EHRINGHAUS IN TOUCH WITH BLACKWOOD

Reliable Information Received at Raleigh Says Mullins and Lake City Probably Will Not Open Tomorrow if Other Markets do; Carrington Orders Buyers to go to South Carolina Markets

Raleigh, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Expressing the belief that some North Carolina tobacco growers might want to rush crop to the South Carolina market if they re-open tomorrow, Governor Ehringhaus today urged growers to stand by the North Carolina warehousemen who are co-operating so splendidly with efforts to bring about fair prices.

Governor Ehringhaus week-end announcement that the tobacco holiday for Eastern North Carolina markets would not be lifted until next Monday, was followed last night by the announcement from Columbia that Governor Blackwood was lifting the suspension in that state tomorrow.

The North Carolina governor was urging the South Carolina chief executive to rescind his decision. Reliable information was received here that Mullins and Lake City markets, the largest in South Carolina, probably would not open tomorrow in spite of the authorization from the governor.

Danville, Va., Sept. 18.—(AP)—A. B. Carrington, president of the Tobacco Association of the United States, said today he would send his buyers to the South Carolina (Continued on Page Four)

SEEK TO END CUBAN STRIFE

Powerful Opposition Forces Working to Restore Peace to Island

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Increasing labor troubles, some of them affecting Americans, challenged the new week old Cuban government today as powerful opposition groups completed new plans to end political strife.

American individuals were said to be nervous as 37 business groups threatened a 24 hour cessation of business as a move to protest against growing number of strikes.

Boycott of American firms were in vogue in Manzanillo where a general walkout was set for today.

Communist in Santiago threatened to seize American banks and mines and all American women were taken for safety to Rente across the bay from Santiago.

American owned Manganese mines at Crivt remained a storm center in Havana 8,000 persons paraded, shouting "Down with Ambassador Welles, down with American imperialism."

GROUP SEEKS COTTON RISE AT CAPITAL

Southerners Carry Fight For Higher Prices to President Roosevelt

Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The south's plea for 15-cent cotton was brought to the capital today by 200 business men, farmers and political leaders representing virtually every state where the fleecy staple is a big money crop.

While farm administration officials are as anxious as the southerners for better cotton prices as they prepared to listen to the proposal, they lacked enthusiasm for price-raising methods suggested.

The march on Washington originated at a meeting in Columbia, S. C., where a four-point program including abandonment of cotton processing taxes and currency inflation was adopted.

Fixing the 1934 cotton crop at 9,000,000 bales and the price at 15 cents a pound for cotton were also pressed by the southerners.

The farm administration at one time or another has rejected each of the suggestions.

The processing tax, hub of the administration higher farm price efforts, had been collected so far only from cotton, although taxes have been levied on other commodities.

The farm administration has indicated that the drive to get rid of the processing tax is sponsored by a group of textile manufacturers.

J. B. Okley and Son And Norman Wilkerson Injured in Separate Wrecks

Three persons were in the hospital here as result of two automobile wrecks in or near Greenville during Sunday, it was stated today.

J. B. Okley and son, Jeter, 13, were painfully injured when their car was struck by another automobile driven by a man named Sockwell on the Greenville-Washington highway about a mile from this city.

The youth received a broken shoulder and several teeth knocked out and the father was hurt in the chest.

The Okleys were coming toward Greenville when Sockwell, going in the opposite direction, cut out from behind a truck and struck the Okley car.

The father and son were rushed to the local hospital for medical attention. Sockwell suffered only minor injuries, it was said.

Norman Warren, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Wilkerson sustained a broken leg and severe bruises on the head and body when he was struck by an automobile driven by a man named Gaylor at the intersection of Fifth and Holly streets Sunday.

The youth was said to have been riding a bicycle as he came out of Holly street into Fifth street and was hit by the car driven down Fifth street by Gaylor.

No action had been taken in either wreck today, police said, pending recovery of the injured parties.

There are more than 21,000 applications on file for jobs on the Boulder Dam project.

NEW MILLIONS FOR EXPANSION DRIVE IN U. S.

President Roosevelt Puts $150,000,000 Behind Recovery Campaign

Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt put another $150,000,000 of federal pressure behind the great expansion program today as southern congressional spokesmen rallied for currency inflation.

The new federal fund was made available to federal land banks by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to assist in the immediate re-financing of farm mortgages held by banks whose operation has been retarded by heavy portfolios of such securities.

Jesse Davis, chairman, announced plans as the drive for inflation backed by the strongest force with which Congress empowered President Roosevelt to issue new currency or evaluate the dollar.

The gathering here of cotton men and southern political leaders again made inflation the brunt of the Roosevelt problem.

FLUE CURED LEAF DRIVE ENDS SEPT. 20

South Carolina Completes Signing; Some Sections of E. Carolina Behind

Flue-cured tobacco growers desiring to sign the general agreement to reduce production will have until mid-night Wednesday, Sept. 20, J. B. Hutson, chief of the tobacco section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, announced today. After that time, the campaign for signatures will close, he said.

In effect, the campaign is already closed in South Carolina and in some sections of North Carolina where practically all growers have signed agreements.

Mr. Hutson reported that a considerable number of growers in some sections of Eastern North Carolina and Virginia have delayed signing. This delay, he explained, is due to some extent to the fact that no tobacco has been sold by these growers this season and it is requiring time for them to become fully aware of the situation that confronts them.

Judging from the inquiries that have reached us some growers are concerned about the selection of a base from which reduction is to be measured," Mr. Hutson said. "Some growers with a small acreage have hesitated to sign an agreement up to this time because of the fact that a very small acreage cannot be cured economically. We are considering the questions raised by these growers and shall make every effort in working out the details of the final plan to make it as equitable as possible. As stated previously, it is our policy to formulate a plan that will enable growers who participate in a program to receive more net income from their farms than they would receive if they did not participate.

"The same plan must be offered to all growers but alternatives are being considered which would permit the growers who have reduced production drastically during the past three years to qualify for a higher base acreage than he would be able to qualify for if he selected the 1931, 1932 and 1933 base.

After Governor Ehringhaus of North Carolina had declared the holiday at end end hardly over a week from today—September 25—Governor Blackwood last night called the South Carolina holiday at an end at midnight tonight.

A difference between the governors in their views at least was indicated by the action.

In announcement of his holiday action last night, Mr. Ehringhaus said he believed Governor Blackwood would call for the markets to open on the same date.

HUNDREDS ARE WITHOUT FOOD IN PAMLICO

Sanitary Conditions Dangerous as Result of Terrific Storm

First reports of storm damage in Pamlico county received here told of hundreds of persons without food or shelter and "a staggering property damage."

Lieutenant Lester Jones of the State Highway Patrol said storm damage was "incalculable" and that hundreds were homeless and without food and that sanitary conditions are "most dangerous."

A picture of destruction and desolation in the county, isolated since Friday, was painted by Sheriff C. E. Brinson and R. W. Galpin, county agent of Pamlico, who brought first news of the distress in that section to Greenville Saturday night.

At Oriental, Vandemere, Bayboro, Arapahoe and other small towns "hardly a building was left intact," they said.

The Sea Breeze hotel and a nearby dance and bathing pavilion at Oriental were "a total loss" Sheriff Brinson reported. The entire water front suffered great damage and practically all residences along the river shore were undermined. Two were carried completely away by the surging waters.

HEALTH HEAD VISITS STORM AREA SUNDAY

Dr. Parrott Accompanied by Dr. McGeachy Goes to Storm-Ridden Section

Dr. James Parrott, secretary of the State Board of Health, spent a short time in Greenville yesterday following his return from the Pamlico and other sections of Eastern Carolina which suffered so severely from the hurricane Friday night.

Accompanied by Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Pitt County Health Department, Dr. Parrott went to several storm-ridden points to determine sanitary conditions, and while the situation was serious, it was not believed to be as bad as first reports indicated.

Immediately following word of the severe toll of life and property taken by the storm, the State Department of Health dispatched sanitary officers to several sections in an attempt to prevent the spread of sickness and disease.

With hundreds homeless and without food, the picture was one of the most pathetic that has been painted in this part of the State in years as result of storm, and the Red Cross assisted by public health workers were using their great facilities to carry relief to the storm and flood sufferers.

The damage from loss of property will run into millions of dollars, and with reports of loss of life continuing to grow, it was impossible (Continued on Page Three)

PITT SCHOOLS BEGIN WORK

Pitt county schools threw open their doors for the fall term this morning with large attendance indicated in all sections.

Patrons attended the opening in virtually every school and brief talks were made by principals and members of the school boards. Indications were that despite decreased appropriations caused by the new state eight months' school term attendance would be much larger than in recent years.

Donald Conley, director of the county department of education, attended the opening at Ayden, one of the largest schools of the county and explained the shortage of funds for transportation making it necessary for children living in a radius of two miles from schools to either walk or furnish their own transportation. Several thousand dollars have been clipped from the transportation budget in this county for this year and all truck routes were reorganized to take care of the shortage of funds.

In spite of decreased funds for public school education, the Pitt county system didn't lose a single teacher, Mr. Conley made it known today. School districts were consolidated in many instances with a view to economy and hundreds of children will find themselves going to new schools this session.

FOUR MEMBERS OF ONE FAMILY ARE DROWNED

Pamlico Coast Guard Station Damaged at Ocracoke; Six Persons Reported Missing; Patrol Boat Sent to Manteo to Check Dead There; Senator Bailey at Morehead City Giving Assistance; Sanitary Conditions Described as Dangerous in Some Sections

New Bern, N. C., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Casualties of the tropical hurricane which swept the North Carolina coast Friday and Saturday went to fourteen today as additional reports came in and the property damage was steadily mounting toward $5,000,000.

A terse message received by the coast guard cutter Pamlico here today sent from a patrol boat at Morehead City said more members of one family were drowned when the schooner Dale of Sea Level was wrecked.

The radio gave no details, but said the dead were James Hamilton, owner of the vessel, and sons, Nelson, Charlie and Ralph.

Up until last night ten persons were reported dead from high water left by the storm. A patrol boat which visited Ocracoke radioed the Pamlico coast guard station there was badly damaged and that the lighthouse was carried 800 yards up the beach.

It was stated that six houses there needed Red Cross aid, and that only one house at Portsmouth Island was down. The message said no casualties so far had been reported from the island.

In addition to the known dead, six a boat was sent to Hatteras and other points north to work through to Manteo today to check damage and other fatalities.

COTTON GRADE AND STAPLE REPORTS FOR WEEK END SEPT. 14

Weekly grade and staple reports for cotton issued in Atlanta today by the United States Department of Agriculture show lower grades ginned in Georgia, Alabama, and South Carolina for the past week. The report for Florida shows no significant changes in grades. The report for North Carolina, the first report this season for this state, effects the customary good grades for the early ginnings.

The lowering of average grades for Georgia, Alabama, and South Carolina was principally the result of greatly increased proportions of Spotted and Yellow Tinged grades during the past week. Spotted and Tinged grades combined represented over 24 per cent for Georgia for the past week, over 18 per cent for Alabama, and over 6 per cent for South Carolina. For the previous week the percentages of Spotted and Tinged cotton ranged from 2 per cent to 7 per cent for these States. A surprisingly large amount of the ginnings for last week from the Piedmont section of Georgia, about 54 per cent, was either Spotted or Tinged according to the report. It may be said that spotted cotton is the first stage in discoloration but such designation does not necessarily indicate low value as the specific grade is also a governing factor.

The grade of the total crop to date for each State continues to be high, with percentages of White Middling and better being about 84 per cent for Georgia, Alabama, and South Carolina, 88 per cent for Florida, and 92 per cent for North Carolina.

Pigskin Work Starts Here

High school football players began daily workouts at Third street school athletic field this morning under direction of Coaches Hewlett and Charles Whedbee.

Hewlett, a former Davidson player, who completed a course in coaching at Villanova, has just joined the coaching staff. It was announced last week that Whedbee would be a member of the staff but it was not known at the time that Hewlett would also be here.

Whedbee will have charge of the line and Hewlett, it was understood, will have charge of other fields of training.

The youths were put through two periods of training today, this morning and afternoon, and workouts will continue each day in preparation for the opening of the season in the near future.

Although a few old men returned for duty this year, there were plenty HUNDREDS ARE WITHOUT FOOD of new material and the coaches hoped to be able to whip a winning aggregation into shape.

Equipment was issued to the boys this morning and from now on the pigskin will be seen hurrying across the field as the youngsters get in trim for action against other clubs of the district: this fall.

Hewlett comes to Greenville from Morehead City. Whedbee, local lawyer, is a former member of the University of North Carolina football squad.

SPRUCE PINE SEEKING FORESTRY CORPS CAMP

Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—If the work of Mayor D. O. Blevins, of Spruce Pine, N. C., bears fruit, there will be a winter civilian conservation corps camp near his municipality.

Blevins wrote Senator Reynolds of North Carolina, and asked him to use his influence in securing a winter camp for Mitchell county.

Senator Reynolds wrote Robert Fechner, director of the emergency conservation work, who, in turn, advised the Senator the matter should first be referred to Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus.

Now it's up to Senator Reynolds and Mayor Blevins to write the Governor. If he approves, Fechner will make "every effort" to locate a camp in Mitchell county.

Test Poultry Flocks

Marshall, N. C., Sept. 18.—Five poultry flocks in the Mars Hill and Marshall communities of Madison County were tested for bacillary white diarrhea last week with only three birds reacting to the test, reports County Agent Earle Brinnall. These same flocks were tested in 1929 and had 105 reactors. The work was done by C. F. Parrish, extension poultryman from State College and H. E. Wilfong of the State veterinarian's office. The work will be continued until all pure-bred flocks in the county have been tested, Brinnall says.

SERIOUS MISHAP IN MOTOR BOAT RACE

Marion, Sept. 18.—The last outboard motor race of the season on Lake Tahoma near here, ended in a serious accident yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, when Bill Barbour, 23, of Greenville, S. C., with leading position in the race, capsized and was thrown into the water just in front of another boat.

Thousands of spectators who lined the lake shores to witness the races saw the accident.

Life preservers prevented Barbour from sinking but while struggling to reach his boat the propeller of the boat driven by Mike Murray of Asheville almost completely severed one arm and inflicted serious injuries on the head and one leg.

Says Cardui Seemed To Do Her Most Good

"A few years ago, my health wasn't so good," writes Mrs. L. E. Erwin, of Lamar, Mo. "I was nervous and tired, and felt the need of a tonic. My mother advised me to take Cardui. After I had taken one bottle, I found I was getting results. I took about five bottles, and certainly was much better than I had been in some time, as my headaches had stopped. Cardui had done me more good than any medicine I had taken."

Tips on CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL

Some players, believing that sacrifice bidding is overdone and that penalties deliberately incurred only add to the adversaries' points, seldom attempt to prevent a successful game or slam contract.

But comes a tale of woe from Lake George, N. Y., that a laydown grand slam in hearts could have been prevented by a grand slam contract in spades at a cost of 250 points. Here was the hand.

Neither side was vulnerable. South opened with a heart. Knowing the dealer was addicted to strong openings and having little or no defense against a heart contract, West overcalled with three spades.

"Four spades" said Oliver A. Lanchantin, sitting North. It was an urgent slam invitation, indicating no losers in spades and a fit in hearts especially. East naturally bid five spades.

A Problem For South South had a bit of a problem. If North's spade call was due to possession of the ace of spades singleton or the ace-king doubleton, he probably lacked the ace of clubs. The chances were, however, from the strong spade bidding West and East that North too, was void of spades and therefore must have the ace of clubs to justify his slam invitation.

There was a way to make certain South bid six diamonds, passing the buck on the matter of grand slam to North. West bid six spades.

Having the club ace, a spade void and a great fit in hearts and diamonds, Lanchantin in the North bid the grand slam in hearts. The enemies passed.

West opened the diamond nine. The declarer was in fear and trembling till he found that East could follow suit and that West was not leading the top of four in hope of a ruff East. The hand was then a laydown.

Had West or East bid seven spades there would have been a doubt. They would have been set two tricks at a cost of 250 points in contract to the 1,710 North and South made. At spades the hand could have been a complete cross ruff North and South making only one diamond and one club. But it would be quite a guess that the hand would be down only two instead of five or six. If East had the nerve to make a cue bid of clubs, because of his singleton, West might have known from his singleton diamond that a grand slam in spades would not be so expensive.

INCREASE IN TAXES SEEN FOR EDENTON

Edenton, N. C., Sept. 18.—That the city's $10,000 or $12,000 uncollected taxes will necessitate an increase of probably 25 cents in the city tax rate for 1933-1934 was indicated in the City Council when the City Fathers began their discussions of ways and means to meet expenses for the ensuing year.

The present tax rate is $1.00. Street and paving bonds in the sum of $20,000 will fall due this year, and unless the tax rate is increased the city will have to default. That is, of course, if the back taxes are not collected.

The council has not taken a definite action yet, but it will hold a joint meeting with the E. and W. Department within the next few days and the increase probably will be voted on.

Jacksnipe would be limited to two months this year as it was last.

Until the department became alarmed because of the growing scarcity of wild fowl, the hunting season for duck and geese ordinarily was three months.

The daily limit on ducks was reduced from 15 to 12 not more than eight of which may be canvas-backs, redheads, scaups, teals, shovellers or gadwalls. The possession limit for ducks was reduced from 30 to 24 and on the accepted species from 20 to 16.

The amended regulations provide no open season for brant on the Atlantic coast, although hunting them in the Pacific coast is permitted. For the first time since 1930 cackling geese may be hunted.

The new open season for ducks (except wood ducks, ruddy ducks, and buffhead ducks) geese (except Ross's goose and snow geese in Florida and all states north on the Atlantic coast) coot and jacksnipe follow: North Carolina, South Carolina, November 16 to January 15.

CUMBERLAND SHERIFF GETS FIRST CHECK

Fayetteville, Sept. 18.—Sheriff N. H. McGeachy was the first cotton grower in Cumberland county to receive his government check for plowing up a portion of his 1933 cotton crop. His was one of 33 checks received Saturday by County Agent N. B. Stevens to be distributed to farmers. Growers of this county will receive 910 additional checks in the near future.

HUNDREDS WITHOUT FOOD IN PAMLICO

Some stores were unroofed and goods suffered large damage. Similar damage was wrought in Vandemere, the official said, with fish packing plants and other buildings along the waterfront being washed away. Water flowed through streets littered with debris and dead fowl. Hardly a building escaped damage.

The high winds damaged practically every building at Bayboro with the waters from Bay river added their weight to the destruction. At Arapahoe wind damage was great and Minnesott beach nearby was reported completely destroyed.

Throughout the county tobacco pack houses were blown down or unroofed with great damage to stored crops. Cotton and cotton crops standing in fields were a complete loss. Not a bridge was left in the lower part of the county, Sh. Brinson said, and communication with points in the extreme lower end of the county had not been established late this afternoon.

FLUE-CURED LEAF DRIVE ENDS SEPTEMBER 20

Packhouses loaded with golden tobacco were completely destroyed in some of the low lying sections, and reports from the New Bern area were to the effect that millions of pounds of bright leaf would be ruined unless marketed immediately. An appeal was being sent out today asking for marketing facilities to take care of the crop of that section in the face of the warehouse holiday existing in this belt at the present.

It was stated numbers of public health workers in this immediate section were being held in readiness for service in the storm-area should the health situation become more serious. It was understood county authorities had already given permission for their forces to be rushed to the area immediately if found necessary.

action, he said he planned no change in his decision for the markets to open on the 25th of this month.

Markets in both States were closed two weeks ago to give the Federal Government time to act to boost prices.

In declaring the holiday at an end, Governor Blackwood said: "It is apparent that the reduction drive has been successfully waged. So great is the impatience of the farmers and warehousemen to resume usual sales activities that I do not deem it wise to continue the tobacco holiday longer." He advised growers to carry their tobacco markets for several days.

In North Carolina the tobacco reduction campaign is about over, but will continue through Wednesday.

Additional agreement between the government and buyers under which minimum prices will be guaranteed was considered necessary this week, advices from Washington stated.

In his announcement Governor Ehringhaus said it would be disastrous to re-open markets before the government has completed its program to insure better prices.

PROPERTY LOSS PLACED AROUND THREE MILLION

Sanitary conditions in portions of the storm area were described as dangerous, and relief agencies moved to provide food and other necessities.

A medical detachment sought its way into the worst area loaded with typhoid vaccine. In some sections dead livestock added to the menace. Red Cross relief was set up at New Bern, Morehead City and other points.

Build Up that Skinny Child! Enrich His Impoverished Blood

Sickly, weak, underweight children are usually lacking in rich, red blood. When blood becomes poor, a child becomes rundown. Already weak, he loses appetite, which makes him still weaker. Take no chances on a child gaining strength by himself. Start giving him Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic right away. This famous tonic contains both iron and tasteless quinine. Iron makes for rich, red blood while quinine tends to purify the blood. In other words, you get two effects in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Put your child on this time-proven tonic for a few days and see the difference it makes in him. Good appetite, lots of pep and energy, and red roses in his cheeks. Children like Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic and take it eagerly. It is absolutely harmless and has been a reliable family medicine for half a century. Get a bottle today at any store.

Counties apparently were the hardest hit. Four were reported to have died in Carteret and four in Terrell, and crops and livestock were almost completely washed away.

Elizabeth City, N. C., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Regular bus and steamer communication with Manteo was reported today when Sam Midget, driver of the Manteo bus, arrived in Elizabeth City on time and the mail steamer Trenton followed a short time later and docked here.

Midget said the bus bore across the inlet that cuts the causeway on the Nae's Head side of the island bridge. The trip across the inlet was made in a shad boat.

The causeway which was badly torn up probably will have to be rebuilt. He said he came to the highway from Minley to Perkinson's casino and from there followed the beach at the Wright Memorial bridge. He plans to return to Manteo tonight.

The steamer Trenton, operating between Elizabeth City and Manteo, has been tied up here since Friday night.

TAR HEEL ENDS ARE FACED BY HEAVY WORK

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 18.—The Carolina ends, headed by two letter-men, George Brandt and Julian Frankel, are in for a slug of work next week.

Taken as a whole, the flank material shows considerable promise. But the ends need a lot more drilling before they make their debut against Davidson here September 30th.

Tackles like Davidson's mammoth, Tubby Tand, are tough assignments for the best looking ends. And it will take plenty good flankmen to stop the wide plays that Mackrell, Hutchins, Wilson, Werble, and the other Wildcat speed-merchants will throw at them.

Brandt is perhaps the outstanding man in the lot. A particularly brilliant pass receiver and defensive player, he was a regular last year and has the inside track at the right terminal again this year.

Julian Frankel, who won his letter as an understudy, is looking best at the other flank, but it is hardly to be expected that he will be the star that the graduated Erwin Walker was.

Eugene Barwick and Olin Yeager, two of the ends on last year's freshman team, are leading the fight under study roles at present.

Bill Moore was counted to be another outstanding sophomore prospect at this position, but Coach Collins has had to shift the former Kiski player to center.

The other leading candidates at end are Manley and Beale, reserves, and Ellisburg, a sophomore.

The Tar Heel ends are not a heavy lot. But taken as a whole, they are fairly fast and uniformly medium weight.

Brandt, Manley, and Yeager are in the 175-pound class. Frankel, Barwick and Ellisburg scale around 170. The others are slightly lighter.

Head Coach Chuck Collins is paying much personal attention to the Tar Heel ends. This was his position in his playing days at Notre Dame, and he has developed a number of fine ends at Carolina, including End-Coach Odell Sap.

In the Series

This is the first of a series of sketches on individual stars of the New York Giants and Washington Senators, world series rivals.

New York.—(AP)—If you're seeking a ready-made hero for the approaching world series between the Giants and Senators, don't overlook John (Blondy) Ryan.

The six-foot, 180-pound rookie shortstop from Lynn, Mass., has been one of the most important factors in the drive of the Giants to the National League flag.

His batting average is only slightly stronger than .32, but he's a hitting fool in the clutches, a brilliant if slightly erratic fielder and possessed of a fighting spirit that has been invaluable to the Giants' morale.

"Made" Their Infield
A weak hitting "bushed" from Buffalo, they called him at the start of the season. Yet he "made" the Giants' infield. Mostly by sheer nerve and hustle.

He went out with a spike wound in July, and the Giants promptly hit the skids, their only real slump of the season. He was hitting only about .170 at the time, but without him the Polo Grounders couldn't beat the egg.

The wound still was far from healed when (Blondy) Ryan, unable to stand it any longer, sent his famous wire to Manager Bill Terry:

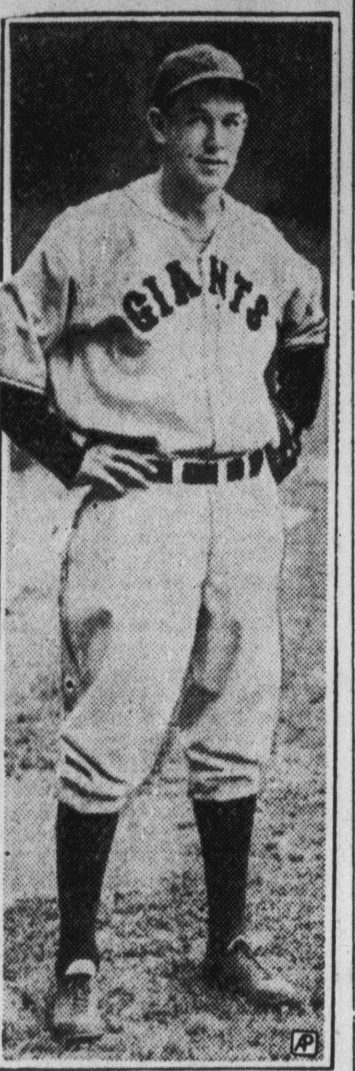

"Will be with you tomorrow. They can't beat us."

He was in there the next day, limping and wearing a shin guard. The Giants won, broke the slump that had bound them for two weeks and resumed their steady march to the flag. Blondy still wears the shin guard.

There in the Pinches
Ryan, the son of a policeman and a former football and baseball star at Holy Cross, makes plenty of errors. But he seems to make 'em when it doesn't matter much. In the pinches he knocks the fans out.

DUKE BACKS APPEAR SET FOR OPENING

Durham, N. C., Sept. 18.—It is beginning to look as if the first string backfield quartet for Duke University's 1933 grid team is just about definitely settled.

Bob Cox, Nick Laney, Corky Cornelius and "Horse" Hendrickson have composed the varsity leather lugging crew since practice began at the institution, and today less than two weeks before the opening game with V. M. I. in Greensboro, they are still running together.

For three of them—Cox, Cornelius and Hendrickson—it is their first time to be termed "varsity regulars" and the game with the Flying Cadets will be the first contest they have entered as such. Laney has been a regular the past two years.

This combine will give Duke four ball carriers. Hendrickson does not run from scrimmage, but he has been given the safety man duties and is in a position to be of great value to his team by running back the opposing team's punts.

All in all, Hendrickson has a man-sized job to fill. He is listed at the blocking back position and does the field generaling in addition to his place as safety man. Heavy is the weight on his shoulders.

Cox at the fullback berth gives Duke a line slicer rather than a crasher. He has been looking good in fall practices at his job. He is more on the type of the great Duke fullback of several years ago, Jan Jankoski, a hole picker.

Cornelius has the possibilities to be a "big noise" on the gridiron. He has the weight, is tall and fast. His change of pace is likely to fool many opposing gridders this fall if he continues to run as he has at Duke this fall.

Laney, the spectacular triple-threat, has been trying harder than ever before at Duke. He played an important part in the Blue Devils' 1932 campaign with his long runs, excellent passes and punts, and he appears to be set for his best year.

NOTICE!

We understand it has been rumored around that we bid only on cotton that we are interested in. We wish to correct this rumor by saying we have a man at the Coast Line platform between the hours of 10 to 1 and 2 to 4 to bid on all cotton brought to his attention and see that cotton marketed in Greenville brings the high dollar whether we have interest in the cotton or not.

We ask you to see us when you have cotton to offer for sale.

Not like any other cigarette

The United States Government granted Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company the right to use "Chesterfield" for cigarettes

THIS means that the Chesterfield formula—that is, the leaf and the manufacturing formula—is different from that of other cigarettes.

For a cigarette to be milder and to taste better, it has to have in it ripe, mild, mellow tobacco, and the right quantity of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco. Then the cigarette has to be made right.

You can prove for yourself that Chesterfields are not like other cigarettes. They're milder... they taste better.
