COTTON LOANS BE MADE SOON

Roosevelt Announces Plan to Raise Prices And Boost Purchasing Power

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt announced today that the first concrete move in his latest effort to raise commodity prices and increase farm purchasing power would be the immediate creation of a credit corporation to lend to farmers on crop security.

The corporation whose personnel is now being considered, will have an initial capitalization of $3,000,000, and its first duty will be to carry out the administration's promise to lend cotton farmers ten cents a pound on their present crop if they agree to join in the campaign designed to reduce acreage by 40 per cent next year.

The corporation will have authority to lend on other commodities, but cotton is the only crop now being considered for benefits.

The agency will be responsible to the President and Secretary Wallace probably will be a member.

Announcing the plan at his press conference, Mr. Roosevelt said the $3,000,000 capital would come out of the farm administration's surplus crop control fund and money for the loans would be borrowed from the Reconstruction Corporation.

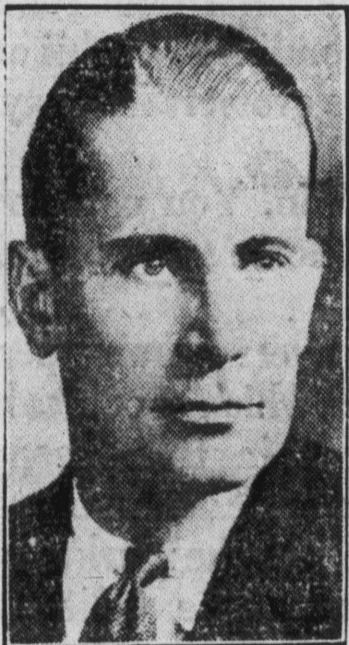

The loans to bear interest at four per cent, will be made at the nearest acceptable warehouse on all cotton above low middling grade of 7-8 inch staple.

Only the crop now in the hands of farmers will be eligible for loans, and no loans will be made after June 30, 1934.

The effect of the loans will be to assure farmers a minimum of ten cents a pound for the cotton they still hold. It has been selling somewhat below that for some time.

There will be restrictions as to the time of sale to prevent a run-away market. For example, if the

MACHINE GUN KELLY PLEADS 'NOT GUILTY'

Other Defendants in Urschel Kidnapping Sentenced to Penitentiary

Oklahoma City, Oct. 7.—George "Machine Gun" Kelly, accused as the kidnapper of Charles J. Urschel, millionaire oil man, pleaded not guilty to a charge of kidnaping in Federal Court here today.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The defendants in the $200,000 kidnaping of Charles Urschel, millionaire oil man, were sentenced by Judge Edgar Vaughn in Federal Court here today.

The sentences ranged from life imprisonment for four of the defendants to five years in the penitentiary for two others.

Harvey Bailey and Alfred Bates were sentenced to serve life terms in the penitentiary. R. G. "Boss" Shannon and his wife also received life sentences.

Ormond Shannon and his son received ten years suspended sentences.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 7.—Kathryn Kelley pleaded not guilty when brought into Federal Court here today with other defendants in the kidnaping of Charles J. Urschel. Her plea was made after she conferred with Judge Vaughn in his office.

FAYETTEVILLE PLANS MUNICIPAL PROJECTS

Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 7.—As a feature move of a length discussion of projects which might be carried out in Fayetteville with the Federal funds, the board of alderman has petitioned the State Highway Commission to reconduct and surface the principal streets in the business section of the city.

Aldermen also discussed the matter of borrowing money from the government for the construction of $50,000 city hall, for making the water shed safer by a $20,000 sewer line and drainage canal, and for improvement of unpaved city streets at a cost of $50,000.

ASK RELIEF FOR GROWERS OF THIS AREA

Ministerial Association Here Makes Powerful Appeal to Pres. Roosevelt

Pointing an accusing finger at "gross injustices and unrighteous practices of a marketing system that is in vogue here" the Greenville Ministerial Association today appealed to President Roosevelt to use his "personal interest and action in securing prompt redress for the prevailing wrongs."

Accompanying the letter was a statement setting forth conditions prevailing among the farmers in this section at the present time. It was prepared at the regular monthly session of the ministerial association this morning.

"The plight of the agriculturalist here," the statement read, "appears to be due to the unlimited selfishness of great manufacturing corporations whose struggle hold upon the present situation even thwarts the benevolent purpose of our national government to secure fair and just returns for the growers' products. As long as we can look with complacency upon these predatory, non-moral corporations glutting their own treasure chests with millions while the grower receives so little in return for the raw product used by these corporations, that he is crushed beneath the millstone of accumulated debt they will continue their iniquitous practice. The whole system of the sale of this principal crop is honey-combed with practices that can only be branded as unjust and unfair."

The statement, bearing the names of the members of the association follows:

"We, the undersigned, members of the Greenville Ministerial Association, do hereby make the following declaration concerning the economic ills that prevail in our midst, and particularly as they effect the agricultural interests of this section of the state:

No one can look upon the gross injustices and unrighteous practices of a marketing system that is in vogue here today, whereby the grower of the principal crop of this section of the state receives such pitifully inadequate returns for his invested money and labor, without a deepening sense of righteous indignation against it. The plight of the agriculturalist here appears to be due to the unlimited selfishness of great manufacturing corporations whose struggle hold upon the present situation even thwarts the benevolent purpose of our national government to secure fair and just returns for the growers' products. As long as we can look with complacency upon these predatory, non-moral corporations glutting their own treasure chests with millions while the grower receives so

LOSE FIGHT FOR RECEIVER

Court Dissolves Receivership of Flurene Chemical Co., Asked by Stockholders

The temporary receivership against the Flurene Chemical Company of this city was dissolved in a hearing before Judge J. Paul Frizzelle at New Bern yesterday.

The hearing was held for the purpose of making the receivership permanent or dissolving it, and after hearing the evidence presented in the complaints of stockholders of the concern, Judge Frizzelle ruled that the firm was solvent and should be allowed to continue normal functions.

Judge W. A. Darden was appointed receiver in the initial hearing before Judge Harris in the civil court here last week, and in hearing on the complaint was set for yesterday at New Bern before Judge Frizzelle.

The company, which sells drug articles bearing the name of the firm, was organized here about a year ago, and has done extensive business in this part of the State since that time. The president is Rev. Stephen Gardner of Washington.

The complaint of receivership was filed by W. H. Bradsher and wife and Dr. W. I. Woolen, stockholders. It was alleged the firm was constantly losing money and should be

Three Big Riddles of Industry Expected to Be Settled Early Next Week

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Three big riddles freighted with controversy and involving vital points in the program of national recovery faced solution in the immediate future by NRA officials.

CALM HOLDS SWAY IN COAL AREA TODAY

Eyes of Miners Turn To Washington For Settlement of Their Trouble

(By The Associated Press) With coal and steel areas in a state of comparative calm, the industry today turned to Washington where new moves are under way to bring peace between workers and employers.

As President Roosevelt meets with leaders of the national steel industry in an effort to settle finally the question of Pennsylvania mine strike, pickets partly maintained a vigil under the eyes of law officers. Picketing continued at the Field mills in Aimebridge and Clairton, Pa., and at Steubenville, O., scene of violent clashes between deputies and workers demanding union recognition.

Hope for solution of the difficulties through a code was expressed by Donald Richbern, NRA counsel, who conferred with miners and operators after the outbreak of union warfare in southern Illinois. At Harrisburg, Ill., National Guards patrolled the scene of the disorders with one of the mines closed by order of Governor Horner.

People walking wrong along the highways have given the patrolmen considerable trouble, and a relentless campaign has been waged to educate the general public that when walking along the highway they should face the car coming from the direction in which they are walking.

WIFE OF FILM MAN MURDERS 2 CHILDREN

Mrs. Willis O'Brien Attempts Own Life After Killing Her Offspring

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Police reported today that Mrs. Hazel O'Brien, estranged wife of Willis H. O'Brien, film technician, whose work was made possible through the weird production of King Kong, shot and killed her two sons and then attempted suicide.

"My husband is not to blame in any way," Mrs. O'Brien was quoted by police as saying after she had been removed to a hospital for treatment of a bullet wound in her chest. "I just couldn't sleep, and there was nobody to leave the kids with."

The two dead youths are Willis, Jr., 13, and William, 14. William was blind. The tragedy took place in the palatial West Boyd Hill home where Mrs. O'Brien had lived with her two sons. She had been separated from her husband for the last two years. Police first charges of suspicion of murder against her.

ROAD DEATH TOLL MOUNTS

Nine Persons Killed In This Highway Division During Month of September

Nine persons were killed and 31 injured in this highway patrol division during the month of September, it was revealed today in the monthly report of Lester Jones, patrol lieutenant.

The death rate was by far the highest since the establishment of the patrol over two years ago. Previously the monthly death rate has been from one to four, or possibly five. The list of injured also was by far the greatest in months, or perhaps in the history of the patrol.

The patrol also handled a total of 2,958 violations of highway traffic laws, and issued 1,094 warnings. Violators of the traffic laws were sentenced to a total of 31 months, and total revenue collected from all causes was given as $10,258.92.

Arrests were made for the following causes: Improper lights, 45; faulty equipment, 8; improper license, 12; no license, 9; drunken drivers, 32; drunk on the highway, 18; reckless drivers, 13; speeding, 6.

Hundreds were warned for parking on the highways, hogging the roads, entering the highways without stopping, walking wrong, speeding, obscure tags, driving on the shoulders and other causes.

The number of warnings for these causes was probably the largest in months due largely to the increased traffic on the highways caused by the opening of the various tobacco markets and the marketing of other farm products.

People walking wrong along the highways have given the patrolmen considerable trouble, and a relentless campaign has been waged to educate the general public that when walking along the highway they should face the car coming from the direction in which they are walking.

HIGH PRICE AVERAGE SET HERE FRIDAY

Average of $13.67 Hundred Pounds Highest of Season; Believed to be Best Average in The State; Heavier Offerings Expected Here Next Week; Market Has Paid Out $2,092,892.85

The price situation continued to display a decided buoyancy on the local tobacco market yesterday and the highest average of the season was established, the official report of sales indicated today.

The average was not only the highest for this market, but on the basis of published reports, was believed to be the highest of any market in the State.

The report showed the market sold 1,120,220 pounds of leaf for $153,121.07, and the average was given as $13.67.

This brought total sales for the season to 17,544,646 pounds for which the market paid out $2,092,892.85.

Sales were comparatively light here the past week compared with the rush experienced the first few days after the close of the sales holiday, and the market was able to clear floors in the late afternoon and be in fine condition to receive offerings for the next day.

With the signing of the tobacco agreement at Washington expected momentarily, assuring the growers higher prices for their tobacco, the pilgrimage to the local market was expected to be much more pronounced than the past week. In fact, it was expected the market would have just about all it can do each day during the remainder of the season as the farmers market their crop to receive the boost in prices promised by the government in return for reduction of acreage the next two years.

Farmers have been holding their tobacco off the market the last few days awaiting the government to complete the agreement with the buyers, and as soon as it is signed and the parity price becomes effective, sales were expected to pick up sharply.

The development of the prices here this week has been a source of much gratification to those interested in the industry and expressions of satisfaction were heard from many sides as the growers sold their leaf at prices considerably advanced over the situation holding sway the beginning of the season.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Fire School Board And Teachers

Raleigh, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Officials of the State School Commission said today they had been informally informed that the school at Gum Neck in Tyrrell county has been closed by injunction proceedings after teachers and school committee members there had been displaced by the county school board for allegedly participating in bribery transactions.

Claude F. Gaddy in charge of the school commission offices in the absence of Leroy Martin, secretary, said H. G. Robinson, Tyrrell county superintendent, had notified him of the action.

The Daily Advance of Elizabeth City was notified by its correspondent at Gum Neck that the Tyrrell Board of Education displaced the Gum Neck committee and teachers after an investigation of reports that the teachers had paid the committee members for their jobs.

DEES FREED IN YOUTH'S DEATH

Greenville Man Not Held Responsible For Death of Negro Near Bailey

J. E. Dees, of Greenville, was not held responsible for the death of an eight-year-old negro youth who was killed by the Greenville man's car near Bailey yesterday.

In view of the fact that the accident was declared by witnesses to have been unavoidable, the coroner of Wilson County declared an inquest was unnecessary.

The accident occurred a short distance from Bailey as Mr. Dees was going to Raleigh. Willford Livingston was playing along the highway with a number of youngsters and ran directly in front of the machine was said to have passed over the youth's body, inflicting injuries from which he died in a Wilson hospital about an hour later.

Witnesses said the boy's brother yelled a warning as the youth ran onto the highway. The boy stopped suddenly in front of the car, making the accident unavoidable.

Mr. Dees, with the aid of a colored man working in a nearby field, carried the boy to a Wilson hospital for medical aid, but his injuries were so serious that he died an hour after arriving at the institution.

MARKER FOR SAM GOMPERS

President Roosevelt To be Present At Unveiling of Memorial to Labor Head

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Organized labor met today to hear President Roosevelt dedicate a memorial to the man whose forty years as president of the American Federation of Labor still wins him praise from workers as well as the mighty—Samuel Gompers.

At First and Massachusetts Avenues, a block from the A. F. L. building which Gompers built, was standing a bronze and marble memorial surrounded by a temporary platform providing seating for 2,500. President Roosevelt was busy with the recovery program, but found time to agree to be present at the unveiling of the statue.

William Green, now president of the Federation, also was a speaker. The Federation of Labor convention under way the five days recessed over day for the services, the delegates preparing to join in the dedication of the memorial for which they helped pay.

WE WOULDN'T LET IT GO NOW

East Carolina Teachers College on Thursday celebrated the 25th anniversary of the opening day of the college in this city.

Yet, when we consider the hard fight we had to get the college and the local opposition to the issuance of the necessary bonds to procure the college...

Now that we have had the college for these twenty-four years and have realized its great value, we are sure that those who opposed its coming are now glad that they lost their fight to keep it away.

TIME FOR ACTION

Governor Ehringhaus has again found it necessary to take up with Washington the matter of hastening some definite settlement of the tobacco situation...

When promised parity prices in return for acreage reduction contracts the growers lost no time in signing and naturally they expected similar quick action on the part of the government.

The delay is proving costly to the tobacco growers and business in general throughout the tobacco area. With all the uncertainty as to what to expect the growers have been placed in a position of not knowing what to do.

"Three, quack-quack," answered Baby Quack-Quack.

"Wrong! I gave you the simplest lesson in arithmetic and you couldn't answer it," said Rip in disgust.

Rip made a dunce cap out of an old newspaper and put it on Quack-Quack's head.

Now several wings were upraised to show that several knew the answer to this question.

"Good!" said Rip. "I am glad to see that I have some bright pupils. Well, Yellow Beak, you can answer that question. If Mrs. Quack goes over to call on Mrs. Quack what does it make?"

Yellow Beak had not been paying attention to the question when it had been first asked, but he did not want to seem ignorant. So he answered: "It makes an afternoon of gossiping."

"Wait until I get you, you bad little Yellow Beak!" Mrs. Quack shouted. Everyone else was laughing. Rip hit the ruler upon the desk. No one paid any attention.

Monday—"Playing"

and that if they sell now they will lose money. In the meantime many have had to sell some of their crop in order to exist and now they do not know what to expect.

During all this there has been a certain degree of uncertainty and irregularity so far as the sales have been concerned and tobaccoists do not know where they stand from day to day.

On the whole, there is a confusion that must be settled and settled quickly if the growers are to prevent further losses and receive fair prices for their crop.

The matter has been in the hands of the government for weeks and we repeat it is high time for some definite announcement of policy on the part of the government.

Amplifying President Roosevelt's oral statement Secretary Wallace said:

"Loans will be 10 cents a pound at the warehouse on cotton classing low middling or better as to grade 7-8 inch or better as to staple; and 8 cents per pound on cotton classing low middling or better as to grade and under 7 1/8 inch as to staple."

"The loans will be available to farmers who agree to abide by the regulations and co-operate with the Secretary of Agriculture in the 1934 cotton acreage reduction of not more than 40 per cent of the average acreage will be required of any farmer."

When promised parity prices in return for acreage reduction contracts the growers lost no time in signing and naturally they expected similar quick action on the part of the government.

The delay is proving costly to the tobacco growers and business in general throughout the tobacco area. With all the uncertainty as to what to expect the growers have been placed in a position of not knowing what to do.

They have been told to go ahead and sell and then later they will receive refunds to bring their price average up to parity. Then they have been told that no such promise has been made riotic enlistment of all our business enterprises on the basic principle of 'selflessness', that is, the economic welfare of all. Therefore, we believe it is incumbent upon these great buying companies to enter into the spirit of this movement as well as to render lip service through adherence to the letter of the law.

Moreover, we note a growing tendency on the part of our agricultural people toward losing faith in our government as an agency whereby their interests may be protected, and furthered in securing fair returns for their product, with much concern. As citizens, they too, with all others will soon be called upon to enter into the campaign to 'BUY' With what shall they buy? We inquire.

"Hence, our protest against this system, voiced herewith, is our sincere, earnest and sympathetic expression in behalf of our agricultural population in their hour of dire need."

The above statement is unanimously adopted by the Greenville Ministerial Association, in special session this 7th day of October 1933.

Outrageous Fortune

by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: Nesta Riddell finds the man whom she found suffering from loss of memory in her husband, Jimmy, and tells him that he stole the Van Berg emeralds, and that Van Berg, he does not believe her, but cannot disprove the statement. Finally he forces her to turn over the money he had had in his pocket, and goes to the Lexington library to read the details of the Van Berg case in the papers. As he reads he becomes convinced that he did lose Van Berg, and had seen the emeralds in his hand. If he did not shoot Van Berg and steal the emeralds, who did?

Chapter 18 JIM IN FLIGHT

IN the end he knew very little more. The police were said to have a clue. Elmer Van Berg had not recovered consciousness. His condition was extremely grave. There was no trace of the emeralds.

He sat back in the hard upright chair and stared straight in front of him. What next? He had left Hippopot, and no power on earth would take him back there. He would have to make that quite clear.

He had bought some sheets of paper, a pencil, and a couple of stamped envelopes as he came along. He wrote a few lines of thanks to Min. A nice little thing—kind, pretty, timid. He hoped for her sake that Nesta wasn't stopping there long. It was quite easy to write to Min.

It wasn't at all easy to write to Nesta. How did you write to an unpleasant stranger who happened to be your wife, and make it perfectly clear that you never intended to see her again?

He couldn't imagine how he had over come to be mixed up with her. Or with this Van Berg affair. According to all the available evidence, he had shot Elmer Van Berg and taken the Inca's emeralds. Unless or until he got his memory back he could neither rebut nor explain this evidence. All he could do was to try and get away from it.

He might remember why he had come to see Elmer Van Berg. He had gone to see him, and they had talked and had drinks. That was a funny thing—there was nothing in the paper about those drinks. But he remembered drinking with Elmer.

That is to say, he had remembered it. It had come and gone like a flash. Elmer standing up, with his hand on the sphygm. If he could remember that, he ought to be able to remember the whole thing. He might remember it at any time. It was utterly damnable. He'd got to get away out of Lexington—out of the country if possible.

It came to him that there had been no mention of those drinks, because they were a police clue. His finger-marks would be on the glass that he had used. The incident hadn't been given to the press on purpose.

He leaned forward with determination and wrote: "I am going away. When I am in a position to do so, I will come to some arrangement with you."

He signed, J. R., and fastened the envelope and addressed it to Nesta.

FIVE pounds is not a very large sum. Carefully husbanded, of course, it will go quite a long way. If you tramp the roads, sleep out, and live on bread and cheese, your lodging costs you nothing, and your food not very much. On the other hand, a toothbrush, a cake of soap, and a razor are necessities, and so is a change of linen. Money melts as soon as you begin to buy clothes. How long would his suit last if he slept out in it? It was none too grand now.

He pushed all these things away. He had got to get out of Lexington, and he was lucky to have five pounds to take the road with.

As he passed a newspaper shop at the corner of the Station Road, a headline stared at him from a yard away:

ARREST NEAR IN VAN BERG CASE

A mile out of Lexington he left the high road for a footpath across fields. It took him into a lane which climbed to an open heath.

He sat down to rest on the stump of a tree and looked about him. The day was fine, but not clear. The blue of the sky was misted over, and the sun came palely through. There was a purple bloom of heather as far as the eye could see. He stared across it at the veiled horizon. A hill like a cloud stood up against its northern edge—a hill with a double top.

He sat looking at it for a long time, and for as long as he looked at it there were pictures in his mind—broken pictures that came and went, forming, dissolving, and reforming. When he tried to think about them they were gone. He was left with a sense of things most deeply familiar.

He walked on towards the hill. He had bought food in Lexington. At mid-day he sat on a sunny slope and ate. Afterwards he fell asleep and dreamed about the emeralds. It was the same dream every time he slept, but it was getting clearer. In the dream he always knew where the emeralds were, but as soon as he woke up the knowledge faded. Sometimes he could hold it for a moment by shutting his eyes and keeping his mind empty; but as soon as he tried to keep it, it was gone.

The dream always began the same way. He could remember the beginning—Elmer's hand with the scar, and the emeralds dangling from it under the light—eight square green stones with pearls between them.

Then the dream broke up into a rush of colored fragments. There was a voice in a fog. There was the sound of a shot a long way off. There was the voice, and there was a picture in his mind of tall stone pillars with pineapple tops, and a drive that wound between them out of sight. The voice said, "Like a kid's green beads," and, "Nobody knows where they are." But in the dream he knew. A round room with five little windows like slits—a place where you might look for a year and never find them.

He woke up, the sun hot on his face. The dream was gone, but the hill still broke the horizon. In some strange way he associated the hill and the dream. He made a pillow of bracken for his head and lay on the slope watching the hill. Presently he would get to it—presently. He slept again.

"IT'S eleven o'clock," said Caroline to Patsy Ann. "I'm going to bed."

She went up the stairs, which ended on a tiny landing with a door on either side. Her room was on the left, and you went down two steps to it. Both the steps and the floor of the room were old polished boards, very wavy and uneven. The window, which looked to the front of the house, was set in a deep embrasure. She shut the door and turned on the light in the lamp beside her bed. Hazelbury West had had electric light for the last eight years and considered itself very up to date in consequence.

Caroline turned down her bed, folding the quilt carefully and laying it on the chest in which she kept her hats. She had said she wanted to come to bed, but she wasn't really sleepy.

She opened the bottom drawer of the chest of drawers which faced the window and took out a bundle of letters tied with a twist of pale blue knitting silk. Then she went over to the bed. Sitting down on the edge of it, she untied the bundle and turned the letters over.

There were not a great many of them. Two the first year after Jim went out—one for her birthday, and one for Christmas—and two again the second year, and the third. In the fourth year he only wrote for Christmas. The pain of that missed birthday came across the three years' interval and hurt her still.

In the fifth year there was no letter at all. On her birthday and on Christmas day Caroline read the old letters and tried to make believe that they had just come. It was not a very successful make believe.

GREENVILLE TOBACCO MARKET REPORT

Greenville Market Leading Eastern Carolina

Greenville Tobacco Market continues to lead all Eastern Carolina according to published reports, in prices paid for tobacco. Friday the market was considerably stronger, many growers averaging over 25 cents.

No market excels Greenville, grade for grade at anytime.

You will not find the tobacco buyers on any market cooperating in every way more splendidly than the buying forces on the Greenville Tobacco Market. This fact alone is more responsible for Greenville being the world's largest Bright Tobacco market than any one factor.

All sales finishing in early afternoon. You can now sell your tobacco in Greenville and return home same day of sale.

Everybody has observed that an overwhelming per cent of the offerings have been common tips, which of course brings down the general average. Notwithstanding this, Greenville market this week is averaging more than any Eastern Carolina market according to published figures.

The government expects to announce shortly completion of agreement with buying companies relative to prices. We feel confident those who have sold since market opened will receive a refund on the prices already received though everyone knows that government refunds come slow.

Tune in on Greenville's Radio Station WEED every day (except Sunday) at 9:45 A. M., 12:45 P. M. and 4:45 P. M. for latest tobacco market reports. Will find it on your dial around 142 or 1420.

Benefit Bridge Tournament.

On Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock St. Paul's Guild will hold a bridge tournament at the home of Mrs. E. B. Ficklen. A special feature will be a half-hour talk on contracts by Mrs. R. B. Davis, on some points of Culbertson 1933 system. The first person reporting the correct bidding and play of the hand in Blount-Harvey's window will be given a free ticket. Luncheon will be served and prize given for high score. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. F. M. Park, or Mrs. W. I. Wooten—(Adv.)

TO LECTURE TO SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Rev. F. C. Harding is teaching a special series of Bible lessons dealing with the times in which we are living. All the citizens of Greenville are cordially invited to share the privilege of hearing Mr. Harding at St. Paul's Church at 9:45 a. m., Sunday morning.

Celebrates Birthday.

Among the interesting events of the younger social set was a party Thursday night honoring the fifteenth birthday of Miss Mary Thomas Smith. The home was attractively decorated to carry out the colors of the Halloween season. Three tables were placed for bridge. Miss Marian Tyson received a deck of cards for high score and Miss Mary Mary Council Horne received low score prize.

Those enjoying Miss Smith's hospitality were: Misses Mary Agnes Walker, Lura Cobb Dunn, Nina James, Lou Nichols Joyner, Mary Council Horne, Helen Foley, Jamie Merritt, Jean Hodges, Marian Wilson, Lib Carico and Marian Tyson.

The hostess received numerous lovely gifts. After several progressions a tempting ice course was served, also carrying out the colors of Halloween. Among the favors was a fortune bar each, which, when read, created much merriment.

MRS. FICKLEN ENTERTAINS FOR MRS. WINSTEAD

Yesterday afternoon at her home on Fifth street, Mrs. E. B. Ficklen was a charming hostess, honoring Mrs. John L. Winstead, a bride of last month. Tables were placed for bridge in a lovely setting of fall flowers, with a predominating color note of yellow being used.

Concluding the game, cards were removed and a tempting salad course was served. Miss Elizabeth Skinner assisted the hostess in serving.

Mrs. Ficklen presented Mrs. Winstead a lovely relish dish. A hand-painted tray was given Mrs. D. M. Clark for high score. Table prices, potted plants, were cut at each table.

Mrs. Hugh Woolford of Rocky Mount, was among the guests.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

DON'T SHOUT, TALK SOFTLY FOR HARMONY IN HOME

The habit of shouting and talking in the home in harsh high-pitched voices is often due to nothing but thoughtlessness. Voices are raised to carry from one room to another or to call out into the yard. One tries to talk above the whine of the vacuum cleaner, the rattle of dishes or the sound of running water. Cultivate the habit of shutting off such noises before you talk to the children.

BOX OF PLAYTHINGS FOR VISITING CHILDREN

Even if you have no children, a box of things to amuse your friends boys and girls when they come is a good idea. The playthings may include various small articles such as beads, spoons, magazines and party favors. A few small inexpensive toys will fill out the collection nicely. Keep the box in an out-of-the-way place and teach the children to put everything back in order.

A meat Substitute

This is what you'll need for the egg plant dish that will take the place of meat some evening for supper. Egg plant, two eggs bread or cracker crumbs, sage, salt, pepper, butter, hard boiled eggs. Then chop up the egg plant and make a layer of it in your cooking dish, together with salt, pepper and a very little sage, butter and crumbs. Then chop up the hard boiled egg so that it is very fine. Cover with hot milk and bake three-quarters of an hour.

THESE MATERIALS MAKE INEXPENSIVE CANDIES

Among the cheapest materials to use for home-made candy are white and brown sugar, molasses, corn syrup, peanuts, coconut, popcorn, raisins, prunes and other dried fruits, fresh apples and orange or cranee peel. The sweets that can be made include peanut brittle, stuffed prunes, popcorn balls, molasses taffy, toffee, and apple candy.

CORNEED BEEF, CABBAGE WILL SURPRISE GUESTS

A hostess wanting to try something unconventional sometimes may have a dinner party where she surprises her guests by having corneed beef and cabbage rather than chicken. Men will be particularly grateful for a change of this sort once in a while.

To Sugar-Coat Doughnuts

To coat doughnuts with sugar, place confectioner's or granulated sugar in a paper sack, add several doughnuts, shake the sack well and the doughnuts will be coated quickly. Repeat until all doughnuts have been sugared.

RALLY DAY PRESBYTERIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL

The annual Rally Day exercises will be held in the Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning at 9:45. This day is set apart for a general rally of all members of the church and Sunday school, as they begin the fall and winter work. A special program has been prepared in which all of the departments will take part, and an offering for the extension work of the church will be taken. Fathers, mothers, children, friends, come and help us make it a success.

TO ASK U. S. OFFICERS TO SURRENDER JOES

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 7.—(AP)—A special Washington dispatch to The Observer says United States district attorneys and marshals for the western and middle districts of North Carolina "will be called upon to yield their offices to Democrats by January 1."

An exception will be made, however, the dispatch says, in the case of Brownlow Jackson, marshal of the western district, who will be allowed to round out his four-year term which expires next January 24.

Seeing Through My Windshield

(By ETHEL NICE, H. D. A.)
Meeting Of 15th District.

Several Home Demonstration Club women attended the meeting of the club women in the 15th district at Ayden yesterday. They enjoyed the day very much.

Club Reports.

Blankets are being mailed to all club members in the near future to secure the club reports of the year. It is very necessary that these reports be received in this office by November 1. They will be used on Achievement Day, Nov. 14, and each club will want its report to be complete.

Achievement Day.

Mrs. J. M. E. Wood of Farmville, has consented to be our guest speaker for Achievement Day. Miss Ora Sandler, music teacher in the Greenville schools, has also consented to direct a chorus of Home Demonstration women who will sing during the day. No club member should miss this meeting as it is a time when our club women come together than any other day in the year.

STATE FROSH TRIM SQUAD FROM E. C. T. C.

Raleigh, Oct. 7.—The State College Teachers ran and passed themselves to an 18 to 0 score over the East Carolina Teachers College eleven here yesterday afternoon on Riddick Field.

Coach Bob Warren gave about every man on the freshman squad a chance, running in three complete teams, who piled up ten first downs to three for their opponents. It was the first game for the freshmen. The second backfield combination, composed of Hayden, quarterback; Chilson, right half; Blanchard, left half; and Brown, fullback, looked best, with Chilson making all the noise. Chilson broke loose several times for long gains, once stepping 35 yards on an off tackle play, only to be run out of bounds on the two yard line.

Hayden and Blanchard were the fireworks in the Teachers' passing attack, attempting six passes and completing three for a gain of 75 yards. Cara, Techtlet end, was on the receiving end of a pass good for fifteen yards.

Morgan, E. C. T. C. fullback, gave the Wolflets their biggest worries with his smashing drives that gained most of the E. C. T. C. yardage.

State Position E. C. T. C. Conrad Ridenhour

SPORT SLANTS

The shake-up in the top flight of our athletic great and near-great for the 1933 campaign extends finally and with conviction to the galloping sport of pole.

THE GOOSE COLLECTS A HOMER

The Washington Senators lone tally in the second world series game came from the big bat of Goose Goslin, who fired a home run into the upper right field stands in the third inning.

GA. PLANNING BIG REUNION AT HILL TILT

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 7.—University of Georgia alumni and the two Carolinas are planning for a great reunion on the occasion of the Carolina-Georgia game here next Saturday week, October 14.

The Bulldog rooters will be given a special section on the 50-yard line. President Martin, Athletic Director Stogeman, Business Manager Martin and other officials of the University of Georgia have made reservations for places at the Georgia alumni luncheon preceding the game.

Prof. Harold D. Meyer of the Department of Sociology is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Interest in the Carolina-Georgia game has been mounting higher and higher since Georgia beat the highly-touted N. C. State team 20-10.

Reservations have already been made for a party of sixty girls from St. Mary's College in Raleigh.

Correspondingly large delegations are expected from several of the other girls' colleges, Assistant Director Shepard said today.

The orders for reserved tickets had already become heavy today. Athletic authorities are expecting the largest crowd of the present State season and are making elaborate preparations to handle a capacity audience of 24,000 if necessary.

An increased force is being asked of the State Highway Patrol to handle the volume of traffic quickly and conveniently.

More ushers, gatemen and attendants will be put on the stadium. The residents and merchants of the village are co-operating in making preparations to feed the army of visitors and to house those who will stay over for the after-game festivities.

TWO MORE CONVICTS ESCAPE FROM CAMP

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 7.—State officials were notified yesterday afternoon that Albert Puckett and Joe Lane, serving sentences on the roads in Johnston County, had escaped from a road gang. The men got into the woods before the guard in charge could shoot them, the report said. Lane had four months' sentence, and Puckett was serving two years.

Severest Test

Smith clearly outplayed Hitchcock in the now historic intersectional classic at Chicago. By all odds, this was the severest test of the year for high-goal polo.

Boeseke, despite an injured foot, shared the honors of the East-West battle triumph with Smith and then topped off his finest season by outplaying the burly Texan in the final match for the Open Championship of the United States at Meadow Brook.

This spring Boeseke was dropped from eight to seven goals, something the handicapping committee of the United States Polo Association would rather forget in the light of subsequent events. At the same time Smith was raised from eight to nine.

The only thing that can keep Hitchcock at ten goals after this year is tradition and the belief that Tommy still has that much polo in his system when he is right. On this basis, there is no reason for not elevating both Smith and Boeseke to the same top rank.

The Blue Devils will not go down next week before giving a great battle to Neyland's son. That, coupled with the fact that the game will be the major early season grid clash in the South, is making the game a drawing card that threatens to break all attendance records at Duke.

Bringing together the "big shot" of the Southeastern Conference and one of the favored teams of the Southern Conference, fans from five Southern States are making plans to see the contest.

Duke athletic officials already report the largest advance sale in history to grid followers in this State. South Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee and Georgia. Durham will be the Southern football headquarters on that day. Many people from Eastern and Northern States, getting their lone chance to see the Vols in action so close at home, are planning to attend.

Duke officials are looking for the game to be the biggest since the Pitt game here in 1929 when the stadium was opened. That game drew around 624,000 fans. The Tennessee-Duke game may break that record.

More than 500,000 acres in fifty-eight counties of the Pandemic-Plains section of Texas are infested by prairie dogs, biological survey workers estimate.

DUKE LOOKS TO BIG FIGHT WITH VOLS

Durham, N. C., Oct. 7.—Duke University's Blue Devils are overly anxious for a victory in their game with Wake Forest here today in order that they can come up next week with an undefeated record to make ready for their biggest game of the season—the all-important battle with Tennessee's awful Vols.

While they are not conceded much of a chance for victory against the Tennessee team, which is rated as the strongest team in the Southeastern Conference and one of the best in the nation this year, they can look back to last year and remember the battle they gave the Vols and hope they can make something near as good a showing.

HIGH LOSSES TO GOLDSBORO

Goldsboro scored in the second and fourth periods to defeat Greenville, 13 to 0, in a high school football game here yesterday.

The visitors made a dozen first downs while their strong defense was limiting Greenville to three. Evans, quarterback, accounted for both of the touchdowns and was on the throwing end to pass which Marrow took to add extra point.

RETAIL TRADE ASKS CONTROL OF U. S. PRICES

(Continued from page one) minority of workers to abide by the will of the majority or make it necessary in some cases for employees to arbitrate with more than one group.

This involves fundamentally the question of closed shops heretofore regarded as banned by the industrial law.

Third and possibly the most controversial is a proposal just come to a head whereby some officials hope to tempt capital to invest in construction and new equipment by lowering down wages for a period of one year with mandatory increases at that time and further increases at a stated period later if the volume of business rises.

The idea was worked out by a group of deputies and economists and is to use the code structure to flatten out the building curve from its present level to booms and depressions every ten years to twenty years over more moderate fluctuations.

Its backers assert they are not proposing to reduce wages below levels prepared by the industries in codes but rather not to raise them for the present to compromise industrial offers and labor demands.

Labor men are already promising a fight.

Sitting in executive session the county board heard evidence from the committee on August 19th and from the teachers on August 26, and then asked the resignation of both groups though vigorous denials to all charges of bribery were made by both sides.

The county board then named a new committee and the committee elected a new set of teachers. Four days after the new teachers started work the school was closed by injunction and the teachers employed
