DO IT SATURDAY

The United States Government has said to the tobacco growers of this section that the government will assure parity prices of better than 17 cents for the present crop. In turn the growers will agree to cut acreage during the next two years, and now it is up to the growers.

The warehouses are closed and will remain closed until the reduction sign-up contracts are in and the sooner this job is completed the sooner the markets will re-open and sales be resumed. First contracts will be offered growers here at a mass meeting Saturday morning and we urge every tobacco grower in reach of Greenville to be on hand to hear the contract explained and then to sign immediately. Those who cannot attend the meeting Saturday morning will have the opportunity of signing up at the township meetings Saturday afternoon, but don't overlook the fact that the sooner you sign the sooner we get the markets open.

This is one proposition that is not going to be any long drawn out affair. The government is ready to help. Either the growers do their part and then let the government go ahead, or the government will probably drop the matter and give its attention to those sections of the country that are ready and willing to co-operate to help themselves.

Already our tobacco growers are familiar with the fact that an acreage reduction is necessary if we are to get fair prices so we don't believe that it will even be necessary to go into all that kind of talk again. It should be sufficient to say: "You will have the opportunity to sign Saturday. Either sign and get help, or don't sign and be damned," for that in the long run is what it will amount to.

LA GRANGE PRESSING CONSUMER CANVASS

La Grange, Sept 7.—The NRA consumer canvassing program in La Grange and Moseley Hall Township under the direction of Miss Ruth Banks, of La Grange, was completed and the committee organized on Tuesday. The members of the committee, about 20 prominent club women, began regular work today. The committee expects to complete the canvassing of the town and the surrounding community by Saturday. The purpose of this canvass will be to get the housewives of consumers of the town and county to co-operate with the NRA plan, namely, to trade with the stores and businesses who have adopted the system for their employees, and to make them feel that they are taking a more active part in bettering the welfare of the nation by this move.

The HIDDEN DOOR

By FRANK L. PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: Captain Dollaire, of the run schooner Alouette, hijacked and wrecked the St. Lawrence river counterfeiting plant of the Mask. New York underworld. To avenge the Mask three men just have gone aboard the Alouette off Long Island to murder the crew and captain, and with the help of their gang, to steal the liquor. One is Buck O'Mara, the Mask's lieutenant; another Benny Malone, gangster, and the third the famous writer, Colin Hewitt, disguised as Clark Lunn, crook. Colin is tracking down the Mask, who also is tracking down Colin. Dollaire suddenly declares the money offered for the liquor is counterfeit and covers his would-be murderers with his pistol.

Chapter 40 MURDER AFLOAT
Dollaire was rocking on his feet, his face was contorted, his beetle brows a straight line, his jaw thrust, his eyes like black, luminous pinpoints glinting through narrowed lids.
"So!" he flung out through twisted lips. "You think you fool me some more, eh? You think you make a monkey of Dollaire? So! I see the whole business now. You are friends with those fellows at the Riviere des Cascades, eh?—and that Heimie Schwarm is a rat!"

"You come here to laugh at Dollaire, and steal his cargo, eh? But you do not know Dollaire. No! I will show you what Dollaire does to"—he broke into a torrent of vile French epithets—"skunks like you!"
Buck O'Mara shrugged his shoulders as Dollaire, with pointed gun, backed to the companionway.
"You're all wet, Dollaire," he said as patiently as though he were talking to a refractory child. "I don't know what you're yapping about. Better put that rod down, and come back here and talk it over."
Dollaire had backed nearly to the top of the companionway. He laughed now in a low ugly way as, halting, he patted his revolver with his free hand.
"I talk with this now," he jeered through working lips. "Maybe once you go to church, eh? Maybe you remember some little prayer, eh? Well, for me, I do not think about that any more, but I have the good heart, I give you one minute, and then I count—not that nice fresh money—but one, two, three dead on the floor!"

Dollaire meant it—of that there was no doubt in Colin's mind. Dollaire was in a maniacal rage—and Dollaire had the drop on them. Well it was merely what Buck O'Mara had intended to do to Dollaire!
The end? Colin was conscious of strange mingling sensations and thoughts rushing in a flood upon him that he could not analyze. Bewilderment? Fear? Number resignation? He saw Germaine—and she smiled wistfully at him.
He was alive, full of vitality at this instant—what would death be like the next? The muzzle of Dollaire's revolver was like a magnet from which one's eyes could not be dragged away. Would one both see

Talks to parents

What Shall They Read?

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
Up to the age of 14 the average child's reading can be plotted out nearly as exactly as his physical list, or his school grading.
Of course, individual variations occur, but as a general thing the child goes through almost the same phases of development as the human race.
For the very little child, up to 4 or 5, animal stories are in order; and preferably those in which the animals talk and act like human beings. These are followed by fairy tales which lead almost imperceptibly into mythology. Some children skip the fairy lore and enter the myth stage at once, but, if possible, a certain amount of the fairy interest should be slipped in, simply to develop the imagination.
By the age of 10 or 11, sometimes earlier, often later, comes the hero worship stage, when the great men and women of the past come alive and arouse admiration and stimulate ambition.
It is at this point that the break between the chosen reading of the sexes first becomes apparent. The girls will read the hero stories, but will start at the same period to begin what are commonly known as "girls' books"—for example, Louise Alcott, or Charlotte Yonge. While the boys will sometimes read these also, it is not usual, and as a general thing they will interlard their hero tales with adventure stories.
The next stage shows marked variation in taste between boys and girls. During adolescence the average girl will take to poetry and somewhat sentimental novels. The boys are especially addicted to tales of romantic adventure or to scientific and technical subjects.
Henceforth the child's reading will follow the lines of his personal predilections, colored and enriched, it is to be hoped, by his earlier mental diet.

By WILLIAM GAINES
New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Elery Queen is the mystery story writer who never makes public appearances without a mask.
It's a pretty good stunt for getting publicity for Mr. Queen, and sometimes it has some very droll consequences.
Queen was going up to Columbia University to lecture before the Writers' Club. He happened to get in a taxi with a driver of ebony hue. When the writer hailed the cab he looked like just another harmless fare to the driver.
But as the taxi driver drew near Queen's destination, he took his mask from his pocket and put it on, so no one in front of the place would catch him off his guard.
At the stop the negro turned around, saw this ominous masked figure and gave a whoop that sounded to the high heavens.
"Lawsy, boss," he pleaded, four shades lighter from fear, "don't take mah money away."

This mask business is not such a joke to Queen in hot weather. He wears horn-rimmed spectacles and adjusts the eye holes in the black cloth over the lenses. When he warms up to the subject of his lectures, perspiration steams the glass and he has a hard time seeing anything. Particularly bad when he is reading from notes.
His mask used to cover his whole face, but he has been clipping more and more off it for comfort until now it just covers the upper part. This same mask has served him for three years; he's a bit superstitious about getting a new one, although it is well-worn.
Queen couldn't leave it off if he wanted to, now. It's an agreement with his book publisher that he wear it in all assemblages where attention is focused upon him, although he doesn't have to challenge the police by going masked on the streets.
His publisher also has his agreement that he conceal his right name and all biographical facts about himself before he became Elery Queen.
Recently he started editing a new detective story magazine. Some of his friends wanted to know if he were going to wear a mask in his office. He said no—unless perhaps when he has to tell a disappointed writer just how bad his stuff is.

TENNESSEE FARMERS HONOR BALBO IN NAMING NEW RYE
Knoxville, Tenn.—(AP)—General Italo Balbo, famous Italian aviator, is to have a memorial on Tennessee farms.
A new variety of rye, tested at the agricultural experiment station at the University of Tennessee, has been named "Balbo" because the first seed was received from Italy.
brought it smashing down, a shattered thing upon the table.
The cabin was in darkness.
"Good boy!" Buck O'Mara's voice called out—and from the floor came the flash now of Buck O'Mara's gun.
But the companionway was empty now. The slam of the cabin door proclaimed the fact that Dollaire was gone.

GREENVILLE MARKET

REPORT

Warehousemen Working For Better Prices

The Tobacco Warehousemen in Pitt County met with County Agent E. F. Arnold this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock gladly tendering their own services, together with the services of their entire organizations, without cost to the government in connection with the acreage reduction program, which must be completed before markets reopen.

We believe our growers will respond quickly and that no one in our section will fail to join in. Government aid is promised only on condition that the growers reduce their acreage. Let's make it 100 per cent sign up for Pitt County.

We will also have contracts at our Warehouses when they are received and will gladly assist anyone.
Don't grade any tobacco and run the chances of it spoiling during this soft weather. Examine your tobacco already graded and dry it out if necessary.

Ayden Woman's Club Meets.

Ayden, Sept. 7.—The first meeting of the Woman's Club since the summer vacation, was held at the club room on Tuesday afternoon. The past president, Mrs. R. F. Pittman, presided at the meeting. The election of a new president for the ensuing year was the most important part of the business session, the club being unable to secure one in the late spring. Mrs. J. C. Andrews was unanimously elected and will take office at once. A new department, ways and means, was created, with Mrs. William Quinerly as chairman. Several new members were added to the club at their meeting and the organization is expecting the best year yet in club work. Mrs. William Quinerly, chairman of the NRA for consumers for Ayden, gave a very interesting talk on the NRA and lined up her committee to make a canvass of the town.

Miss Tripp Entertains.

Ayden, Sept. 7.—Miss Gladys Best Tripp charmingly entertained at four tables of bridge Friday night. The home was attractively decorated with various kinds of cut flowers. Tallies were passed by Master Thomas Hardy. Miss Marie Worthington was awarded a compact as high score prize for girls, and Faust Johnson was presented a key case as high score for boys. The honoree was also given a compact. Following the games, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Those enjoying the hospitality of Miss Tripp were: Misses Callie Byrd, Cora Bob Smith, Mae Johnson Eure, Marie Worthington, Frances Turnage, Gene Turnage, Mary Hazel Tyson, Marie Hart, Gene Cannon and Lucile Johnson; Messrs. Willie B. Byrd, Faust Johnson, Clyde Tyndall, Jim Barwick, Doug. Johnson, Bill Brunson, L. B. Kinlaw and Roy L. Turnage, Jr.

MODERN PRISON CAMP PLANNED FOR ROWAN

Salisbury, Sept. 7.—Rowan county is to have a modern, fireproof prison camp to accommodate 150 to 200 prisoners, according to Ross M. Sigmon, member of the State Highway Commission. It will be built of native granite which is to be donated, and prison labor will be used to get the stone on the ground ready for us. The prison is to be built as soon as a suitable location can be secured with enough surrounding grounds to grow enough food for all the prisoners. The camp will have a hospital section.

EXCESS OF SEMINARIES, DECLARES DR. LINGLE

Davidson, Sept. 7.—Dr. Walter Lingle, president of Davidson College, has been at Montreal for the past week attending a meeting of the ad interim committee of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church. This committee was appointed at the last meeting of the assembly to study the problem of religious education, especially the schools, college and seminaries under the Presbyterian Church's supervision. Dr. Lingle said that it was the opinion of the committee that there were too many Presbyterian seminaries in the south. The four have a combined enrollment of only a little over 300 students. The four seminaries are located in Richmond, Louisville, Austin, Texas, and Decatur, Ga.

FAIL TO DISCOVER EVIDENCE OF NEGLECT

Asheville, Sept. 7.—(AP)—An autopsy yesterday on the body of Kathleen Maynor, 12, disclosed nothing to substantiate reports reaching officers that the child died of neglect and mistreatment. Over protest of the girl's father, Charles Maynor, of North Fork, Kathleen's body was exhumed and the autopsy performed by authority of a court order issued by Judge P. A. McElroy, who was told neighbors reported to officers that neglect and mistreatment caused the death. Dr. John Carroll, county coroner, performed the autopsy at Weaver-ville with the assistance of two other physicians. They announced they found no evidence the child died by violence. Kathleen died August 25.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD — Now that the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences is considering possible recommendations to protect the extra under the industry's code, that inconspicuously important individual is getting attention from another angle. As a rule movie extras have been looked upon not so much as a group in which to work but rather as one from which to rise.

Making The Grade

About the only extras who break into the news ordinarily are those who suddenly "make the grade" and are lifted from the ranks for featured work in the films. Because many of today's stars fought up from extramum—Clara Bow, Adolphe Menjou, William Powell, George O'Brien, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Frances Dee are but a few—there has been no lack of interest in the profession, but always as a possible source of new stars.

Until an extra becomes a "name," through work or personality that attracts attention from director or executive, he or she belongs to an anonymous army numbering approximately 17,000, registered and on call for duty. This army is an important factor in the general public it is as shadowy and vague as the parts it plays — atmosphere, background, mere enhancers of the illusion of reality. Except that pictures usually demand definite types, even for atmosphere purposes, the extra in a sense is little more conspicuous than the furniture on the sets.

Supply And Demand

Extra work generally is assigned by the central casting bureau supported by the major studios, which call upon it for their daily needs. Individual studios also maintain casting offices where some talent is hired. The rate of pay generally varies from $5 for an eight-hour day, with overtime, for ordinary atmosphere, to $15 a day for some outstanding talent or experience. When a player draws more than $15 he rates as a "bit-player."

The academy committee is giving representative extras opportunity to air whatever grievances they may have, including those often heard mutterings of "favoritism" in doling out work—mutterings attributed by casting directors generally to the fact that even when available jobs are distributed evenly as far as casting needs permit, there are still thousands who don't get called.

U. S. COMMISSIONER VISITS INDIAN SECTION

Cherokee, Sept. 7.—(AP)—John Collier, United States Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Washington, D. C., paid his first official visit to the Cherokee Indian reservation Tuesday. Arriving in Cherokee Tuesday morning, Mr. Collier spent several hours inspecting the Cherokee Indian buildings, conferring with Supt. R. L. Spalsbury and delivering two addresses, one at a meeting of all the reservation employees and the other at a meeting of members of the Cherokee Indian council in the council house. Mr. Collier, whose home is in California, first visited the Cherokee reservation in 1904, then in an unofficial capacity. He visited Tuesday was the second time he had been here and he expressed pleasure over the great progress that had been made since he was first here.

WILLIAMSTON TAX RATE SET AT $2.70

Williamston, Sept. 7.—Williamston's tax rate for the year 1933 was fixed at $2.70 this week, or an increase of 60 cents over the rate in effect for the past several years. While there is an increase in rate, there will be no actual increase in the amount of taxes; in fact, the new rate calls for less this year—less by $1,627.17—than the amount levied last year. The levy reduction is in addition to an amount that had to be increased to care for the bonded indebtedness this year. From all sources the town expects to collect $74,923.66, the majority of that amount coming from taxes levied against property, valued at $1,159,171. In the last of expenditures, debt service is the big item, the budget calling for expenditure there of $52,805. Last year the property valuation was placed at $1,567,847. This year the valuation was decreased by about

Underweight Children

Children who are thin and pale and who lack appetite are usually suffering from a deficiency of iron. When the blood lacks iron it becomes thin and poor and fails to nourish. Then a child loses appetite and becomes still thinner and weaker—and easy prey to disease! To build up your child, give him Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. It contains iron which makes for rich, red blood. It also contains tasteless quinine which tends to purify the blood. These two effects make it an exceptional medicine for young and old. A few days on Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic will work wonders in your child. It will sharpen his appetite, improve his color and build up his pep and energy and increase his resistance to disease. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is pleasant to take. Children like it and it's absolutely safe for them. Contains nothing harmful. All stores sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Get a bottle today and see how your child will benefit from it.

Renew Your Health By Purification

Any physician will tell you that "Perfect Purification of the System is Nature's Foundation of Perfect Health." Why not rid yourself of chronic ailments that are undermining your vitality? Purify your entire system by taking a thorough course of Calobats—once or twice a week for several weeks—and see how Nature rewards you with health. Calobats purify the blood by activating the liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels. In 10 cts. and 35 cts. packages. All dealers. (Adv.)

Cardui Good For Run-Down Condition

"I have found Cardui a good medicine to take for a run-down condition," writes Miss Hazel Aughton, of Houtma, La. "I had pains in my sides. This made me nervous, and I felt I should take something for this trouble. I was with my sister. She was taking Cardui, so I took it, too, and found it very helpful. I am glad to recommend it to others." Cardui is safe and wholesome for women of all ages. At drug stores.

SPORT SLANTS

With Tommy Hitchcock out of polo for the rest of the year with a brain concussion, Helen Wills Moody beaten by default in women's tennis, both Schmeling and Sharkey knocked out in one month, and Babe Ruth sliding out of the baseball picture as a regular, it already has been a remarkable year for upsets and over-turns in sport.

On the team side, the French have lost the Davis Cup after six years and the Yankees' domination of big league baseball seems abruptly ended for 1933.

And the end is not in sight. Ellisworth Vines makes his last stand, after a succession of setbacks, in the American championships. Ross Somerville, the silent Canadian, faces a robust drive to unseat him in the American amateur golf tournament. Either will be lucky to come through against the class of opposition springing up on all sides, showing no respect whatever for the crowned heads.

On the Chutes

No previous big league season has drawn to its close with so much uncertainty surrounding the fate of so many outstanding players.

The biggest problem for the down-fallen New York Yankees, of course, is what to do with Babe Ruth, still a million-dollar attraction on a pair of aging, wobbly legs. He can't play through another season, but he's still the biggest of all drawing cards. And if he can't play regularly, he might just as well be turned loose to manage some other team.

George Earnshaw may not be "through" as a pitcher but, on the present evidence, he has ended his days with the Athletics. He seems certain to wear the uniform of another club in 1934, if he plays at all.

Stars like Hack Wilson, Dazzy Vance and Burchell Grimes, all at the end of the big league trail, have few places to go and still maintain their usual standard of living.

There's Wes Ferrell of the Cleveland Indians, with his future as a pitcher in some doubt because of an ailing arm, and Chuck Klein, the Phillie flogger, who may be too valuable to keep in view of the hard cash offer by the Cubs for his services in 1934.

Pepper Falls Out

Underline the name of John Leonard Martin in the list of outstanding come-backs of 1933. The broad-shouldered, under-slung Cardinal hero of the 1931 world series experienced the inevitable re-acton to his exploits a year ago, but he has fought his way back among the stars of the National League this year, shifting from the outfield to third base.

"Pepper" has played great ball all season with a club that otherwise failed to measure up fully to its potentialities. In the field, at bat and on the bases he has demonstrated that his sudden rise to the heights was not just a flash in the pan.

John McCraw paid Martin the biggest tribute he has had all year when he named the "Wood Horse" to guard third base in the all-star game at Chicago in preference to the great Pie Traynor of the Pirates. There have been few better third basemen in recent years than Traynor, but Martin can give him an argument now, in any department of the game.

Boxing Bout Called Off

The boxing bout scheduled for Friday night which was being sponsored by the local post of the American Legion, has been called off due to the fact that Dunnaway and Billosy backed out at the last minute. They were scheduled for the headliners on the boxing card.

However, there will be a bout here on Friday, September 15, at which time Bullock of Greenville, and Sweetland of Washington City will be the headliners. The preliminaries to this fight will be announced at an early date.

Authorizing Buying Oxford Bank Stock

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced today they have authorized the purchase of $50,000 worth of preferred stock in the First National Bank of Greenville and Oxford, N. C., the new bank to succeed the First National Bank of Greenville.

The preferred stock purchase authorization is contingent upon the subscription of an equal amount of common stock by those interested in the organization of a new bank.

This Letter Will Bring Joy To Fat Folks and Neuritis Sufferers

"Dear Sirs: I was so crippled with neuritis all down left side of my head and arm and both knees so swollen that I could hardly get up and down. At times my feet pained so badly I thought my toes would break off. I tried everything. The doctor told me I would be no better while I lived here but I stopped in a drug store in Brooklyn, N. Y., one day last November and the man in charge told me to take Kruschen for 3 weeks steady and I would get relief which I did. Never felt better and along with it, have lost weight. I weighed 210 then. Now I weigh 154 and while I'm over 50 yrs. old I feel 30. I took it for one thing—got two—so I now have 6 others here taking it." Mrs. A. V. Carr, Ft. Tilden, N. Y.

"It's the little daily dose that does it" so take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast. Get Kruschen at Pitt Drug Co., or any live druggist in the world—a jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle. —(Adv.)

Hospital Merger at Henderson Defeated

Henderson, Sept. 7.—The negative vote of Chairman S. R. Adams killed the proposed merger of the Vance County Hospital with Maria Parham Hospital when the Board of County Commissioners took a vote on the question Tuesday afternoon. The vote came after a lengthy discussion.

Commissioners W. P. Parrish and W. R. Grissom favored the merger and Commissioners E. L. Fleming and S. B. Rogers were against it, and the chairman was called upon to cast the deciding vote.

Dr. R. T. Upchurch and Dr. H. A. Newell conferred at some length with the board prior to the vote. Consideration was given the question at the afternoon session of the commissioners.

Burns Pleads Guilty to $30,000 Robbery

Winston-Salem, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Tommy J. Burns, who claims to be an author and a "globe trotter," pleaded guilty to charges involving theft of $30,000 worth of articles in a series of robberies here and elsewhere when arraigned in Superior Court today.

Burns said his wife and four men who also are indicted are not guilty. The four, Mrs. Burns, W. G. Myers, Ervin Myers, Jack Myers and Tom Hutchins, pleaded not guilty.

The case is expected to reach the jury today.

No other low priced Car is Made for the South like the NEW FORD V-8

Cooler Motor
The only low priced car with an aluminum cylinder head and oversized double-pump water system.

All Steel Body
No wood to rot, warp or splinter.

Dulux Sunproof Paint
The hottest sun does not dull the lustre of this super finish.

If you want to prove to yourself the superiority of the New Ford V-8 for Southern hot weather driving—make this simple test.

Drive this new Ford at 60, 70—80 miles an hour if you like. Then stop and open the hood. The motor is so cool you can actually feel it with your hand!

The reason? Simple enough. An aluminum cylinder head instead of the usual cast iron. A big, over-sized water cooling system with two pumps instead of one. But that isn't all. Because of its Dulux finish you can leave this car out in the hottest sun without injury to the paint job. Fenders are Bondersized and actually rustproof. There is no wood in the body to swell or warp under changing temperatures either.

Here is a car "made for the South"—a car that will stand up under the weather and temperature conditions you meet right here. What's more, it gives you 8-cylinder power and flexibility with 4-cylinder economy. 17 to 20 miles to the gallon. Low oil consumption. Much lower cost for replacement parts than any car on the market.

A wide variety of colors and models—Prices $490 and up, F. O. B. Detroit.

Follow the trend to the "8"—and your Car won't be outdated next year
