Roosevelt Hopes to Find Solution of the Question Before he Leaves For The South Tomorrow; Final Conference Expected to be Held This Afternoon or Sometime Tonight

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Fresh hope for a solution of the American-Russian negotiations for tomorrow night was expressed today at the White House as President and M. Litvinoff arranged another meeting.

The President was termed as confident that the talks may lead to recognition of the Soviet government before he leaves for the South tomorrow.

While no definite hour had been fixed for the conference today, the President expected to talk before night with the Soviet envoy.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER THE SECOND TIME

Rocky Mount, N. C., Nov. 16.—Gray Reid, negro, released from State's Prison a year ago after serving eight years for murder, faced a new murder charge today. A resident of Edgecombe County, in the vicinity of Pinetops, Reid was arrested by Chief of Police J. T. Parker, of Pinetops, and G. W. Gupton, local officer, here today. Reid planned to take a bus to Norfolk, Va., he said.

Chief Parker declared he believed Reid to be the murderer of Will Braswell, negro, who was found stabbed to death in his own back yard last night. Chief Parker said witnesses had told him Reid and Braswell left a gambling game together last night, and Reid is thought to have been the last person who saw Braswell alive.

Reid had $50 in his pocket when arrested which he said he made on his tobacco crop.

The negro was sentenced to serve fifteen years in State's Prison for murdering a negro in Wilson, but was released after serving eight years. He said he returned to the Pinetops section a year ago and had been engaged in farming since that time.

DAVE COUNTY GIRL IS MISSING FROM HOME

Mocksville, N. C., Nov. 16.—Miss Pauline Howard, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Howard, has disappeared from her parents' home, in the Red and section of Davie County, according to a statement of her father, and the parents are very much alarmed over the failure to get information about their daughter. Mr. Howard stated his daughter left home some time during the night of October 30 and was thought to have been accompanied by a man named Malcolm Arnold, who had been in the community for several weeks and made the young woman's acquaintance.

Mr. Howard was seeking a warrant for the arrest of Arnold, but, as he could not learn the whereabouts of the man, the warrant was not issued. Mr. Howard gives the following description of his daughter: Age 16, about 5 feet tall, weighs about 120 pounds, blond hair, fair complexion and grey eyes. Arnold is described as being about 30 or 35 years of age, about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches tall, weighs about 150 pounds, sandy hair, grey eyes, fair complexion, scar on left temple near eyebrow.

M'LAMB FATE IS UNDECIDED

Man Scheduled to Die In Chair Tomorrow Awaits Executive Clemency

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Edwin Gill, Parole Commissioner, today said: "There is no decision yet on the fate of Luther McLamb, Johnston County farmer scheduled to die in the electric chair at State's Prison tomorrow."

Meanwhile, McLamb sat in his little cell on Death Row wondering whether he would get further executive clemency and declining to discuss his case.

McLamb was convicted of the murder of George Hudson. He claimed he committed the deed during a drunken brawl, but a Benson doctor who was called to administer to Hudson had written Gill that McLamb, in his opinion, was not so intoxicated he did not know what he was doing.

RIDERS MUST CARRY LIGHTS

Police Declare War On Riders of Unlighted Bicycles in Greenville

Ride your bicycle at night all you want to, but be sure you carry a light.

This was the advice issued today by Chief of Police George Clark as he launched a clean-up drive against those who make a habit of riding bicycles at night without proper lights.

It is a direct violation of the law to operate an unlighted vehicle at night, the chief of police said, as he asserted his intention of arresting all persons violating the legislation in the future.

The violation has been largely rampant among delivery boys, the police head said, and numbers of accidents have been narrowly averted recently because of the quick work by automobile drivers.

Scores of persons riding bicycles have been injured in automobile wrecks in recent months, and the situation will not show an improvement, Mr. Clark said, until the bicycle riders pay attention to carrying proper lights.

Unlighted vehicles of any kind constitute a danger whether in the city or on public highways, and the bicycle is of greater danger because of the smallness of its size and the inability of automobile drivers to see it in time to avert a serious wreck.

Chief Clark said beginning today all persons caught riding unlighted bicycles would be arrested and ordered to appear in court to show cause why they do not carry proper lights.

Dollar Still Moves Downward

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—For the third successive day the administration set the price of $33.56 an ounce for Reconstruction Finance Corporation's purchase of newly-minted domestic gold.

The figure again was far below the dollar value of gold at London, which ranged upward from 35.14 to the dollar, which opened at $3.47, was further depreciated.

ALDERMEN RECEIVE BIDS FOR BUS FRANCHISE

Fayetteville, N. C., Nov. 16.—Aldermen passed, on its first reading, Monday night an ordinance granting Frank E. Maloney and his heirs and assigns a 50-year franchise to operate a bus system for passengers and freight over the streets of Fayetteville.

Mr. Maloney stated that he planned to start the buses in operation early next year, and that he would probably start with two running on a regular route at fixed schedules.

The ordinance granting the franchise provided that the franchise would become void if for any reason the buses were not operated for a period of thirty consecutive days after the operation once was commenced.

that county and city boards serving under it would be local civil works administrators.

Full details of the work to be undertaken by the board has not been completed she said.

"It is certain, however, that approximately 68,000 men and women in North Carolina will be put to work immediately on projects that are socially or economically desirable and that may be undertaken quickly, such as repairing public buildings, swimming pools, parks and playgrounds.

DENY SPLIT OF PRESIDENT AND WOODIN

Resignation of Treasury Head Caused by His Feeble Health, Reports Say

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A Cabinet officer who said he would give unwavering support to President Roosevelt's gold-buying plan and who is a close friend and leading commodity dollar advocate, today said that the resignation of Henry Woodin, Jr., as Under-Secretary of the Treasury, was not a sign of any schism between the latter and the President.

The explanation remained that Woodin needed to go to Tucson, Arizona, in search of rest and health, and that Dean Acheson, who has been Under-Secretary of the Treasury, resumed simply to let Henry Morgenthau take second ranking position of the Treasury so he could assume charge during Woodin's absence.

Fire Destroys L. C. Arthur Barn

Fire destroyed a barn and stables at the home of L. C. Arthur on the outskirts of Greenville Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock entailing loss which firemen estimated at around $300. The loss was said to have been partially covered by insurance.

The origin of the blaze was not determined, but opinion was expressed that a spark from a passing train ignited the wooden structure. The flames gained headway so rapidly that the structure was doomed by the time the fire department arrived. The building was filled with hay and fodder.

GIVES OYSTER ROAST HERE

Fred Hargett Entertains at Annual Event in Person-Garrett Factory

Fred Hargett, of Onslow County, who has been connected with the Greenville tobacco market for a number of years, entertained tobaccoists, business men and numbers of growers at an oyster roast in the Person-Garrett Tobacco Factory last night.

The roast, an annual affair given by Mr. Hargett, proved to be one of the most delightful of years, and was marked by considerable speech-making with K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales of the local market, acting as toastmaster.

Speakers dealing with the progress of the market and the prospect of maintaining the fine record of previous years, were the order of the evening, and everybody was delighted with the spirit of optimism in evidence.

Co-operation between tobaccoists, business men and growers for upholding the splendid record of service of the Greenville market, known as the best market in the world, was urged by the speakers who declared the outlook for holding tight to the record was never better.

Speakers were Matt Long, Simon Moye, Rufus Keel, Haywood Dail, Jack Killeo, C. W. Harvey, B. B. Sugg, C. W. Howard, M. K. Blount, and others.

A few words of welcome were extended by Mr. Hargett, and each of the following speakers expressed appreciation of his hospitality as shown through the annual oyster roast.

A short time after he ran into a mule on the Stokes highway last night, B. B. Gibbs, of Farmville, driving an automobile owned by Mrs. B. B. Walters of the same place, wrecked the machine as he attempted to leave the highway and go into an intersecting road, it was reported today by the highway patrol.

Gibbs and a young lady companion were said to have escaped injury both when the car struck the mule and when it crashed into a ditch about a mile and a half from where the first accident occurred. The mule's leg was broken by the impact.

Gibbs told officers the mule dashed across the highway in front of him as he was coming in the direction of Greenville. Although authorities attempted to ascertain the owner of the mule they had been unable to do so today.

BOBBITT EXONERATED IN DOUBLED TRAGEDY

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 16.—P. L. Bobbitt, of Norfolk, driver of the truck which last week killed two Mebaneville school teachers in a collision east of the city, was free today of manslaughter charges when the Guilford grand jury found not a true bill as to his case. He claimed the young women turned to the left in front of him without making a signal.

Ambassador's Wife Chooses Pin Lace For Evening
Washington.—(AP)—Cloudy pink in a floral design was worn by Madame Debutchi, wife of the Ambassador from Japan, to an evening affair. Her wrap was a shimmering, silver cloth.

The official report of K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, made public yesterday sold a tobacco of $27,588 pounds of tobacco for $102,487.46, at an average of $19.33 per hundred pounds.

The sale was the lightest of the season, especially since the enforced sales holiday over a month ago, but it gave the market a chance to clear all floors and get in fine condition for the handling of increased offerings the latter part of the week and the first of next.

There were approximately 800,000 pounds of leaf on the floors of the various warehouses today, and with the usual speed used by the sales forces it was hope to complete work shortly after the noon hour.

CLOSE PARROT FEVER PROBE

Health Officer Says Investigation Shows No Disease in Pitt County

The investigation launched by the Pitt County Health Department into the possibility of parrot disease in Pitt County yesterday proved that nothing of the kind exists, and it parrots infected with the disease have been brought into the county, health authorities were unable to determine it.

The investigation was started following receipt of a letter from the State Department of Health on the basis of a report from the United States Public Health Service that parrots infected with psittacosis had been distributed by a traveling circus in the Farmville community. The danger of the disease was stressed and health authorities were directed to destroy all birds found to have been distributed in this section.

Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the local Health Department, who conducted the probe, said the circus in question did not visit Farmville, although it was reported to have exhibited at Wilson, Kinston and Washington.

Parrots were believed to have been distributed in those communities, and if any were brought into this county, Dr. McGeachy said he hoped the owners would see that they are destroyed immediately.

The circus was discovered in Washington under the name of the Empire Shows. It carried about fifty canaries and a few parrots. One human case at Richmond, Va. the report received here revealed, gave history of contact with birds said to have been given away by the show.

Dr. McGeachy was gratified over the fact that the circus did not visit this county, and his investigation ended with the trip to Farmville, although he said he planned to keep his eyes open to see that parrots believed distributed by the show are not brought into the county.

Amarillo, Texas.—(AP)—An addict of "auto poker" would lose his non-chance—or whatever it is poker players have—in Constable Howard Elliott's chicken house.

Elliott built it of old auto tags. He used 1,250 pairs of tags, not to mention the "pairs" in numbers. The license plates all were issued the same year, 1932, and were left-overs from Potter County's quota.

ORDERED TO LEAVE TOWN IMMEDIATELY

Clyde Munn Claims to Have Been Advised By Agents of Manufacturers to Get Out of Town at Once; Governor Advised of Threat; Plans to Look Into The Situation

Hickory, N. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Clyde Munn, organizer for the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, stationed here temporarily, said today he had been threatened by manufacturers' agents, two of whom he recognized, because of his activity here.

Munn said the men approached him last night and "made strong threats" and told him to leave the town; "but they did not say what they would do if I stayed here."

The hosiery organizer, who had been in Hickory three weeks for the purpose he said of organizing workers and checking up on alleged N.R.A. violations, said he had no intention of leaving the city.

Last night, he said, a police guard assigned him, but today that officer "can't be seen around here."

Munn said the three men met him on the street and attempted to draw him into an argument. "I walked away from them," he said, "and came to the hotel where I am staying. They then telephoned me and told me to get out of town. I hung up on them. This morning they told me they had given me a chance to leave and that they were watching the bus station."

The organizer said he did not know what the men intended to do if he did not leave, but said their threats were strong.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus today was notified that Clyde Munn, organizer of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers had reported to his national headquarters in Philadelphia that he had been threatened by manufacturers' agents while attempting to organize hosiery workers at Hickory.

The governor said he was looking into the matter, but the first word of it came from the Philadelphia union headquarters.

TWO ARE DROWNED NEAR SNEAD'S FERRY

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 16.—News has been received in the city of the accidental drowning of Leroy Rhodes of Wilmington, and John Hardison, a negro, when their boat sank in New River, near Snead's Ferry, last week. Both men were residents of the latter place.

Bodies of the pair were removed from the river last Friday morning. The body of the negro still was in the boat and that of Rhodes about fifteen feet from shore. Rhodes had succeeded in removing a pair of boots he was wearing.

The pair was last seen Wednesday afternoon crossing the inland waterway at its junction with the river. It was near this spot the bodies were found.

Rhodes left his home Wednesday afternoon, telling his wife he might not be back home that night. Search was not begun until Friday morning.

The men had been oystering and it was said their overloaded boat filled with water in crossing the waterway.

fine spirit of co-operation that has made possible such a market here. Everything is interested in the market, warehousemen, buyers, business houses or other lines and our other citizens whether or not they are in business, and it is this spirit that has caused Greenville to be the market it is. A continuance of this spirit of co-operation will not only keep Greenville the World's Largest and Best Tobacco Market, but if applied to other phases of business and civic activity, will make Greenville the outstanding small city of this entire section of the South. It is pulling together that wins and this truth has been clearly proven to all of us by the records established by our tobacco market.

SINCLAIR MEETS COUZENS
 (News and Observer)
 Harry Sinclair, who served a jail term of seven months for refusing to answer questions put by a Senate Committee, says the present stock market investigation is a joke to him. Senator Couzens reminded him that a good many people thought the same about the Teapot Dome investigation and that he hoped that "they do not go through the same sentiments at this investigation." And Ferdinand Pecora, the committee's counsel, added a pertinent question: "Who was the joke on?"
 The attitude of Sinclair explains a good deal of what is the matter with the United States today. He and his associates consider themselves bigger than the United States Government. And act accordingly. But Sinclair found out that one man in the United States was bigger than he was when the late Senator Walsh got on his trail. It was Senator Walsh's dogged tenacity and his ability as an investigator that finally brought the exploiters of Teapot Dome to the bar of the courts.
 Senator Walsh is no longer in the Senate, and Senator Couzens is not the able investigator that he was, but his remarks at the present Senate investigation show that he does not intend to be buffed. He is a man of wealth himself, but he has never let that stand in the way of doing his duty as he saw it.

Centenary Great Defense Team

Shreveport, La.—(AP)—The Centenary "Gentlemen" have been taught that all young fellows should master the art of self-defense.
 And their ability in warding off gridiron opponents' touchdown thrusts has been no expert this year that none of their seven rivals crossed Centenary's goal line.
 Furthermore, this team coached by Homer Norton hadn't been beaten in its last sixteen starts, since the final game of the 1931 season.
 Work on the defense has been stressed so much, however, that Centenary's attack hasn't produced the scores it did a year ago. The Gentlemen set some kind of a record by playing three successive scoreless ties.
 with the University of Texas, Louisiana State University and Texas.
 Among their victims have been Texas A. & M., a team that beat Tulane; Baylor, Louisiana Normal and Henderson. Centenary was rolling along at top speed to whip the Texas Aggies 20 to 0.
 Centenary's chief rivals every year have been clubs from the South West Conference, but for some reason, the Gentlemen always have been denied membership in that group.
 Centenary rubbed it in on these teams last year by beating Texas, Southern Methodist and Texas A. & M. and tying Arkansas.

Prices Higher Today (Thursday)
OFFICIAL REPORTS SHOW
 GREENVILLE NEARLY 1,000,000 POUNDS AHEAD OF ANY OTHER MARKET AND GREENVILLE PRICES HIGHER THAN ANY MARKET IN THE BRIGHT BELT.

Greenville market continues to lead the entire Bright Belt both in number of pounds sold and prices paid for tobacco.

We urge you to grade more closely, making sure to keep green, reddish and dark leaves out of your bright tobaccos.

Thousands of dollars are lost every year through improper grading.

Let us suggest that you give preference to marketing your good and fancy tobacco. More tobacco is bringing from 40c to 75c than in years, and if you have good tobacco, it looks unwise to hold it back.

Tune in on Greenville's Radio Station WEED every day (except Sunday) at 9:45 A. M., 12:45 P. M. and 4:45 P. M. for latest tobacco market reports. Will find it on your dial around 142 or 1420.

Mrs. Wright Bridge Hostess

Mrs. M. L. Wright was a charming hostess yesterday afternoon at an attractively appointed bridge party, honoring her sister, Mrs. L. P. Campbell of Wilmington. The home of the hostess on Fourth street was lovely with decorations of yellow, pink and white chrysanthemums. Clark and Mrs. W. E. Hooker assisted the hostess in serving. For high score, Mrs. Marvin Sugg was given a lovely vase. Mrs. W. A. Darden was given a similar prize for low score. Mrs. J. N. Coleman, a recent bride, was remembered with a boudoir pillow and Mrs. William Berry of Wilmington, with a dainty handkerchief.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 12.

The Golden Text was from Roman's 8:19: "The earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God." Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "I would seek unto God, and unto God would I commit my case: He shall deliver thee in six troubles: yea, in seven there shall no evil touch thee" (Job 5:8,19).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When understanding changes the standpoint of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality of life, the control of Soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth in its divine Principle. This must be the climax before harmonious and immortal man is obtained and his capabilities revealed" (p. 322).

STORY HOUR AT THE SHEPPARD MEMORIAL LIBRARY

About 125 children enjoyed the afternoon program at Sheppard Memorial Library yesterday. Promptly 3:30 o'clock Ruth Hood Morton, Seina, began to tell the story of the Boy and the Three Goats. The story of Snip, Snap, Snur and the Gingerbread was told by Nellie Ray Dawson, Clinton; Julia Bordeaux, of Wilmington, used a roll of pictures to illustrate her story, Paddy's Three Pets. Hazel Kimrey, Wilmington, placed on a table a group of "cut-outs" showing Mrs. Tubbs' pets in her yard. Then she told the story of Mrs. Tubbs.

Rise In Deposits Held Pressing Need In 'Rebuilding' 1926 Buying Power

New York.—(AP)—A new higher price level can not be maintained without a restored purchasing power, contends the Committee for the Nation of New York.

Two steps of the Roosevelt monetary policy call for higher commodity prices and a revalued and stabilized dollar. At what point this stabilization will be achieved has not been stated.

Return To 1926 Level Sought The Committee for the Nation believes restoration of the 1926 level of purchasing power will be a necessary support of the return to the price level of that year.

The organization, of whose directing committee J. A. Rand, Jr., is chairman, selected 1926 as the basis on the theory that most obligations were incurred at the price level of that year and should be met at that level.

The committee's measurement of purchasing power in December of that year totals 151.4 billions of dollars composed of 4.9 billions of dollars in circulation, bank deposits of 52 billions, all listed securities at market value of 94.5 billions.

Securities Increase Largest In just three years the total increased to 207.9 billions, by far the largest increase being in securities.

The latter part of this year the total purchasing power of the nation was measured by the committee at 114.7 billion dollars, about 37 billions below the 1926 level.

But to rebuild the total to the 1926 level would necessitate adding to only two of the factors in the total, the committee says.

The 5.6 billion dollars of money in circulation in sufficient, the committee holds, but the 31.9 billions in bank deposits should be increased to 52 billions, it says.

Four-Way Increase The increase in that section would come from four factors:

(1) New bank deposits by the U. S. Treasury of new currency proceeding from doubling the dollar price of gold from the long-existing $20.67 legal value.

(2) New deposits coming from the sale of silver billion to the treasury.

(3) New deposits released from frozen bank accounts.

(4) Expansion of bank loans to be expected from increased business activity.

Security Gain Important

The largest section of the purchasing power structure would be increased through expansion of securities values by 17.3 billions of dollars, a result of profitable business operation.

HIGH TO PLAY AT ROANOKE RAPIDS FRIDAY

The local High School football team will journey to Roanoke Rapids Friday where they meet the "Yellow Jackets," representing Roanoke Rapids High School.

This is one of the big annual battles for both teams. Last year Roanoke Rapids won, 28 to 0. This year the "Yellow Jackets" have lost several men of last year's team. However, as they always have a squad of from 50 to 60 men, they are not lacking in material.

This year's Greenville team has played in and out of football. One week they look like a fine high school team. The next week they look like a bunch of grammar school boys. Coach Hewlett told this paper that he attributed this type of play due largely to the fact that the people of Greenville, as a whole, were not interested in whether or not their school team won or lost. As a result, the boys who play are not given any encouragement or incentive to get out there and win. He cited the improved play of the E. C. T. C. team last week. They played inspired football. The crowd was there. The girl students were there in force. They backed those fellows to win. It would have taken a much better team to have defeated them that day. Such is football.

Both the High School and college teams should be regarded as institutions, and an important factor on the life of the city of Greenville. They could be the biggest advertisements for the city. The boys who play on the High School team are Greenville boys, but thus far this year have been treated as aliens. Not a thirty dollar gate has been had at High School games, and so far as being able to make the trip to Roanoke Rapids is concerned, only one car has been secured by the High Schools manager, Ernest Clark, who has made more than a big and honest effort to line up four or five cars for this trip.

It isn't fair to the team and school that no more interest is taken in its welfare, and we believe that if the citizens—those who are parents and the business men—would boost these boys, they'd go places in the last two or three games of the season.

However, getting back to the Roanoke game. Coach Hewlett said he couldn't even name who'd make the trip, if anybody would go, unless some cars could be secured. Hodges, one of the players, is taking his car. This is the only car we have. If we get another we'll crowd eleven men in the two and play the game. If anyone is interested in lending his car or driving his car to Roanoke Rapids, leaving here tomorrow at 9 a. m. and returning after the game, please get in touch with Manager Ernest Clark or Coach Hewlett.

TAR HEELS LOOK TO BACKS TO BEAT DEVILS

Chapel Hill, Nov. 16.—Coach Chuck Collins, at Carolina is sticking to the same backfield combinations that featured in the 26-0 victory over Wake Forest last week as he strives to bring the Tar Heels to the peak for the State championship game with Duke at Durham Saturday afternoon.

One outfit has Charlie Woolen, Jr., quarterback; Don Jackson and Captain Bill Croom, halfbacks; and Herman Snyder, fullback. The other lists Eddie Martin, quarterback; Alan McDonald and Charlie Shaffer halfbacks; and George Moore, fullback.

The former featured in the 6-0 victory over State, the latter in the surprising 26-0 triumph over Wake Forest, and it is a problem which to start. One thing seems certain, however, and that is that the Duke line will see a great deal of all eight of these boys before Saturday's battle is over.

Jackson and McDonald, who have alternated in the starting role the last few games, do most of the passing. Woolen and Martin, who average a cool 39 yards against Wake Forest, are the punters. They have also been featuring as punt returners, and Martin ran one boot back for 40 yards and a touchdown last week.

The rangy, loose-hipped McDonald, who was cast in the starring role in the Vanderbilt and Wake Forest games, and who turned in the beautiful 30-yard gallop in the latter, is expected to lead the much improved running attack on which the team has been laboring all week.

Jackson, Croom, and Shaffer are also dangerous runners back of or beyond the scrimmage line, while Snyder and Moore, the latter of whom scored the touchdowns that beat both Davidson and State, supply the punch.

The dopsters are conceding Carolina a stout defense and a brilliant passing attack since its blowing against Tech, State, and Wake Forest. The big question is whether the Carolina line can hold its own with the vaunted Duke forwards and whether their running at-

by William Byron Moser

SYNOPSIS: Curt Teagarden returns to Edmonton from a winter of work in the sub-Arctic in his plane, only to be asked by A. K. Marlin, his former chief in the Flying Mounted, to undertake a hunt that has baffled the police for years. The quarry is a Karakhan, Russian international cook with whose notorious career Curt is thoroughly familiar. But Curt refuses A-K and leaves him to attend a party with A-K's daughter Rosalie, whom Curt plans some day to marry. Smash describes his part in talking.

Chapter Four
"STILL A MOUNTED"
"ISH we were stepping out together. You and me, we could bust this man's town wide open. That wouldn't be any trick at all compared to flying over the Thelon Harrens and swooping down at wolf packs with a machine gun. We'd start at one end of Jasper Avenue and roll the old street up into a tight curl, like a pine shaving." And when Curt shook his head: "All right, then. But snakes!—I wish you'd come along."

He was sincere about wanting Curt; but also, and more to the point, he needed financial backing that evening, and he would have that if Curt went with him. As he brushed his rebellious hair he re-were swaying torches of the Blood dance, and over the horizon came the rolling thunder of buffalo herds chased by the hard-galloping Sioux. Blackfoot warred with Piegan, and the whiskey trader corrupted both.

Then across the prairies came riding a small band of men, wearing red tunics and yellow-striped trousers. Shagalasha—stern soldiers—they were called; and they earned the name. By heroic measures they set the land to rights and kept it so, while immigrant caravans poured in and the railroad came.

If western Canada was the most law-abiding and peaceful region on the globe, it was largely thanks to their imperishable work in laying the very foundations of that society.

Many of that original band bought out of the Force and went into mining, ranching, lumbering. The raw land offered them a glorious opportunity to build personal fortunes, and they looked to their own interests. But A-K, and others like him, stuck with the Mounted. A-K had given forty long years to the Force, and now he did not even own a home for himself.

SOMEWHERE in the city a chime sounded, breaking into Curt's reverie. He glanced at his watch, flected that on seventy-five cents he could take his girl to a two-bit show and then have coffee and doughnuts.

Marlin stood up staring at Curt.

He thrust his watch into his pocket. His hand touched something crisp, like a bit of stiff paper. He pulled it out, glanced at it, stared at it.

"Hey!" He whirled on Curt. "Look at that! Am I drunk or dreaming?"

"What're you going into a tall spin about?"

"Why—why," Smash gasped. "It's a twenty-dollar bill! In my pants pocket!"

"That is a strange state of affairs, for you." Curt remarked, not betraying himself by the flicker of an eyelid. "You probably left it in there last fall. You haven't had that civilized suit on since then."

"By gosh, I must have! But that's the first time in my born days that I ever left twenty men in my pocket and forgot all about 'em!" He did a jig dance in front of the mirror. "What I mean, this coming along in the thin nick of time to save me from embarrassment."

"Cheerio. Stay out of jail."

AS Smash went whistling to the elevator, Curt turned again and looked down, hands in pockets, at the light gleams on the river below. He was torn with indecision, one part of his nature pulling against the other. He could not clearly see or word the real significance of the struggle, but he did know that his conscience hurt him about A-K.

Over at Vancouver headquarters Marlin had needed him, needed young hands and a man he could trust; and he had deserted. And now he was refusing even to help on this Karakhan business. What were a few months of sacrifice compared to a whole lifetime of it, such as Marlin had given?

He saw it was time for him to leave with Rosalie; and stepped down the corridor to the Marlin suite.

Marlin looked up from the table where he was working. "Rosalie's down in the lobby meeting some friends, Curt," he said kindly. "She'll be back in a minute." He laid his pen aside. "Curt, Rosalie told me the details about that Canadian offer. If I'd known them beforehand, I wouldn't have mentioned this Karakhan matter at all. Of course you'll take that offer. It pays quite decently, and you'll enjoy the work; but this other is just charity."

Curt winced. A-K's very kindness and generosity hurt him all the more. He suddenly realized that if he refused Marlin and went back north he would come near to losing his own self-respect. He had always thought of A-K with affection and admiration, as a stern old Roman; but in those moments, as he saw how tired A-K was and how much his shoulders had stooped in the past year, a great wave of sympathy, of pity, surged through him.

A-K seemed so much older, so much nearer the last mustering out, than he had been a year ago. Somebody ought to help him and be good to him; he had always helped others.

"A-K"—he blurted out the fateful words impulsively, heedless of consequences—"I'm going after Karakhan! I came in here a minute ago swearing that I wouldn't; but I am; I've got to!"

Marlin pushed back his chair and stood up, staring at him.

"Why—why, Curt, you mustn't do that. I don't expect you to at all. Don't do it on the spur of the moment. At least think it over—" "I've thought it over. I can go back north afterward. This case means a lot to you and the Police and the public, and I ought to do my share."

Marlin reached out his hand. "You're still a Mounted, Curt. You always will be. You can't get away from it." (Copyright, 1933, William B. Moser)

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The stock market began to pay some attention to the inflationary aspects to sharply declining rates today and prices of a number of leads moved up to one to three more points in expanded trading. Sterling spurred 11-1-2 cents to another post-war high of $5.61 1-2 and the sympathetic French franc trailed with a gain of $41 3-4 of a cent at $6.711 2 also, a new peak for the present.

The currency and the domestic gold price was again unchanged. Equities moved forward after the first hour. Wheat rallied nearly two cents a bushel, cotton steadied and rubber futures were in demand. Bonds, especially Federal issues, drifted lower. While most banking circles as well as brokerage houses continued to display some nervousness over the foreign exchange situation, various financial observers expressed the opinion that recently voiced fears regarding the government credit were groundless.

The buying movement gained momentum in the late dealing after having moved steadily forward following dull spell.
