NEGRO ATTACKS WHITE MAN AND GIRL IN PITT

Income Of U. S. Made Big Jump The Past Year

GOVERNMENT SPENDS LESS TO COLLECT

Report of Commissioner of Revenue Shows Income Jumped $62,110,181 During 1933; Beer Alone Brings in $35,149,490; Income Taxes Carry Bulk of Load; N. C. Ranks High in Total

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—(AP)—The nation's income upward some $62,110,181 during the 1933 fiscal year—what's more—it cost the government less to collect it.

Guy T. Helvering, Commissioner of Internal Revenue in his annual report to Secretary Morgenthau that the year's income was up 3.2 per cent over 1932, the former brought in $35,149,490 and the latter $30,944,944.

With income taxes carrying the bulk of the load, Helvering estimated the total revenue for the 1933 fiscal year at $1,619,839,224 as compared with $1,567,729,042 the year before.

Further, it cost the government $1.85 to collect each $100 of revenue during the year. That was 32 cents less the $100 than it cost previous years.

All in all, it cost $30,031,722 to collect the revenue of the government for the year as compared with $33,870,903 the previous year. Individual and corporation income taxes brought a total of $742,781,404, Helvering reported, a decrease of $309,965,393, or 29 per cent. However, there was a sharp increase in the miscellaneous internal revenue which included tobacco manufactured, liquor and checks. These totaled $873,047,820, an increase of $372,075,475.

Tobacco taxes alone during the year, he pointed out, brought in $402,729,059 of which cigarettes contributed more than 32.

New York's 10.22 per cent of the population, paid $376,346,672, or 23.23 per cent of the country's internal revenue taxes during the year 1933. North Carolina was the next, her 2.57 per cent of the population paying $12,181,218 per cent of the collection.

Of New York's aggregate payment, the largest proportion—240,100,793—was from individual and corporation income taxes. But in North Carolina's income taxes amounted to only 759. Used tobacco plants paid most of the remainder.

FRANCE GIVES BIG BOOST TO U. S. PRODUCTS

Paris, Jan. 8.—(AP)—France agreed today to increase threefold the quota on American products and amount for the fiscal year.

The United States Embassy announced the decision of this agreement whereby the United States will be exempted from the French policy to reserve three-quarters of its imports quota and bringing purposes.

HUNDRED MEN GET WORK ON HEALTH DRIVE

Entire Quota of 271 Expected to be Absorbed Before Campaign is Over

A hundred men were expected to go to work on the sanitary program recently approved by the Civil Works Administration for Pitt county and the entire quota of 271 assigned to this task were expected to be absorbed in the near future.

Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Pitt County Department of Health under whose direction the campaign will be carried on, stated today that there is so much CWA work going on in the county it would be impossible to absorb the entire quota of workmen at this time, but said this would be done as rapidly as possible.

He stated that one hundred workmen probably would be employed in the sanitary program this week.

The program calls for the erection of 4,000 sanitary privies in all sections of the county, and all persons living in rural districts, together with all churches and schools will have the expense of construction paid for providing they buy the materials.

The work is being directed by Dr. McGeachy and E. B. Roach, sanitary engineer with the State Board of Health and U. S. Public Health Service. They have asked the hearty co-operation of all property owners in helping make the campaign a success and have pledged their best efforts to hold expenses down as much as possible.

Dr. McGeachy said it would be next to impossible for mistakes not to be made in such a gigantic task, and expressed hope that all citizens would overlook anything which might appear to be a mistake and co-operate with the department in its effort to improve sanitation and boost general health conditions.

There are a great many farmers in the county who sold tobacco in the early part of the season on the border markets. The government has appointed auditors in the various warehouses in the border markets through which farmers may secure certification slips for sales made prior to October 28.

Following is a list of warehouses and auditors with whom those who made sales should correspond relative to their certification slips.

Leaf Prices Up As Mart Reopens

Prices were noticeably higher as the Greenville tobacco market reopened today following observance of the Christmas holidays.

With between 150,000 and 200,000 pounds of leaf on the floors of the various warehouses, the price situation was described as markedly higher than when the market suspended work the middle of December for celebration of the holidays.

Farmers were urged to re-work their tobacco and rush it to market as rapidly as possible. Although no definite date has been set for the closing for the season, it was said this probably would be the latter part of the month.

Three sets of buyers were on the job when sales were resumed this morning and sales were expected to be completed during the early afternoon. The market operated five sales before the holiday closing.

Sales were standing at 68,063,746 pounds when the market closed for the holidays, and it was believed that enough tobacco would be sold to push total poundage record of above 72,000,000 pounds established several years ago.

'SHHH! LISTEN TO GRANDFATHER'

UNEMPLOYED TEACHERS IN TRAINING HERE

Take Course at Teachers College Preparatory to Work in Relief Program

A number of unemployed teachers entered East Carolina Teachers College this morning in order to take the courses for the two weeks of intensive training for teachers of nursery schools and adult education groups under the Federal Relief program.

Sixty-five had registered by noon today and others were on the campus arranging their courses. Some counties were delayed in making up their lists of qualified teachers who were eligible for this work, hence some groups will arrive later. Today has been devoted largely to registration and organization of class groups with regular class work beginning tomorrow.

Most of those who are already here have registered for the Nursery School group. A nursery school under the direction of Miss Dora Coats, teacher of Primary Education, has been organized. The student themselves will have the privilege of helping to make and set up some of the inexpensive equipment and will have the opportunity to do observation work and get practical experience in handling real situations the second week. Most of the course for regular class work are taught by members of the Education and Home Economics Department. Other members of the faculty may give special lectures and demonstrations.

The courses offered for the Nursery School groups as follows: Child Development; Principles of Nursery School Education; Nursery School Procedures; Food Planning ad Menu for Nursery Schools.

During the second week much time will be devoted to observation and conferences concerning such topics as the following: Plant materials and equipment; children's activities indoor and out; eating and sleeping; toileting, dressing and undressing; periods of literature, music and science; and activities with such materials as clay, paints, sand and crayons.

The teachers will receive $12.50 a week for their work, the pay to begin with the first day of trainings.

Miss Moore Appointed To CWA Position

Miss Ward Moore of Greenville, has been appointed assistant supervisor of women's work in connection with the Civil Works Administration in Pitt, Beaufort and Hyde counties. It was made known today.

Miss Moore will go to Raleigh tomorrow where she will attend a conference of supervisors in this field.

THREE NEW PROJECTS IN PITT OKAYED

Additional $15,000 Allotted For Drainage of Canals in This Section

Three new drainage projects providing for an expenditure of $15,000 were approved for Pitt county by the Civil Works Administration the latter part of last week, it was made known today by K. T. Futrell, director of CWA work in this county.

The projects call for drainage and anti-malarial work on Mount Pleasant Canal, Belvoir Long Branch, Winterville and Grimmer's Branch, Belvoir.

Mr. Futrell also announced that a special educational project had been approved for this county and this will provide for the employment of 16 teachers. This will include illiteracy work and vocational training. Teachers, it was said, would be paid about $50 a month, the entire project involving an outlay of approximately $800 a month.

Workers employed on the various projects throughout the county were paid around $14,000 during the past week, Mr. Futrell said, and the payroll this week will be about the same.

Numbers of replacements are being made in the crops in many parts of the county and workmen on special projects were to go to work during the week.

The county's reemployment quota is slightly over a thousand. The entire quota was absorbed last week and the number was expected to be swelled this week by the putting to work of 100 men on the sanitary campaign.

Scores of projects are under way throughout the entire county and the money paid to the workmen has done much toward improving the general living conditions of the people, it was said.

FRENCH WAR HERO IS DEAD AT PARIS

Paris, Jan. 8.—(AP)—General Yvon Dubail, grand chancellor of the Legion of Honor and a French hero of the World War, died yesterday at the age of 82.

Dubail was known as the cavalier of Nancy in 1914, when as commander of the First Army in Lorraine, on the eastern front, he brought troops to the aid of the Second Army.

ESCAPES WITH GIRL IN CAR OF HER ESCORT

Steve Edwards Hit in Head With Club Four Miles From City by Unidentified Negro; His Car and Girl Companion Taken as Negro Escapes; Girl Located in Pactolus After Being Criminally Attacked Twice; Negro Still at Large

Officers today were seeking an unidentified negro who last night about 10 o'clock beat a white man over the head with a club about four miles east of Greenville and escaped with his girl companion and automobile.

The young woman, Miss Marie House, was located in Pactolus Township this morning about eight o'clock. She told officers the negro had attacked her twice. She was reported in a serious condition.

Steve Edwards, 28-year-old married man, who was driving the car at the time of the attack, was brought to the local hospital where fourteen stitches were taken in his scalp. Officers said that although his injuries were painful, they were not necessarily serious.

Officers tracked the negro as far as Pactolus Township where the girl was abandoned on the highway. The negro sped on in the car.

Edwards, reported to be a married man with two children, said he and the young woman had left the Greenville-Washington highway about four miles from town and entered an intersecting road where the crime occurred.

He said he got out to look after his lights when the negro walked up and struck him over the head with the club, momentarily incapacitating him. The negro, he stated, then jumped into the car, seized the girl and sped away.

Miss House told officers the negro attacked her twice and then put her out on a road in Pactolus Township. She proceeded to the home of Joe Baker between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning where she received attention.

Officers in the meantime, had started the hunt for the negro, and about 8 o'clock located the girl at the home of Baker.

The negro's trail was lost in Pactolus, but officers said this afternoon they would continue the hunt. Information concerning the crime had been sent to many other parts of the State.

Miss House said she did not know the negro who attacked them, but furnished officers with the best description she could.

Edwards is a farmer living about two miles from Greenville and Miss Baker was said to be a resident of the county.

DISMISSES REQUEST FOR RATE CHANGE

I. C. C. Dismisses Complaint From Potato Shipping Points Of N. C.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today refused to order a revision at various freight rates and refrigeration charges on potatoes from North Carolina points to destinations in New England truck line territory.

The Carolina Shippers' Association complained to the commission that freight on both sweet and Irish potatoes were too high from certain points in North Carolina to destinations in Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont, and West Virginia.

After reviewing the case, the commission said it had found no evidence that rates in effect were unreasonable or unlawful and ordered the complaint dismissed.

Being robbed by bandits seems about to become a habit with Miss Anne McKinney, theater ticket seller in Greensboro, N. C. She was held up recently for the third time in a few months.

Senate Asks Questions. Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The Senate proceeded to ask the administration more questions about its policies today before determining consideration of the huge gatch of nominations already accumulated. The House meanwhile worked quietly on its miscellaneous calendar and secondary business.

On motion of Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) without debate the Senate sought a report from Secretary Wallace on operation of the processing taxes by which acreage cut plans of the administration are being financed.

Previously the Senate, at the request of Borah (R., Idaho) asked the treasury to inform it on the status of war debt payments.

HERRIOT MAY BE CALLED IN AS MINISTER

Storm Over Bayonne Bank Scandal May Result in Overthrow Of Government; Drafting of Albert Balmer Considered Essential; Cabinet Gathers For a Final Decision Today

Paris, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Formation of a new French cabinet was considered a strong possibility today with the government moving swiftly to protect against the overthrow of the $4,000,444 Bayonne Bank scandal.

It was said unofficially Edouard Herriot, champion of the American war debt payment, might be called as Minister of Foreign Affairs. In any event, government leaders were said to have agreed that drafting of Colonel Secretary Albert Balmer was essential both to give him freedom to defend himself against allegations growing out of the collapse of the Bayonne Municipal Ownership Corporation and also to strengthen the government's defense against opposition in Parliament. The cabinet gathered today for a session at which final decision was expected.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Jefferson Caffery, President Roosevelt's personal representative in Cuba, has been instructed "verbally and informally" to inform the Cuban government that the United States was interested in the protection of American-owned property in the island.

State Department officials said last night Caffery was instructed to file the case of the Cuban-American sugar factory, alleged to have been taken over for operation by the Cuban government.

The Department denied published reports that the United States had sent a strongly-worded note to Cuba on the subject.

PROTECT THESE CHILDREN

News from Williamston that a small boy of that city will probably lose a leg as a result of being injured by an automobile while skating brings again to our attention the necessity for some provision to be made for the skaters in our own city.

Already some of the cities of this section are following the lead of the larger cities by roping off certain sections of streets at certain times to provide a place for the children to skate without the danger of being injured by automobiles.

When he cut her loose she sprang up and hugged him, sobbing: "Paul! Paul! Oh, I knew—I heard the shooting—I knew you had come! Where's Curt? Is he—is he safe?"

AT RUSSIAN LAKE old John came walking into the firelog of Curt's camp, where Curt sat talking with Superintendent Marlin who had flown up from Vancouver that afternoon.

Heavy with gas, Karakhan's plane had got off the water and climbed to a thousand feet, and was circling for altitude to clear the ranges. Curt was just jumping his ship into the air as they came out.

Lighter and swifter than the other plane, it climbed in a steep thundering spiral, cutting down Karakhan's lead so rapidly that in four minutes it was up level with the Speedair.

AT FOUR THOUSAND feet Karakhan leveled off and swung due south. Curt was behind him at that moment, and about five hundred feet above. As the Speedair swung, Curt's ship nosed down and headed for the other plane, straight as a fluted arrow.

He hurtled on and on, aiming his craft like a huge projectile at Karakhan's plane. The interval shrank—two hundred feet, a hundred, fifty. Still he did not turn or swerve an inch. Sonya screamed.

With an explosive smash that came to them distinctly, the Fairchild plowed into the other ship, breaking the Speedair's fuselage in two and tearing off both wings. Careening on beyond the Speedair, Curt's plane turned over twice, with its own pontoons and one of its wings gone; and started a crazy lurching spin to the lake below.

Karakhan's ship, a tangle of fabric and metal, came plummeting straight down. A few seconds after the crash a puff of smoke streamed

FORBIDDEN VALLEY

Chapter 45 LOOKING UP

TWO HUNDRED yards from the cove Curt shouted ahead at Smash: "Start the engine! Revv it up for me!"

For once Smash came through. While Curt was reaching the cove, Smash cut the mooring ropes, clambered into the cabin, cranked the engine and pushed up the throttle, and had the motor settled into a steady powerful rhythm.

"Jump out!" Curt ordered him, splashing to a pontoon and clambering up. "I've got to go after him alone."

He was suddenly bowled over, deluged and half drowned in a blinding smother of spume and chopped-up water, as Curt opened the motor to its thundering roar and plowed out of the cove to the open lake.

For several minutes after Curt had left the cove month, Paul stayed there to watch. But he saw nothing, and decided that he was needed elsewhere.

Before leaving, he called in Sikani to the men inside the cave: "Things of infamy, you will come out when we say come out! If you are peaceful, you will see the sunshine again. If not, you can stay there till this mountain wears away!"

He started down the slope to the cabin. On his way past the gully, he stopped at a pool of water and washed the blood from his face.

From the door of the cabin he saw Sonya lying bound and gagged on the bunk. She turned her head, saw him and tried to rise, but Karakhan had bound her too securely. Paul ran across to her. As he bent over her and she looked up at him, the expression in her eyes was a thing he could never afterward forget.

When he cut her loose she sprang up and hugged him, sobbing: "Paul! Paul! Oh, I knew—I heard the shooting—I knew you had come! Where's Curt? Is he—is he safe?"

In few words Paul explained. "Tenn-Og brought us north, we flew in last night, we've just whipped the Kioshees. Those planes, hear them—" the two ships out on the lake were jarring the cabin with their full-gunned roar—"that's Curt going after Karakhan." Let's go!

They ran out of the cabin to the open landwash. Heavy with gas, Karakhan's plane had got off the water and climbed to a thousand feet, and was circling for altitude to clear the ranges. Curt was just jumping his ship into the air as they came out.

Lighter and swifter than the other plane, it climbed in a steep thundering spiral, cutting down Karakhan's lead so rapidly that in four minutes it was up level with the Speedair.

In bewildered awe Paul and Sonya stood on the shore, faces upturned. "What's Curt going to do, Paul?" Sonya cried.

Paul shook his head, utterly nonplussed. His partner had gas for only a few miles and could not follow; he had no gun except an automatic, and could not fight. His maneuvers were utterly mystifying. He was not even trying to close up, while he might have got in a lucky shot with the pocket gun; instead he was deliberately keeping at a distance from Karakhan.

AT RUSSIAN LAKE old John came walking into the firelog of Curt's camp, where Curt sat talking with Superintendent Marlin who had flown up from Vancouver that afternoon.

Heavy with gas, Karakhan's plane had got off the water and climbed to a thousand feet, and was circling for altitude to clear the ranges. Curt was just jumping his ship into the air as they came out.

Lighter and swifter than the other plane, it climbed in a steep thundering spiral, cutting down Karakhan's lead so rapidly that in four minutes it was up level with the Speedair.

In bewildered awe Paul and Sonya stood on the shore, faces upturned. "What's Curt going to do, Paul?" Sonya cried.

At two thousand feet a small manlike object detached itself from the falling wreckage. For five or six seconds it came down and down, turning slowly, head over feet, till the demoralized plane was a hundred yards below it and well to one side.

Against the blue of the sky a tiny bit of white flashed. A moment later a long streamer of white shot out. While the two wrecked craft were plummeting on down, to hit the lake with a tremendous splash and sink out of sight, the streamer caught the air, flared out and burst into a white sky-flower.

"Oo-oo!" broke from both of them—a cry of unworldly thankfulness, releasing all their spellbound fears of those last terrible minutes. Even then they could not fully realize that Curt had saved himself. It came home to them only by degrees, as they watched the rickshute stop swinging and drift in their direction.

It was Sonya who first saw Curt tugging at the guide lines and understood the danger he was fighting against.

"Paul! Get a canoe! He'll come down in the lake! We've got to get out to him!"

Paul sprang back the path to a canoe near the cabin. By the time he got it to water, he saw that the craft would not be needed; the wind was carrying the chute south against the mountain slope. Four hundred feet high it passed over their heads, and Curt looked down and waved assurance to them. Falling slowly, he brushed low over a clump of spruces and lodged in a tall pine just above the little knoll.

Paul hurried up to help his partner, but Sonya could not move. When she saw that Curt had landed and was safe, she sank down on the canoe, faint and trembling. A wing of Karakhan's plane was bobbing in toward shore, but the ship itself had disappeared, and Karakhan with it—down in the icy depths of the lake.

As her eyes followed that piece of bobbing wreckage, she strove to realize that he was dead, dead—the man who had cruelly sent her father and Carl to their innocent deaths. Her long hunt was ended.

AT RUSSIAN LAKE old John came walking into the firelog of Curt's camp, where Curt sat talking with Superintendent Marlin who had flown up from Vancouver that afternoon.

"I'm havin' a little git-together over at my tent dreckly, like we had that time afore, Curt; an' I figgered you men 'ud like to 'in us. Paul an' Tenn-Og an' some more air there a'ready, an' the others all said they're comin'."

"Thanks, John, we'll be over," Curt accepted. "Our trip really started there at your fire, and it ought to end there."

The streaming headline: KARAKHAN TAKEN BY FORMER MOUNTY—brought Curt a glow of hard-earned pride; but he was more gratified by the subhead, with its emphasis on Karakhan's money:

Embezzler of Huge Sums Killed in Resisting Arrest The Karakhan hunt had cost him a heavy price personally—his maimed hand, his brushes with death, the suffering it had dragged him through, and the destruction of the plane he had bought with the savings of several long years. As pay for all that he was to receive less than two hundred dollars.

But the hunt had gained him certain priceless things, not to be measured in money. He and A-K were back on the old foting again; he had found himself after a year of groping around, and he had found Sonya.

He laid the paper and stack of others inside the tent. "I suppose we'd better start over to old John's 'sociable,' A-K. You'll be the guest of honor there tonight, and they're probably waiting."

Chosen for a HUMAN SACRIFICE

Half-crazed tribesmen, perpetuating pagan rites centuries old, sought for their Sun God a daughter whose beauty surpassed all others on earth, a woman worthy of wearing the crown of a

Blond Goddess

JANICE KENT, movie star on location in a Mexican jungle, was marked for her striking beauty and golden-colored hair. Through the treachery of DON RAOUL ORTEGA, she was kidnaped, carried off to the natives' retreat in the wilderness. There JANICE learned the tribal gods would welcome into their household only her spirit, that she must be a human sacrifice!

FRANK GRAHAME, war-time ace and adventurer, trailed JANICE's abductors, made a single-handed attempt at rescue, was himself captured and condemned to die.

The sacrificial altar was prepared, a thousand mad-men pressed forward to witness the insane ceremony, when a modern, avenging demon broke the medieval spell. An airplane swooped down from the sky to give new hope to JANICE and GRAHAME, a new chance for life and fulfillment of a romance that had blossomed in ghastly surroundings.

TONY SARG'S MARIONETTES AT COLLEGE JANUARY 29

Tony Sarg's Marionettes will appear at East Carolina Teachers College in both a matinee and an evening performance on January 29, three weeks from today.

Twice before these marvelous puppets have appeared on the program of entertainments offered by the college and have always drawn large audiences who were delighted with the performances of the puppets.

The Uncle Remus stories will be their big feature this time, and nothing could please better a southern audience. The matinee will be especially for children and both performances will be at popular prices.

The fee for student activities, publications and entertainments, which was reduced last year to $3.00 a quarter, was restored by the board of trustees of the college to the original sum of $5.00 a quarter.

The entertainment program and student organizations especially had suffered because of the reduced fee but now there will perhaps soon be some interesting announcements from the entertainment committee.

WILL PRESENT MEMORIAL IN HONOR OF 'MOTHER COTTEN'. As a memorial to Mrs. R. R. Cotten of Pitt county, known to most North Carolina club women as "Mother Cotten," the State Federation of Women's Clubs present to the General Federation of Women's Clubs a presiding officer's table and a set of three officer's chairs to be used in the board room at General Federation headquarters at Washington, D. C. The presentation will take place at headquarters on Wednesday morning at the annual meeting of the board of directors of the General Federation.

At the 1930 State Federation convention held at Pinehurst, a committee was appointed and authorized to select a fitting memorial to Mrs. Cotten to be placed at national headquarters. The committee was composed of the state president who was then Mrs. Edward M. Land, the state director, who was Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, and Mrs. Palmer Jerman, a member of the board of trustees of the General Federation. On becoming president, Mrs. J. M. Hoggood succeeded Mrs. Land as a member of the committee and likewise Mrs. Land succeeded Mrs. O'Berry. Consequently it fell to Mrs. Hoggood, Mrs. Land and Mrs. Jerman to select the memorial which they will have the honor to present at the annual meeting next week.

In presenting this gift to national headquarters in honor of her distinguished plumed club woman, North Carolina is keeping step with other states who have honored their distinguished club leaders in similar ways. Today headquarters is attractively and appropriately furnished with gifts that have been sent by state federations and individual clubs in memory of their outstanding club women. North Carolina's gift of a table and three arm chairs of Victorian style, made of walnut and beautifully carved, the committee feels is most appropriate and is a lovely tribute to Mrs. Cotten. On the table is an engraved copper plate bearing the inscription: "Presented to the General Federation of Women's Clubs by the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs in loving memory of Sallie Southall Cotten, 1846-1929. A pioneer Club Woman."

Local Red Men Install Officers. Withacochee Tribe No. 35 I. O. R. M., entertained the installing chiefs last Friday evening, Jan. 5. The work was beautifully executed by W. C. Jones, Senior Past Sachem acting as officiating chief, assisted by Past Sachem L. S. Spence. The officers who were installed will begin their new terms Friday night. They are: L. E. Stocks, Sachem; James Hinson, Senior Sagamore; A. A. Ellwanger, Junior Sagamore; A. L. Tucker, Prophet; A. J. Stocks, Chief of Record; L. A. Lee, Keeper of Wampum; A. Z. Heath, Keeper of Wigwag.

The appointive officers: J. E. McGowan, First Sannap; O. C. White, Second Sannap; G. C. Harris, Guard of Forest; J. H. Laughinghouse, Guard of Wigwag; A. B. Corey, First Warrior; J. B. Hardee, Second Warrior; R. V. Keel, Third Warrior; J. Hicks, Corey, Fourth Warrior; Lloyd Williams, First Brave; Albert G. Williams, Second Brave; D. E. Todd, Third Brave; Uran Cox, Fourth Brave.

Progress was reported by all committees in addition to the usual routine of business. Again the true spirit of fraternalism was beautifully demonstrated, a large and enthusiastic gathering of members.

Between 125 and 150 were present. A jolly bunch of good Red Men and one especially notable feature was the presence of so many fathers and sons. It looks like father and sons' night at every meeting.

We have had a very successful meeting and everything went off in apple pie order. Just before we adjourned Brother L. S. Spence was given the floor just a few minutes for a few "hot shots."

The meeting was then adjourned and all was seated in the hall where the boys began doing full justice to an appetizing feast of barbecue and cold drinks prepared by J. H. Laughinghouse and his committee.

With the closing of the year the memory of Brothers F. M. Hodges and J. J. Baker, whom God saw fit to call from our midst, still linger with us. Brothed Hodges was a charter member and faithful worker with Withacochee Tribe No. 35. He has lost a loyal supporter who took keen interest in the affairs of our organization, and I am sure the Master has said, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

To his family we extend deepest sympathy and the few lines are only a small tribute to his cherished memory.

He has solved life's wonderful problem. The dearest, the strangest, the last, and into the school of the angels with the answer forever has passed.

Strange Moaning

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER. Willy Nilly, the little gnome-like man who lived with his animal friends in Puddle Muddle, was certainly having a hard time of it.

The blizzard was letting up now and the wind was dying down, but the storm had caused trouble in Willy Nilly's downstairs room which was in great confusion. The Puddle Muddlers were resting upstairs.

There had been one time when they had thought they had heard meaning and bowing and had feared that some great beast might be roaming around.

"We couldn't have heard anything," Willy Nilly said. "It was just that we were nervous. But I think now we had better go downstairs and set things to rights. Oh, what a job it will be!"

Top Notch, the Rooster, Rip, the Dog, Christopher Columbus Crow, Mr. and Mrs. Quacko Duck and the other Ducks all followed Willy Nilly down the stairs.

Never in the history of Puddle Muddle had the downstairs room looked as it did now, with slush and broken glass and china and wet wood and a fireplace that looked too forlorn to ever glow again.

They hardly knew what to start doing first, when once again they heard the strange moaning and the deep but frightful howling. And it sounded very close, just as though it came from right outside the door.

It could not be the wind. All the creatures shivered with fear. What was going to happen now? What great beast could be outside their door?

Tomorrow—'Top Notch's Shock.'

TWO WEEKS OF COURT BEGINS HERE JAN. 15

Judge Frank Daniels To Preside Over Civil and Criminal Term. The calendar for the one-week session of the two-week term of Superior Court which will convene here next Monday morning with Judge F. A. Daniel, of Goldsboro, presiding, has been completed and is now in the hands of the printers.

The finishing touch was put to the calendar at a meeting of the bar the first of last week, and printers were expected to have it off the press today or tomorrow.

Solicitor D. M. Clark was busy getting the criminal calendar lined up, and this was expected to be in definite form about the middle of the week.

Between sixty and a hundred cases are scheduled for consideration during the session and a similar number in the criminal.

Probably the most important case to be considered by the criminal term will be the murder charge against Heber Ayers, who is being held in jail here charged with the slaying of Floyd Cox on the old Stokes road during the early part of December.

Two bullets taken from Cox's body were said by ballistic experts to be similar to those found missing from Ayers' gun. The first bullet was taken from the body before burial, but exhumation was necessary to obtain the second one.

Cox was believed to have had around $100 in his possession when he left the filling station where he was employed about midnight. His body was found in the woods a short distance from the road early the next morning, and opinion was expressed that he was slain shortly after leaving the filling station.

Ayers firmly denied any connection with the slaying, declaring one of the bullets missing from his gun had been fired at a dog. He said he knew nothing of the murder until informed of it next day.

There will be a change in time of services for tomorrow morning; the first Holy Mass will start at 6:45 o'clock followed by the sermon, which in turn will be followed immediately by the following Mass.

A special invitation is extended to the general public for all of these services by the Rev. Charles Gable, pastor.

Twenty-two foreign plant quarantines are being enforced by the department of agriculture.

Williamston, Jan. 8.—Enjoyment of his 14th birthday was cut short last night for B. T. Roberson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roberson, who received injuries that might prove fatal when he was caught between two automobiles while skating on an uptown street.

With three young companions, he was hitching a rope behind a car driven by Sheldon Bell, Williamston high school student. Coming to the intersection of Main and Haughton streets, Bell was forced to stop suddenly to avoid striking another car.

Behind him came an automobile driven by Miss Jeannette Carson. Unable to stop quickly enough, she crashed into the rear of Bell's machine, pinning Roberson between. The other three skaters leaped to safety.

One of Roberson's legs was cut nearly off and the other appeared to be broken. He was rushed from the scene to Taylor Hospital, Washington. It was thought that he also sustained internal injuries.

The mishap occurred about nine p. m. At a late hour police had not started an investigation.

Skating on Williamston's streets is forbidden by law.

FISH, EVASIVE FOR YEARS, FINALLY CAUGHT ON SHARE. Auckland, New Zealand.—(AP)—A unique specimen of the unicorn ribbon fish, which scientists have sought for years in the Mediterranean Sea and around the Canary Islands, swam ashore here at the feet of an amateur collector.

The fish is said to be the world's most nearly perfect specimen. It has a long red comb curling above the snout.

That statement, written by the third person, stating merely that the young women died of an overdose of chloroform while being treated by Dr. Wynkoop—and that "a bullet was discharged" after death—trader had killed Rheta—has been termed by disinterested legal minds a "perfect defense document."

But the defendant, by turns, has repudiated, confirmed and again repudiated the "confession." The defense may, after all, stand upon Dr. Alice's reputation, her amazing poise, her career as a respected physician, and her original statement that an outsider committed the crime.

There are a multitude of other questions which may complicate the trial. Among them are these: Why did Earle Wynkoop, 27-year-old, personable husband of Rheta, buy fifty cartridges for his mother's .32 calibre pistol—found beside the nearly-nude body—on November 11, just ten days before the tragedy?

And why did Dr. Alice at first deny knowledge of a $5,000 insurance policy on Rheta's life—carrying double indemnity in case of death by violence—when she herself had paid the first premium on it, also on November 11?

More Puzzlers. Why did Earle write an affectionate letter to Rheta from Kansas City on November 4—though when he returned to Chicago for several days he didn't even telephone the wife he called his "mental inferior"?

Why were there two blank cartridges in the death pistol chamber? Why did Dr. Alice, when she "discovered Rheta's body" at 8:30 that Tuesday night, first call her daughter, Dr. Catherine Wynkoop, then call an undertaker—police not being notified until four hours later?

LEO SPONAR SPEAKS HERE

Congregation of St. Peter's Catholic Church Hears Discourse on Existence. The audience in the little church of St. Peter's listened with wrapt attention last night to the Rev. Leo Sponar's delineation of the central and essential fact of existence here on earth. Graphically the speaker pointed the way back to happiness and prosperity of both soul and body, which after all are so intertwined and reciprocal in their relations that what works for good or bad for the body needs must have the same result for the soul, and vice-versa. As we have been preyed upon by unscrupulous money-changers in the great temples of finance, so likewise have we been trapped and wheeled by diabolical cunning to the detriment of our spiritual heritage as well. As we must revalue our currency, re-establish our industries to accommodate the needs of the workman, so likewise do we find ourselves compelled to re-accept the well-seasoned and unquestioned standard of moral and spiritual values, long since set by the infinite mind and loving heart of God. Unless our lives and our interest-center themselves in seeking first the kingdom of God, we cannot hope to have the other added unto us!

This morning the same speaker set on the sign-posts along the highway of life in order to avoid wrecks and loss of life; he also pointed out the fake advertisements and sign-posts to the left of the highway that beckon and allure to destruction; no one who listened could fail in being captivated at the practical and still attractive explanation of the wonderful law of God.

The children will be gathered at 4 o'clock this afternoon for daily instruction.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the subject of the discourse will be "The Great Debut."

There will be a change in time of services for tomorrow morning; the first Holy Mass will start at 6:45 o'clock followed by the sermon, which in turn will be followed immediately by the following Mass.

A special invitation is extended to the general public for all of these services by the Rev. Charles Gable, pastor.

Twenty-two foreign plant quarantines are being enforced by the department of agriculture.

LOVERS STILL RUSH TO ALTAR

Thirteen Marriages Here Saturday Swells January Total to 35. The number thirteen may be un-lucky, or it may not, but that is immaterial to the thirteen couples who applied for licenses to wed here Saturday. The figure carried the month's total to 35 with indications that the first month of the year like the last month of 1933 will be a record one in the issuance of licenses.

The trek to the altar has been continuing with unabated zeal here in the last three months with the December total reaching 169. This swung the year's total to 744, nearly double that for the previous year.

Colored people continued to hold the lead in the altar march Saturday with eight of those applying for license to wed being colored and the remaining five white. The figure has run about three to two in favor of the colored race for the last several years.

With the start of the new year the new deal still in the air, employees of the office of the register of deeds were expecting the pilgrimages to the realm of bliss to continue for quite awhile. In fact, all of those who had been waiting off marriage the last four years because of unprecedented business conditions were expected to take advantage of the revival in this field and join the "dead" harness march while the fever holds sway.

Three applying for licenses to wed Saturday were: Guy Anderson to Miss Marjorie West, both of Lenoir county; Atlas Coley to Miss Annie Turnage, Pitt County; Charles Anderson to Miss Veima Briley, Fountain.

Roy Harris to Miss Shirley Cayton, Winterville; Simon Braxton to Miss Dolly Coley, Greenville.

James Pitt to Lucy Streeter; Danley Langley to Eva Clark, Greenville; W. C. Cannon to Frances Lang, Ayden; Lyman Dupre to Ellen Bynum, Fountain.

JUDGE GRADY ORDERS PROPERTY RE-SOLD

Kinston, Jan. 8.—The Lenoir commissioners should have given H. Stadium a chance to bid on the store buildings he occupies here, according to Judge Henry A. Grady, of Superior Court. The commissioners sold the building, owned by the county, to Leo and Jake Borden for $15,000. Stadium later offered $16,000, but the commissioners said they had accepted the Borden offer and were legally and morally bound to turn the property over to them.

Stadium instituted a suit against the board. He asserted he held a long-term lease on the building and that when the lease was executed the commissioners, predecessors to the board, promised him he should have a choice to buy the structure if it were offered for sale.

Judge Grady, siding with Stadium ordered the property resold and Stadium will get his chance to bid on the property.

HIGH POINT WINS TWICE IN TRIP HERE

In direct contrast with Friday night's scoring festival in which High Point took a 63-35 win, the Panthers and E. C. T. C. put on a low-scoring affair Saturday night with the visiting quint getting a 25-20 verdict to make it two in a row over the Teachers.

Culler, Panther forward who made 26 points Saturday night, was ejected for disputing the referee's decision in the first half after having made five points.

The Teachers made their points equally from action, and the free-throw line, while the Panthers got one more on foul shots than they did on the field goals.

Bostic led the Teachers' scoring and Culler and Shore headed the Panthers.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, six to fourteen points higher in response to higher Liverpool and on active trade and commission house buying.

The opening advance carried March up to 4.69 and July to 10.99, but these prices seemed to meet active realizing or liquidation.

Buying continued with the market active after the call and prices were holding within two or three of the best at the end of the first half hour.

A considerable volume of realizing and selling was absorbed on moderate early setbacks and the market soon firmed, but higher prices brought in another flurry of realizing or some liquidation on old limit, but the officers were fairly well taken on reaction of four to five points and the market was steady at midday with active months showing advances of nine to twelve points.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—There was little life in the stock market today, although prices as a whole were steady to firm.

The alcohol equities which in small volume raised their quotations, some of the tobacco prices rallied and various issues moved a bit higher. Dullness was the rule in the early hours and the ticker tape was silent at intervals.

The dollar showed strength in foreign dealings. Grains were narrow but cotton again improved. Bonds were listless and irregular. Transfers were only 700,000 shares.

Named To I. C. C.
Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated Walter M. Splawan, former president of the University of Texas, to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The President also advanced William Howse to be first assistant postmaster general and named Harlee Branch, of Georgia, to succeed Howse as second assistant postmaster general.

Other nominations included Angus McLean of North Carolina, to be assistant solicitor general; Marcus Erwin to be U. S. attorney of the Western district of North Carolina; Ford Worthing to be U. S. marshal of the Eastern district of North Carolina; and Charles Price to be U. S. marshal of the Western district of North Carolina.

Two Killed When Train Hits School Bus

Brassfield, Miss., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Two children were fatally injured and a score of others hurt, seriously, when a Mississippi Central passenger train crashed into a school bus which apparently had stalled on the tracks near the Brassfield station. There were 46 children in the bus ranging in age from 7 to 18 years, all residents of the Goop House community, and pupils at the Brassfield Consolidated School, including the driver, Ernest Wilson, 18.

The impact demolished the bus which was carried a distant down the right-of-way before the train could be stopped. Screams of children, some of whom were thrown from the bus by the force of the crash, brought quick assistance. The bodies were removed from the wreckage and the more seriously hurt were carried to hospitals. Others were treated in the Brassfield depot.

Gold Purchase Over $75,000,000
Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Gold purchases today exceeded $75,000,000 of which $20,887,000 was for newly mined domestic metal.

Jesse Jones, R. F. C. chairman, gave these figures to newspapermen after the price of $34.06 an ounce had been posted the 15th consecutive time.

Jones corrected the figure of more than $24,000,000 which he gave last week as to the outlay for domestic gold, explaining it was erroneous. Without giving a definite figure for foreign gold purchases, Jones said the total of all gold acquired under President Roosevelt's buying program was well under $10,000,000, but over $76,000,000.

CRASH CAR DRIVER RELEASED ON BOND

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 8.—C. T. Smallwood, of Clayton, yesterday was freed under $500 bond to await trial on two serious charges as the result of an auto collision in which D. J. Penny, 25, of near Benson, was badly injured.

Smallwood was charged with driving while intoxicated and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, according to police.

At Rex Hospital the attending physician said: "I don't think Mr. Penny's condition is serious unless something develops."

He is suffering with a slight brain injury and occasional lapses into unconsciousness, according to the doctor. A slight improvement in his condition has been noted.

The car which Smallwood was driving collided with one in which Mr. and Mrs. Penny were riding at the intersection of Davie and Bloodworth Streets. Mrs. Penny was bruised, but she remained at the hospital only to receive emergency treatment.

The crash occurred Saturday afternoon.
