

TOBACCO HEARING RECESSED UNTIL TOMORROW

Exporters Seek Separate Terms From The Others

OTHER GROUP NOT SATISFIED WITH TERMS

Domestic Buyers Tell Farm Officials They Object to Government Agreement; Both Exporters and Domestic Dealers Would be Bound to Parity Prices

Washington, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The hearing on the proposed free cured tobacco marketing agreement recessed today until tomorrow afternoon. It was learned that buyers who export the leaf were still considering an alternative agreement to present to the administration.

The export group informed officials that they wished a separate agreement and were still at work on its terms.

The hearing, although formally called to order twice during the day was recessed immediately on both occasions.

First domestic buyers of free cured tobacco told farm administration officials they objected to the proposed agreement and the exporters followed suit.

The agreement drafted by the farm administration would have bound both domestic and export buyers to pay a parity price on the remainder of free cured tobacco to be marketed this year.

Although farm act officials were disappointed because of the delay, they said the plan to insure growers higher prices for their products would be pressed and it was expected the buyers would fall in line.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—(AP)—A hearing on the proposed marketing agreement for the free-cured tobacco industry was postponed from this morning to 1 p. m.

All parties interested in the agreement would not be ready to be heard until then.

With the Chinese room of the Mayflower Hotel crowded with representatives of the tobacco interests, including farmers, warehousemen and manufacturers, Pearson stated the object of the meeting and immediately recessed the hearing.

Pearson said the hearing was not judicial, but was simply to get expressions from the several interests represented.

He said no cross-examination of witnesses would be allowed and no questions would be asked until the witnesses had concluded and then questions would be propounded by the chairman.

Economists and other persons connected with the administration present at the hearing were exempted from the hearing.

PRESENTS NEW STORM APPEAL

Few Contributions Causes Red Cross Head Here to Again Seek Aid

Although an appeal was issued her yesterday by the Red Cross for funds to assist in carrying relief to storm sufferers along the North Carolina coast, only $15 had been received up to this morning.

It was stated by W. J. Bundy, chairman of the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Realizing the need of funds to carry on the work of the hard-hit fishing banks of the State where the hurricane struck with greatest fury, Bundy today renewed his appeal to the public to give as liberally as possible to the cause.

The county chairman received a communication from Raleigh yesterday morning asking that he use the local organization to raise contributions to a fund in rehabilitation of the coast.

Major R. C. Flanagan was asked to appeal, and he also used his voice today in calling on the people to give to the extent of their resources to help the distressed people of the hurricane-torn territory.

Contributions should be sent direct to Mr. Bundy or to The Daily Reflector. A list of contributors will be printed in this paper each day.

Contributors are—Mrs. J. L. Little $1.00; W. J. Bundy $2.00; Miss Hennie W. H. Gaskin $1.00; W. J. Wyatt, Sr., Winterville, $5.00; K. W. Cobb, $5.00; R. C. Flanagan $2.00.

JOHNSTON REPEALISTS FORM ORGANIZATION

Smithfield, Sept. 21.—Quite a number of citizens of the county who favor repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, gathered in the court house on Tuesday afternoon and perfected an organization for this purpose, under the name of the "United Repeal Force of Johnston County."

A permanent organization was effected, as follows: Leon G. Stevens of Smithfield, chairman; J. B. Benton of Benson, vice-chairman; J. R. Atkinson of Micro, vice-chairman, and E. G. Hobbs of Selma, secretary.

RELIEF CANNING NEAR TERMINATION

Large Stores of Food Set Aside For Care Of The Poor During The Winter

Pitt county was prepared today to meet the demands of its indigent population as result of relief garden and canning activities during the summer months. It was revealed from the office of K. T. Futrell, director of the Pitt County Department of Welfare.

From five large community gardens and 2,600 individual gardens created during the summer, 70,851 cans of foodstuff have been canned for the winter, the statement from the department revealed.

In addition, 880 gallons of molasses, 850 bushels of corn, 1,175 bushels of sweet potatoes, 500 pounds of lima beans, 900 pounds of dried black eyed peas and 471 barrels of Irish potatoes have been conserved to take care of the needy while the wolf is howling around the doors this winter of those who failed to take part in the garden movement.

At the beginning of the planting season, the welfare director let it be known that persons who refused to plant their own gardens from free seeds provided by the department could not expect to receive aid from the relief forces during the winter.

The statement brought about the greatest activity of the kind in the history of the county, and hundreds joined the pilgrimage to the department office in the courthouse to obtain seed and take part in tilling of the soil for a golden harvest.

Owners of the individual gardens were permitted to take their canned products home to store away for future use, but those canned from community gardens were placed in reserve by the department to meet regular demands to be expected during the cold weather although this is not anticipated to be nearly as severe as in recent years when the wolf howled maliciously around the doors of hundreds of people dependent entirely upon relief agencies for keeping body and soul together.

Some of the materials to be conserved by the department are yet to be harvested, but there is keen and to know they are going to be satisfied in the various communities to see the stuff in the fields able to eat in spite of the swing of the economic pendulum.

The estimate was taken from figures in the office of Mr. Futrell and was said to be of a conservative nature.

Two canning plants, one in this city and the other in Farmville, operated at full blast all the summer. The one in Greenville closed.

WILL DISCUSS POOL TONIGHT

Special Meeting of Citizens at Library To Consider Proposed Project

A special meeting has been called at the Shepherd Memorial library tonight at 7:30 to discuss the proposed swimming pool for Greenville.

Call for the meeting was issued yesterday by the Citizens' Swimming Pool committee and it was hoped citizens interested in the movement to provide the city with a modern swimming pool will be on hand and let their desires be known.

Local representatives attended a meeting Tuesday of government officials at Kinston and heard explanations as to definite steps that must be taken by the city to procure a government loan for the pool.

The prospects for obtaining the loan appears most favorable, it was said by members of the committee, and the purpose of the meeting tonight is to determine public sentiment on the proposition so the Board of Aldermen may proceed with assurance of support from the citizenship.

Efforts to obtain a swimming pool for the city have been under way for some time but this is the first concerted attempt to actually obtain a government loan and make the pool an actuality, and all interested persons were urged to be on hand and let their sentiment be known.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Ask Government To Buy Cotton. Washington, Sept. 21.—(AP)—A special committee from the cotton belt states urged President Roosevelt today to order government purchase of half of the present cotton crop at 15 cents a pound as a means of raising prices and controlling production.

The committee headed by Senator Bankhead of Alabama, informed the President that the recent southern states cotton convention favored inflation of the currency but this point was not pressed at the White House.

Asked if inflation had been dropped, Bankhead said "no" and explained the committee was sent of the White House only on the cotton plan.

Some of the group indicated the President gave the impression he

Commodity Dollar And Price-Fixing Being Considered

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Projects regarded by economists as bigger than the NRA, bigger than anything the government has under discussion in confidential conferences in Washington.

Among them is a plan for currency adjustment, probably on the general idea of the "commodity dollar," which would recast values all along the line.

Accompanying that, and in some degree coupled with it, is a proposal to greatly expand governmental price-fixing, perhaps encompassing all the principal commodities.

Out feature of the new program is a possibility that it may become a world program, providing a continuing but flexible basis for both currency and prices in the international markets.

Details have not been settled, but it can be said positively that in the present stage no serious thought is being given to the issuance of "printing press" money, with no definite backing. That Mr. Roosevelt has been listening to senatorial advice on that subject does not mean he agrees with it.

He tried to pacify the Senators who recently called on him by promising to take some action as soon as the time was ripe, but he promised nothing more.

Commodity Dollar in Favor. The "commodity dollar" method of dealing with the currency is looked upon with much favor in high quarters, although it should be borne in mind that actual decisions remain to be made.

PROTEST NEW SCHOOL LAW WITH STRIKES

Lack of Transportation Facilities Causes Upheaval in Several Sections

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Reports of school strikes in protest of the new school law provisions forbidding transportation in school buses of pupils living within two miles of the schools in several sections, had reached the attention of school officials here today.

Parents in several communities were reported to be keeping their children at home until the situation was changed.

Several hundred were said to be on the holiday in Davidson County. One report said angry parents of children in the two-mile limit stopped a bus and forced children on it to walk to school.

A "friendly strike" was announced by twelve families in Alamance County.

A protest against the rule was filed by patrons of the Busick community school in Guilford County with T. R. Foust, county superintendent, who replied he had no choice but to obey the law.

MAYOR ASKS FOR AID OF STORM AREA

Issues Appeal For Subscriptions to Carry Relief to Carolina Coast

To the People of Pitt County: The terrible storm or hurricane which visited our sister counties was terribly severe in the counties of Pamlico, Craven, Tyrrell, Carteret, Dare and Hyde. Over twenty people lost their lives and millions of dollars worth of property were destroyed.

We of this county were particularly blessed because in comparison our damage was very slight, and except by the grace of God we would today be in the terrible condition which prevails in the sections that I have referred to.

Many people who heretofore have been living with plenty around them have suddenly and without warning found themselves without food, clothing, and in many cases, even shelter is not now available.

The fishermen along our coasts have lost their equipment in the shape of nets and boats, and are now crying for help in their sad dilemma as they are unable to make a living for themselves or their families.

On the farms, household furnishings, poultry, hogs, livestock, and vehicles are of all descriptions have been destroyed almost without exception. There is a crying need at this time for help, and I am appealing to you insofar as you are able to come to the aid of our friends and neighbors who are less fortunate than we are.

The great American Red Cross with its wonderful organization is now in charge of the situation, in dispensing the bare necessities of life to this stricken people, and they are asking your very earnest cooperation to help out in this great and good work that they are doing.

Owing to many calls upon this organization, their resources are limited, and knowing the great need, they are appealing to you to do your part so far as you are able in helping to relieve the tragic situation. The local chapter in Pitt County has been appealed to, and under the leadership of their chairman,

NEGRO KILLER LODGED IN JAIL

Riggs Moore, Wanted For Slaying Here, Arrested in Portsmouth, Virginia

Riggs Moore, colored, charged with the slaying of Woodrow Staton here Sunday night three weeks ago, was returned to Greenville last night from Portsmouth, Va., where he was arrested by Virginia officers following a "tip" from authorities here.

The negro was brought back by Chief of Police George Clark of this city and will be held in jail for preliminary hearing Saturday morning.

Chief Clark said he received information several days ago that Moore, who escaped immediately after stabbing Staton to death in an altercation over a card game at a house on New Higgs Street, was headed for the home of a brother in Portsmouth. He immediately notified officers of the Virginia city to be on the lookout for the fugitive, who reached Portsmouth according to schedule and was taken into custody Sunday night.

After leaving here, Moore was said to have gone to Edenton, Plymouth and several other places before heading for the home of his brother.

STRONG GUARD TAKES STAND ABOUT PALACE

President Ramon San Martin Declares He Is Sticking to His Guns; Country Threatened by Disease and Hunger as New Strikes Impend; Destruction of Crops Caused by Hurricane

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Two American warships drew in close to the city today as the revolution-torn regime set up eleven days ago made hurried but complete preparations to withstand a rumored revolt.

The vessels which came here to protect American lives and interests at once established heliographic communications using lights atop the United States Embassy and aboard the craft.

Cavalry reinforcements, a mobile arsenal on a truck, extra guards and machine gun units were placed about the presidential palace as reports persisted that civil anti-government forces and soldiers prepared to fight.

An army truck brought rifles and ammunition to headquarters of the A. B. C. radical society members, who thereupon went to police quarters as reinforcements supporting President Martin.

In the face of these and other preparations the executive declared "everything is all right; I am staying where I am."

Reliable sources predicted that a climax was fast approaching in the many troubles the President and his supporters have had.

Other storm clouds were defiant refusals from nearly all Cuban industrialists to let the Secretary of the Treasury Manuel Despalgines levy taxes.

Threats of disease and famine over large area near desolation because of the hurricane September 1st.

A gloomy outlook for sugar, Cuba's principal products. Strikes, labor unrest, violence, disorder and bloodshed.

Increasing lawlessness which police and soldiers were powerless to halt.

PEBBLES SHOT THROUGH BEACH HOTEL WINDOWS. Elizabeth City, N. C., Sept. 21.—Pebbles were thrown through the windows of the Croatan camp hotel at Narragansett on Saturday just like bullets, leaving small holes without shattering the window-panes. This story is vouched for by Braxton Dawson, coca-cola bottler of Elizabeth City, who was among the first visitors to the beach after the hurricane.

COTTON MEN GET HEARING

President Gives Ear To Needs of the South at Conference At Noon

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt advised the cotton conference today he would see a delegation of not more than fifteen at noon. The cotton men, hesitant about disturbing the President because of recent indisposition, sent Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, to the White House to confer with the President's secretaries about the impending agreement.

LEAF SIGNUP COMES TO END

Pitt County Total Nears 50,000 Mark As Final Contracts Are Received

The tobacco acreage reduction campaign which was launched by the Federal Government the last two weeks as a means of boosting prices of bright leaf, came to a close last night at midnight, and reports in the office of the local farm office show what has been shown all along that Pitt County has gone over the top and is ready to take the hurdle for anything else affecting the economic life of the growers.

The greatest bright leaf tobacco growing county in the world, the home of the largest auction tobacco market, had virtually signed up 50,000 acres on the basis of contracts in the office of the farm director.

The total sign-up, not including approximately 2,000 acres owned by the two land banks of the State, was given as 47,742.58 with several more contracts received from outside the county yet to be added to the list. The names of 2,914 growers were involved in the final total.

If the land bank acreage of over a hundred farms in this county is added to the total it will be near the 50,000 mark as previously estimated by farm leaders.

The campaign here was described as one of the most successful in the tobacco-growing States, and Pitt County claims the honor of being the first to go over the top as the government drove ahead with plans to bring relief to growers.

The tobacco holiday will be lifted next Monday, the governor has stated, and money will begin flowing into the pockets of growers as the weed is marketed.

The sign-up by townships follows:

THREE BACKS STAND OUT AT UNIVERSITY

Chapel Hill, Sept. 21.—Captain Bill Croom, Don Jackson and Charlie Woolten, Jr., had established themselves today as the leading candidates for three of the positions in the backfield Carolina will start in the opening game with Davidson here September 30.

But except for Croom, who is the outstanding back on the squad and one of the most dangerous runners in the state, the advantage was a small one which might be wiped out by an afternoon's good work by another candidate or an afternoon's "winging on the part of one of these boys.

Woolten is the only letter sinner called, but he is getting intense competition from Eddie Martin, a cocky little reserve with all sorts of dash and fire. Harry Montgomery, who was the star of the freshman running attack last year, and the reserve, Watt Jones, are other men with whom he must reckon.

Although Jackson's hard and clever running has been one of the big features of most of the early scrimmages, the driving reserve will have a hard job holding his advantage over Henry Burnett and Alan McDonald, when these two boys return to shape. Burnett is a letterman and a neat runner, but a Charley-horse has him slowed down in the present. McDonald flashed much form and ability in scrimmage last week, but has been benched for the last few days with a hip injury.

The fourth position in the backfield is very much unsettled. Jim McCaughren, a sophomore, and Charlie Shaffer, a reserve, are leading the fight at present. Their past work stamps both boys as good prospects as blocking backs. McCaughren has done the better running in scrimmage to date, but Shaffer has shown lots of drive at times. Both boys weigh in the neighborhood of 170 pounds, so that there is no weight advantage, and the two are left to fight it out on even terms.

Other backs who may grab the selection of leading candidates at any time are Kay Thompson, who is a letterman and the reserve, Mack Bell, George Moore and Odell Childers. Bell has been showing great drive. Childers reeled off a beautiful 65-yard run in a recent scrimmage, but it seriously handicapped by being virtually without previous football experience in high school or college.

in the Series

CARL HUBBELL

This is the fourth of a series sketches on individual stars of the New York Giants and Washington Senators, world series rivals.

New York.—(AP)—Ty Cobb, when he was managing Detroit, sent Carl Hubbell back to the tall timber, with the warning that he never would be a big league pitcher if he insisted upon fooling around with his "screw ball."

That same "screw ball" today is the most dreaded delivery in the National League. Upon it hinge most of the hopes of the Giants in their approaching World Series with Washington's slugging Senators.

If the Senators' bats can be silenced, the tall, slender left-hander from Oklahoma is the man who will do it. He is certain to start two games in the big series and might appear as many times more in relief roles. He is the Giants' ace in the hole.

One of the Greatest Pitching records have fallen like duck pins before Hubbell's assault this summer. Ten of his first 20 victories were shutouts. Any day he allowed more than one run his mates began looking around for a doctor. The man must be sick!

In addition to the many complete games he has hurled, Carl has been the most active relief pitcher on the staff. He looks a little frail, but it's an optical illusion. He has "miraculous control for a southpaw." In fact, Terry doesn't regard him as a left-hander in the true sense of the word.

"He's just a great pitcher," declares Bill. "He's equally effective against left and right hand batters. I'm glad we haven't had to hit against him this year."

Born at Carthage, Mo., 30 years ago, Hubbell kicked around in the minors and majors, before he finally mastered his "screw ball" while pitching for Beaumont of the Texas League in 1928.

The Giants grabbed him for a reported price of $40,000, and he won for McGraw from the start. He pitched the only no-hit, no-run game of the 1929 major league season.

PIGEON COURSING POPULAR ON BANKS OF MISSISSIPPI

Moline, Ill.—(AP)—The sport of pigeon racing, harking back to the days of ancient Rome, still thrives along the banks of the Mississippi. The sport first was introduced here by Belgian immigrants about 1890. Now Moline has more than 100 devotees.

During the summer, races of from 10 to 1,000 miles are held weekly. If weather conditions are satisfactory, the birds can reach home from a distance of 500 miles within one day.

SCOTLAND NECK DRYS PLAN THEIR CAMPAIGN Scotland Neck, N. C., Sept. 21.—A meeting of the dry forces of Scotland Neck Township was held in the Baptist Church here Monday evening at 8 o'clock, with a large crowd present. Plans were made for working in the campaign and officers were elected as follows: President, Hugh Johnson; secretary, R. L. Hardy. Other meetings will be held in the near future and convincing speakers are expected from time to time.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

The national tennis championships not only revealed the necessity for rebuilding the United States Davis Cup forces for 1934, with the future of Vines uncertain and Allison apparently on the downgrade, but demonstrated that Australia is fast returning to the stage where the Aussies can challenge on even terms with any tennis-playing country.

Australia has developed at least two phenomenal youngsters in Adrian Quist, age 20, and Vivian McGrath, now only 17 and forfeited with a two-handed backhand that may prove a revolutionary stroke. Either may be ripe to stand with the great Jack Crawford in the singles next season, with one or the other paired in the doubles with Don Turnbull, another sturdy product of the Antipodes.

Crawford's class is already well established and there seems no reason why he should not stay around long enough to play a dominating part in recapturing the Davis Cup.

Too Self-Satisfied The United States will multiply its over-confidence of 1933, merely because of a feeling that it has been "jinxed" at Paris and that all will be much better on the turf of Wimbledon next year.

The truth is that Australia right now looks to be better fortified with star tennis players, of Davis Cup calibre, than the U. S. A. Our lads will be lucky to get beyond the interzone finals next season, in all probability, even if Vines remains an amateur and Frank Shields continues his come-back.

The unfortunate fact is that too many of our tennis leaders have the idea, first, that we have the best players in the world, and second, that we have a decided advantage on grass over most any rivals.

Our successes at Wimbledon are pointed to and even the chairman of the Davis Cup committee suggests that the circumstances will be happier from the American viewpoint, with the shift of the cup defense from France to England.

Happier for whom? Crawford topped the Wimbledon singles list this year and the French captured the men's doubles there. Perry and Austin, who performed so brilliantly together on the en-but-cas courts of Roland Garros, certainly cannot be any worse off at home. Probably they will be very tough, indeed, for all challengers.

Pros Losing Out The professional tennis picture for 1934 is still far from clear, owing to the uncertainties as to just what, if anything, is to be gained by any amateur star who turns pro and just who, is anyone among the brighter lights, is going to make the big leap this fall or winter.

There has been a lot of superfluous ballyhoo for the fading Frenchman, Henri Cochet, who would not even think of turning pro were it not for the fact he is through with Davis Cup competition. It is a trifle late to "build up" a fresh rivalry between those old stagers, Cochet and Big Bill Tilden. They need new blood, someone like Vines, to stimulate the professional prospects, but the tall Californian, no longer national champion, probably has now been well advised to look before he leaps.

So He Keeps His Job Los Angeles, Calif.—(AP)—Arnold Fisher, chauffeur for District Attorney Byron Fitts, has been driving cars for county officials eighteen years, covering more than 1,500,000 miles without a serious accident.

FRERCKS WILL SUIT BEING TRIED IN ROWAN Salisbury, Sept. 21.—Rowan Superior Court, Judge John Olesby presiding, is hearing the case of the will of the late Mrs. Frances K. Frercks. Efforts are being made to set the will aside and the case is being warmly contested. The will distributed among churches, schools, charitable institutions and friends a sum total of over a hundred thousand dollars. Distant cousins of Mrs. Frercks who were ignored in the will are endeavoring to prove that she was not of sound mind and that the will is not the last will and testament of the deceased.

STATE FINDS FINE LOOKING FULL BACKS

College Station, Raleigh, Sept. 21.—Early practice periods of freshman football candidates at N. C. State College have disclosed three unusually good looking fullbacks all weighing around 190 pounds. They are Odell Smothers, of Winston-Salem, Mason Burr of Angier, and Jess Tatum of McCoil. S. C. Tatum is a cousin of Jim Tatum, now playing tackle at Carolina.

The appearance of these students indicates that State College will be well fortified at full after Mope Cumiskey and Ray Rex have passed on.

Frank Cumiskey, 205 lb. younger brother of Mope Cumiskey, State captain and all-State fullback, is numbered among the freshman fullbacks, but on account of his speed and his ability to pass and punt, will probably be used as a left halfback.

Roscoe Roy and Lawrence McCulley, members of the backfield, will face boys from their own home towns when State meets Catawba College here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 on Riddick Field.

Roy, diminutive right halfback, hails from Louisville, Ky., as does Pearson, Catawba end, and McCulley, junior quarterback, is from Lepoir, also the home of Best, Catawba halfback.

The announcer of the State College-Catawba football game here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 on Riddick Field will have his troubles in pronouncing some of the names of the players on the Catawba team. For instance, how would you say these: Appahittis, Vawensky, Delbert Reiser, Zammello, Mached, Seldom, Vistro, Cesares, Diefenderfer and Dingles.

BIG COMBINED CIRCUS COMMING

Greenville and vicinity will have an opportunity next Saturday, Sept. 30 of seeing for the first time, the biggest combined circus and wild animal exhibition on the road. Combined with the World Bros. circus is the Buffalo Ranch Wild West and the Buckley Bros. Trained Wild Animal circus and the whole forms a monster popular priced show.

The combined shows will exhibit on the Winslow Field, Dickinson Ave., at two and eight o'clock p. m. The circus and trained animal show is an off shoot of the well known Walter L. Main circus with which it was consolidated all the past summer. The Main circus closed in Wilmington, Del., last week and the present circus was assembled for a tour of the south to last as long as the weather permits. It is an old fashioned one ring affair with a large steel arena in which Capt. Walker, Beatty's only rival, will battle with a group of monster forest bred Nubian lions. The captain concludes his remarkable and thrilling performance by forcing eight of the lions to leap through hoops of fire. There are performing elephants, camels, dogs, goats and pigs and a feature circus program presenting the Yousepp troupe of whirlwind somersault acrobats, Dorendo who does somersaults on the wire, the Nelson sisters famous acrobats, Buckley's clog dancing horses, and Ann Metz, a dainty equestrienne.

There is also a wild west with several noted champions including Jim Hughes, making four and six horse catches, Bill Pickett, a bull dogger, Tex Chometo, trick and fancy rider, Joe Clark, Australian whip cracker, and "Buck" Reed, the popular western screen star, who gives a duplicate of some of the riding stunts that made him famous in pictures.

The circus is showing at popular prices, 25 cents to all and one tickets admits to all.

Person, Coaxed To Pitch Piles Up Mound Victories

Cleveland, O.—(AP)—A tall right-hander, who plays the guitar and sings hot-rod times when it is not his day to pitch, is making life a little easier for the Cleveland Indians.

The Indians, who cracked up in mid-season and then recovered, owe much of their recent winning streak to young Monte Pearson.

Down at the Lake Profit Stadium fans would just about as soon see Monte stroll out to the mound to start a game as any of their favorite hurlers—Oral Hildebrand, Mel Harder or Wesley Ferrell.

The ease is that after joining the club from Toledo in July when the team was in a bad slump Pearson won eight games in his first 10 starts. One of his losses was due to errors in the field, and another was by the score of 3 to 1. In seven weeks of campaigning he had an earned run average of 1.3.

Pearson is a chap who always preferred football and basketball and had to be coaxed out to a baseball diamond at Fresno, Calif., where he attended high school.

And then he had to be coaxed to pitch. He preferred to play first or third base. But the team's only pitcher turned an ankle, and that settled the issue. Pearson became a pitcher, with Duch Leonard, former Boston and Detroit star, teaching him the tricks.

After a little experience with the semi-pro teams, Monte was signed by Oakland and farmed out to Bakersfield, where Louis Guisto, former Cleveland first baseman, really taught him to like the game. After that he was with Phoenix, Arizona and then with Oakland.

Pearson became the property of Cleveland in 1931.

DEAD MAN DENIED FRANCHISE RIGHTS
Kettering, England.—(AP)—A man has been refused the right to go to the beach because he is officially dead. And all his pleas to be resurrected are in vain.

Some time ago he became ill. Doctors thought he was going to die. Officials took the doctor's word for granted and struck him off the list as dead.

But the patient did not die. He recovered and demanded his vote. The Revision court refused to perform miracles. People could not be resurrected, it was said.

So the man must stay dead—minus his vote.

Puro-Pep Gasoline has been improved with higher anti-knock qualities plus Top Cylinder Lubrication. These added features are offered to motorists at no extra cost. It is a long run cost.

Lubricated gasoline does not replace regular motor oil in your car but provides lubrication to the upper cylinder portions of the motor which is not reached by your motor oil. Thousands of motorists have paid an extra price for Top Cylinder Lubricant to mix with their gasoline. This extra value in gasoline means longer motor life and greater mileage.

A Tank Full Will Prove Its Extra Value in Fine Motor Performance

Even in fine motor fuels constant improvement to keep pace with advances made in motor engineering and design is the goal. Puro-Pep... always a leader... now offers two improvements which successfully satisfy the demand for better all-round motor performance plus real economy.

The New Improved Puro-Pep has Higher Anti-Knock and, in addition, is scientifically blended to provide important Top-Cylinder Lubrication. With these improvements Puro-Pep sets a present day standard unsurpassed by any other motor fuel.

In our opinion it is the finest motor fuel we have ever sold. A tank full will prove its extra value in finer motoring performance. You can expect better speed, smooth flowing power, quiet, carbon-free motor operation and better mileage.

On our absolute recommendation, drive up to the nearest Blue-and-White Puro-Pep pump—get a filling of this New improved, balanced motor fuel. Try it a while. Prove to your satisfaction that when you use Puro-Pep you are practicing real economy and getting finer motor performance. After all, only your car can give you the real proof.

Birth Announcement.
Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Hardee announce the birth of a son, Warren Stokes Hardee, on September 19th, 1933.

Junior Woman's Club Meets.
The Junior Woman's Club held its first fall meeting on Friday, September 8th with Mrs. Selma Carson Moore, Mrs. Dow Lassiter and Mrs. C. E. Oakley as hostesses.

Mrs. C. C. Hillson, president, presided at the business session.

Mrs. Moore introduced K. T. Futrell, superintendent of public welfare in Pitt county, who was our speaker for the afternoon. Mr. Futrell made the club a very enlightening talk on the different institutions for delinquents in North Carolina. He gave several interesting incidents of cases that have been benefitted by these institutions.

He especially made clear the fact that the boys and girls who have been inmates of the institutions are, upon release, assisted by the welfare department to find work or a home.

At the conclusion of Mr. Futrell's talk tea and sandwiches were served by the hostesses.

The minutes of the last meeting were read, the roll called, and treasurer's report given.

Mrs. Walter Harrington, club auditor, read the list of points made during the summer months.

Mrs. James Patterson gave a report of the summer school which was operated for six weeks during the summer. She said that the school had been very successfully conducted and thanked the club members for their splendid cooperation.

Mrs. C. W. Porter was elected club reporter. She was asked to make a report each month of one project undertaken by our club and to send it to Mrs. Giles, chairman of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, to be reported in the state club paper.

The club then voted to adjourn. —Reported.

WHICHARD-PADGETT

Hayesville, Sept. 16.—The home of Mrs. C. A. Padgett was the scene of a quiet but impressive wedding this afternoon at 5 o'clock when her daughter, Beulah, became the bride of Willis G. Whichard. The Rev. H. R. Cornelius, pastor of the bride, was the officiating minister. The taking of the vows was a private ceremony attended by members of the family only. Immediately after the nuptials, the wedding party was entertained at a buffet supper.

The house was beautifully decorated with a profusion of fall flowers, with roses, asters and dahlias predominating.

The bride was attractively attired in ivory satin, her only ornament being a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. Her flowers were sweet-hybrid roses.

Miss Wilma Coleman, of Young Harris, Georgia, cousin of the bride, presided at the piano and played "I Love You Truly" before the entrance of the bride party. To the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, the young couple was preceded to the altar by Miss Edna Padgett, sisters of the bride, and her only attendant, who wore a gown of pale pink crepe with a shoulder corsage of pink roses.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. A. Padgett and the late W. E. Padgett, of Hayesville. She is a graduate of Western Carolina Teachers College and of Peabody College. She is one of the outstanding teachers of the state, having won a North Carolina scholarship to Peabody College in 1932.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Ida G. Whichard and the late E. B. Whichard of Stokes, N. C. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and has recently been doing graduate work there. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and served his order as president during his senior year.

After a short honeymoon in the mountains of Western North Carolina, the young couple will be at home in Red Springs, North Carolina, where they are both members of the faculty of the city schools.

RED OAK NEWS
Several things of interest have happened in our community since our last report, but the writer of this column has been on vacation and therefore no news was sent in.

Misses Eva, Dessie and Willard Allen have returned to their homes after having spent most of the summer with relatives in Virginia.

Mrs. Titus Allen attended a family dinner in honor of her father's 77th birthday in Virginia and afterwards he accompanied them home for a short visit.

Miss Willard Allen will begin her duties as a teacher in the Pactolus school Monday morning.

Miss Irma Pollard has had as her guest since last report, Miss Mary Selma Pittman of Middlesex. Miss Pittman is a very charming young lady and we are always glad to have her visit our community.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Tyson and children, John Wyatt and Janice and Miss Charlotte Tyson returned recently from a two weeks visit in New York State. Friends of Mrs. Tyson will be interested to hear that her sisters, Misses Elizabeth and Pauline Conklin, were married while she was at home. They report a most wonderful trip.

We are very sorry to know that the infant baby of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. May was buried last Friday a week ago. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the parents in their bereavement.

Mrs. Ida Credle, the mother of Mrs. Billy May, has been spending some time with her. Mr. and Mrs. Grady Credle and Mrs. Hayes from Swan Quarter, were guests of Mrs. May Sunday. Mr. Credle said that the coast last week did inestimable damage to the crops of that section.

Mrs. Hazard May has had as her guest the past week, her mother, Mrs. Milton Credle, also from Swan Quarter.

Hubert Crawford recently returned from an extended trip to New York, Canada and other points north.

We are looking forward with great interest to our home-coming day next Sunday, Sept. 24. Dinner will be served on the grounds and we are extending an invitation to our friends and neighbors and especially to former members of our church to be present and help us enjoy this occasion. We will have Sunday school at ten o'clock, services by our pastor at eleven o'clock and

Machinery Sense

By BROOKE PETERS, CHURCH
In teaching our children how to approach life it must be remembered always that, while much emphasis can and should be laid on the handicraft and usages of former times—such as weaving, pottery, carpentry and hand sewing, we are living in a machine age.

It is necessary and proper that from the outset children should be made to some extent acquainted with machinery and its care and operation, since none of them can escape having at some time to use and depend upon it.

To my mind mechanical toys are most useful to children when they have been broken and can be taken apart and looked at. An old clock that has no value as a time piece is an excellent toy for a rainy day; for to take it apart requires time and concentration, and the resultant heap of miscellaneous and complicated parts may well arouse a child to an interest in their construction.

There is as definite a feeling for machinery as for animals. Some people have it and some do not. But I suspect that it is more likely to be found in people who know and are interested in machinery than in those who are not.

The boy or girl, for example, who has this feeling will not overdrive or maltreat a car, and is likely to be more careful on the road than the one who accepts machinery as an inexplicable but convenient feature of modern life, to be worked to the limit and then scrapped.

If we are to live by, with and from machines in the future, the children should at least be informed about their management and treatment as early as possible—and the girls quite as much as the boys. Certainly it would make them more intelligent as well as more useful citizens.

dinner at twelve. A program is being prepared for the afternoon.

Several cars left the neighborhood yesterday to go to New Bern. Among them were R. R. Tyson's, F. L. Allen's, G. L. Allen's and Hubert Crawford's.

Hearts are all a-flutter this morning—school has begun. Some of our boys and girls will go to Winterville, some to Greenville, some to Arthur and several will enter college this week. Among those entering college are Inez Allen, Ada Gold Manning, Rubelle Vandiford and Clifton Crawford.

Our Sunday school was very fortunate to have as our guest yesterday at Sunday school, Mr. Jack Spain. He made a very timely talk. He urged us to stand by our President with his N. R. A., and along with these letters to add R. M. E. (Religion, Morality and Education). He said that it would take all these to bring prosperity back to our nation and the world. We extend a hearty invitation to Mr. Spain to visit us again. We had one hundred and seven present yesterday.

Our revival will begin the 26th of September and continue for ten days. Our former pastor, Rev. Lonnie Scarborough, will do the preaching. We hope to have large crowds present.

At the same time that the revival is going on, Mrs. J. B. Spillman will teach a Teacher's Training class just one hour before services. We urge all our young people to join this class, not only of our denomination but others also. We are expecting a wonderful meeting. Mr. Scarborough will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Allen and Mrs. Lizzie Vandiford.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Tyson, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson and Mrs. Herman Allen have returned from a trip through the Shenandoah Valley and to Washington City.

Miss Dorothy Tyson and Joe Tyson spent last week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jenkins.

Little Miss Marjorie Dean Allen and Graham Allen were guests of Mrs. H. P. Tyson last week.

Little Miss Jane Tyson spent last week with Mrs. Amos Jackson at Arthur.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Heath and children spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Edwards.

Friends of Perene Tyson will be sorry to learn that he has been confined to his bed the past week. He has been suffering with a severe carbuncle on his foot.

About fifty people attended choir practice at Red Oak last night. We will practice again tonight at 7:30.

Students in India comprise 3.5 per cent of the population. There are 227,189 schools there.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

DON'T FORCE CHILD TO EAT—MAKE HIS FOOD APPEIZING

The old-fashioned idea that a child must eat everything that is set before him is a debatable point in these days of greater-kindness-to-children.

Of course it is essential that children should eat the right amount of nourishing food, nicely prepared, but forcing all food, whether liked or not, is very apt to result in dislike of a great many foods later in life because of the enforced doses of them in childhood.

It is better to try to make the food sufficiently appetizing and varied, in semblance, at least, so that the child will relish it. Milk, for example, can be given in a number of ways, a touch of cocoa or chocolate transforming it into a delicious "chocolate drink."

To Freshen Pretzels
Pretzels loose their freshness quickly, but they can be heated for five minutes in a moderate oven and they will be as crisp as when first purchased. Pretzels can be served with beverages, soups or salads.

How to Fill Jelly Glasses
Fill jelly glasses 2-3 of an inch from the top. When the jelly has cooled cover it with melted paraffin, tilting the glass or jelly so that the paraffin completely seals the product. The paraffin should be poured from a small tin cup or discarded tea pot. To prevent dust from collecting on the top of the jelly glasses, the tops may be covered with rounds of papers held in place with rubber bands.

DECORATIVE EDIBLE BRIGHTEN THE TABLE
Here is a list of some decorative edibles to brighten the table: Slices of lemon rolled in chopped parsley; celery stuffed with cheese and covered with paprika; ciled celery; stuffed eggs; tiny onions sprinkled lightly with minute pieces of paprika; watercress; pickles; cream or cottage cheese balls sprinkled with paprika; orange or lemon slices; stuffed dates.

A Few Don'ts
Don't mix salads until it is nearly time to serve them.
Don't leave milk or cream bottles without their tops.
Don't throw away scraps of soap. Put them in a soap shaker and they can be used to the very end.

Housekeeping Tips
A pair of tweezers comes in handy when the children's shoelaces are refractory.
When poaching eggs put one teaspoon of vinegar in the boiling water and the eggs will hold together much better.
In mixing cake batter add the flour first and then the milk and this will make a smoother batter.
Honey put in grapefruit in place of sugar gives a flavor as well as the necessary sweetening. Prepare your grapefruit with the honey and then place in the ice-box several hours before eating.
Waxed cake and bread pans with waxed papers and this will aid in preventing the products from sticking.
Keep plenty of waxed paper on hand to use for wrapping the foods for the children's lunches.

How Cardui Helped Lady Get Stronger
"I was in a weak condition when I started to use Cardui," writes Mrs. Oscar West, of Dayton, Texas. "I found it helped me greatly. My appetite was poor and I had lost weight. It was an effort for me to do my work. I felt tired all the time. I read that other women took Cardui as a tonic, so I decided it would help me. It strengthened me and increased my appetite, and I felt better than I had in a long time. I think it is a great medicine for weak women."

TWO ESCAPE JAIL CAMPS

Jack Moore, of Pitt County Among Those Gaining Freedom in Pender

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 21.—(AP)—State Prison was notified by telephone today that five prisoners, including two men serving long terms for second degree murder, escaped from the high way prison camp near Burgaw late yesterday afternoon, but no details were given.

The escape of four other prisoners, including two army men who walked off from the Cherry prison farm near here, was also announced. H. W. Edmondson, convicted last month in Wayne of second degree murder and sentenced from ten to twenty years, and Paul Holmes, sentenced in May, in Harnett County, to twenty-five to thirty years on similar charges, were among those that escaped at Burgaw.

The other three getting away in Pender County were William Jordan, seven to ten years in Buncombe County in 1923 for house-breaking, who had previously escaped and was free three years; James Jenkins, sentenced to ten years in Forsyth County on four charges, and Jack Moore, given three to five years in Pitt County for breaking and entering.

VIGOROUSLY RESIST ONE-SHIFT PROPOSAL
High Point, Sept. 21.—Hosiery labor and mill owners in the full fashioned industry, which is becoming increasingly important in this state, are standing shoulder to shoulder against efforts of northern manufacturers who are seeking to impose a one-shift restriction on footer operations and thereby throw out of employment thousands of workers connected with the industry in this state.

Austin H. Carr of Durham, member of the Hosiery Code Authority, is one of those prominent in the fight for a double shift basis for the footers in the permanent draft of the code, and Mr. Carr is being supported strongly in his efforts by a score or more full fashioned plants in this state.

The fight for a single shift operation of footers is being led by the large mills in the Reading-Philadelphia area, where a vast amount of machinery is idle.

County Enforces NRA Codes
Missouri Valley, Ia.—(AP)—An NRA enforcement system has been adopted by Harrison County consisting of twenty-four units, each with a representative on a county grievance and police committee. Complaints are heard, agreement enforced and tours of inspection made. Plans are being made for a four-county organization.

W. J. Bundy, are responding in every way possible, and are appealing for aid to strengthen their hands by making immediate contributions in money, so that the relief work will not be impeded a single moment. The Red Cross has ever been faithful in the discharge of its duties to all mankind when they are in need of succor, and let us of Greenville and Pitt County give at this time, insofar as we are able, to uphold the great work of this organization.

Relief workers have been sent from national headquarters and relief will be orderly and thorough, and all that is needed at this time is more funds to enable these patriotic people to carry to every one who is suffering the things they have to have to keep body and soul together.

I humbly ask you to take this appeal seriously, and not to let it be said that this great county failed in its duty to her neighbors. Kindly remember that the great God Himself said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." And in this spirit let the good people of this county answer this appeal with a heart full to love to our fellow human beings who are at this time in such terrible distress.

YOUR HELP NEEDED

The Red Cross is issuing a call for funds to aid in the relief work in the storm stricken area on the coast and it is to be hoped that our people will respond as liberally as possible. As reports continue to come in from the storm area the picture of real conditions there grows more horrible. The people of that stricken section are in dire need and it is up to those of us who were fortunate enough to have been missed by the storm, to do our part to aid the sufferers.

Contributions may be made to W. J. Bundy, chairman of Pitt County Chapter Red Cross, or direct to this paper.

The appearance of the young ladies from the college on our streets this week brings to us the realization that the fall season is here despite the fact that our tobacco markets are not running. The college is one of our greatest assets and it is with pleasure that we again welcome the students to our city.

If you are interested in a swimming pool for Greenville be on hand for the meeting at the library at 7:30 tonight to lend your influence in helping to put this project over for Greenville.

Just what action will be taken at the conference in Washington today with regard to the tobacco price situation has not been learned but we are confident that the government is coming through with its part of the bargain to see to it that the farmers get a fair price for their tobacco. The government promised to use its entire resources, if necessary, to procure fair prices for tobacco if the growers would do their part by agreeing to cut acreage. The growers readily carried out their part of the bargain by signing the reduction contracts and we have no fear that the government will come through with its part.

Durham, Sept. 21.—The Lebanon township citizens march on Raleigh to protest against the new state 2-mile school bus law did not occur yesterday. It was rumored, however that revolts will spread to other sections of the county today. Parents in Oak Grove and Loves Grove communities planned to make similar protests. Several families living within two miles of the Holt school yesterday ordered their children to stay at home because the new transportation law forbade the bus to pick them up and take them to and from the school. Sundown Stories

Drifting

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"We can't let the house go to pieces or float away into some watery field," said Willy Nilly. "We must all put on our rain coats and get a lot of rope and fasten its foundations to the trunks of the big pine trees around. They will keep it safe until the flood stops."

Jelly Bear, Honey Bear, Top Notch, the Rooster, Rip, the Dog, and Christopher Columbus Crow put on the rain coats Willy Nilly had made for them some time before as protection against very bad weather. They had never worn the coats, as they were all used to the out-of-doors, but he had thought they might be useful some time.

The Ducks had scorned the idea of rain coats. Now they all helped to tie ropes around the foundations of the house to the big pine trees. Then they dashed through the storm to Top Notch's shed.

It was standing in a newly made pond of water some little distance from its usual spot, having drifted through the flood.

"There won't be room for us in the shed," said Jelly Bear. "We'd better divide up," agreed Willy Nilly, "and you two go to your cave."

So the Bears went through the storm to their cave and the others went into the shed—all except Willy Nilly, who stood up to his knees in water and pushed the shed down to the Ducks' pond. Then he, too, went inside.

Then they began to drift and rock as the wind blew them along. "I hope this shed doesn't collapse," Willy Nilly said.

Urges Farmers To Hold Cotton For Better Prices

Pitt county cotton growers were urged to hold their cotton for higher prices by M. G. Mann in a speech at the court house here yesterday afternoon.

Don't sell a single pound of your cotton at present prices if you can possibly keep from doing so, Mr. Mann told the growers. He pointed out that with the rise in commodity prices a bale of cotton at present price levels will buy no more than a bale of six cent cotton would buy last year.

As indications that cotton prices will rise before another planting time, Mr. Mann pointed to the recent "plow up" campaign which removed several million bales of cotton from this year's crop, the plans for cotton acreage reduction next year, and the increase in cotton consumption as people go back to newly-created-by-NRA jobs.

He pointed out that seed loan borrowers do not have to sell their cotton by October 31 to pay their loans but that the administration has given them the right to store their crop in bonded warehouses for orderly marketing and in so doing warmly endorsed cooperative marketing.

He recalled that seed loan borrowers who collateralized their loans last year with cotton at 91-2c per pound made a profit of from $15 to $18 per bale over those who sold their crop outright at six to seven cents or less per pound.

BUSINESS OF COURT IS RAPIDLY DISPATCHED

Fayetteville, N. C., Sept. 21.—Handling forty-one causes in one day, Judge Isaac M. Meekins and District Attorney W. H. Fisher achieved something of a record when they cleared the entire criminal docket of the Federal District Court in one court day. With three exceptions, the cases concerned prohibition violations. Most of the defendants pleaded guilty and many received light sentences or fines, although some drew as much as eighteen months. Sentences ranged from a fine of $1, imposed on Duffy Williamson, for offense against the dry laws, to three years in Atlanta prison, given Russell Bowden, Fayetteville young man, for participating in the robbery of a safe at Fort Bragg. Bowden previously was convicted and paroled, but the court was informed that he had violated the terms of his probation by committing a misdemeanor in Charlotte.

Hikers Cause Punctures

Waikeshah, Wis. —(AP)—Nails from the soles of hitch-hikers' shoes are causing an epidemic of slow leaks in automobile tires of this section. It has been found by garage workers. The hikers in many instances sole their own shoes imperfectly, and the nails work out of the soles to the highway, where they are picked up by the tires.

ONE KILLED, THREE BRUISED IN AUTOMOBILE MISHAP

Laurinburg, N. C., Sept. 21.—Eugene Malloy, 25, was injured fatally and J. C. Leak, 22, and Howard Gilmore, 25, all three Laurinburg negroes, escaped with minor bruises near Bennettsville, S. C. The three were jailed at Bennettsville, where Malloy died within a few hours.

Outrageous Fortune

by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: A man is picked up after the Alice Arden is smashed by a storm. In the Elston hospital he mumbles in his sleep about something "like a kid's green beads," and repeats the name "Jimmy Riddell," or perhaps it is "Tommy." Nests Riddell goes to the hospital in response to a query broadcast by the authorities, and is taken to the man's bedside. The nurse is called away by an accident; the man continues to mumble, this time about emeralds. Nests, frightened, demands permission to remove the man, who is her husband, she says, and tells her brother Tom, who is waiting in a car outside, what she has done.

Chapter Four DANGER AHEAD

TOM turned the color of a tallow candle.

"The—the emeralds?" "He kept right on about them—how he'd hidden them, and no one else knew where they were. I tell you he kept right on. I've got to get him away before anyone tumbles to what he's talking about."

Tom leaned back against the side of the car and fixed an alarmed gaze upon his sister's face. His eyes were of the same shape and color as Nests'; he had the same straight nose and short dark brows, the same line of cheek and chin. But the driv-

"MISS LEIGH?" said the day nurse.

"Oh yes," said Caroline Leigh in that warm, dark voice of hers.

Someone once said that Caroline's voice was like damask roses. He was an infatuated young man who wrote poetry. Caroline laughed at him kindly but firmly, and all her friends chaffed her about her crimson voice. All the same there was something in it.

"We're up to our eyes," said the day nurse. But she did not say it as firmly as she might have done if Caroline had not been gazing at her with the sort of melting intensity which very few people had been known to resist.

"I know," said Caroline. "And I'm too sorry to bother you, but I've come about the message that was broadcast last night, because I think the man who was picked up may be my cousin, Jim Riddell. And oh, please may I see him?"

The day nurse took the time to look at Miss Caroline Leigh. They were busy in the ward, but perhaps not quite so busy as she had said. The six bus cases were none of them desperately serious, and they had all been got to bed and had their injuries dealt with.

She could spare a moment to look at Miss Leigh, who was very easy

"His wife took him away," said the nurse.

ing force was lacking. He felt the steel teeth of the trap, and struggled ineffectually.

"Look here, Nests—"

She mimicked him.

"Look here, Tommy—"

"Tisn't fair to go bringing me and Min into this. You go off on your own and marry a man we've never so much as set eyes on, and then all in a hurry you come along and tell me he's a crook, and before I know where I am you've dragged me into this Van Berg affair, and there's a man shot and emeralds worth no one knows what missing—and why should I be dragged into it when all I ever did was to lend him my motor-bike? Why, all I saw of him was to hand it over in the dark."

"Hold your tongue!" said Nests sharply. "You won't come to any harm if you do what you're told. Now look here, Tommy, you're not to get rattled. It's not the first little job we've done together—is it?"

"I'm going straight now I'm married—I told you I was."

She patted his arm.

"So you shall. But we've got to get Jimmy away from here. Listen! He came to himself yesterday, and he didn't know a thing—not his name, nor who he is, nor anything. When he's awake that's how he is; but when he's asleep he talks all the time, and the sort of thing he talks about is the sort of thing that'll land you and me in jail. Now you've got it straight—and now you know why I'm not leaving him here to talk. I want my share of those emeralds, and I bet you want yours. You can go straight afterwards as much as you like, but you've got to help me now."

"Nests."

She gave his arm a squeeze.

"Buck up, boy! We'll pull it off. I'll get you safely back to Min—don't you worry. Now give right in—and remember we come from Marley, and all you've got to do is to hold that wheel and keep your tongue between your teeth."

Managers of the eastern area of the American Red Cross will be present on the occasion.

PLANS FOR REOPENING WITHOUT RESTRICTIONS

Littleton, Sept. 21.—Steps are being taken looking to the opening without restrictions of the Bank of Littleton. It is now operating under restrictions. A special in The News and Observer stating that J. Harold Myrick was liquidating agent for several banks including the Bank of Littleton was a complete error as to the latter bank. That bank is not being liquidated but has every prospect of a successful reopening without restriction.

RED CROSS TO HOLD REGIONAL GATHERING

Wilson, N. C., Sept. 21.—The annual regional conference of the American Red Cross will convene here Friday, September 29. Delegates are expected to attend from chapters of the region comprised of forty-five Eastern North Carolina counties—from Alamance to the coast.

person to look at—shining eyes and pretty hair, and a way with her. She was sorry to have to disappoint the eager creature. She didn't look as if she was used to disappointment; she was more like a child that puts out its hands and expects to have them filled with flowers or sweets. "Life isn't like that—well, she'll soon find out," said the day nurse to herself.

"I'm sorry," she said aloud, "but I'm afraid it wasn't your cousin who was here."

"Was?" Caroline was the picture of dismay. "Has he gone?"

"The name was Riddell," said the nurse. "And his wife came and took him away."

"Oh, his wife?"

"We let him go because she seemed so keen on it, and there was a bus smash we had to take in. Mrs. Riddell's one of those people who will have it their own way—at least that's how she struck me. I'm sorry it wasn't your cousin."

"Oh," said Caroline—"so am I."

"He was on the Alice Arden?"

"I don't know. Oh, I hope he wasn't!"

"If you don't know, I should go on hoping," said the day nurse.

Caroline looked at her with shining eyes.

"Yes, I can—can't I? You see, I haven't seen him for a long time—oh, not since I was about fifteen—and he's been all over the world—he's an engineer—and he came home in July, and I was in Scotland. Then he wrote from London, and I wrote back and said why not come and join us. And he said he would. And he was going to come by coastal steamer because he liked the sea."

"Then you don't know that he was on the Alice Arden?"

"No. But I'm afraid, because he hasn't written. You're sure it wasn't Jim?"

The nurse nodded.

GREENVILLE MARKET

REPORT

Markets Reopen Monday

Information has reached us that no market in South Carolina will open until next Monday, date now set for reopening of all tobacco markets following conference of buying companies with government officials in Washington, D. C., today.

We urge that you do not rush your tobacco to market, as we look for prices to strengthen as the season progresses.

We wish to congratulate the tobacco growers for their quick response to the government's request for your assistance in curtailing production of flue cured tobacco during 1934-1935. It is marvelous that so much has been accomplished in such a brief time.

The growers should be praised for their patience during these trying days. The government assures you better prices as your reward. Examine your tobacco carefully. Keep it dry and don't rush it to market.

Tune in on Greenville's Radio Station WEED every day (except Sunday) at 9:45 A. M., 12:45 P. M. and 5:45 P. M., for latest tobacco market reports. Will find it on your dial around 142 or 1420.

GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER IN KIDNAP PLOT

Abductors Threaten Peggy Landon of Kansas if Father Refuses to Free Gang

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 21.—(AP)—A plot in which his 16-year-old daughter, Peggy Landon, was to have been held prisoner until he granted executive clemency to members of the notorious Harvey-Wilbur Underhill gang now confined in the Kansas penitentiary, was made public today by Governor Alf M. Landon.

While denying the receipt of an actual threat, the governor said "so much confirmatory evidence has been disclosed by investigators that guards have been maintained at the executive mansion."

Miss Landon, attractive high school senior, has been under the surveillance of guards since the plot was revealed to the governor more than three weeks ago.

I Like a Figh' Says Girl Lured From Society To Law

"I LIKE A FIGHT" SAYS GIRL, Columbus, Ga.—(AP)—You won't find Louise Hart giving all her time to society from now on. That may be all right for others. As for her—Miss Hart, 21, has chosen a career in criminal law. The gay social life must take second place.

Takes Career Seriously

That doesn't mean that she will put social activities entirely out of the picture—she's still president of the Cotillion Club—but it does mean that, having passed the Georgia bar examination, she plans to follow the profession of criminal law seriously.

So far as attorneys here have learned, she is the only woman lawyer in Georgia to choose criminal law rather than civil practice. Asked her reason for this choice, Miss Hart replied:

"Because I love people. I want to get out and mix with them, to feel the throbs of life, even when it is ugly, rather than delve through dusty books."

She is descended from a line of distinguished lawyers on her paternal side. She is a niece of Judge Samuel H. Sibley, and a descendant of Judge Hart, whose name is known throughout legal circles of this section.

Miss Hart is a graduate of Miss H. Ridge's school for girls at Plainfield, N. J., and did her college work at Vassar.

Three Cases Waiting

She had three cases waiting for her when she took her oath as a member of the Columbus bar.

"It is doubly hard for a woman," she said, "for she has so much prejudice to overcome. To succeed she has, not only to be as good as a man, but better. She has to make the public forget her sex and that isn't an easy thing to do. But I like a fight."

Brazilian Presidential Tour Strengthens Election Hopes

Rio, De Janeiro.—(AP)—A combined political-administrative trip to northern Brazil by Provisional President Getulio Vargas, further strengthened his constitutional presidential possibilities, and clinched the already strong position he has enjoyed in that region.

The trip, first to northern Brazil by a chief executive since the republic was proclaimed in 1889, started at Victoria, Espirito Santo, where Governor Punaro Bley declared the entire region would back Senator Vargas for the legal presidency.

The president will be elected by the constitutional assembly called for November 15. Vargas, a liberal from Rio Grande do Sul in the extreme south, seems assured of the backing of deputies from his native region. He has been in power since the liberal revolution he headed overthrew the conservative regime headed by Washington Luis of Sao Paulo in 1930.

Governors of Pernambuco and Parana in the north, also have announced support of Vargas. Pernambuco city and Para city, besides other important ports between Rio de Janeiro and the equator, are on the presidential schedule. The trip will end in mid-September.

During his voyage, Vargas' program called for four speeches, dedication of a monument in Parahyba, inspection of the federal drought relief program in the northeastern states of Ceara, Rio Grande do Norte, Parahyba and Pernambuco.

The north, under previous regimes, clamored for more federal attention in improving transportation, communications, and serving periodic drought problems.

Five - SPOT TAKEN FOR RIDE BY CROW AND DOG

Salt Lake City, (AP)—Money is too scarce to be "thrown to the birds," Archie Browning believes, so he regarded it as more expediting than funny when a per-crow belonging to a highway engineer seized a $5 bill from his hand and made off with it skyward.

At an altitude of about 200 feet the bill came wafting downward only to be seized by a playful puffed-up, which rumped away with it. It took a lot of coaxing to get back the bill.

CUBA—POLITICAL VOLCANO

In a setting of seething unrest, swift changes have taken place in Cuba's government during the past few weeks. First, Cerardo Machado was ousted from the presidency in a revolt that put Carlos Manuel de Cespedes in the presidential palace. Then suddenly another coup placed Cuba under a junta composed of five men, the four being Porfirio Franco, Sergio Carbó, Dr. Guillermo Fortela and Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin (left to right). Cuban revolutionists are shown placing a machine gun at a strategic point. Machado and de Cespedes appear at the upper left.

Moving Big Cities To The Country

Washington.—(AP)—America's cities gradually would be supplanted by long lines of houses and buildings running across the open country under the scheme called "Roadtown" proposed by Edgar Chambless of New York.

Roadtown works somewhat on the principle of a skyscraper apartment house laid down on its side. The houses, stores, theatres, churches and other buildings, laid side by side, would be connected by a continuous roadway running beneath, through their first stories. Lawns, gardens and farms would cover the land on both sides of the lines of houses.

Farm and Factory Work

Families living in the houses would find employment on the farms and in de-centralized factories located at intervals along the lines of dwellings and in garages that provide home workshop factories.

The Roadtown scheme, advanced as one of many housing reform plans submitted to the government, has been endorsed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and other officials.

Farmers and industrial workers alike could live in the Roadtowns which would combine the advantages of city and country life and do away with the congestion and dirt of cities and the isolation and comparative primitiveness of many farm homes.

Roads Easy to Maintain

The central roadway, running under the lines of buildings, would provide a place for laying sewers, hot water heating lines, water pipes, gas lines, electric light, power and telephone lines. Protected from the weather by the buildings above the streets would be the less expensive to maintain and the utility lines less expensive to maintain and install, the sponsors say.

A "skywalk" or open-air promenade would run along the tops of the lines of buildings. Playgrounds, tennis courts and other recreation facilities would be located at intervals. Flights of steps would connect the street with the buildings, above and with the outside, and small elevators or dumb-waiters could be used for delivering goods from the street level to the buildings.

The houses would be about 25 feet wide and one or more stories high depending on whether the emphasis is laid on suburban or farm life. Chambless believes, however, that if the scheme is put into operation, the average Roadtown would be two stories.

Among the advantages cited for Roadtown are cheap cost of building the units, socialization of the land, diversification of industry, revival of home industry, return to a more natural life, maintenance of America's original ideals with all men in dependent and self-supporting.

NORWEGIANS DEVELOPING NEW WHALE MEAT FLOUR

Soviet Glider Sets Record

Koktebel, Crimea, U. S. S. R.—(AP)—What is claimed here as a world's record for distance traveled in a glider towed by an airplane has been set by Boris Yudin, Soviet glider pilot, who was pulled 3,550 kilometers (approximately 2,130 miles) from Orenburg, on the western border of the Kazakhstan Republic, to Koktebel via Moscow.

New Eruption Shows Strength Of Secret Societies And Youth

Note—This is the last of two articles giving the background to the present disturbance in Cuba.

By NOEL THORNTON

New York.—(AP)—Seeking to establish a responsible government, the 4,300,000 people of Cuba are going about the task of uniting the myriad centipede legs of their numerous political parties.

There is a different political machine for virtually every profession and belief. As evidence of the vast divergence of political parties that wield influence: ABC, Nationalists, Menocalists, ORRC, OCCR, OCCR, UCR, Communists, Directorio Estudiantil, and Young Liberals.

ABC and ORRC Important

Of these, the ABC and ORRC, because of their radical revolutionary tendencies, appear important factors in Cuba's task of forging an administration that will be supported by both the military and private citizens.

The ABC is a secret society composed largely of students and soldiers which long carried on a vigilante type of campaign and combined with the force of a general strike, eventually led to the overthrow of the Machado regime. Their strongest support is in Havana, Santiago and other urban centers.

Although because of their extreme secrecy it is difficult to determine exactly, the ORRC appears to be almost as strong as the ABC.

Land Division Proposed

The ORRC is strictly an organization of rural labor, and its chief platform is for a division of land. Its members would like to break up the huge sugar plantations and turn the smaller tracts back to the small scale agricultural workers.

The radical military units which seized the government from former President de Cespedes is in sympathy with the ABC, although that organization continues its policy of secrecy and vigilance patrol.

Junta Largely Professional

The committee controlling the government is composed of men whose professions are largely represented in the ABC. Guillermo Portela and Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin are college professors, while Porfirio Franco is a banker. Jose Izarrari is a lawyer, although his claim for sympathy of the ORRC might be based on his fostering of the land division plan. Sergio Carbó, young editor, is spoken of as an extremely powerful dark horse leader who might succeed eventually as head of a new regime.

Communists apparently have gained some influence, but it is believed that if they became too powerful they would be opposed by the military.

Cooperate With Youth Movements

Of the older generation of political powers, the Nationalists, headed by Carlos Mendeta, and the Menocalists, headed by former President Carlos Menocal, are most important. However, they have been, to a certain extent, co-operating with such youth movements as the A'BC, ORRC and OCCR (a recently formed student party).

One thing stands clear in the uprising of these new political powers—they have been largely supported by students and soldiers. The new Cuba apparently is destined to be a product of the youth movement.

Il Duce Controls New Competition To Insure Profit

Rome.—(AP)—Il Duce has tightened control over Italian industry by setting up machinery to keep out new competition in fields he considers already amply served.

Where, in a figurative sense, there is not enough food for more than the immediate family, Mussolini closes the doors to outsiders. It is better for all, he holds, to have a well nourished few than a half-famished many in industry.

Committee Watches Industry

The machinery is made up of a committee whose permission must be obtained before any new industrial enterprise may be inaugurated. The committee keeps a close watch on industry as compared with the market.

If, for instance, it finds there is not room for another competitor in the automobile manufacturing business, it refuses to permit installation of any new automobile plant. This assures the manufacturers against a further division of their field.

Only Recently Applied

Some time has elapsed since the plan was announced, but it has only now been put to practical application. Alberto Asquini, under-secretary of corporations, heads the committee.

Representatives of several other government departments and of the principal Fascist employers' and labor associations are members. Final word in matters of supreme importance always rest with Mussolini.

Celery and Beef Soup (Using leftovers)

1/2 cup chopped cooked meat
1/4 cup rice
One roast bone
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 cup diced carrots
6 cups water

Mix ingredients. Cover and cook slowly one hour. Remove meat bone, serve.

If soup is too thick it can be thinned by adding another cup of water. This is an excellent way to use up a left-over roast bone.

Vermont Cake

1/2 cup fat
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups pastry flour
3 teaspoons baking powder

Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of ingredients and beat 2 minutes. Pour into 2 layer cake pans lined with waxed papers, bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Cool and frost.

Frosting

1 cup maple syrup
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup nuts

Mix maple syrup, sugar and cream. Boil gently, stirring frequently, until soft ball forms when portion is tested in cold water. Remove from stove, let stand 15 minutes. Add vanilla, beat until creamy. Frost cake. Sprinkle top with nuts. Other nuts can be used.

Fad For Shorts Ousts Pajamas On The Riviera

Nice.—(AP)—Shorts are crowding pajamas off men, women and children along the Riviera, where search for the unusual is an important occupation.

Shorts were frowned down last year, but now they are worn at dances, on the beach and even on the street. Pajamas almost obscured skirts, but now shorts have their day.

The ban on shorts last year was imposed by the tennis authorities because they were worn with sketched bathing suits designed for sun baths. This year launching of shorts at Wimbledon and Paris Davis Cup matches broke down resistance. The censors compromised with their scruples by authorizing shorts if worn with tennis shirts.

Word that Helen Jacobs wore shorts in the recent Forest Hills national women's tennis championship touched off the somewhat suppressed desire of the play-crowd, and the fever has spread. On tennis courts shorts are common. They appear increasingly on golf courses at dances and are trying to make pajamas seem prudish and old-fashioned on the sand.

Tells How She Lost 15 Lbs. of FAT

Rheumatism Gone Too

Here is a woman who was rapidly putting on weight and who was troubled with rheumatism too. Read her letter:

"I started taking Kruschen Salts because of the good it had done for a friend of mine who had been crippled with rheumatism. At the end of the second bottle, I was weighed and find I am now only 148 pounds (original weight 163 lbs.) at which I am so pleased. But I have also felt my rheumatism much less, which has been so troublesome in my knees. I must say I think Kruschen a splendid weight reducer." (Miss) E. L. P.

Overweight and rheumatic poisoning often go together. The six salts in Kruschen assist the internal organs to perform their functions properly—little by little that ugly fat goes; slowly, yes—but surely. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful and energetic—more so than ever before in our life!

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all drug stores—a jar lasts four weeks and costs not more than 85c. Pitt Drug Co.—(Adv.)

"BOMBAYO" THRILLING ACT WITH HAGENBECK-WALLACE

Direct from India comes "Bombayo" one of the outstanding 1933 features with the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, coming to Greenville on Friday Sept. 22nd, whose feats on the bounding-rope astound and electrify.

For the first time in history, the plasticly woven "Bombo" has been utilized by The Man From India, and the idea perfected for thrilling and daring acrobatics high in the air.

The great "Bombayo" performs what no other person ever before accomplished on a bounding-rope—a double somersault without losing his balance on the rapidly bounding rope. The presentation is both thrilling and spectacular.

The huge circus with its great assemblage of sensational attractions, including the famous Clyde Beatty, world's greatest wild animal trainer, who appears as a person in the most breath-taking wild animal display of all time, opens its performances with a gorgeous spectacle, "Cleopatra Queen of Egypt", in which over 1,000 people and animals take part.

TEACHERS TO SHOW STRONG GRID OUTFIT

Although this is only the second year football has been played at East Carolina Teachers College, it is thought by those who have seen the squad that the opponents of the Teachers will have a hard time beating them.

Ken Beatty, a former Guilford and State College athlete, will again coach the team. Beatty has coached all athletics at the college since intercollegiate games have been played.

At the first practice 38 boys reported for workout; ten of these were lettermen. The team will average about 170 pounds.

Among the boys reporting were several of the outstanding high school players in Eastern North Carolina; and several transfers from other colleges.

Among those who attended first practice were: Baxter Ridenhour, who was at Rutherford Junior College last year; Frank Jennings, former Wake Forest student; James Morgan, Oak Ridge; Bill Puckett, Roanoke College; Theo Eason, Campbell College; Jack Nobles, Citadel; John Kapelec, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Preston Smith, W. O. Summerell, Tom Dennis; Jimmie Speight, C. O. Armstrong, Dan Wright, Henry Rivers, Jr., Tom Rivers, Paul Power, Jimmie Johnston, Milton Cox, Rufin Davis, Wayland Sermon; J. Wester Hodge, and Howard Waldrop.

Trading was quieter than yesterday but many stop orders were uncovered on the decline to 9.81 for December and liquidation appeared to be more or less general.

At the end of the first half hour December was selling around 9.94 with the list showing a decline of about 10 to 16 points. The decline extended to 9.89 for December later in the morning with general list showing losses of 25 points.

The market trended toward mid day with continued demand from the trade but hovering.

At noon December was selling at 9.90 and May 10.38 with market holding lower at about 10 to 19 points.

The market declined further late in the day under liquidation and selling.

Futures closed steady muddling 9.65.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Security market skies were again overcast today and only an occasional ray of optimistic sunshine broke through the lowering trade clouds.

A continuation of yesterday's sharp liquidation lapped over into the early hours, but prices of both stocks and bonds broke one to three or more points before some support stemmed the tide.

A number of leading shares got back part of their morning losses. Some of the more depressed utility stock displayed resistance, notably Public Service of New Jersey which moved up a point each. The rails were heavy most of the time, declines of one to two or more points being shown by New York Central and Santa Fe. The metal retrieved some of their lost ground. Among losers of fractions to around a point or more were American Can, Dupont, Allied Chemical, Western Union, Chrysler, General Motors and U. S. Industrial Alcohol.

Sales totaled 3,661,284 shares.

SEES FOR THE TIME

A "COTTON THRESHER"

Benson, N. C., Sept. 21.—A Pennsylvania tourist who had never been South before, learned a few things about cotton Tuesday evening. His interest aroused by the large number of wagons and trucks of cotton, awaiting their turn at a local gin, he decided to stop and go on a trip of inspection through the gin.

Entering the gin, he stood open-eyed before one of the huge machines which separates the lint cotton from the seed.

Finally, he turned to the foreman of the gin, and observed: "So this is a cotton-thresher, eh?"

COUNTY COURT ENDS SITTING

Over Two Dozen Cases Disposed of in Two-Day Hearing This Week

Ten cases were disposed of in the second day session of county court yesterday, bringing the total for the two-day setting to around two dozen.

The actions ranged all the way from assault to selling whiskey and numbers of defendants either found their way to the roads or were required to pay fines.

Joe Langley, colored, who has been before the court before on a charge of dealing in whiskey, was sentenced to six months on the roads on a similar charge.

Frank Artis, colored, charged with attacking a colored woman with an axe, was sentenced to 12 months on the roads.

Bennie Whitley, who hails from the Fountain community, was given six months on a charge of larceny.

Thomas Cannon paid $50 and cost for driving an automobile while drunk.

Convicted of a charge of selling whiskey, Willis Little, was sent to the roads for four months.

Ninety days was the sentence meted out to William Little, charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Addie Cotton, convicted of having liquor for sale, was sent out to the county home to spend four months.

Dr. C. R. Graves, colored, spending $25 and cost.

Gentry Purvis, colored, was given four months for carrying a concealed weapon.

John Allen Stocks, colored, was required to pay a doctors bill and cost on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Leroy Hemby, held in the same case, was adjudged not guilty.

Pearlie Thomas and Frank Mabry, colored, assault, had judgment suspended.

was doing all he could to push expansion of credit and he was holding on to the currency inflation.

Senator Bankhead said the press took under consideration the proposal to buy half the cotton crop. He indicated an early decision was in prospect.

Threat in Urschel Hearing.

Oklahoma, City, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Fred Coleman, son of T. M. Coleman, at whose farm near Stratford, Okla., the government alleges that Charles Urschel kidnaping plot was hatched, told Federal Judge Edgar F. Vaughn today that George "Machine Gun" Kelly appeared at the Coleman farm last night and threatened death to the Colemans and the Shannons.

Judge Vaughn declined to comment on the statement of the 35-year-old farmer but other federal officials in the Urschel case indicated they were partly inclined to the theory that the incident was not wholly genuine.

Wiley Post Hurt

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Wiley Post, round-the-world flier, was seriously injured when his plane, the Winnie Mae, crashed today at the local airport as he was taking off.

Post was rushed to a hospital where Dr. E. L. Caddick said his injuries were severe but not critical.

The Winnie Mae, in which Post flew around the world in seven days, eighteen hours and fifty seconds will have to be rebuilt.

The crash occurred while Post, who is on a speaking tour, was taking off for Davenport, Iowa.

COMMODITY DOLLAR AND PRICE-FIXING BEING CONSIDERED

(Continued from Page One) three parts gold to one part silver. That, as the economists explain, it would mean in effect the revaluation of the dollar, but along lines not hitherto widely discussed.

Under present legislation, the President has authority to order revaluation, and some of his legal advisers, at least, think the authorization would permit revaluation every thirty days if found desirable. That would mean that the "commodity dollar" could be set up without further action by Congress, and prior to the meeting of Congress in late January.

It's Technical

The whole project is so immersed in economic technicalities that only the experts pretend to understand just how it would work out, and they do not agree.

Perhaps the nearest anyone could come to explaining it in general terms would be to say that whereas money has been more or less valuable in the past in relation to the fluctuations of the value of gold, under the "commodity dollar" system the value of money would be determined on the broader basis of the average value of wheat, steel and many other things, including gold and silver.

Many consider a necessary accompaniment to such a system would be a broader authority for price-fixing. That is proposed as a method of partially controlling commodity fluctuations and hence currency fluctuations.

No hasty decisions are likely. The President is investigating and considering. Everyone thinks he will do something, and the best-informed believe that during the next few weeks much more will be heard of the "commodity dollar"—under that name or some other.

Because snakes in a San Antonio reptile garden showed a preference for brown rats, children collected 15 cents a pair for rodents delivered.

BRIDGE AT EDENTON STANDS SEVERE TEST

Elizabeth City, Sept. 21.—Living in the little house in the middle of a toll bridge looks alluring when the sun shines and the weather is pleasant, but when a hurricane appears, that's something else again.

However, Capt. P. H. Bell, who makes his home over the Chowan River and collects toll from travelers who use the bridge, says that he stood at his post through Saturday's storm and watched the wild waves and the wilder winds vent their fury on the Chowan River bridge without moving it.

"The bridge is solid," says the captain. "I saw it tested thoroughly. What the captain calls his cellar, built near the draw, was washed away, and so was an emergency boat. But the bridge stood, the bridge-keeper remained on the job, and cars kept passing over the bridge from time to time all day Saturday, although waves were frequently breaking over the bridge.

TEST SUIT FILED TO CLARIFY SCHOOL LAW

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 21.—(AP)—A suit for $35,023.35 back salaries was filed against Charlotte city council and the school board today by representatives of between 400 and 500 teachers.

The suit was filed in Superior Court for the purpose of clarifying a State law governing salaries. The suit represents seven and a half per cent of salaries due teachers during the 1932-1933 term.

Officials said the money was withheld because of uncertainty as to legality of the payment under a ruling of the State Board of Equalization which reduced the Charlotte school budget.
