Price 5 Cents

Tobacco Prices Were Slightly Better Here On Yesterday's Sales

Average Price Yesterday quarter of Cent Above Thursday; $1,247,597.63 Paid Out This Season to Date

Tobacco prices were slightly higher on the Greenville market yesterday the average price being a quarter of a cent higher than on the previous day.

Official figures on yesterday's sales showed 1,490,522 pounds sold for $1,247,597.63 averaging $1.45 per hundred. Season's sales to date have been 11,286,234 pounds of $1,247,597.63.

Despite congested conditions on the market during the week as a result of the three weeks holiday the market practically cleared yesterday leaving but a small carry-over for Monday's sales.

With the block out of the way making room for quicker sales and fresher tobacco next week, local tobaccoists expressed belief that there would be an improvement in the price situation. Early action on the part of the government in the signing of the agreement with the buying companies was also looked for and this action it is believed will likewise stimulate the price trend.

Last Monday's re-opening of the markets following a three week's holiday was considered generally satisfactory by the growers but the decided drop in prices Tuesday and Wednesday resulted in much dissatisfaction. The slight upward trend Thursday and Friday, while not altogether satisfactory gave a little more hope to the growers who are looking forward with expectancy to next week's sales and to final announcement of government action, hoped for a decided upward trend in prices.

According to information from Washington, whatever action is taken by the government will be retroactive and those growers who have already sold some of their crop will likewise get the benefit of any price increases on that portion of the crop already sold.

BANK ROBBER SLAIN BY PLUCKY OFFICER

Bowling Green, O., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Firing as he fell before the bullets of a bank robber, Marshal Ben Stone killed the hold-up man as he fled with $300 from the Farmers Savings Bank at Luckey, a village of 450 persons twelve miles from here, today.

Summoned by an undertaker who didn't like the looks of two strangers, Stone came on the run, sawed-off shotgun in hand.

He met the robbers at the door of the bank and was greeted with a spray of bullets. As he fell, seriously wounded in the leg, Stone loosed the charge that lodged in the robber's breast, and tore to shreds the bank notes he had taken from the bank.

The robber was identified by a hunting license as G. R. Saunders' accomplice and said he knew who the man was. The automobile in which he fled, the sheriff said, had been stolen at Toledo and officials at Toledo were asked to look for Saunders' accomplice.

Irish Bog Yields Treasurer

Dublin.—(AP)—The centuries' old well over Ireland's "golden age" is being lifted by the archeological experts of the Harvard Mission.

In a desolate bog stretch in the townland of Ballinahinch, a dozen miles from Moate in County Westmeath, their excavations have met with remarkable success.

Ancient Canoe Found

Under the direction of Dr. H. O'Neill Hencken, they unearthed a "crnog" or island dwelling 2,000 years old and among the finds were a dug-out canoe, jewelry, cooking utensils, querns and pottery of unique value—all of which has become the property of the National Museum of the Wre State.

The island appears to have been the scene of two colonizations. The first belonged to the time of Cucullian, Erin's most renowned warrior, and of Queen Meve; and the other to Ireland's "golden age," the great period of Irish art.

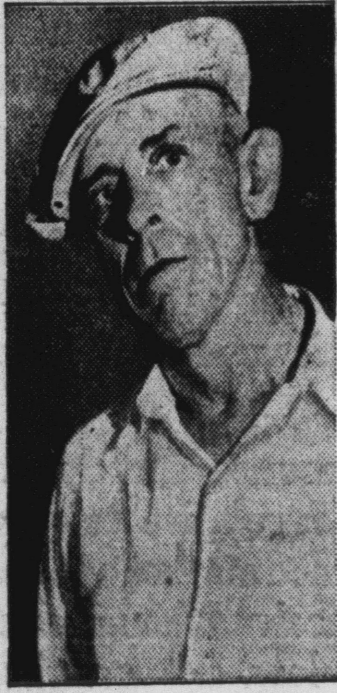

First Heroic Age Traces

The prime value of the discoveries, say the experts, lies in the fact that for the first time there has been revealed a site particularly productive of traces of the heroic period.

Last year, the mission discovered a bronze age cairn and many relics of an almost pre-historic Ireland in Ballinacorney.

Rabies treatment was given to 1-367 persons in Alabama the first four months of 1933.

URGE CITIZENS TO CO-OPERATE WITH COLLEGE

President Wright Says College Cannot do Effective Work If Interrupted

Dr. R. H. Wright, president of East Carolina Teachers College here, today issued an appeal to the public to co-operate as far as possible by observing the campus rules. In order to do effective work at the college, he pointed out, there must be rules and schedules of operation, violation of which greatly impairs the work of the students.

Visitors of course are welcome to the college during the hours set aside for visiting and social functions. The drives of the campus are private property and motorists are urged not to use these drives for joy-riding.

President Wright's statement follows: "Many of the young people of our community apparently do not realize that the college campus is not a playground for the community. They also seem to think that the social life of the college is open to the public. We appreciate the friendship of our community, and the splendid cooperation the great majority of our citizens are giving to every effort to build up a fine college spirit in our college. Apparently, many of our young people are not aware of the fact that the college is established to give students who attend college here an opportunity to work—and opportunity to study, so they may better fit themselves for the activities of mature years. We must insist that the social hours at the college are not open to the public, but are exclusively for college students, and any further attendance on the part of other people, or any further use of the college campus as a playground or as a place for 'joy riding' will be treated as trespassing.

"We are glad to have the young men of our community call to see the young women of the college, but all such calls must be properly recorded with the Dean of Women; otherwise, the party if found on the campus will be considered guilty of trespassing.

"I hope, and I feel perfectly sure, that the good people of Greenville will give us one hundred per cent support in the position we have been forced to take in this matter. Of course it is clearly understood that the above has no reference to the use of the campus by students who are attending the training school, provided they properly conduct themselves when passing through the campus."

ROBERT H. WRIGHT, President September 30, 1933.

SIX KILLED IN FIGHTING AT HAVANA

Feeling at Cuban Capital Tense as Result of Soldiers-Communist Battle

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 30.—(AP)—A street battle between Communists and soldiers in which six persons were killed and fourteen, including one American, were wounded, left Havana tense today. The shooting and wild disorder accompanied a demonstration of thousands of Communists in memory of the Cuban Communist leader killed in Mexico four years ago, whose ashes were to be interred in a huge obelisk built by Communists in Fraternity Park here. This was in opposition to the government's wishes, and this disagreement apparently brought on the shooting near the park that started the general battle last yesterday. Throughout the night there was intermittent shooting and automobiles rushed through the city and soldiers stood on guard. The feeling between the troopers and Communists continued at a high pitch today. Many feared new outbreaks as the ashes of the slain youth, student Julio Antonia Milla, apparently were in the hands of the soldiers who planned to bury them in the Colos cemetery today.

A statement issued by the government said the demonstration had been authorized, but when it was learned that the Communists planned to bury the remains in Fraternity Park they had been asked to conduct the funeral at the regular cemetery. Then the Communists added an artillery company and Captain Jose Hernandez Ruda was sent to the vicinity to prevent disorder and protect the demonstrators because the government had been informed that enemies planned to create disorders.

WINSTON-SALEM HAS DIPHTHERIA OUTBREAK

Winston-Salem, Sept. 30.—Steady spread of diphtheria continues in Winston-Salem and the city health department reported yesterday that 33 cases have been recorded so far in September, bringing the 1933 list to date to 60, or nearly 73 per cent above the total for all of last year. New cases have been reported at the rate of three or four a day for the past week. The 1933 death list from diphtheria stands at six as compared with one death from 48 cases in 1932.

City health authorities have been working at top speed during the past ten days or two weeks, giving Schick tests or administering immunization treatment to upwards of 100 children each day.

DISAGREE ON PRICE FIXING

NRA And Farm Administration at Odds On Food Price Fixing Question

Washington, Sept. 30.—(AP)—NRA and Farm administration apparently were at odds today over the government policies of price fixing for the huge retail trade business. Hugh S. Johnson expected momentary approval of a retail code designed to stabilize prices by prohibiting retail selling at less than wholesale cost plus 10 per cent. Simultaneously provision proposed by the grocery and food business prohibiting retail sales at less than 7 1-2 per cent over the whole sale cost as eventually for the whole by the Farm Administration. Both codes must eventually go to President Roosevelt for approval.

Should Johnson sign the retail code as it is officially predicted it would go immediately to Hyde Park preparatory to the final drafting of the grocery code could not begin until October 9.

In making known the food price proposal there is not only a 7 1-2 per cent retail increase but also 2 1-2 addition for the wholesalers, farm officials disclosed. George N. Peek, administrator, has ruled out price fixing for distributors except where codes or marketing agreements assure parity prices for farm products. The Farm Administration feels that wholesale price fixing after the commodity leaves the farmer's hands is a mistake. It has determined rather on a policy to bring the reluctant middleman to a marketing agreement fixing only a minimum price on farm products and a maximum price for consumer. Farm prices must be lifted in a hurry or there is trouble ahead, it feels.

SAYS TOBACCO CONTROL CERTAIN

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—(AP)—J. B. Hutson, chief of tobacco division of the Farm Administration, said today that the signing by more than 95 percent of the fine-cured tobacco growers of the agreement to reduce acreage assured that production could be effectively controlled.

France Backs Danubian Union To Aid Austria

Paris.—(AP)—Fear of German expansion, diplomatic circles believe, is driving France and Italy toward a common program of economic relief for Central Europe.

These two nations, after being unable for years to agree on any plan for setting the Danubian countries back on their feet, are reported as talking seriously, under pressure of a threatening Nazi Germany, of a five-power Danubian customs union.

Economic strengthening of Austria is sought so that she can ward off Nazi pleas for federation with Germany and maintain the independence decreed her by the Versailles treaty.

NRA GREATLY HELPS CONDITIONS IN SANFORD

Sanford, Sept. 30.—It is estimated that at least 200 people in Sanford have been given employment since the recovery plan of President Roosevelt went into effect last month.

The Sanford Cotton Mills have added approximately 100 employees to the pay roll, which has been increased about 200 per cent. The Saponia Mills, manufacturers of fertilizers, cottonseed oil, etc., have added 30 employees, with increase in pay roll of more than 100 per cent. A number of other plants here have increased their forces during the past several weeks.

Several mercantile establishments and filling stations also report that extra help has been added since the NRA went into effect.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Wants Some Action.—Raleigh, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus said this afternoon he was hounding the federal authorities twice daily for final action on the fine cured tobacco marketing agreement.

"I have been in communication with the agricultural administration and the Secretary of Agriculture every morning and every night and am pushing this thing just as hard as I can but still no agreement has been approved," Governor Ehringhaus said. "I communicated with the president on this question some time ago. I may send him something else today if we still hear nothing."

BAPTISTS CONTINUE CAMPAIGN

Will Carry Hundred Thousand Club Plan Solicitation on Until Spring

By WALTER M. GILMORE Nashville, Sept. 30.—The whirlwind campaign that has been on throughout the Southern Baptist Convention for the past three months for enlisting 100,000 members out of the 4,000,000 to take membership in the Baptist Hundred Thousand Club will close Sunday, October 1.

Dr. Frank Tripp, St. Joseph, Mo., general leader of the movement, is still optimistic, declaring that the movement is gaining in momentum, that it is now much stronger among the leadership of the denomination than it was a month ago.

However, it is not expected that the requisite goal will be reached by Sunday night, though it is thought that Dr. Tripp and the committee will be able to make quite a creditable showing at this time. The three summer months assigned for this task by the last Southern Baptist Convention are considered the most unfavorable months in the year for protecting months in the year for protecting an undertaking of such magnitude. It is expected, therefore, that another period of sixty days in the early spring of 1934 will be given for the completion of the campaign. From now until the end of this year the denominational forces will be busy, it is said, with putting on an intensive and an extensive Every Member Canvass in each of the 24,000 churches in the Southern Baptist Convention.

"The days are gone," says L. R. McMillan of the Whitney National Bank of New Orleans, "when a few donors, making up only a small per cent of any denominational group, can be counted on for the necessary financial support and from now on it is going to be a matter of spreading the load to as great extent as possible, giving each member of the group an opportunity to do his share."

The markets yesterday ended the first week of operation since the holiday with prices disappointing to the farmers. Record-breaking sales were reported throughout the North Carolina and South Carolina belts.

INIAN POPULATION BIDDLE PUZZLES ITALIAN SAVANTS

Mexico, D. F.—(AP)—Four groups of Italians and Mexican scientists are widely separated regions of the country to make a sociological and medical study of why population in countries where Indians are numerically dominant has increased only slightly in comparison to the growth of other countries.

The scientists point out that, while the population of Mexico was nearly the same as that of the United States in 1793, today Mexico has only 16,000,000 people to the United States more than 125,000,000.

This same condition exists in Peru, Colombia and Guatemala, where Indians compose the chief element of the population. According to the scientists, the difference cannot be accounted for entirely by immigration.

Dr. Leonardo Gini of the University of Rome is leading the research.

The money, however, was taken by federal operatives and Ramsey returned to Memphis empty handed. (Associated Press Photo)

NOT TO CUT SALES HOURS ON MARKET

Webb Says Short Schedule of Tobacco Sales Does Not Appear Necessary

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Sales hours on the tobacco markets of North Carolina will not be reduced next week it was indicated today. E. V. Webb, of Winston-Salem, president of Eastern North Carolina Warehousemen's Association, said plans to meet today to consider Governor Ehringhaus' proposal for selling hours to be shortened had been abandoned because domestic companies "came on the market strong Friday." This was said to have relieved the strain on the processing facilities of the foreign companies that had been doing most of the buying.

If prices do not advance Monday a meeting will be called, Webb said. He predicted a three to four cents a pound in prices when the government marketing agreement is effected.

The markets yesterday ended the first week of operation since the holiday with prices disappointing to the farmers. Record-breaking sales were reported throughout the North Carolina and South Carolina belts.

SAYS ARKANSAS TO STAY LEGALLY DRY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Governor J. M. Futrell believes his State of Arkansas, which ratified the prohibition repeal amendment by about two to one, is going to remain legally dry.

In a letter he sent to Frank Clark, president of the National Association of Retail Beverage Dealers, Governor Futrell said: "The people of this State will not consent to whiskey being openly sold anywhere, except for medicinal purposes."

"In my judgment, your association should stand for full co-operation by the Federal government with the several States, in enforcing their local law of the State."

"I mean by this that where a State prohibits the sale of liquor, the Federal government should prohibit the shipment of such liquors in interstate commerce. To give each State what it wants will do much toward keeping the liquor question from again becoming a national issue."

An official of the association pointed out that section two of the repeal amendment "says that 'the transportation or importation into any State, territory, or possession of the United States of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.'"

FIND FOR HURLING EGGS AT BARITONS

Seattle, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The plea at Harold Pickrell, 27, that he had been hired by the theater management to throw eggs as a publicity stunt at Dave Hutton, baritone, estranged husband of Almee Semple McPherson-Hutton, the evangelist, failed to save him from a $25 fine for disorderly conduct today.

Hutton appeared at a theater here several weeks ago. Pickrell said he had been paid $10 for throwing the eggs.

Judge Bell remarked he didn't see any humor in the situation and that throwing eggs was disorderly conduct.

More than 2,000 North Carolina farm boys and girls attended 4-H Club camps this summer.

KIDNAPERS IN URSCHEL CASE FOUND GUILTY

First Test of Federal "Lindbergh Law" Results in Conviction

Oklahoma City, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates, the three Shannons and two of the twin-city defendants were convicted by a federal court jury today for the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel.

Isadore Blumenfeld, Sam Kroegel and Sam Kpzeberg were the three Minneapolis-St. Paul defendants acquitted. The other two, Barney Beriman and Clifford Shelley were convicted. The verdict was read immediately after Judge Edgar Vaughn convened court at 10 a. m. That the verdict had been reached last night had become known and Judge Vaughn had ordered it sealed until today. The jury deliberated less than four and a half hours. Judge Vaughn announced that he would reserve sentences for three days, pending motions for retrial of those convicted. He congratulated the jury for "courageous discharge of duty" and allowed the jurors to depart.

The verdict was received with only slight apparent emotion. The three Minneapolis men, released, sighed and sat deeper in their chairs. Beriman and Skelley looked dumfounded. They had been confident of being freed. Their attorney, J. B. Dudley, of Oklahoma City, immediately announced he would seek a new trial.

John Lowe, the gray-haired balliff who had been in charge of the jury during the two weeks of the trial, brought the sealed envelope to the clerk, Theo Filson, as soon as the judge had asked the usual questions about the verdict. The judge opened the flap, drew out the paper and glanced at it casually before handing it back to the clerk to be read.

The trial was the first test of the new Federal kidnaping law enacted largely as a result of the tragic Lindbergh baby abduction. The Federal government had two key men of its war on crime here for the trial, John Kenan and Harold Nathan. Kenan had expected to leave last night for Washington but delayed his departure when word came that the jury had reached a verdict.

The end of the trial brought no change in the status of the "deal" between Bates and the government to return Bates' share of the ransom loot supposed to be $75,000. Bates offered to tell Federal agents the hiding place of the money if he was not prosecuted under a State charge of robbery with firearms which carries with it death penalty.

The markets yesterday ended the first week of operation since the holiday with prices disappointing to the farmers. Record-breaking sales were reported throughout the North Carolina and South Carolina belts.

Tips on CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL
Forced Leads

To succeed at some close contracts it often is necessary to put an adversary in the lead after most of the cards have been played. The purpose is to take a trick with a card that otherwise would not make, such as a queen that would lose on a finesse.

There is a distinct difference in these end plays between trump play and no-trump contracts. When there are trumps a trump must be retained both in the declarer's hand and the dummy after elimination of all cards of two suits from both hands of the contracting partnership.

At no trumps the elimination is from the hand of an adversary so that he has nothing left to lead except one suit. In illustration:

South passed, West offered a spade and North doubled. After East's pass, South bid two no trumps. West could not go on, North disliking the singleton on no trump play, bid three clubs. South carried the contract to game at no trump.

West realizing that in view of South's strong bidding a spade lead would not help set the contract. He took a chance that he could put East in so that a spade could be led through South. For this purpose the heart knave was selected.

Triumph at the contract involved excellent card reading by the declarer, George Dinwiddie, in a rubber game in the Deschappelles Club New York.

Figuring the Cards
In view of the high cards in sight in the dummy and the declarer's hands, South reasoned that West would not have been justified in making an original bid unless he had five grades to the ace-king and the king of diamonds.

If the clubs should break so that the declarer could take five tricks in the suit the contract seemed assured. But if there should be a losing club it would be necessary to make two diamond tricks. And a plan for taking these two tricks would work whether there were five club tricks for the declarer or only the four tops. West could be forced to lead away from his diamond king.

It was necessary to eliminate clubs and hearts from the West hand and let him make what spades he could so that eventually he could lead nothing but diamond.

The bunching of adverse clubs East was turned to advantage by the declarer for the elimination process was assisted by three discards from the West hand on clubs.

West Sees End Play
The declarer let West win his lead of heart knave. Realizing the possibility of an end play on him, West decided the best thing he could do would be to force out South's spade stopper. He led the spade knave, which South took with the queen.

South led the ace and knave of clubs, learning when West failed to follow on the knave that it would be necessary to make the queen of diamonds. South then led to the ace of hearts and took the king and queen of clubs. He put himself back in his own hand with the king of hearts.

West selected for his discards meanwhile two diamonds and a spade. That left him with three high spades and the king and a low diamond. South held the queen and a low diamond and three losing spades. North had the ace and a low diamond, a club and a heart.

Outlaw's Wife Held

The lead of a spade by South let West make three spades on top of his initial heart trick. But after the spades he had to lead a diamond, the contracting side making first the queen and then the ace.

SPANISH PRINCE AND BRIDE LEFT ALONE

Evian, France.—(AP)—Alfonso de Bourbon, once crown prince of Spain, is testing "love-in-a-cottage" on $400 a month.

He and his Cuban commoner bride, the former Edelmira Sampedro, are living in what seems poverty to them. He has traded his royal income for domestic bliss, and she has seen her mother's fortune diminish in the world depression and the Cuban revolution.

Princely Living Vanishes

When they were married, June 21 at Lawanane, the bridegroom's princely allowance, automobile, chauffeur, personal retinue, and lack of worry over expense, all had vanished, and the Count of Cavadonga, the title that remains to him, started a hotel honeymoon.

The pocket-money of $400 a month was continued by his royal father and so also was payment of his faithful nurse, Godfried Schweizer, but share in the family fortune seemed gone.

The princess, as she is called by courtesy, had a pin-money allowance of her own that helped out, but if it has not vanished, it must have grown smaller for the Sampedro fortune has shrunk, friends say, a full two-thirds.

"Friends" Also Depart

The princess had no dowry. Wedding expenses, even the bride's trousseau, were paid for by the prince.

The bride's mother, Senora Sampedro, lived with two other daughters, Elizabeth and Maricusa, at Lawanane until recently, but they felt the pinch of lessened income and started back to Cuba.

But one true friend out of the nobles who once thronged about him, stayed with the prince. Duke Juan Manuel de Almodovar de Rio alone braved the court's displeasure.

Duke de Almodovar, 26, is a student at Oxford. He was a playmate of the ailing prince before they put on long pants.

Only one of the once highly-placed has come to see the prince. Former Queen Amelia of Portugal, visiting Switzerland, called six weeks after the wedding. She embraced the tall young man and his wife and counselled them.

Living necessarily is simple for the young couple. Their hotel apartments cost them little; many hotels offered them handsome quarters for nothing. Yet there is a certain family dignity to be maintained and not everything is free.

When the pair goes to the casino at night, they watch but they do not play. The day is past when a fortune can be gambled away for the fun of losing.

PIG CAUSES ONLY UPSET IN 24,444-MILE JUNKET

Memphis, Tenn.—(AP)—Nothing upsets Pierre Denis like a pig.

A visitor in Memphis, Denis said that, although he had ridden his bicycle 24,000 miles, his only accident occurred near Mobile, Ala., when a small pig ran into him, tossing him out of the road.

Denis started his wanderings on April 4, 1928, from Montreal. He says he has worn out sixteen tires on the rear wheel and five on the front.

IL DUCE, AS CHAUFFEUR, GIVES KING FAST RIDE

Sant' Anna in Valdieri, Italy.—(AP)—There were no frills connected with an automobile ride Mussolini gave King Victor Emmanuel at the army maneuvers in this zone.

The Duce drove, he and the monarch being the only occupants of the speedy sports roadster in which they toured the region.

His Majesty returned the favor by entertaining the Premier at dinner in his castle here.

Birmingham, Ala., playgrounds had an attendance of 76,792 a week in July.

HIGHS DEFEAT BELHAVEN BY A 20-0 SCORE

The local highs opened their 1933 football season with an impressive 20-0 victory over Belhaven yesterday at the Third Street stadium.

The score does not indicate the real superiority the locals had, as the entire squad of twenty-six men was used. Coupled with this, was the terrific cloud-burst, which made the field a swimming pool and the ball impassable.

Only straight football was used by the highs, but time after the McAdams, Carroll, Hodges, and Forbes broke loose for scintillating off-tackle dashes from five to 35 yards.

McAdams and Hodges on quick opening plays rammed the Belhaven line for a large amount of yardage, while Carroll pulled off the longest and prettiest run of the day by dashing off his own right tackle 35 yards for the third touchdown.

Starting off with a rush, Greenville decided, and in three plays had advanced the ball 30 yards. McAdams after going off-tackle for 15 yards, and breaking into a clear field, fumbled. The latter attempted four running plays, pulling a boner in not kicking on fourth down, and Greenville had the ball near mid-field. A touchdown march was quickly started with McAdams going over from the five-yard line. Hodges made the extra point.

Again a drive was started after Belhaven had received the kick-off, and after powerful off-tackle thrusts by Hodges, McAdams, Carroll and Forbes, another touchdown was scored, again by McAdams from the five-yard line. Carroll added the extra point.

The third score came when Carroll, the 133-pound speedster, sped off-tackle, shook off several would-be tackles, and ran 35 yards for a touchdown.

Starting a green and inexperienced line, the locals demonstrated that in future games this same line will be one of the best in this section.

This was especially a timed offense. The blocking was of high order, and explains why the tackle had no difficulty in going places. Hatem, at right-end and Warren at left, looked good in blocking tackle, while Sizemore, Summerville, Hatem and Moore likewise did fine blocking. Wilson, acting as captain for yesterday's game, demonstrated to the fans that he is even better than last year, and played a great game, both an offense and defense.

The reserves, and there were plenty, showed up well. However, after more work, these boys will probably do some real pushing for a first team job.

Next week Greenville plays Goldsboro High here at 3:30 o'clock. Goldsboro is in the Class-A conference, the same as Raleigh, Wilmington, Durham and Rocky Mount. Last year they had a great season, playing Wilmington to a scoreless tie and winning a large majority of their games. They crushed LaGrange in their opener yesterday. This will be a great game, and the fans are asked to keep this date in mind, October 6, with Goldsboro.

SPORT SLANTS

If you are among those under the impression that Carl Hubbell has been doing some pretty fair country pitching of late for the Giants, give a look at what Mr. Glenn Babb of the Associated Press staff at Tokyo has to chronicle about one Masao Yoshida, who hurls a little every now and then for Chukyo Commercial School at Nagoya.

"On August 19 in the semi-finals of the All-Japan middle school tournament, Chukyo, the defending champion, and Asahi Middle School battled 25 innings before Chukyo gained a 1 to 0 decision," Babb relates.

"Each team used only one pitcher the winner being Yoshida, a stocky crafty righthander, who allowed only eight hits over the long route, struck out 19 and issued ten bases on balls. The loser was Jiro Nakada, who permitted only seven hits and struck out 10. The contest lasted four hours and 50 minutes and set a record for baseball in Japan.

But, That's Nothing.

"But that was only one chapter of Yoshida's achievement. On August 17 he had pitched and won a full 9-inning contest, 3 to 2, against Naniwa Commercial School, yielding 7 hits and 2 passes, his most generous performance of the tournament. August 18 he had been in the box again for dear old Chukyo, another full 9-inning performance. Score: Chukyo 2, Taiho Middle School of Hiroshima 0. The losers gathered four hits and one base on balls.

"The tournament finals were played August 20 before a crowd estimated at 80,000, capacity for the big Koshien stadium near Osaka, where the meet was held. Yoshida again went the route for Chukyo, yielded two hits in the nine innings and won 2-1. The only evidence of strain was a let-down in his usual excellent control. He walked nine and hit one batter.

Not Bad, Not Bad.

"Incidentally, Yoshida pitched 42 consecutive scoreless innings, counting the last four of the first game and the first four of the last. Summary: Innings pitched in four days, 52; runs, 3; hits, 21; bases on balls, 22; hit batsman 1; strikeouts 32.

"There is no professional baseball in Japan and therefore no scouts but the universities, which present the highest standard of baseball in the country, do a lot of 'recruiting' and Yoshida is getting his share of attention.

"Baseball, which came to Japan from the United States, probably now commands more universal interest here than in the land of its birth. During the nine days of this middle school tournament crowds averaged over 60,000."

The superstition which surrounds big league baseball, especially on a team out in front, was manifested by Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, in the club's last swing around the Western circuit.

The Giants were eight games in front while in Cincinnati, fortifying themselves at the expense of the Reds, but Bill threw a mild fit when he spotted a local delegation bringing in a flock of banners to hang in a hotel lobby.

The banners were highly laudatory and congratulatory, so phrased that there was no room for doubt their sponsors considered the Giants as good as "in," and desired to give the New Yorkers a send-off in behalf of the league's ancient strong-holds.

"That's a close call," breathed Terry. "They would have put the jinx on us sure if I hadn't stopped them from putting those signs up. I offered to pay all the expense of making them, personally, just to get them away from sight."

Terry doesn't like to talk about the forthcoming world series without crossing his fingers or throwing salt over his left shoulder.

"Baseball's too uncertain," he commented. "It looks like we are O. K. But we want to keep on winning those ball games until there's no doubt left. I don't mind telling you I haven't had much sleep some nights lately. We turned the corner up in Boston, I guess, but it's been hard going. My only hope is that if we win we can do it soon enough to give our pitchers a rest before the big series. Boy, they will need it."

Trouble For Senators

Baseball experts with the Giants think Carl Hubbell, the celebrated southpaw, and Freddy Fitzsimmons, the nervous, fat knuckle-ball twirler, will give the Washington Senators plenty of trouble.

Hubbell, of course, is the stand-out pitcher of the year. He has at all times been the Giants' mainstay in the clutches. During the past few weeks, especially, the left-hander has stepped in to brace his faltering mates with the most brilliant and effective sort of work. He has done his share of relief duty, too.

Hubbell a "Team" Man

"Here's the kind of a guy that Hubbell is," remarked Terry. "He sees Herman Bell is weakening a bit, so he leans over to me and says: 'Bill, want me to do down?' " "Meaning the pull-pen. I nodded and asked him to do so if he felt all right. He warmed up easily and when I gave him the signal in a pinch he sauntered out and stopped the Reds."

Hubbell and Fitz are entirely different types. The southpaw is as cool as a proverbial cucumber. He does little or no talking. He takes the breaks for or against him calmly.

Moslems Migrate From Soviet

Erdjiche, Turkey.—(AP)—Moslem Turks who have been residents of the Soviet Union are migrating to their home land. Nineteen families have come from the Crimea to this eastern province of Anatolia with 500 other families to follow.

Fitz, on the other hand, is a nervous and fidgety worker. He fights hard for every advantage. A bad break or a slip-up in his defense may upset him.

MANY THRILLS OFFERED BY CIRCUS TODAY

The Combined World Brothers-Buffalo Ranch Will West circus which arrived in town early today gave its matinee performance this afternoon at 2 o'clock on the Winslow lot on Dickinson Avenue, offers more than the usual thrills for the spectator.

One of the features of the afternoon was the pony that could "tell time," and this animal made a big hit with the audience.

Exceptionally thrilling and entertaining, too, was the performance of Dorento, the magic wire-walker who is able to maintain his equilibrium on a wire better than most folks on the ground. Dorento's imitation of a drunk, in which he capers about freely, kept the spectators thrilled from beginning to end.

Another entertaining feature was the performance of the Hood sisters, one eight and the other nine years of age. As contortionists, these little girls are better than many much older performers who have been seen here, and their act draws hearty applause from the hundreds of spectators gathered for the matinee performance.

Armed with only an ordinary kitchen chair, a whip and a blank cartridge pistol, Captain Walker's lion-taming act was a real thriller. This intrepid performer gave battle to a group of monster Nubian lions, forcing the animals to do his bidding. The lions were forced to build pyramids and take their places on pedestals, two of them leaping over barriers and through hoops of fire. Captain Walker then forced the fierce jungle cats to sit around a table where he fed them raw meat, with his bare hands.

Camels, dogs, goats and even pigs are included in the trained animal performance and gave a remarkable exhibition. One of the big features among the wild animals on display was "Goliath," huge elephant weighing 7,300 pounds and billed as the largest elephant in captivity in this country.

Kiddies were mainly impressed by the many wild animals and comical clowns which gave freely of their talent to entertain the appreciative youngsters.

In the Wild West show appeared such rodeo stars as Jim Hughes who made four- and six-hour catches with his lariat and Bill Pickett, who showed the boys on the plains bulldog wild steers.

It is expected that the circus will draw a huge crowd at the performance this evening at 8 o'clock.

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, three lower to four higher, in steadied Liverpool cables offset by Southern selling. The price steadied up a few points right after the call from 9.87 to 9.91 for December, but this rise met increased hedging and the market was barely steady within a point or two of yesterday's closing quotations at the end of the first half hour. Futures closed steady, four to seven points higher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Nervous financial market dipped and rallied spasmodically today as traders were confused in their attempt to form some conclusion as to the government's future monetary program.

Some stocks received support from sharp selling off and under leadership of the metals climbed into higher territory. The close was steady with transfers 1,098,380 shares. Some few shares of Home-stake Mining got up 10 points while American Smelting, Cerro De Pasco and others advanced one to three points. National Distillers was off four points at one time but recovered most of the decline. Stocks up fractionally to around two points included Union Pacific, St. Joseph Lead, Western Union, Allied Chemical, General Motors, Consolidated Gas, U. S. Steel, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Johns-Manville, New York Central, Case, Chrysler and Santa Fe.

HAL SCHUMACHER

New York.—(AP)—Hal Schumacher, the Giants' great young right-hander, received his degree as bachelor of science from St. Lawrence University only four months ago.

All the Giants went up to see him get the old sheepskin, and now they're prepared to rally 'round him in some exercises vastly more important—the world series against Washington. He is expected to share with Hubbell and Fitzsimmons the pitching burden for the National League champions.

Schumacher was a campus hero at St. Lawrence—football, baseball and basketball—when he joined the Giants in 1931. John McGraw looked him over and declared he was the finest prospect he had seen since Christy Mathewson.

So sold was McGraw on the youngster that he started him in the second game of the season. The Phils scattered his fast ball all over the landscape and knocked him out in two grounds.

It shook Hal's confidence and McGraw farmed him out to Rochester, then to Bridgeport. But he brought him back after a month or so and Schumacher has been at the Polo Grounds ever since. He had a 50-50 season last year, didn't turn into a great pitcher until this summer.

A six-foot, 180-pounder and a natural athlete, Schumacher has terrific speed and a "sinker" that has dealt misery all around. Late in the campaign, when the Giant were stumbling into one "crisis" after right after the other and things looked dark, Hal came through with five consecutive victories. He's a real 'mound' pitcher for all his youth.

Through a special arrangement, Schumacher continued his studies at St. Lawrence, taking a special course in the off-season. When he is through with the diamond he hopes to get a job coaching at some university.

Hal was born at Hinecky, N. Y., 23 years ago, but most of his life has been a resident of Dolgeville, where his father is employed in a shoe factory.

He loves to talk baseball, so it was arranged for him to room with Blondy Ryan, both on and off the road. Ryan didn't know until recently that there was anything else you could talk about, so they have hit it off fine.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Recommendation of ord S. Worthy, middle-aged Washington druggist to be U. S. Marshal of Eastern North Carolina, occasioned no surprise here today. It had been forecast for months that he would be named to succeed E. C. Geddie, Republican, who recently resigned. Worthy has held but one public office before having been a member of the State Board of Conservation and Development. He is a close to Senator Josiah W. Bailey and of Congressman Linsey C. Warren in whose district he resides. Both men joined in recommending him for the post.
