ROOSEVELT TO CONTINUE WAR DEBT DISCUSSIONS

President And Herriot Agree To Resume Talks In Paris And At Capital

BOTH LEADERS PLEASED WITH CONVERSATION

Joint Statement Said They Had 'Frank and Friendly' Views On Controversial Issues; Think Talks Will Help In Steps To Be Taken Hereafter; President Completes Work On Tariff Bill

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and M. Herriot of France announced today that the war debt discussion would be continued in Paris and in Washington.

They announced a "frank and friendly" exchange of views that had been held on controversial issues and expressed belief the talks "will undoubtedly help in determining the steps to be taken hereafter."

The joint statement was issued as they met for the final conference before the former Premier of France was to head home early this afternoon. It was said.

"The President had discussed with M. Herriot the problem of inter-governmental debts.

"The President has set forth the entire situation from the American point of view and M. Herriot explained how the problem appeared to the French government and Parliament.

"This exchange of views which was one of the most frank and friendly character was for the purpose of reaching a clear understanding of realities of the situation and will undoubtedly help in determining the steps to be taken hereafter."

"It is the hope of the President and M. Herriot that these conversations which have proved to be of value may be continued in Paris and in Washington after M. Herriot has had an opportunity to report to the French government."

Meanwhile, it became known that the President has virtually completed work on the bill to empower him to negotiate reciprocal tariff in which protection rates of this country will be lowered to facilitate foreign trade.

DRAFT PLANS FOR LEAGUE

Baseball Enthusiasts Take Initial Steps at Meeting in Kinston Last Night

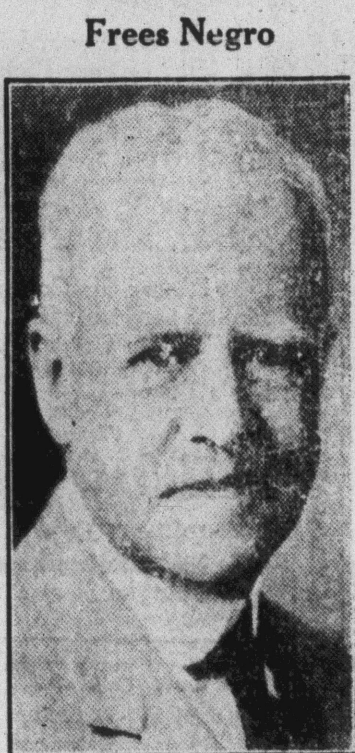

Plans looking to the formation of a league composed of towns of this section of the State were decided upon at a meeting of baseball enthusiasts in Kinston last night.

The meeting was attended by G. V. Smith, A. A. Ewanger, Berry Bostie and R. L. Powell, of Greenville, who are using their influence for greenery participation in the circuit.

The Kinston gathering resolved to hold the next meeting in Ayden May 11 at which time more definite plans looking to actual participation of the various towns will be decided upon.

At a meeting here several nights ago action was taken looking to Greenville's participation in the circuit. Efforts are under way at this time to provide sufficient money to put the team on the field and a report of activities in this connection was expected to be made in the next several days.

It was believed that baseball would do much toward breaking the monotony of summer months in this part of the State, and those who realize the possibilities of the national pastime, are making every effort to put the league across.

STRICKLAND IS SENTENCED

Farmville Community Man Given Eight Months on Roads in Criminal Court

David Strickland, young farmer of the Farmville community, who was convicted of involuntary manslaughter and reckless driving in Wednesday's session of criminal court, was sentenced to eight months on the road by Judge Henry A. Grady of Clinton, presiding over the final session of the court here yesterday.

The sentence, however, will not become effective until November so that Strickland may have time to harvest his crops. His bond was fixed at $300.

The case grew out of an automobile driven by Strickland colliding with a cart occupied by George House, negro, on the Greenville-Bethel road during first of December last year. The impact was so great that House was thrown to the pavement and his skull crushed. He was killed almost instantly.

Strickland was arrested, given preliminary hearing and bound over to this term of criminal court. Officers said he had been operating the car in a reckless and careless manner while under the influence of whiskey.

One case was disposed of during the final sitting of court it being that of Pos Taft, charged with hitting another negro and injuring him. The jury reported it could not reach a decision in the case and Judge Grady ordered no pros.

Baltimore Hears Of Roosevelt's Summer Cruise

Baltimore, Md., April 28.—(AP)—Meagre plans for a trip President Roosevelt will take aboard the cruiser Indianapolis were disclosed here today in a letter received by Mayor Howard Jackson.

An inquiry from Walter Vernon, naval aide to the President, was relayed to the mayor by Commandant Walcott Hall, U. C. N., in charge of the Indianapolis at Baltimore. Washington, D. C., April 28.—(AP)—Unprepared to go into President Roosevelt's summer plans, the White House today declined to discuss inquiries addressed to Mayor Jackson, of Baltimore, regarding the use of that port by the cruiser Indianapolis during a projected cruise by the Chief Executive.

JUDGE FAILS TO COMMENT ON JURY PROBE

Grady Closes Criminal Session After Disposing of Heavy Docket

Criminal court closed here yesterday without Judge Henry A. Grady Clinton, making any comment on the grand jury report presented the day before disclosing a widespread investigation of affairs of the county.

It was expected by some that the jurist would comment on the jury's sharp criticism of the auditing system for the last year, but they were not gratified, for court came to a close without Judge Grady making the slightest reference to the report.

When the report was presented by B. B. Sugg, foreman of the grand jury, Judge Grady accepted it and laid it aside with the statement he would give it due consideration. Since he failed to comment it was presumed he thought the jury's presentation of conditions was sufficiently complete and did not call for action of the court.

Records showed that approximately 130 cases were disposed of during the two weeks' sitting of court. Several of the actions were important and had been hanging fire for some time, especially the murder and whiskey charges against T. H. Barnhill, aged Bethel farmer, who was given his liberty by the court through non-pros action. Barnhill was charged with the slaying of his wife, Jesse Barnhill. The case had previously been postponed twice because of insufficient evidence, and this condition resulted in throwing the charges out of court.

This was the last session of criminal court until August although two or three terms of civil court will be held during the intervening time.

The docket for this term was virtually cleaned up, just a few minor matters being left for consideration at the next term. Court made remarkable progress considering the number of cases handled from day to day, and officials were highly pleased with the great dent made into the docket.

JUDGE BEATEN BY FARMERS

National Guards Sent To Iowa Town After Disturbance There Yesterday

Des Moines, Iowa, April 28.—(AP)—Governor Clyde Herring today mustered a battalion of Iowa National Guards for service at Le Mars, scene of a disturbance yesterday in which a district judge was beaten and threatened with hanging.

Le Mars, Iowa, April 28.—(AP)—Dragged from his bench, abducted and mistreated by belligerent farmers warring against farm foreclosures, sixty-year-old Judge Charles C. Bradley was recovering from the effects of his experience today while hints came from State officials that alleged laxity in law enforcement in the affected territory would be investigated.

HENDERSON BEGGAR IS FOUND WELL HEELED

Charleston, S. C., April 28.—(AP)—The short and long of it was that Jesse Short was too long on money when arrested here for panhandling. Officers took him in custody on the streets and finger-printed him. They said his record was that of many arrests in more than a dozen years for begging. Police searched him and found $33.15. They made him pay a fine after a short lecture, took him beyond the city limits and told him to stay "long gone."

BANNER NIGHT FOR REVIVAL HERE TONIGHT

Church Organizations Sponsoring Service At Memorial Baptist Revival

Tonight will be a banner night in the series of revival services which opened at Memorial Baptist Church last Monday evening when the service will be sponsored by members of the Sunday school, B. Y. P. U. and other organizations of the church.

An effort has been made to pack the church to overflowing at this service and if interest manifested since announcement of the special service is to be taken as an index, then every ambition in this connection will be realized.

Probably the largest crowd of the week attended the service last night and much interest was manifested in the inspirational song service and the plain, common-sense sermon delivered by Rev. Louis S. Gaines, of Raleigh, on the subject, "Tenting on the Road to Sodom."

Another good crowd was present at the morning service today, and heard the minister deliver a short but forceful sermon on "Propaganda," or the propagation of the Christian faith.

One of the features of the song service last night was a solo by W. W. Lee, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. J. L. Fleming. Special music has been provided for each service and congregational singing was expected to increase in impressiveness each day.

Painting a graphic picture of the separation of Lot and Abram and the different paths they took in life, the minister declared salvation is not "attained" but "obtained" through yielding and coming into the presence of Jesus and being filled with His fullness.

His text was taken from the 13th chapter of Genesis, and the third verse of the second chapter of Second Peter.

He said his subject was important to the present day because of its economic significance, Lot and Abram having left their former home because their herds had outgrown it and strife prevailed among the herdsmen.

Abram gave Lot the privilege of choosing in what direction he would go, and he decided upon the plains in the vicinity of Sodom and Gomorrah, at that time the most wicked places in the world. The speaker held up Abram and Lot as separate types of Christian men. He said Lot was the carnal-minded type, avaricious, greedy and weak in the faith. Abram was defined as a spiritual Christian, unselfish and strong in the faith. (Continued on Page Four)

BATTLE OVER SALES TAX IN A NEW PHASE

Indications Are That Measure Will Be Returned To House By Saturday

Raleigh, N. C., April 28.—(AP)—The battle over a general sales tax for North Carolina entered a new phase today following the Senate action increasing the rate contained in the House bill from two to three per cent and passing the biennial revenue bill on first reading.

The bill was expected to be ready for a return to the House by Saturday when the lower body's expected failure to concur in the amendments would send it to conference for compromise.

Meanwhile, the question of the off-recurring prohibition bill was again before the House which was expected to vote today on the Murphy bill calling a special election for November 6 to determine sentiment for the proposal for repeal of national prohibition.

Senate action on the revenue bill followed defeat administered those who sought to escape the sales tax. The proposal for a selected commodity tax and a production tax met defeat yesterday. Final adoption of the sales tax section was by a vote of 25 to 22.

DANVILLE'S MAYOR 31 YEARS IN SERVICE

Danville, Va., April 28.—(AP)—Mayor Harry Wooding had very little time today to attend to this official duties.

It was his 39th birthday, and although he was in his office as usual, he spent most of the morning shaking hands with members of the city's official family and answering the telephone calls of citizens well-wishers.

TRAIN WRECKS NEAR RALEIGH

Southern 'Special' Derailed and Fire Also Threatens To Destroy Cars

Raleigh, N. C., April 28.—(AP)—A Southern Railway "special" freight train was derailed near Morrisville, eighteen miles west of Raleigh this morning, and flames which broke out threatened to destroy ten to fifteen cars of the twenty-five cars which left the track.

Details concerning the wreck were meagre, attaches of the local office of the railroad said. It was reported that nobody was hurt.

American Makes His First Trip To Russia Since World War Activities

Moscow, April 28.—(AP)—Colonel Raymond Robbins arrived in Moscow today in his first visit to Russia since the revolt which he witnessed in his capacity as American Red Cross representative when his contact with Lenin and Trotsky was intimate.

Disavowing any political or economic mission, Colonel Robbins said he came to look around. "I saw this thing started and I want to see what is going on now," he explained. Robbins was last in the news in connection with his disappearance while on the way to the White House in September, 1932, to visit President Roosevelt. The following morning he was found in the mountains of Western North Carolina. The explanation for his disappearance was that he had suffered from amnesia.

CLUB TO VISIT GRIMESLAND

Kiwanians To Stage Agricultural Program at Pitt Town Tonight

The first out of the city meeting of the Kiwanis Club will be held in the high school auditorium at Grimesland tonight at 6:45 o'clock and all members of the club were urged to attend.

The meeting is of special significance because it will be confined to discussion of agricultural problems and prominent agriculturalists and business men of that community have been invited to be guests of the club.

The program will be in charge of the agricultural committee, composed of G. V. Smith, chairman; Clayton and Charlie Harvey.

Although the name of the chief speaker had not been announced it was assured that someone well acquainted with the national situation would cover the subject in a comprehensive way.

The program is one of several planned for the year in the interest of agriculture and the club hopes to play an important part in helping lift this phase of industry out of dumps and putting it back on a higher plane.

A similar meeting was held in Grimesland last year. It was largely attended and much interest was manifested in consideration of the farm problem.

JAPS DRAW NEAR PEIPING

Troops Capture Nantienmen After Hardest Fighting of Present Campaign

Peiping, April 28.—(APP)—The Japanese occupied Nantienmen between Peiping and the Great Wall of China after a day of hard fighting, the Japanese legation announced tonight.

Tientsin, April 28.—(AP)—Japanese reinforcements being rushed in to battle lines north of Peiping today increased apprehension for that ancient Chinese capital with its large foreign population.

The action of the Japanese command apparently explained the swift withdrawal of troops in the coastal region of the Shi River north of Chinwangtao.

Chinese leaders at first attributed the retreat of the Japanese in the theater north of China to threatening trouble between Japan and Russia as result of the dispute over the operation of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Now it appears that the Japanese are concentrating their attack in the western zone in order to break up stubborn Chinese resistance which has stood firm during a week of the hardest fighting this year.

YEGGMEN GET $200 FROM BANK OF CLYDE

Clyde, April 28.—(AP)—Police today searched for yeggs who broke into the Junaluska Supply Company at Lake Junaluska, stole an automobile, then burned open the safe of the Bank of Clyde and fled with $200 in silver.

The robberies occurred early yesterday and, to avoid a possible report of their actions, the robbers cut telephone wire between Asheville and Waynesville but these were quickly repaired.

Late News Flashes

Today In The Legislature

Raleigh, April 28.—(AP)—The Senate this afternoon voted 33 to 16 to exempt meat, milk, flour, meal and sugar from the three per cent sales tax in the biennial revenue bill.

Raleigh, April 28.—(AP)—Franchise tax rates in the biennial revenue bill today were boosted to the figures voted by the House as the Senate adopted a series of amendments and sent the measure back to first reading.

Raleigh, April 28.—(AP)—The Senate this afternoon voted 36 to 12 to increase franchise taxes on corporations, manufacturing and distributors of electricity in North Carolina from 5-1-2 to 6 per cent of the gross revenue.

The action sent the biennial bill back to first reading as it increased the tax rate.

Senator Blalock of Buncombe offered the amendment later to apply to all public utilities corporations.

The proposal of Senator Moore of Craven to place a commodities tax in the act leaving the high rate on certain selected items was defeated 31 to 17.

Raleigh, April 28.—(AP)—The House passed the substitute bill creating one job to replace the present two offices of state game warden and commissioner of inland fisheries and also passed the substitute bill which divides the state (Continued from Page One)

BRITISH ARMS PLAN UPHELD AT GENEVA

Norman Davis Tells Disarmament Conference America Will Oppose Any Effort to Weaken British Draft of Arms Convention; Government Looks Upon Plan as First Step Toward Disarmament.

Geneva, April 28.—(AP)—The United States dramatically allied herself with Great Britain today at the World Disarmament Conference when Norman Davis, American Ambassador at large, announced the American delegation would oppose any attempt to weaken the draft arms convention by the British.

The American Ambassador at large said he regarded the British draft treaty as a valuable contribution and a definite step toward limitation of armaments.

He added that the United States looked upon it merely as the first step in disarmament, indicating that others must follow until armaments are brought down to a lower level.

"The plan does not go so far in limiting armed forces as we would have," Davis advised.

"Nevertheless, we felt our effort should be concerned with adopting the plan as a whole without modification which would jeopardize it."

ALDERMEN TO TALK 'BEER'

Regulatory Features To Be Considered by City Fathers Sometime Saturday

With the regulatory provisions of the beer and wine act completed by the North Carolina legislature, members of the Board of Aldermen will meet sometime tomorrow to go over the legislation and consider applications of local firms for permission to handle the beverages.

Records in the office of the city clerk showed that fifteen applications had been made by local firms desiring to handle beer and wines as provided through an act of the legislature several weeks ago.

One of the applications was made by a wholesale firm and the remainder by retail places of business.

Although newspaper reports of the regulatory act came out this morning, Mayor Planagan indicated today the aldermen would not meet to consider the question until they had received a copy of the law from county representatives in the legislature.

It had not been decided whether the meeting would be held tonight or tomorrow, but it was stated the matter would be passed upon before tomorrow night so that dealers would be ready to do business when the legislation becomes effective at midnight Sunday.

Just how many places will handle legalized beer in Greenville was not known. The applications on file at the office of the city clerk cannot be taken as a true indication of the activity of dealers as numbers were expected to file immediately after the law becomes effective.

The majority of them were believed to still be pursuing the attitude of "watchful waiting" and will not act until they know exactly what the legislation is going to require of them and especially how much money must be invested for licenses. The regulation as passed by the legislature follows: Who may sell: Any resident at least 21 years old who never has been convicted of a felony involving moral turpitude or been adjudged guilty of prohibition law violation within the last two years. Where: Any store, hotel, cafe, (Continued on Page Four)

It is gratifying to note that Senator Corey was numbered among those in the Senate who voted against the general sales tax. We believe that by so voting Senator Corey has expressed the wishes of the great majority of the people of this county and we take this opportunity to congratulate him on his stand.

The Community Fair and Exposition will get under way here Monday night and will continue throughout the week. A good time is promised all those who attend and a cordial invitation is extended to the people of this section to visit our city next week and help us enjoy this festive occasion.

Greenville is to have a city election Monday without a single contest which is certainly a great endorsement for those men now in office. Not having to contend with a political campaign at this time is likewise a great relief to our citizens. Now if there was some way that we could just certify the election of these officials without having to go to the expense of keeping the polls open Monday everything would be O. K.

Our first comment upon the report of the Grand Jury is with reference to the slot machines. We have long advocated the ridding our community of these machines and are pleased that definite action along this line is now under way. It is noted however, that only a small number of warrants have been issued. If the authorities are going after these slot machines let us hope that they will make a complete job of it. The number of names published yesterday represent only a small part of the slot machine operators in this county.

ANSON COUNTY MAN GETS THREE-YEAR TERM

Wadesboro, N. C., April 28—Walter Gathings, well known young Anson County farmer, was today sentenced to three years in the Anson County prison camp, a jury last night having found him guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of his nephew, Stewart Ratliff, last October.

Gathings was first sentenced to three years in State's Prison, but at the request of the defendant, Judge Harding changed the sentence to the prison camp. The defense gave notice of appeal, and bond was fixed at $5,000. The bond has not been given, and it is not certain that the appeal will be perfected.

The White Cockatoo by Mignon G. Eberhart

SYNOPSIS: Sue ally, Jim Sundeau and the Detective David Lorn have gone thoroughly into the tragedy. They believed that the murderer of the Russian in the corridor of their hotel, the five shots fired at Sundeau in the court, and Sue's abduction all relate to an attempt to secure the token by means of which Sue will claim her share of her father's estate. But none knows how. Lorn and Sue at last leave Sundeau drowning in his room. The sound of a movement close by wakens him.

Chapter 23

THE SILENT PRIEST

I got up on my elbow and peered toward the door, and finally rose silently and went to it. The table which I had again placed before it was undisturbed.

"Mice," I told myself. "In the walls. The place is full of them, probably. And went back to bed. But not this time to sleep. Among several other things I determined to get a few quiet words with Marcel in the morning.

I should also remember to ask Lovschiem for a key to my room. After all, keys existed, and I myself intended to make no casual matter of it.

There was something decidedly unpleasant about that deserted wing, and now that the wind had gone down, I particularly disliked the way various creaks and small mysterious rustles came to life.

With dawn I fell asleep again and woke late to a gray and troublous day.

When Marcel brought my coffee and some very hard rolls I began: "Marcel, you know, of course, that I'm in rather a bad fix about this murder?"

Oh, yes he knew. "Well, it develops that it is of the utmost importance to both Miss Tally and me to discover everything possible about the murder. I myself am in some danger of being hanged for it—or guillotined or whatever they do—and Miss Tally—"

"Miss Tally is in danger, also," finished Marcel quickly, his eyes snapping. "Me, I know that."

"Well, then," I said slowly, "I won't press you, Marcel, but I want you to think it over. Miss Tally says you have been very kind to her—perhaps for a time you consider the matter for a time you may—recall something you've seen or heard that will help us discover the real murderer."

He nodded soberly. "You know, then, that I didn't do it?"

I had gone too far. "Monsieur is not a criminal," said Marcel. "I cannot say more—but I will think. It is possible—perhaps, Monsieur would like his bath now?"

And after running the tub full of almost lukewarm water he left abruptly. There was about his departure a suggestion of escape, and I could only hope that his liking for Sue Tally would work in our favor. I wanted to help Sue, of course, but at the same time there's no use denying that I wanted quite as much to help myself.

The hotel had been deserted when I first came down in the morning; only Pucci cocked a suspicious eye toward me as I went through the lobby. But when I returned from my walk Madame Grethe was at the desk—her eyes looked very green and knowing, and she smiled secretively as she spoke to me—and Mrs. Byng and the priest were sitting in the lounge. Mrs. Byng was knitting furiously on some enormous garment.

The place was silent except for the priest's newspaper rustling now and then and Mrs. Byng's needles clicking. I looked up; the skylight was gray and the encircling galleries were empty and bare and the doors blank. It was not, to say the least, a cheerful spot, and it was rather appalling to think that we'd all got to stay there until the police gave us permission to leave.

I sat down fairly near the priest. I got out my cigarettes; Pucci transferred his attention to the watch on my wrist.

"I'm sorry," I said, across the obvious barrier of the newspaper. "But—may I have a match?"

Mrs. Byng's needles clicked, and she gave me a sharp look, and her equine nose lifted a little as if it sniffed battle. The priest's newspaper rustled reluctantly as he shifted it to one hand. The flaming radiance of his beard came into view, he reached for the box of matches lying before him on the small table and passed it over to me.

"Thanks," I murmured, lit my cigarette, and as he immersed himself in the newspaper at once, I persisted: "You speak English, then?"

He gave me a morose look from the edge of the newspaper. "Yes," he said flatly and disappeared again. Mrs. Byng's needles clicked violently.

"Traveling?" I remarked in a touristy approach. "No." This time he did not even glance around the newspaper.

"English, are you?" He looked at me fully this time. His face was not old, but it was lined; his eyes were a light yellow-gray, and around his mouth the hairs of red beard grew thin, and you felt a sort of distaste looking at it.

"No," he said sharply. "French." He stared at me a moment and then added: "If you must know, I've spent two years in America and I'm here for my health. I also speak French and Italian. And I can read Latin."

valuable in Europe. Twelve days after Roosevelt entered the White House he announced that Davis would be retained in his administration.

His official title is that of chairman of this country's disarmament delegation at Geneva, with the rank of ambassador abroad. He also served as a member of the organizing committee of the world economic conference to be held later this year.

It is in the latter capacity that he figures in the coming Washington conversations. He made the contacts for President Roosevelt and played a large part in inducing these world figures to cross the Atlantic.

Davis has been doing this sort of thing since the administration of Woodrow Wilson.

Those who know him intimately say that his southern drawl, friendly spirit and manner, inspire confidence with foreign statesmen. He has a way of imparting information that makes diplomats feel they profit by his visit. Foreigners seem to feel that they can talk to him freely and in return receive frank replies.

Hard jobs inspire him, his friends say. He is working nearly all the time, never seeming to rest. The more complicated the task, the more energy he appears to throw into it.

Where Is Cooper? What's He Doing? Ask Jack Moss

By ROBBIN COOBS Hollywood, Calif.—It is an odd, if steady job, that Jack Moss has in the Hollywood merry-go-round.

Officially, he is Gary Cooper's secretary and personal manager. In addition, he is the film star's "second self" and watchman of his time. The lean Montanan, being under contract to a studio, has no need for an outside agent to wrangle for him over terms for each picture, but Jack Moss is around when Gary is given new stories to consider.

It is Jack who pays his bills and sees that important fan mail is answered and who generally serves as a buffer between the star and that rapacious part of his public which believes any movie celebrity is easily worked.

Schedule Keeper Every star has appointments of one kind or another every day, and a mind filled with characters and dialogue is none too apt to remember them. Jack checks on these engagements, arranges an hour suitable to both Gary and the other party, and sees that Gary is on the spot at the appointed time, ready for interview or conference or dental treatment or whatever it is that must be done.

But such formal duties do not end Jack's—nor any stellar secretary's—list of services. Does Gary's pet chimpanzee need medical attention? Is one of his dogs ailing this morning? Will Mr. Cooper be home for dinner tonight, and how many guests will he bring? It's Jack the butler calls.

All that is needed to loose a horde of would-be Cooper chauffeurs upon Jack is for Gary to appear driving himself, as he often does. Immediately the word flies around that Gary has fired his driver and is in the market for another. It's Jack who meets and deals with them.

Cupid in a Zoo Jesse L. Lasky's first production to be released through Fox is "Zoo in Budapest," and it is a picture in which Lee Garmes' photography, William Darling's art direction, and Louis de Francesco's musical direction are outstanding.

The zoo is the beautifully photographed background for the romance of Gene Raymond, animal-loving zoo habitue, and Loretta Young, runaway orphan girl, with little Wally Albright a third fugitive as a child who hides in the zoo at night and is lost. There is an excitingly destructive climax with animals on a rampage.

How's Your Health THE COLON The colon has been facetiously called "the battle-field of medicine."

About this anatomic structure there has raged much dispute. In an effort to remedy certain of the maladies to which the colon is subject, surgeons have devised numerous operations.

By the lay person the colon is drowned in gallons of water and abused by a variety of irritating drugs. Fortunately, the colon has great powers of recovery. Nevertheless, it does not suffer without protest, nor yet without at times becoming subject to serious functional disorders.

Among the most common of these functional disorders are colonic delay or constipation, irritable colon, including nervous diarrhea, spastic colon, mucous colitis or catarrh of the colon, and muco-membranous colitis.

When a patient is troubled with his colon, it is important that he establish that his difficulty is of a functional order and is not due to organic disease. This, of course, can be determined for him by a careful medical investigation.

Assuming that the difficulty is of a functional nature, the patient must co-operate with his physician in the treatment, which, apart from medical and dietetic prescriptions, includes certain general procedures.

The nervous element being prominent in such difficulties, the patient must cease to be unduly alarmed about his colon. He must avoid using laxatives or purges, except those which are specifically prescribed for him.

The patient requires regular rest, as well as an adequate amount of exercise. In certain severe cases, it may be necessary to remove the patient for a long period from the surroundings in which the derangement arose. Freak diets must be avoided.

Time is the very essence of treatment in colon difficulties. One may not with warrant expect to remedy such a condition overnight.

Cadet Major and Mrs. D. Murray House of this city will assist in leading the military figure at the Military Ball in Raleigh this evening.

The ball, one of the most brilliant social functions of the spring season at North Carolina State College, will be held this evening in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

E. C. T. C. TAKES PART IN TEXTILE EXPOSITION

Twelve students from East Carolina Teachers College entered the contest in the college style show that was held at State College yesterday in connection with the Textile Exposition. Five of them returned with prizes, although Meredith captured the "grand prize."

Each contestant wore a costume designed and made by herself. The materials were furnished by State College and were designed and made by students of the textile school. Five prizes were offered to each college group. The winners from E. C. T. C. and what they wore were as follows:

Miss Clara Vann Freeman, wearing a sport coat of grey with red accessories, won first place; Miss Christine Nelson, who wore beach pajamas, won second; Miss Hilda Barnhill attired in a blue sport suit, came third; Miss Rachel Stone, also wearing beach pajamas, came fourth, and Miss Evelyn Smith wearing a tennis dress, received fifth place.

The others from here were Misses Mildred Dixon, Mildred Horton, Margaret Smith, Ellen Jenkins, Margaret Matthews, Pennie Keel Lang, and Katherine Blalock.

Miss Katherine Holtzclaw, teacher of clothing, accompanied the girls. They went up in private cars some with Miss Holtzclaw, and the others with Misses Charleston and Mary Lea Smith of the college, and Mrs. A. B. Corey of Greenville.

The costumes were shown at the college early in the week at the assembly hour. On next Wednesday evening at the Community Fair the girls will give their own style show so that the people here can see what attractive costumes can be made from inexpensive material.

COMMUNITY FAIR AND SPRING FESTIVAL TO OPEN HERE MONDAY NIGHT

The Community Fair and Spring Festival will be held in the largest warehouse in Greenville, the Star. The house is profusely decorated with festooning, Japanese lanterns, and flags. A large stage has been built with all the necessary scenic and lighting effects. A spacious ball room has been set apart for dancing each night. Attractive booths are being arranged by all the civic and patriotic organizations of Greenville. The Garden Club will feature its Spring Flower Show. East Carolina Teachers College will have a most attractive and interesting display. The Home Demonstration and 4-H Clubs, Sheppard Memorial Library, Parent-Teacher Associations and other similar organizations will have attractive exhibits. Local merchants will have displays showing the best and newest in their respective lines. There are other booths and displays, too—you will want to see them.

For the entertainment each night the country has been scoured for the very highest class talent and the committee feels sure that the series of programs will be the best ever staged in Greenville. Special singers, Charol Club, dancers and prominent speakers will be featured. Mrs. Lily Morehead Mebane will be presented on the opening night. In addition there will be professional vaudeville acts each night of the very highest caliber, including the Shooting Mansfields, the peer of all shooting acts; Three Scotch Macks, doing songs and dances of Scotland and musical numbers played on the Scotch instruments, including the bagpipes.

The Carolina Syncopators and Kiddie Revue, an act of music and specialty dancers; Herndon Slicer, nationally known singer and pianist. Mr. Slicer is one of the foremost entertainers of the country, having made Vitaphone acts for Warner Brothers and at present broadcasts.

An entirely new program will be given each evening. A beautiful Fashion Show will be staged, the Queen of Health of Pitt County will be crowned during the week. Dr. James F. Parrott, state secretary of health, will crown the queen. E. C. T. C. students will give numbers on the various programs during the entire week and will model garments, the material of which was made at State College, and the garments made by the girls themselves.

There will be dancing every night from ten until one. A committee from the Junior Woman's Club, headed by Miss Clara Moye, will sponsor these dances. Music will be furnished by Jimmy Barber and his complete orchestra. A grand march led by Mrs. Lily Morehead Mebane and her escort, will be a feature on the dance on the opening night. The doors will be open each evening at 7:30 and the program will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. There will be only one matinee, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The sponsors of this event are expecting the whole-hearted cooperation of the public.

GOLF TEAM PLAYS FAYETTEVILLE TODAY

The golf team of the Greenville Country Club is playing the Fayetteville team in Fayetteville today.

May Day At Salem College. The May Day exercises at Salem College have come to be the climax of all social activities. Each year's program is different, although the main features coincide with regard to their symbolic meanings.

Miss Alice Philpott of Rocky Mount, Virginia, will be crowned queen, and Miss Wanna Mary Huggins of Leaksville, N. C., will be maid of honor at the May Day fête to be staged Saturday afternoon, April 29th, at four o'clock on the lower campus at Salem College. These girls were selected for this outstanding honor by popular vote early in the fall.

Miss Lucy James of this city will be one of the court attendants.

UNPAID TEACHERS CORNER DAWES

Five thousand militant Chicago teachers, who haven't had a pay check in 10 months, besieged big loop banks demanding help toward resumption of regular paydays. At one point they set up a call for the appearance of Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the board of one of the banks. He is shown talking to them. (Associated Press Photo)

Visiting hours are 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and 2 to 5 p. m., and at night from 7 to 9 p. m. week days. On Sundays the exhibits will be on display only in the afternoons from 2 to 5 p. m.

Capt. Nichols Tells Of Life On Whaling Ships

The story of how he ran away from home at the age of fourteen and in after years became commander of a fleet of whaling vessels, was related to the student bodies of white and colored high schools today by Captain Lew D. Nichols, who will display a monster whale at the Norfolk Southern depot Saturday and Sunday.

RURAL LETTER CARRIERS ASSOCIATION MEETS AT BATH

Bath, April 27.—The Tar River branch of the Rural Letter Carriers Association met in the school auditorium at Bath on April 21 at four o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by W. C. Chauncey, president, and all joined in singing "America," after which the invocation was given by Rev. D. E. Poole.

The address of welcome was delivered by Rev. L. B. Scarborough of Bath, and it was very much enjoyed by all.

The secretary called the roll and those present answered and gave the number of years they have been in the service.

Rev. D. E. Poole and Misses Lottie and Helen Carawan of Bath delighted the audience with several selections of special music. Mrs. S. A. Porter of Grimesland, gave an interesting talk on "Why Should We have a Ladies' Auxiliary."

Happy Days Here For Sen. Thomas As Inflation Gains

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington, D. C.—There's been a change in attitude on the part of a great many on Capitol Hill toward a tall, serious, silver-haired Senator from Oklahoma since projects of inflation of the currency have come definitely within the range of official sanction.

And Elmer Thomas of Medicine Park, Oklahoma, is happy. Senator Thomas has been campaigning for inflation for a long, long time. When he began preaching this sort of thing in the Senate, he was regarded by many of his colleagues as an economic heretic.

They weren't always kind to him, either. Dogged Persistence But he plugged on just the same. At times he seemed rather pathetic as he stood at his seat in the rear of the chamber fighting a seemingly hopeless battle.

There are those who will tell you they've never seen Elmer Thomas laugh heartily. He is deadly in earnest and matter of fact. His personal appearance is in keeping with his attitude.

Straight as an arrow, always immaculately dressed either in formal morning coat and striped trousers, or in a light, bluish gray suit, he has a stern face that attracts. He speaks slowly and distinctly, his strong voice carrying easily to the most distant parts of the chamber.

And he made Senators listen whether they chose to or not. The first session of the last Congress was ushered into history with Thomas conducting a filibuster in the Senate. Single-handedly he tied up that body until the very minute that adjournment sine die came.

Knows His Drama Yet for all his austerity and lack of humor, Thomas knows the value of the dramatic and makes use of it frequently.

Not so long ago he startled a complimentary session of the Senate by waving aloft a pair of ragged and patched overalls that he obtained from a destitute constituent. Later he donned the dirty garment and posed for photographers.

Because he wanted to get firsthand information on the bread lines in the big cities, one night he slipped quietly out of the capital and took his place in one in New York. He came back and told the Senate about it.

"I've had to fight for every single thin g I've ever gotten in the Senate," he once said.

New York Cotton

New York, April 28.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, four to nine points lower in response to lower Liverpool cables and under liquidation and selling.

Trading was active at the opening with offerings absorbed by trade buying and covering at a decline to 7.49 for July contracts, or about seven points below yesterday's final.

At the end of the first half hour July was selling at 7.53 and December at 7.88, or two to three points net lower.

Prices worked back to about yesterday's close during the middle of the morning.

At midday May was ruling around 7.46 with the general list showing declines of six to ten points.

Table with columns: Open, Close, Prev. Cl. and rows for various months (May, July, Oct, Dec, Jan, Mar) and a 'Spots' row.

Stock Market

New York, April 28.—(AP)—The stock market slid down grade today. Although the dollar had a relapse in foreign exchange dealing, the inflation plan in the stock and commodity market seemed to have waned.

While business news still was favorable, traders felt that a technical reaction should be permitted to complete itself. The list turned dull on the decline.

Rails were heavy after firmness at the start.

Issues off a point or so included Union Pacific and Southern Pacific National Steel, Liggett and Myers, Coca-Cola and United Fruit lost two and shares down one to one and a half points included American Can, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Western Union, National Biscuit, Anacosta, and others.

The midday losses were reduced somewhat in late trading.

The turnover was 1,800,000 shares.

Creation of an appointive text book commission of nine members to have authority over book adoption was voted by the House.

The new commission would replace the state board of education composed collectively of state officials.

Raleigh, April 28.—(AP)—The Senate this afternoon refused 32 to 18 to strike the three per cent sales tax from the biennial revenue bill after amending the measure to exempt certain items of foodstuff.

Reject Amendment. Washington, April 28.—(AP)—The Senate today rejected an amendment to the inflation bill to give the President the optional power to pay the bonus with the new money if the chief executive desires.

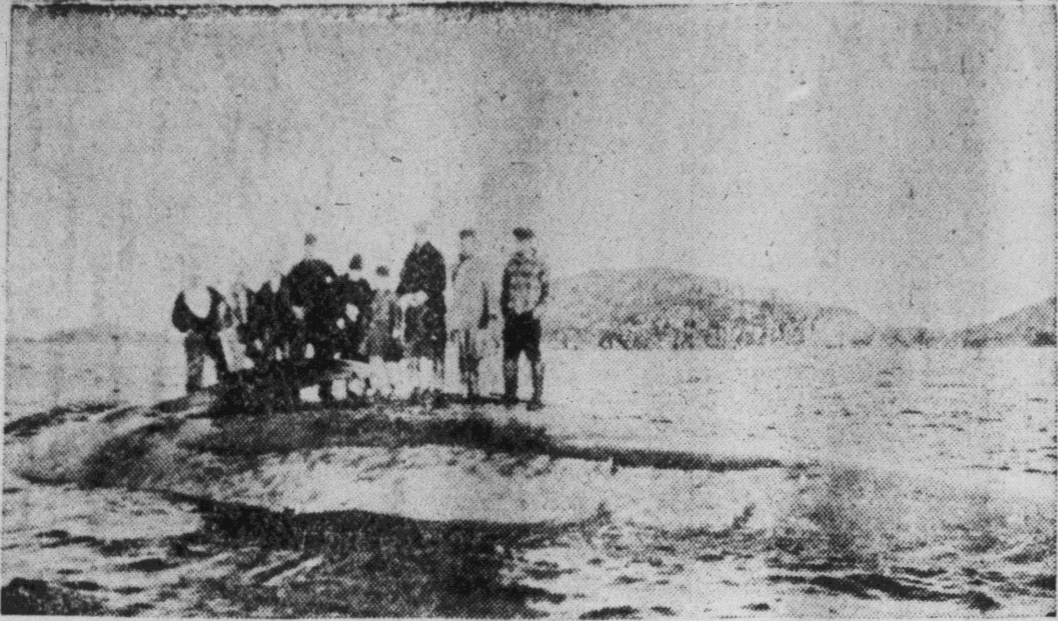

Senes Senator For Taking Wife. High Point, April 28.—(AP)—Charles Prevost, High Point textile worker today filed suit for $15,000 against State Senator Jeter Blackburn, Republican, of Wilkes county, charging alienation of affections of his wife, Jacqueline Prevost, and alleging that Senator Blackburn "shamelessly exhibited her at a famous nude party in Raleigh."

Prevost in his complaint filed in High Point municipal court said he and his wife, a former beauty parlor employe here, were married on March 26, 1932, and lived happily until Feb. 1, 1933.

In February, the complaint alleges, the defendant on various days and times and at certain hotels in the city of Raleigh and elsewhere debauched and carnally knew the said woman by means whereof the affections of the said husband were wholly alienated and destroyed.

Prevost asked $10,000 actual and $5,000 punitive damages.

Roosevelt Against Baying Bonus. Washington, D. C., April 28.—(AP)—A warning that President Roosevelt was opposed to cash payment of the bonus was made in the Senate today by Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader in advance of the pending vote on the measure.

use of their enormous supply of blubber? Do they hear and smell? Why are they near sighted? Why and when did they change from land animals to strictly sea animals? Why is its blood warm? Why are whales born alive and nursed by their mother just as we are?

Perhaps the most interesting part of a whale is the ambrigs which is the poisonous stomach. It is used in very fine perfume and a flavor in rare wines. It is the only commodity 17 times as costly as gold.

A sperm whale eats something that poisons it. It takes three years to do, and nine days afterwards the ambrigs is washed shoreward.

missing the mark. The direction one takes is highly important. It is either getting ready to be godly or sending out into the world a stream of influence that proves hurtful and injurious to others.

He urged his hearers to be sure of the direction they take, to avoid being influenced by the sight of the eyes, and to let the spiritual and not the material dominate their lives.

The minister presented an excellent message this morning upon the topic, "Propaganda."

The thought of the congregation was directed to the task of propagation of the Christian faith in the world, and the means constituted and instituted for that purpose.

Three brief passages of Scripture were read from the book of Acts emphasizing this subject, Acts 1:8, 9:1-4, Romans 1:8-17. He then directed attention to the three "I am's" of the Apostle. First, I am debtor. The consciousness that we are debtors, that we never fully discharge, we are bound to share the gospel with others because of the preciousness of the Lord Jesus to us.

Two great commands, namely, "Come and Go." Come to Christ for salvation and go with His message to the world. Next, I am ready to preach. We must know the message of God to the lost world. We must have had an experience of grace in order to communicate it to others. Enter into the responsibility of personal evangelism, and lead someone to Christ. In order to do this all personal defilements must be cleared away. Last, I am ashamed of the gospel, the message of Christ. Why? Because we know it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. Nothing else will transform a life as it will. The just shall live by faith. Be propagators of the gospel.

The whale may vomit some before he dies, but the main part floats up afterwards. Captain Nichols once helped take $6,200 worth from one sperm whale.

Some whales still have, in addition to their flippers, the vestiges of hind legs inside the body near the tail. There is an instance of a female whale having been discovered with two tiny hind legs actually protruding from the body.

The whale of San Clemente is one of the finback species and one of the largest and finest of the kind ever obtained for exhibition purposes. The use of a 90-ton crane was required to lift it from the water.

"Lost That Tired and Weary Feeling" "I was tired all the time; had misery in back and sides that kept me feeling bad; was in a nervous and weakening condition," writes Mrs. H. H. Penn, of Portsmouth, Ohio. "I lost in weight until I was very thin. During girlhood, mother had given me Cardui and it helped me so much then that I decided to take it again. I took several bottles and my strength began to return, and I gained in weight. Soon I lost that tired and weary feeling. Cardui did me a great deal of good."
