EUROPE PROPOSES STABILIZATION OF CURRENCY

America Seeks 10 Percent Tariff Reduction In London

Tentative Agreement Submitted By Experts Received At Capital

CLOSE STUDY BEING GIVEN BY AMERICANS

Agreement Understood to Provide for Control of Exchange to Smooth Out Money Fluctuations Rather Than Fixing Rates; Only Washington Approval Was Reported Lacking at London Economic Conference

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—An European proposal for temporary stabilization of currency had been transmitted to the Washington government today by the American delegation at the London conference. It is being given close study at the treasury.

London, June 17.—(AP)—A tentative agreement on controlled stabilization was reached by experts and submitted to the home government for approval. It was learned at world economic conference quarters today.

The agreement, it was understood, provides for control of exchange to smooth out money fluctuations rather than definitely fixing the rates. In French delegations it was learned that only Washington's approval was lacking as this was expected to be forthcoming so that announcement of the accord could be made at the opening of the market Monday.

This forecast was regarded as too optimistic by some of the other delegations. The French and other delegates from good trading countries this morning were avoiding using the controversial word stabilization and employing the term "arrangement to minimize fluctuations." Conference headquarters announced that fourteen more nations had accepted the Roosevelt truce on tariff changes making a total of 33 adherents so far.

INSTITUTE OF GOVERNMENT TO HOLD SESSION AT U. N. C.

Chapel Hill, June 17.—With members of the North Carolina delegation in Congress and representatives of city, county, and state, and federal officials in attendance, the 1933 session of the Institute of Government will be held here at the University of North Carolina on next Friday and Saturday, June 23 and 24.

The complete program was announced today for the first time by Albert Coats, director of the Institute, who said the main theme of the two-day session will be the detailed interpretation and discussion of legislation passed by the North Carolina General Assembly and the National Congress of 1933 for the benefit of governmental units and all groups of officials affected thereby. The formal opening of the Institute will be held in the Graham Memorial Friday night at 7 o'clock when Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Lt. Gov. A. H. Graham, and Speaker R. L. Harris will address the gathering. Presidents of groups of officers and citizens affiliated with the Institute will outline the work done during the past year and indicate the program for the future.

Proceeding the formal opening will be a luncheon meeting in Graham Memorial at 1 o'clock Friday of the State Board of Advisers and a buffet supper on the University campus under the Davie Poplar at 6 o'clock

MILLIONAIRE BREWING HEAD IS KIDNAPED

Ransom of $100,000 Sought For Return Of William Ham At St. Paul

St. Paul, Mo., June 17.—(AP)—The millionaire president of a brewing company—William Ham apparently was a prisoner today of kidnapers who demanded payment of $100,000 under threat of death.

The police after making a preliminary probe of the abduction withdrew from the search for the kidnapers at the request of the missing man's family.

The police said they hoped the action would facilitate negotiations for his release. Ham was reported missing sometime Thursday afternoon and the first word of his capture came by telephone from his abductors to William Dunn, business associate of Ham at 5 o'clock.

Dunn had last seen Ham at 12:30 when the latter started home for lunch.

"We have kidnaped Ham, you will hear from us later," said the voice over the telephone to Dunn. Yesterday morning Dunn received a note requesting that the money be sent in denominations of $5, $10 and $20. Efforts to get in touch with the senders and to trace the whereabouts of Ham proved futile. Authorities turned to search for Berne Sankey, already wanted for other similar crimes after his picture had been identified by taxi driver as the man who gave him a note to deliver to Dunn, manager of the Theo-Ham Brewing Company, of which the kidnaped man is president and treasurer.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR THE WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY

Mostly fair weather except for local thundershowers in the mountains Wednesday or Thursday and again at the end of the week. Temperatures slightly below normal, warmer the latter half of the week.

PLAN GIVEN TO DELEGATES CONFERENCE

Continuation of Tariff Truce and Bi-lateral Agreement Is Sought; Economic Commission Expected to Deal Chiefly With Tariff Problems

London, June 17.—(AP)—A proposal for a general ten per cent reduction of tariff has been submitted to the economic commission of the world conference by the American delegation. It was learned today.

This topic presented for consideration in writing, was submitted among others at the request of the chairman who asked the various delegations to file briefs to assist in making up the commission agents.

Other suggestions from America included: A continuation of the tariff truce Bi-lateral agreements. Compensation and clearance agreements.

The economic commission is expected to deal chiefly with tariff. It was pointed out in American quarters that the suggestion was made by the United States delegation were merely to present topics for consideration.

The general ten per cent reduction in tariff has been the only one urged by some delegation quarters. The compensation and clearance agreements relate chiefly to countries exercising foreign control.

The Anglo-Argentine trade agreement is sighted as an example. Under this pact the British government that credit received on payment of the Argentine debt to Britain.

GOLDSTEIN TO GO TO AYDEN

Lecturer Concludes Speaking Here And Will Be At Ayden Tonight

An audience seated on the lawn and in their cars at the court house last night listened to a unique address by David Goldstein of Boston, on the "Catholic Church and the Telling Masses." Mr. Goldstein, whose sociological books are widely read, is considered to be an authority on the subject of his address. He was formerly a Socialist, having been the first candidate of the Socialist party for mayor of his home city, Boston.

In the course of his remarks the speaker brought out the relation of his church to the work of bettering the condition of the toilers. He told of the condition of slavery that existed at the time the work of Christ's church began; how the insistence upon Christian standards of human relationship were substituted for pagan standards. An interesting story was told of the conversion of nations by Catholic missionaries; the work of the guilds in those ages when the church brought the master and the man into organized activity for their moral as well as material well being; the work done for education a thousand years before Gutenberg invented the printing press; the home, hospitals and other Christian-like institutions which were originated by the church and are still being conducted for the interest of the toiling masses.

Dealing with socialism and communism, which he designated as Fascism applied, Mr. Goldstein declared "The Catholic Church is the one supra-national society that has never stood the world over unitedly against the doctrinaires de." (Continued On Page Four)

WARREN SAYS FEDERAL BANK COMING HERE

Congressman Wires Reflector Definitely That Bank Will Be Located Here

Following telephone announcement yesterday that the government would establish a Home Loan Bank in Greenville, The Daily Reflector later received a telegram from Congressman Lindsay Warren confirming the statement.

The telegram follows: "I am very happy to announce that I am authorized by Chairman Stevenson of the Home Loan Bank Act to announce that next week the board will establish a fourth bank in North Carolina and that it will be located at Greenville. It will render outstanding service to all of Eastern Carolina and Pitt county."

Chairman Stevenson has explained that the board has just begun its task of setting up the machinery for carrying out the law covering the refinancing of mortgages on small homes, and this setting up will include the appointment of the managers or agents in each of the 48 states. These officers of the corporation in turn will select assistants and appraisers to handle loan applications in the respective sections.

Application forms, together with statements explanatory of the recently enacted law, will be printed and distributed as soon as the corporation machinery can be set in motion. Meanwhile, the thousands of inquiries and loan applications will be informed by letter and in the public press respecting the progress of organization, and when and where application forms will be made available.

The personnel for these banks will be named next week. Although plans for administration of the funds have not been completely formulated, the law provides the following provisions for obtaining loans:

The corporation is authorized, for a period of three years after date of enactment of this Act, (1) to acquire in exchange for bonds issued by it, home mortgages and other obligations and liens secured by real estate (including the interest of a vendor under a purchase-money mortgage or contract) recorded or filed in the proper office prior to the date of the enactment of this Act, and (2) in connection with any such exchange, to make advances in cash to pay the taxes and assessments on the real estate, to provide for necessary maintenance and make necessary repairs, to meet the incidental expenses of the transaction, and to pay such amounts, not exceeding $50, to the holder of the mortgage, obligation, lien acquired as may be the difference between the face value of the bonds exchanged plus accrued interest thereon and the purchase price.

Nome Alaska, June 17.—(AP)—Since Jimmie Mattern took off Wednesday at Khabrovsk, Siberia, to cross the north Pacific in his globe girdling flight, no word has come from him, but Alaska armmen said today that was not unusual in flying in the far north. They reviewed the trail of the long 2,500 miles flight part of it over water and rough land, and told of the difficulty of a forced landing anywhere along the Asiatic coast in the Aleutians or on the shore fringing the Bearing sea.

BOARD ORDERS START CURING ALL PROPERTY BRIGHT LEAF PUT ON BOOKS

House to House Canvass To Be Made Here To List Personal Property

One of the most far-reaching movements to get personal property taxes on the books this year was inaugurated at a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen this week when virtually a house-to-house canvass of the city was ordered to see that all property is properly listed.

The action came after the discovery that considerable personal property had not been listed in recent years, and especially the last two or three years.

The board employed L. H. Bowler to assist in the listing of property taxes during the next month or so, and he together with the remainder of listers will make the most thorough canvass ever reported in the history of the city. It was stated that every person who had not listed in recent years would be visited by the listers and an accurate estimate of their holdings placed on the city tax books. It was expected the tax books would receive quite a boost from this action and that the city's coffers would smile with more cash when the time for payment rolls around.

Late News Flashes

Attempts To Break Jail. Rocky Mount, June 17.—(AP)—Police revealed today that Dewey Williams, suspected leader of a gang of box car, and wholesale house robbers was confined in a special cell today following his attempt to escape jail at Wilson yesterday. Williams was arrested Wednesday night at Smithfield. He was the tenth man taken as police rounded up what they believed to be a band of thieves operating in eastern Carolina. Police here said Williams tore a radiator from his cell and used the iron pipe to beat out the brick of the wall near his window. He was discovered shortly before he could have crawled to freedom. "I needed fresh air," was his only comment when officers found him. Not Satisfied With Proposal. Washington, June 17.—(AP)—European proposals for a temporary stabilization of currencies were said authoritatively today to be unsatisfactory. (Continued On Page Four)

Jack Killingsworth Given Liberty After Being Kidnapped Yesterday

Bolivar Mo., June 17.—(AP)—Sheriff Jack Killingsworth, county sheriff, kidnaped by Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, Oklahoma, desperado, and companion yesterday, was returned home today unharmed. E. W. Bitzer, Bolivar, garageman and friend of the sheriff said. He said Killingsworth telephoned him today to meet him at Quinton, Mo.

He said he met him there in a car and returned the sheriff to his home. The sheriff could not be reached immediately as he was resting from the ordeal of a long drive in company with Flood and his companion. Bitzer said the sheriff told him the outlaws abandoned the car in which they fled for another near Deep Water and also took along its owner whose name was not learned. The other man was released at the same time as Killingsworth.

The killers died in one or more cars after pouring a murderous fire into the parked car which officers and prisoners were boarding out of the east part of the station. The dead: Frank Nash, federal convict being returned to Leavenworth prison. Raymond Caffey, agent of the bureau of investigation. W. J. (Red) Grooms, city detective of Kansas City. Otto Reed, chief of police of McAlester, Okla.

Frank Smith, investigator for the department of justice, F. J. Locke, agent of the federal bureau of investigation, who was wounded, and arrived at the station at 7 o'clock with Nash, who was captured yesterday in Hot Springs, Ark. Nash escaped from federal penitentiary at Leavenworth in 1930.

They were met by R. E. McVetel, chief of the United States bureau of investigation for Kansas and Missouri, and Raymond Caffey an investigator for the bureau. Three of the officers and Nash died on the spot. Caffey died in a hospital, one was wounded and the other escaped. The assassins fled west and eluded police guards which rushed to the scene.

BOARD MEETS AGAIN FRIDAY

Tobaccoists Revise By-laws In Executive Session Here Last Night

The Tobacco Board of Trade met in executive session at Person-Garrett factory last night but the only matter given consideration was revision of the by-laws.

Changes of a minor nature were perfected in the by-laws it was said. Another meeting of the board will be held next Friday night when the program for the coming season will be definitely drafted. Plans for the season will be the most far-reaching of years in view of the lead which the market had obtained over all other bright leaf markets of the world.

R. M. Garrett presided over the session last night and the majority of members were present.

GLEN RAVEN YOUTH IS OBJECT OF SEARCH

Burlington, June 16.—Robert Lay, 18, Glen Raven young man who was last seen on Sunday when he left home, was the object of a search today at the request of a widowed mother. The young man is described as having dark red hair and freckles, and weighing 130 pounds. When he left home he wore a white shirt and brown striped trousers, and brownish cap. His shoulders are slightly stooped.

DENY ALLEGATIONS IN $76,000 HICKORY SUIT

Hickory, June 17.—Denials of all major allegations, including even those based on citation of official records, are contained in the answer filed by Catawba county to the school bond transfer suit recently instituted by the City of Hickory. It was learned here today.

The answer, which has been placed on file with Superior Court Clerk Russell M. Yount at Newton, is the latest development in the legal action by which the city of Hickory is seeking to compel Catawba county to assume $76,000 of outstanding school bonds. A complaint was filed by C. W. Bagby, Hickory city attorney in May.

SYNOPSIS: Georgie Bancroft has gone up to London for a lark and has met there Clifford Asher, who asks permission to see her again. But all thought of Asher is driven from her mind by the news that Nicholas Boyd is ill at the inn in her home village. Boyd, cheated of his film career by an accident that maims his face, is resting there. She reaches home only to learn that Lovelock, her choleric uncle's housekeeper, is dangerously ill and must go to the hospital. Left alone, she is startled by a banging at the door.

Chapter 18
UNCLE EDWARD

In a moment Georgie was wide awake, realizing that it was merely her uncle coming home from the Board's Head. She passed a trembling hand over her ruffled hair and went out into the hall to meet him.

Edward Bancroft stood at the foot of the stairs, his face flushed and his hat on the floor at his feet; he stared at Georgie for a moment in silence, then he burst out:

"What's all this nonsense? Where is Lovelock?"

Georgie's lip trembled. "Dr. Dudd sent her to the hospital, she's ill."

"Ill!" He swayed a little. "Ill! Rot and rubbish," he stormed, as Georgie had known he would. "Over eaten, that's what's the matter with her. Look at me? Do I ever make a pig of myself?"

"Not with food," Georgie said. He swayed a little closer to her.

"What do you mean by that?" he demanded thickly. "You mean that I drink, I suppose, do you? A nice thing when a man's own whipper-snapper of a niece tells him he's drunk."

"I didn't say you were drunk," Georgie said. She was very near tears; the events of the day had shattered her nerves. "But all the same I think you've had enough and you ought to go to bed."

"Had enough, have I?" he roared. "And who gave you permission to tell me when I'd had enough? Go to bed and mind your own business."

"I'm going," Georgie said, thankful to be dismissed so easily, but when she would have passed him to mount the stairs, he caught her by the arm, swinging her roughly round to him again.

"Lovelock's gone has she? Well, you can go too, and good riddance. I'm sick of white-faced, useless females about the house. What good are you, anyway. I should like to know, standing there staring at me with your moon-struck eyes. Just like your mother; the same selfish..."

Georgie suddenly regained her courage.

"You can leave my mother out of the question," she said with spirit. "And as for staying here, do you think I want to stay if I'd got anywhere else to go?"—she broke off with a little cry of alarm. "Oh, you're not going to hit me?"

"Hit you." He kept his rough hold of her for a moment, staring at her with his blood-shot eyes, then suddenly he pushed her from him with all his strength, so unexpectedly that her light body was flung back before she could make any attempt to recover herself. She half swung round in a desperate attempt to catch at something to save herself from falling and her head came into violent contact with the heavy oak balusters.

"That'll teach you, perhaps, my lady," Edward Bancroft muttered and with a grim laugh of satisfaction he slunk off unsteadily to his library leaving Georgie where she had fallen.

Nicholas Boyd came slowly down the winding old staircase of the Board's Head and, crossing the deserted lounge, looked out at the sunshine.

Dr. Dudd had advised him to lie up for a day or two longer, but Nicholas was not a man to take advice, so this morning he had dressed and had been tempted by the bright sunshine to venture out.

Nicholas walked slowly down the road, his thoughts many miles away—for only that morning he had received a letter from his wife, characteristically flippant and selfish, informing him that she had at last got the opportunity she had long desired and that those who were in a position to know, were assured that she was well on her way to becoming a great star.

"I am to play opposite Roy Francis in a story called 'Moonlight.' It seems funny, doesn't it, that you and I should suddenly have changed places in the world. I wonder what you are doing? Isn't it rather silly to bury yourself, as you have done? At any rate I am sure that now you will see how wise I was not to have gone with you. If I had, I should have missed this chance, but as it is, the dream of my life has come true."

"The dream of my life has come true—"

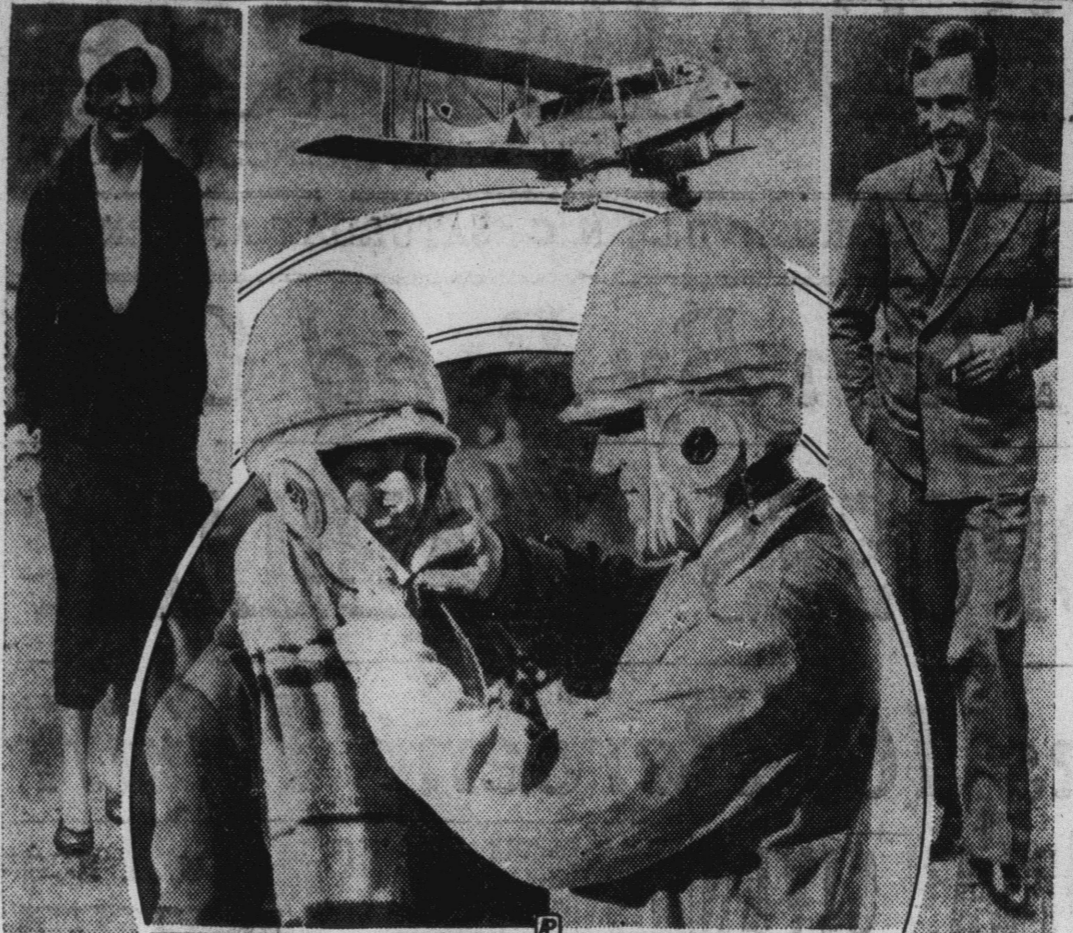

She had said almost those same words to him when they were first married—when she was basking in the reflected sunshine of his glory, when she was someone because of him.

He wondered if he envied her or if the noise and artificial glamor of the life from which he was cut off had ceased to mean anything to him.

In those days there had always been anxiety, striving, fear lest yet another star should fall into obscurity, whereas now he knew the worst, there was nothing any longer to hope for, or dread!

It was so peaceful here in the heart of England; the trees and fields and hedgerows were like the faces of half-forgotten friends which one recognizes with quiet

MOLLISONS AERIAL PARTNERS AT LAST; NEW YORK-BAGDAD TRIP UNITES THEM

Here are Capt. and Mrs. James A. Mollison, who will fly together for the first time in a projected trip from London to New York and return via Bagdad in the airplane Seafarer shown above. Mrs. Mollison, as the former Amy Johnson, established several aviation records, among other things flying from England to Australia and England to Tokyo. Later she broke the record for the England-Cape Town trip established by her husband, first to make the westward crossing of the Atlantic in a solo flight.

(By The Associated Press)

The flying Mollisons have turned their aerial solo acts into a duo that challenges three world records over a course running from London to New York and return via Bagdad.

Just to keep things straight—maybe it's better to have them hitting the headlines together with a 50-50 cut on the honors. Because that name Mollison has been doing double duty among aviation scorekeepers since Capt. James Mollison and Amy Johnson stopped long enough between flights to attend their own wedding.

That event—it was in England last July—came as a romantic conclusion to a series of aerial adventures that made big news of their visit to the marriage license bureau.

Before that no one—not even the home folk in Amy's native Hull, England—could tell where the 23-year-old flier might bob up—any more than one could have predicted where Mollison's plane would lead him, or that in August, 1932, he would be acclaimed as the first flier to solo westward over the Atlantic.

He gained a record there, but he lost one in November when the bride he had left behind for his American adventure got a playful revenge by clipping 10 hours off the speed record he had set for the perilous England-Cape Town flight.

For a time she was reported missing over the Sahara, but to brave this waste she summoned the courage that had served her in 1930 when as Amy Johnson she flew from England to Australia in 15 days, despite crashes and sandstorms en route, and the steady her a few months later when she made a record flight to Tokyo, varied by forced landings and other perils.

It was excitement matching anything in the experience of her 27-year-old Scotch husband, whose latest major flight exploit was an 18-hour flight from England to South America.

And there'll be thrills enough for two along the 12,000 mile journey that will hear the 135-mile-an-hour roar of their airplane Seafarer.

An accurate division of Lake Erie by Prof. C. E. Sherman of Ohio State University, gives Ohio 3,540 square miles of that body of water.

Edouard Herriot out. The budget tripped up Joseph. Paul-Boncour orator par-excellence.

Daladier has skirted the debts question, using utmost care not to rile a parliament which has shown no enthusiasm whatever about resuming payments to the United States since the December default.

On the budget, Daladier moved cautiously, playing the Senate and the chamber against each other skillfully. The senate wanted swift retrenchment in government expenses; the chamber was anything but eager to make economies.

Daladier ended up with a 1933 budget that is $144,000,000 in deficit, but he still has his job.

How long he can manage to keep harmony is a political riddle. The senate already has warned him that he must take hold firmly and produce a thorough financial overhauling to take the government out of the red.

In the chamber his chief problem is the socialist group on whom he depends for support. To keep them in line, his main weapon has been the ever-present threat of a coalition government of the center parties which would put the socialists in the opposition.

Like the late President Coolidge, Daladier doesn't talk much. In sharp contrast, to Herriot who writes and talks constantly on the problems that interest him, Daladier reserves his remarks for official occasions. Then he makes short speeches. Consequently he avoids rubbing parliament the wrong way.

A center coalition government sooner or later appears inevitable to many politicians. They say that if it comes it would not be at all surprising to find the careful, calculating Daladier heading it instead of impulsive Herriot who thus far has seemed to have the call.

Oil Price Inquiry In Australia Based Upon 48-Cent Gas

Canberra, (AP)—The federal government of Australia has appointed S. Lamb, a leading lawyer, to investigate the petroleum companies doing business in the commonwealth.

Motorists have been complaining that the big companies, mostly American, have been milking them dry. They point to the minimum cost of gasoline of 48 cents a gallon as reason for their plaint.

The question already has developed into something of a political controversy and leaders of various parties are predicting that it may yet become a major issue.

Some even say that oil prices and profits and what can be done about them might easily be the deciding factor in a federal election.

Two general ideas have been advanced for handling the problem. Under one the government would take over the trade, importing petroleum in bulk, refining it and distributing it as a federal monopoly.

The other plan suggests development of Australia's huge shale deposits. Advocates of this scheme would like to see the government take a hand here by subsidizing production or by granting preferential treatment for domestic over foreign gasoline.

RECOGNITION FOR GREENVILLE

There now seems little doubt that Greenville will be the home of one of the Federal Home Loan Banks to be put into operation at an early date. For whatever benefits that are to be derived by our city from the location of the bank here our thanks will be to Congressman Lindsay C. Warren. Mr. Warren has exerted every effort to get recognition for our town and county by urging the establishment of this institution here and yesterday his efforts were rewarded by announcement from the chairman of the Home Loan Board that Greenville would get a bank to serve the eastern section of the state.

Of course we feel that Greenville, the Hub of Eastern Carolina, is the logical place for such a bank and it is gratifying to us that Congressman Warren feels likewise about it. We wish to publicly extend our thanks to him for his efforts in behalf of getting this institution, the first federal agency ever established in this state east of Raleigh, for Greenville.

Lingering Echoes

Milan, Italy—(AP)—The first encore to be sung at the famous Scala opera house in more than 20 years has created a back-stage uproar with threats of changes in the theatre's staff for next season.

Fedor Chaliapin sang the encore. Franco Ghione, orchestra director, bore the brunt of the blame by Manager Mattaloni.

Since before the Toscanini days audiences at the Scala have applauded without hope of a repetition. Chaliapin knew this and says the theater management had no right to break the tradition despite the thunderous ovation that greeted his singing in "The Barber of Seville."

Ghione certainly knew it and should not have obeyed the star's signal to start over again. Mattaloni maintains. The manager is said to have been so worked up over the incident that he told the maestro he need not expect to be re-engaged next year.

The maestro's defense is that when Chaliapin called to him to start again "da copo" or "from the beginning" he had either to do so or create a scene.

ADMITTED TO BAIL IN HIGHWAY FATALITY

Kinston, June 16.—Clem Chavin, negro chauffeur held in connection with a collision near here Sunday in which four persons were injured, one fatally, has been admitted to bail in the sum of $2,500. He is charged with manslaughter. Mrs. Varian Whitfield, 44, who suffered a fractured skull, died Monday. Her son, John, Jr., 8, is in a hospital with a fractured skull, his condition serious. Her husband, J. T. Whitfield and Mary Frances Cox, 11, were less seriously hurt.

Chavin is driver for Mrs. W. A. Erwin, Jr., of the Durham mill family, the former Miss Hilda Randolph of Kinston.

Fins Gain By British Embargo

Helsingfors—(AP)—As a result of the British embargo on soviet wood products, Finland already has sold 530,000 standards of timber this year, twice the trade for the first half of 1932. England took 270,000 standards. Prices are rising.

Cat's Meow Means Harmony Here

Washington—(AP)—"Timmie" the most famous cat known to Washington's official life, is receiving visitors again with something of his old nonchalance.

Timmie has a most "un-catlike" love for the society of birds, a characteristic which has greatly added to his visiting list among the great and near-great of the capital.

The cat, belonging to Bascom Timmons of Texas, newspaperman, and last year's president of the National Press Club, was happy all winter with a pair of duck companions.

The trio ate from the same plate and when Timmie curled up for the night the ducks slept next to him or on top of him as the situation permitted. But the ducks grew too large for apartment house living and had to go.

Timmie mourned and refused to eat.

Mr. and Mrs. Timmons capitulated. They bought him a fluffy, baby chick. The arrant cat is happy now and the chick shows no surprise at his odd foster-mother.

Timmie's strange desire for bird companions arose when President and Mrs. Coolidge sent a canary to the Timmons household. The cat was a mere kitten then.

The canary hopped around him, tweaked his whiskers and hopped away twittering excitedly at his own playfulness. Timmie seemed to think it over and decide that the little feathered person was quite all right as a companion.

The news of the odd friendship spread and many famous persons, among them General John J. Pershing, came to visit. For the general Timmie could usually be coaxed to put on his boxing act, turning into a veritable, furry fighter. The general chuckled and the cat arched his back for an approving pat.

In his lighter moments he plays hide-and-seek and "cat polo," a game he originated. He bats the ball for a goal and his owners, for want of a better name, have decided he is playing a feline form of polo.

But he does it only when the mood moves him.

Dairy products led all agricultural products in Tennessee in 1932.

Daladier Confounds Prophets By 4 Months Success For Cabinet

Paris—(AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier is turning out to be France's political surprise package.

Given just about a month of "transitional" power when he went into office January 31, succeeding the short-lived Paul-Boncour government, the little country school teacher deputy has confounded the political experts by hanging on for more than four months.

His friends claim he has fair prospects of seeing the summer through.

A native shrewdness that enables him to feel the parliamentary pulse with uncanny accuracy plus an inclination to talk only when necessary are cited as the two main qualities that have served him well this far.

Western Point of Europe Dedicated To Navigator

Lisbon—(AP)—An old world symbol comparable to the famous Statue of Liberty in New York harbor will meet the gaze of travelers approaching the extreme west of Europe; if the present intentions of the Portuguese government are carried out.

The statue will be to the memory of Prince Henry the navigator, who lived 1394-1460, and made the discovery of the new world possible. He was the pioneer of deep water navigation.

The purpose of the memorial will be to remind all coming to Portugal that it was Prince Henry's work in the study of winds and astronomical navigation which paved the way for the voyages of Columbus, Magellan and Drake.

COUNCIL TO DECIDE ON SUNDAY BASEBALL

Edenton, June 16.—The Edenton city council will meet Friday night to decide whether or not Sunday baseball will be allowed in Edenton this summer. The matter came up at the meeting of the council Tuesday night but was postponed to give both factions, those for and those against Sunday baseball, a chance to express themselves.

Hicks' Field, the local ball diamond, was leased to the Edenton Colonials by the council.

NAMED RECEIVER FOR 'CERTAIN SECURITIES'

Winston Salem, June 15—(AP)—Judge H. Hoyle Sink today appointed Fred S. Hutchins, Winston Salem attorney, receiver for certain securities held in a lock-box by W. T. Shore, Charlotte attorney who is being sued by Mrs. Laura Webb Bohannon for alleged misapplication of funds turned over to him by her.

The securities were impounded some time ago by William E. Church clerk of Forsyth Superior court.

QUESTIONED IN COLLINGS CASE

Frank Dreger, 61, (right) of New York, held in Bridgeport, Conn., as a burglary suspect, was the center of an investigation into the slaying sound. Mrs. Collings partially identified Dreger as one of the two men who boarded their boat. He denied any connection with the case. Dreger was arrested in Darien, Conn., with Joseph Guarino, 20, (left) charged with burglary. Standing behind the two suspects is Stephen Stanton, a state policeman. (Associated Press Photo)

SCOTT-OVERTON

Mr. and Mrs. Dolphin D. Overton announce the marriage of their daughter Florence Stone to Mr. Walter Glenn Scott on Saturday, June the seventeenth, Greenville, North Carolina. No announcements sent in town.

This morning at nine o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Overton, Miss Florence Overton was married to Walter Glenn Scott of this city, in a private ceremony witnessed only by relatives and close friends of the two families.

For the wedding, the spacious lower floor was artistically decorated in ferns and shasta daisies. In the music room an altar was improvised with baskets of daisies and white gladioli against a background of ferns, palms and lighted candles.

As the guests assembled Mrs. Kenneth Brim of Greensboro, rendered a short program of nuptial music, and just prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Robert Fountain, Jr., sang "Because," and Jonathan Overton sang "At Dawning." The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was used as the processional and the Wedding March from "A Midsummer Night's Dream," by Mendelssohn, as the recessional.

The only attendants of the bride were her two little nieces, Dolly Overton Brim and Betsy White Fountain, who preceded the bride and groom down the broad mahogany stairway and untied the ribbons of the short aisle leading to the altar. They were dressed in pale yellow ruffled organdie and carried old-fashioned nosegays of forget-me-nots and sweetheart roses. The vows were spoken before the Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, who used the impressive ring ceremony of the Methodist Episcopal Church, while Mrs. Brim softly played "Meditation" from Thais.

The bride wore a modish ensemble of Eleanor blue crepe with dark blue accessories. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of sweetheart roses and valley lilies.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott left immediately on a motor trip through the Shenandoah Valley to northern cities.

Mrs. Scott, a graduate of the Southern Conservatory of Music, is a musician of rare talent and her beauty and charm have made her a host of friends throughout the state. Many social courtesies were accorded her following the announcement of her engagement.

Mr. Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Scott of Tarboro. He is a popular young business man of large deposits of gold in this section of the country.

The Black Ankle Mine was leased to this company in January, 1932 by E. L. Hedrick of Asheboro, who owns the tract. The company is composed of David S. Moore, president; David F. Fort, vice-president; Albert W. Sager, secretary and treasurer, and Phillip Ennes, metallurgist.

The mine is to be opened formally on June 15, after more than a year of careful and severe test. During this period of testing $150,000 in gold has been sold.

David Moore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Moore of this city and is well known here.

ATTENTION, MEMBERS OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The attention of the members of the Christian Church is called to the beginning of the morning unified services tomorrow morning. This means that the worship periods of church and Sunday school are combined and begin at 9:45, with the sermon, offering and Holy Communion. Following the worship period there is a teaching period from 10:30, lasting until 11 o'clock, at which time the morning services of the church are closed.

Mr. Ryan is presenting a new type of morning service for the summer. The morning sermon, delivered during the 9:45-10:30 period will be a problem sermon dealing with some subject in which there is, or should be, a general interest, but about which there might be a wide divergence of opinion. During the teaching period, 10:30 to 11:00, the pupils in the young people's and adult departments will remain in the church auditorium to participate in a discussion period based on the problems arising from the morning sermon. This will enable both pew and pulpit to present their respective sides of many subjects. Tomorrow's sermon is "Is the Church Any Longer Necessary?"

DIVIDEND PAYMENTS

Those who had deposits in the Bank of Rockingham when it failed Dec. 8, 1928, can call at the office of the bank's liquidating agent here and get a 5 per cent payment. Mr. P. J. Forbis has the checks on hand ready for delivery. The 5 per cent amounts to $12,500 and makes a total of 45 per cent paid since the bank failed. In the final wind-up the bank will likely pay 5 or possibly 10 per cent more, depending upon further inflation and recovery conditions.

Enough funds are on hand with which to pay a 10 per cent Bank of Pee Dee dividend ($30,000) right now, if consent can be had from town and county in the matter of temporary release of the bank's taxes. Otherwise, such payment may not be made until the latter part of July. At any rate, a 10 per cent Bank of Pee Dee payment is pretty near, possibly within ten days—certainly not over 40 days distant. It is generally reported that on or about July 3rd the Pee Dee mills will make a 10 per cent dividend payment ($37,500 from it surplus).

Mr. Forbis is also paying out this week a 20 per cent payment for the defunct Bank of Lenoirville, amounting to $1,000. Rockingham Post Dispatch.

4-H Encampment. Seventy-one girls from Martin, Beaufort and Pitt counties camped from Tuesday until Friday afternoon at Neuse Forest, just below New Bern. They were assisted in camp by nine leaders and three home demonstration agents.

The program consisted daily of swimming, crocheting, setting-up exercises, hiking, games, vesper services, and stunt programs. All campers were divided into three tribes which called themselves "Wildfire," "Go-Getters" and "Ever Readies." These tribes competed for scores—each camper being able to add 100 points daily to the tribe total, provided she was a perfect camper. Health habits were checked closely. "Perfect" campers drank water before breakfast, ate a variety of vegetables and fruit, etc.

Miss Amy Williams of New Bern, was the life guard in charge of the girls during swimming periods. Mrs. L. H. Burlingame of Greenville, was camp nurse. Miss Violet Alexander, home demonstration agent of Beaufort county, supervised the meals. Miss Lora Stipeper, home demonstration agent of Martin county, had charge of the classes in crocheting. Miss Ethel Nice, home agent of Pitt, supervised the vesper and stunt programs. Nine leaders from the three counties assisted the tribes ably. Leaders from Pitt county were: Miss Willard Allen, who was leader for the "Ever Readies," and Miss Elaine G. Hardee, who guided the "Go-Getters" to victory. They won with a total of 6,455 points. The "Wildfire" tribe made 6,438 points and the "Ever Readies," 5,739 points. Each girl in the winning tribe was presented a green and white handkerchief to go with the club uniform. Miss Frances Cutchin of Farmville won a pair of scissors for doing the best crocheting in the beginners' class, and Miss Lena Mae Glenn of Williamston, won a pair of scissors in the advanced crocheter class. There were 35 Pitt county 4-H girls, and each one was a splendid camper. Only girls who had done good club work for the past year were eligible for camp. All three of the home agents felt that this was the best camp we have ever had.

WARREN SAYS FEDERAL BANK COMING HERE

(Continued from page One) price of the mortgage, obligation, or lien. The face value of the bonds so exchanged plus accrued interest thereon and the cash so advanced shall not exceed in any case 80 per centum of the value of the real estate as determined by an appraisal made by the corporation. In any case in which the amount of the face value of the bonds exchanged plus accrued interest thereon and the cash advanced is less than the amount the home owner owes with respect to the home mortgage or other obligation or lien so acquired by the corporation, the corporation shall credit the difference between such amounts to the home owner and shall reduce the amount owed by the home owner to the corporation to that extent. Each home mortgage or other obligation or lien so acquired shall be carried as a first lien or refinanced as a home mortgage by the corporation on the basis of the price paid therefor by the corporation, and shall be amortized by means of monthly payments sufficient to retire the interest and principal within a period of not to exceed fifteen years; but the amortization payments of any home owner may be made quarterly, semi-annually, or annually, if in the judgment of the corporation the situation of the home owner requires it. Interest on the unpaid balance of the obligation of the home owner to the corporation shall be at the rate not exceeding 5 per centum per annum. The corporation may at any time grant an extension of time to any home owner for the payment of any installment of principal or interest owed by him to the Corporation if, in the judgment of the corporation the circumstances of the home owner and the condition of the security justify such extension, and no payment of any installment of principal shall be required during the period of three years from the date this act takes effect if the home owner shall not be in default with respect to any other condition or covenant of his mortgage. As used in this subsection, the term "real estate" includes only real estate held in fee simple or on a leasehold under a lease renewable for not less than ninety-nine years, upon which there is located a dwelling for not more than four families used by the owner as a home or held by him as a home-stand and having a value not exceeding $25,000. No discrimination shall be made under this Act against any home mortgage or other obligation or lien secured by a mortgage in a municipality, county, or taxing district which is in default upon any of its obligations.

The corporation is further authorized, for a period of three years from the date of enactment of this Act, to make loans in cash subject to the same limitations and for the same purposes for which cash advances may be made under subsection (d) of this section, in cases where the property is not otherwise encumbered; but no such loan shall exceed 50 per centum of the value of the property securing the same as determined upon an appraisal made by the corporation. Each such loan shall be secured by a duly recorded home mortgage, and shall bear interest at the same rate and shall be subject to the same provisions with respect to amortization and extensions as are applicable in the case of obligations refinanced under sub-section (d) of this section.

RECEIPTS OF MILK SHOW GOOD INCREASE

Albermarle, June 17—Week by week the volume of milk received at the local cheese and butter plant continues to increase, showing that the farmers are beginning to realize the opportunities that are offered them for convenient marketing of their products. Five thousand, two hundred pounds of butter were manufactured last week, and the average for milk received daily was in the neighborhood of 6,000 pounds. On Wednesday 4,500 pounds of cream were received, or sufficient to make 8,100 pounds of butter.

SAFE IS REMOVED FROM WALSTON STORE

Jacksonville, June 17—E. H. Walston's store at Walston's Cross roads about four miles from here, was robbed Monday night. The safe was stolen, taken into clump of trees near by, blown open, money taken and papers scattered. It was the first night in months that no one had slept in the store. Sheriff D. W. Russell and Deputy B. F. Morton are following clues hoping to get the robbers.
