Neighborhood Day Will Be Observed Tomorrow; Many Visitors Expected;

NEMARS FAST BEFORE DRIVE IN GREENVILLE

World Famous Pair Will Drive Through Principal Streets of The City With Prof. Nemar Blindfolded; Madame Nemar Will Control Husband From Another Car in the Rear of His Machine

Preparing for the spectacular blindfold drive through the crowded streets of Greenville, Professor and Madame Nemar started on a fast this morning at 8:30, which will last, according to the professor until after the grueling drive has ended.

The drive will start Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in front of the Daily Reflector office, when Professor Nemar, in a new Ford automobile furnished for the occasion by the John Flanagan Buggy Company, will be blindfolded in full view of the crowds gathered to take part in the Neighborhood Day program and to witness the marvelous demonstration of telepathic science by this world famous couple.

Madame Nemar, a graduate of the Alexander College of Psychiatry in London, will direct her husband from the running board of a new Ford automobile, chauffeur driven, through the medium of a "telepathic science." Her car will be about 70 or 100 feet to the rear, closely followed by a Williams ambulance in case of necessity.

No hypnotism is associated with this exhibition, said Madame Nemar.

"Professor Nemar places himself in a state of suspended animation and dwells solely in the subconscious mind while I direct his every movement with my normal and conscious mind," said Madame Nemar.

Thousands of people from Pitt and adjoining counties are expected to be on hand to witness the drive and take advantage of the bargains offered by the merchants on Neighborhood Day. This promises to be a big day for everyone.

Professor Nemar will give a brief explanation of the manner in which the drive will be accomplished, and will then proceed to visit the various stores where he will select various articles of merchandise and distribute them to persons in front of the stores.

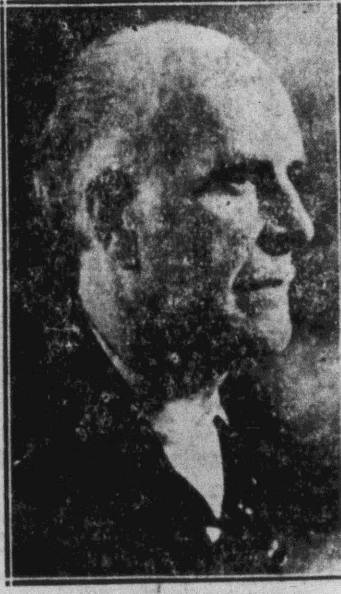

It gives the management of the Reflector great pleasure in mentioning through the Nematite column each merchant personally who is co-operating in this great event.

RANCHERS TAKE RANGE ON TRAIL OF RUSTLERS

Johnson, N. D., (AP)—Ranchers of this western North Dakota cattle country are riding the range again in search of rustlers.

Determined to stop cattle and horse thievery they have organized to stamp out the menace which they say is the worst since early ranching days.

The modern-day rustler a r e butchering cattle on the spot; hixling away the beef with trucks. Range horses, however, are being taken out alive. Recently an airplane was used by ranchers to locate a band of rustlers driving a herd of 40 head out of the Badlands country. The horses were retrieved, but the rustlers escaped.

COUNTY COURT ENDS SITTING

Over Twenty Cases Disposed of During Two Day Session This Week

County court completed its two day sitting yesterday with the disposition of eight or ten cases involving charges of larceny and assault with deadly weapons.

A total of twenty or more cases were disposed of during the two days court was in session. It was the first session of the court in two weeks on account of the civil term of Superior court the preceding week.

Herbert Moore, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon was sentenced to six months on the roads. He was also given a suspended sentence on a charge of disturbing religious worship.

Shede Perkins, colored, convicted of assault with a deadly weapon, was sentenced to 90 days on the roads.

Convicted of transporting liquor for the purpose of sale, Montie Barnes, colored was sentenced to four months of work at the county home.

Ned Brady, colored, was given six months suspended sentence on a charge of larceny.

Jim Daniel and Irma Lee Slade, colored, charged with immoral relations, were given the choice of paying $25 and cost or going to jail for sixty days.

C. K. Younce was ordered to pay $23 damage on a charge of driving while drunk.

Robert Atkinson and Lizzie Cox, colored, convicted of immoral relations were given their choice between $25 and cost or sixty days in jail.

To Rescue Son.

Alpine, Tex., May 18.—(AP)—C. L. Hannold last night began organizing a party of cattlemen from the Big Bend section to proceed into Mexico to rescue his son, Ar. Hannold and John Rollins, American ranchers, who the said had been captured by Mexican bandits.

PUSH CLINIC ACTIVITY HERE

Health Workers Seek To Reach Children In Four School Districts

The Health and Welfare departments today were making an effort to get in touch with children in four school districts who are suffering from adenoids and tonsils in the hope of operating on them in the series of clinics to be held in Greenville during the next week.

Williams, Galloway, Re J. Banks, Cox and Hollywood schools closed before the health workers were able to visit them for the purpose of making examinations, it was said, and sponsors of the clinics expressed hope children would be brought to Greenville for examinations immediately so that they may receive attention in the local clinics.

Examinations will be made at the offices of Dr. Bonny, Dr. Brown of the Health Department, it was said and people who have children needing attention have been asked to carry them to either place for this purpose.

Virtually every school in the county was covered by the health workers before the closing date and they were hopeful of reaching the remainder of the school districts before the health campaign is concluded here the latter part of next week.

NEMARITES

Those who follow the crowd and hear all that is said will get the most out of the big free street show here Friday. Nemar, still wearing his blindfold, will stop at a score or more stores in the business section and present to some one in the crowd a present which he picks up at the store sponsoring his appearance on the streets. Madam Nemar tells her husband by mental telepathy to whom to give the present.

You'll be wanting a new outfit today is the time and Greenville is the place to buy it. Look at the advertisements in this newspaper and see the many things that are advertised. Save time and money by shopping first in the Reflector. You see comparative prices here, and you see who has the merchandise without tramping all over town.

If you receive a prize from Professor Nemar during the blindfold street show, visit the merchant from whom the gift came and express your appreciation.

Whether you have money to spend or not visit the Greenville merchants often. You will find a hearty welcome and a willingness to serve you.

John Flanagan Buggy Co. is furnishing the new automobiles to be used in the drive. Yes; they are Ford V 8's.

Professor Nemar issued a denial today that he had requested police officers to clear the streets of all traffic so there would be no danger of an accident during the drive.

The Professor "checks out" when he gets his blindfold on and is set for the drive. Police in one city threatened to arrest him for speeding unless he checked his speed.

Professor Nemar said he would not allow any one to ride in the car with him for the reason that a passenger invariably will or will not get an imaginary brake if he comes near striking any object on the streets. It gives the Reflector a pleasure to mention each merchant personally who is cooperating in this event.

NEGRO LIQUOR MAKER SHOT IN RAID ON STILL

Another Negro Arrested as Officers Capture Plant and Big Liquor Supply

A member of the illicit whiskey traffic was shot as county officers raided a still in Swift Creek township yesterday afternoon and captured the plant, eighteen gallons of whiskey and a considerable amount of paraphernalia.

Boss McLawhorn, colored, received a bullet wound in his arm when he was alleged to have advanced on Deputy Sheriff Herbert Harris with a knife. He was brought to the hospital here where he was reported to be getting along all right today.

Henry King, colored, was jailed by the officers for investigation in connection with operation of the still.

The still, a steam plant and one of the largest captured by county officers in months was located on Grindle Creek. It was being operated at full blast when officers suddenly appeared upon the scene.

Two men at the still fled and the officers gave chase. Deputy Sheriff Harris was pressing McLawhorn hard about two hundred yards from the still when the negro tripped and fell to the ground. As he jumped quickly to his feet he was said to have advanced menacingly upon Harris.

After ordering the negro to stop without result the officer brought his gun into play and fired one time the bullet taking effect in the negro's left arm above the elbow.

The shot halted the advancing negro, who was given temporary medical aid and then brought to the hospital here to receive attention of a surgeon. His injuries were described as painful but not necessarily serious.

Although King had not been positively identified as the second man at the still, officers were holding him for investigation in the hope of obtaining some definite information.

TONSIL CLINIC HERE FRIDAY

First of Series of Clinics to be Held at Third Street School Tomorrow

The first of a series of adenoid and tonsil clinics to be held in Greenville with in the next week or so will be at Third Street school tomorrow, it was announced today by Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Pitt County Department of Health.

All parents have been requested to have their children in readiness when the clinic swings open at 8 o'clock and were advised to give them no breakfast.

Three clinics will be held in the same building next week Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday. Dr. McGeachy said and it was expected the largest number of children handled at any single clinic through out the county-wide campaign will receive attention here.

The last of the county clinics was held at Falkland last Tuesday when twenty children were operated on. This brought the total of the county-wide campaign to 321.

The clinics are being conducted by the Department of Health in conjunction with the Welfare department and operations are being performed by nose and throat specialists of this city.

It is the first concerted drive against the menace of adenoids and tonsils ever made in this county and was expected to have a far-reaching effect in school work in the future. Expense of the operations is being defrayed by Reconstruction Corporation funds.

Names Fisheries Head.

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated Charles Jackson of North Carolina as deputy commissioner of fisheries.

The president sent to the Senate the name of Col. Edward Craft of Greenville, S. C., for appointment as chief of infantry with rank of major general.

Destiny Of Disarmament Believed To Be In Hands Of Roosevelt And Hitler

EXPECT BILL TO GIVE NEW BUYING POWER

Public Work Measure Viewed With Favor By Secretary of Labor

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—As described by Secretary Frances Perkins, the huge public works-industrial regulation bill laid before Congress by President Roosevelt is designed to bring purchasing power into step with mass production.

This would be accomplished on one side by putting money into the hands of the unemployed through the $3,300,000,000 construction program and on the other by regulating industry so that stabilized production would be kept in tune with the movement upward from the depression.

The secretary pointed out that the first weekly payroll paid to the workers out of jobs meant at least a pair of shoes and three shirts sold and that industry should immediately feel the effect.

As for industry itself, the new voluntary co-operative agreement which would be permitted under the bill would work somewhat along this line:

An administrator would be appointed by President Roosevelt with almost unlimited powers to supervise the agreement among the various trades and industries designed to regulate working hours for a minimum wage and stabilization of production.

The trade associations composed of members of the industry—col, for instance, would draw up a code of fair competition fixing the amount of cost to be mind and sold and the minimum price for which it would be sold.

If approved by the administrator the agreement would be legal with anti-trust laws relaxed.

However, the administrator would first have to satisfy himself that it imposed no inequitable restrictions on membership and that the code would not promote monopoly or discriminate against smaller producers.

FRIZZELLE WILL SPEAK

Fifth District Judge to Speak at Opening of Winterville Finals Season

Commencement exercises will begin at Winterville public school tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock with presentation of certificates to seventh grade students and will close Monday night with presentation of diplomas to high school graduates and a class day program.

Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill, resident judge of the Fifth Judicial district, will deliver the address at the exercises tomorrow morning and this will be followed by the awarding of certificates and announcements concerning the remainder of the commencement period.

Friday evening at 8 o'clock the senior class of the high school will present the annual play "The Purple Tantrum."

Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Greenville, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Monday night at 8 o'clock diplomas will be awarded to 22 graduates of the high school. The usual literary speaker has been abandoned this year and the program will be confined entirely to awarding of diplomas and class day exercises.

See Possibility Of An Anglo-American Pact

Moscow, May 18.—(AP)—The possibility of a temporary Anglo-American alliance against Japanese expansion was raised today in comment on President Roosevelt's message by "Four Industrialization," the organ of the commissariat for heavy industry.

"After the Washington rehearsal for the world economic conference," the publication said, "The United States now appears in the role of world arbiter but several governments have refused to accept that arbitration."

Japan's stand, the paper continued, would be affected by Roosevelt's non-aggression proposal and Japan also is opposed to the MacDonald disarmament plan which is supported by the American president.

"That," the editorial asserted, "is upon what Japan bases the necessity of declaring itself not only against Roosevelt but against MacDonald which may foreshadow a temporary Anglo-American alliance against Japan's desire to increase in its expansion."

JAPS OCCUPY CHINESE CITY

Miyun Captured After Sharp Fighting Between Opposing Forces

Tokyo, May 18.—(AP)—The city of Miyun, 34 miles north of Peiyou which has been the objective of the Japanese drive for the past week was occupied this afternoon by the attacking army, the Renzo Japanese News Agency reported.

The occupation was effected, the dispatch said, by the eighth division. The city was taken after Nanshuichuang, ten miles to the north east, had fallen to the sixteenth infantry.

A battle late last night and today preceded the triumphal entry to the two Nishi brigades with in the walls of Miyun. The Japanese rallied stubbornly in resisting the Chinese and reared the battlefield littered with bodies of the defenders.

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—Louis Douglas, director of the budget, told a House ways and means committee today that prompt prohibition repeal would mean an annual return of $250,000,000 to the federal treasury.

Late News Flashes

Wounded Aid Treasury.

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—Baron Von Neutrach, foreign minister, has left for Geneva to participate as Germany's representative upon the reconvening of the disarmament session.

HITLER GETS FINE SUPPORT

German People Rally Behind Leader in Effort For Peace of World

Berlin, May 18.—(AP)—The whole German nation rallied today behind the government solemnly assuring the world that the hallowed ideals for universal peace and universal disarmament are working the economic machinery.

Such aims were included yesterday by Chancellor Hitler in his foreign policy announcement before the Reichstag in which he reiterated a demand for arms equality, accepted the world peace proposal of America and pledged co-operation in the guarantee of international tranquility and security.

Seldom in the history of the Reich did a chancellor's declaration win such unanimously overwhelming support of all classes and parties.

Newspapers took the stand that success of the world disarmament conference now depended upon the rest of the world extending a friendly hand to Germany.

POWER OF TWO MEN FELT BY ALL THE WORLD

Delegates at Geneva Believe American And German Leaders Will be Powerful Factors in Directing Action of Arms Conference; Indicate Eagerness to Know How Far America is Willing to go; Position of America and England Awaited

Geneva, May 18.—(AP)—The rapid sequence of events in the last few days has largely placed the destiny of the disarmament conference in the hands of President Roosevelt and Chancellor Hitler, in the view of many conference delegates.

The influence of these two men, it was said today, continues to constitute a powerful factor in directing the course of the conference which awaits concerted initiative on their part.

The Roosevelt message to the world and the Hitler address generally were agreed as clearing the air and producing a new and more hopeful atmosphere.

Delegates indicated eagerness to know how far America was disposed to go in what Geneva regards as completing machinery of peace.

Particularly, they desired to know whether the American government was disposed to act in principle on such things as:

Rigid international control of armaments.

Participation in a world pact of non-resort to force.

Helping the league in determining an aggressor.

Refraining from keeping an aggressor on this determination.

Participation in an armed embargo.

Abandonment of the right of neutrality in the event of war.

Geneva recognizes that the United States, like England, under its political system cannot give blanket promises in advance but must adopt an attitude when a particular disturbance arises.

S. C. REDUCES ITS EXPENSES

Legislature Closes After Slashing $6,000,000 From Appropriations

Columbia, S. C., May 28.—(AP)—The South Carolina legislature early today closed its longest session since Reconstruction days after slashing approximately $6,000,000 from appropriations as compared with last year.

An 18-months general appropriations bill totaling approximately $9,000,000 was passed as compared with $9,500,000 for a 12-months period in 1932 and school cost estimates have been cut from around $3,500,000 to $1,500,000.

NEMARITES

Nemar has selected a new V-8
Ford from the John Flanagan Buggy Co. There is a reason. Be here see him, and hear what he has to tell you.

Nemar, while blindfolded, will visit Lowe's store on Evans Street, find a gift, and present it to some person.

Williams Funeral Parlor, undertaker and embalmer operators, will take care of Nemar in their ambulance after the drive, when Nemar collapses.

The Nemars use at all times
Sinclair Gas and Oils. They say just drive up to a Sinclair station and say "drain her and fill her up".
Then check your mileage for 30 days and tell your friends the difference.
More miles per gallon. More pep and less carbon. Get the habit of say-

The Nemars will appear in person at the High School Auditorium under the auspices of American Legion in one of the most baffling stage performances ever brought to Greenville.

Crowds from other cities clamor for seats to see the Nemars. Prof-ing, his famous Australian mystery cabinet. The only one of its kind in the world—Nemar's own creation.

This cabinet alone is worth more than the price.

Nemar, shopping at Ed Batch-lor's one day this week, says he found it "The shopping place, after all." He will visit the style headquarters during the drive Friday afternoon. Watch him when he goes in for a gift to be turned over to some one in front of the store.

Nemar says he finds some wonderful bargains in clothing and general merchandise at Young's stores.

The Nemars use at all times those good Firestone tires. They say more

Auxiliary Birthday Party.

On Monday afternoon about thirty ladies of the Greenville Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. R. S. McGeachy to celebrate the annual birthday party of the Woman's Auxiliary.

After the business meeting the program was begun with devotional led by Mrs. W. S. Harden. The Auxiliary was very fortunate in having J. S. Picklen, who has recently returned from China, talk to them. Mr. Picklen told many interesting things about the customs and characteristics of the Chinese people. He spoke of the seclusion of the women and the keen business ability of the men. Every one was intensely interested in every word, especially since the birthday offering this year is to go to establish a trust fund, the interest of which is to be used to hold Bible schools for Chinese women.

The remainder of the program was in charge of college students under the direction of Miss Ruth Hillhouse. Dressed in Chinese costumes, these girls represented some of our missionaries. They gave interesting accounts of their experiences in working with Chinese women. Every one present was made to feel the eagerness with which the Chinese women attend the Bible Institutes.

At the close of the program a Chinese vendor came around with sweetmeats which were distributed in exchange for the birthday offering.

Punch and wafers were served in the dining room. All felt that the birthday party had proven a very enjoyable and profitable occasion. We were delighted to have as our guests Mrs. J. S. Picklen, Mrs. E. B. Ficklen, Mrs. Chas. Skinner, W. S. Harden of this city; Mrs. W. E. Evans and Miss Agnes Evans of Rowland.

Mineral Water Is Basis of Great Discovery; Loses Weight, Feels Fine and Is Now Active

Twenty years ago a mineral water was discovered out near Denver, Colorado. This water, when drunk, was found to reduce fat people and to be healthful to all who used it in that section. Later it was shipped to all states in bottles, but because of the high cost of delivery a new form was sought. In 1910 a chemist found a way to make tablets out of the same ingredients that were in the original Colorado Rock-a-Water.

Today you can obtain these in a convenient tablet form, easy to take and absolutely safe. You can get Rock-a-Water tablets in Greenville only at the stores listed below.

Get your box today, either by calling or by mail. The price for two weeks treatment is $2.00 and Rock-a-Water is sold under an absolute guarantee.

Please fill out the coupon below when making your purchase or if by mail add 5c extra and send or bring this coupon with you.

Tomorrow is to be a big day for Greenville and we extend a cordial invitation to the people of the surrounding territory to be here Friday at four o'clock to witness Professor Nemar's famous blindfold drive. Through the co-operation of several of Greenville's business houses we have been able to procure the services of Professor Nemar to stage this free attraction for the entertainment of the people of this community, tomorrow, Neighborhood Day. Most of the merchants are offering special bargains in connection with the event and visitors to this city will do well to visit the local stores before and after the drive. We want you in Greenville tomorrow, however, whether you expect to buy anything or not, for this is Neighborhood Day, and we want to have the opportunity to get better acquainted with our people.

This performance Friday at four o'clock is for your entertainment and amusement and we want you to come here and enjoy it.

SYNOPSIS: Sue Tally had in her possession a token with which she must identify herself to her brother Francis, whom she has not seen since childhood, in order to inherit her half of her father's enormous fortune. There have been three murders in the little French hotel in which she lives, connected with attempts to steal the token. Francis arrives—and the token disappears. Jim Sundean advises Sue to "bluff" her brother and his detective, David Lorn, while he tries to find the token. Sundean questions Sue.

Chapter 40
STRANGE QUESTIONS
"This is your handkerchief, isn't it?" I asked Sue.
She looked at the delicate wisp of white that I drew from my pocket. She had been, I think, about to question me further, for she looked faintly impatient at the interruption. The impatient look, however, was succeeded by a puzzled little frown.
"Why, yes," she said. "I believe ter from the corner of the middle section? About number thirty-four or thirty-five: Were you up there at all the night of the first murder?"

I don't know what she was thinking of me just then. She looked perplexed, but Sue was never dull. "No," she said directly.
"Another thing," I said. "And forgive me for all this pointlessness."

THE WHITE COCKATOO

 I hesitated here: the thing I was about to ask was not entirely pointless. I plunged on, however:

"Mrs. Byng says she saw you turning out the hotel lights the night of the first murder. She says—" Sue's eyes were widening. "She says." I went on miserably as I saw that my very inquiry must suggest to her that I'd believed Mrs. Byng, "that she saw you at the switch box, there in the corridor near here door. That she saw you pull the main switch, and that the light's went out at once."

"And you believed her?" said Sue rather sadly.
 "No." I had her hands and all most had her, suddenly, in my arms — "No! I didn't believe her. Not when you told me where you'd been at that time."

She pulled back away from me. "I don't know what Mrs. Byng said or thought she saw," said Sue. "But I told you the exact truth. About everything."
 "I know. I know. Tell me, is Mrs. Byng friendly with you?"

"Why—no," said Sue. "But not unfriendly, either. We've had very little to do with one another. Scarcely talked at all."

"You wouldn't say, then, that she'd ever been particularly interested in you?"
 "Heavens, no," said Sue, seeing what I meant and forgiving me simultaneously. "If you mean Mrs. Byng may be—suspect—that's absurd. She's exactly what she seems."
 "I'm beginning to think I don't mean anything. You'd best go along to your brother. He'll grow suspicious. I'll go with you to the lounge."

"It's not going to be easy," said Sue. "Facing him, knowing all along that if he suddenly produces his own token I cannot produce mine to match it. I was almost ready this morning to give up the whole thing. After all—why do I want five million dollars?" She said it thoughtfully, as if she really did wonder why.

"Five millions," I said rather bitterly. "Is not to be regarded with disrespect? And in this case, if you are in for a penny you're in for a pound."

We were walking back along the north corridor. In two or three days at the most she would go completely out of my life.

It was then that I knew what a devastating thing it would be never again to see her advancing toward me. Never again to catch the gay little challenge of her mouth that was a smile. Never again to watch the gallant lift of her chin, the light in gold gleams on her hair, the delicacy of her hands and her beautiful body.

Yes, it was devastating. It was like being caught in the vortex of a cyclone that you hadn't seen coming.

But even in that destructive moment—and it isn't easy to know suddenly what your only moments of high and magic living are counted and are few in count, and that they'll go swiftly and irrevocably and finally—even in that moment I knew I could not tell her. I could not tell this girl with the golden millions.

I wished she'd gone that morning before her brother came! I wished she'd give up her claim as she said she was about to do—I wished all manner of insane things.

And something said: You won't feel this tearing at you for long; it would be unendurable if you did but you won't for ever the memory of your love will grow dim and faint.

But she didn't turn. And by the time we reached the stairway I had walked through heaven and hell and emerged. I loved her, and I was going to give her up. I was even with my own hands helping erect that hateful, glittering path along which her little feet would walk away from me.

Well—I emerged. It is by no means a unique experience. And after all, I'd rather have had it than not. So there was no good making a fuss about it.

It was almost a relief to wrench myself back to the business at hand. The business of helping Sue acquire those damnable millions which not only severed her from me but which threatened her—threatened her—threatened her.

And time was pressing. Francis was still in the parlor. As we walked down the last steps into the lounge, Lorn came suddenly from the parlor.

"Your brother is waiting for you," he said, and passed, his clouded dark eyes meeting Sue's gaze. He looked peculiarly uncertain and ill at ease. The effect he gave of not having concluded his sentence, and thus of having still something he must say to her was so strong that both Sue and I paused too, motionless, waiting for what was to come.

But if he'd intended to say something further he thought better of it; he made a rather strange little gesture with his hands, shrugged and walked away. She looked after him perplexedly, then turned toward me with a question in her face. But I, of course, could tell her nothing; I only felt that the detective's look savored, somehow, of warning.

Sue took a long breath, gave me a quick little nod, and walked swiftly toward the stuffy old parlor and the waiting man. There was a fine tempering of steel in Sue; she never lacked courage in a crisis.

With the token stolen, even the small measure of protection its possession had given Sue was gone; with that in the possession of the murderer the next step was inevitably to produce the substitute for Sue—and to silence Sue. And it must be done at once, if ever.

Henry Ford
 Dearborn, Mich.

May 15, 1933

Time and again I am told—by my own organization and by others—that I penalize myself by quality.

Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.

But I know the difference.

I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives—he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen, comprises beauty of design, color and attractive accessories,—all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.

But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.

A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car—but two items we do not skimp are cost and conscience. A great many things could "get by"—the public would never know the difference. But we would know.

The new Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.

I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.

New York Cotton

New York, May 18.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady four to eight higher in response to higher Liverpool cables and on trade buying against large sales of dry goods. Offerings were comparatively limited at this rate and while advances brought in more selling it was absorbed on a setback of a few points by trade buying and covering.

After selling at 8.81 at the opening July eased to 8.70 and was holding around 8.78 at the end of the first half hour with the list showing gain of 8 to 9 points.

Stock Market

New York, May 18.—(AP)—The stock market refused to follow the leadership of rails in further advances today and turned somewhat reactionary after mid-day.

The list made fair passage for a time in the morning but encountered selling of utilities and turned heavy.

Rails showed pronounced strength for a time with gains of one to three in Santa Fe, Union Pacific and others.

These gains were fairly well held but after mid-day losses of around a point appeared in American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, American Sugar and others.

Late News Flashes

President Roosevelt was urged today by Chairman Smith of the Senate agriculture committee to employ the farm bill to obtain a reduction of cotton acreage by 5,000,000 acres.

Smith said he believed there still was time to enforce the cotton acreage reduction. He would use the farm legislation for the surplus acreage and substitution of corn for cotton on it.

The senator said he was confident that if six million acres were taken out of production it would result in a fair price for the commodity.

He was asked by the President to confer with George Peek, the administrator of the farm bill and Henry Morganthau, governor of the farm credit administration.
