Bryan, for the enforcement of the specific performance of the contract for the sale of the land to the United States for establishment of the authorized postoffice building.

In its complaint the Federal Government declares that the owners of the property have failed to convey the land selected for the postoffice site, according to the terms of the purchase contract. On January 25, 1933 they were ordered to clear the land and turn it over to the government yet, because of the fact that taxes still are unpaid.

Filing an answer to the complaint, Colonel Bryan states that Mrs. Alice H. Bryan, who has a life interest in the property, should pay the taxes. But she claims that she gets only $3,500 of the purchase price of $35,000, the remaining $32,500 to go to Colonel Bryan, who inherits the place at her death. The taxes amount to several thousand dollars.

The majority of actions coming up for consideration yesterday consisted of charges of violation of the prohibition law, larceny and assault with a deadly weapon.

The majority of defendants were released with suspended sentences hanging over their heads, especially in the charges of violation of the dry law.

Wright Dixon and Nora Joyner, colored, charged with adultery, were ordered to obtain license to marry.

John Green, Hardy Washington and Roosevelt Jenkins, held for gambling, were adjudged not guilty.

Coast Guard Cutter Dispatched From Florida to Render Aid

Miami, Fla., April 5.—The Coast Guard cutter Unalga was dispatched from Fort Lauderdale today to the assistance of the Spanish liner, Marques De Camillas aground off Carlsfort reef south of here with about one hundred passengers aboard.

The vessel was reported in need of assistance today after declining proffered help when it first ran aground last night.

The Unalga was prepared to take off the passengers if the Marques De Camillas cannot be floated.

A relief tug was also reported en route to the stranded vessel from Key West.

First word of the grounding was received last night in a message from the tanker Algonquin which reported the Marques had refused an offer of assistance. The message written in Spanish was received from the master of the Marques and sent the relief expedition on its way.

The Spanish liner was 450 feet long, and is out of Barcelona, Spain, with passengers and freight.

Washington, D. C., April 5.—(AP)—Leading statesmen of France and Great Britain will come to Washington soon and sit down with President Roosevelt to talk over the economic ills of the world unless an agreement now being made in Europe by Norman Davis, special ambassador, falls through. Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain was made by Davis, acting on the personal instruction of the President.

Latest advices from London indicate that MacDonald will endeavor to come to Washington during the Easter recess of the House of Commons.

Former Minister Paul Boncour of France has assured Davis his government will send representatives to the Washington party which will be expected to include only three nations and to result in the laying of ground-work for the success of the coming World Economic Conference in London.

President Roosevelt issued a statement today expressing the hope that Prime Minister MacDonald would visit him here. While no mention was made of France in the statement, Foreign Minister Paul Boncour that his government would send representatives to such a parley as the President contemplates.

Dispatches from London indicated that MacDonald is making preparations to come to Washington during the Easter holidays.

The White Cockatoo by Mignon G. Eberhart

SYNOPSIS: Warned by a premonition of ill, James Sundean still stays on in a little hotel, in the French town of Armehe. He is quarantined in a forbidding room across the court from the body of the hotel. He hears the unsavory Lovschien, proprietor of the hotel, demand that an unseen stranger get something tomorrow. And while at dinner with the three other guests, the emphatic Mrs. Felicia Byng, the red-haired priest, and the beautiful American girl, Sufidean sees...

Chapter 3 THE SWORD CLOCK

I was sitting facing the windows. In turn, faced the court. They were curtained up to about the height of a man's shoulders.

The outside shutters had not been closed, and I was looking idly at the black, shining window, which reflected above the crystal-bedecked chandelier, and thinking that the wind was increasing in violence, for I could hear it rattle the shutters, when I suddenly perceived that I was looking straight into the face of Lovschien. I could see only the upper half of his face, but it was unmistakable.

The rather disturbing thing was he was staring with curious intensity at the woman with the silver beads. I put down the glass I held, and the motion caught his eyes which flickered to me and vanished in the same half second.

It had been Lovschien, in flesh, however: I was sure of that. But if a man wishes to look in the windows of his own hotel I suppose he may do so, unpleasant though his gaze may be.

I looked a little over some pears, rather hoping the girl with the silver heels would leave first, so I might get a glimpse of her face. But she did not move, even after the porter had cleared the table and disappeared.

I rose at length, reflecting that, after all, it was better to let the light into the room than to have the room dark. Indeed, you'd have been willing to swear they were already out and were whirling and surging madly up and down and through and around the court in a furious witches' Sabbath.

The light under the arch was tossing, black shadows were flying grotesquely; the thick shrubs and vines in the corners had come alive and were flinging themselves violently about, the corridor windows were rattling; the lobby across the court was dark, and not a thread of light was shining through any of the shuttered windows—there were only that small tossing light under the entrance arch and those wild flying shadows.

I wished suddenly that I had chosen a less desolate and windswept place. Instinct is always stranger when you are about half asleep: I disliked the old hotel, disliked particularly the witch-ridden courtyard. It was quite suddenly sinister. That seems a fanciful and imaginative word and, God knows, I'm not a fanciful or imaginative man, but it was the only word that was apt. The place was sinister. It threatened.

And then all at once the wind was wailing louder. It was wailing in my ear—no, not wailing, it was sobbing. It was sobbing and saying, inconceivably: "Let me in—Oh, please. Let me in."

'Young Guard' Supplants Old

By MERBERT PLUMMER. Washington, D. C.—On the left side of the dividing aisle of the Senate chamber, now so thinned and deserted in appearance, a new set of leaders is carrying on for the Republicans who, formerly that famous 'Old Guard' trio of Smoot, Watson and Moses led.

Memories of those Smoot-Hawley tariff-beset days which gave rise to the "Young Guard" movement are being revived as these new leaders get more and more into the thick of things.

Out in front one finds the youthful and scholarly Vandenberg, of Michigan. Vandenberg was one of the leaders of that group of young Republicans who back in 1929 were reported in some quarters as seeking to dislodge the "Old Guard" leaders.

He is one of the most active on the Republican side these days. To some observers he has given the impression that he is out to make himself the spearhead of the opposition in the Senate.

"Minute Man" Constant in his attendance at sessions, he permits little to escape him. When new legislation is brought before the Senate for consideration he is among the first to step in an try to find what it is all about.

A forceful speaker, admittedly one of the orators of the Senate, and a student of government, he usually strikes at the heart of the situation under discussion. Sometimes his questions rattle his opponents to such an extent that they become nettled, but he continues to wade in just the same.

To one Senator who appeared a bit irritated by his insistent questioning of a piece of legislation recently, Vandenberg said:

"I am sure the Senator does not mean to infer that the only way that one can be sympathetic is to take the bill as is. Surely he does not mean to infer that those who have submitted inquiries respecting the bill are any less sympathetic with the objective than he is."

Dickinson, Too Almost as outspoken as Vandenberg is Dickinson, of Iowa, schooled in the House of Representatives and serving his first term in the Senate.

The white-haired, tall, broad-shouldered Iowan pursues different tactics from those of Vandenberg. A regular of regular Republican, he is a conservative in every respect when it comes to politics.

All in all, it's a vastly different picture from the days when Red Smoot, Watson and George Moses were 'in the saddle' on the G. O. P. side of the chamber.

'Fool Proof' Home Television

LaFayette, Ind.—(AP)—Concentrating upon the development of the cathode ray tube as the reproducing unit, engineers of Purdue University believe they have made a stride in designing a television receiver on a "fool proof" basis for possible home use.

They have spent four years of research on the tube, which uses an electronic beam that makes itself evident in the form of a spot of light, moving at a tremendous speed. It works much like a machine gunner successively training his sights upon 60 or more rows of targets, 72 targets to the row, scoring a bull's-eye each time and doing it so fast that the human eye has the impression that he has hit thousands of targets simultaneously.

R. H. George, research associate, and his assistant, H. J. Heim, say that when the transmission of television reaches a stage somewhat comparable to the sound broadcasting of the earlier days they see no reason why a television set such as they have built cannot be developed for quantity production.

Assembled in a small cabinet about the size of an ordinary radio receiver, the device is installed merely by plugging in antenna and ground and connecting to a light socket for power. It has received successfully television images from the Purdue picture station, W9XC.

The cathode ray tube looks like an over-sized chemistry flask, and is seven inches in diameter at the large or flat end, reproducing a picture approximately six inches square. It is 18 inches long.

My Beauty Hint

BY HELEN FREEMAN (Screen Actress)

Wash the face thoroughly, then massage olive oil into the pores. Wipe off the surplus oil with cleansing tissue. In the morning cover the face with the beaten white of an egg, lying flat on the back until the egg has dried. Then scrub the face gently with a small piece of ice dipped in salt. Your face is then smooth and firm and ready for a powder base.

Sluggish Feeling Gone And Pains Relieved After Use of Cardui

"A few years ago, my health wasn't good, and I suffered from cramping," writes Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas. "My pain would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me."

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Already the German star is buying farewell presents, such as the star ruby ring, set with diamonds, she presented her hairdresser, all generous gifts. As soon as her present film is completed she will leave for Berlin.

In her dressing room the other day, wearing an orange silk dressing robe in vivid contrast to the mannish garments she ordinarily wears for comfort, Marlene spoke of the future.

"I will go to Germany to see my people and to rest," she said. "I will go to Paris to see my husband. After that I don't know. I have had offers, but I have signed no contract."

Offers have come from both stage and screen, from Hollywood, New York, London, Berlin, Paris, Vienna—many offers.

Marlene makes no secret of the fact that she is none too fond of Hollywood, although she admits that as a place to work it is ideal. But little Marai, her daughter—"The child loves Hollywood," said Marlene. "And she has been very well here. It will be hard to take her away."

"I have not been happy in Hollywood," she said, the famous Dietrich eyes and gesturing hands coming into play. "The first year I was very lonesome. After the child came over it was better, but I am still not happy. It is not home."

"It is two years since I have seen my mother, my friends. Two years since I have breathed the air of Europe, of Germany."

"Yes, it is lovely here, but I am weary of it. One from Hollywood who was in Germany would want to come home to Hollywood, would she not?"

Josef von Sternberg, her directorial tutor, was on his way to Hollywood from Europe at the time. Marlene "could not say" whether they would make pictures together again but intimated they might.

Oregon's half million tourist visitors last year had an average stay in the State of 10.8 days.

Hollywood Styles Hint of Easter

Hollywood—(AP)—Some of the fashions that the film stars are favoring as Easter draws near go to extremes—graceful extremes, fortunately, in most instances.

Claudette Colbert chose a street suit of heavy white crepe. The sleeves are short and puffed and the jacket is the tuxedo type.

Gloves having gone gay, are just the thing for contrast with a white suit. She has them in plaid, dotted and striped materials.

Then take braid, for instance. An excellent example of its use in the modern manner is found in a navy blue dress of sheer wool worn by Frances Dee. Twisted white silk braid, about one and one-half inches wide, circles the arm holes and cuffs of the frock.

The white is repeated in a collar of soufflé de sois and as a facing for the open, cape-like peaks of the upper sleeves. A white bone buckle is used on the belt.

Somewhat different, but braided, is the street dress Minna Gombel wears in a current picture. The material is navy blue silk crepe cut with the new straight lines. Nothing happens to the skirt, not even a pleat.

The main interest in the dress centers at the top, a fact that is true of nearly all the new styles. The huge shawl collar, of the same material as the rest of the dress, is banded in rows of white silk braid and the same tripping forms the cuffs.

Ruby Keeler was one of the first to introduce a new fad. Over an evening gown of black crepe with extreme décolletage, she wears an old fashioned feather boa of pure white—but the feathers are made of organdie. From a distance these feathers look like the coq feathers so popular during the winter season.

Severe costumes, tailored by men are gaining popularity, but so are quaint little afternoon gowns.

As for hats—there's the advice of Adrian, the Hollywood designer, who recommends the "conscious hat"—that is what he calls the cap with a definite idea—and declares that this type of headgear calls for a simple costume to set it off properly.

The WORLD OF STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

One commemorates the fifteenth anniversary of the red army, observed on February 23. Each of its seven values is divided, the left side showing a branch of the army as it was in 1918; the right, as it is now.

The 3 kopek is devoted to the infantry, 5k cavalry, 10k artillery, 15k tanks, 20k aviation, 30k navy and 35k instructional department.

The other, to be issued in April in celebration of the tenth anniversary of civil aviation and airmail, consists of five airmail values 5, 10, 20, 50 and 80 kopek.

The designs for the first four show an airplane flying over some Soviet development; the airplane in the fifth hovers over a section of the arctic.

Many countries surcharge stamps to be used by government officials and departments. The practice enables the budget director, or whoever is in charge of such matters, to learn just how much postage each agency uses. At the same time it permits franked letters to be mailed abroad, something that cannot be done under the United States system.

The 1931 Indo-China issue has been surcharged "Service" and the Paupuan 1932 issue "O. S."

LOCALS LOSE TO NEW BERN

New Bern high school's crack baseball team defeated the Greenville team yesterday afternoon in New Bern by a 4-1 score.

Neither team was able to score until the fifth inning when Greenville got their only run on the game...

All of New Bern's runs came in the sixth inning when Smith momentarily lost control to fill the bases on a hit and two hit batsmen.

New Bern's Taylor pitched a nice game allowing only two scratch hits while Smith was touched for 5.

The two teams will play here Friday afternoon.

CONTINUES LECTURES

(Continued from page one) did they appreciate the force of His prophecy. What made it seem more impossible, what made it harder to bear, was that they were innocent victims of expediency.

There are too many "ifs" involved to figure the Giants in the first division groups. Whereas the Cardinals have enough pitching class alone, regardless of other problems, to keep them in the running...

Yankees Odds-On Kearney's latest quotations on the American League, with the Yankees as odds-on choices to repeat at 1 to 2, are more consistent with the spring outlook.

Washington's chances are figured at 2 1/2 to 1, with Philadelphia 3 to 1, Cleveland 8 to 1, Chicago, and Detroit each 20 to 1. St. Louis and Boston each 100 to 1.

If there are any criticisms here, they come from the backers of the White Sox, who would hardly give even money on their chances of the Sox finishing higher than the Tigers.

New York Cotton

New York, April 5.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to two points lower with disappointing Liverpool cables and foreign selling offset by trade buying.

Offerings were promptly taken by trade and commission house buying and the continent bought some cotton here during the early trading. This demand was sufficient to give the market a steady undertone and hold prices at yesterday's closing during the first half hour.

Offerings were off after the close of the English market and prices worked up to 6.40 for May and 6.77 for October with the market at midday showing advances of two to four points.

Stock Market

New York, April 5.—(AP)—A broad advance developed today in the stock market extending from the final dealing of the previous session. The forward movement embraced most of the groups as trading quickened moderately.

By early afternoon many issues were up one to three points. The movement was regarded both as a technical correction of over-sold condition of the market and as a reflection of encouraging mid-week business statistics.

Advances of two to three points were registered by American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Corn Products, Santa Fe, American Tobacco, Consolidated Gas, U. S. Steel, American Can, Case, Sears, Jubilee Service of New Jersey, Liggett and Myers, National Distillers, National Biscuit, and others.

What's the Value of a TRADE-MARK? Today the Chesterfield trade-mark is very valuable. Back of it is the good will of thousands—perhaps hundreds of thousands—of smokers. Chesterfield cigarettes were first manufactured more than twenty-five years ago. At the start, they were sold at a loss, but the quantity sold increased steadily from year to year, until now Chesterfields are sold in great volume at a very small percentage of profit. The Chesterfield trade-mark, as indicated above, is registered in the United States Patent Office. This means that the United States Government says that only Chesterfield may use this trade-mark for cigarettes. This is not only for our protection, but for yours as well, because what the Chesterfield trade-mark really means is that you and all Chesterfield smokers will get Chesterfields manufactured under the same formula, by the same people, and in all respects absolutely the same, in every package you buy, year in and year out. Wherever you buy them, in this or in any other country, you can depend upon the Chesterfield trade-mark. They're Milder... They Taste Better — Chesterfield
