America May Be Made Head Of Monetary Committee Of The London Conference

COMPROMISE WITH FRANCE IS IN OFFING

France Will Ask Temporary Stabilization Of The Dollar For Chairmanship of Monetary Committee; Movement Out-growth of Conference Between Hull And French Representatives

London, June 15—(AP)—The possibility of a compromise between America and France whereby the United States would get the chairmanship of the vital monetary committee in exchange for a temporary defacto stabilization of the dollar was understood in well informed circles of economic conference quarters to be on the books as the conference recessed at noon.

This was the outgrowth of a conference between Secretary of State Hull, leader of the American delegation and France's Minister George Bonnet in an effort to break the deadlock over the headship of the important monetary group.

It was understood that Bonnet previously had conferred with James Warburg an American delegate.

Coming from the conference Hull said the parley was marked by plenty of team work.

James M. Cox was named by the American group for leader of the monetary group. The French hitherto had insisted that a representative of a gold standard country be named to the position.

Within the assembly room—where east meets west—thereby challenging Kiplin's poetical pronouncement—speakers from the four corners of the earth outlined the viewpoints of their governments on economic rehabilitation.

The principal delegates were beginning to chafe under the deluge of oratory and said they wanted action. For this reason many leaders absent themselves from the session and were getting ready for real business.

CHAPEL SERVICES TO GIVE OBJECT LESSON IN WORSHIP

New York—(AP)—An object lesson in how to conduct a worship service will be given at the daily chapel services of a national conference on religious education to be held at East Northfield, Mass., July 18 to 23.

Delegates will be asked to enter silently and leave silently. Care will be exercised to select music that induces a reverential mood. The services will last exactly 30 minutes. There will be no announcements.

BEEKEEPERS TO HOLD CONFERENCE FRIDAY

Wilson, June 14—(AP)—Beekeepers from eight eastern North Carolina counties will meet here June 16 at which time C. L. Sams of Raleigh State extension specialist, will talk of the care of bees and demonstrate the care of bees with several hives.

The meeting will be in charge of W. L. Adams, Wilson county demonstration agent. Counties to be represented are Wilson, Greene, Pitt, Nash, Edgecombe, Johnson, Wake and Wayne.

YOUNG WILSON MAN IS ON MISSING LIST

Wilson, June 15—Philip, the 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank London, of Wilson has been missing from his home since last Thursday. Authorities in this and adjoining states have been requested to make efforts to locate him. He had no money when he left home. He is five feet and six inches tall and weighs 145 pounds. When last seen here he was bareheaded, wearing linen pants, sport shoes and blue shirt.

CAUCUS OVER VETERANS PAY

House Will Not Vote Until Democrats Have Had Chance To Confer

Washington, June 15—(AP)—Instead of voting at once on the administration-opposed liberalization of veterans payments as approved by the senate, the house deferred the decision today until an opportunity for the democratic majority there to caucus.

That party ranks should first consider the alternative agreed upon at a meeting of leaders in the office of Chairman Poy, of the house rules committee, Representative Byrnes of Tennessee, the democratic leader immediately distributed summons for members to caucus.

The strategy called for the banking of the Democratic members to support of the president's compromise proposal. It required two thirds to bind the membership and (Continued On Page Four)

Close Of Congress Will Not End Roosevelt Plans

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

It is a mistake—indulged in just now by large numbers of the American people—to speak of the adjournment of Congress as marking completion of the Roosevelt emergency program for recovery.

No such view is held by the responsible officials of the administration. They are gratified, naturally, by the legislative accomplishments of the special session and by the almost unprecedented success of Mr. Roosevelt's legislative leadership. But they realize very keenly that the real proof of the new Democratic pudding still is to come.

The fact that Congress has voted extraordinary powers into the President's hands will mean much or little according to the manner in which those powers are used.

Nearly all of the avenues to action opened up by the new legislation are optional. The burden now is on the White House to choose what it will do and to make a go

NATION WILL LEVY TAX ON TWO BIG CROPS

Cotton And Wheat to Be Taxed in Effort To Advance Prices Of Staples

Washington, June 15—(AP)—The administration intends to raise $250,000,000 by processing taxes on wheat and cotton on which it will levy at their maximum in a bold program aimed to better long range farm prices by cutting down production.

The government plans provide that most of the sum will be used to reward farmers who agree to reduce their output in concert with the federal drive to halt the piling up of surpluses, long a price depressing problem for the growers of the two chief cash crops of the United States.

President Roosevelt has approved a program under the power of the new farm act which Secretary Wallace will make public tomorrow.

A comprehensive acreage curtailment program will be launched for cotton to take out as much as 10,000,000 acres of the crop now growing.

No effort will be made to cut production where the crop is now nearing harvest.

Winter killed and bad weather have cut production of wheat to approximate needs for the first time, although it is expected the carry over of 360,000,000 bushels on July 1 will mark the beginning of the new marketing year.

TO BEGIN DRIVE FOR $3,500 FOR BOY SCOUTS

Rocky Mount, June 15—Nearly two hundred members of four civic clubs here will meet early Thursday morning for a drive to raise funds for the support of the Boy Scouts organization here for the coming year.

Scouts will take an active part in the drive which has as its object the raising of $3,500. Leaders were confident that the goal would be reached.

Frank E. Winslow, of the Kiwanis club; Thomas J. Pearlsall, of the Rotary club; R. W. Bauer, Clivian member; and Norman Gold, of the American Business club, are to speak briefly before the canvas for funds begins.

DRY WEATHER HURTS CROPS

Lack of Rain Felt Keenly in This Section; Loss of Poundsage Noted

Lack of rain in this section is going to cause a pronounced falling off of crop production this season. It was believed today by observers who have visited various sections of the county.

While other parts of the state have enjoyed relief from drought through heavy rains the last several days, this immediate section continued to bake under the sun's hot rays today, although some respite was afforded by slight drizzles followed by cool temperatures the first of the week.

However, observers said today the crops had not had nearly enough rain and that products might be cut still more sharply if rain does not come in the near future.

The next ten days, it was believed, would tell the story and if rain doesn't come during the intervening time no one can say what will be the outcome.

Tobacco, the principal crop of the section, has already lost poundsage because of the dry weather, and the luxuriant growth noted the first of the season, has been hit perceptibly by lack of rain.

Other crops have suffered similarly although many truck crops have already been marketed and the money is in the pockets of the growers.

Curing of tobacco has already started in some parts of the county because of the early crop, but that nearing the stage of maturity will suffer from the paucity of rain if rain does not come within the next few days.

Farmers were going ahead with their work in all sections and if they are favored with proper weather conditions indications are they will still be able to produce a good crop and the earliest in many years.

BUILDING 600-FOOT PIER FOR SPORT FISHERMEN

Manteo, June 15—On one of the stormiest sections of the Dare county shore, where the waves break over the beach between Kitty Hawk and Kill Devil Hill, a wooden pier is being thrust out 600 feet into the Atlantic for the pleasure of sports fishermen.

The pier is being built between the wreckage of the two ships, Carl Gerhard and the Paraguay.

The owner, J. D. Nelson, does not expect the pier to withstand the lashing waves of the winter and coming spring, but he believes it will stand during the summer.

Interstate Commerce Commission Directs Several States to Permit Levies

The decision was directed at North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Kentucky and Ohio.

Coast To Coast Train Boosted By Merger Plan

By MORLEY CASSIDY
New York—(AP)—A "United States Limited," a transcontinental train making an unbroken dash from coast to coast, is a conceivable outcome of the administration's new railroad program.

Such a train would be an American counterpart of the "Orient Express" which carries the Frenchman from Calais to Istanbul without change, or the "Trans-Siberian Express" which traverses 5,000 miles between Moscow and Vladivostok, or the Canadian expresses which cross the continent from Vancouver to Montreal and Quebec.

Transcontinental passengers who change trains at Chicago, St. Louis or New Orleans long have wondered why no such train existed. Many have suggested that an eastern and a western line might easily cooperate in establishing an Atlantic-Pacific express.

A dozen railroad presidents and traffic executives recently were asked about the possibility. Their answers revealed that the greatest obstacle to such a train lies in a paradox—an example of the sort of thing which the administration railroad measure is designed to overcome through appointment of a federal co-ordinator.

This is the paradox: The network of railroad lines in the United States, incomparably the greatest in the world, makes a dozen or a hundred transcontinental trains physically possible. And this very fact has made it impossible under the competitive conditions thus far existing, to establish even one such train.

Competition between railroads, competition between cities to be served and the limited amount of available traffic enter into the problem. The same factors have been blamed also for the "duplicating services" which the federal co-ordinator is expected to reduce.

The transcontinental train paradox, as an illustration of the causes of duplicating services, was explained thus by one of the railroad presidents:

"Chicago, is, so to speak, at the narrow end of two funnels, one opening out toward the Atlantic coast, the other toward the west coast.

"The Pacific coast means Washington, Oregon and California, and California means San Francisco and Los Angeles. The Atlantic coast means not only New York but Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington.

PUSH SCHOOL WORK IN PITT

Redistricting Problem Expected to be Settled by Commission Soon

School authorities were marking time today awaiting for final action of the State school commission on redistricting before going ahead with plans for school work next fall.

A report on the district problem has already been presented to the commission and it was expected word would be received within the next few days definitely setting forth the districts to be observed by the system in the future.

In addition, the Board of Education is confronted with the task of selecting a Board of Trustees to serve during the next school year and when this has been done actual work looking to arranging for the next term will get under way.

Donald Conley, director of the county school system, said today they were pushing work as fast as possible but would be unable to take definite steps until the commission had passed on the redistricting question.

While the school authorities are confronted with the most monumental task in years because of the changes made by the school legislation enacted by the last legislature, the school head expressed belief they would be able to work out plans that would prove satisfactory to all parts of the county.

The Greenville charter district was definitely passed on yesterday and this removes one of the obstacles from the path of city schools in planning for work next session.

Late News Flashes

Cox Heads Monetary Body.
London, June 15—(AP)—The United States achieved a great and hard won victory in the world economic conference with the election of James M. Cox as chairman of the vital monetary committee by the sterling committee today.

The designation of the American was unanimous and his name was presented by the Frenchman Georges Bonnet, who had himself been a candidate.

Bonnet had bitterly opposed the election of Cox until a compromise was effected among the warring groups in mid-afternoon.

Poland Says She Is Unable To Pay Again

Italy Advises She Will Make Payment of $1,000,000 of $13,545,000 Due; Dispatches From Paris Say French Government Will Again Default; Britain Will Pay $10,000,000 of 75,955,000 Owed

Washington, June 15—(AP)—With several nations defaulting and others making part payments, European countries today fell behind Great Britain in informing the Washington government of their decision on the war debt installment.

Early in the day—the semi-annual pay day for war debts—the Polish embassy announced it had informed the state department it could not pay the $3,550,000 due. Poland also defaulted last December.

Next Ambassador Rosso of Italy advised the state department his country would pay $1,000,000 of the $13,545,000 due. This was $245,000 less than the actual amount of interest payable, the remainder being principal.

Dispatches from Paris said France would default on the $40,738,000 payable today. France took the same action last December.

Britain made it known last night it would pay $10,000,000 in silver at fifty cents an ounce on the $75,955,000 owed.

However, the full debt was acknowledged in the final settlement Conference will be held shortly by twenty representatives of Great Britain and the United States to go over the debt problem, the decision to be submitted to congress.

THREE-FOURTHS OF STATES STAGE MUSICAL CONTESTS

Beach has also acted as judge in more than 500 contests.

POPCORN FARMERS FACING SURPLUS AND LOW PRICES

North Lou, Neb.—(AP)—The popcorn industry also has its over-production troubles, so steps have been taken to curtail the 1933 crop.

They say there is a surplus of almost 2,000,000 pounds, now in the hands of jobbers and farmers. The demand, they say, is exceptionally poor.

NEST OF LAUGHING GULLS FOUND IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Charleston, S. C.—(AP)—The laughing gull, which has laughed at South Carolina naturalists who sought his homestead for several years, has been found out.

E. Milby Burton, director of the Charleston museum, reports that the first nest of this bird, a variety long suspected of breeding on the nearby coast, has been discovered. Burton and a group of others interested found a nest of the laughing gull recently, and observed it for two or three hours.

Burton said he hoped his visit would not cause the gulls to abandon the nest as he expects to watch for the family of young gulls and thereby establish another ornithological record for South Carolina.

A NEW BASIS FOR CONFIDENCE

The News and Observer is putting it right when it declares that the passage of the Glass-Steagall Banking Act is a new basis for confidence. Despite a hard fight, this measure to keep money flowing in regular business channels of the country rather than flowing into Wall Street, is indeed a great step forward for the financial safety of our people.

The Observer says:

President Roosevelt is not putting it too strongly when he describes the new Glass-Steagall Banking Act as "the best piece of banking legislation since the Federal Reserve Board Act." Twenty years apart these two acts together might even be characterized as the most important national legislation of the present century.

The Federal Reserve Act gave to America a banking system which, while not without fault, has in every year since its creation justified its existence and the fight made by Woodrow Wilson against the banking powers which would have prevented its passage though they later became its staunchest advocates. Looking back upon the history of the Federal Reserve System it is obvious that its successes have grown largely from the law itself, while its failures have come from its administration.

The new Glass-Steagall bill would have seemed three years ago to mark as complete a departure from the past as did the Federal Reserve Act. Today it merely embodies into law the reforms obviously necessary for the recreation of faith in banking in America. Unlike the Federal Reserve Act, it creates no banking system. But almost as important it provides new bulwarks and new safeguards for the old system. Not devised for that purpose, under its deposit insurance provision, it will ultimately extend the Federal Reserve System to include practically all commercial banking operations in America.

Most of the legislation passed by this Congress, most of the measures embodied in the President's legislative program, are laws passed for the purpose of meeting the present crisis. Many of them are definitely limited in time. The Glass-Steagall Act, however, is not an emergency bill but a law to govern banking in the future regardless of the course of the depression. Without the depression its adoption would have been doubtful. The depression made the reforms embodied in it, many of them long overdue, imperative. Its passage is not a mere gain against the depression, but a definite advance for banking in America in good times and bad.

CLOSE OF CONGRESS WILL NOT END ROOSEVELT PLANS

initiated at currency expansion. No one has been prosecuted for hoarding gold. A large proportion of the banks still are closed, and reorganization proceeds slowly. The securities reform act does not become effective until late July.
Those charged with administration of the farm relief law have not even reached the point of choosing which of the authorized alternatives to adopt. The new farm and home credit facilities still are in process of organization.
These facts have not been a basis for adverse criticism, even among the Republicans. Considering the magnitude of the problems involved, the general disposition is against too hasty action.
The facts do show, however, how unwarranted is any assumption that it is all over but the shouting. Congress has provided certain powerful and intricate machinery, but it remains for Mr. Roosevelt to demonstrate how this machinery will work.
Realizing this, Washington is all the more heartened by current evi-

A New Serial by Ruby M. Ayres

BY THE WORLD FORGOT...
SYNOPSIS: Lonely because she has seen nothing of Nicholas Boyd, a former film star for whom she has conceived a romantic attachment, George Bancroft goes up to London for a lark. In a movie she meets Clifford Asher, who introduces himself to her in exactly the way she had introduced herself to Nicholas Boyd. She had first seen Nicholas, morbidly sensitive about the scarred face which had ended his screen career, on the ship which brought her back to England from a visit in America. Asher promises to write to George.

Chapter 16 TEA WITH NELLY

Probably Clifford Asher would not write in spite of what he had said.
George sighed, as she turned the corner and walked into Nelly Foster.

"You're late," was Nelly's greeting.

The time had passed quickly after all.

"Where shall we go?" George asked.

"I thought we'd go to my room," Nelly said. She avoided George's eyes, and there was a hard note in her voice. "I thought I'd show you the sort of place I live in, so that you need not go on being friends with me any more unless you want to."

"I won't make any difference," George answered her. "But I'd like to see your room."

"We'll get on this bus," she bundled George on and sat down beside her. "I'm glad the rain's stopped," she said. "I can't afford to ruin my clothes." She looked at the girl. "What have you been doing?"

"Oh, to see Nicholas Boyd I suppose."

"No, he wasn't on. I don't suppose he will be any more. Not for a long time."

"Have you seen him again?" Nelly asked sharply.

George hesitated, then she said "Yes."

Nelly gave a stifled exclamation. "Lord! how did you manage it?"

"I didn't; it just happened."

"Well I never—"

"They sat in silence for some moments then Nelly said bitterly.

"I never have any luck like that; things always go wrong for me. Here we get down here."

They scrambled down, and suddenly George's hand closed tightly over the cigarette case in her coat pocket, remembering guiltily that she had put Asher's card beside it.

Somehow she did not care for them to be together, and she carefully took the card out and put it into her handbag.

Nelly was waking very quickly. "It's a horrid neighborhood," she said, as they turned down a side street. "And the room's horrid, you'll hate it."

She fumbled in her pocket, then opened the door.

Yes, it wasn't a very nice place, George thought as she followed Nelly in; there was a funny stuffy smell about it; a mixture of washing and cooking, and paraffin, and yet it looked clean enough.

"Third floor," Nelly said laconically.

They climbed the narrow staircase, and Nelly produced another key and opened a room at the back of the house.

A bed, a wardrobe, a small chest of drawers with a hanging mirror and a chair.

A strip of carpet by the bed, a small gas stove, and a bunch of flowers on the round centre table.

"Well, sit down," George took the only chair, while Nelly busied herself making tea.

There was a little silence, then Nelly said half defiantly.

"And now I suppose you won't want to see me again."

George looked at her with grave eyes.

"You suppose such an awful lot of silly things," she said calmly. "I want you to come and stay with me next week-end, if you will."

Nelly kept her back turned. "Your people won't like it."

"I've only got an uncle, and he doesn't care."

degrees of confidence and rising price levels.

If so much has been accomplished merely on a psychological basis of anticipation, the administration feels increasingly confident of what can be done once the proposed remedial measures actually begin to operate.

Tips on CONTRACT

DEFERRED TRUMP DRAWING.
(By Tom O'Neil)

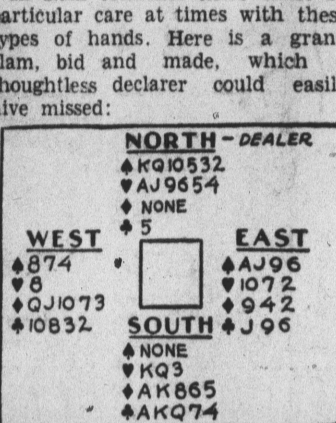

One of the first things the novice learns is to exhaust the adversaries' trumps. As he progresses he learns eventually that there are situations when leading trumps is one of the last things he should do.

When one of the hands of the contracting partnerships has a void, it is often necessary to use that partner's trumps for ruffing.

When both hands have voids trump drawing must often be postponed in order to cross-ruff.

This is the case where lower cards of non-trump suits need establishment or where it is necessary to guard against the possibility that long non-trump suits headed by the top honors will not break.

In slam contracts there must be particular care at times with these types of hands. Here is a grand slam, bid and made, which a thoughtless declarer could easily have missed:

East and West naturally said only "pass" during the auction. North, Mrs. Hilda Zontlein, opened with a spade. South forced with three diamonds. North offered three hearts. South said five clubs. North offered five hearts. South went to seven hearts.

Since the declarer's side had bid all suits and decided at last on hearts, East suspected that there might not be too many hearts in the South hand, so concluded it would be well to shorten dummy's trumps if ruffing should be necessary. He led a heart.

Consider now what would happen had the declarer played three rounds of trumps immediately, exhausting East. There would be only one entry to dummy, the five of clubs.

Declarer could take two diamond and three club tricks, getting wour discards of spades, but then would have to trump in the North hand and would lose a spade trick at the end.

Mrs. Zontlein avoided such a loss—she took the first trump in the South hand and led a low diamond, trumping it in her own hand North.

A spade was ruffed South, a second diamond ruffed North, a third diamond ruffed South and a third diamond ruffed North. This procedure left two high trumps North, two trumps East and none South and West. In the South hand were the diamond ace and king and the five clubs. On the two high trumps the two low clubs were discarded from the South hand and the five of clubs provided an entry for the last five tricks with South's high suit cards.

A club opening by East would have put the declarer in a hole, although the trump opening was optimal.

OLD BEER LIMITS CHANGED AS CITY GROWS UP WITHIN

Cornelius, N. C.—(AP)—After the North Carolina legislature legalized 32 beer a special act had to be passed before the beverage could be sold here.

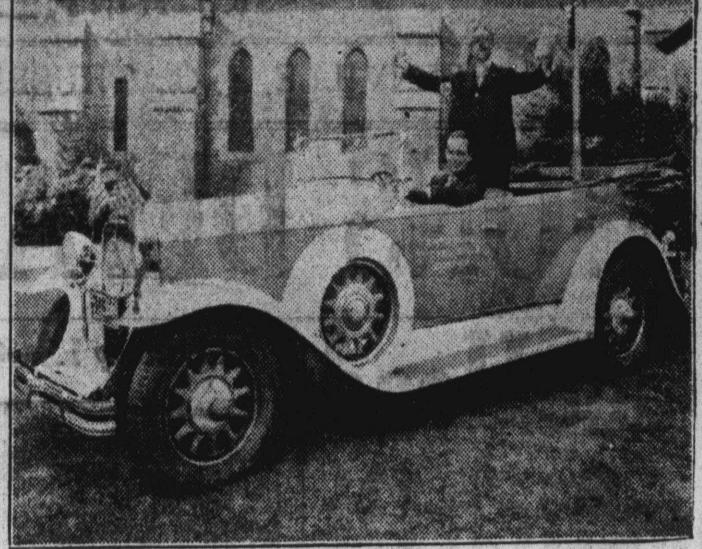

Back in 1888, before Cornelius existed, a law was passed making it illegal, to sell beer within a radius of three miles of Davidson College. As long as prohibition and nobody gave thought to the matter.

In the meantime Cornelius grew to a town of 1,200 population—within the three mile limit of the college. An election was held to determine the wishes of Cornelius.

Residents wanted beer, so protested the old regulation, which the legislature promptly amended, making it apply only to the corporate limits of the town of Davidson, where the college is situated.

CATHOLIC LAY APOSTLE HERE

David Goldstein, a convert from socialism "The Catholic Lay Apostle to the man in the street" and Theodore H. Dorsey of Baltimore, his assistant, will speak this evening at the Court House at eight o'clock.

The speakers will deliver their message from a specially constructed lecture-car which is attractively painted. It is decorated with a crucifix and flaks, to symbolize the cause it seeks to advance—that of God and country. Inside the rear part of this open lecture car is a compartment fitted with batteries, dynamo, microphones, and other machinery for the electrical transmission of the speakers voice.

Through three horns raised on a twelve foot mast, which is carried in three parts parts of the running board, when the car is traveling the voices are amplified so as to be heard for considerable distance.

When interviewed, this unique campaign, Mr. Goldstein said:

"The streets, squares, and parks are the natural forms of a free people, therefore, I do not believe that they should be monopolized, as they have been by propagators of treason blasphemy, half-truths. I have campaigned before I entered the Catholic church for a movement which I then thought held in its keeping the solution of the grave problems that confront the poor. But like Millerand, Briand, and Herve, of France, Mussolini, and Papini of Italy, Blatchford, of England, Spargo of our country, and others, I was brought, long before they were, to the realization that radicalism is but an idealists dream that arouses passion and leads to an intolerable injustice. I came to the conclusion that peace, based on Justice, which the hearts of all good men yearn for, depends upon a morality founded upon the teachings of the Christian religion; that all other ideals are worse than dreams, for the lead to disruption.

I know that our fellow-Americans are fair; that they believe in free speech and religious liberty, that they need to be approached in a frank, truthful and courteous way to get a hearing from them, even for the Catholic church, the most misunderstood institution in the world. I believe that the time has come when the voice of the laity of that oldest, most sublime, universal and Divine organization that Christ commissioned to teach should be heard and understood, if only to bring about a better understanding among the citizens of our beloved country by a better appreciation of each others view-point. Christ has been good to me. He has led me from error into truth, and in return, I mean to show my love for Him by making His church better-known. This, I shall endeavor to do with Christian courtesy. I am coming to your city not for the purpose of 'arousing religious animosities, there is too much of that already in the world. My purpose is to explain for animosities do not exist among men of good-will, when they know facts of the case. My talk in your city will be religiously Christian and patriotically American.

Mrs. C. L. Wilson and Mrs. V. A. Ward of Robersonville were hostesses to the American Legion Auxiliary in Robersonville Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wilson. The meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. Wiley Brown.

The membership committee reported 63 members for the year. The poppy sale chairman gave a gratifying report of poppy day, the total amount being $116.76 from the sale of poppies. The president gave a prize, a box of candy, to Edith Forrest for turning in the largest amount of money from the sale of her poppies. Mary Horne, who worked just as faithfully, won second prize, which was given by the Auxiliary.

Delegates to the convention in Wilmington August 17-19, were appointed as follows: Mrs. A. B. Corey, Mrs. W. A. Darden, and Mrs. Luther Bowling, delegates; and Mrs. Chas. Laughlinhouse, Mrs. Robert Joyner and Mrs. Walter Cherry, alternates.

The members enjoyed a delightful musical program, a saxophone solo by Charles Wilson, accompanied at the piano by F. W. Wilson; a piano number by Mrs. Wilson and prelude by Rachmaninoff, with a number of popular numbers by Mrs. Fred Rogers. The Greenville members showed their appreciation of the courtesy of Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Ward in entertaining the Auxiliary by attending in large numbers.—Reported.

Her duty will be to correspond with the secretary at Reedy Branch and will exchange reports each Sunday. Our treasurer will be Miss Wilma Allen who is also our assistant teacher. Points will be credited as follows: Each penny collected will count one point; each paper read in the Bible will count one point; each new member, five points; each visitor, one point; each old member, two points. Each member who attends each Sunday during the contest will count 20 extra points at the close. The contest will begin next Sunday, June 18, and will close the third Sunday in August. We hope this will increase interest in both Sunday schools and all young people are urged to attend one of these Sunday schools if they are not attending Sunday school elsewhere.

We are very proud of the fact that the daughter of one of our club members won the watch given by Blount-Harvey Company for the best dressed modeled at the meeting last Friday night at the college. The lucky girl is Miss Rubelle Vandiford, daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Vandiford.

Beauty Hints BY DOROTHY WILCOX (The Grapher's Model)

The simplest beauty treatments are the best, I have found. Nothing is better to preserve the softness and sheen of hair than a tea rinse. Frequent brushing helps. Cleanliness and charm of complexion are synonymous. I use Cas. the soap and bathe my face often. Nothing is worse than failure to remove old powder and other cosmetics.

Take care of yourself and you won't need much make-up.

GET ANOTHER SUSPECT IN STORE ROBBERIES

Rocky Mount, June 15—Lee Wall, of Middlesex was in Wilson jail to day facing charges of receiving stolen goods following his arrest today, the seventh suspect taken in the investigation of a wholesale tire and cigarette robbery gang operating in Eastern Carolina.

L. F. Trazzaz, Southern Railway investigator, here to round up a band believed to have used modern gangster methods, said tonight that he expected further arrests "if certain angles of the investigation materialize."

No hearing date has been set for Wall, who is facing Federal charges and no bond had been set, in as far as could be learned.

The band is accused of 28 robberies of box cars and wholesale houses and goods valued at several thousand dollars have been recovered.

M. P. (Railroad) Ray, of this city one of the suspects taken in the dragnet is held in Greenville jail in default of $15,000 bond on four counts of receiving goods.

Build Up that Skinny Child!

Enrich His Impoverished Blood

Sickly, weak, underweight children are usually lacking in rich, red blood. When blood becomes poor, a child becomes rundown. Already weak, he loses appetite, which makes him still weaker. Take no chances on a child gaining strength by himself. Start giving him Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic right away. This famous tonic contains both iron and tasteless quinine. Iron makes for rich, red blood while quinine tends to purify the blood. In other words, you get two effects in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Put your child on this time-proven tonic for a few days and see the difference it makes in him. Good appetite, lots of pep and energy and red roses in his cheeks. Children like Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic and take it eagerly. It is absolutely harmless and has been a reliable family medicine for half a century. Get a bottle today at any store.

AYDEN CROWDS LOCAL LEAGUE CLUB OFF TOP

Ayden yesterday afternoon blanked the local baseball club in a game that was a regular pitcher's duel. The score was 2-0. Dave Johnson did the pitching for Ayden and allowed Greenville only six scattered hits and walked only one runner. Walston who pitched for the locals, also pitched a beautiful game and allowed only eight hits. Ayden, however, was able to hit when they meant runs.

Greenville was in a position to score three times during the game. This was in the third, fourth and eighth inning, but the locals could not get that hit to put the runner around. Ayden scored its first run in the sixth frame after garnering three hits and a timely hit by Wall. The final run was made in the eighth inning as a result of two hits and a long fly.

For Ayden, Morris, Bunting and Autry were the outstanding hitters, each getting two hits. For Greenville, Harrington was the main clog getting two hits out of four trips to the bat, and making the only two base hit of the game.

The game was a pitcher's battle from beginning to end and was witnessed by a large number of local fans. It was just a case of where the local boys could not hit when hits meant runs. Walston received splendid support from his teammates as only one error was chalked up against the boys.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

It is another source of irritation to old timer baseball friends to see and hear so much agitation over the "iron man" performances of Robert Moses Grove, who at one recent stretch appeared as relief pitcher in nine out of eleven successive games for the Athletics.

"Where do you get that stuff about Grove being such an iron man?" asks the old-timer. "No doubt he is as tough as they come, as durable as any in the business, now, adays, but what he has been doing is child's play by comparison with real exhibitions of stamina by men like Radbourne, Walsh, Chesbro, Spalding, Johnson, McGinnity and others.

"The real measure of a pitcher's endurance is in the complete games he pitches. Get that one—COMPLETE GAMES—not two or three innings a day.

"Why, man, that Old Hoss, Radbourne, once pitched 22 consecutive COMPLETE GAMES for the Providence team of the old National League. That was in 1884. Nine years before that A. G. Spalding pitched in 39 consecutive games for the Boston club of the National Association. He was in the box right along from the latter part of May until the end of July. Iron man Grove? Don't make me laugh.

Johnson A Work Horse

"Even in the so-called modern rank, pitchers like Walsh and Johnson outdid anything Grove has achieved to date for real endurance. Walsh pitched in 66 games in 1908 with the White Sox. Johnson was a work horse and demonstrated it on that one celebrated stretch where he beat New York three times in a row—Friday, Saturday and Monday—all complete games.

"The record for complete games pitched is 48 by Jack Chesbro, made in 1904 with the Highlanders, fore-runners of the Yankees. The record for games finished, 47 is held by Fipps Fred Marberry, with Washington in 1926. Subsequently, reversing the present Grove process Marberry was made a starting pitcher, and sold this past winter to Detroit.

Yanks Respect A's

The Yankees dropped five of their first eight games to Washington and captured the first eight in a row against the Athletics, but—The Yankees still think the A's are a more dangerous challenger for the championship than the Washington outfit.

"How do you figure that one?" I asked Joe McCarthy and Babe Ruth in a recent joint session.

"Well," said Marse Joe "Washington doesn't go so well against the rest of the league. They work up a lather against us, apparently, but then it wears off."

"Yeah," injected the Babe, "and don't forget those A's have good pitching and plenty of hitters. It would be just too bad if they still had Simmons in there, but they are doing pretty good at that."

SNOW HILL WINS

Snow Hill, June 15—Snow Hill scored its first league win today and advanced to third place by defeating Kinston 6-5, here.

Hardy, Kinston hurler, held the locals to five hits but he issued eight passes and his lack of control proved his undoing. Rhodes and J. Shirley pitched for the locals, the former giving eight hits in 6 1-2 inning and Shirley giving one over the rest of the route. Dudley caught for Kinston; Gardner caught for Snow Hill. Humphries featured afield and Brock, with two hits in four tries started at bat for Kinston. Sanford Peele with two hits in three efforts led Snow Hill.

GRIMESLAND CANCELS GAME WITH LOCALS

The second of a seven game schedule of the local team of the Coastal Plain league had been canceled today, it was announced this morning by Manager Milton Harrington.

The game was to have been played at Grimesland but the manager of that club notified Harrington yesterday that it would have to be postponed on account of the death of a prominent citizen of that community.

Although negotiations for a game sometime in the near future were not begun it was understood a new date would be arranged in the near future.

Because of the postponement the local leagues will mark time today in preparation for the game here tomorrow with Snow Hill. The following day Kinston will appear here for the first time since the opening of the league.

With Greenville losing its place at the top of the standing of clubs column by dropping yesterday's game at Ayden, every effort will be put forth to capture the two games here this week.

TARBORO WILL PLAY GRIMESLAND TOMORROW

The Grimesland baseball club after a series of victories over teams in this part of the state will take on Tarboro tomorrow afternoon at Grimesland, it was announced today.

The game was expected to be one of the best of the season and large attendance was being anticipated.

New York Cotton

New York, June 15.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady four to six lower under commission house selling and unfavorable view of the Washington reports.

July sold off to 9.10 and December to 9.48 during early trading making net losses of 17 to 19 points.

Offers were fairly well taken by covering and trading buying at declines and the market showed rallies of from four to five at the lowest.

Fluctuations were nervous and irregular later in the morning but the market held steady and some of the early buyers seemed to be covering on the late forenoon bulge which carried July to 9.22 and December to 9.60.

The market was quite steady at midday.

The market eased late in the day under liquidation and general selling. Futures closed easy 38 to 44 lower, middling 8.95.

Big Navy Program

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—A $239,000,000 naval building program intended to put 36 new ships into the water in three years was announced today by Secretary Swanson.

President Roosevelt had to allocate the fund out of the $3,800,000,000 public works appropriations and is anxious to have the work begun as soon as possible. Swanson said.

"We will build to the fullest capacity of shipyard facilities," he said. "As quickly as possible we want to put people to work at shipbuilding where 85 per cent of the expenditure goes to labor. We can start in the navy yards at once."

"We hope to open bids for private yards in July and may be ready to go ahead with them by August so that depends a great deal on bids."

Asked whether the construction would affect the Geneva arms conference, Swanson former delegate, said "not since we want to do anything except as it has been agreed we should do."

Vote To Sustain Roosevelt

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—A conference of House Democrats today voted 171 to 31 to sustain President Roosevelt's compromise on veterans compensation in the tally of the House of Representatives.

The conference vote was not binding on the pay membership. It was explained by Democratic leaders that it merely voiced the sentiment of a majority of the Democrats.
