WILEY POST ON FINAL HOP OF ROUND WORLD TRIP

Oklahoma Flier Leaves Edmonton For New York Far Ahead Of Old Time

HOPES TO GET TO NEW YORK WITHOUT STOP

Doughty American Refuels at Edmonton, Alberta, and Immediately Takes Off on Last Stage of Flight to Metropolis; Twenty Hours and 12 Minutes Ahead of Time he Set With Harold Gatty

Edmonton, Alberta, July 22.—(AP)—Wiley Post, Oklahoma round the world flier, hopped off for New York on the last leg of his trip at 9:41 a. m. today.

He had stayed at Edmonton, only an hour and 34 minutes to refuel his ship the Winnie Mae and to get a brief rest after flying over night from Fairbanks.

When he left Edmonton he was 20 hours and 12 minutes ahead of the record he and Harold Gatty set in 1931. Their elapsed time when they took off here was 193 hours and 43 minutes. His time alone was 173 hours and 31 minutes.

He was determined to do the 2,200 miles to New York in one hop "if I can make it."

Post arrived at Edmonton at 8:07 (EST). He had flown the 1,400 miles from Fairbanks, Alaska, in 9 hours and 22 minutes.

A crowd of 5,000 which had been waiting at the airport much of the night greeted Post with cheers as he climbed from the Winnie Mae.

His time this far was faster than when he and Harold Gatty on a world flight two years ago also flew from Fairbanks to Edmonton. They covered the distance in 10 hours and 11 minutes. The roar of the machine deafened the flier and he looked tired. He planned to make the trip to New York in a single hop.

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF FRIGHTENING FISH

Fayetteville, July 22.—(AP)—Oscar P. Breece, Fayetteville undertaker, was firm in his contention that he wasn't driving his motor boat "fast enough on White Lake to scare the fish to death" and today was acquitted in Bladen county court.

The case was the first of its kind on record since the State placed a limit on craft operating on the State-owned body of water. The limit was placed to prevent boats speeding which, it is said, would make fish die of fright.

State Warden Buddy Hubbard arrested Breece after clocking him with a stop-watch, but the court held the undertaker, who is a speed boat enthusiast, was too far away from the warden for an accurate check on the boat's speed.

TURNER WILL SPEAK SUNDAY

Assisting Rector of St. Paul's Church to Deliver United Service Sermon

Fred Turner, assisting rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church will deliver the sermon tomorrow night at the fourth of the series of united services being held each Sunday evening on the court house lawn during the summer months.

Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church will be in charge of the service. An inspirational musical program is being arranged for the service.

Large crowds attended the three previous services, the first of which was held in the court house on account of rain, thoroughly enjoyed the splendid services and special musical selections provided by various choirs of the city in connection with congregational singing.

Young Turner has been assisting Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, rector of St. Paul's church, during the summer. He is a forceful speaker and was expected to bring an interesting message.

'Wheels Within Wheels' F. D. R's Administration

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

There are so many wheels within wheels in the Roosevelt administration and they are all revolving so rapidly, that it is no wonder visitors to official Washington often go away completely bewildered.

No other President ever surrounded himself with so complicated a set-up. When you speak of the "inner circle" nowadays you have to designate which inner circle you mean.

ARNOLD TOLD TO GO AHEAD WITH PLOWING

Cotton Reduction Head Here Authorized to Issue Permits to Cotton Growers

E. F. Arnold received notice today to begin issuing permits authorizing growers to go ahead with the plowing up of their cotton as provided for in the federal cotton reduction control campaign which is expected to take over three million bales out of cultivation in this year's crop.

Mr. Arnold, head of the cotton reduction sign-up campaign in Pitt county, has been marking time the last several days awaiting some definite statement from Washington regarding the beginning of the plowing up movement, but nothing was received until today.

Today's message came from Dean I. O. Schaub, of Raleigh, state director of the cotton reduction campaign, and said he had been informed by telephone from Washington to permit county agents to authorize growers to begin plowing up their cotton.

The growers, however, it was stated, will be required to sign a contract drawn up by the farm office here and this must be approved by the local committee, who have been connected with the sign-up movement.

In the meantime, Mr. Arnold was watching every mail for government blanks promised last Friday, and thought it probable they would (Continued On Page Two)

CARRY SALES TAX TO POLLS

State Merchants Decide To Put Decision in The Hands of The People

Raleigh, July 22.—(AP)—Not in the court but at the ballot box will North Carolina Merchants Association fight the new sales tax law.

Abandoning a proposed plan of taking the issue to the courts, the board of directors of the association has decided instead to call on voters to repudiate the tax next year when they elect members of the 1935 General Assembly.

A statement explained that a court case would require a year before a final decision could be reached and that by that time the state would have collected at least $10,000,000.

GROWERS BUSY IN LEAF CROP

Farmers Get Down to Business After Being Handicapped by Heavy Rains

Although rain of the last few days temporarily stalled farming operations in this county, farmers today resumed the annual task of housing and curing their tobacco crop in preparation for the opening of this great bright leaf belt August 20.

Rain for the last week or so, so thoroughly soaked the ground that getting the leaf out of the field was out of the question, and growers marked time awaiting the coming of improved weather conditions.

WAS KIDDING POLICE ABOUT WANTING WIFE

Otis Deaver Here, However, Finds Pittsburgh Ladies Take Him Seriously

Otis Deaver was only "kidding" the chief of Pittsburgh, Pa., police when he wrote that official requesting aid in finding a wife, but the ladies have taken the Pitt county man seriously.

Deaver, who wrote Franklin D. McQuaide asking aid of the officer in providing him a wife, and designating himself as a former, soldier, painter and poet, is an employee of Sugg Motor Company here.

Asked about the request today Deaver laughingly declared he "was only having a little fun" at expense of the Pittsburgh police department—that he didn't have a wife and was not especially interested in obtaining one.

But that the girls are interested in his proposal is revealed by the fact that Deaver has received thirty-six or more letters from ladies in the Pittsburgh area declaring they are ready to take the fatal leap.

Some of them, however, appear rather cautious as they would "like to indulge in further correspondence or hear "more about the proposition."

Deaver, who is getting much fun out of the experience, probably is ready to believe in the old saying that the feminine element is like the wind.

OREGON JOINS REPEAL MARCH

Incomplete Returns Show State Has 19,000 Lead For Prohibition Repeal

(By The Associated Press) Oregon took her place today with states approving repeal of the 18th amendment thereby making it 20 to 0 in favor of sliding national prohibition from the constitution.

The far western state on an incomplete count of ballots cast yesterday was given repeal a lead of more than 19,000 in Tennessee which voted Thursday. The repeal vote has narrowed to less than 9,000. Dry leaders are charging fraud and threatened to contest the results.

The Governor of Colorado has decided to call a special legislative session to provide for a vote on prohibition September 5. This means that at least 36 states, the number required to amend the constitution, will have passed on the repeal proposal before the end of the year.

DROUGHT BROKEN IN HOKE AND ADJOINING COUNTIES

Rayford, July 22.—Copious showers have fallen all over Hoke county daily since last Sunday afternoon so a three months draught has been broken in this and adjoining counties. Early corn is almost an entire failure and watermelons and cantaloupes are a very poor crop for want of rain.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Accept Cotton Contracts

Washington, July 22.—(AP)—Administrators of the farm law today formally accepted the first of the individual contract offers signed by cotton growers in 15 states, mailing approximately 15,000 acceptances to county agents.

Next week the acceptances will go forward at the rate of more than 40,000 or more each day.

Administrators estimated today that more than 950,000 contracts have either been received here or are in the hands of county agents and that as a result of the program more than 10,000,000 makers of cotton plants will be plowed up in coming weeks.

Meantime acting under emergency permits which county agents may issue, many producers were reported to have offered to take out of production in an effort to reduce this year's output of the staple of at least 3,500,000 bales.

The permits authorized a producer to destroy his crop without obtaining the individual notice of individual notice of acceptance of his contract. Proof that the acreage has been eliminated from production is required before payments or (Continued On Page Four)

MOLLISONS OFF AGAIN

Famous Flying Couple Leave Wales in Effort to Set Three Records

Pendine, Wales, July 22.—(AP)—The famous flying Mollisons, Jimmy and Amy, took off this morning on their ambitious adventure in which they hope to fly to Bagdad after crossing the Atlantic twice.

In contrast to stormy weather that caused their plane the two motored Seafarer, to crash on the first take off June 8, the weather was acceptable when they took off at 11 a. m., 6 p. m. (SET).

They planned to reach New York Sunday night and afterwards to cross the ocean once more seeking a distance non-stop record.

Captain James A. Mollison who made the first solo east to west flight over the Atlantic last August, watched final arrangements and saw to it that everything was shipshape.

"This may be my last spectacular flight" he declared when the plane was ready. "I hope it isn't to great a venture."

His wife, Amy Johnson Mollison looked strained as she jumped into the cockpit beside her husband at the dual controls. She wore white overalls.

"Now for the great adventure of my life," she exclaimed.

They seek three records—the first Great Britain to New York flight; the first two way crossing of the Atlantic; a non stop straight line mark.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR NEXT WEEK

Prospect Of Decreased Canadian Wheat Crop Easing World Surplus

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE Washington — (AP) — Prospects of a Canadian wheat crop smaller than the 350,000,000 to 400,000,000 bushels estimated by U. S. government observers about a month ago are now indicated.

The official Canadian estimate of July 1 was a yield of 338,000,000 bushels, but private estimates based on continued unfavorable weather point to a harvest some 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels under the July 1 figure.

Large Reduction Indicated With a carryover of about 150,000,000 bushels added to the official estimate of 338,000,000, the total Canadian supply this year would be 488,000,000 bushels, as compared with 559,000,000 bushels last year. A further reduction of 50,000,000 would bring the supply approximately 100,000,000 bushels under that of 1932.

This prospect, together with the

RUSH PLAN TO EMPLOY IDLE

Roosevelt and Johnson Speed up the National Employment Program

Washington, July 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Hugh Johnson today began selecting six hundred lieutenants to impel toward victory the unprecedented peace time program for putting idle to work by September.

Both were said to be well pleased by the first public reaction to the work scheme under which 5,000,000 employers would sign agreements with the president to increase pay and put more people back by shortening hours of work.

A further moulding of public opinion behind the plan is looked for when President Roosevelt on Monday night outlines it to the nation.

The next step which began today is the selection of a recovery board of seven in each of the commerce department's 24 districts and of additional boards of nine in each state. The units will advise federal headquarters of progress and help the campaign.

LEFT CAMP WITHOUT PERMISSION; RETURNS

Burlington, July 22.—An order for the arrest of Carson Gillispie of Graham, was received by Sheriff H. J. Stockard, from Capt. H. B. Moor of the medical detachment of the 120th Infantry, now holding the summer encampment at Morehead City.

The order stated that Gillispie had left camp without permission, which is a strict violation of military regulations.

Deputies went to his home in Graham Wednesday and discovered that he had voluntarily returned to camp in a situation of this nature. Gillispie is subject to a courtmartial. Further disposition of his case will be made by military authorities.

FACTORY AT ROXBORO ADDS TO ITS WAGES

Roxboro, July 22.—The following notice has been posted at the local unit of Collins and Aikman, makers of velours:

"The code for the upholstery manufacturers may not be completed for two or three weeks. The administration is now working on it.

"Until this code is adopted and authorized, we cannot definitely fix wages or working hours. The company wishes to announce a ten per cent increase in all piece rates and hourly rates, effective Monday July 17. This increase will be a part of the increase authorized in the code when it is adopted.

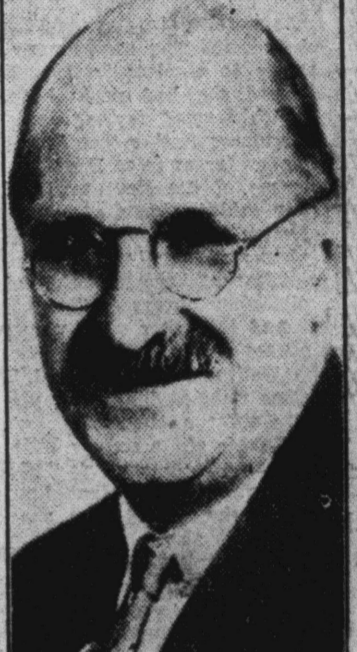

"Learners are not included in this increase."

Since May 1st, Collins and Aikman have added a total of 451 new employees in anticipation of three shifts of eight hours each. New employees have been taken from families in and around Roxboro. The present wage increase brings the amount to 20 per cent in the last sixty days. The local mill of Collins and Aikman, Inc. have around seven hundred employees on the payroll, and the mill is just about running at capacity. The textile code has had the officials of the company in almost continuous consultation for several days prior to the inauguration of the new system.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET WILL OPEN AT NOON

Board of Governors Decides On Later Opening To Relieve Pressure

New York, July 22.—(AP)—The New York Stock Exchange announced today that beginning Monday it would open at noon until further notice. The exchange decided to open today.

An announcement by the board of governors made half an hour before opening time this morning said:

"Due to the strained pressure under which members and employees of their firms and the Stock Exchange Clearing Corporation have been working for a considerable time and particularly the past few days, the governing committee of the New York Stock Exchange by resolutions adopted this morning have determined that beginning Monday and until further notice the exchange will open at 12 o'clock noon instead of 10 o'clock on full business days and furthermore the committee will determine next week, providing the present rate of activity continues, whether or not the exchange will be closed next Saturday."

The New York curb exchange decided on the same restrictive schedule.

Philadelphia, July 22.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Stock Exchange announced today that beginning Monday and until further notice it will open at 12 o'clock (EST) instead of 10 o'clock.

BACK TO FARM PLAN IS SET IN MOTION TODAY

Government Will Spend $25,000,000 To Move Industrial District Idle to Farms Where They May Feed Themselves; $20,000,000 Made Available For Public Works Turned Over to Agricultural Department

Washington, July 22.—(AP)—An early beginning on the back to land movement was envisaged today in an order by President Roosevelt authorizing Secretary Ickes to expend $25,000,000 made available for relieving congestion in industrial centers under the national recovery act.

The president has long believed that congestion in over populated industrial districts would be relieved if provisions were made for the purchase or rental of land to enable these people to get back to the soil.

The $25,000,000 was made available to be used through such agencies as are fit to aid in removing unemployed urban dwellers to where they can grow their own food. The executive order today was a distinction of the Secretary of the Interior to carry out the program.

Loans are made to attain the goal but methods are still to be worked out and repayments would constitute a revolving fund for furthering the plan.

At the same time the president announced that $20,000,000 made available in the $3,300,000,000 public work program has been transferred to the agricultural department to buy additional forest lands for conservation work.

The order said the funds would be used to buy land within national forests areas where the policy of buying land had been set heretofore. Some 300,000 men are at work on reforestation now and the order today was designed to continue this work.

OUR VISIT TO DARE

Neither time nor space will permit a complete resume of the enjoyable gathering of the newspaper folk in Dare County this week but having attended that meeting we cannot pass it up without publicly extending our thanks to the population of Dare County for the unmatched hospitality they extended to the editors. Not only at Manteo but from all over the county they came in large numbers to bid us welcome and there was no time during our stay there that some of those fine folks were not on hand to see to it that we enjoyed ourselves.

Aside from this hospitality there was the historical side of the trip that made it most interesting. Rightly called the birthplace of aviation, that county is rich in history and should become the shrine of thousands of visitors annually now that the spot has been made accessible to the outside by a complete system of highways and bridges. Dare County contains sacred spots upon which every North Carolinian should desire to stand at least once if not time and time again and now that the newspapers have seen this section first hand we repeat that soon our North Carolina people should be making pilgrimages to Dare in great numbers and nowhere under the sun will they find a greater spirit of hospitality.

DECREASED CANADIAN WHEAT CROP EASING WORLD SURPLUS

(Continued from page one) risen only 15 to 20 cents. Despite a very large carryover in this country, wheat prices in this country have been maintained at a level of 20 to 25 cents above an export parity with the world market.

The fact that the United States consumes 80 per cent or more of its own production, coupled with the prospects of a crop less than enough for domestic needs, has contributed to this unusual situation.

Canada, consuming only 25 to 30 per cent of its average production, must depend to greater extent on favorable world prices for wheat although it does have better export outlets due to its long waterways and Empire trade preferences.

Processing Tax Considered There has been strong sentiment in the Canadian grain belt for acreage reduction as a means of bolstering prices, but the eastern provinces, maritime and industrial, do not relish the idea of carrying the burden of a processing tax or other form of assessment likely to be passed on to the consumer in the event of a payment of a bounty to wheat growers who limit production.

Recent increases in the price of wheat at Winnipeg and the prospects of the United States going out of exporting are also expected to diminish somewhat the enthusiasm of Canadian wheat growers for reduction of their own acreage.

The United States is the only one of the important wheat producing countries which has materially reduced wheat area in the past four years. In the 1929-1932 crop year it had a production acreage of 62,700,000 acres, while in the 1932-1933 season the amount was 55,200,000 acres.

Chapter 48 THE FIRE

George was wet through before she had gone a mile, but her mind was too full of the detail of her sorrow for her to pay heed to the rain.

There was, indeed, something comforting about the steady fall of it, and the necessities of walking occasionally took her mind off her loneliness and her desire to see Nicholas, or at least to know where exactly he was.

There was Clifford too; it seemed terribly harsh that in order to remain true to herself and her own ideals, it should have been necessary to hurt an innocent and kindly soul so very much.

At last she arrived at the little town which always seemed so magnificent in contrast to the village where she lived. The only vacant seat in the picture house was one right at the back under the gallery.

George did not care; she squeezed past a couple of stout women and sat down with a sigh of relief. She was tired. Lately she had not done much walking.

The big picture of the afternoon was half way through, and though she watched it, George's thoughts kept wandering away—many miles away to a place called Ireland where she had never been, and which seemed further away than Germany; further even than America, as far away as Eternity.

One of the stout women beside her said in tones of great satisfaction as the last scene of the big picture flickered out:

"There, I knew it would end happily—they always do."

And the other stout woman answered cheerily:

"Well, and so they should. Things come right in life too, if you only give them a chance."

George felt a strange little thrill of envy; it was good to find someone who believed that life came right; she wished that she could believe it also.

"The Topical News." George watched mechanically while hurdle races, stout gentlemen making speeches, girls who all more or less looked like Bernie Boyd diving into shallow pools, and air-men risking their lives in impossible stunts, flitted across the screen—and then George's heart seemed to miss a beat as she read the caption, "Famous travelers of the week, by air and sea."

A be-spectacled American millionaire alighting from an aeroplane at Croydon; a well-known racing motorist walking down a ship's gang-way at Southampton, a musical comedy actress standing in the doorway of a Pullman at Waterloo, and last of all, "Mr. Nicholas Boyd, the famous film star, leaving the mail boat at Dublin."

George felt as if her heart had stopped beating as in a dream she saw the tall figure of Nicholas Boyd limping slowly down the gangway, his coat-collar turned up, one hand resting on the wooden rail. The disfigured side of his face was away from the camera, but just as he reached land he turned his head, apparently unconscious of what was happening, and it seemed to George that his eyes looked straight into hers.

Just for a moment, then the picture flickered out and was gone. The stout lady beside her broke into voluble talk.

"Poor dear, they needn't have photographed him! Did you see the ugly side of his face? And he was so good looking. Such a shame I think!"

George's head had sunk onto her arms; she almost felt as if she were dying. The stout lady touched her shoulder.

"Are you ill, Miss?" She looked up with an effort.

"No thank you—at least—it's rather warm isn't it? I think I'll go out."

She made her way blindly into the fresh air, her face white, her hands clenched in her coat pockets.

Yes, surely they might have spared him! She felt the sobs rising in her throat as she walked away from the little picture house, feeling as if she was leaving behind the man she loved.

"Oh why can't I be with him? Why can't I?" she asked herself desperately. "If only something would happen to make it possible."

It seemed so futile, this separation, when they loved each other, so unnecessarily cruel.

"Paper, Miss?" A bright eyed boy thrust an evening paper towards her, and George mechanically hunted for a penny.

"Bus just going, Miss," the boy said again with an evident knowledge of the requirements of movie patrons.

George came back to the present with a start, and running across the road she managed to secure the last seat in the shabby little bus.

The rain had stopped but everything looked grey and desolate, the street lamps twinkling through the darkness like wet eyes.

The world seemed to be full of tears George thought in despair. Why was the world so full of tears?

"Go and change." The reluctant kindness in his voice brought the tears to George's eyes. "It's mackintosh," she said. "I shan't be hurt."

She waited, hoping vaguely for something more, she hardly knew what. But Edward Bancroft had taken up the paper and was engrossed in its contents. After a moment she said, "I've been to the pictures."

Anything to keep the conversation going; she felt as if she were shut into an empty world where there was nobody to speak to, nobody to answer if she spoke.

Edward Bancroft grunted. "Damned silly thing," he said. "Cought to be stopped. Even paupers seem to be able to find money to go and wallow in the rubbish they show at picture houses."

"I like them," George said. "Humph," he shook out the paper impatiently. "Well, here's one of the beastly places burnt down, and a good job too. Two people burnt to death. Well, what can they expect if they go to such death-traps; woe it doesn't happen more often."

"How dreadful," George said. In the following silence there was a knock at the front door; nobody ever tried to ring the bell and if they had it would have been useless.

"I'll see who it is," George said. In a moment she returned. "A message from Mrs. Spears, Uncle Edward—she would like to see you."

"Humph—well, she can wait. Say I'll come presently." Edward Bancroft spoke grumpily, but when George returned from delivering the message he had gone upstairs to his room.

She repressed a little smile, realizing that perhaps the Board's Head was not the only place where what Mrs. Spears said, was meant.

She sat down by the fire and took up the evening paper. A headline caught her eye, and she read it mechanically.

"An appalling fire in the new Killick studios early today resulted in the tragic loss of two lives. Miss Bernie Boyd, the young film star who has made such a rapid stride towards fame during the past few months, was trapped in her dressing room, and though desperate attempts were made to rescue her, she was burnt to death before she could be reached. Another tragic feature of the disaster is that Bishop Leiter, a well-known American visiting this country and who is believed to have been interested in the Killick Film Company, also lost his life at the same time. The two bodies, charred beyond recognition were found close together."

Edward Bancroft's loud voice boomed suddenly through the silent house.

"George! George! Where the devil is my blue suit?" and then again as no answer was forthcoming.

"George? Can't you hear? Why the deuce—" and then his jumbling step came down the stairs.

He pushed wide the half closed study door.

"Have you gone stone deaf that you can't hear when you're being called? Here am I—oh my God, George!"

But George was lying huddled and insensible on the floor and could not answer.

PROTESTS USING BOYS TO SCATTER BEER LITERATURE

Mr. Editor: I am inclosing with this letter to you a handbill advertisement of Schmidt's Beer which was this morning placed upon my porch by a boy who could not have been more than twelve years of age.

This boy was one of several who under the direction of an adult person were placing such handbills upon the porches of all the homes in this, and I suppose every section of the city. The employment of mere boys in this dirty business leads one to wonder whether there is any decency left. This is the bregime to which our leaders have brought us and of which they seem very proud. I rise to ask, Mr. Editor, were those your boys? Or doesn't it matter so long as the boys were somebody's else?

There is a group of gentlemen here and elsewhere who seem determined to utterly rout out any man who insists on publicly protesting against such matters. Their attention, however, should be called to two ancient adages. One of which reads like this, "The mills of God grind slow; but they grind exceeding small." And the other, "Chickens come home to roost."

FATALLY INJURED IN GETTING OFF TRUCK

Mebane, July 22—John Parris, 61 was fatally injured this afternoon about 3:30 o'clock when he stepped from a moving truck. He was taken at once to Rainy Hospital, Burlington but died in a few minutes. The driver of the truck counseled him to wait until the truck stopped but Parris did not heed the advice. He fell in getting off the truck and his head struck the pavement with such force that the skull was badly fractured. The accident occurred near here. The deceased was a brother of Mrs. J. H. Porterfield of Mebane and of Dr. O. J. Parris of Graham.

ITALY GROWING BANANAS IN EAST AFRICAN COLONY

Rome, July 22—(AP)—Banana loving Italy now has its own almost sufficient garden for the fruit, government statistics indicate. These figures show that stimulated cultivation in Italian Somaliland is responsible for a yield 24 times greater than that of 1930. The crop of about 18,000 tons, is worth $850,000 to the African colony.

ARNOLD TOLD TO GO AHEAD WITH FLOWING

(Continued from page one) be here sometime today or at least by Monday. Pitt county growers have signed to take around 3,000 bales out of cultivation this year and will be paid by the government to do so. It is an effort on the part of the administration to relieve the glutted market and improve the price situation on one of the greatest crops of the south.

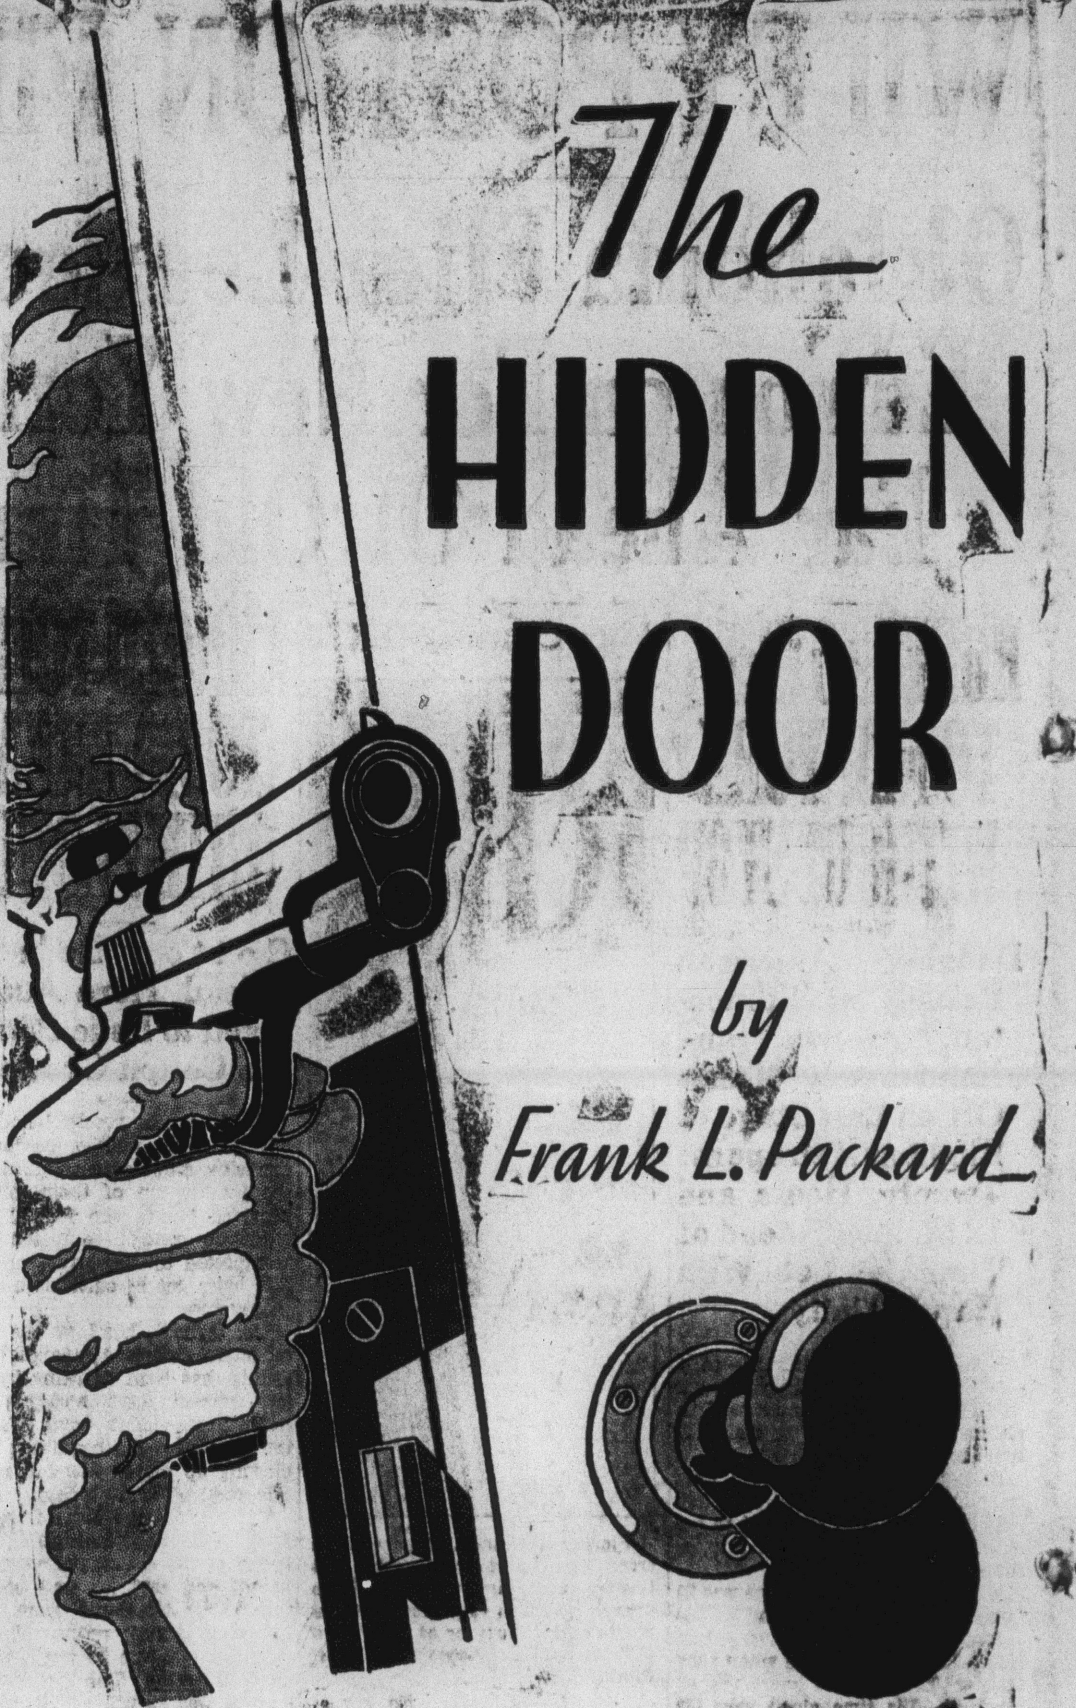

WHEELS WITHIN WHEELS F. D. R.'S ADMINISTRATION

(Continued from page one) ports of what happened there during the visit of Assistant Secretary Raymond Moley are beginning to reach the White House, and, sooner or later, Washington is expecting developments in the situation between the secretary and the "brain trust" dean who technically is his subordinate. Nor has the sensitive pulse of official speculation failed to respond to such developments as the extraordinary role assumed recently by Bernard M. Baruch, or the designation of Frank Walker as a sort of coordinator of coordination—called by some "assistant President." The general impression around the capital is that if anybody really has the inside track it is the professors.

That impression has been deepened by the President's failure to consult oftener with party wheel-horses, most of whom don't know much liking for the professors. It was many weeks after election before Albert C. Ritchie heard a word from the President-elect. Since election night Mr. Roosevelt has had no communication with Alfred E. Smith, unless it has taken place very recently. Yet the presidential veto of Professor Moley's London stabilization scheme demonstrates that the President by no means thinks the brain trust infallible. Accumulating evidence indicates he reserves the right to make his own decisions. It is an old trait of Mr. Roosevelt to keep people guessing. He made a game of it when he selected his cabinet, not only with the newspaper reporters but with those immediately involved. Even Farley has told friends he was not invited into the cabinet until just before inauguration. So there can be little doubt that the present guessing game is something more than mere accident; or that the President is enjoying it immensely.

How Ford Owners May Save Money And Keep Their Cars In Excellent Running Condition

Ford has reduced the operating cost for Ford owners of Model A, B and V8 cars of 1928 through 1933 by making it possible for owners to have installed complete Factory built motor assembly at very low cost.

Model A and B (4 cyl) $38.50 plus freight
Model 18 and 40 (8 cyl) $41.00 plus freight

Note: Freight is approximately $2.00

No other car on the American market provides such and unusual opportunity. The above service on the average low price car would cost you $100.00 or more. This is another policy of economy which FORD has made available to lower your operating cost per mile. Truly it pays to own and operate FORD cars and trucks. Regardless of the mileage or number of years in service this exchange is available at all times. Investigate this modern way of reducing the cost of car ownership and operation. Canning Vegetables For Needy. Aiden, July 22.—Quantities of vegetables are being canned and stored here to provide for the needy and unemployed under the direction of Rev. E. D. Dodd, who is in charge of all charity and welfare work in town. The community gardens consisting of some 13 or 14 acres are giving wonderful yields since the rainy season began and a statement was made unauthoritatively that the state officer who has charge of the work, visited the gardens and pronounced them the best in Pitt county.

A canning outfit and other equipment have been installed in a vacant store under the charge of Mrs. Wardell Worthington. The plant is being used to full capacity with a daily output of some 200 cans. Corn, string beans and soup mixtures are the main products being consumed now. The prospects are that there will be enough vegetables to keep the canner busy all summer.

In addition to the canning enterprise a sewing room has been opened and unemployed women are given work and at the same time garments are being prepared for the needy. This is being done under the direction of T. C. Beaman. During the four weeks of operation more than 200 garments for women and children have been made and packed in bundles for future use.

SNOW HILL FALLS BEFORE LOCALS 9 TO 2

By R. O. MOYE
(Official Scorekeeper)

Lefty Dean had Snow Hill eating out of his hands yesterday afternoon in Snow Hill and borough home another victory for the home club to the tune of 9-2.

Snow Hill was unable to get but one hit up until the ninth inning when two triples by D. Ogden and Newsome and a single by Biddle betted the Greene County lads two runs their only tallies of the game. Dean allowed only four hits and struck out seven of the Snow Hill batters and among these was the mighty Mule Shirley who faced Dean four times and did not get a single bingle. The boys were back of him yesterday as only one error was chalked up against the home club.

The other side of the story is an entirely different matter. S. Ogden started pitching for Snow Hill and after yielding five hits was removed in the second inning. He was replaced by Sands—a left hander, who yielded six hits. Jimmie Smith, second baseman for Greenville got two singles and a double to lead the local club. Close behind him was Harrington, Lang and Dean with two safeties each.

Only one inning during the game did they fail to get a hit and this was during the ninth frame.

For fielding honors, Harrington gets the honor. He was all over the field and made some beautiful catches. Smith at second was also on the job and Bing Miller at third was there too. Bostic also played a stellar game at shortstop. In the 8th frame a beautiful double play was executed by Greenville. This was from Smith to Bostic to Brown.

The box score:

Greenville	Ab	R	H	O	A	E
Miller 2b	2	0	1	2	0	0
Smith 2b	6	1	3	1	1	0
Bostic ss	4	0	1	4	3	0

Summary: Runs bated in, Smith, 2 Bostic 2, Dean 2, Lang 2, Brown, Biddle, D. Ogden. Two base hits Smith, Pittman. Three base hits, Lang, Dean, Newsome, D. Ogden. Double plays, Smith to Bostic to Brown. Stolen bases, Harrington, Fulghum. Left on bases, Greenville 11, Snow Hill 8. Base on balls, off Dean 6, off S. Ogden 2, off Sands 4. Struck out by Dean 7, Sands 3. Hits off, Dean 4, off S. Ogden 5 in 1-1-3 inning, off Sands 6 in 7-2-3 innings. Hit by pitcher, by S. Ogden Harrington, by Sands Miller. Winning pitcher Dean, Umpires Flowers and Cletcher. Time 2:05.

AYDEN IN CELLAR

Ayden, July 21—Kinston defeated Ayden, 5-4 here today in a 12-inning game and the defeat dropped the locals to the Coastal Plain League cellar.

The visitors tallied four runs in the opening inning by mixing two hits with miscues and Flythe's passes. Johnston relieved Flythe in this inning and blanketed Kinston until the 12th when Campbell doubled and Roach singled. Johnson gave four hits, in all, and hit a homer to feature. Physioc and Mann pitched for Kinston and were reached for eight hits. Stephenson caught for Ayden and Dudley for Kinston.

proverbial street car—one passing by every minute.

In fact, it now appears "the bashful young man," as he described himself to Chief McQuiside, can not only "make the fatal leap" if he desires but has a wide field of eligibles to choose from.

The story of Deavers request gained wide circulation in all part of the country, and he has received much publicity.

His letter to the Pittsburgh officer follows:

"I have heard a great deal of praise of your city and the good-looking ladies, so I am wondering if you can help a lonely bachelor in his search for a wife, as I have always been very bashful around the fair sex.

"I am a farmer, a soldier, a painter and poet. I am 40 year old 6 feet tall, 200 pounds, dark hair, brown eyes, strong and healthy and well able to take care of the right girl."

ROCKY MOUNT WILL PLAY AT GRIMESLAND

The Purple Pep team of Rocky Mount will play the Grimesland baseball club at Grimesland tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. It was announced today. The two clubs are considered among the strongest in this part of the state and a stirring game was expected.

LOCALS TAKE TIGHT GRIP ON THE 'TOP'

By defeating Snow Hill yesterday afternoon by the score of 9-2 the Greenville club perceptibly tightened their grip on the leadership of the Coastal Plain League.

The victory gave them a game and a half lead, the third or fourth time this season that any club has been able to gain that much advantage.

The race for honors has been largely confined to Greenville, Ayden and Snow Hill. It was nip-and-tuck between Ayden and Greenville the first part of the season, but about two weeks ago Mule Shirley's proteges grabbed the proverbial bull by the horns, shoved Greenville to second place and Ayden to third.

Ayden and Greenville battled valiantly for second place for about two weeks, got tied up for honors, with Greenville moving ahead and vying with Snow Hill for honors of first position.

The tie continued for about a week, and then the unexpected happened—Kinston thrashed Snow Hill soundly while the local club was winning and Snow Hill crashed to second place.

Although Greenville was idle last Wednesday because of rain, Kinston again knocked Snow Hill for a row of cooked hats and threw the local club into a half game lead of the circuit.

While Greenville was giving the Greene county lads their third successive defeat in less than a week, Kinston took Ayden in tow and caused that club to drop into the cellar—a position they had successfully avoided all season until yesterday. The victory enabled Kinston to forge into third place, and indications are that the Lenoir county boys may move a notch or so higher before the whole story has been told.

Greenville played in Kinston today and Ayden at Snow Hill. Ayden will come here next Tuesday to make up for the game rained out here Wednesday.

SMART SPORTS OUTFIT FOR FALL

Here is one of the costumes which stylists predict will be popular this fall. It is a light wool sports suit in the new eel green. The white blouse with the novel buttoning feature is combined with a lustrous brown satin scarf. (Associated Press Photo)

Gold Seen As Debt Eraser.

Wellington, New Zealand, July 21—A view to wiping out the national gold mining expedition with a view to wiping out the national and municipal debts has been suggested by members of Parliament from Canterbury.

GROWERS BUSY IN LEAF CROP

On farms where tobacco barns were in operation, however, the vigil continued, and if anybody came to town they saw to it that curing barns were properly looked after before leaving.

After curing has been going on this county for a month or more, the industry is just about at its height now with thousands of pounds of the green leaf finding their way into barns to be turned into a golden yellow.

Harvesting the tobacco crop of this county is the greatest task farmers are confronted with each year. Because it is the principal industry of the farm. However, the last two years has seen more attention given to food crops—the stuff that enables growers to live at home regardless of price for the principal crops, and duties of the growers have been considerably increased.

After a year of corn is to be seen under cultivation in Pitt county this year and it is possible that acreage under cultivation is twice as great as it was the last year or so. In addition, there are no end of food crops—the kind the whole family consumes—and the farmer that used to give all his time to tobacco while he bought his food in town—has to stay on his toes all of the time to keep up with his farming operations.

It is a great season—the greatest of all the year—and if the main crop of this county sells like others at the present time, then financial returns will be such that the man who has been in the financial doldrums the last several years will be able to get a peek at the sunshine of prosperity.

New York Cotton

New York, July 22—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady 13 to 37 points advance in response to higher Liverpool cables an don foreign and trade buying.

After selling up to 10.67 for December on the opening demand the market met renewed liquidation. Prices sold off from 10.47 to 9.80 for October and to about 10.03 for December making declines of 40 to 46 points on the active positions.

Offerings were absorbed by the trade at the lower prices and the market steadied up again on continued demand from trade or commission house sources and covering.

December rallied to 10.34 with active months showing losses of about 12 to 18 points at the end of the first half hour.

Futures closed firm 3 to 14 higher Spots quiet, middling 10.20.

Stock Market

New York, July 22—(AP)—Conflicting currents today whirled stocks through freshly troubled market waters. Early rallies throughout the list of one to three or more points gave way to renewed liquidation later in furious trading which swapped exchange specialists.

There were numerous last minute recoveries but at noon prices were highly irregular.

Transfers approximated 3,800,000 shares.

Covering by the growing army of "shorts" aided leading stocks to come back substantially in the first hour but the elimination of many slimly margined accounts handicapped the upward movement.

The ticker tape was 10 to 20 minutes behind the floor, throughout most of the day.

Share gainers of fractions to around a point or more included U. S. Steel, New York Central, General Motors, Commercial Solvent, Union Pacific, International Telephone and Sears Roebuck. Case was under pressure of loss of around five points. Among losers of a fraction to one or more were American Telephone, Santa Fe, Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward, National Steel, Drugs, American Can American Tobacco and DuPont.
