MERCHANT AND BANDIT ARE SHOT IN PISTOL BATTLE

Bell Arthur Storekeeper Wounded Twice By Robber; Brings His Gun Into Play

ASSAILANT CAPTURED IN FARMVILLE

Frank Rogers Jailed By Police Last Night; Carried Bullet Wound and Same Pistol Used in Attempt Holdup; Sentenced to Six Months On Road For Carrying Gun; To Be Given Hearing on Holdup Charge at Next Term Criminal Court; Negro Sought Money

A negro bandit who shot R. E. Willoughby, Bell Arthur merchant, in an attempted holdup last Saturday night, was captured by Bethel police last night, according to information reaching the city this morning.

The bandit, Frank Rogers, about 30 years of age, was also shot in the thigh as the merchant, with bullet wounds in his right hand and leg, returned to the fire.

Rogers was given preliminary hearing in police court at Farmville this morning and sentenced to six months on the roads on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. He was brought to Greenville today where he was fingerprinted by local police and then prepared to begin service on the roads. He will be given hearing on the holdup charge probably at the next term of criminal court.

Willoughby told officers he left his store about 9 o'clock and started home. As he neared home, a negro suddenly appeared from behind a dense growth of vines, pointed a pistol at Willoughby and told him "he wanted money."

The merchant said he told the negro he did not have any money and flashed a light in the face of his assailant. The negro immediately began firing, one bullet taking effect in Willoughby's right thigh, and another in the right hand.

The merchant opened fire on the negro who fled, but who was also believed to have been hit.

Officers immediately started an investigation and Sunday night Farmville officers were tipped off that an armed and wounded negro could be found in the colored section of town.

They went to the place indicated and took Rogers into custody. He was said to have been in possession of the gun used in the attempted holdup and carried a wound in the thigh.

Although painfully wounded, Willoughby was said to be resting well at his home today. The negro's injuries were not considered serious and he will be put to work on the roads as soon as his wounds heal.

MEDAL OF HONOR TO RICHMOND P. HOBSON

Washington, D. C., May 1.—(AP)—Almost 35 years ago after he sank the collier Merrimack to bottle up the Spanish fleet in Santiago harbor, Richmond P. Hobson today was presented the Congressional Medal of Honor at the White House by President Roosevelt.

Hobson, then a young naval officer, made himself a national hero during the war with Spain by his valorous act.

At the same time for his rescue of an officer, Private Arden M. Farley, of the Army Air Corps, was handed the Cheney award. This decoration, symbolizing the outstanding act of valor in connection with war corps flying activities during 1932. Hobson's medal of honor was voted by Congress last session.

STOCKS AGAIN PUSH UPWARD

Stampede of Buying Reported in New York; Cotton Continues to Advance

New York, May 1.—(AP)—Speculative markets opened with a new stampede of buying today and the dollar dropped to new levels in relation to European gold currency.

The stock market surged upward $1 to $2 a share in the first half hour as leading issues were exchanged in blocks of 1,000 and 2,000 shares and the ticker fell a quarter of an hour in arrears.

NO INTEREST IN ELECTION

Municipal Balloting Today Without Event; Lightest Vote Of Years

Greenville was in the midst of one of the tamest municipal elections today in the memory of the oldest inhabitants. Certainly nobody in recent years has witnessed a battle of ballots without any contest at all, and that was what was taking place at the courthouse today.

The matter of electing Mayor R. C. Flanagan for his second term and the selecting of five members of the Board of Aldermen was merely a perfunctory affair and only seventy-eight ballots had been cast during the mid-afternoon.

There is only one new face in the Aldermanic line-up, that being L. B. Fleming, who will take the seat recently vacated by C. W. Heene. Others being voted upon were: H. H. Duncan, M. O. Warren, A. E. Hobbard, and J. H. Boyd.

At no time was there any crowd at the polls, and a few voters trickling in from time to time were able to vote as speedily as they desired.

ARGENTINA SENDS ENVOY TO AMERICA

Special Representative to Open Conversations With President Roosevelt

Washington, D. C., May 1.—(AP)—The arrival today of Argentine's special representative, Thomas Le Breton, marked the opening of the series of President Roosevelt's world-wide negotiations for international property.

The Italian envoy Gido Gunt, minister of France, will reach Washington tomorrow and before the week is over representatives from Germany and Mexico will be here to take up conversations so optimistically conducted by the British Prime Minister and former Premier of France.

The questions involved will be similar to those world problems reported last week, war debt, exchange restrictions, steel's currency and tariff as well as the subject of peace and disarmament.

Le Breton, Argentine's new Ambassador to France, will join Felix Espil in conducting the conversations with President Roosevelt and American experts.

GOLD ORDER ENDS TODAY

Hoarders Must Turn In Gold or Subject Themselves to Prosecution

Today was the last day set aside in a recent Presidential proclamation for the delivery of gold, gold coin, bullion and gold certificates to banks in an effort to prevent hoarding and to meet a national emergency.

Holders of gold were bringing it in to the local banks today in an effort to abide by the proclamation issued by the President on April 5, 1933, declaring a gold embargo and demanding that all gold be withheld from the regular channels of trade but turned over to the government in exchange for currency.

Such amounts of gold as may be required for legitimate and customary use in industry, profession or art within a reasonable time will be permitted under special regulation promulgated by the Treasury today.

Gold coin and gold certificates in an amount not exceeding in the aggregate $100 belonging to any one person and gold coins having a rare and special value to collectors and unusual coins do not come under the provision as laid down by the President. Other gold coins and bullion licensed for other purposes, and not involving hoarding, are allowed to go free.

Whoever wilfully violates any provision of the executive order, it was stated, may be fined not more than $10,000, or imprisoned for not more than ten years or both. Any officers who violates the regulations will be subject to like punishment.

AWARDED $20,000 FOR DAMAGES TO HIS FOOT

Raeform, May 1.—A Hoke county jury Friday evening, gave the plaintiff a verdict for $20,000 damages in the suit of William Lament against the H. Smith hospital, Fayetteville. The trial of this case began Wednesday afternoon and all the evidence was in when a juror was taken sick. Two other jurors were drawn and the case began again Thursday afternoon.

The case grew out of the burning of the plaintiff's foot by a hot-water bottle applied by a nurse following an operation he had undergone in the H. Smith hospital. Lament claimed in his complaint that he had suffered a permanent injury. The hospital took an appeal.

Promptly at 7:30 o'clock the doors of the mammoth building will swing open to receive the crowds which were expected to throng the building during the remainder of the week.

Prominent people will be seated on the stage during the opening ceremonies. At the conclusion of the main address Miss Ruth Ferguson of the college, will sing a solo, accompanied by Miss Eugenia Thomas, of the college music faculty.

Mayor Flanagan will also present Henden Slier, who will act as master of ceremonies for the week. A varied program will be presented. (Continued on page two)

N. C. REVENUE COLLECTIONS ON THE MEND

Improvement Reported in Receipts For The Month of April Maxwell Shows

Raleigh, May 1.—(AP)—A. J. Maxwell, commissioner of revenue, said today that an increase in the North Carolina fund receipts in April compared with the same month a year ago "gives some indication of definite turn in revenue trend."

Maxwell pointed to the highway tax collection this April was $623,479.94 ahead of those in April, 1932 but said this was in the main on account of collections by reason of shortening of higher pavements of gas taxes under the new law effective April 1.

There was a net increase over April 1932, of $50,097.88, Maxwell said.

S. C. COTTON MILLS LEAD IN CONSUMPTION

Richmond, Va., May 1.—(AP)—South Carolina cotton mills used more bales of cotton in March than North Carolina mills the Federal Reserve Bank at Richmond reported today.

Palmetto State plants consumed 119,185 bales, Tar Heels mills used 111,520 bales, and Virginia mills 11,304 bales.

Lieutenant Scott E. Peck, assigned to the U. S. S. Macon, is the only officer in the United States lighter-than-air service during the World War who still is active in that service.

W. L. Purdy, of Memphis, Tenn., fashioned a cane from a worn-out hame (that part of the harness to which the tugs are fastened) and sent it to President Roosevelt.

Late News Flashes

Raleigh, N. C., May 1.—(AP)—North Carolina's revenue collection for the month of April gives reasonable hope a definite turn in revenue trends in line with definite turn in business conditions, it was announced today.

A. J. Maxwell, Commissioner of Revenue reported that April receipts showed some increases in both the general fund, and highway as compared with the same month a year ago.

Maxwell pointed out that the monthly statement showed an actual increase in April gasoline collections of $623,479.94, but explained that $573,382 apparently represented an additional collection in April this year due to the change in the law which shortened the time for payment of gasoline taxes.

FEW RADICAL 'UPHEAVALS' MARK MAY DAY

United States Quiet As Other Countries See Communist Celebrations

(By The Associated Press) May Day, traditionally the occasion for radical demonstrations, was widely celebrated in two greatly dissimilar nations—in Russia where the Communists are all powerful and in Germany where Communists are most hated. For the most part the United States was quiet.

Bombing in the heart of the Chicago business district caused heavy property loss.

A million persons, including between 35,000 and 50,000 troops, appeared in the Moscow Red Square where they were reviewed by high officials of the Communist party from a reviewing position occupied at the top by Lenin.

Foreign observers noted with interest the heaviest military display in Russia. After the troops came hundreds of thousands of proletarians and peasants.

Adolph Hitler changed Germany's May Day from a radical festival to an occasion honoring Germany's workmen because he is playing an important part in building up the state.

Peru was under a state of siege as the result of the assassination yesterday of President Sanchez Cerro by a revolutionary.

In Madrid police fired into the air several times to break up demonstrations by 1,000 Communists. A few persons were injured.

Vienna saw the greatest show of military strength by the new dictatorial regime.

In Paris extremists for the first time since the war were allowed to hold open-air May Day assemblies.

In Tokyo a split in the ranks of labor resulted in a double celebration with conservatives and anti-militarist radicals holding separate parades.

In Manila police and demonstrators closed on account of violations of May Day regulations.

In Athens the Workers' Federation declared a May Day strike.

BEER SALES BEGIN HERE

Advent of Legalized Beverage Attracts Only Slight Attention in City

Legalized beer came into existence in North Carolina this morning at 12-01, but it attracted little more attention in Greenville than the announcement of some new brand of lithia water.

Of course, there were a few who sat up to greet the return of the foamy beverage, but they were few and far between, and the major part of the city slumbered like it didn't give a darn whether it was beer or millpond water dealers were preparing to dispense it today.

Prospective dealers evinced little more interest in the advent of the legalized liquid and today only eight licenses had been issued for the sale of beer in the city proper.

At a meeting Saturday afternoon the Board of Aldermen granted licenses to eight of the fifteen applicants and the remainder probably will be passed on during the week.

A similar condition existed over most of the county but the county tax collector was busy today checking up and issuing licenses to those desiring to dispense of the beverage.

Inability of many small dealers to raise enough money to pay the tax was attributed as the reason for the slowness in the purchase of license. However, they were expected to get in the business at a later date when they can recover some of the loss which the depression took away from them.

Three or four places opened to receive the thirsty last night at the hour set for the legislation to become effective, but they were rewarded only in a minor way.

POLICE HOLD FOUR MEN FOR QUESTIONING

Explosions Attributed By Police to Communist Celebration Of May Day; Damage Estimated at Many Thousands of Dollars; Detonations Shake Entire Business District

Chicago, Ill., May 1.—(AP)—The heart of Chicago's business district reverberated with detonations of bombs tossed with well-timed precision early this May Day causing property damage unofficially estimated at many thousands of dollars. Estimates were $50,000. None were killed or injured.

Attributed by police to Communists' celebration of May Day, five bombs in all, apparently, were thrown from moving motor vehicles at the same time, damaging establishments for which they were intended.

The explosives were apparently of the powerful dynamite type used by racketeers in attempts to intimidate. The plants attacked were the Marshall Fields & Company and the Company Uniform Division at 424 South Well Street; the Illinois Bell Telephone Company headquarters at 212 West Washington Street; the Sprague Warner Company, wholesale grocers at 600 West Erie Street; the Hibbard Bartlett Wholesale Hardware Company at 211 East Water Street, and the Howard Willett Company at 222 East Grand Avenue.

Early reports of a bomb explosion at the Commonwealth Edison Station was unfounded.

Four men, police said, were found loitering around the Marshall Field plant were arrested for questioning, their names were not made public. A huge iron door was blown back into the building and the masonry about it torn into bits.

BIG CROWDS HEAR GAINES

Memorial Baptist Church Packed to Capacity During two Services Sunday

Yesterday was a red-letter day in the series of revival services at Memorial Baptist Church and tremendous crowds attended both morning and evening services and listened to Rev. Louis S. Gaines, of Raleigh, deliver two of the most powerful sermons of the series.

The revival will come to a close Friday night, but during the intervening time continued large crowds were expected to be on hand each day.

The services for the remainder of the week will be sponsored by different departments of the church with the idea of packing the building to overflowing each day.

Tonight's service will be sponsored by the C. J. Ellen Bible Class, and the subject of the sermon will be "The Three Appearings."

At the service this morning Mr. Gaines spoke on the subject, "What Is Salvation?" and answered the all-important question in a way that proved highly satisfactory to those who heard him.

Yesterday morning before a crowd that packed the building to capacity, the minister spoke on "Prepare to Meet Thy God." His subject was taken from the twelfth verse of the fourth chapter of Amos, setting forth the warning of this follower of God. He said there was a personal challenge (Continued on page two)

Treasury Department Gives Facts on Gold Embargo Becoming Effective Today

Washington, D. C., May 1.—(AP)—Regulations governing the distribution of gold to industries having legitimate uses for it were issued today by the Treasury a few hours before the expiration of the time set for all gold other than small individual sums were to be turned over to the government.

The regulations outlined the method by which a person needed gold for legitimate purposes may obtain it and provided for no collection of customs might permit the export of gold unless the Treasury in sending it abroad turns over powers issued by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Persons needing gold for legitimate purposes may file applications as required.

escape in a manner that was, as Sue remarked later, almost as conclusive as arrest. And it was true, too, that I was their principal suspect; was, indeed, their only suspect, but the doctor told them flatly that there was no need of taking me to jail just then.

Later that night, in my room, with a fire going, and the remains of a scrambled meal which had been prepared by the hysterical cook, and threatened with the hysteric, I was alone. It seemed, Lorn said, that he'd wanted to leave immediately and never come back.

Lovschiem's presence and the fact that I suspected him of knowing the unidentified murdered man that led to him. It was just then that Lorn arrived. I was glad to see him. My head cleared, and things were better.

But it didn't matter. "Get her," I insisted. "Or I will have been sitting here thinking horrors, and I don't like her to go about the place alone."

"That's my business, Sundeau," he said. (Copyright, 1933, Mignon G. Eberhart)

A second thing to note is that salvation of deliverance. Deliverance from what? First, from bondage. Before being a Christian we are mastered by many things, many forces.

Jesus gathers together into one—my personality. It becomes the temple of the Holy Spirit. Deliverance from the tyranny of things is also a part of our salvation. The only thing that has not been discounted today is your hope in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Bright, Fresher After Taking Black-Draught
"Seven years ago, I was troubled with constipation," writes Mrs. L. E. Williams, of Jackson, Miss. "My mother told me she thought it would help me to take Black-Draught. She had used it herself and it had helped her. I found it relieved me of this troublesome complaint. I suffered from sick headache and biliousness which made me feel dull and lifeless. I had no ambition to do anything. I felt bright and fresh after I took Theodor's Black-Draught. It is a splendid medicine for constipation. I take it dry, at night, followed by a generous glass of water." Get a package of Theodor's Black-Draught today. Refuse substitutes.

Hollywood—(AP)—Paring of the player contract lists at major studios as an economy measure to date has occurred to no perceptible extent, although, because of existing contracts such a process would be gradual in any event.

Studios burdened with costly overhead have looked to the reduction of their standing "siock companies"—large groups of players each drawing a weekly salary whether working or not—as one means of cutting costs, it being figured that an actress during the year might be secured less expensively, even as a free-lance at a correspondingly higher salary, than by keeping her on the payroll steadily.

Although some players have been dropped from the lists, a survey of the major studios reveals that there is little change in the number under contract now as compared with the number in April, 1932.

Some of the studios even show a slight increase. Paramount now has 34 contract players; last April it had 43. Fox has 39 now compared to 38 last spring. Warner Bros.—First National has 42, four more than last year. M-G-M, adding many new names recently, now has 34.

Rather substantial reductions are evident at Universal, from 22 to 12, and at Radio, which by dropping about a dozen unknowns signed as a gamble, now has 25.

The formation of the central "Artists' Service Bureau," one development of recent producer conferences, is regarded in film circles as meaning inevitably some drastic reductions in the total contract lists, only the major stars and the near-stars being retained on a working-or-idle pay basis, while free-lance players, writers and directors would be obtained as needed.

innocently adept at stirring up emotional storms than Lawrence, and the rush to print the details continues unabated.

Miss Brett's book is out, entitled "Lawrence and Brett" and written in a sentimental vein that cannot be dismissed but can be condoned. Lawrence was, it must be remembered, the sun and moon (indeed, almost the entire celestial system) to Miss Brett. Every gesture he made had importance for her, and most of them she has recorded. At no time does she attempt to "make a case" for herself.

The book is written in the present tense and resembles nothing so much as a long and ecstatic letter. It is, indeed, dedicated to "The Potential Lover."

There are many histories of the Jews, most of which fall into the classification of dust gatherers—as does most other history. Josef Kastein's "History and Destiny of the Jews" is scarcely a candidate for this burial alive, however.

Kastein begins by declaring he is a Jew and warning his readers that although the facts are there they need not imagine that he could present them entirely uncolored. Wherefore his book is much more easily interpreted than had he tried to maintain an entirely impartial attitude.

With the historical fact there is a wealth of interpretation and periodical stoppages while Kastein reasons out his own and his people's position at the moment. The prose has passion and flow, and, while sometimes it is a little difficult, there is usually a clear concept underlying it.

Gentiles will appreciate particularly their opportunity to read a Jewish evaluation of Jesus, Paul, John and kindred New Testament characters; Jews will rejoice in a brilliant and balanced interpretation of their heritage.

The week has been rich in novels. One of them, Virginia Hersh's "Storm Beach" has also to do with the Jews.

It is the story of a clan in Charleston and particularly of the renunciation by one of them of a Gentile's love, told with a very winning wealth of detail and warmth of style. Although some might feel Judith a little more of a symbol than a person.

Gladys Hasty Carroll is also well up toward the head of the class with her "As The Earth Turns." It

If the corners of your mouth droop, perhaps it is because you do not smile enough.

Look in your mirror three or four times a day. If these corners are down, happy thoughts may help to bring them up. Think of the most pleasant thing that ever happened to you, the kindest thing ever done for you.

Smiling costs nothing and helps to keep the heart and face young.

NERVOUS CZECH POLICE HAVE HITLER COMPLEX
Brno, Czechoslovakia. — (AP) — "Mei Huetla!" shouted a peasant of Opava, near here, when the wind blew his hat off as he sprinted for a train.

At the police station, where he was taken on a charge of trying to start a political disturbance, he explained that he had not yelled "Heil Hitler!" but the dialect of his district for "my hat."

He caught the next train.

Turks Bootleg Fezzes.
Istanbul—(AP)—A secret consignment of 5,000 fezzes recently went from this city to Turkey's eastern provinces. Die-hard Moslems there bow to Mustafa Kemal's modernizing decrees by wearing hats in public but in the sanctity of the home they chuck the healthful headgear and don the traditional fezz.

Late News Flashes

It received protest from Major-General Brown, army engineer chief, against a resolution by Senator Norris for a Presidential probe to determine whether the government had suffered at the hands of private interests at the shoals.

The Reconstruction Corporation's monthly report to Congress was made public showing loans totalling $233,000,000 during March, first month of the Roosevelt administration, against $262,346,000 in February.

The Senate banking committee announced plans to subpoena J. P. Morgan and partners for appearance May 23 in a new series of hearings on stock market probe.

New legislation put before both Senate and House to compel use of alcohol in motor fuel, a farm aid measure, since alcohol may be produced from corn.

More opposition to the 30-hour week was laid before the House labor committee by labor interests and others. The open hearings are to continue towards the end of the week.

Delivering Slate For Revenue Post

Washington, D. C., May 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt is ready soon to name Guy C. Helvering, of Kansas, who has arrived in the House to be Commissioner of Internal Revenue. There has been a long contest over the post.

Helvering is regarded as the President's own choice.

Arrest 23 in Iowa Rioting Trimmar, Iowa, May 1.—(AP)—Twenty-three men were arrested by a National Guard detachment today in connection with the attempted halting of a foreclosure sale Thursday and with a subsequent attack on Judge C. C. Bradley at Le Mars.

The men were brought to Owen County jail and officials planned to remove them to Le Mar for military trial.

New York.—Generations of newspapermen fired their copy over the wire to that genial old pair of telegraphers John "Mack" McCallister and Frank "Grif" Griffith—such in separable pals that the editorial department of a local paper knew them as the "Morse twins."

Long years they sat side by side, taking hot news off their tickers, so competent and reliable that they survived the coming of the mechanical printers. Day in and day out, when their work was done, these two old-timers left their keyboards together and together went to some place of convivial assemblage to tell each other, and all the young fellows who wanted an earful, the same stories of the "great old days" of journalism—before there were such contraptions as mechanical printers.

"Thirty" Strange, that as one did pretty much as the other did in life, their manner of quitting this life was similar too.

Old Grif who lived in a houseboat in Sheepshead Bay, was the first to go. He fell one night, going downstairs in the subway. His injuries were fatal.

All of the interest seemed to be gone out of this world for Mack Solemn, broken in spirit, he clung to his keyboard from that date in 1920 until just the other night. Once so jovial and companionable, he seldom came out of his little shell of silence. No one could fill Grif's place for him.

On a recent Saturday night he stepped from the curb on speed-crazy Eighth Avenue—walking, we may suppose, in a sort of indifference to all things of the present, as he had been doing for three lonely years.

An automobile struck him down. On the following Monday morning, a nurse at the hospital was puzzled when she heard him murmur: "Grif—it's 30 . . ."

Gotham Glimpses Another one of those penny-a-dish restaurants, maintained by a charity foundation for the unemployed, 35 located down on Bleeker Street, within easy reach of the hungry aesthetes of Greenwich Village. Every day it is crowded with painters, writers and sculptors who feel the pinch to the hurting point. Some of them try to trade their works of art for a meal but, in most cases, a Pul Winkler, the general manager, says he would rather take pennies.

Saw Lenore Ulric working with a vengeance in a Broadway gymnasium. Poundage trouble. One of the most tempestuous places in town these nights is a cafe on Second Avenue below Fourteenth—meeting place of Jewish intellectuals. Old Chelsea, that section between Fourteenth and Twenty-sixth, from Sixth Avenue west to the river, took its name from the estate of Dr. Clement C. Moore. He called his farm "Chelsea."

NOTED CONNECTICUT INVENTOR IS DEAD New Britain, Conn., May 1.—(AP)—Francis Henry Richards, 82, one of the most productive inventors in the country, died yesterday in a hospital.

In 1915 the Scientific American credited him with 847 patents, second in number only to the 977 patents held by Thomas A. Edison.

Richards was a charter member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He was also a member of the Engineers' Club of New York, the Civil Engineers' Club of Cleveland and the American Association of Inventors and Manufacturers.

Among his inventions and patents are the Richards envelope machine, air cushion door, springs and a gas process and machine for making molds for the manufacture of golf balls.

Something to Say not just saying something A friend of CHESTERFIELD writes us of a salesman who had "something to say": "I dropped into a little tobacco shop, and when I asked for a pack of Chesterfields the man smiled and told me I was the seventh customer without a break to ask for Chesterfields. 'Smoker after smoker,' he said, 'tells me that Chesterfields click... I sell five times as many Chesterfields as I did a while back.' Yes, there's something to say about Chesterfields and it takes just six words to say it—"They're mild and yet they satisfy." they Satisfy
