Markets May Re-Open Thursday

Seek Re-Opening For Benefit Of Signed Growers

ASK GOVERNOR ACT AT ONCE OPEN MARKETS

Contract Sign-up Goes Over Big in This County. Over 2,000 Growers Have Signed For Over 30,000 acres.

Tobacco markets of North and South Carolina, closed since September 2 in response to holiday proclamations by the governor's of the two states pending conferences in Washington looking to better prices for the growers, will re-open Thursday of this week for the sale of tobacco of those growers who have signed acreage reduction contracts, if plans under way today are carried to a successful completion.

With the sign-up campaign that got underway in this section Friday and Saturday continuing today with excellent results indicating a large majority sign-up tonight, E. V. Webb, of Winston, president of the Eastern Carolina Tobacco Warehousemen's Association stated early this afternoon that he would request Governor Ehringhaus to arrange for re-opening of the markets Thursday morning. Under the plan Governor Ehringhaus would get the co-operation of Governor Blackwood, of South Carolina, and the sanction of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for opening of the markets in the two states on a restricted basis permitting warehousemen to sell tobacco for those who had already signed the contracts. Contracts would likewise be available at all the warehouses for such growers who had not signed in order that they might sign there enabling them to place their tobacco on sale.

The request to the governor is being made in view of the fact that already the large number of signers assures success of the acreage reduction campaign and to delay further for those who have already signed is causing them unnecessary losses. There is at this time a large quantity of tobacco graded, that is deteriorating in the pack houses, and in addition to this there are thousands of persons out of employment since the closing of the warehouses and factories. The re-opening of the markets would remedy this situation and too, in view of the fact that a grower would have to sign in order to sell now, would practically assure a hundred per cent sign-up of the acreage contracts.

The sign-up campaign that got underway in Pitt county Saturday morning continued in full swing today with indications that more than 90 per cent of our farmers will have signed before tonight.

First figures compiled Saturday night showed that 1,619 growers had signed representing 28,833 acres planted in tobacco this year. Other contracts signed Saturday night and this morning, but not yet tabulated will bring the total signatories to around 2,000 and the total acreage well above the 30,000 mark. Mass meetings, similar to those held Saturday afternoon, were under way in each of the townships of the county this afternoon and when a complete check is made tonight it is expected that those who have not signed will be very much in the minority.

While there was some slight delay in this and other counties Saturday because of a shortage of contracts E. F. Arnold, county farm agent, announced today that he had received 30,000 more contracts and that he was advising agents from adjacent counties to send for any additional blanks that might be needed.

J. C. Lanier, tobacco expert of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, was here Saturday night to sign contracts covering his farms in this and Lenoir counties. Mr. Lanier had just come from South Carolina where he delivered two addresses Saturday and he declared

Opposes Delay In Opening Va. Tobacco Markets

Richmond, Va., Sept. 11.—While Virginia tobacco growers joined with those of the Carolinas in signing contracts for crop curtailment for 1934-35, A. B. Carrington, of Danville, president of the Tobacco Association of the United States, has opposed the proposal for delaying the opening of the Virginia flue-cured market until the sign-up has been completed. The Virginia markets are slated to open September 26th. Meanwhile North Carolina and South Carolina warehouses have been closed under a holiday order due to price conditions.

SEEK TO BOOST COTTON PRICES AT MASS MEET

South Carolina Calls Gathering to Discuss Raising Price of Staple

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 11.—(AP)—South Carolina today awaited word from ten other cotton growing states invited to send representatives to a mass meeting at which plans for boosting the price of the staple will be discussed. Governor Blackwood, who said he is considering calling a ginning holiday in this state if prices do not rise sent telegrams to governors of other cotton growing states inviting them to attend the meeting either in person or by representative.

Whether the South Carolina official would call a ginning holiday presumably hinged on whether the other states would join the action. (Continued on page three)

NRA DRIVE PUSHED HERE

Pitt Consumers Campaign Reported Going Over in Big Way

Mrs. J. B. Spillman, chairman of the Woman's Division in this county, which is directing the NRA consumer's drive, stated today the campaign was going over in a big way and pointed to pronounced success in all sections of the county.

Mrs. Spillman said Bethel was the first to report in the drive to sign-up consumers to support merchants who are attempting to make the National Recovery Administration's campaign for improved conditions a success. Miss Emily Clyde Hooker was director of the Bethel canvass. Mrs. Spillman said some communities had not yet been heard from but she believed this was due to the fact that business men in those sections had not completed their sign-up.

Persons who have not been called on, the county chairman said, will be visited before the campaign comes to a close and every effort will be made to enlist all consumers in the recovery battle.

TWO HOLD-UP MEN GO TO PEN

Whitley Taylor and D. G. Traylor Carried to State's Prison At Raleigh

Two white men—members of a hold-up band that held the spotlight in this section of the State the last two months—were behind prison bars at Raleigh today for their crimes against the public.

Whitley Taylor and D. G. Traylor, converted of participating in the hold-up of Raymond Collins' filling station at Hanrahan's Cross Roads about two months ago, were taken to Raleigh by county officers the latter part of last week to begin service of sentences imposed upon them in a recent session of criminal court here.

Taylor was one of three men who escaped from Pitt County Sunday night of last week, but was recaptured a short while later.

Traylor was sentenced to served from fifteen to eighteen years in State's Prison for the crime in this county, and Taylor was given from eighteen to twenty years.

Taylor had fifteen additional years tacked on to his prison term when he was convicted later in Bertie County for taking part in a hold-up in that area.

Whitley Jones and Clifton Thomas, two other members of the hold-up band who broke jail last week, were still at large today despite a widespread hunt instituted for them in this and surrounding counties.

The band was also charged with taking part in the robbery of Paramore's filling station near Vanceboro, and Taylor and Traylor were carried to New Bern last Monday to face hearing.

ONE KILLED AND TWO INJURED IN WRECK

Rutherfordton, Sept. 11.—A. L. Rust, 44 years old, died at the Rutherford hospital last night of injuries received Saturday afternoon when the Chevrolet car in which he and his stepson, Clifford Hampton, was riding, was struck by a Southern Railway passenger train at Thermal City 12 miles north of here on Highway 9.

Rust was injured internally and never regained consciousness. Hampton will recover, unless complications arise, hospital physicians here state. They were contractors and were en route from Lyman, S. C. to their home in Morantown and were going rapidly and did not see the train until it was too late. The accident occurred in an open field where both the highway and railroad can be seen for several hundred yards.

Economic And Partisan Ills At Base Of Unrest In The Island Republic

Note.—This is the first of two articles giving the background to the present disturbance in Cuba.

By NOEL THORNTON
New York, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Cuba, black opal of the Caribbean, is erupting, for the second time within a month, in revolution that has been smoldering on an economic and political volcano for 13 years.

Anxiously watching from the north, the United States has held its fleet and marine corps in readiness, while hoping that order and a responsible government may be quickly restored from the chaos which followed the overthrow of the Machado regime.

The overnight coup d'etat which ended the brief reign of de Cespedes, whom Ambassador Welles had hoped would be the solution of Cuba's governmental woes, indicates that the answer is not to be so easily gained.

The troubles of this keystone island of the West Indies are derived from a jigsaw melange of domestic troubles, further complicated by the possibility of American intervention.

The Cuban picture may be separated in these four major phases: 1. Economic: Largely an agrarian nation, Cuba's financial woes have mounted tremendously since the price of sugar, its chief product, began a dismaying downward slide in 1920. Further, under the terms of the Chadbourne plan, the sugar crop has been restricted from 33 to 51 per cent. Other economic ills include the national debt, decline of value of investments and the falling off of foreign trade.

2. Governmental: Having few natural resources outside of its agricultural interests, political and military offices are lucrative prizes and much sought-after.

3. Political: Since the Machado machine crashed, there has sprung up no single dominating political party. The population is divided

Concern Over Cuba Is Behind Capital's Brave Face, Says Byron Price

Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington) Washington has put on a brave face as it contemplates what is happening in Cuba, but underneath there is much real concern.

Ordinarily, government overtures in Latin America do not greatly excite even the State Department. They have come to be accepted as a part of the natural course of events, like colds in the head and minor traffic accidents. No one really hopes to do much about them.

One cause for worry is that the revolution which overthrew the new de Cespedes regime, and the events which have followed that overthrow, taught the Washington government that it knew less than it thought it did about the ins and outs of Cuban political currents.

FOUR KILLED ON HIGHWAYS

Thirteen Persons Also Injured in This Patrol Division in August.

Four persons were killed and thirteen injured in a series of automobile mishaps in this highway patrol division during the month of August, it was made known today in the report of activities by Lester Jones, patrol lieutenant.

The death toll was the second largest of the year and the number of injured probably equalled if not surpassed that of previous months.

In the report also showed that the patrol made 123 arrests and 121 of the defendants were found guilty. Sentences totaled 124 months.

A total of 1,650 violations were handled by the patrolmen. The report also showed that 304 persons were warned for parking on the highway, 446 for hogging the road, 103 for hogs driving, 12 for entering the highway without stopping, 69 for walking wrong, 290 for speeding, 128 for obscure tags, 113 for driving on the shoulder, 20 for passing on curves and 45 for passing on hills.

Total collections of the patrol amounted to $6,879.29.

MISSING WOMAN BACK WITH FATHER

Nashville, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Will Vaughan, who has been missing from her home since Thursday afternoon following a whipping given by her husband, was found today in Roanoke Rapids and brought back to the home of her father, Lindsay Whitehead, in Jackson's township.

Herman Ferrell, nephew of Vaughan who stated to her parents that he had carried Mrs. Vaughan to the home of George Miller in Roanoke Rapids, but the police were not able to locate such a residence. Today Ferrell, accompanied by Miss Maggie Whitehead, Mrs. Vaughan's sister, and Bill Wells, both from Nash County went to Roanoke Rapids and found her at the home of Mrs. Clyde Miller Page, George Miller's sister. The mistake in the name caused the delay made by officials.

Deputy Sheriff J. H. Griffin said that Mr. Vaughan had gotten Ferrell to take her to Roanoke Rapids in order that she escape her husband. The case will be tried tomorrow in the recorder's court here.

Will Recover.

San Francisco, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Physicians attending George M. Sunday, 40, son of Billy Sunday, the evangelist, injured in a fall from his fourth floor apartment here, said today he will recover.

Land Banks Sign Contracts. Raleigh, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Two joint stock land banks which now hold dozens of farms in North Carolina, this afternoon joined thousands of individual tobacco growers of the state in signing contracts to cut acreage in 1934-35, to bring an increase in price of the weed. It was stated at N. C. State College.

Dean I. O. Schaub said he was notified that blanket contracts covering all farms held by them would be signed by the Atlantic Joint Stock Land Bank here and the N. (Continued on Page Four)

CITY SCHOOLS TO OPEN FALL TERM SEPT. 25

School District Enlarged and Now Takes in Williams School District

The Greenville city schools will open for the 1933-1934 session Monday morning, September 25. The teaching force will be practically the same as it was last year, except for the fact that the State of North Carolina has required the schools to drop two high school teachers and one elementary teacher. The schools will be operated as part of the State system of the eight months' basis. No money will be available to supplement State funds, except for the repairing of buildings and equipment.

The Greenville school district has been enlarged so that it now takes in, what was formerly known as, the Williams school district, east of the town. The two-teacher school in that district will be operated as part of the Greenville School District during the coming year. This means that the Greenville School District now extends from a point on the Washington road beyond the old Pitt County court house, on the east, and to the Greenville Township line on the west.

The attention of the parents is called to the fact that the State (Continued on page three)

TWO ESCAPE FROM ROADS

State Prisoners Reported in Successful Break at Road Camps

Raleigh, Sept. 11.—(AP)—State prison today reported the escape of two short term convicts.

Robert Colt, honor prisoner, who had been picking beans in a prison garden, walked off and has not been heard from. He was convicted in Wayne county and give 15 to 24 months for larceny.

Officials of the Gaston county road camp reported that F. M. Berry, serving six months, escaped but gave no particulars.

Avery Apples Going

Newland, Sept. 11.—Buyers from as far away as Florida and Kentucky, with a great number from near markets, were in Avery county during the past week buying apples, cabbages, and trying to buy potatoes, reports County Agent C. B. Baird. Due to the rainy season growers have not completed the potato harvest and are holding those already harvested for a rise in price. Mr. Baird says that all buyers this season are insisting on graded products with preference being shown those that are standardized as to type and variety.

OLD FACTION BUSY AFTER INAUGURATION

Followers of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes Demand New Ruler To Step Down; Minor Disorders Reported in Various Parts of Country; Demand Withdrawal of American Warships

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 11.—Cuba's fourth government in a month rode in the saddle today with a 48-year old former professor at the reins and the going was none too easy.

No sooner had Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, chosen president by the junta, pledged himself to fulfill the revolutionary program that 300 former army officers demanded that he step down in favor of Carlos de Cespedes whose brief reign began a month ago.

In Santiago there were disquieting reports that armed bands roamed the countryside spreading revolt in favor of former president Marie Menocal. That unrest led merchants to close their doors.

In Havana's Central park, 5,000 persons heard agitators denounce the new government as bending to the machinations of wall street financiers, shout "Down with Yankee imperialism," and demanded the withdrawal of United States Warships from Cuban waters.

At the American Crown Manganese mines near Santiago one man was killed in a clash between strikers and miners.

ISSUE COTTON CHECKS HERE

Farm Department Paying Government Checks to Reduction Farmers

Checks to farmers who participated in the cotton production control movement in this county were being given out at the Farm Department today, it was announced this morning by E. F. Arnold, director of the department.

Already 95 government checks calling for between $3,500 and $4,000 have been received by the department and these were being turned over to growers as rapidly as possible.

Information from Washington, Mr. Arnold said, was to the effect that a great many more checks would be mailed out within the next few days and farmers will be advised the minute they are received.

Mr. Arnold urged growers not to apply to the department for checks until they had been advised of their receipt. He stated individual notices were being sent out immediately upon receipt of the checks and that if growers would apply along as they are notified much congestion about the farm department offices would be relieved.

ONLY VETERAN IS GUEST OF HONOR

New Bern, Sept. 11.—A. P. Whitford, of this city, only surviving Confederate veteran in New Bern and one of four survivors in Craven county, was 89 years old Thursday. In honor of his birthday, the second annual reunion of the Whitford family and connectors was held on today at ASKI.

At The Pound
By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Jelly Bear never ran so quickly in all his Bear life as he did now with the money he had which would save Rip, the Dog.

Rip was being kept in the pound because he had no license and two dollars was needed for that, and one dollar for Rip's board. Seventeen cents had been lacking and now Jelly Bear had gotten that.

"Panting, hot and out of breath, Jelly Bear arrived at the pound. Willy Nilly was trying to use up time in arguing with the dog catcher so that he wouldn't get at his terrible work of giving Rip something that would make him go to sleep forever.

"Money," gasped Jelly Bear, as he collapsed in a heap at Willy Nilly's feet.

Willy Nilly took the 17 cents from one of Jelly Bear's paws and gave it to the dog catcher.

"Now you have all the money!" cried Willy Nilly. "Let me have my dog."

"You'll have him at once," said the dog catcher, "and here is his license. Now he can wander anywhere."

Willy Nilly took the license and went toward the pound for Rip.

"You're saved!" Willy Nilly shouted jubilantly. "Rip, come with me!" The dog catcher undid the bolt of the big gate that led into the pound, and Willy Nilly expected to see Rip come bounding toward him.

But Rip was nowhere to be seen.

Tomorrow—"Christopher's Discoverer"

contenting herself with a scowl instead, produced a pair of scissors, cut away the old bandage, and washed the wound. Colin lay back with half closed eyes.

"No, it ain't so bad," pronounced Buck O'Mara judicially. "It's the blood you've lost, Clarkie. You'll be okay after a few hours' quiet and a bit of sleep. He's going to park here for the rest of the night, Mrs. Barney."

"If you say so!" gusted Mrs. Barney as she began to put on a fresh bandage. "That's your business."

Colin heard a door close at the rear. That was Barney, of course, leaving on his errand to Spinelli.

Buck O'Mara swung on his heel. "I'll get that telephone call through," he said, and left the room.

Colin heard him go into the tobacco shop—obviously to the telephone booth there.

"Some day, sonny," prophesied Mrs. Barney acidly, "a bandage ain't going to do you any good!"

"You said it, mother!" Colin returned with a thin smile.

Mrs. Barney gathered up the basin and discarded bandage, and went out—but came back in a moment or two with a quilt.

"Here!" she said ungraciously—and departed again.

Buck O'Mara returned from the telephone booth.

"How you feeling?" he jerked out.

Colin raised himself on his good elbow.

"Fine!" he declared. "It's like you said, Buck. A bit of sleep and keeping quiet for a few hours is all I need."

"Go to it, then! Good-night, Clarkie."

"Good-night, Buck—and thanks again," Colin responded fervently.

Buck O'Mara switched off the light and went out, leaving the door open.

Colin listened. He could hear the other going up the stairs, and then the closing of Buck O'Mara's door in the hall above. O'Mara would not leave there until Barney came back and reported; nor would it be safe for him, Colin, to make a move until then.

And then what? When that time came? He did not know. But he was satisfied in his own mind that Buck O'Mara would in some way or other communicate with the Mask tonight; indeed, so much that was vital had happened, that such a move on O'Mara's part was all but a practical certainty.

Would it be here? Buck O'Mara had intimated that he expected Helmie Schwarm. Was the Mask coming too? Was there to be a conference of the three of them? If so, it was not scheduled until later, else Buck O'Mara would never have told Barney to come up to his room and report. Or would Buck O'Mara go out again to keep a rendezvous or communicate from elsewhere.

O'Mara might never have come here at all tonight except on Spinelli's account. But if that were so, why should he have expected Helmie Schwarm? Questions hammering at his brain. Contradictions.

The HIDDEN DOOR

By FRANK L. PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: Colin Hewitt in his disguise of Clarkie Lunn, gangster, has at last secured admittance into the private quarters of the Mask, who rules the New York underworld. To do it, he has had to be present at the revenge murder of Captain Dollaire, rum runner, and his crew, who had antagonized the Mask by wrecking his counterfeit plant on the St. Lawrence river. Buck O'Mara, one of the Masw's gang leaders, has an errand for Colin who, however, in order to spend the night at headquarters, tears open a slight wound he had received in the fight, and feigns weakness from loss of blood.

Chapter 43
COLIN'S FEINT

"That's fine, Buck," he said gratefully. "I'll be as good as ever by daylight."

"Sure you will," agreed Buck O'Mara. "Do you want me to get Barney and carry you down, or do you think you can make it yourself."

"I'm still on my feet," said Colin with a forced grin. "Leave it to me—I can make it."

"All right, then," said Buck O'Mara. "Come along."

Colin moved forward unsteadily, reeling slightly at times, but, sup-

Colin fumbled with the bandage, ing a basin in her hand, was advancing toward him. Not an alluring face—wrinkled, hard black eyes, thin tight lips. He saw her glance at his arm, then she slapped the basin down on the table and turned to Buck O'Mara.

"I wish you'd take your dirty work where it belongs, Buck O'Mara!" she said tartly. "This ain't any hospital and I ain't any nurse!"

"Shut up!" retorted Buck O'Mara curtly. "Strut your stuff, and let's have a look at the arm."

The woman, evidently on the point of making a sharp rejoinder, but ported by Buck O'Mara, traversed the hall and descended the stairs. And here, as they crossed the lower hall and entered the parlor, Buck O'Mara shouted for Barney. A sleepy voice answered from somewhere in the rear.

"Come in here," Buck O'Mara ordered, as he turned on the light. "And tell your old woman to bring a basin of water and some cloths."

With Buck O'Mara's help Colin got his coat off, and for the second time that night rolled up his blood-soaked shirt sleeve. He slumped down on the horsehair sofa as Bar-

An American 'Scotland Pard'—Is It The Remedy?

The London "Bobby" here stands against a background of his police headquarters, the famous Scotland Yard, the English city's chief barrier against the criminal. The "Arch of Doom" connects two sections of the detective headquarters, whose methods have been suggested as a pattern for American strategy against crime.

GANGING UP ON GANGLAND

This is the last of three articles dealing with America's problems in combating crime and the criminal. It looks behind the grim walls of London's Scotland Yard, which some have suggested should be copied this side the Atlantic.

Washington — (AP) — "Scotland Yard" suddenly has become a recurring phrase wherever Americans consider the alarming proportions of the national crime problem. Many have asked how the organization and methods of the famous London detective and police center could be copied in this country's war on crime and gangland.

Copeland's 'Scotland Yard'

Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York, fresh from his conduct of the senate committee investigation of racketeering, proposes as a form of American Scotland Yard the setting up of a force of law officers with a dual responsibility for the enforcement of both state and federal laws.

By SIGRID ARNE

build up this organization designed to combat crime with the technique employed by the famous English organization? Here's Copeland's idea:

Training Plan Proposed

"Let each governor pick a man he considers capable of work with the bureau of investigation," he says. "Then send those men here to the bureau and train them, after an examination has proved them fit candidates."

"They should then be stationed back in their states and paid by the federal government. Let each governor make such men in his state 'dollar-a-year' men, commissioned to enforce the state laws as well as the federal laws."

What is Scotland Yard, how large is its force and how extensive the detective and plice work it does?

'Yard' Is London's Police

Actually—say federal authorities who have made it a special study—it is merely the metropolitan police force of London, with 20,000 men, including a force of 1,000 detectives. It cost annually around $30,000,000 and has jurisdiction over the city's 700 square miles and 8,000,000 people.

Its specially trained officers can enter only local cases where the local constable requests aid.

Its detectives are carefully trained in scientific detection.

"But this is also true of our federal officers," says Senator Copeland, "and our federal bureau has a much larger file of fingerprints and is just as well developed a set of case histories of criminals."

Admission Requirements Strict

The candidate for Scotland Yard must be between 20 and 27 years old healthy and intelligent and be a British subject of pure British descent.

The successful applicant goes to training school for a period up to seven weeks. He becomes a probationer and gets a post if he passes the examination at the end of this training period, but takes two more examinations before being finally appointed—if he is fortunate. Not more than 5 per cent of the men who enroll are accepted ultimately.

While many similarly stringent requirements hold true in various American police forces, Senator Copeland says: "The need is to supply smaller communities with trained aid, which could be given through the American 'Scotland Yard' plan which I propose.

"Dollor-A-year' Men

"It would place one or several men in each state, trained at the federal bureau of investigation and paid by the federal government, who would in addition have the right to enter local cases by virtue of the governor making them 'dollar-a-year' men."

At present, authorities point out, federal officers can enter local cases only when a federal offense is involved.

In addition to his "Scotland Yard" proposal aimed at the removal of this barrier to federal participation, Senator Copeland urges:

Better control of the manufacture, sale and transportation of firearms.

Absolute prohibition of the sub-caliber machine gun.

Cooperation among states so that fugitives witnesses cannot escape. Making refusal to testify a felony. Universal fingerprinting as a duty of citizenship.

4. American Influence: Under the Platt Amendment, the United States has the right of intervention to assure a government "adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty."

Too, the United States is locked to for protection by its 5,000 citizens in Cuba, as well as to safeguard approximately $1,000,000,000 which the Alghan business interests have invested in industries and property on the island.

The radical and militaristic junta which seized control after the resignation of the de Cespedes cabinet has three main objectives if it can organize a stable administration.

It demands a completely revolutionary regime, one that will seek immediately "economic reconstruction of the political organization of the nation." Lastly, they insist on purging Cuba of every vestige of Machado influence.

North Carolina plans to spend $115,000 on seven new prison camps in the mountainous area near Robinsville.

More fires occur in winter than in summer, and there are more fires at night than in the day.

PLAYGROUNDS PRESENT INTERESTING PROGRAM

On Friday afternoon a program of Folk Games and Dances was given by the children of Greenville who have been attending the playgrounds of the city through the past few weeks. The High School building was filled with parents and friends of the children who were delighted with the glimpse of the activities that have occupied the children.

To Mr. Rose and Mr. Futrell who made possible the playground activities the whole group of parents were very grateful. While to Mrs. E. T. Roberson who directed the playgrounds of the whole city, and to her splendid corps of assistants, all the parents present felt they owed a debt of gratitude. They saw during the unfolding of the program that the children had been kept happy and healthy through the past few weeks with the harmony and rhythm of one of the finest recreational programs ever presented in Greenville. The following is the program presented.

Junior Games and Dances
1. How Do You Do My Partner-American Folk Dance.
2. Jack and Jill, English Singing game.
3. Farmer Sow the Seed, American singing game.
4. The Snail, American singing game.
5. Looby Lou, English dance.

7. Bleking Dance, Swedish.
8. Gusto's Skool, Norwegian Mountain March.
9. Csehagar, Hungarian Harvest dance.

CITY SCHOOLS TO OPEN FALL TERM SEPTEMBER 25

School Commission has issued an order that no child who is six years old after November 15 of this year will be allowed to enter school, even if there is room for him in the school. This means that a large number of Greenville children who had planned to enter school this year for the first time will not be allowed to enter. The local school authorities wish for the people to know, clearly, that the local school authorities have nothing whatever to do with this ruling, and that the Superintendent of Schools, J. H. Rose, has been informed from Raleigh that unless the State School Commission changes this ruling, he is not to allow a single child to enter school if he is six years old after midnight of November 15 of this year. The Greenville city schools each group of forty, or more, children with the supplies which they formerly furnished them with. Superintendent Rose received a notice Saturday that only $2 will be allotted for the school year or 160 days for each group of forty, or more, children. This means that each group of forty, or more, children will have less than 2 cents per day allotted to the whole group for instructional supplies used in the classroom. The allotment for janitors' supplies has been cut down to such an extent that paper towels and liquid soap cannot be furnished the children this year. The allotment for janitors' supplies for the Greenville school system, consisting of five white schools and two colored schools, with an enrollment of 3,100, is $265 for the 160 days of school. This is less than $2 a day divided among seven buildings and 3,100 children for materials to keep the buildings clean, floors clean, and for all toilet supplies. Last year the Greenville schools spent for water and light $900. This year the State has allotted only $400 for this item for the whole school year.

There will be no money to purchase supplies for the Home Economics Department, and those people taking Home Economic in the High School will be required to pay a fee to pay for supplies used in this course. The amount of the fee will be announced later.

It is requested that all children who have not already registered in one of the pre-school clinics report to the office of the superintendent any day during the week of September 18 to 23. It is requested that all high school pupils who have not yet made out their program cards and who wish to make any change in their program cards, attend to this matter during the week preceding the opening of schools.

Miss Eva Keeter, who has been supervisor of elementary grades in the Greenville city schools for a number of years, will return to the schools, not as supervisor, but as teacher of the school subjects in the Third Street School. She will, also, be principal of that building.

The negro schools will open on

SEEK TO BOOST COTTON PRICE AT MASS MEETING

The palmetto state is already under a voluntary tobacco holiday.

Raleigh, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus said today he would not personally be able to attend the mass meeting at Columbia tomorrow called by Governor Blackwood of South Carolina to talk plans for boosting cotton prices but intended to delegate a personal representative to be present.

The governor said he was thinking over the proposal for a ginning holiday but had not reached any decision.

"I shall answer the South Carolina governor's telegram during the day", Governor Ehringhaus said.

WENDELL BAND ON BACK FROM WASHINGTON TRIP

Wendell, Sept. 11.—The State Modern Woodmen of America Band of Wendell, has returned from the Eastern Zone Encampment of this order at Washington, D. C., where it has been for several days taking part in the annual gathering of the uniformed bodies of that about two thousand Woodmen attended the Encampment, the addition of Ohio to the Eastern Zone adding a large number to those present, including the Fremont O. M. W. A. Band which for 28 years has been in the Ohio state band of the order. In spite of the enlarged attendance reports are that the local band made a splendid showing. It took part in the mammoth Labor Day parade on Monday marching down historic Pennsylvania Avenue.

COURT ORDERS BRACELET TURNED OVER TO CREDITORS

Los Angeles, Sept. 11.—(AP)—When Gloria Swanson, movie actress, testified in court several weeks ago that she was unable to satisfy a $39,000 judgment obtained against her by Maurice Cleary, theatrical agent, she wore a $2,000 diamond bracelet. She said she had pledged everything she possessed to secure debts.

Cleary's attorney asked that the bracelet be turned over. Miss Swanson protested, saying it was a gift from her husband, Michael Farmer, and that, as wearing apparel, it was exempt.

Court records today disclosed the actress has been ordered to turn the bracelet over to Cleary.

Select City As Regular Monthly Meeting Place

The personnel of Chevrolet agencies in Zone 16 were meeting at Sheppard Memorial Library here this afternoon and tonight. The meeting is the first of the kind ever held here and numbers of sales managers and representatives of agencies in this immediate part of the state were in attendance.

Meetings of Zone 16 previously have been held at Kinston but it was announced today hereafter all meetings would be held in Greenville. The selection of Greenville as the meeting center, it was said, resulted from the central location of the city and its recognition as the principal shopping center in this immediate part of the state. The city's distinction as the largest bright leaf tobacco market in the world also figured in effecting the change. Meetings are held once a month.

The following representatives from Charlotte were here today conducting the meeting:
W. T. Kane, J. G. Hager, E. S. Hillin, D. E. Galloway, J. M. Glenn and T. J. McCarty.

Frank T. Patterson, 77, has been city clerk at New Bern, N. C., for twenty-five years.

Talks to Parents

Preventive Care

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
Spring and fall house cleanings have ceased to be the bugbears of some life since the invention of modern mechanical aids such as the vacuum cleaner.

But it is still necessary to pack and unpack clothes and coverings and furnish up wardrobes in preparation for the change of weather. Possibly it might be well if we also checked up on the family health to protect it against illness in the coming season.

Preventive medicine is a saving both in health and in money, and much of the chronic illness of later life could be avoided if the children were examined periodically in childhood.

During school sessions it is hard to find time for the necessary visits to clinics and doctors, but at the beginning or end of long summer vacations there should be both time and leisure.

General health should be looked into first, with special attention to the various forms of inoculation which are so effectually lessening the horrors of what were once alarming and frequent diseases.

A visit to the oculist should come next, especially if the children are just starting school. Many children go to school for years and struggle along at the tail end of the class, quite unconscious of the fact that some imperfection or peculiarity of eyesight is responsible for their difficulties.

Finally, but equally important, is the dentist. He should be called upon to examine a child's teeth every six months. After adolescence such frequent visits, while desirable, are not so essential as before. Many of the ailments and disabilities of later life are due to teeth, and might well be avoided by greater care of them in youth.

advisers considered it extremely important that Cuba's sister republics understand the big neighbor to the north would conduct herself with restraint, and would not cross their threshold forcibly except as public order required it.

On the other hand, no one in Washington wanted to give Latin America the impression that the Roosevelt administration had gone pacifist, or that the United States Marines had folded their tents and disbanded.

It has been a delicate task to steer a course which would give these neighbors just the desired notification that the United States has its heart in the right place, but packs a punch for emergencies.

An Eye To Japan
Officials do not talk about it, but there is no question they also have been thinking of the impression created as far away as Tokyo.

Japanese statesmen, in informal discussions with American diplomats, undertook during the latest Far Eastern crisis to justify what Japan was doing in Manchuria by what the United States had been doing in Latin America.

However open to dispute that parallel may be, Washington has been anxious to give no further encouragement to such an argument if it could be avoided.

All in all, the problem has bulked so large in official attention at Washington that at times it almost overshadowed the NRA—and that is saying a great deal.

Eighteen miles of draping material was used for decoration of buildings for this year's Tennessee Valley Industrial and Agricultural fair.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

Avast there mates, and let the Navy do the job turning out the next heavyweight champion of the world.

"Why not?" asks Spike Webb, for years coach of the American Olympic boxing teams, head boxing coach at the Naval Academy and now on cruise with the midshipmen of the U. S. S. Wyoming.

From a stop-off in the Maderis Islands comes Spike's rallying message as follows: "President Roosevelt, several weeks ago while making a trip aboard the U. S. S. Indianapolis, gathered the crew about him, telling them that it was up to the Navy to develop the man who could bring back the world heavyweight championship to our shores.

"Well, I only wish you could have been aboard the U. S. S. Wyoming during the fourteen-day cruise to Maderia Islands. Each afternoon after working hours, some sixty of the crew would put on their boxing togs and report for boxing instruction and training. There are fifty-five boxers in the lighter weights and the rest are big, rugged lads who love to mix it up with the boxing gloves. All these big fellows weigh two hundred pounds or more.

Consider It Done "If training under ideal conditions, such as the Navy affords her crews, does good, then there isn't any doubt about it—we'll develop the man who will relieve any man of the heavy weight crown.

"You recall that the late Ernie Schaaf and Jack Sharkey learned their boxing after enlisting in the Navy, and, knowing both of them back in those days, I am in a position to tell you that neither of them looked any too hot when they first began shooting left hooks at an opponent's chin.

"The memory of the early fights of Gene Tunney and Paul Berlenbach, both of whom I worked with when they were way down at the bottom of the heap, trying to grasp the first rung of the fistic ladder which eventually led to championship titles for both of them, gives one a fair idea of how far a man can go with a pair of boxing gloves if he has a little ability and plenty of courage.

I honestly believe that somewhere in the United States Navy, if not right here aboard the U. S. S. Wyoming, there is some tar who can, through proper coaching, bring that much coveted title, the world heavyweight belt, back to our United States, and do it in a real workman-like manner. By workman-like I mean, lambasting the daylight out of the other fighter."

Only $4.40 Top! Tech! "Contrary to the impression given in your story, Notre Dame is feeling the depression and is acting accordingly at the gate," writes Joseph Petritz, director of publicity at South Bend.

"The Southern California and Army games will have a $4.40 top for reserved seats. But the former game was a $5.50 straight game two years ago when it was played here. All but 2,000 tickets were sold for that game, or 53,000.

The scale this year is $4.40, $3.30 on the curves and $2.20 behind the goal posts. For other big games, reserved seats are now obtainable at $1.00, plus tax."

Nevertheless my guess is that upwards of 75 per cent of the nation's football managers would like to "feel the depression" the way Notre Dame has. The games for which $4.40 can be charged are few and far between, with or without a sell-out in prospect. The "Fighting Irish" play a schedule better calculated to withstand the effects of the times than any other we can mention.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Sleepy time financial markets ambled at a snail's pace today with only occasional moment of wakefulness to break the monotony.

The undertone of stocks was firm notwithstanding that trading activity was not so much greater than that of Saturday.

The alcohol shares reflected a revival of reau sentiment with National distillers, American Commercial Alcohol and others getting up two to around four points or more.

Union Pacific came back three points while Santa Fe, New York Central and Pennsylvania advanced a point each. Others up one to two points or more included Johns-Manville, American Telephone, United States Steel, Allied Chemical, American Tobacco, Lowes United Aircraft and Cerro de Pasco.

Sales were 7,910,920 shares.

New York, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady one-lower to three points higher with steady Liverpool cables offset by Southern hedge selling. Prices steadied and the market after the first half hour showed net advances of three to six points, December rallying from 8.88 to 8.94.

The market held steady later in the morning.

By midday December had sold up to 9.07 and May to 9.47, making advances of 18 to 20 points.

Futures closed steady 20 to 23 points higher; suots quiet; middling 9.05

Sweden Looses Tourists
Stockholm.—(AP)—Sweden has had fewer German tourists this year, because of the 200-mark limit imposed on travelers from that country, but the drop has been less than anticipated, Swedish travel agencies report. Two of the most popular tours in Sweden, it is pointed out, are boat, the cost of which leaves very little left from the 200 mark travel money.

Missing Balloon Found.
Sudbury, Ontario, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Ward P. Van Ormond and Frank A. Trotter, American balloonists who took part in the James Gordon Bennett cup race from Chicago and who had been missing more than a week, were found today between Sudbury and Abiti canyon in northern Ontario. They were ill from hardships they had undergone in the bush country.

In order that the outside world might learn of their plight the two men cut down a telephone pole knowing that repairmen would be sent out to fix the damage. They attached to the pole the following note:

"The pole was cut Sept. 10 by U. S. Goodyear balloon team, W. P. Van Ormond and Frank Trotter, in the hope that repairmen would aid us in getting to civilization from here. We will go south from here. Please come after us. We have a gun and some food but are both sick from poisoning. Fire your gun three times and we will answer. Please hurry."

Patrolman James Barrett was sent out this morning to determine what was wrong with the phone line and when he saw the note he did not stop to repair the damage but proceeded with the search. He found the balloonists in camp 38, lineman's outpost. He gave them such food as he had and returned to repair the line.

Both Ormond and Trotter were in bad shape, it was reported at the office of the Ontario Hydro Electric Company. Their clothing was cut to ribbons and the soles of their shoes worn through.

Arrangements were started to provide the balloonists with food and other necessities and to take them to the Canadian National Railway in the vicinity of La Foret station as quickly as possible.

They have been closed since the declaration of a sales holiday by governors looking to price adjustment.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Statesville, Sept. 11.—The mangled remains of an unidentified white youth were found on the tracks of the Southern Railway, three miles east of Statesville, about 6 o'clock yesterday morning. There was absolutely nothing with which to identify the young man, who was apparently 18 or 20 years of age, had auburn hair, brown eyes, weighed probably 150 pounds and was five feet six or seven inches tall. His only clothing was a pair of blue overalls and a shirt. His body was badly mangled, his head crushed and both legs cut off about the knees.

Sheriff G. C. Kimball and Coroner N. D. Tomlin, after making an investigation, expressed the opinion that the boy was riding an early morning freight or passenger train and fell off between the cars. The body is being held at the Nicholson funeral home, awaiting identification.

Rye Prices Double

Lenoir, N. C., Sept. 11.—Farmers in Caldwell county have sold 400 bushels of Abuzzi rye at more than double the price of last year, reports County Agent D. H. Sutton. Of this amount, 125 bushels were shipped last week and the remainder will be shipped as called for by the buyer. The farmers are now planting winter hays for feeding next spring, but are using very little rye in the seed mixture. The mixture recommended contain 1-2 bushels of winter oats, one bushel of barley or wheat, and 15 pounds of vetch to the acre, says Sutton.

Put-in-Bay Fish Hatchery, a $103,105 institution, is perhaps the largest and most complete of its kind, hatching spawn from food fish taken from Lake Erie and planting the fry for re-stocking.

"It's a Bully good Cigarette"

SO FAR as I can tell... and I've smoked a lot of them... CHESTERFIELDS are always the same. They have a pleasing taste and aroma.

I smoke 'em before breakfast and after dinner. I smoke 'em when I'm working. I smoke 'em when I'm resting. And always they satisfy. They suit me right down to the ground.
