WEALTHY MAN SHOT TO DEATH IN MOUNTAINS

Thomas Price, Railroad Executive, Slain By Mountaineer Near Waynesville

Fayetteville, N. C., Sept. 25.—(AP)—A mountain man's smouldering grudge against a wealthy easterner was blamed by officers today for the slaying of Thomas Price, 65-year-old railroad executive of New York.

Riding horseback on the 1,200-acre estate with two mountaineers yesterday the secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad was halted by several men.

In the burst of gunfire that followed, Price was shot to death and his friends wounded.

Shortly afterward, Dewey Potter, 30-year-old Haywood County man, surrendered to officers and said he shot Price. His brother, Clarence, 35, and Eric Ledford, 22, came into town with him and also were jailed.

Last week Potter, who lives on an abandoned mining property next to the Price estate as caretaker, was fined $5 in a magistrate's court for hunting on Price's estate without permission, officers said. They gave that as the motive for the shooting.

The three men were held without bond, and no formal charge had been filed against them since an inquest would not likely be held.

HISTORIC BLOCKHOUSE IS TO BE PRESERVED

Sandusky, Ohio, Sept. 25.—(AP)—An historic blockhouse, once used as a prison for captured Confederate officers during the Civil War but in more recent years relegated to the status of a stable and distillery is to be preserved for posterity.

The structure is the last of the buildings of the Civil War prison on Johnson's Island in Sandusky Bay.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy first planned to buy the building and move it to the Johnson's Island prison cemetery, which the U. S. D. C. recently acquired and turned over to the government. Now, however, it has been agreed the building will be bought to remain on its original site.

A large barracks of the prison stood until about twenty years ago when it burned. This building at one time housed five hundred men. The Johnson's Island prison cemetery has 206 graves where are buried sons of the Southland who died while held as prisoners of war.

Sign Up in Caldwell
Lehr, N. C., Sept. 25.—Every tobacco grower with more than three years of tobacco and every wheat grower who produces a surplus of wheat in Caldwell County has signed contracts to reduce his acreage for the next two years, reports County Agent D. H. Sutton. Tobacco contracts cover 287 acres that produced an average of 222,158 pounds for the past three years. Only sixty-two farmers have signed the wheat contract, but these farmers grow 917 bushels of grain a year. The remaining growers of both crops have small acreages and produce less than 50,000 pounds of tobacco and only enough wheat for home use, Sutton said.

LEXINGTON PLANS FOR RESERVE WATER SUPPLY

Lexington, N. EMPLOYMENT OFFICE OPENS

Registration of Jobs Gets Under Way On Evans Street Today

The local county committee of the National Re-employment Service held its first meeting Saturday night, Sept. 23rd, and decided to open the local office at 308 Evans street, today, Monday.

The meeting upon being called to order received a report from A. B. Corey, member of the committee, that he had procured through the kindness of the City Water and Light Commission, the use of part of the space in the Water and Light Commission show room at 308 Evans street, also that the telephone company had very graciously acted upon his request for a gratuitous phone, and same was being installed; that he had made a trip to Raleigh and obtained the necessary forms, stationery, etc., to open the office; that Garris-Evans Lumber Company had donated the necessary files boxes; Quinn-Miller Co., loaned a table.

The meeting then proceeded to the election of a chairman, E. G. Flanagan being unanimously chosen chairman, Mrs. Ruby Allen and Miss Florence Phelps were named as office assistants to J. T. Bland, office manager.

The office will be maintained for the registration of all kinds of labor both skilled and unskilled. It is hoped to register cooks, gardeners, painters and all classes of workers. Ex-service men will be given preference in placement.

Judge Harris of Raleigh is Presiding Over The One Week Term

A one week term of Pitt County Superior Court for the trial of civil cases convened in the city this morning with Judge W. C. Harris presiding.

The calendar, the same one arranged for the postponed term two weeks ago, contains about 40 or 50 cases of more or less interest to the people of this section and it was hoped the majority of them could be disposed of.

Judge Harris takes the place of Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill, who is presiding over the Drake bank case at Raleigh. The two jurists exchanged benches to permit the Fifth Judicial district judge to preside over the case at Raleigh.

The previous session of court was postponed by Judge Frizzelle on account of the tobacco holiday proclamation and the subsequent sign-up of farmers for tobacco acreage reduction during the next two years.

TEN MEN BREAK OUT OF PRISON

Long Termers Escape From State Prison Stockade Near Mocksville

Mocksville, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Ten long term prisoners escaped from the state prison camp near here last night by cutting their way through a floor cell block.

An eleventh man in the group became entangled in the barb wire across the bars around the camp and failed to escape.

Sheriff C. C. Smoot, notified of the break within a few minutes, sent fifteen deputies on trail of the convicts and said this morning several of them would be arrested during the day.

The men escaped by re-opening the hole in which ten others made their getaway several months ago, the sheriff said.

Those who escaped were Reed Smith, Alfred Stamey, Paul Spencer, Henry Griffin, E. Bennett, Pete Cannon, Vernon Allbrook, L. Bratton, Job Maker and Lander MacLemore.

Guards at the camp first learned of the break when they saw some of the group getting over the stockade, but the fugitives were out of sight before the guards could bring their guns into play.

CITY SCHOOL SYSTEM OPENS

Increased Attendance At High School With Other Schools Unreported

The annual trek back to classrooms got under way here today with the opening of the fall term of city schools. The first day was given over largely to organization and actual work will not get under way until tomorrow.

Because of lack of communication facilities between the schools, it was impossible to determine the total enrollment, but J. H. Rose, superintendent, said there was every indication it would be much larger than last year.

With 450 children in attendance at the high school, the total climbed to 50 above the opening last year, the superintendent stated.

The totals for all schools will not be known until the teachers meeting called for two o'clock this afternoon at the high school. At that time, Mr. Rose said, he hoped to complete a definite check of attendance figures.

Under the new eight months' school law which became effective this year, the Greenville public school system lost three teachers, two in the high school and one in the primary department. In addition to this appropriations for operation have been cut to such extent that the institution will actually have to make many short cuts to reach the end of the session.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Send Deputies To Market
Raleigh, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Sheriff Numa F. Turner of Wake county, hurried four of his men to Wendell this afternoon upon being informed that disorders had broken out in tobacco warehouses there.

The sheriff acted when notified that a request had been sent here for two highway patrolmen to be sent there but the governor felt the sheriff's office would first act.

Protest Low Prices
Wendell, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Disorder broke out in tobacco houses here this afternoon as farmers protested that prices being paid for the weed were too low and a request was telephoned to Raleigh for two highway patrolmen to be sent here to avoid more serious trouble.

Philip Whitley of the Whitley warehouse, said sales had been interrupted by speeches and demonstrations by persons protesting low prices. Whitley said he could not name persons participating in the trouble.

"Sales are suspended now but we expect to start them again during the afternoon after things quiet down a little," he said.

TURNER OUT FOR NEW MARK

Air Speed Flier Attempting to Set New Record From California to New York

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Bucking head winds part of the way, Colonel Roscoe Turner, trying for a new east to west air speed mark, landed here at 8:59 a. m. today and left for New York at 9:14.

He took on oil and gas while there.

The speed pilot took on 118 gallons of fuel at Wichita. His time from Burbank, Calif., to Wichita bettered by 2 minutes the 5 hours and 30 minutes which he hoped to beat. He said he had slight side winds most of the way.

Airport attendants said Colonel Turner was in good humor, chatting with the men while his plane was being serviced.

He hoped to break the record of 10 hours, 10 minutes established in the 1932 national air races by James Halzlip of St. Louis.

NEGRO TALKS WAY TO JAIL

James Anderson, Pos-ing as NRA Worker, Arrested on Vagrancy Charge

A negro by the name of James Anderson literally talked his way into jail here today and probably will face a charge of vagrancy at the next sitting of county court.

Anderson forged into the limelight a few days ago when he appeared on the tobacco market and told warehousemen they ought to join the NRA. He claimed to be a representative of the federal organization and said he would return in a few days to show his "credentials."

Wearing golf pants, sport coat and with hip adorned by a tiny mustache, Anderson was the cynosure of all eyes when he appeared among negro residents a few days ago, and when he let it be known he was with the NRA he gained greater fame among the element.

However, when he began talking on warehouse floors, trouble brewed and before he knew what was going on he found himself in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Herbert Harris on his way to jail.

Anderson, who gave Edenton as his home, was said to have told Sheriff Whitehurst he recently completed a term on the road for receiving stolen goods. Officers were checking up to see if he had been connected with other crimes.

A strapping negro workman on the tobacco market, hearing Anderson talk about his connection with the government agency, offered to take care of him for the officers, but apparently he would have derived too much pleasure from the job so officers brought Anderson to jail to await hearing.

WRIGHT HEADS COUNTY DRYS

Other Officers of Organization Elected at Mass Meeting Here Sunday

The drive of drys to "dryup" the wets actually got under way here yesterday with a mass meeting at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church but the big gun will not be fired until Thursday night when a mass meeting will be held at the court house at 8 o'clock to perfect the county-wide organization.

Dr. R. H. Wright was elected to head the battle of the drys in this county yesterday. Other officers elected were K. T. Futrell, secretary, Mrs. J. H. Blount, vice-chairman, Mrs. J. L. Little, chairman.

The drys were urged to attend the meeting Thursday night, and it was expected the building would be packed to overflowing as the defenders of national prohibition chart their course for the November election.

Candidates to represent the drys at the polls in November will also be selected at Thursday night meeting.

Mr. Burnette, of the United Dry Forces of North Carolina, addressed the gathering yesterday, outlining plans for a spirited campaign in all sections of the state and urging local people to do their bit toward putting the state definitely in the ranks of the drys.

The officers-elected yesterday will also act as executive committee and a meeting was to be held sometime this week to select "key" men from the various precincts.

All persons interested in the battle to retain the 18th amendment were urged to attend the meeting Thursday and prepare to do their part in the county campaign.

Although wets were working quietly it was understood that representa-

Canvass For Funds For North Carolina Storm Area Begins Here Tuesday

The canvass for funds to carry relief to storm sufferers along the North Carolina coast got under way here today under auspices of the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The canvass was to have started last Saturday but W. J. Bundy, chairman of the Red Cross here, announced deferment of the drive until tomorrow.

Contributions to the cause reached $49.50 today and indications were the canvass would swell the total well above that figure.

Mr. Bundy received an appeal from the State Red Cross department last week and immediately called on the people of this county to give liberally to the cause.

Hundreds of people were made homeless by the tropical hurricane which struck a terrific blow among towns along the coast, causing millions of dollars worth of damage.

Persons who have not contributed to the cause were urged to send in their contributions at once to Mr. Bundy or to the Daily Reflector.

PRICES ALSO IMPROVED ON OTHER MARTS

Heavy Sales Indicated on All Bright Leaf Markets as Holiday Comes to End; Prices Range From 2 Cents a Pound on Damaged Tobacco to 50 Cents For Improved Grades; Farmer's Here Adopt Attitude Of Watchful Waiting

After concluding a three week holiday, the Greenville tobacco market reopened this morning with prices apparently about 20 per cent above those of the opening week of the season.

It was estimated there was about 2,000,000 pounds of leaf, on the floors of the various warehouses with the voice of five auctioneers simultaneously set sales in motion on as many warehouse floors.

While the quality of this year's crop is well above the average, today's offerings included a considerable amount of damaged tobacco and tips.

Although official figures will not be available before late today or early tomorrow, sales indicated an average of 12 cents or better as compared to an average of $10.00 per hundred for the four days the market operated the beginning of the season.

At resumption of sales after dinner prices stiffened perceptibly in the face of increased competition among the buyers, and indications were that the average would go beyond the 12-cent mark.

Expressions from the thousands of growers who swarmed over warehouse floors were divided as to prices, but all appeared hopeful and were adopting an attitude of watchful waiting to give the market a few days to really get under way.

Prices ranged all the way from 2 cents a pound for damaged tobacco to 50 cents for better grades.

Better grades were reported as selling decidedly better than when the farmers staged a rebellion that resulted in gubernatorial proclamations calling for the closing of North and South Carolina markets.

At the recent conference leading government stepped in and said in effect, "Boys reduce your crop for the next two years and we promise you better prices."

At the recent conference leading domestic tobacco companies agreed to pay a 17 cent average based on the amount of leaf manufactured by them comprising the 12 months ending June 30, 1933.

Although the government has not made known its agreement, this was expected to be forthcoming at any time now.

As customary on opening days, thousands of people interested in the price of tobacco were on the market to day to see how things panned out. In view of the government's promise of a new deal more interest was in evidence if possible, and the bids of buyers were watched with unabated interest as pile after pile of the golden leaf was put on the auction block.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The three weeks' holiday on the tobacco markets of the South Carolina and new bright leaf belts came to an end today. With resumption of sales the militant farmers who forced the holiday were on edge to see what advantage they gained from it and the Federal Government's subsequent effort for fair prices.

Official averages will not be available until tonight.

The Changing Wind
 by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

As suddenly as the rain had started it now stopped, the wind changed and the shed, in which were Willy Nilly and his animal friends, was blown toward a big log lying along the water bank. They crashed into it with a bump, but they were safe. They had just escaped being carried over the dam.

"I think," said Willy Nilly, "that if we can get some long poles or cut off the branches of some of these young fallen trees that we can push ourselves back from where we started."

"We'll have to get back there in order to make our way home as we've drifted such a distance."

They stepped out of the door of the shed on the big log and began picking out which young fallen trees would be best.

Some of the animals nibbled at wet grass and at soaked weeds as they were very, very hungry.

"Let's try to get back as quickly as we can," suggested Willy Nilly. "Oh, I thought I had my knife in my pocket so I could trim the trees into poles. I suppose now it is at the bottom of the pond. I must have dropped it out of my pocket."

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

While it is too early yet to express an opinion as to the final outcome, the re-opening of the tobacco market is somewhat encouraging when compared to the first opening of the season four weeks ago. Early sales today indicated an average of around twelve cents a pound, which considering grades and condition of tobacco today, if maintained proportionately throughout the season should give the season's average of around 18 cents or better, which we have contended from the start is the minimum that should be received for this year's crop.

Among the large number of growers with whom the writer talked this morning, the opinion as to the price situation was divided, some expressing the belief that things would work out satisfactorily while other contended that the price was still too low. As we see it, while there is some encouragement from today's opening, based on the early estimates, it is too soon to say whether or not the situation is satisfactory. Let us urge the growers to remember the government has definitely promised that a parity price will be received for this crop, and therefore not to make too hasty a decision as to what will be the final outcome. It will probably take several days to get a definite trend on the situation and the growers can rest assured that if things don't look right by then the government is going to see to it that they are made right.

Governor Ehringhaus has urged the growers not to rush the markets with their crop and believing that this is good advice we are passing it on to the growers in our action. It is our belief that things are going to be much better, and in the meantime we are adopting an attitude of watchful waiting until we can get enough facts in the case to ascertain the definite trend of the markets. It has always been and still is our desire to aid the farmers in every possible way to get a fair return for their crop and we pledge ourselves to continue our efforts along this line.

FIVE MAJOR CODES SIGNED, THE NRA PUSHES ON

five cover the following industries: Oil, automobile, cotton textiles, iron and steel and coal. There are about 30 other industries ready to operate under codes.

The other side of the picture is wages, the "purchasing power" which the President stresses as a balance wheel for the increased cost of production.

The report is more hopeful than had been expected by many observers. Factory payrolls have risen faster than employment. That means the lumbering ball of "purchasing power" has already started gaining momentum.

The 16 manufacturing groups surveyed monthly by the statistics bureau show a gain of 4.7 per cent for employment, and a gain of 7.9 per cent in payrolls since June.

Millions More To Spend

In factories the workers had $12,000,000 more to spend in the pay period ending nearest August 15 as compared with the corresponding period in July. The figures represent 89 per cent of the principal manufacturing industries. In this group purchasing power was also in the lead. Payrolls rose 11.6 per cent, and employment rose 6.4 per cent.

The figures for the non-manufacturing industry payrolls have not yet been assembled. But it is believed by federal agencies that a comparable figure of another $12,000,000 was added to the nation's purchasing power through these industries.

There are no employment figures yet available on the group of industries including small shops which signed the President's original employment agreement to raise wages, shorten hours and add extra help, although officials are working on a survey. The estimate of those given jobs by this group runs as high as a million or more.

The brightening horizon sees the nation in the process of two transitions. Industrial Administrator Hugh S. Johnson says:

"First, we are shifting business to an operation under codes," he says. "Then we are shifting into operation and administrative practice under the codes which will maintain order, settle labor disputes, new agreements, and work toward amendments where planning boards, point to a need for further changes."

All Signed in Three Months

The signing of the national recovery act saw the government and business faced with codifying some 5,000 assorted industries. The President pushed toward a signing of the major groups, believing that the minor industries would fall in line as they have.

Now it is believed the codes can be simplified to 200, which, is predicted, will be signed within three months. The task ahead is to stabilize prices, buying power and employment, and this job is up to three groups—the code authorities, the national arbitration board and the consumers' advisory board.

"I'm your wife, Jimmy!"

mind. It was as if someone had spoken it from behind that deadening fog. She said, "Your name is Jim Riddell," and something in his own mind answered her.

He said the name aloud: "Jim—Jim." Then with more confidence, "Yes—Jim."

"Jim Riddell," said Nesta firmly.

He preferred Jim to Jimmy any day of the week. Jim Riddell... He left the name and began to go over what she had said. He took the earliest part first.

"You brought me here yesterday? I can't remember anything about it."

"You needn't worry about that. They gave you some kind of a sleeping-draught to take you over the move, and when we got here you had a good drink of hot milk and off you went again like a baby."

"Why did you bring me here?" His voice was quiet and direct.

Nesta's dark eyebrows rose.

"That's a funny thing to ask. Where else should I take you? We'd agreed to give London a miss, hadn't we?"

He groped for memories of London.

"London?"

"You're not going to say you've forgotten London?"

"I've forgotten everything. I—"

His hand closed upon the edge of the bed. He shut his eyes for a moment, giddy with the sense of empty space all round him. There were no landmarks, nothing to steer by, no horizon line, no faintest, farthest star.

THE woman who sat on the end of the bed looking at him was also actual, but somehow not so reassuring. He didn't like her very much. He didn't like the way she was dressed, or the way she did her hair, or those near-set eyes of hers. He supposed she was handsome, but he didn't like her. She had a black dress with little magenta and yellow squiggles on it. The pattern hurt his eyes.

Her voice cut sharply across his thought—a bright voice with an edge to it.

"You're not going to tell me you've forgotten me, Jimmy!"

He looked at her with something very grim in his expression.

"Will you kindly tell me who you are?"

The color rose in her cheeks. She looked away from him. "I'm Nesta."

"I'm afraid that tells me nothing," "Nesta Riddell." She risked a sideways glance. That three days' beard gave him a savage look... It wasn't only the beard... She stayed where she was, but it needed an effort not to jump up and get nearer the door.

"And still that tells me nothing," he said in a carefully controlled voice.

Nesta sprang to her feet and flung out her hands.

"I'm your wife, Jimmy—you can't have forgotten me!"

He had known what she was going to say; before she said it he had braced himself to take the shock. When it came, it actually steadied him. He felt as cold as ice and as quiet as if he were dead. He said just above his breath,

"Nesta Riddell."
 "My wife—no—"
 She burst into angry tears. Take it whatever way you like, it was a slap in the face. Nesta did not take kindly to being slapped. She felt no impulse to turn the other cheek.

"Yes—your wife! What else did

IT'S WAR—AND THE WOMEN 'GENERAL' RALLY

By SIGRID ARNE

Washington—(AP)—Women "generals" are collecting here for the battle against the depression, coming from drawing rooms, factory work-shops and political camps.

Their backgrounds are as varied as a cross-section of the nation's life could afford. But in recent years they have stood individually, in their various communities for the principles now being written into the nation's life.

There is Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, daughter and heiress of E. J. Harriman, the railroad magnate. She heads the Consumer's Advisory Board which represents the buying public at all code hearings to make sure that prices do not take an "undue rise."

She must help the consumer and wage-earner see that he or she is generally one and the same person," she said.

One of her aids is Emaly Newell Blair, the writer and one-time vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Mrs. Blair, since the days she entered the fight for the women's suffrage amendment, has been a faithful party worker.

But she has been more. She has been most insistent that women receiving political appointment be rewarded for professional ability rather than for mere vote-getting power.

Another aid in the consumer's board office is Mrs. Hugh S. Johnson, wife of the administrator. She will handle the complaint division. Like the rest of the board she is serving without pay, working often 10 and 12 hours a day nearly every day.

"My reason for coming to work," she laughs over a stack of letters and telegrams, "isn't very original. I just thought that every woman who can help, should help. And the consumer and his problems have interested me for years."

To train American housewives into the habit of dealing with establishments cooperating with the NRA is a special aim of Mary E. Hughes, an aide to General Johnson.

"Every woman a consumer signer" and "Every woman employer a signer of the President's agreement" are two objects before her as she seeks organization of 35,000,000 women along these lines.

The value of the consumer's dollar at the store counter has been a special study of Belle Sherwin, president of the League of Women Voters, who is also on the board.

Then there is vivacious, red-haired Rose Schneiderman, who ever has been in prison for her activities based on her convictions of the need for better labor conditions. She spent her girlhood in "sweatshops." Now she represents her millions of co-workers on the Labor Advisory Board of the recovery administration.

A hat to her is more than an adornment. It is the tale of a woman bent wearily over machines in hours stolen from home and children—but a woman who now has her "day at court" with the effective little Miss Schneiderman as her spokesman.

COLLEGE Y. W. C. A. ENTERTAIN FOR NEW GIRLS

Among the outstanding social events during freshman week were the parties given by the Y. W. C. A. for the new girls Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 20 and 21.

Wednesday night, those girls whose names began with the letters M-Z were asked to attend. Miss Rachel Stone, chairman of the social committee, had prepared various games and contests with which she attempted, successfully, to make the new girls feel at home on our campus and forget the loneliness that usually attends freshman week.

Refreshments including lemonade, cake, and peanuts were served.

Thursday afternoon at 4:00 all who had not been to the first party, those with letters from A-N, were invited and the same program was followed.

Besides the parties the Y. W. C. A. cabinet members took part in welcoming the new girls on their arrival at the college and in helping them find their rooms. Also discussion groups were held each under the leadership of a cabinet member who was to be "Big Sister" to those in her group for about six weeks.

DR. WRIGHT IN Y. W. C. A. TALK

College President Delivers Thoughtful Message at First Service of Year

President Wright delivered an inspiring and thoughtful message at the first Y. W. C. A. service of the year at East Carolina Teachers College.

He spoke of the changes through which this world is constantly passing, and of the need of a rising generation with definite and worth while ideals.

He asked the pertinent question: "Is there something true—that changes not? In answering this question, he used mathematics as an illustration of something unchanging. Through the ages we have added two to two and had four. He gave as a far more important thing in life the guidance of the Holy Spirit, an influence that changes not throughout life.

He emphasized the need of the world for men and women with ability and knowledge who are able to distinguish right from wrong and build up rather than degrade.

The four essentials for this service to the world are: Ability, Character, Faith and Love.

With "Ability," teachers are able to lead their students into paths of righteousness so that they may become the best type of men and women.

Government is organized on basis that leaders shall be persons of "Character." A New Deal is being inaugurated, but without clean characters in the responsible positions it cannot succeed.

"Several years ago," he said, "our world leaders brought us into a war so terrible that Faith was destroyed throughout all nations and seeds of hatred for our fellow men were planted. A harvest, too abundant in evils, is being reaped. We must rebuild this Faith—Faith in each other, in our College, in our State, in our nation—then will follow Faith in Jehovah.

"The greatest of these is love: Love of the kind that makes one eager to serve and willing to forgive; long-suffering, never dying love: the love that brings sinner to repentance—if we fill our lives with that love we can conquer all things."

Miss Mary Belle W. rendered a solo during the service.

Wright Named To Important Education Body

Paul C. Stetson, superintendent of schools, Indianapolis, Indiana and president of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association, announced at association headquarters here today that Robert H. Wright, president of East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, N. C., has been appointed a member of a national committee of a national outlook on education. This committee will meet and report at Cleveland convention of the department of superintendence, February 24-March 1, 1934.

The appointment of this committee is an important item in a fundamental reinforcement of the convention plan followed by the educational leaders in their national professional organization for many years. The change was made to extend greater responsibility to individual members in the department's attempt to plan more effectively for meeting the current crisis in education.

Seven such committees have been appointed by President Stetson. These groups will give their attention respectively to problems of teacher training, a comprehensive program of public education, financing the schools, education for the new America, public education and public welfare, a national outlook on education, and the interpretation of the schools to the public.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

LATE IN STARTING DINNER? THIS'LL RUSH VEGETABLES

If you've been delayed in starting dinner, this method will rush your vegetable-cooking. Have two sauce-pans filled with boiling water. Put the vegetable in one and add a pinch of bicarbonate of soda. Let it cook thus for two minutes and then transfer to other saucepan. This is especially effective if your vegetable dish is beets, peas or beans.

START EARLY IN TEACHING CHILD TO CROSS STREET

Teach your child early how to cross streets in safety. Teach him to obey the traffic lights and the signals of the policeman. Set him a good example yourself by crossing only when signals are in your favor. Walk briskly across with him without showing either hurry or nervousness. Early training of this sort is important.

When Cooking Fish

Use moderate heat to cook fish, advises Mrs. Fanny W. Yeatman of the home economics bureau. The fattest kinds—herring, mackerel, salmon, shad—are better broiled or baked. For baking, use about 350 degrees. If the fish is large, put it in a rack in the pan and do not add water. If lean lay a few strips of salt pork or bacon over the top.

MILK FOOD VALUE SAME REGARDLESS OF ITS FORM

So far as the food value of milk is concerned, says the Bureau of Home Economics, it is practically the same whether you use fresh milk, evaporated, dried whole milk powder or an equivalent of dried skim milk and butter.

To Clean Gloves

When washing doe skin or chamois glove first soak in lukewarm water to which soap flakes or shaved soap has been added. Rinse the gloves several times and shake and then lay on a towel to dry. This type of glove should not be washed on the hands, as the seams are liable to split.

Housekeeping Tips

Cheese with a dash of paprika placed in thin slices of slightly dampened bread and rolled make delicate sandwiches.

Run cold water over egg plates before giving them their real washing if you want to simplify this chore.

Cut-up shrimps and slices of well ripened pears on pieces of lettuce, and slightly covered with mayonnaise, make a delicious salad.

TOBACCO HIGHER AS MARKET REOPENS

The average was estimated at around 13 cents a pound with better grades slightly higher than on the days before the market closed and poorer grades showed a fairly good increase in price.

About 2,500,000 pounds were on the floors, enough for two days' sale. Goldsboro—Approximately 450,000 pounds of tobacco was on the floors of the three houses here as selling was resumed after the three weeks' holiday.

Prices were varied and the average price could not be determined. Better grades were selling appreciably higher. Poorer qualities sold fractions higher than the last day before the market closed, but were about the same as on the opening day of the season when the averages was above the level for low qualities.

Much damaged tobacco was on the floor, and reactions of farmers varied.

Growers with high quality appearing pleased, while those with damaged weed expressed some dissatisfaction.

Kinston—Growers complained of prices showing little improvement.

Wild West Star Coming

Heading the Buffalo Ranch Wild West, and added attraction with the World Bros. circus which will exhibit in Greenville next Saturday September 30 is Jim Hughes, a champion roper and rider who won the title at the rodeo in Madison Square Garden, last fall. Hughes can make four and six horse catches at one time and is also a trick and fancy rider. Other features include Bill Pickett who throws wild steers in three minutes or less; Jim Livingston, champion bronco buster and rough rider, and Joe Clark an Australian whip cracker, who uses whips with lashes sixteen feet and more in length and who can cut a cigarette in two, held in the lips of his lady assistant, Dan Lyons, is

My Beauty Hint

By GLORIA SWANSON (Screen Actress)

I believe the simplest method of beauty aid are the best. Aside from cleansing my skin thoroughly with a light, penetrating cream, which I do twice daily, and washing it with a pure soap and tepid water, I use only one other method for keeping my skin clear and white.

That is applying the yolk of an egg to my face and neck once a month. After cleansing my skin with soap and water, I apply the yolk of an egg to all parts of my face and neck and allow it to dry thoroughly.

Then I rinse it off with lukewarm water and apply ice, wrapped in a towel, to my skin until the pores are thoroughly closed. Then I use a soothing skin lotion.

By GALE SONDEGAARD (Stage Actress)

An occasional shampoo with a good tar soap is beneficial, especially for one who may be suffering from falling hair. But—and this is important—only those with dark and oily hair should use tar soap. It is not to be overly recommended if one has dry hair of a light blond shade.

By NELL O'DAY (Screen Actress)

To give the hair a beautiful luster, moisten the hairbrush with a little water and add a few drops of a thin brilliantine. Brush the hair, then comb, and your waves will fall in place, having a beautiful sheen.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any store.

Woman Took Cardui Got Rid of Pain

"I had a pain in my left side about a week," writes Mrs. T. C. Stewart, of North Little Rock, Ark. "Then it went to my right side. I would cramp and feel like I could not stand it. I asked my husband to get me a bottle of Cardui and let me try that. After a few doses, I seemed easier, rested better. I kept it up. I continued taking Cardui for a while. I cannot begin to tell how much good it did me, and how glad I was to be rid of the pain."

TAR HEELS PIN HOPE ON STRONG LINE

Chapel Hill, Sept. 25—Carolina is staking its hopes for victory over Davidson Saturday on a fair but unproven backfield and a powerful fighting line.

The Wildcats are conceded to have one of the fastest and best-balanced backfields in the State built around the brilliant triple-threat star, Johnny Mackorell.

But Tar Heel supporters, much cheered by the team's showing in the last few scrimmages, think Carolina has a line that will give the Davidson backs the battle of their lives.

Although Coach Collins is reserving his opinion until after the big test against Davidson, some of the first-stringers have been looking right good in the early scrimmages. Some of their more enthusiastic admirers think that George Barclay and Eddie Kahn may make the strongest pair of guards Carolina has had in recent years.

Both are fast, hard chargers, ferocious tacklers, and powerful in interference runners. Barclay, a former Kiski player, weighs 180, Kahn who has been nicknamed "King Kong," is 10 pounds heavier and is a converted fullback.

Lots of fans like Bill Collins for his slashing play at tackle. Big Bill weighs 210 and is one of the most powerful men in Southern football. He has also developed into an expert blocker.

George Brandt at right end is another favorite. Tall and rangy, Brandt led all the ends as a pass receiver last year and played some marvelous defensive ball. He should also be a first-class blocker this year, which is all he needs to make a really great end.

Julian Frankel at left end and Jim "Ox" Tatum at left tackle are also looking good. Both are letter-men but have a big job filling the shoes of the graduated Walker and Hodges.

Center is the only position without a veteran, and the sophomore, Bill Moore, who weighs 175 and is fast and smart, looks like he may fill the bill at that post.

Followers of the Tar Heels predict a great future for this boy. If he is slow in getting started, however, the Tar Heels can draw on two reserves, Gordon McVey and Ralph Gardner, who have shown considerable ability.

BELHAVEN TO MEET HIGH IN OPENER HERE

Following a week of intensive training Greenville high football team will open the season here next Friday with Belhaven, it was announced today by Coaches Hewlett and Whedbee.

The game has been called for 3:45 at Third street athletic field. In view of the fact that several players were late reporting this season, Coach Hewlett stated only straight football would be depended upon during the early games.

Prospects, he said, are fairly good, although the line is light and green.

Six letter men were being depended upon to carry on the brunt of the fight in the opening games, but as soon as some of the green works off the new material, it was expected the entire team would work smoothly and with machine-like precision.

Practice started a week or so ago and the serious business of whipping a team into form has been under way twice daily. Workouts were expected to be some lighter this week with the opening of school and with the team definitely in shape.

DURHAM PLANS GREAT FETE FOR DUKE GAME

Durham, N. C., Sept. 25—Plans for making October 14—the date of the Duke-Tennessee game—the biggest football day in Durham's history have been put in motion through chamber of commerce officials. No time will be lost in arranging a rousing welcome for the thousands of visitors, many of whom will come from Knoxville and other Tennessee towns.

Local hotels announce that more than one hundred reservations have been made by Tennessee people and that requests for rooms are coming in steadily, despite the fact that the game is still three weeks off.

Banners bearing the words, "Welcome, Tennessee," will be displayed in the business districts and a gigantic parade, headed by brass bands, will be staged on the morning of the game. Duke and Tennessee colors will abound, while store windows will carry appropriate decorations as well as photographs of the players.

Full plans for the "Football Day" celebration will be completed today and launched immediately. Thousands of Duke alumni will be added to the visitors for the days as the Duke-Tennessee date has been selected as alumni Home-Coming Day at the University.

Last year in Knoxville Duke was given a colorful welcome by the merchants, business and civic leaders and by the various civic organizations, and those who attended the game from Durham were greatly impressed. It is planned to make the October 13 celebration here even greater in scope.

LOCUST TREES VALUABLE IN ALABAMA EROSION PLAN

Montgomery, Ala. — (AP) — Black locust seedlings and saplings are proving valuable in soil conservation work of the Alabama State Forestry Commission.
Colonel Page S. Bunker, State Forester, says approximately 25,000 of this variety of tree are now being used to check erosion of soils. The black locust trees are planted on and below soil saving dams in erosion prevention projects where their extensive root systems serve to bind the soil together and prevent washing.

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 25—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady five to 13 lower in response to disappointing Liverpool cable, lower sterling exchange and under southern and foreign selling.

Active months were 8 to 14 points lower during the first few minutes with December selling at 10.05 and May at 1.49.

Offerings were absorbed by trade and commission house buying on the decline and fluctuations later were irregular. Southern selling and other liquidation continued later in the morning sending active months 18 net lower with December easing off to 10.02 and May to 10.44.

The market steadied later as selling diminished after the first hour. At midday December was around 10.10 and May 10.53 and the general list showed losses of 5 to 9 points about the low prices. Others joined in the disorders. There has been no violence but highway patrolmen have been asked to prevent any trouble.

Earlier in the day rumors prevailed here that the market in Rocky Mount had been closed, but later information from that place indicated sales were proceeding normally with growers satisfied with prices.

Reports Loans

Washington, Sept. 25—(AP)—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation today reported that during August it authorized advances aggregating $111,496,529.

The report, made public by South Tremble, clerk of the House, showed $51,414,852 authorized as loans to banks, trust companies, railroads and financial institutions.

A total of $45,240,482 was turned over to the Federal Relief Administration for loans to various states. That brought the amount disbursed under the new act to $124,973,472 as of August 31.

Stock taken by the R. F. C., included $300,000 in the Guaranty Bank of Greensboro; $500,000 in the bank at Mocksville and $75,000 in the Peoples Bank at Roxboro.

Governor Silent On Tobacco
Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 25—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus declined to comment today on developments pending definite word from the tobacco markets, but it was known he did not expect a parity price of 17 cents to be reached of poor offerings on the floors.

Prices Satisfactory
Raleigh, Sept. 25—(AP)—Satisfaction emanated from chocked floors today as South Carolina and the new bright belt tobacco markets opened after three week suspension despite the fact that prices were still far below the parity for which growers have been working.

Mutterings of discontent arose in some quarters but warehousemen were quick to explain that low bids were due to choked floors poor quality and depreciation which the cured weed was subjected during the holiday.

At Lumberton, a North-Carolina border market, initial sales for heavy offerings indicated prices would jump from $4.50 to $5.00 per hundred over prices prevalent before the market closed down.

Rocky Mount also reported boosted prices with common grades about $2.00 above the previous picking up to $12.00 a hundred Little dissatisfaction was expressed at that point.

DOLLFUS GIVES AUSTRIA RIVAL TO NAZI SWASTIKA
Vienna—(AP)—The "kruckenkreuz" has been set up in Austria as a rival to the "hakenkreuz" or swastika, emblem of Germany's Hitlerites.

Despite the legal ban on nazi symbols, the swastika has been popping up in unexpected places in various parts of the republic and Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss has been persuaded that one good way to combat this form of propaganda is to have an equally striking Austrian symbol, easily seen from afar.

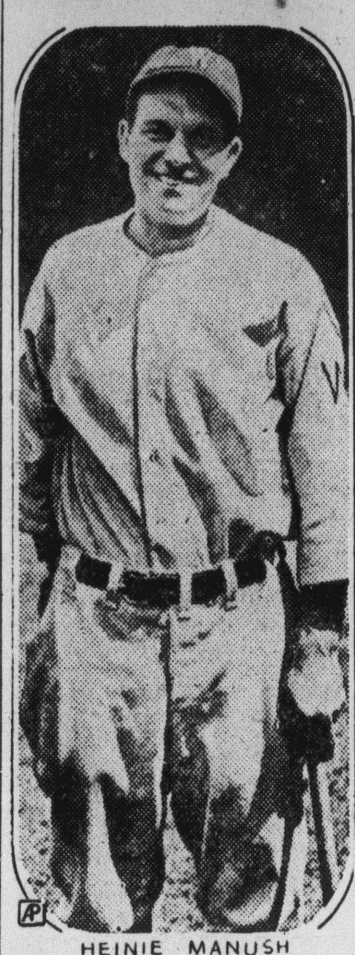

To meet these conditions he designated officially the four-sided cross which appears on the country's 2-groschen pieces as the sign for his new "fatherland front."

It is called the "kruckenkreuz" and differs from the swastika in that the hooks on the ends of the arms, point both ways.

Finn Farmer Fined $80,000.
Helsingfors—(AP)—One of the biggest fines in the history of Finland has been passed on a farmer whose alleged carelessness resulted in a great tract of forest being destroyed by fire. He was sentenced to one year and fined approximately $80,000.

Officials of the Mississippi State College for Women have announced that under new rates the cost of a full term is $203 per student.

HEINIE MANUSH

This is the seventh of a series of sketches on individual stars of the New York Giants and Washington Senators, world series rivals.

Washington—(AP)—Heinie Manush, Nat left fielder, hardly could have been anything but a baseball player. Five of his six brothers played pro baseball and Heinie just naturally followed in their footsteps.

One of the five leading sluggers in the American League, he was helped in becoming a great batsman through association with Ty Cobb and Harry Helman during the five years he put in at Detroit. He was the American League batting champion in 1926 and the runner-up in 1928.

Heinie had three splendid campaigns at St. Louis before he was traded to Washington for Goose Goslin in 1930. Now he and Goslin are team-mates in the Washington outfield.

While Manush does not make many home runs, he is very consistent at the bat. He specializes in singles and doubles in addition to putting up a better than average game in the field.

He set a 1933 season's record by hitting safely in thirty-three consecutive games.

Heinie had an early ambition to be a first baseman, but his managers assigned him to the outfield, and an outfielder he has been ever since.

Born in Tusculum, Ala., he is 32 years old. He is six feet, one inch tall, weighs close to 200 pounds, bats and throw left-handed.
