HEAVY SALES ARE EXPECTED COMING WEEK

Market Prepares For Reception of Large Quantities of Tobacco Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; Sales to Suspend For Thanksgiving and Will be Resumed Monday; Average Here Yesterday $22.03

The season average on the Greenville tobacco market was drawing near the 17 cent parity mark as promised by buyers in the conference with government representatives during the tobacco holiday about two months ago, it was indicated today in the official report of sales by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales.

With one of the heaviest sales of the season yesterday, the local market's season average mounted to $16.54 per hundred pound. The total number of pounds sold during the season was given at 56,367,214 for which growers received $9,303,045.09.

The report showed that the market sold yesterday 1,158,890 pounds at an average price of $22.03 per hundred pounds which farmers receive $255,401.95.

Due to the delayed opening of the Kentucky tobacco market the middle of December, the full force of buyers will remain on the market here until Christmas. Usually the bulk of the crop is disposed of by Thanksgiving, enabling buyers to move on to other belts, but this year indications point to heavy sales until the Christmas holidays, and the full corps of buyers will be necessary to take care of the offerings.

With promised good weather, sales were expected to be heavy here next week. The market will close after the sales Wednesday for Thanksgiving, and sales will not be resumed until the following Monday morning.

With the price situation the best it has been this season, farmers have been advised to market their tobacco as rapidly as possible and take advantage of the price improvement. Bidding has been lively on this market for weeks, and this (Continued on Page Four)

MRS. SKINNER HURT IN WRECK

Greenville Lady Injured in Accident on The Highway Below Rich Square

Mrs. Hattie Skinner was confined at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Ficklen, here today suffering from injuries which she sustained when the car in which she was riding was struck by another machine on the highway below Rich Square yesterday.

Mrs. Skinner, in company with Mrs. Ficklen, Mr. and Mrs. McConnell, of Urbana, Ohio, and Mrs. Hyman Phillips, of Tarboro, was bound for Washington City, when the accident occurred.

The driver of the other vehicle, said to have been a paralytic and incapable of operating a car, was attempting to back from a side road into the highway when he ran his car into that occupied by the Greenville people.

Neither of the machines was badly damaged by the impact, and it was said that had it not been for the presence of mind of Mr. McConnell, who was driving the Washington-bound car, the occupants of both machines might either have been killed or badly injured.

The other members of the party suffered mainly from shock. The driver of the other car escaped unhurt.

Mrs. Skinner was given medical attention at Rich Square and brought to Greenville where a more complete examination of her condition was made. While it was impossible to determine the full extent of her injuries, hope was expressed that her condition was not serious.

VETERAN OF WORLD WAR SLAYS SELF

Orangeburg Man Also Kills Girl Companion in Automobile Last Night

Orangeburg, S. C., Nov. 25.—(AP)—W. L. Jennings, 38-year-old World War veteran, was found shot to death and Miss Mar Mill, of Orangeburg, fatally wounded in Jennings' automobile on a road near here last night.

Near the dead man lay a .38 caliber pistol with three discharged cartridges.

Jennings was shot through the head and Miss Mills in the chest. She died as she was being brought to the hospital.

Discovery of a special delivery letter from Jennings to G. H. Fisher, saying the veteran intended killing himself. Similar letters later were received by Jennings' wife and mother, but no mention of the second woman was made.

Jennings was president of the South Carolina Chapter of the Rainbow Division of World War veterans and recently had suffered from extreme nervousness. He was gassed twice in France. He had been an Orangeburg city fireman for nine years, and in his letter asked that he be buried in his fireman's uniform. An inquest was set for today.

The first Federal Land Bank Loan to be made in Pitt county since inauguration of the Recovery program was received here today by Judge Frank Wooten, local loan correspondent.

It was in the form of a Land Bank check for Jesse C. Johnson, who resides on the north side of the river from Greenville. The check was for $1,700 and Judge Wooten was making arrangements to turn it over to the owner immediately.

The correspondent said 110 applications for Federal Land Bank loans had been made through his office since the set up of the new loan administration, and that it was expected numbers of them would be acted on in the near future.

The loan did not come in the form of government bonds, but was a check made payable on the Federal Land Bank and it payable upon presentation at any bank with proper endorsement.

Rockingham, N. C., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Ward Yandell and George McKenzie, the latter a negro, both of Monroeville, were instantly killed today when their truck overturned on Highway 20 near here.

ENDS SERIES TALKS HERE

Dr. Frank Dean of Wilson Delivers Final Sermon to College Students

Concluding his series of talks on "Why Religion," given during this week under the sponsorship of the W. W. C. A. of East Carolina Teachers College, Dr. Frank Dean, of Wilson, spoke last night on "Power of Life Through Prayer." Moral earnestness, he brought out in his talk, fellowship with God and service, are all in vain unless the avenue to approach to God is open. It is often difficult especially when one is in college, to open this avenue, but one way that is always possible is that of meditation. After one has established this connection, he must watch out for the danger of making his prayers nothing but self-centered converse will not listen.

The students gained many things of lasting benefit from Dr. Dean and his talks, and not the least of these was the appreciation of his magnetic personality.

ROOSEVELT TALKS WITH LIEUTENANTS

Morgenthau and Other Recovery Program Leaders Visit Warm Springs

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 25.—(AP)—President Roosevelt checked up today on his recovery program with his chief lieutenants.

Henry Morgenthau, the Acting Secretary of the Treasury; General Hugh S. Johnson, the Industrial Administrator; William Bullitt, the new Ambassador to Russia, and others of the government were here to talk with the Chief Executive.

Outside attacks on the Administration policy brought a quick reply from the field marshal, but President Roosevelt only laughed and proceeded on any response from the President.

The President was on the air last night at a dedication of the new Georgia hall at Warm Springs Foundation, but his words were confined to expressions of hope for taking care of the children and grown-ups fighting back from attacks of infantile paralysis, and there are many of them there.

'ARMY' DRIVE HEADS CHOSEN

Organization Completed For Salvation Army Campaign Here Next Week

Energetic preparations are in progress for the 1933 Salvation Army Campaign. Judge Dink James, general campaign chairman, announced his appointments of the more important committee chairmanships Friday.

Members of advisory board working with the leaders of the campaign committee are rapidly completing plans for an intensive campaign the week of November 27. The organization during that week under the leadership of Judge James will seek $2,240 necessary for the 1934 maintenance program recently approved by the advisory board.

The committee believes that the citizens of Greenville are willing to support the work of the Salvation Army here for another year even more than generously that they have responded in past years. With the better conditions that exist throughout this eastern part of the State the board feels that if anything the budget should be easily over-subscribed.

Each committee chairman named by Judge James will organize at once his own committee with the co-operation and approval of the general chairman.

The chairman of the several committees are: Chairman Advance Gift Committee, David C. Moore; Chairman Business District Committee, Judge Dink James; Chairman Tobacco Industry, Guy V. Smith; Chairman Industrial Division, Chas. Whedbee; Chairman Chain Store Division, C. P. Earhart; Chairman Eastern Carolina Teachers College Division, Harold McGinnis; Chairman Women's Division, Mrs. E. L. Henderson; Chairman Publicity Committee, Sam M. Bridgers and Rev. W. A. Ryan.

The following record is a report of the work of the Salvation Army in Greenville since the first of the year under whole-hearted leadership of Captain T. Gomillion and Lieutenant G. While it is impossible to express moral or spiritual service in figures, still the facts of record do in some measure visualize the vital value of the Salvation Army in the community. During this period there were held 160 indoor meetings. The attendance on Sundays was 2,904 and on weekdays 2,063; there were 85 open-air meetings with an approximate attendance of 6,548; 1,146 visits were made to various families; there were 44 company meetings with an attendance of 1,896, and 68 Young People (Continued on Page Four)

Herriot Turns Down Offer To Head Council

His Daughter Slain

Paris, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Camille Chautemps today agreed to attempt the organization of a new French Cabinet to succeed that of former Premier Albert Sarraut, overthrown two days ago.

The opportunity to form the new ministry in which Chautemps would serve as Premier, was tendered him by President Lebrun following a series of consultations with political leaders, and after the refusal of the same offer by Edouard Herriot, former Premier.

The offer to Herriot, it was understood, was more or less a gesture as his friends previously had said he was unable to accept the post because of recent illness and was unable to undergo another Premiership at this time.

Chautemps becomes the fourth man this year to head the government of France. The previous cabinets were overthrown on the question of finance—because of the lapse of the dollar in the government budget and the flight of the gold franc in France.

By his acceptance Chautemps will undertake to rescue the French franc.

DENY FRICTION ON GOLD ISSUE

Federal Reserve Board Says it is Not At Odds With Treasury Department

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—(AP)—With gold stronger abroad, the administration held the price of domestic gold unchanged today with the figure nearly a dollar above the value of the metal in London.

A price of 33.76 an ounce was established, the rate being the same as the three previous days. Meanwhile the dollar opened on foreign exchanges at $5.19 to the pound while the London gold price was $32.83.

Governor Black of the Federal Reserve Board denied his agency and the Treasury were working at cross-purposes.

He said there was no connection between the administration monetary policy and the Reserve System's operations on the open bond market.

MAN AMBUSHED THEN ROBBED

Convict Camp Employee Waylaid and Robbed by Negro in Roxboro Vicinity

Roxboro, N. C., Nov. 25.—(AP)—A wide search was under way today for an unidentified negro who last night shot Butler Gentry, 30-year-old convict camp employee from ambush and robbed him of an undetermined amount of money.

The negro accosted Gentry on the road near the camp, searched his pockets and fled. Gentry was shot through the chest with a shotgun and crawled to a nearby house. Physicians said he had little chance to recover.

We believe that this year's experience has taught the growers that the sensible thing to do is stand together with the government in its efforts to get fair prices for farm products and certainly they will sign the new contract just as soon as it is offered them.

Helvering stated today that it has been brought to the attention of the Bureau of Internal Revenue that in many instances farmers and others are slaughtering hogs and selling the products of the processing tax. TO SPEAK AT METHODIST

This service will be conducted by the laymen of the church in the absence of the pastor, Rev. E. L. Hillman, who is attending the district conference of the Methodist Church at Durham.

An attractive program has been prepared for the morning service by the committee in charge of it.

Poe Society Presents Play.
The Poe Society of East Carolina Teachers College presented last night a very successful performance of a three-act comedy by Edward A. Paulton, "Her Temporary Husband." The Austin auditorium was filled almost to capacity; this was very gratifying to the society since the proceeds will go towards re-furnishing the society hall.

The play took place in the present time, the first scene being at Highliff Sanatorium on the Hudson river, and the latter two in the interior of a summer cottage at Hampton Beach. The sanatorium was headed by Dr. Gordon Spencer who was cleverly represented by Frederick Turner. Playing the role opposite him was Miss Mildred Dixon taking part of a nurse in the sanatorium, Kate Tanner, a role calling forth much of Miss Dixon's dramatic ability. The parts of the principals in the triangular romance, were well played by Miss Ruth Stroupe, as Blanche Ingram, the heiress; Paul Fitzgerald, the fortune seeking lawyer, and Theo Eason as Tom Burton, the hero. Jack Humphrey as Judd, the orderly, supplied much of the humor of the play.

The plot was quite a clever one, and as the play proceeded the audience became more engrossed in the doctor's love for his nurse, and the villain's machinations to get the heroine's fortune, and the hero's trouble in making the object of his affection return his love. The swift changes showed the latter in the dual role of a young man and a helpless dying patient in the sanatorium.

Between the cast Ray Munford entertained with several tap dance selections and Miss Margaret Cole sang a song of which she had written both words and music. The play was coached by Miss Loraine Hunter and Miss Melba O'Brien, president of the Poe Society.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

FRUIT CAKE? MAKE IT NOW.
IT'S IMPROVE WITH AGE
If you're thinking of fruit cake, remember that it will improve in flavor if allowed to stand a little while before it is used. Select a heavy pan for baking the fruit cake and line it with two thicknesses of waxed paper. As soon as the cake is done, remove it to a wire rack to cool; do not tear off the waxed paper. When the cake is cool wrap it in several layers of waxed paper and tie with white cord. Store in an air tight box on stone jar, to ripen.

China-Saving Hint
If you are fearful lest your guests break your delicate but rather slip tony cups and saucers at the tea party, pour a drop or so of hot water into the saucers and then the cup will tend to cling to its saucer and not slide when being passed around.

Progressive Parties
Why not re-introduce the fad of the progressive party, to eliminate excessive cost to any one family for entertainment? everybody desire? This can be done comfortably if all your friends live nearby. At the first house hors-d'oeuvres may be served at the next soup; at the third the main course, at the fourth dessert and coffee, and the fifth bridge may be played with light refreshments afterward. In this way all have done their part and all have had a party.

Using Up Old Collars
A thrifty housewife boasts that she never throws away her husband's stiff collars. She cuts trim up for baggage tags, making a hole for the insertion of the cord. Then she writes on them and saves them for the next trip or holiday. They can also be used in smaller size for labeling keys.

Flower-Arrangement Hint
When a flower holder to fit into a bowl exactly is not available, crush tissue paper can be substituted. Place the paper in the bottom of the bowl and the flowers can then be arranged easily.

DAVIDSON BAND OFFICERS
Davidson, Nov. 25.—Officers of the Davidson college band were elected at a meeting of that organization yesterday. They were: A. M. Cunningham, New London, Conn., president; D. P. McClain, Cleveland Tenn., vice president; Hubert Morris, Winston Salem, business manager, and H. G. Sugg, Greenville, publicity manager.

The Davidson band, under the direction of James Christian Pfohl is the best band that has ever been produced by Davidson college. The organization has made several appearances with notable success and has played over the radio several times. At the football games this fall the band has been one of the best attractions.

BIG SUMS AVAILABLE
FOR WORK ON THE COAST
Elizabeth City, N. C., Nov. 25.—The sum of $200,000 is immediately available for mosquito eradication and within a week or ten days an additional $640,000, and certainly not less than $700,000, will be ready for public works activities along the North Carolina coast from Currituck to Carteret, according to Frank Stick, chairman of the North Carolina development council, who has just returned from a trip with a delegation representing the council to Baltimore and Washington to confer with representatives of the Civil Works and Public Works Administration.

The Public Works program will include construction of an emergency airport at the Wright Memorial at Kill Devil Hill, restoration of Old Fort Raleigh, and probably the eventual expenditure of $1,420,000 for projects yet to be passed upon in this same area.

HUNDREDS TO GET JOBS IN MECKLENBURG
Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 25.—Approximately 800 men will be put to work morning under the civil works program in Mecklenburg County, Chas. W. Gilmore, county administrator, announced last night following a conference with other county administrators in this section this afternoon.

Piano Prodigy,
Veteran At 8
By JOHN SELBY
New York.—(AP)—You might call her a prodigy, but anyone who saw Ruth Schlenzynski as she prepared for her New York debut would agree that there's nothing "hot house" about her.

Eight-year-old Ruth, with four years of piano playing behind her, was unaffected by the possibility that her metropolitan appearance November 13 might be the sensation of the musical season. She has been through such experiences before.

Ruth has played two recitals in California, both four years ago. She has given a Berlin recital and a Paris recital and has played three times in Paris with orchestra.

The Berlin recital, given when she was six, broke into cable dispatches, the Paris performance produced offers of concert tours throughout France, Holland, Belgium and Spain, all of which were refused.

Father is Only Teacher
"I will not have a pitiful little worn-out girl, dragging about the country playing recitals at eight years of age," says her father, Josef Schlenzynski, who, although a violinist, is Ruth's only teacher. This child is in the United States for a limited number of appearances, after which she will return to her mother and two sisters in Paris for more study.

Ruth, at her present far from advanced age and with a hand that barely stretches an octave, plays music that gives adult concert pianists pause. The other afternoon, for example, she played the Bach "Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue," the Liszt "La Campanella," Weber's "Rondo Brillante," a Schubert impromptu, a Mendelssohn "Song Without Words," and a concert study of her own composition.

DAYS OF GRACE USED IN MAKING OF LIQUOR
Raeform, N. C., Nov. 25.—Since the election Hoke county officers have seemed desirous to enforce the laws, including the prohibition law, and have gone out and captured four blockade whiskey stills and arrested several of the operators, ha dthem tried in Recorder's Court this week and given road sentences. One of these defendants was tried on appeal from Recorder's Court here week before last, for assault with deadly weapon and was given a road sentence, but was allowed by Judge Sinclair, who tried the case, a few days in which to straighten out his affairs before he began his sentence, and before the few days his expired, the sheriff found him and his two sons running a 200-gallon still, making whiskey. One son failed to appear in Recorder's Court, and there by forfeiting his $2000 bond. The older man served time in Atlanta Federal Prison for making liquor and was released less than two years ago. The cases against this old man and his two sons was continued until the three are in custody if possible.

Because of the demand for tung oil in paint and varnish making, trees which yield this oil are being grown on a large scale in Southern States.

Fourteen members of Virginia's varsity football squad are sons, nephews or brothers of men who attended that university in other days.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

FRUIT CAKE? MAKE IT NOW.
IT'S IMPROVE WITH AGE
If you're thinking of fruit cake, remember that it will improve in flavor if allowed to stand a little while before it is used. Select a heavy pan for baking the fruit cake and line it with two thicknesses of waxed paper. As soon as the cake is done, remove it to a wire rack to cool; do not tear off the waxed paper. When the cake is cool wrap it in several layers of waxed paper and tie with white cord. Store in an air tight box on stone jar, to ripen.

China-Saving Hint
If you are fearful lest your guests break your delicate but rather slip tony cups and saucers at the tea party, pour a drop or so of hot water into the saucers and then the cup will tend to cling to its saucer and not slide when being passed around.

Progressive Parties
Why not re-introduce the fad of the progressive party, to eliminate excessive cost to any one family for entertainment? everybody desire? This can be done comfortably if all your friends live nearby. At the first house hors-d'oeuvres may be served at the next soup; at the third the main course, at the fourth dessert and coffee, and the fifth bridge may be played with light refreshments afterward. In this way all have done their part and all have had a party.

Using Up Old Collars
A thrifty housewife boasts that she never throws away her husband's stiff collars. She cuts trim up for baggage tags, making a hole for the insertion of the cord. Then she writes on them and saves them for the next trip or holiday. They can also be used in smaller size for labeling keys.

Flower-Arrangement Hint
When a flower holder to fit into a bowl exactly is not available, crush tissue paper can be substituted. Place the paper in the bottom of the bowl and the flowers can then be arranged easily.

DAVIDSON BAND OFFICERS
Davidson, Nov. 25.—Officers of the Davidson college band were elected at a meeting of that organization yesterday. They were: A. M. Cunningham, New London, Conn., president; D. P. McClain, Cleveland Tenn., vice president; Hubert Morris, Winston Salem, business manager, and H. G. Sugg, Greenville, publicity manager.

The Davidson band, under the direction of James Christian Pfohl is the best band that has ever been produced by Davidson college. The organization has made several appearances with notable success and has played over the radio several times. At the football games this fall the band has been one of the best attractions.

FOR WORK ON THE COAST
Elizabeth City, N. C., Nov. 25.—The sum of $200,000 is immediately available for mosquito eradication and within a week or ten days an additional $640,000, and certainly not less than $700,000, will be ready for public works activities along the North Carolina coast from Currituck to Carteret, according to Frank Stick, chairman of the North Carolina development council, who has just returned from a trip with a delegation representing the council to Baltimore and Washington to confer with representatives of the Civil Works and Public Works Administration.

The Public Works program will include construction of an emergency airport at the Wright Memorial at Kill Devil Hill, restoration of Old Fort Raleigh, and probably the eventual expenditure of $1,420,000 for projects yet to be passed upon in this same area.

Christopher's Naughty Prank
By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
"Your Crow," said Grandma Jronchy Galump, "pulled down every piece of my washing which was hanging out to dry.

"I had no sooner turned my back to attend to some other chores than I saw that Crow, that wicked, bad Crow (and Grandma shook her fist in Christopher's direction) taking a clothespin in his beak and letting the last piece of my wash fall to the ground.

"My line is over a muddy patch, too. Now all my clothes will have to be washed again."

Willy Nilly could just picture Christopher enjoying this prank, and he smiled—just a little—to himself. But to Grandma he said: "I am so sorry, and I will do your wash over again for you."

Grandma was not so angry now. "All right," she agreed, thankful that she did not have to do her work a second time. And off she went. "So that's what you did!" exclaimed Willy Nilly to Christopher. "Now, on your word of honor, did you take the money from our bank?" "I certainly did not," cawed Christopher. "I admit that I did pull down Grandma's wash, for what is life without a touch of mischief?"

New York, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, one lower to one higher, with disappointing Liverpool cables offset by trade buying.

There was little Southern selling, but some liquidation developed and demand was limited. Prices sagged off a few points during early trading. December worked off to 9.85 and May to 10.22, with active months showing losses of four to six points.

Futures closed two to six points lower; spots quiet, middling 10.10. (Courtesy Speight & Co.)

BLUE DEVILS TO MEET TECH COMING WEEK

Durham, N. C., Nov. 25.—For the first time in history, Duke and Georgia Tech will meet on the gridiron in Atlanta Saturday afternoon.

It is slated to be the biggest test the Blue Devils have had this season. Unless they are upset by N. C. State this afternoon, it will be the most important game of the season to the Blue Devils—all that will separate them from an undefeated campaign.

Coach Bill Alexander's Engineers have been called the "hard luck" team of the South this year. They have lost four games on breaks after having decidedly outplayed their foes.

While it will be a new relationship for Duke University, it will be the returning among old friends by Wallace Wade, boss of the Blue Devils. His Alabama teams played many games in Atlanta and he is a well-known figure in grid circles there.

It will be the first invasion of Atlanta by a Duke football team since the institution's eleventh year back in the '90's annually went to that city for "Round Robin" grid tournaments to settle the Southern football championships.

However, the institution is not unknown ethically at Atlanta. Duke basketball teams for several years went there for the Southern Conference tournaments and won many fine friends. Twice they went to the finals, 1929 and 1930, and the final year the tourney was there, Duke's quint went to the semi-finals being put out by the Georgia team which won the title.

SPORT SLANTS by ALAN GOULD

"We have heard a lot about the wonderful ball-carriers on Southern teams this year, but aren't there some good ones elsewhere worth considering for All-America recognition?" asks a bystander from Indiana who has the all-around excellence of the Purdue backfield in mind.

"If there is a better combination in the country that Duane Purvis, Paul Pardonner and Jim Carter, the Purdue aces," he goes on to say, "I would appreciate some information on the subject. Purvis is everything that an All-American man should be. Carter is a rare broken field runner and Pardonner is kicking specialist as well as a fine field general."

Purvis undoubtedly belongs in a class with the best backs currently at large on any college gridiron. So does George Henry Sausser, of Nebraska; Herman Everhardus, of Michigan; George (Loehoe) Wilson, of St. Mary's; Mike Sebastian, of Pittsburgh; Bob Lassister, of Yale; Cy Grant, of Georgia; Irvine Warburton, of Southern California; Jack Buckler, of West Point; Ed Danowski, of Fordham; Dick Crayne, of Iowa; and Pug Lund, of Minnesota.

Speaking of Southern backs, one of our scouts suggests that the Vanderbilt sophomore quarterback, Rand Dixon, has about as much all-around class as any ball-handler in Dixie, including Feathers of Tennessee, Roberts and Bryan of Tulane, Mickal of Louisiana State and a flock of others.

Tabbing the Linemen. The all-star nominations for this year's All-America line have not been nearly so conspicuous as usual. It's about time for some close scrutiny.

Our Southern experts agree that Duke's Freddie Crawford is as much tackle as any All-America outfit needs. He is compared to Fred Sington, great Alabama lineman of a few years ago who has had a hand in developing Crawford as an assistant to Wallace Wade at Duke.

Carl Orngren of St. Mary's must have looked like the whole side of a line to Fordham in the battle at the Polo Grounds, especially when the Rams were trying unsuccessfully to break through on the goal line. The big goal tackle appeared to have three or four Fordham players bundled up in his arms at one time.

engagement and the sum she anticipated by American appearances.

Killed in Auto Wreck. Columbia, S. C., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Elliott Capers of Columbia, state hotel inspector, was almost instantly killed when his auto collided with another machine at a street intersection here today.

Mrs. Capers was injured in the accident but two children also riding in the car, escaped. Mrs. Capers was taken to a hospital and was not believed to be seriously hurt.

ack Torrence, of Louisiana State, the national intercollegiate, shotput champion, has been moving his 250-odd pounds effectively in the tackle position. Charles Bernard of Michigan has already achieved high praise as a center. Joe Gallus of Ohio State and Harvey Jablonsky, Army's husky captain, have given two of the best performances at guard so far. On the ends, Manske of Northwestern, Larson of Minnesota, Petoskey of Michigan, the Canrins brothers of St. Mary's and Borden of Fordham have attracted much attention.

Davidson Delivers

The change of athletics administration at West Point, far from being accompanied by any let-down in the excellence of Army's football forces, has been marked by performances so far measuring up to the best standards of the teams coached by Bill Jones and Ralph Sasse in recent years. There need be no fears over the ability of the "freshman" coach, Lieutenant Gar Davidson, whose youthful gray hairs seem to have inspired confidence.

In the best all-around coaching staffs in the country, including Earl (Red) Blaik, backfield coach and strategist, and Harry (Fats) Ellinger, line coach. Secondly, Davidson and his aides have shown their ability to get the most out of this year's material, especially up forward where it was feared the Army would lack the strength, experience and drive to bring out the talents of one of the East's best backfield combinations—Johnson, Buckler, Brown and Stancock.

No line has outcharged Illinois the way Army did at Cleveland. The same set of forwards that swarmed over Michigan and nearly upset the Wolverines was absolutely helpless against the Cadet line.

One of the chief reasons why the Navy whipped Notre Dame and entertains the hope of stopping the Army's charge this November is labeled David Zabriskie.

He is from Hollywood, California, playing his first year of varsity competition at-guard, and has been making the most of his speed, skill and 175 pounds against all the Navy's opponents this season.

Zabriskie is only twenty years old, but looks like a "natural" for the Rockne system, where aggressive, agile guards play a vital role as blockers. Around Annapolis they are still wondering how this youth was allowed to get out of California without being snagged by one of the Big Three of the Golden State.

Bill Brooks, of Corpus Christi, Texas, at left tackle on one side of Zabriskie, and Bob Harbold, of Washington, D. C., who is on the other side as pivot of the Midshipman line, compose a three-man wrecking crew, say those who have watched the sailors perform so far this year. Harbold, a three-sport star, keeps in shape for boxing and lacrosse by playing football. His brother played end for West Point a few years ago.

"Inside Stuff. Speaking of Notre Dame and the vicissitudes of the system's "home team" this season, as most everybody has been doing, here's the latest "inside" report on what's wrong at South Bend, from one of our Indiana scouts:

"Rockne based the entire success of his teams on fast guards who ran interference on off tackle and around-end plays and who also covered the passer on forward pass plays.

"Anderson, while still attempting to use Rockne's plays, has been using much bigger, and consequently, much slower men at guard. These guards, so vital to the Rockne style, have in every game this year been unable to get around in front of the ball-carrier in time to take out the tackle on the side at which the play is directed.

"Time after time, if you will look back over reports of the Notre Dame games this year, the runners have been stopped behind the scrimmage line by the tackle, who, under Rockne, would have been smothered.

"Anderson, by putting weight in the line, has been trying to mix the bone-crushing tactics of a Minnesota team with the deceptive, fast-moving Rockne style and has failed to make them click."

The Best Strategy. Paul Johnson, the Ashland, Ohio, boy, has quite justly received much credit for his smart generalship in running this year's Army football team.

Johnson's judgment and selection of plays, however, have been scarcely more vital to Cadet successes than his fleetness and shiftness in returning opposing kicks for substantial distances.

Like the home run at a critical spot in baseball, there is no strategy more effective than a 50-yard run-back to punt. Johnson has been giving a fine exhibition of results with his type of master-minding.

TWO EARLY REMBRANDTS ADDED TO PARIS GALLERY

Paris.—(AP)—The Louvre has been enriched by the two fine Rembrandt portraits, bequeathed by Henri Pezere, of the old French banking family.

One of the pictures is a portrait of a Dutchman, fresh-complexioned, with grey-blue eyes wearing a broad black felt hat. He has a pointed beard and greying mustache. The name of the subject is not known. The other picture is to Corneille Pronck, also with grey-blue eyes, wearing a fine white collarette.

FORBIDDEN VALLEY by William Byron Mowery

At the far end of the corridor she pointed to the doorway of the room at their left. In the hushed silence Sonya lowered her voice to a whisper.

Chapter 12 THE OLD FORT

"WHILE the Cossacks were drinking heavily," said Sonya, "the eighty surviving Kloshoes massacred them all, burned their bodies in one huge pyre; and their old shaman laid the dread Thunder Garse on the place. Only the priest was left alive.

"It was a summer night like tonight," Sonya added. "Eight men who escaped the first rush, barricaded themselves in one of the rooms, but the Kloshoes chopped the door off its hinges and killed them. I imagined I could still see the dark stains on the walls of that room."

Curt thought that the Indians he had seen on the landing that afternoon were a pretty mild set to be descendants of that fiery tribe who had battled the Cossacks to a standstill, retreating massacre for extermination. "They've certainly come down a notch," he remarked. "They're as peaceful as coast Siwash now."

"Oh, you're mistaken; the Indians around here aren't Kloshoes," she corrected him. "They're descendants of another band that used to live down toward Tlalact. The Kloshoes fled back into the mountains after that massacre, and they've stayed there ever since. They're an almost unknown band. They live up north in the Lilliar headwaters, and keep themselves isolated from other tribes, and they won't let white people come into their territory at all."

Curt recalled a time when he had sat on the pier at Fort McMurray with Inspector Jamieson of the Indian Bureau, and Jamieson had told him about a "lost" tribe in the Lilliar Mountains. These Kloshoes might be the tribe Jamieson meant.

According to Jamieson's account they were a wild and unapproachable clan, but not treacherous like the nomads of the Skanni and Nahann countries. He had so far persuaded the Indian Bureau to let them alone because they minded their own business and clutched their freedom so pathetically.

Gliding ashore, he beached the "breed's" canoe and started up the path with his companion. As he watched her meekness in light and out of the yellow circle of light that he directed at the trail, he thought what small things they were—smaller even than Regius DuCharme's.

Once when her head bobbed close to his he caught the faint odor of thyme perfume and it put him in mind of the thyme-scented kerchief which had unlocked that Spanish consul case for him in Montreal. But what a difference between that soft-paired woman and this clean-limbed vital girl at his side!

The touch of her hand on his arm, as he guided her past root-snags and shielded her from brush flipping back, was an experience such as he had never known with Rosalie Martin. Although he had been acquainted with her so short a time, he felt the impact of her personality, a very positive and cogent force.

THE fort loomed up just ahead. Startlingly near the owl sounded its weird call again. Curt reached down for a stone and sent it clattering against the old building. A soft-winged shadow passed over them and they heard the angry clucking of the bird's bill.

At the door he flipped the light on the massive red walls and the broad parapet twenty-five feet high where soldiers once paced sentry-go at night. A clump of devil's club nearly choked the entrance. He pushed a way through the clump, and they stepped into the gloomy hallway, that led down the center.

There were six rooms on the ground floor, but the second story was one big room, probably the Cossacks' assembly place. The roof had partly fallen in; the floor above had rotted, leaving only the thick beams; the dust of many generations covered everything; but otherwise the ruin lay there as it had been left on the night of the massacre, one hundred and twenty years ago.

Down the dusty hallway led a fresh moccasin track, small and dainty. Curt knew it was Sonya's, on some previous expedition. She certainly had nerve, to visit that place alone!

Both belong to Rembrandt's best period, the first is dated 1632 and the second 1633. The Louvre has not another 1632 Rembrandt, but has two dated 1633. The other Rembrandts of the Louvre belong to a later period, among them being the famous Bathsheba, painted in 1654.
