LONDON CONFERENCE TO ADJOURN ON JULY 26TH

Conclave May Resume Work In Two Months

AGENDA WILL BE DISCUSSED AGAIN TODAY

Main Delegates Say It Would be Useless To Attempt to Continue Work In Face of Gold Bloc Deadlock Over Stabilization; Drafting Committee to Take Up Controversial Question Today

London, July 10—(AP)—The winding up of further phases of the London economic conference on July 26 was tentatively decided upon by the steering committee of the parley. It was understood in unusually well informed sources...

The conference has been in a dead lock for more than a week over the question of currency stabilization...

The American delegation however had been fighting to keep the conclave at work.

Meeting today to decide what subjects should be included in the agenda of the congress, the steering committee decided to eliminate division subsidies and commercial policies, including tariffs and quotas.

The committee was unable to decide whether the monetary question which the European gold countries say cannot be dealt with without stabilization being realized and asked the drafting committee to include the controversial matter and report to the steering committee tomorrow.

After today's meeting it was stated the conference would be adjourned on July 26 for an indefinite period of two months.

In the meantime, the conference would complete such work as possible in view of the disagreement between the gold bloc and the non-gold countries.

AUTO DEATH TOLL MOUNTS

Six Persons Lose Lives On Highways of This Patrol District In June

The automobile death toll reached a new high in this highway patrol division during the month of June. It was revealed today in the monthly report of Lester Jones, division highway patrol lieutenant.

The report showed that six persons were killed and seventeen injured in the series of twenty accidents investigated by the patrol.

Total arrests made by the patrol were listed at 84 with sentences of six months being dealt out to those found guilty of highway law infractions. Sixty-six of the defendants were found guilty.

Eight persons were arrested for driving while drunk and five were taken into custody for being drunk on the highway.

Six reckless drivers were nabbed and two fell into the tolls of the law for speeding.

Total revenue collected by the department was given as $4,896.26. Revenue collected from beer was $5.

The death toll was the highest probably in the history of the patrol. From two to three persons are killed each month as result of automobile accidents, but if the total has ever gone above the half dozen mark for a single month, it had not been recorded here.

NEW TEXTILE CODE BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

Mill Workers to Work 40 Hours a Week At Increased Rate Of Pay

Washington, July 10—(AP)—Upward of 400,000 employees of the cotton textile mills next Monday begin working only 40 hours a week instead of 48 to 50 for no less than $12 or $13 against $8 to 9.

That was assured when President Roosevelt with reservations and interpretations last night approved and promulgated that it would bring wages in a code of fair competition completed under the national recovery act.

Approval of this agreement, officials said, would bring more from other industries in the attempt to recover prosperity by which the president called a partnership between business and the government.

The code of fair competition as approved by President Roosevelt is to become effective July 17, next Monday. It remains in force four months subject then to extension or modification.

Guarantees minimum wages of $12 in the south and $13 in the north except cleaners, outside employees, and learners.

Limits any employee to 40 hours a week except repair shop crews, electrical engineers and washing crews who can get time and half for overtime.

Restricts street-hout systems through which workers increase output by operating more machines.

COTTON DRIVE TO CLOSE HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Committees Continue Work Although Maximum Number of Bales Reached

Although they had reached the maximum number of bales as required under the federal cotton production control plan, members of the campaign committee continued to push the drive in Pitt county today, hoping to add many more bales to the total before the time limit expires Wednesday night.

E. F. Arnold, director of the department of agriculture and head of the cotton sign-up drive in Pitt county, said figures compiled today showed Pitt county had obtained the minimum in acres and the maximum in bales under the allotment plan as set forth at the beginning of the government drive to reduce the cotton crop.

He said farmers had signed up to take above 3,600 acres of cotton out of cultivation or the equivalent of 2,100 bales based on the average yield in this county.

He stated the government required that 6,100 be taken out of cultivation based on a third of a bale to the acre, or a total of 2,033 bales. However, production in Pitt county is around a half bale to the acre and makes the average higher than figured by the government.

As result of a new ruling of the federal committee, the campaign which was to have been concluded Wednesday midnight, and the committee is redoubling its efforts to increase the sign-up here.

J. E. Winslow, director of the drive in Pitt county, expressed appreciation of the fine work done by the committee at a meeting here Saturday night. He said it was one of the finest pieces of work ever done in the county, and that those instrumental in putting the campaign over deserved highest commendation.

The sermon was heard by a crowd that filled almost every seat on the lawn back of the courthouse and the musical program was decidedly inspirational and effective.

The choir of Memorial Baptist Church had charge of the musical program. Rev. W. S. Harden was in charge of the service and led the singing. A special number was rendered by the choir composed of Mrs. W. Z. Morton, Mrs. Earl Carter, Miss Carolyn Hamric, Bill Lee and Ed Rawl, with Mrs. E. S. Hamric acting as accompanist.

The Scripture lesson was read by Fred Turner, who is assisting the rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, and opening prayers were made by Rev. R. F. Pittman of Ayden, pastor of the Free Will Baptist Church, and Rev. W. A. Lillyer, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The services will continue through July and August and members of all denominations of the city are participating.

Mr. Harden outlined the program for the services the next two weeks and called attention to the expenses incurred in making the meeting possible.

Mr. Fleischmann spoke on the subject, "Christ's Challenging Leadership." His text was taken from the 13th verse of the 13th chapter of St. John. "Ye call me Master and Lord, and ye say well for so I am."

The important words were uttered by Christ in the presence of His disciples who had gathered in the upper room for the Passover.

Prefacing his remarks with the assertion that it has been the custom of men of all ages to portray their conceptions of Christ in art and writing, the speaker said some of these delineations presented

FORCED DOWN BY BIG FOG OVER MAINE

Plan to Chart Route Across Atlantic To Iceland; Matter Asks Plane to Continue Flight; Italian Squadron Awaits Good Weather In Iceland; Two Ocean Hops From New Year's Crop May be Account of Weather

Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, forced down by fog near Rockland, Maine, about 6 p. m. (EST) last night, continued their survey flight to Greenland and Iceland today.

They hopped from South Pond where they spent last night at 9:24 a. m.

Yesterday they took off from New York expecting to reach Halifax in one hop but the fog intervened. They expected to stop at Halifax today to refuel and then go on to Newfoundland. They expect to chart a possible commercial route across the Atlantic.

Jimmie Matern, American round the world flier, found recently at Anadyr, Siberia, asked that a plane be sent him so that he could continue his flight. A relief expedition headed by William Alexander was expected to hop from June, Alaska and Anadyr, and turn the plane over to Matern.

General Italo Balbo's squadron of 24 planes awaited good weather at Rejkavik, Iceland, so it might get away on its good will flight from Italy to Chicago.

The immediate goal is Carwright Labrador, 1,500 miles from Rejkavik. Two ocean hops from the Rejkavik field, New York, was postponed because of bad weather. Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi, French men, planned to cross the Atlantic and keep on in an attempt at a distance record.

A check-up Saturday night of the activities on the cotton sign-up here revealed that this county has already signed up over 3,600 acres based on last years' production totaling about 2,100 bales. Pitt County was allotted a maximum of 6,100 acres and it is to be hoped that before the sign-up period has been closed the maximum acreage will have been reached.

With the tobacco markets of this eastern section scheduled to begin operations August 29th, we understand that there is a movement under way for another advance in the opening date of the South Carolina and border markets, which if put through, should entitle us likewise to a still earlier opening. With crops in this section well advanced this is one year that the earlier we open the better for the farmers and business in general and if there is any further change in the opening dates we certainly hope that it will include the markets of this belt.

Newspaper from some of the surrounding cities have commented on the fact that Greenville has forged the front as a tobacco market and is moving ahead in other lines because our citizens realize the value of pulling together and are doing just that to make a bigger and better Greenville. There is no doubt but that the best and surest way to get ahead is for every citizen to put his shoulder to the wheel and the fact that our present efforts are already drawing favorable comment from the outside should be an incentive to our people to try even harder in order that we might nearer reach the goal expected of us.

By the World FORGOT

SYNOPSIS: Georgie Baneroff has tried to get information about the man she loves even from Bernie Boyd, his wife, but with no success. Nicholas Boyd is in Germany trying to have removed the scar that has ruined his film career. Bernie is making a picture in England. Georgie's mother has taken her from her village home to London, and now tries of her, and complains because she will not marry Clifford Asher. Nicholas has not even answered Georgie's letter.

Chapter 37 WORD FROM NICHOLAS Of course she could marry Clifford if she wished to; Georgie opened her eyes with a start as Bishop came into the room.

"Is our mother cut?" he asked. "Yes." Georgie stood up. "May I ask you something?" she said. "Well?" "What do you want me to do?" she asked in her most direct way. "To do?" he queried. "Yes. Do you want me to go to Scotland, or to go back to Uncle Edward, or what shall I do?"

He laughed. "Your mother does not want you in Scotland," he said. Georgie opened her eyes wide. "Why not?" she asked. "She has other fish to fry," he answered; he came a step nearer to her. "You look such a child," he said. "And yet you should be old enough to understand something of life." He paused a moment, then asked: "Do you imagine that your mother and I are contented with one another?"

Georgie shook her head. "I don't know." He eyed her steadily. "Would you prefer to stay with your mother, or would you care to come to Germany with me—always supposing I go?" The hot color raced to her cheeks. "You said you were not going," she breathed. "I have been advised that it is well, unnecessary," he answered. "But I am not a man who is fond of taking advice, and anyway you have not answered my question."

"I would rather come with you of course," Georgie said breathlessly. "For my sake, or for the sake of someone who is already there?" he asked, with faint irony. "For both," Georgie said. "Humph. Well, we will see."

"When shall we go?" Georgie asked; her eyes were bright with excitement, all her lassitude and weariness had vanished. "But Bishop would say nothing definite." "I have not said that we shall go," he answered. "You must not be impatient." He turned to leave her, but Georgie ran after him.

"Do you really, really mean it?" she asked in a trembling voice. "I go. I will take you with me," was all he would say. So the vague "something" for which she had been waiting had come at last! That was the one thought in Georgie's mind; there was something to look forward to. Germany shone before her like a bright star, making everything else fade into insignificance.

She would see Nicholas; of course she would see him! Her feet seemed to dance for sheer happiness, and if Evelyn had seen her at that moment she would no longer have needed to talk about rouge; Georgie's cheeks were rosy with happiness. She had told Nicholas that she had grown better looking! Would he think so? Or would he be disappointed?

"You are a very dear little girl, Robin," so he had once said to her. Life was being kind at last; she turned sharply round as someone tapped at the door. "Come in," Georgie said cheerily; at the moment she loved everyone. Life was beautiful. One of the hotel pages entered. "A young lady to see you, Miss. She said she was sure you would see her."

Chevrolet Output Up.

Detroit—Production of new Chevrolet cars and trucks in June more than doubled the output for the corresponding month last year and was the largest single month's production in two years, according to W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co.

With a total output of 81,573 units, June compares with 36,142 in June last year, and 68,538 in May this year, previously the best month since June, 1931, Mr. Knudsen said. June production exceeding May is unusual in his company's experience, Mr. Knudsen added, since either April or May are normally peak months of the Chevrolet year.

'AIM AT CROSS COUNTRY MARK

New Books

New York.—Many readers will feel that Pearl S. Buck's "The First Wife" is the chief virtue of one of the best weeks of the season.

"The First Wife" is a book of short pieces, although the title story itself is almost long enough to be called a short novel. The story has the same quiet beauty that distinguishes "The Good Earth" the same feeling of inevitability, and the same clarity.

It also has the sureness of touch that comes when one knows perfectly the person about whom one writes. The tragedy of the first wife would not be a tragedy in the United States, but a piece of foolishness; it is no small feat to have expressed so perfectly the Chinese soul that every nuance and every shade of color is convincing.

The Newel... A new voice (for this county) is to be heard telling a story of an English village Lorelei in Ena Limebeer's "The Dove and Roebuck"; an individual and valuable voice, incidentally.

And three familiar voices are sounding in three familiar performances in the field of the light novel. Kathleen Norris writes of modern people and problems in "Wife For Sale"; Alice Grant Rosman retells one of her familiar romances (and a very nice one) in "Protecting Margot"; Vina Delmar is also with us and in good form, as the author of "The Marriage Racket".

Biography And Such

"De Calera" is of course the history of the contradictory life of that famous Irish leader, written by Denis Gwynn, who should know it. At precisely the opposite pole, so far as type of contents goes, is Storm Jameson's story of her own life in "No Time Like the Present"—a statement of her life less in the terms of fact than of belief, habit and temperament.

"Wild Bill and His Era," by William E. Connelley, is half history, half biography, Wild Bill being of course James Butler Hickok himself. Probably "99 Days" should be called history too, although it is entirely told in newspaper headlines. The 99 days are those from February 14 to May 23 of this year.

There is likewise an amusing mystery called "Death Whispers," by a new author, Joseph B. Carr, and a suave murderous adventure tale of Russia written by Dennis Wheatley and titled "The Forbidden Territory."

Of anthologies we have two: Edward J. O'Brien's "Best Short Stories of 1933" and William Rose Benet's "Fifty Poets," in which last 50 poets choose a poem for Mr. Benet and tell him why. Similar, but all of one author, is the 1200-page collection of Christopher Morey's work sent out into the world under the title "Fifth Avenue Bus."

In Beauty Contest.

The 4-H girls and the Home Demonstration women will sponsor Miss Mildred Taylor in the American Legion beauty contest next Friday night.

4-H Short Course.

Attention is called to a change in the dates for the annual 4-H short course. This event has been county girls will be glad for the change as this time will not interfere with their work in tobacco.

Tips on CONTRACT

WINNERS OR LOSERS? (By Tom O'Neil)

What do you count in determining whether to open the auction with a forcing bid? Quick tricks or losers?

Reliance on either method exclusively is likely to result in failure to get full value out of the cards of oneself and partner.

Joseph L. Spector of Bridgeport, Conn., submits two contrasting hands on which he made vulnerable grand slams, opening the auction with bids of two in a suit. Here was the first, in which he counted losers:

NORTH: S-K Q 10 4; H-9 7 5 4; D-A J 9 7; C-10.

WEST: S-J 9 8 6 5 2; H-K Q J; D-8 6; C-9 7.

SOUTH (Dealer): S-A; H-A 3; D-4 2; C-A K Q J 8 6 4 2.

EAST: S-7 3; H-10 8 6 2; D-K Q 10 5 3; C-5 3.

There are three losers in the South hand with clubs as trump but only four high cards tricks on a defensive basis. Should North have a Yarborough or nearly so, possibly three players would pass if South should open with a bid of one.

Spector, holding the South cards, took no chances. He opened with two clubs. The enemy kept silent throughout the auction, and the bids ran: North, three no trump; South, four no trump; North, five diamonds; South, seven clubs.

The opening lead of the king of hearts made the contract play easy for the declarer. A diamond opening would have had him in trouble.

He would have had to play the ace from the North hand and would have been unable to return to the dummy to discard a losing heart and a losing diamond from the South hand on North's king and queen of spades after the ace of spades had been led.

In this particular hand an opening bid of one club could have been followed by a slam contract, but if North had no strength, game possibilities might have been passed out.

Over an opening one club bid North could have bid a spade. South then should have given a force in clubs and North would have bid diamonds. The club slam then would follow. Here is the high card hand:

NORTH: S-9 7; H-K 8 7 6 5 2; D-9 5 3; C-Q 2.

WEST: S-J 10 6 2; H-9 3; D-J 10 8 5; C-10 8 5.

SOUTH (Dealer): S-A K Q 5 3; H-A Q; D-A 4; C-A K J 3.

EAST: S-8 4; H-J 10 4; D-K Q 7 2; C-9 7 6 4.

In contrast to the first hand, the second has a wealth of high cards tricks and also an abundance of possible losers; yet he would not open with a force on the second hand surely would be timid, since the many high cards pack power enough to develop low card winners.

Spector, South, opened with two spades. The adversaries passed. North, lacking a sure quick trick, made the discouraging response of two no trump. South bid four clubs, and then North showed length by an offer of four hearts. South forthwith went to seven no trump.

The opening lead was the king of diamonds. The queen of clubs was a life saver in the North hand, enabling the hearts to be run after the ace and the queen were played from the South hand.

seven no trump he assumed that North had a possible reentry in some suit besides the hearts, or hearts would not have been bid.

PROCESSING TAX ON WHEAT EFFECTIVE

The office of the collector of internal revenue is working under pressure to inform Millers and Merchants as to the processing and flour taxes on wheat and wheat products.

The tax is effective at midnight of July 8, 1933. Millers grinding wheat for the farmer for consumption by the farmer, his family or tenants, will require an affidavit of the farmer to that effect.

If farmer sells the flour, no exemption is allowed.

A wholesaler who is also a retailer, carrying on business at the same place must pay the tax on his entire processed wheat stock as though the retail phase of the business did not exist.

If a retail merchant has such stock stored elsewhere than his retail floor, the tax attaches to such stocks.

A flour tax is imposed on all processed wheat products in the hands of millers, wholesalers, bakers, hotels, restaurants, cafe's and caterers, as well as to stocks held by retailers in storage.

Retailers have until August 7th in which to dispose of all stocks on hand in their store at midnight, July 8th, but must keep a record of goods received from July 9th to August 7th and make an inventory August 7th of stocks on hand at the close of business then.

DAY OR NIGHT

FLIESCHMANN SPEAKS HERE

(Continued from page One) Christ as a passive creature when in fact he was and is the most powerful figure the world has ever known.

The speaker called attention to some of Christ's ministries on earth, recalling the times He showed complete control over the elements, disease, life and death, and asserted that these proved He was a dynamic individual, clothed with all the power of heaven and earth combined.

In addition to giving concrete examples of His power in dealing with earthly things, Mr. Fleischmann said Christ spoke with absolute authority at all times, though He was humble as the lowliest of His day and made no effort to display His power except at times when this was necessary to carry convictions to the minds and hearts of the people.

He challenged men with His Lordship in those days and He is doing the same today, the speaker said, as he called attention to the outstanding figures in the field of present day lift who have accepted Christ as the only influence capable of bringing aid in time of trouble.

Never has there been a time in history when the power of Christ was more in demand than at this time, the minister asserted. He pictured the ills and disorders affecting the world at the present and declared there is no hope of relief until the people recognize the power of Christ to deal with all situations and accept Him as their personal Saviour.

Put Your Liver To Work--Make This Test

You can't feel well and strong unless your liver furnishes you with fresh bile and bowels plenty of fresh bile every day. Without bile food doesn't digest properly—it just ferments and decays—constipation, gas, sour stomach, headaches and nervousness follow.

Don't be misled. Colored, salted, mineral waters, laxative pills, etc., have no effect whatever on the liver. There are only two generally recognized substances which actually stimulate a sluggish liver to increase its production of bile. Sargol Soft Mass Pills contain both of them.

Unless you have tried Sargol Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of their effect—you feel stronger, healthier, happier—life and color return to faded eyes and cheeks—appetite and digestion improve rapidly.

AYDEN TRIMS LOCAL CLUB ON SATURDAY

The nip-and-tuck race between Ayden and Greenville for honors of the Coastal Plain league is on again in earnest following Ayden's victory over the locals at Third Street school athletic field Saturday afternoon by the score of 5-4.

The two clubs have been sitting at the top of the standing of clubs from time to time since the opening of the league last month, and while Snow Hill apparently broke the charm several days ago, both Ayden and Greenville resumed old time form and grabbed the leadership back in less than two days.

However, Snow Hill's victory over Kinston Saturday gave them a dangerous advantage, and this week's play is going to either find the leaders more strongly entrenched at the top or Snow Hill clamoring more stridently for admittance.

Lady Luvk, always fickle, was never more so than in the Greenville-Ayden clash Saturday. Two or three times Greenville loaded the bases with one man down and could not get the necessary hit to cause the runners to romp home. Had the timely wallop been forthcoming the story would have been of an entirely different nature.

Ayden, on the other hand, was able to hit opportunely and mixing these with untimely bobbles by the locals, shoved over enough failures to clinch the game.

"Lefty" Dean, who had Ayden eating out of his hand the Fourth of July, pitched splendidly at all parts of the game but it was just one of those days Greenville was due to lose and the score went against them. The youngster had eight strikeouts to his credit to Flythe, Ayden moundman, three.

Ayden obtained nine hits to the locals five. Wall did the heavy stick work for the visitors accounting for two epistles one a two-bagger.

Others credited with two base drives were Lambeth, Stephenson and Briggs for Ayden and Brown for Greenville. No Greenville player obtained over one hit.

The league will resume play with Kinston playing in Greenville Wednesday and Snow Hill at Ayden.

The rejuvenated Plymouth club was to play an exhibition game here tomorrow.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

"I'm not going to dispute your statement that Vines and Crawford are the only players in the world who could make Tilden's measure in a five-set match today," writes my old companion in arms, R. E. P. ("Side Line"), Sensitive of the Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Kozeluh did it in the pro championships at Chicago last year—something that one of the cigarette ads should remember since it calls Tilden the United States champion which he isn't."

"But I do dispute your statement that Tilden and Johnson both were 'over 34' when they last turned back the French in the Davis cup challenge round of 1926. Of course they weren't Tilden was just past 33 and Johnson wasn't yet 32 that summer. Tilden was born in February 1893, and Johnson in November, 1894, so you can figure it out for yourself."

"The question of tennis ages is interesting. In 1927 I wrote a story about it which I think you might be interesting in reading."

"We are not only obliged and interested—having started this discussion on the thesis that Henri Cochet, now past 31 is not to be counted out of the Davis Cup picture because of age—but we are passing on 'Side Line's' study of this angle to championship tennis."

"It was a defeat by Cochet in the semi-finals of our 1927 national singles championship at Forest Hills—one of the most dramatic matches I have ever witnessed—that prompted Big Bill Tilden to remark 'Age I think it is.' Tilden was then 34, but he told me recently that at 40 he thought he was playing as good 'match tennis' as ever."

Larned Rare Exception
"But surprising as it may seem, 34 is really very old—for tennis," wrote "Side Line" in his analysis of age in its relation to the top flight of the game. "In fact in the list of 17 men who have held the tennis championship of the United States, only one was older than Tilden the last time he won it. This was the late William A. Larned who preserved his tennis championship ability until he was 40."
"But Larned was a rare exception. Norman E. Brookes, the great Australian, is the only other real star who lasted so well. Of the American players who held the national title, all but Tilden and Larned were out of contenders before they reached 30."
"Richard D. Sears, the first champion, won for the last time at the age of 26. At 27 he retired as too old to play championship tennis. Henry W. Slocum, Jr. was at the ripened age of 28 when he was defeated, never to come back. Oliver S. Campbell champion from 1890 to 1892, passed out of the championship at 22, having been the youngest player who ever won the title. (Eds. note—Ellsworth Vines was just short of his 20th birthday when he won his first national title in 1931.)"

Stock Market

New York, July 10.—(AP)—The dropping dollar failed to bring the one time fast follow through in financial markets today and trading in most categories was of the indifferent type.

The pound sterling jumped about ten within reaching distance of former gold parity and other currencies were strong.

Outside of some of the utilities and a few specialties stocks were rather cool toward the further drastic dollar depreciation.

The fast pace of the previous weeks slowed down considerably as many traders hugged the precautionary guide line.

Utility shares which have been little behind the market were reported for gains of one to two points. Among the active of this group were Public Service of N. J. North American and American Power and Light.

Small advances were recorded by International Harvester, Western Union and some of the wet stocks including National Distillers U. S. Industrial Alcohol, and American Commercial Alcohol in upward flurry of one to three points.

Such issues as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, DuPont, General Motors, Sante Fe N. Y. Can. Drugs, and others were a little soft at times.

Bread prices advance brought gains of a fraction to around two points in Wards, Continental and General Baking.

Cotton Goes Up.
New York, July 10.—(AP)—The cotton market held the speculative spotlight today by soaring $2.50 a bale in the active months. The market closed around the top holding gains of $2.45 to $2.90 a bale.

Gossip in trading quarters attributed the rise to changes in sentiment on acreage curtailment.
