HOME OWNERS LOAN CORPORATION TO OPEN BRANCH MONDAY

Bank Officials Badly Wounded During 'Holdup'

ROBBERS FLEE AFTER FIRING THEIR PISTOLS

No Money Believed Taken in Haste of Two Bandits to Get Away; T. C. Barnes, Cashier and Solon Little, Assistant Cashier, Reported in Dangerous Condition at Statesville Hospital

Taylorville, July 29.—(AP)—Two officials of the Merchants and Farmers bank here were shot and seriously wounded today by two bandits who fled after the shooting apparently without looting the institution.

T. C. Barnes, cashier of the bank was shot four times in the chest. Solon Little, assistant cashier, was wounded in the abdomen. Both were taken to the Statesville hospital.

The bandits entered the bank shortly after it opened, began shooting and fled. A check was started immediately to ascertain if any funds had been stolen. But Charles E. Eckard, former official of the bank, who was called in to take charge, said it was doubtful if any money had been taken.

Roland Chapman, a customer, was the only other man in the bank at the time. He said events occurred so swiftly he hardly knew what happened.

"The first thing I knew," he said, "one of the robbers was standing in front of the bookkeeper's window with a pistol through the grill work and the next thing the man was shooting. I made an effort to leave the bank as I did so a second man came in and halted me. Almost immediately he let me go."

Citizens of the vicinity were somewhat confused as to the events of the attempted robbery. Some said the bandits fled from the bank immediately after the shooting and escaped toward the west in a small sedan. They said they apparently carried no money bags with them. Police immediately broadcast an alarm asking that all roads be patrolled.

Statesville, July 29.—(AP)—Attaches at the Statesville Hospital this morning said that T. C. Barnes and Solon Little, shot during a hold-up of the bank at Taylorville today were dangerously wounded. Barnes was shot four times in the chest and Little once in the abdomen. Hospital doctors said Little was taken to the operating room immediately on his arrival from Taylorville while Barnes was being x-rayed. They said both men were in a serious condition.

TRUCK AND MELONS BRING CASH TO CHOWAN

Edenton, July 29.—In the past few weeks, during which time watermelon boats and trucks and butterbeans, squash and corn trucks have set sail out of this section, it is estimated that a sum slightly in excess of $50,000 has come into the pockets of farmers and growers hereabouts.

Among those who have moved watermelons out heavily are J. L. Wiggins, W. H. Winborne, E. N. Elliott, Warner Evans, T. C. Byrum, A. B. Griffin, A. C. Bovee, W. O. Speight, J. H. Haskett and the Smalls.

Before the watermelon season ends, which will be around September 1, it is estimated some 750,000 to 1,000,000 melons will have been shipped out and consumed locally from the Chowan county crop.

Offers Austria New Deal Centered On Catholicism

By WDE WERNER
Vienna.—(AP)—Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss' determination to drive Hitlerism out of Austria is not the only spectacular objective he has announced for his regime.

There is a positive side to the Dollfuss program, too. It constitutes a "new deal"—thereforgering of Austria into a German Catholic state with a new constitution, a new European outlook and a new adjustment of the problems of labor and capital.

"At a time like this," he told Austrians in a manifesto published through the land, "when German civilization is passing through a great crisis, this German folk in-

STATE HEAD LAYING PLANS HERE TODAY

Alan O'Neal, State Manager of Federal Institution, and Congressman Lindsay Warren, Make Final Arrangements for Opening Offices in Post Office; R. B. Davis, Branch Head, Ill; Senator Askew To be in Temporary Charge

Alan O'Neal of Salisbury, state manager of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, together with Congressman Lindsay C. Warren, was here today making final arrangements for the opening of the Greenville branch of the corporation. Offices on the second floor of the postoffice building will be in operation Monday morning to take care of applications from home owners of 25 Eastern, North Carolina counties.

R. B. Davis, Rocky Mount attorney, named head of the Greenville branch, at present is confined by illness and the local branch will be in charge of Senator E. S. Askew, of Windsor, who likewise is chief appraiser of the district served by the Greenville branch.

Senator Askew will be in charge of the branch for a month or longer, should the illness of Mr. Davis prevent him from assuming his duties by the end of August. As soon as he is relieved of the management of the office, Senator (Continued on Page Two)

PLAYGROUNDS TO OPEN SOON

Supervised Play For Children Will begin Here Next Wednesday Morning.

Supervised playgrounds for the children of Greenville will be thrown open next Wednesday morning, it was announced today by J. H. Rose, superintendent of schools, through whose office playground activities will be directed.

The playgrounds will be at the Training school and Third Street school. It was first announced they would be opened Monday but Mr. Rose said today plans could not be arranged for the opening before Wednesday.

Mrs. E. T. Robeson will be director of the playgrounds, and four Greenville young women will actually carry on the work on the grounds. Members of the Parent-Teacher Association will assist. The playground, Mr. Rose said, is primarily for children from 5 to 17 and 12 years of age.

Funds for the enterprise will be provided through R. F. C. appropriations to the county.

Alpine and Danube county must remain an island of Christian-German culture in its old and unadulterated form.

Gives Austria New Mission
For a long time, he reminded his public, it was Austria's mission to be the organizer and administrator of many nationalities living and developing within the old empire.

But that mission is ended," he said. "Austria now should become a refuge of Christian-German civilization and a mediator between the German nationality in general and the other nationalities of the world." See Inspiration in Past But Austria also must be built (Continued On Page Two)

WILL DISCUSS 'WORK' PLAN

Special Meeting Of Business Men Called For Monday on Recovery Drive

Looking to complete co-operation with President Roosevelt's recovery program, a special meeting of all merchants and business men of the city was called today for Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

At this time discussion of the program will be conducted upon an extended scale and every effort put forward for making Greenville one hundred per cent for the government program looking to higher pay and shorter hours for working people thereby bringing about a general improvement in the economic situation of the nation. The meeting will be held at the City Hall.

The cotton mill and members of the tobacco industry have already announced plans for co-operating with the movement to create more employment and indications are that the government will find ready response from other phases of industry. All business men of the city are urged to attend and take part in the discussion and gain a better understanding of what they are expected to do to keep step with the President in lifting the nation from the pits of depression.

Three Bandits Who Robbed Craven Store Are Captured

ROOSEVELT ON VISIT TO HOME AT KRUMELBOW

President Given Joyous Welcome by Neighbors and Friends 'Back Home'

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 29.—(AP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt came home today for the first time as President of the United States.

A broad smile spread over his face as he walked from the special train amidst a crowd of former friends and neighbors.

His greeting with his mother at the station was drowned by cheers of the gathering.

"Hello, Sam, and how are you Ed," were heard from the President as he shook hands all around before going by car from the depot to the family estate at Krum Elbow near by.

With Mrs. Roosevelt at his side and his mother on the doorstep, the happy chief executive waited for a moment before entering the home to chat with local officials and to give photographers some picture chances.

FLEISCHMANN TO SPEAK SUN.

Memorial Baptist Pastor To Deliver Sermon At United Services Here

Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist church will speak at the series of united services on the courthouse lawn tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

This will be the second appearance of Mr. Fleischmann as speaker since the beginning of the series about a month ago. He delivered the sermon at the second service and was heard by a crowd that filled every available seat.

The singing tomorrow night will be in charge of J. H. Rose, assisted by the Memorial Baptist choir. Rev. W. S. Harden will conduct the service.

With four more services to go before the united campaign comes to a close August 27, large crowds were expected to be on hand each Sunday evening to hear the inspirational message and congregational singing. The services are sponsored by the Ministerial Association with a view to bringing the various churches into closer touch with one another and to give them a keener appreciation of the great work facing all denominations.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Capture Bank Robber

North Wilksboro, July 29.—(AP)—A man giving his name as R. E. Black of High Point and who officers quoted as admitting he was one of the bandits who shot two officials of the Merchants and Farmers bank at Taylorville in a hold up there today was captured here a few hours later and lodged in the Wilkes county jail.

No officers were here during the afternoon as all available police and citizens had scattered through the section in an effort to capture the bandits.

White Nichols, editor of the Wilkes News, said that part of the posse of 100 men arrested black as he walked along a road about six miles from here.

Nicholas said Black admitted he was one of the bandits but would say nothing, but added "I got in a bad mess and they'd get me sooner or later anyway."

Tropical Storm Moves In Direction Of Florida

Washington, July 29.—(AP)—Charles Mitchell U. S. Weather forecaster said today the indications were that the tropical disturbance now near the Great Abaco island would reach the southern coast of Florida in the general vicinity of West Palm Beach tomorrow morning.

Great Abaco island is about 200 miles from the Florida coast southeast of the West Palm Beach vicinity. Mitchell said the disturbance was moving north or northwest at the rate of about 10 miles and hour, although this speed might change sometime during the day. He added that its intensity was not alarming.

SURRENDER TO OFFICERS AT NEGRO HOUSE

Robbers Identified As Convicts Who Escaped From Rocky Mount Chaingang A Short Time Ago; Nabbed By Pitt, Craven and Nash Officers At 6 O'clock Today; Were 10 Miles From Scene of Hold-up

Three escaped convicts, who robbed a Craven county filling station operator and his wife of $150 and beat them with the butts of pistols and sawed off shot guns, were captured by officers in Craven county early today by officers from three counties who had been instructed to shoot to kill if they were offered any resistance.

The capture was made at a negro farm house about 6 o'clock this morning by five officers from Craven, Pitt and Nash counties, who had been on an untiring manhunt since the three bandits entered the filling station Thursday night between 9 and 10 o'clock fractured Oscar Paramore's skull with a pistol but, and then knocked out two of his wife's teeth as she attempted to get back part of the money.

The bandits, Clifton Thomas, of Vanceboro, Whitney Jones of Lenoir and D. G. Traylor of Edenton, were being held in Craven county today for investigation in connection with crimes committed in Craven, Pitt and Beaufort counties. They were identified as three prisoners, who escaped a short time ago from a chain gang in the Rocky Mount community.

A posse of one hundred men, part in the search for the criminals with instructions from officers to shoot to kill if they were offered any resistance.

The posse after an all night all day and another night of hunt had dwindled down to a few officers when the bandits were finally located. Sheriff Sam Whitehurst and Pitt county officers played a large part in running the criminals to earth.

Parking their car about 200 yards from Paramore's store-gas station the bandits entered the building brandishing pistols and sawed off shotguns. Paramore was told to hand over all of his money. He gave them $150, and said it was all he had.

At this point, Mrs. Paramore, who was the only other person in the store with her husband, implored the bandits not to take all the money, and to give them back part of it. She said she and her husband were poor and had no means of support but the store.

She was hit over the head with the butt of a shotgun. Paramore rushed to the rescue of his wife and he was knocked to the floor where he lay in an unconscious condition. Mrs. Paramore was struck again this time losing two or three teeth.

The men rushed to their car, and in their haste to escape ran the machine through a bridge. The car was abandoned. The machine was identified as that stolen from Miss Louise Pearsall at Rocky Mount after the escape of three men from the chaingang near there.

The robbers were located about ten miles east of where the holdup took place. The officers, arriving in an automobile, surrounded the house, entered the building and arrested the three men who did not offer any resistance.

The hunt for the prisoners actually started in Greenville Friday of last week when a Pitt county officer got a tip that they were not far away. Beaufort and Craven county officers were notified and assisted in the probe which failed to bring results. While the hunt was still in progress Sheriff Sam Whitehurst (Continued On Page Three)

HOME LOAN BANK A GREAT ASSET

The opening of the Home Owners Loan Corporation here Monday will mark added importance for Greenville as the principal city of the east and for this asset to our city and section we have Congressman Lindsay C. Warren to thank, in that it was only through his efforts that our city was chosen as the home of this Federal bank. When the first decision for the location of the Home Loan Banks in this state were reached there was no branch for east of Raleigh and then Congressman Warren insisted that Eastern Carolina needed and should have a branch of the institution and that such a branch should be located in Greenville. Once a movement for this added branch was started other cities of the section likewise desired it but Congressman Warren without even letting his closest friends down here knew what he was trying to do for our city kept up his fight with the result that Greenville was designated as the home of the first Federal institution in the state to be placed east of Raleigh. The location of the branch here will mean a great convenience to the people of the twenty-five eastern counties to be served from here and again we say that Congressman Warren is entitled to the thanks of our people for his interests and efforts in this matter. His ability to procure this institution for this section is an indication of his influence and standing with the administration in Washington and we are fortunate to have such a representative.

ASSISTANT ENGINEER BITTEN BY MAD DOG

Wilmington, July 29—Major George Gillette, assistant Wilmington district engineer is undergoing the familiar treatment as a result of being bitten Tuesday by a dog found to be mad upon examination of its brain at the State laboratory in Raleigh.

Major Gillette was bitten on the left cheek and on advice of Dr. R. F. Huffman, veterinarian, went to Raleigh immediately taking the head of the dog with him for examination. Laboratory workers had been informed in advance and after the examination was made, Major Gillette was administered the first treatment he returned here yesterday.

The dog was the property of Major Gillette. The incident occurred at the Gillette's home on Wrightsville Beach.

The HIDDEN DOOR

By Frank L. Packard

SYNOPSIS: The Mask has killed Reddy Turner in Colin Hewitt's apartment, and wounded Colin, a writer of detective fiction. Reddy had extracted a promise from Colin that should Reddy be "put on the spot," Colin would try to deliver a letter Reddy had left hidden in his room. Reddy had hoped to "get" the Mask, who was responsible for the death of Reddy's sister. Now the Mask telephones Colin on his first day out of the hospital to say that the writer has nothing to fear provided he does not meddle. Detective Sergeant Tim Mulvey is in the room at the time.

Chapter Six DANGEROUS QUEST Detective Sergeant Mulvey jerked his hand toward the telephone instrument. "Why don't you do what you'd do in a story?" he inquired with a short laugh. "What's that?" "Scene of us trying frantically to trace the telephone call." Colin shook his head. "I wouldn't do that in a story," he said. "Granting the Mask even a modest degree of intelligence, and I rank him far above that, it would be obviously useless. The call came from some place like the Grand Central where there are a number of public booths—not from a drugstore where there is only a single booth and where he might have been noticed and a description of him obtained."

"Check!" grinned Detective Sergeant Mulvey. "Fair enough! Well, what did he say?" "He complained about my intimacy with you," replied Colin dryly. "He said the reason he shot me was due to the possibility that Reddy might have given me some inside information which I in turn would hand over to the police, but that the police work on the case had been so ridiculous that he was convinced I knew nothing that would be of any value to you." "I'll remember that when I get my hands on him!" snapped Sergeant Mulvey. "What else?" "He said I had nothing more to fear from him providing I did not meddle, but that otherwise I would not live 24 hours. He suggested that instead of spending my time with you I go away somewhere—for my health."

"Anything more?" Colin smiled a little provocatively. "Only a personal fling at you," he said. "He seems to be keeping pretty close tabs on what is going on. He knew you were here tonight and he knew where we were and what we were doing this afternoon. He said that even Detective Sergeant Mulvey might have known he had never had his picture taken as Colonel Hargreaves."

Sergeant Mulvey, pricked, bit viciously on the stub of his cigar. "Oh, yeah?" he drawled. "Well, I've known of an identification or two being pulled off that way with less to go on. But forget that! So he warned you to lay off, did he?"

Colin nodded. "Well, that's one point on which I agree with him," announced Sergeant Mulvey decisively. "From tonight you're through. This is a police job."

"Reddy said it wasn't." "Yes—and you know what happened to Reddy! Well, it's not going to happen to you if I can help it. Look here, I know how you feel about both Reddy and the sister you knew as a kid, so say nothing of anything on your own account, and that you'd let everything go to hell, yourself included, to get the bird that did it."

"But there isn't anything more you can do. You've done all you can. You've told us all you know. You're out of the picture from now on. It ain't going to be healthy for you to hobnob around with me—and you're not going to get a chance to, anyway, until this case is cleaned up."

"Whatever I think of this Mask swine, I'm not kidding myself on one point. He's a killer. You get away from here—take a good long trip."

"Run away, you mean?" inquired Colin thinly. "Run away nothing!" snorted Sergeant Mulvey. "It ain't as though you were shirking anything by going, or could accomplish anything by staying. And, besides everything else, you need a change and you need it bad. You ain't fit by a long way yet."

Colin was silent for a moment. "It's human nature," he said finally with a queer smile, "to be afraid of appearing to be afraid. And I have now been threatened. As a matter of fact, however, I have been thinking for some time of going away as soon as I got out of the hospital."

"The first part of what you say," declared Sergeant Mulvey forcibly, "is the bunk where you are concerned. What do you care if this Mask guy thinks he's put one over on you—there's nobody else to make a chorus of it. As for the second part, it's the best news I've had since I heard the depression was over. Don't weaken, bo! Where were you thinking of going?"

Colin was thinking of a certain pole.

"I haven't the faintest idea," he said. "Well, no matter," said Detective Sergeant Mulvey. "Go somewhere! I've got to go home." He picked up his hat. "That's a go, eh?"

Colin walked with the other to the door. "Well, perhaps," he said. "Nix on the 'perhaps' stuff!" shot back Detective Sergeant Mulvey. "I'll run you out of town myself, if I have to!"

Colin laughed. "We'll see," he said. "You're a good scout, Tim. Good night." "So are you—but don't play the fool!" returned Sergeant Mulvey. "Good night."

Colin closed the door, and, re-crossing the room, pulled out one of the lower drawers of his desk, from which, hidden under a pile of odds and ends, he produced a bunch of skeleton keys. He looked at his watch.

It was twenty-seven minutes past twelve.

For a moment, his brows knitted, Colin stood there staring at the keys in his hand. Then, abruptly, he thrust them into his pocket, selected a soft felt hat from the stand, switched off the lights, opened the door, stepped out in the warm June night, and locked the door behind him.

And then for an instant he remained motionless.

OFFERS AUSTRIAN NEW DEAL CETERED ON CATHOLICISM

"Much already has been accomplished in this respect," added the diminutive leader. "When we came back from the trenches after the war they tore the stars off our uniforms (Dollfuss was wearing his wartime uniform when he made this speech) but in recent weeks we have put them back onto the tunics of our soldiers."

"Let this be a symbol! A nation which forgets its glorious past has no future."

The new Austria, Dollfuss further he said, will be a truly Catholic state.

New Constitution Promised "We in Austria," he said at historic Mariazell, "want more for Catholicism than the opportunity to influence the individual. Beyond that, it must not only be anchored in our political and national life; it must express itself in the very organization of the state."

The parliament which "paralyzed itself" last March will not be allowed to return until a new constitution has been drawn up, and a new relationship established between capital and labor, based on Christian, not "Marxist" principles, Dollfuss said.

STATE HEAD LAYING PLANS HERE TODAY

Mr. O'Neal stated this morning that no further employes for the office would be added at this time.

Julius Brown, Greenville attorney has been named as attorney for Pitt county, or for applications from Pitt home owners, and Ernest Dugley, former sheriff, was selected as appraiser for the county. Compensation for both positions is entirely on a fee basis.

The advisory committee for Pitt county which serves without compensation is composed of J. J. White of Greenville, John W. Holmes, of Farmville, and J. B. Pierce, of Ayden.

A complete list of appraisers and attorneys for the 25 counties will be made known the first of next week.

Applications are already available and can be obtained from any of the designated county attorneys or appraisers or direct from the office here.

It was stated today that applications have already been given out in some of the counties and are now being prepared for filing with the office here when it begins operation Monday.

The location of this branch in Greenville marks the establishment of the first federal institution in this state to be placed east of Raleigh and is a source of much pride to the residents of the city and county that Greenville has been chosen for the location of the branch office.

Procuring of this branch for Greenville was the result of the efforts of Congressman Lindsay C. Warren of this district.

State Manager O'Neal, commenting this morning on the establishment of the bank here, said:

"I am finding keen interest and co-operation not only here but throughout this bank district in our efforts to open this office for business. You have a fine city and I am looking forward to the pleasant relations with your city that will come by the location of the district office."

"Greenville deserves every congratulation and every citizen should feel proud of the fact that your city has been designated as the district office for the $2,200,000,000 corporation."

"Numbers of times I have been asked why Greenville was selected for our district office. I answer it was on account of the activity of your congressman, the Hon. Lindsay C. Warren, and his strong influence and high standing with the administration."

"We expect to be able to lend considerable assistance through this office to the deserving distressed home owners of this great section of our state."

The primary purpose of the Home Loan act is to enable those persons with mortgages on their homes to retain their homes through the refinancing of their mortgages through this federal aid whereby agreement between the mortgage and mortgage government bonds up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of the property will be exchanged for mortgages or cash up to 50 per cent of the appraised value of the property can be procured for the paying of mortgages.

As stated above, applications may be obtained from the office here or any of the designated attorneys or appraisers. The procedure on the part of the applicant is as follows: In forwarding application it is essential for the blank to be fully and completely prepared, otherwise we will be forced to return it. It is necessary also that we have, with the application, evidence that you are unable to procure this loan elsewhere, and a statement of the amount you can reasonably pay on your loan in addition to taxes, assessments, and the fire insurance premiums. Give us fully, at the same time, the name and address of the holder of your mortgage, how much you owe, how much is past due, the condition of your taxes, assessments and fire insurance premiums and what claims are being pressed against you as a result of which you are likely to lose your home.

Two kodak pictures of your home along with your application, preferably two different views, is necessary and will greatly assist us in our consideration of the value of the property.

If it appears that we may be of assistance in working out your problems with your mortgage holder, it will then be necessary to have your home appraised. At that time we will call upon you for an appraisal fee, which will be just as reasonable as possible.

If it appears after such appraisal, and in the light of all information obtained, that a loan can likely be closed, we will advise you the cost for the abstract of title and the recording of fees, which you will be called upon to pay. Other than these actual costs there will be no charge for the loan.

On account of the necessity of negotiating with the holder of your mortgage, it may require a little longer time than you would ordinarily imagine for such work, but I assure you that all of these matters will receive our immediate attention and be closed just as rapidly as it is possible to properly and efficiently do such work.

Send your application direct to the office of your district, but please be certain to give us all information herein requested for by so doing you will enable us to handle this matter more rapidly, as well as save time and our expense.

ROOSEVELT ON VISIT TO HOME AT KRUMLER, ILL.

(Continued from page one) coverly drive, Mr. Roosevelt decided to put the "ha on for over the week-end," and no appointments were to be had before Monday.

Nevertheless, the thought of the President, naturally was still centered on the industrial recovery drive and he showed interest in the story of the resignation of James Moffet, as vice-president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Moffet has decided to associate himself with General Hugh Johnson, the President's industrial administrator.

Race Building As Public Weal Urged By Nazis. Berlin (AP)—Emphasizing the nation's declining birth rate, the Nazi regime of Adolf Hitler has started a campaign of "education" aimed at more and better babies for Germany.

Earnest appeal for well filled cradles have been directed especially toward the rural population "for" says one of the official communiques, "a nation can survive all blows of fate if its peasant stock is sound."

The presumption of sound condition enters here. If there is a substantial showing the disease existed before the period of service the case will probably be out. Medical judgment may prevail to sever service-connection if chronic disease should be noticed shortly after entrance to service. In the presumptively connected cases even though notices have been received cutting them off the old rates of compensation will be continued less 25 per cent of the former compensation pay until October 31, or until reviewed by the boards at which time they will be continued permanently or discontinued as the boards may find.

We urge all veterans who have a presumptive service connection to immediately secure all evidence available by or physicians statements so that these may be sent in to your regional office without delay, for consideration of the review board.

Another provision is that the regulation specifying ninety days service will not be barred to this review and they will receive 75 per cent of their former payment until their case is reached.

No. 3. Cases prior to March 20, 1933. Claims made just prior to this date and where the Veterans Administration prior to March 20th had in their possession evidence showing entitlement to service connection may now be decided under the old laws and payments made until June 30. After that payments will be on the basis of the new laws and regulations. This pertains to compensation, disability allowance and emergency officers pay.

No. 4. Provision is also made under the new act for domiciliary care and hospitalization of persons discharged from peace time service for service connected disability on the same basis as service connected war time veterans.

We have been advised by our National American Legion Office Legislative and Rehabilitation that they are going down the line to see that the rate of pay for non-service connected disabilities which are considered permanent and total shall be paid at a higher rate of pay than now proposed which is now $30.00 per month.

Ayden Rotary Club Meets. Ayden, July 29.—Friday night the Rotarians held their regular meeting at Dawson's Seine Beach where a barbecue supper was given by J. R. Turnage, it being his birthday. John Coward, Jr., was made the Junior Rotarian for the month.

Next week's meeting will be held Tuesday, August 1, at 12:30 o'clock at Hotel Ayden, for the convenience of District Governor Roscoe McMillan, who will pay his official visit to the club. The officers and chairmen of the various committees will meet with the Governor at 11:30.

August 11th the Ayden club will have the Greenville Rotarians as their guests.

GIVES FACTS ON VETERANS REGULATIONS

A. B. Corey Receives Latest Economy Measures Affecting Former Soldiers

A. B. Corey, prominent member of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, has received the following information relative to improvements over economy regulations:

No. 1. Cases that are directly service connected may not be reduced more than 25 per cent of the payments received March 20, 1933, provided the time of entering the service was prior to the Armistice November 11, 1918. This pertains to service connection.

No. 2. Presumptives. The cases of presumptives who were wiped off the roll under the original regulations are to be reviewed by independent boards soon.

The special boards of review are not required to confine their determination of presumption of service-connection to the one year period for chronic diseases, the two year period for tubercular nor to the present list of chronic diseases and hitherto required clinical findings provided in the Economy Act.

Watson B. Miller of the National Rehabilitation Committee American Legion interpreted this provision as follows:

"This would mean in a typical case that tuberculosis first diagnosed under required criteria four years after discharge. Under the burden of proof on the government now existing the government would have to establish that the disease did not exist in service or within one or two years after discharge. If there was a statement by a physician had tuberculosis during the first or second year even without clinical findings the case would be continued as service-connected. Even if there were no statements of physicians but the showing was that of a person not normal who looked the way he might lack tolerance, had lost weight and so on the government could not say that he did not have tuberculosis during the first year or two and the case would remain in. There will be many variations and many border line cases but it is safe to say that thousands of presumptives will be saved."

The presumption of sound condition enters here. If there is a substantial showing the disease existed before the period of service the case will probably be out. Medical judgment may prevail to sever service-connection if chronic disease should be noticed shortly after entrance to service. In the presumptively connected cases even though notices have been received cutting them off the old rates of compensation will be continued less 25 per cent of the former compensation pay until October 31, or until reviewed by the boards at which time they will be continued permanently or discontinued as the boards may find.

We urge all veterans who have a presumptive service connection to immediately secure all evidence available by or physicians statements so that these may be sent in to your regional office without delay, for consideration of the review board.

Have You Heard This One ? "Boy, if things ever get right again you'll never catch me without money." Now that sentiment is fine, but if you'll stop and look, you'll find that the fellow who had money all through the past depression had saved a little each week. They probably used one of our savings plans. The time to start yours is NOW... and things will be "right" for you soon afterward. Let's discuss it.

LOCALS PULL ANOTHER GAME FROM THE FIRE

Greenville snatched another game from the fire in the ninth inning yesterday and Snow Hill lost by the score of 4 to 3 when every indication pointed to their victory.

The fatal miscue came as a climax to a rally staged by the local club with the visitors holding a one run lead, and gave Greenville a game that many had already mentally chalked up as a loss.

Andreola, recent pitching acquisition of the Greenville club, started the undoing of Snow Hill when he was sent in to pinch hit for Sigmon, who did mound work for Greenville.

Two men were down as Andreola stepped to the plate. He singled past second base. "Bing" Miller, who made his second error of the season when he bobbed a sizzling grounder, made up for the miscue by hitting safely behind Andreola.

Smith, local second sacker, came to bat, and with practically every Greenville fan making an old time baseball prayer, hit a high fly to left field near the four line. Neims, classed as one of the best outfielders of the league, raced for the old apple. It landed squarely in his hands, apparently stuck momentarily and then bounced forcefully to the ground and rolled far enough for the runners to reach the home plate.

It was a heart-breaking finish for Snow Hill, but it sent Greenville fans into a frenzy of praise and thanksgiving that will be carried back to the ball park again today for the Kinston-Greenville game.

Pittman, former Snow Hill first baseman, did the hurrying for the visiting team, and he filled the bill just like he had been cut out to do so. Although the locals obtained nine hits off his delivery, they were pretty well scattered and only a few figured in the tallying.

Lefty Sigmon pitched for Greenville and made a good job of it. He was given outright support by his teammates, who registered only one error. Snow Hill made two bobbles. Sigmon allowed eight safeties.

"Runt" Bostic carried off fielding honors for the local club, fielding his position cleanly while accepting several difficult chances.

Miller, Bostic and Brown led with the bat for Greenville, each being credited with two hits each. D. Ogen featured for the visitors, getting two hits out of three trips to the platter.

ANSWER TO RECOVERY PLAN

A flood of messages pledging support to his recovery program answered President Roosevelt's appeal to the nation to raise pay and shorten hours. Hugh S. Johnson (left), the industrial administrator, his secretary, Frances Robinson, and Marvin H. McIntyre, one of the President's secretaries, are shown looking over the messages. Boost Higher Wages.
Suffolk, Va., July 29.—(AP)—A. Obsci, president of the Planters Chocolate Peanut Company, today called on others in the peanut industry to join him in putting a minimum wage scale ranging from 15 to 20 cents an hour for women and 25 to 30 cents an hour for men.

At the same time, he said that the proposed code which would fix wages on a forty hour a week basis at 12-1-2 cents an hour for women and 20 cents for men was "ridiculous," asserting that it is entirely too low to comply with the request of President Roosevelt and is not in keeping with the spirit of the whole movement.

Inviting other companies to join the Planters, which is the largest of its kind in the world, in inaugurating rates next Monday, Mr. Obsci said the quicker the wage boost is applied the greater good it will accomplish.

Seek Cut of Phone Rates
Raleigh, July 29.—(AP)—The state corporation commission today ordered ed telephone companies operating in North Carolina to show cause here August 8 why rates charged for service connections, moved miscellaneous equipment and use of French type phones should not be reduced.

The commission set up a new scale of rates to become effective September 1 but the telephone companies have indicated they will fight the ordered cut of the commission, Stanley Winborn said.

Under the new scale the cost of the French type telephone would be reduced from the maximum of 50 cents a month to 25 cents monthly.

$200,000,000 For Farmers.
Washington, July 29.—(AP)—More than $200,000,000 in loans to help the farmer have been disbursed or approved by the Regional Credit Corporation with offices in 34 cities.

The farm credit administration under which they are administered reported today that at the close of business on July 21, the last compilation made, the corporation had disbursed $169,245,000 in loans to 132,803 farmers and that $43,239 for 24,501 farmers had been approved but not disbursed and that applications from 8,219 for $2,342,000 were pending.

HOSIERY WORKERS UNDER TEXTILE CODE

Washington, July 29.—(AP)—Hosiery workers will enjoy the same status as cotton textile employees under the executive order signed Thursday by President Roosevelt, bringing hosiery mills under the code.

Virtually all the industries related to textile now have been brought under the plan by executive order.

It provides a 40-hour work week, with a minimum wage of $12 in the South and $13 in the North. Child labor is barred and productive machinery may not be operated more than two shifts of 40 hours each per week.
