White House Denies Efforts For 'Partial' War Debt Pay

PRESIDENT IS NOT SEEKING 'ADJUSTMENT'

Secretary to President Roosevelt Declares No Effort Being Made to Use Treaty Power in Matter; Chief Executive Will Not Seek Power to Revise Debts; Will Report Progress to Congress Later

Washington, D. C., May 30—(AP)—The White House today emphatically denied a new revival of reports that President Roosevelt was negotiating for partial payment of war debts.

As had been asserted repeatedly, was emphasized in sources close to President Roosevelt that he is dealing with European debtors individually and separately. According to all outward signs he is insisting on payment on the June 15 installments.

Some newspaper dispatches published (not distributed by the Associated Press) and purporting to tell of a new course being taken by Mr. Roosevelt prompted the following statement from Stephen Early, secretary to the Chief Executive.

"Press reports stating that the president will use treaty powers to adjust the debt or would permit partial payment on the principle of the amount in default are pure speculation with doubts as to the word 'pure'.

"The President at this time has no such intentions and probably never will pursue such a course.

It has become definitely known that Mr. Roosevelt will not propose that congress give him specific power to revise the debts.

However, congressional leaders undetermined he will inform congress before adjournment of the status of the war debt negotiations which he is conducting.

SPECTS FOR FIXED PEANUT PRICES SEEN
Kinston, May 30—If plans go through that are being worked out by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, it will not be very long now before something definite will be known as to the status of the peanut market for this fall. The new relief act recently passed by congress furnishes an opportunity for the growers of any farm commodity and the processors together with the Secretary of Agriculture to get together on the price of any commodity. This seems to be the opinion of many experts in Washington, according to Secretary N. G. Bartlett, of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce. If this is the meaning of the act there is no reason in the opinion of Bartlett, why the price of peanuts cannot be "fixed" for this crop and for what are now being held.

To this end a committee from the sectional organization will go to Washington shortly to confer with the Secretary of Agriculture to ascertain what can be done.

HONOR WORLD WAR DEAD HERE

Flags Dance Merrily Along Streets In Memory of Sacrifices Overseas

Today was Memorial Day and banks and the postoffice were closed in honor of the men who sacrificed their all in the World War. Although no exercises of any kind had been planned for the day here, Old Glory danced in the breezes on numbers of flagpoles along principal business streets of the city, reminding all who passed of the terrible loss which all nations suffered in that mighty carnage overseas.

With exception of the closing of the banks and postoffice, business continued as usual throughout the day but many a person remembered the cause for which American men and women died overseas and rededicated themselves anew to these high principals.

Mothers especially remembered that eventful day when news flashed throughout the world that the war was over and the failure of their sons to return to their accustomed places at the fireside. The pain and sorrow and joy of that occasion lives in memory alone but the lives which the nation offered on the altar of war will never be forgotten.

Graves of the dead veterans were decorated by the Auxiliary of the Pitt county post of the American Legion Sunday, and Saturday ponies were sold to help make life a little brighter for the thousands of men who came out of the war maimed and helpless for the rest of their lives.

Pitt county is not unmindful of the invaluable services which her soldiers rendered in the titanic struggle against German autocracy, and many a prayer will go up today for both the living and the dead that they may not have fought in vain for the accomplishment of world peace.

Relief Workers Drain Canal.

Tarboro, May 30—About forty men employed by the E. F. C. committee began work today draining the Mitchell canal near this city. Other canals and low grounds will be drained in order to eradicate malaria bearing mosquitoes.

Cotton Prices Reach Highest Spot Of 1933

New Orleans, May 30—(AP)—With every other major American market closed for Memorial Day, cotton here showed independent strength today with a continued upswing which carried futures to the 1933 highest spot for the third successive session.

Prices held steady at a recent sharp advance at the opening and then turned toward new high ground in response to much better Liverpool cables than due which improved the demand.

Before the end of the first half hour, October contracts moved up to 9 45 and December to 9.60, a point above the previous 1933 highs reached yesterday and 50 cents a bale above yesterdays close.

WOMAN SUES SENATOR LONG FOR $250,000

Baton Rouge, May 30—(AP)—Senator Huey Long today was sued for $250,000 damage by Mrs. Anne Ector Pleasant, wife of former governor Ruffin Pleasant who alleged that Senator Long had defamed her character and had had her ejected from the state house during the 1932 session of the legislature.

The suit was entered in the East Baton Rouge district court. Describing herself as a "law abiding citizen" who "deported herself as a woman of respectability, character and honor." Mrs. Pleasant charged in her suit that Senator Long called her a "drunken, cursing woman" in the office of Miss Alice Lee Croftman state supervisor of accounts and ordered that she be arrested and put out of the state house.

The suit said damages were asked because of the "consequent hurt" to Mrs. Pleasant's feelings and her "humiliation and mortification."

Mrs. Pleasant filed the petition as a resident of Shavport, La., and Caddo Parish.

ANNUAL AUTO RACES BEGIN

Two Drivers Ruled Out as 500 Mile Classic Commences at Indianapolis

Sneedway, Indianapolis, May 30—(AP)—Risking their lives at every turn of the wheels, 42 drivers roared away at 10 o'clock today in the start of the 21st International 500 mile automobile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway.

Howard Wilcox, of Indianapolis, who finished second in last year's 500 miles race and Phil Shafer, of Des Moines Iowa, were declared ineligible just before the start of the race.

The examining physician declared Wilcox was in no physical condition to drive his car, one of the fastest on the track Muri Rose, of Dayton, was given his mount.

Shafer was declared out when W. D. Eidenburn, of Los Angeles, chief steward, of the A. A. A. upheld the protest of Ralph Hepburn, of Los Angeles, that Shafer had not qualified his speedster by sundown last Sunday, the time limit set in the rules.

In addition to giving an interesting description of the customs, Mrs. Ficklen spoke of the commercial benefit to be derived from closer contact with the various nations.

She dwelt particularly upon the difference in the attitude of the Japanese business interests compared with the open door policy in China. She described the Chinese are more tolerant in their business relations with other countries.

Rev. A. W. Fleischman presided over the session and the program was in charge of J. H. Waldrop. Singing was directed by Johnnie Overton, star club warbler.

PITT HEALTH QUEEN WINS HIGH HONORS

Miss Mildred Taylor of Pactolus, Pitt county, won first place in the district elimination health contest held at Washington yesterday; it was revealed today.

Miss Taylor, chosen Pitt county health queen in the elimination contest here May 1 won out over eleven other health beauties from sixteen counties comprising this district.

She will go to Raleigh the first week in August to take part in the State-wide contest and if patriotism is considered along with health she is due to receive high honor in that event.

She was chosen from 529 participants in the county-wide 4-H club contest, and gradually forged her way to the top until she was accorded the honor of being crowned health queen of the county at the community fair during the early part of the month.

The health contest is an annual affair and is sponsored by the 4-H clubs of the state in an effort to interest young women in improvement of their physical being as well as the mental.

Miss Taylor 17, is the daughter of C. K. Taylor, prosperous farmer of the Pactolus community. She attends the Pactolus school and is in the tenth grade. She has been a member of the 4-H club for two years and manifests much interest in the various activities of the organization in her community.

She has three sisters and is very popular not only for her health and beauty, but because she is genial and sunny and always ready to help the other fellow along.

Second place in the district contest was won by Miss Ida Elizabeth Johnson, of Smithfield and third position was captured by Miss Margaret Asbell of Edenton.

GAINS IN OYSTER CULTURE SHOWN IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Charleston, S. C.—(AP)—Oyster culture in the Charleston area has made so much progress during 15 years that now less than 10 per cent of shell planted to catch spat is lost as compared with 75 per cent when the industry was first started here.

Cultivation is by two methods: the shore beds and deep water oysters. The shore beds are more extensively used and are more prolific since the deep water plantings require more technical knowledge and skill.

Japan's Trade Follows Flag Into Jehol City

Jehol City—(AP)—Japan rapidly is turning attention to commercial development of this newly conquered province for the benefit of her own people and of the state of Manchukuo.

Heretofore Jehol was regarded as a part of Mongolia and there was scarcely a single Japanese within the 65,000 square miles that constituted the province.

Now, however, Japanese merchants and concession-seekers are pouring into this capital and other large cities.

ACTION COMES AS GERMANY DROPS REPORT

Geneva, May 30—(AP)—Germany in diplomatic phraseology told the League of Nations council today to keep it hands off the question of Germany's treatment of the Jews.

The council, however, without Germany's vote proceeded to submit the juridical aspect of the problem to jurists with the understanding that there will be a complete airing of the entire matter later.

This action followed Germany's failure to accept the council's report on the treatment of the Jews in Upper Silesia.

Friedrich Von Keller, the German delegate, declared Franz Berthelm German Jew in Upper Silesia, on whose recent repetition the report was based is not of Silesian origin and had no right to raise the question of the application of German laws in Silesia nor to speak for the population.

Corn and beads were found in the grave.

DOG CART TREK TO ALASKA STARTED BY CAROLINA MAN

Asheville, N. C.—(AP)—A trip to Alaska and back in a dog cart is the undertaking of Karl Lindauer, of Lake Lure.

The 42-year-old German left here with his Belgian shepherd, Bess, pulling a small wagon in which is carried camping supplies. Another dog, a fox terrier, is accompanying Lindauer on the Alaskan junket. He estimates the trip will require a year.

Lindauer and Bess are veterans of the road, having completed a 1,400 mile trip to Miami, Fla., and back without a mishap.

to return on promise that they will be restored to their old positions. Except for occasional raids by bandits and local shootings, complete peace and order reigns in Jehol. With the coming of the warm weather, however, it is expected the thousands of former Chinese soldiers and brigands who scattered into the hills, will emerge from their hiding places.

These disbanded soldiers constitute a menace not only to the Japanese and Manchukuo armies, but also to the natives, who may be forced to house and feed them and supply them with money.

MEMORIAL DAY

Today is Memorial Day, a time when we revere the memory of those who have fallen in the wars of our country, but while we are about this let us likewise give our attention to the futility of war.

At this time there are gathered at Geneva representatives of all the leading nations in an effort to reach an agreement on disarmament as a step toward world peace.

JUDGE GRADY MAKES A CALL

Out of his judicial robes and in his private capacity Judge Henry A. Grady is full of righteous indignation over charges exacted from him in Greenville for two telephone calls to his home town of Clinton.

With the merits of the Judge's case in regard to these two particular phone calls The News and Observer has no more knowledge than is to be gathered from the Judge's statement. It rejoices in the Judge's indignation, however righteous or mistaken as it may be.

Judge Grady is old-fashioned enough and Irish enough to be ready to demand his rights. The State of North Carolina, the United States of America, and the world would be better off if more people possessed and utilized an equal capacity for indignation.

A New Serial by Ruby M. Ayres

Synopsis: Nicholas Boyd, the great film star, has played the hero once too often. In rescuing a girl from a frightened horse he has himself been struck a blow by the horse's hoof—and his film career is ended.

Chapter Two FAIR WEATHER GIRL

Bernie was pretty enough. Men raved about her china blue eyes and yellow hair. Nicholas had raved about her himself, once; funny that now she should seem so like a doll with empty staring blue eyes, and red, foolishly parted lips.

His scarred face grinned back at him

New Books

By JOHN SELBY

New York—(AP)—A comparatively fixed routine has come to be followed by British writers in America, one that leads by way of social contacts, the lecture platform and publishers' suggestion to the production of a book of impressions.

L. P. Jacks' book does not. "My American Friends" is a book to rank with Andre Siegfried's. Jacks would have foreigners judge America not by its present position, but by its direction.

There is a throbbing but evident fury underlying James R. Wainwright's "Behind These Walls." It is a bitter and a moving book about life in prison, written by a convict and avoiding by a hair's breadth the persecution complex that quite often vitiates the force of similar efforts.

World's Fair Queen

Lillian Anderson, 23 year old blond from Racine, Wis., was named as queen of the Chicago world's fair in an international beauty competition.

There is an interesting mystery called "A Case for Mr. Paul Savoy" by Jackson Gregory, and there is Upton Sinclair's "The Way Out," a series of letters by the urgent Mr. Sinclair to the son of a capitalist, prescribing Mr. Sinclair's familiar remedies for our familiar ills.

Most weighty perhaps is George Stewart's detailed but keenly interesting account of all the Russian counter-revolutions, an authoritative attempt to give the reader a complete knowledge of Russian lost causes, called "The White Armies of Russia."

The doubters in Washington have about given up their original idea that President Roosevelt was so completely dominated by theorists and idealists as to be incapable of practical political accomplishment.

There came a time when just two items were left on the President's list of domestic legislation for the special session. Both had been postponed for cause.

The WORLD OF STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

Something new in stamps is being planned by Italy for use on mail carried on the projected flight of an Italian squadron across the North Atlantic to the Chicago Century of Progress exposition.

In each case the second part covers ordinary postage and registration, and the third the airmail fee. An Italian dealer reports that mail will be carried by 20 planes and that the name of the planes carrying each letter will appear on the first of the three panels.

A 5-cent pictorial was issued by Canada on May 18 to commemorate the meeting in Ottawa of the executive group of the World Postal Congress.

The stamp printed in blue, shows Parliament hall as seen from the Ottawa river, west of International bridge.

Ten steps in postal history are depicted on attractive stickers advertising the International Philatelic exposition "wipa" to be held in Vienna June 24-July 9.

McCORMICK-DODSON.

Hookerton, N. C., May 30.—Mr and Mrs. H. C. Ormond announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Edna Ormond Dodson, to Hinton H. McCormick, the marriage to be solemnized in the early summer.

Announcement Party. Entertaining at her home in College View, Mrs. H. L. Ormond was a charming hostess to three tables of bridge this afternoon at 3:30.

The tables were arranged amid a profusion of summer flowers. The dining table, covered with an imported lace cloth, was centered with a silver bowl of beautiful pink snapdragons and daphnium.

At the conclusion of several interesting rubbers, bric-a-brac was given as the high score prize. A delectable salad course with iced tea was served.

The surprise of the afternoon came when little Miss Dorothy Suggs Ormond, daughter of the hostess, entered and presented the guests with individual corsages of sweetpeas, each corsage bearing the inscription: "Edna and Mac—Early Summer," thus announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of Mrs. Edna Ormond Dodson and H. H. McCormick.

Mrs. Dodson is the attractive and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ormond of Hookerton. For the past year she has been employed as secretary at the Greenville Tobacco Company.

Mr. McCormick is the son of Mrs. J. L. McCormick of Winston-Salem. For the past several years he has resided in Greenville where he is connected with the Greenville Tobacco Co.

TO ORGANIZE STORY TELLING CLUBS IN COUNTY. The National Junior Shakespeare Story Telling Club, through the assistance of Misses Lena Dawson and Katherine Flaugh, will shortly form branches or associations in Ayden, Winterville and Grifton.

The club is educational in purpose and is designed to acquaint every child of grammar grade age with the works of the famous bard and in such a way that it will appear like play to them.

The plan consists of story hours for the children when groups will meet and tell Shakespeare in simplified form. Clubs for children of different ages will be formed. Then the different chapters of this club will contest with those of other clubs for the county honors.

Prizes will be offered at various stages of the competitions and diplomas will be awarded each child who has finished the prescribed course.

The grand finale will be a Shakespearean evening or pageant or Shakespearean program having the children portray the Shakespearean characters.

The national association now reaches into practically every State and has been immensely successful. Aside from the fact that members of the club are improving their education and mastery of English, there is a social feature. Parents and teachers have endorsed the plan with enthusiasm.

Miss Dawson has credits from Hopkins University for courses in story telling and dramatics.

DURANT WILL SPEAK HERE. (Continued from Page One) commencement. The assembly hour has been changed to the end of the morning session so as to give time for commencement practice.

The two classes are rehearsing every afternoon for the class day exercises, daisy chain and for the pageant play, to be presented on Saturday afternoon. The committees that have decorations in charge are busy making plans.

The alumnae are getting ready for both the business and program features of Alumnae Day, which is Saturday, June 3. Mrs. John W. Thompson, president, spent one day last week at the college meeting with advisers and the executive committee, and Miss Lucille Britt, secretary-treasurer, is spending today getting things in shape for the business meetings.

The sounds of music fill the air every evening because of the practicing for the recital on Friday evening, June 2, the opening event of commencement.

My Beauty Hint. Put a kettle of hot water on the stove and steam the face carefully for 10 minutes every night to open and cleanse the pores.

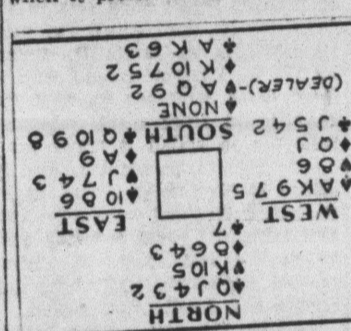

Then massage the face quickly with ice water or ice to close the pores. This treatment will aid in attaining a firm, smooth complexion.

RUN IT OUT (By Tom O'Neil) The baseball maxim "run it out" can be applied advantageously at times in contract. Struggle along with commitments that seem impossible of fulfillment and perhaps something will happen to turn a rout into triumph.

Hollywood—(AP)—When Minna Gombell surprised the town by eloping recently to Yuma to be married, the spelling of her last name became a matter for conjecture hereabouts.

Is it Gombell or Gombel? In screen credit lists it has been spelled one way or the other, indiscriminately. Once interviewing the blond lady after her hit in "Bad Girl," I asked her about it.

"It really doesn't matter," she laughed, "just say it gets spelled once in a while!" If it matters, after all, I think Gombell is correct.

Miss Gombell, who used to complain jokingly that in pictures she never got her man, and never even got a kiss because she wasn't the type, left on her honeymoon with the role of a wife and mother as her latest screen performance.

It is in one of the so-called "problem pictures" bearing the title "Shall We Tell Our Children?" written and directed by Willard Mack, who also plays a leading role. It's the old story about a father and mother who didn't bother to tell their daughter the important facts about life and the tragedy that resulted.

Miss Gombell plays the mother, with a former movie idol, looking very trim, Bryant Washburn, as the father, Mack plays the family doctor, and Ben Alexander is the youthful boy.

The notable feature of the film, however, is Jean Parker, a Pasadena girl, 17, who gets her high school diploma in June. Jean "discovered" by a movie scout when she took part in a tournament of roses in the home town, plays the tragic role with that touch that always make Hollywood critics take note.

Rocky Mount, May 30.—Timous Valentine, solicitor of Nash county recorder's court, yesterday not pressed assault charges against City Detective P. C. Zimmerman and State Highway Patrolman Rodney Knowles following a three-cornered conference between himself, William Bickett, attorney for the prosecution, and Ben H. Thomas, counsel for the officers.

The officers were charged with assault on Clarence Hamilton, Raleigh bootlegger, with intent to kill following a chase in which Hamilton was shot in the back, assertedly by accident, when Knowles attempted to search him.

The charge against Zimmerman was based on the fact that he shot a tire on the fleeing bootlegger's car in order to make him stop after, according to the officers' statement, Hamilton had attempted to force the police car off the highway.

Warrants against the officers were sworn out after Hamilton's conviction here on charges of receiving and transporting sixty odd gallons of liquor and of assault on the officers with a deadly weapon.

"PEPPER" COMES UP SMILING TO MASTER THIRD-BASE JOB

St. Louis—(AP)—"Pepper" Martin can "take it"—and come back for more.

A disappointing 1932 season, during which a let-down from his amazing world series performance combined with injuries to make him look bad, had some of the fans "riding" him this spring. To make matters worse he failed to show up well in early games after being shifted from the outfield to third base.

Before hot weather arrived to stay he had lifted his average at the plate to .375 for second place in the league and was covering the "hot corner" in a way that won the approval of experts.

His efficiency on the base paths boosted him into league leadership in runs scored and those who "knew him when" predicted that Johnny Martin's comeback had begun in earnest.
