STORM BREAKS FIERCELY OVER FRENCH CABINET

Federal Expenditures For The Fiscal Year Go Above Three Billion Dollar Mark

EIGHT MORE BILLIONS TO BE SPENT NOW

Budget Estimates Put The Total Government Outlay For 1934 At $11,000,000,000; Government Deficit Stands At $1,446,401,517; Expected Shortage Will Stand At $7,309,068,211 At End Of The Year

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Federal expenditures for the fiscal year today passed the $3,000,000,000 mark leaving $8,000,000,000 to be spent before June 30 to fulfill President Roosevelt's budget estimate. Budget estimates put the total government outlay for 1934 at $11,000,000,000. Exact cash expenditures so far as reported today by the Treasury from January 9, the latest figures available, are $3,006,128,527. Nearly half the estimate for outlying government costs has been spent. The exact figure is $1,554,067,201, but of the more than $7,000,000,000 which the President estimated for recovery costs, only $1,452,610,326 has been used. The deficit stands at $1,446,401,517 as compared with $1,473,308,843 on the same date last year. By the end of the year President Roosevelt had estimated the deficit will stand at $7,309,068,211. Comparisons with cash outlays and budget estimates for the full year show the Public Works Administration has used less than $400,000,000, 000 of the 1934 figure of $1,677,190,800. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has spent $786,433,000 against the year's estimate of $3,969,740. The public debt is $23,809,336,000. President Roosevelt had estimated that by June 30 it would be lifted to $29,827,000,000.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Kills Liquor Amendment. Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—In view of opposition by President Roosevelt the Senate today reversed itself and struck out the House liquor tax bill, the amendment placing heavy excise taxes on whiskey from nations in default on war debts. Reconsidering yesterday passage of the bill and the amendment of Senator Clark of Missouri, aimed at the defaulters, the Senate voted to throw out his proposal. Democratic leaders had opposed it on grounds it would hamper the President in tariff bargaining but were overthrown yesterday by a vote of 40 to 30. Word reached the capital today that Mr. Roosevelt was opposed to the amendment. The vote against the Clark amendment today was 44 to 20. Without a record vote the bill itself was again passed and Senate conferees were appointed to work with House members over the new difference between the two texts. House Democratic leaders said the $2 a gallon liquor tax bill would be accepted by the House and by the

Safe Blowing At Pitt County Town Early Today Frustrated By Police

A robbery was frustrated in Ayden early today by the sounding of the fire alarm, it was revealed by information reaching this city today. When two policemen saw several yemen enter the Home Distributing Company this morning about 5 o'clock, they realized they would be out-numbered in a hand-to-hand conflict and turned in the fire alarm. The robbers, hearing the alarm fled, returning the fire of the police as they sped out of town in a large automobile. A check of the building showed that a door of the safe had been blown away, but the compartment containing about $20 had not been reached when the alarm was sounded, sending the bandits scurrying for their car. It was reported the bandits used a machine gun in returning the fire of the two officers who brought their guns into play as the robbers left the building and entered the car. However, it was not believed anybody was injured during the fracas. Police here today expressed belief the robbers were members of the same band that blew the safe of the Nehi Bottling Works here several nights ago, and previously entered the safe of the Blades Motor Company here and at New Bern.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 11.—(AP)—More than 1,000 spectators with women outnumbering men by at least ten to one, jammed the corridors of the Cook County Criminal Court building today and pushed and jostled for chosen positions at the opening of the murder trial of Dr. Alice Wynkoop for the death of her daughter-in-law, Retta.

REPORT ON LA. ELECTION PENDING SOON

House Elections Committee Adjourns To Prepare Report Of Findings

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—The House Elections Committee, after hearing evidence for four days in the Kemp-Sanders contest over seating a Representative from the Sixth Louisiana District, adjourned today to prepare its report. Chairman Kerr, Democrat of North Carolina, asked attorneys to present briefs before Monday, at which time he said the committee would hold an executive session to consider the contest.

Paris, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The Stavisky storm broke full force on the government of Premier Camille Chautemps in the Chamber of Deputies today. The cabinet went before the Chamber of Deputies and sought to avert its overthrow by frank admission of fault and negligence and promised drastic reform in judicial and police procedure. Deputies opposing the government charged that corruption in the parliament and in the press enabled Serge "Handsome Alex" Stavisky, who killed himself Monday when police caught him, to fleece the public out of more than $40,000,000. Stavisky had founded the municipal pawnshop of Bayonne and departed a week ago leaving it without assets. Police mounted anad afoot patrolled the mile-square around the Chamber of Deputies as the interpolation began. The authorities inteded there should be no repetition of the event of Tuesday when Royalist rioted around the building in a demonstration against the government.

ASKS RETURNS ON SALES TAX

T. T. Hollingsworth, Deputy Collector, Calls Attention To Tax Act

Tom Hollingsworth, Deputy Commissioner of the Department of Revenue, having in charge the sales tax work in this territory, calls attention to the sales tax law which requires that every merchant who is registered under the Sales Tax Act must file a return as of the last day of December, 1933.

Under the Sales Tax Law merchants who have made monthly returns are required to file a monthly return for the month of December; those who have made a quarterly return on October 1 are required to file returns covering the business since that date; those who have filed no returns are required to make returns covering business and sales since July 1, 1933; if a merchant has made no returns at all, he is required to file a return showing this fact.

This return on the part of the merchants in this locality is a necessary feature of the Sales Tax Law and every merchant in the territory will be expected to make his return covering that period. Failure of the merchants to make a return for this period has no legal excuse and heavy penalties are attached by law for failure of the merchants to make these returns.

Under the act, the merchant has until the 15th day of January to make the return. The time fixed by law is mandatory and merchants failing to comply with the act in this respect will necessarily be held responsible for their failure to make return. A complete check-up of all merchants in this territory will be more before the end of this month and the Deputy Commissioner here has the direct responsibility of seeing that every return is filed. Merchants failing to make a return will be held responsible for their failure to comply with the law.

Blanks will be mailed to every merchant on the list and complete co-operation of all merchants is required.

He is in a local hospital, conscious early last night, but with small chance for recovery. A section of the skull was torn loose, the attending physician said, and the injury is considered remarkable that it did not cause instant death. LITERATURE DEPARTMENT WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Literature Department of the Woman's Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. N. Hart.

After a short business session Dr. A. D. Frank, of the college faculty, gave a talk on the political situation in Germany. Beginning with the close of the world war, and discussing the attitude of the German soldier and the German people toward the war, the terms of the Versailles Treaty and the effect of the treaty on the people, he led us to an understanding of the dramatic, magnetic leader of the German people today, Adolph Hitler.

With this stage setting, Dr. Frank showed clearly why the various groups, the white collar man, the agricultural man, the factions who hope to restore the monarchy and others were willing to follow their leader in his program of patriotic nationalism. At the close of this illuminating talk there was an informal discussion of current events. The members of the Literature Department always appreciate the opportunity of hearing Dr. Frank.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Evelyn Hart, Miss Mozelle Jones and Mrs. Earle Helen, served dainty sandwiches and tea.—Reported.

"Why, Bossy Cow!" they all quacked and crowed and barked and cawed.

"Moo-o-o," said the Cow in a sad voice, and turned her soft, mild eyes on all of them.

"We were so frightened after the blizzard and all that happened here," explained Willy Nilly, "that we thought you were some dreadful creature. Why didn't you moo before so we would have understood?"

"Before the blizzard came I had started to wander and when the storm began I tried to find shelter. Then I came to your door late at night and shouted, but none of you heard me."

They all looked at one another. "We really did hear you," said Christopher Columbus Crow, "but we decided it was the wind, and just a little while ago when we heard the strange moaning and bellowing sounds we didn't know what to think. Your voice wasn't natural."

"I didn't feel like myself at all," the Cow answered. "Oh, let's close the door," said Rip.

"Come inside and then we'll be able to close it," Willy Nilly told the Cow and she came limping in. But once inside it seemed as though no one else had any room.

"Some of you may get on my back," said the Cow, and the Ducks, Christopher and Top Notch accepted the invitation while Willy Nilly and Rip stood as well as they could.

With the place so upset and with the Cow in it, there didn't seem to be any room at all. They couldn't ask the Cow to go—and yet what could they do?

Unusual Number Of Visitors Attend Services At Catholic Church

An unusual number of visitors joined the audience at St. Peter's Church last night to hear the Rev. Leo Sponar, M. A., deliver another of his one week's series of talks on "What Is Wrong With the World?"

There was a real surprise experienced at the reasonableness of the doctrine of the Catholic Church on purity and marriage, etc., as explained by one who has thought and studied and talked about these delicate but sublime truths, until they stand forth in word pictures as life-like and fascinating as on the most brilliant canvass of an art gallery.

To know the truth really, is to love it and it and embrace it; it for this reason that those who are introduced in a masterful way to the actual facts of life, the attractiveness of virtue and the hatefulness of vice, even from a natural standpoint, feel themselves drawn to the one and repelled by the other, with an irresistible impulse the while their springs up in their being a genuine desire and resolution to embody these sublime teachings into their daily practice. We cannot associate with either good or bad without being influenced accordingly; we cannot become acquainted with the rare charm of noble thought and action without falling in love with same and embracing them, to the unspeakable satisfaction of soul, experienced only by those who have been introduced to the serene joy of correct living.

For the above reasons, the select talk of last night stole into the affections of his listeners, making them champions and lovers of the ideals portrayed.

The unusual and startling is promised for tonight, not only in the title, but in the matter to be treated, in the subject of the discourse, "Honey-moon's Prelude." Needless to say, this lecture is intended especially for the young men and women of the community, though all are welcome.

HIGH TO OPEN HOME SEASON FRIDAY NIGHT

The local high boys' basketball team will inaugurate their 1933-1934 season Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the High School auditorium with New Bern as their opponents. In order to make this a gala night in sports, Mayor Flanagan will officially open the season by throwing out the ball and making a few remarks. He will be introduced by J. H. Rice, all those individuals who contributed to the High's uniforms are to be guests of the Monogram Club. Seats will be reserved for these same fifty people. New Bern has an entire veteran team of lettermen from last year. They had a very successful season last year, and should be in great shape for this game. Coach Frank Allston, of New Bern, says they're good, and he should know. The local Highs, with only a few members of last year's squad back in harness, have been steady at practice since the holidays. The system or set style of play is being used by Coach Hewlett, but fundamentals are being stressed at every practice. He believes in getting that ball, handling it, and passing are the prime essentials of basketball, and will stress this all season. The locals' journey to Rocky Mount for a game tonight with the High High School there. The entire squad will make the try except three men, who are suspended for infraction of training rules. Those going are: Willie Warren, captain; Wilson, Dunn, Vincent, Carroll, Clark, Wells, Ed. Wells, John, Parks, Hardee, Warren, Norman, Pierce, and Swartz. The line-up for tomorrow night's game will be announced at a later date. But this promises to be one of the best games of the year, as New Bern usually has had the flinx on Greenville teams, and the locals are out to change things.

FANS GIVE UNIFORMS TO HIGH CAGERS

The members of the High School Monogram Club, which is composed of all letter-men of athletic teams, wish to thank and express their appreciation to those citizens and firms in Greenville, who contributed in such a splendid financial manner, so that the local High School basketball team could be properly equipped with new uniforms.

No public announcement was made of this campaign. Members of the club called as various individuals during the first part of the week asking for a maximum contribution of one dollar. Only two individuals refused to assist, which is indicative of the keen interest and desire to help, on the part of the vast majority, in one of the most important programs in the High School, that of athletics. There were dozens of people not contacted who we believe would have contributed, but there was only an approximate sum needed, and when this was obtained, no further efforts were made on collections. It was not a money-making scheme, and we do not believe that anyone was burdened or embarrassed by being called upon for a dollar. There were a few who contributed less than this, but we appreciate any and all donations. A total of $43.90 was collected. The ten uniforms were selected, ordered and paid for yesterday by Coach Hewlett. They cost $38.02. They are due to be here the first part of next week. It is believed that they will meet with the approval of those who paid for them—the public. The pants are of moleskin cloth and the shirts of durenne. Both are white in color, with Kelly green trimmings. Again we wish to express our appreciation and thanks to the following for their support. They are: O. P. Matthews, Ed. Bachelor, Barry Bostic, Frank Harrington, D. J. Wichard, Jr., Hinton Best, G. C. Patrick, Frank Wilson, A. M. Moseley, Dr. Johnston, B. D. I have been growing tobacco for the past twenty-five years, and for the past two years I have been using ROYSTER'S BONANZA—MEAL BODY, GOODS EXCLUSIVELY, and I am convinced that there is no better fertilizer offered to the farmers of Pitt County. I am enclosing you three tobacco bills which will give you some idea as to the quality of my 1933 crop. THESE THREE SALES REPRESENT THREE CURINGS JUST AS THEY WERE TAKEN FROM THE FIELD. The quality of ROYSTER'S Fertilizers is readily seen in the field as well as on the warehouse floor. Tobacco grown with ROYSTER'S ripens uniformly, and when cured leaves show a finer texture. I intend to keep on using ROYSTER'S under all of my crops, as I find that it pays.

The WORLD OF STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

Triangles, those stamps so difficult to handle in the postoffice rush but which embellish any collection because their design usually is in keeping with the odd shape, are beginning to appear again.

Countries on both sides of the Atlantic, Uruguay and Holland, have come forward with the latest. The Uruguayan issue was put out in honor of the seventh Pan-American Conference, held at Montevideo. Each stamp of the set of six is in three colors and shows an albatross winging over a map of the two Americas. The values range from three to 36 centesimos.

The Holland triangle is a 30-cent air-mail, showing the propeller end of a modern airplane. The stamp has been issued in duplicate, one for the mother country and the other for the Dutch Indies, and are so inscribed.

"Winter Help" Stamps

Four of the stamps of the current Austrian issue are being overprinted with the word "Winterhilfe" and with an extra charge as a charity issue for winter relief.

The stamps are five, twelve and twenty-four groschen and one schilling, the extra charge ranging from two to fifty groschen. Fifty thousand sets are being printed. Among collectors they are known as the "winter help" stamps.

Manus Collection Sale

After a series of sales lasting nearly a year, 50,000 stamps of the British Empire division of the famous Manus collection has been disposed of in London for approximately $175,000. The collection was that of Henry Phillips Manus, Amsterdam tobacco magnate who died two years ago, and represented seventy years of stamp gathering.

Manus started it at the age of ten, about thirty years ago he found the task of assembling the world's stamps so great that he confined his attention to the British Empire and divided his other collections among his sons.

In the collection were rare Mauritius specimens, including the one-pence and the two-pence "post office" Mauritius which brought about $20,000.

Here and There
The Red Cross stamps of Portugal, first issued in 1914, then surcharged in 1927, have been surcharged again for the benefit of the Red Cross. The newest surcharge consists of a red cross and the date 1934, both printed in red.

Letters sent by balloon post used to carry mail in and out of Paris in the siege of 1870 recently were sold in Paris. The highest price about $20, was for a newspaper stamp mailed November 14, 1870 which reached its destination nine days later.

'Electric Chair' Idea Used For Killing Bacteria In Milk

Baton Rouge, La.—(AP)—Experiments conducted co-operatively by Louisiana State University and Michigan State College have led two scientists to conclude that electrocution of milk bacteria is preferable to ordinary methods of pasteurization for eliminating lacteal organisms.

STRIKERS DUMP CHICAGO MILK

A milk embargo, marked by violence, tightened around Chicago as thousands of angry farmers picketed highways and defied their neighbors' attempts to deliver milk. Here a group is shown dumping cans of milk near Elgin. More than 100,000 pounds were reported dumped in that area, and four men were arrested. (Associated Press Photo)

Working simultaneously, Professor Alice J. Gelpi, of Louisiana, and E. D. Devereaux, of Michigan, are convinced the electrocution method is more efficient and that it does not impair the quality of the milk. The process, as explained by Professor Gelpi, consists of running a continuous stream or column of milk through a rectangular and narrow chamber with carbon electrodes in the side walls. Application of current sets up sufficient heat to reduce the bacteria count about 99 per cent. Gelpi found reason to believe, after painstaking experimentation, that the destruction of the endospores is due to the heat they develop within themselves rather than heat created in the medium surrounding them. Seeking to compare the relative resistance of common spore-forming organisms, the Louisiana professor

... that's why Opaline has more heat resistance!

Generally speaking, the older a crude oil is the better motor oil it makes. Nature seems to temper it under the earth in a way which aids heat resistance. Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil is refined and blended from the oldest Mid-continent paraffin-base crude oils, mellowed and filtered under the earth for an average of 80 million years.

In manufacture, Sinclair makes Sinclair Opaline even more heat-resisting by removing the non-lubricating petroleum jelly—a process which requires chilling the oil down to as low as 60° F. below zero. Try a crankcaseful. Note how seldom you need to add oil.

Prices showed renewed strength again today. No fancy tobacco was on sale. Some of the better grades sold up to 45 cents. Several of the companies were buying with new orders today and there was a better feeling in all grades.

We will probably stay open balance of January. Let us urge that you market your tobacco quickly as possible while we have seasonable weather for grading. From the figures available, Greenville continues to lead all markets over 1,000,000 pounds. Everyone appreciates the patronage given the Greenville market and we know it will pay you to continue to sell in Greenville.

BLOND GODDESS

A New Serial by Herbert Jensen

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame cuts an appointment with the great Myberg, movie executive for whom he expects to work, because instinct tells him that the face he sees peering through one of the office windows looks good to him. As he leaves the office Janice Kent, movie star, enters her car and is driven away. A second car follows closely. Frank orders a taxi to trail them. He overtakes them as they crash, and is in time to knock out the driver of the second car just before he does the same for Miss Kent's chauffeur. Miss Kent thanks Grahame.

Chapter Three VICTORY FOR JANICE

Light from a street lamp glared into the interior. Their glances met. Some combustible psychic material of humor ignited and flared. Janice lifted her chin and laughed. Grahame's lips twitched.

"Oh!" cried the girl. "How perfectly imbecilic!" Her voice mimicked her own. "Thank you," she said. Then you growl. It was nothing, Miss. Then I say, "But it was, sir, indeed— Oh, why can't people—"

Grahame chuckled. "Did I growl?" Janice stifled a giggle. "Hoarsely," she averred.

Grahame felt pleasantly warmed. Some watchful wariness seemed to relax within him. That curious and annoying embarrassment he was conscious of with women subsided a little. He had lived too long away from civilization, he knew, too much in the company of rovers like himself, ever perhaps to feel comfortable in the presence of the opposite sex.

But here a small miracle had happened. It was with a growing wonder that he realized that he felt at ease, almost, with this gorgeous girl who was one of the world's beauties. Her essential femininity was such that there lived not a man who saw her screened face that did not feel that tug of response to her appeal.

Grahame knew, in a vague way, that this quality of hers was not a personal one. There were other actresses certainly with equally captivating faces, with similarly charming figures, but what Janice Kent had—and it was a quality that women approved of as well as their men—was, as Hogarth, her favorite director, expressed it, "A universal sweetheart appeal."

A pal of Grahame's among the stunt flyers had quoted Myberg—who paid Janice Kent her salary—as saying, "That girl, I understand, has something that makes men love their wives better."

Grahame, watching her profile as the street lights threw patterns of shadows across it, realized that he could quite agree with any eulogy of Janice Kent. He felt that although he had known her but a few minutes, he of all men could solve her charm could he but express it in words.

She made a fellow feel comfortable, that was it; a homely way to say it, but accurate. He was conscious of a flush mounting to his cheeks. He appreciated that he was not the first man who believed that he was uniquely appreciative of a particular woman. He was level-headed enough to realize that he was, perhaps, not the first man to consider himself an authority on Janice Kent's charm.

Like a swimmer wading from the shallows into deeper water he realized that he must press forward carefully. He drew in a deep breath.

He said, "Miss Kent, did you notice any other men about the taxi car. To me it seemed—"

"Yes," she answered quickly. "I think the accident itself was curious. It was so unnecessary. The taxi car attempted to pass us. It pressed us into the curb. Yet, at that place, the street is wide. The man whom you struck was driving. There were others—two, I think—in the back seat. They were getting out when your cab turned the corner. I didn't see them again."

"Scared, I suppose, didn't want to be mixed up in it. Let the driver take the bumps." He checked an impulse to tell her that he had followed the two cars from the studio. There was the chance that she might misunderstand the prompting that had drawn him after the three men in the taxi car. He tingled with the possibilities of his embarrassment were she to believe it had been the black car he followed. He concluded, "Yes, that was probably it."

"Yes-s." The girl's voice was hesitant. Grahame said quickly, "You don't think so? Did you recognize either of them?"

Reflectively she looked through the window. "I don't know." She shrugged. "But no. It couldn't be he." She laughed a little. "He drives a much nicer automobile."

"Maybe his friends don't," replied Grahame with a trace of grimace. "Who is he? When I talk to the police tomorrow, I'll tell them that we

New York Cotton

COTTON
New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened firm, 1 to 18 points advance in response to Liverpool cables and on active trade and foreign buying.

The advance met realizing, but there was little Southern selling and early offerings were readily taken. March contracts sold up to 9.90, or more than two cents a pound above the low decline of the list last August.

The opening demand was filled up with heavy realizing and some selling and prices eased off during the middle of the day. March reacted to 10.93 and HMay to 11.08, or six points from the early highs, but the volume of business appeared off on the setback with the midday market steady at advances of about 7 to 12 points.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Stocks were cheerful but a little subdued today following the outbreak from the doldrums in the latter part of the previous session.

Trade news was still encouraging although speculative forces were inclined to step cautiously and take home some of the profits which accrued in Wednesday's spurt.

While most of the statistical observers were bullish, some of the chartists were talking of a healthy reaction before the real advance gets under way.

Grains, cotton and other commodities were barely steady. The dollar was somewhat firmer in foreign exchange dealings as the gold price remained unaltered.

Secondary bonds improved. U. S. securities were not so heavy.

Aside from the bullish and bearish implications of activity at Washington, together with the possibility that Congress may regulate the dollar and permit the treasury to take over the Federal Reserve gold holdings, Wall Street was paying more attention than usual to business and industrial news.

Irregularity continued in the late dealings. Transfers were 1,650,000 shares.

Urges Support Of Proposals. Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A residential appeal for support of a economy and pay cut proposals is placed before the House today Chairman Buchanan of the appropriations committee.

On a test vote earlier such support had been practically assured. House members by 261 to 212 holding Speaker Rainey on procedure under which he insisted the legislation was to be considered. This signified rapid approval for the continuation of the President's economy power attached to the independent office supply bill under a rule to be voted on.

With Republicans seeking every means to prevent adoption of the economy extension without amendment, and some Democrats threatening to join them, Buchanan had the clerk read a letter by the President explaining his recent order continuing the present 15 per cent pay cut to June 30.
