QUESTION OF CHAIRMAN TO BE SETTLED

Meeting Called For Next Week to Start Elect Democrats to House in Fall Congressional Campaign; Successor to Rep. Byrnes Also to be Selected; Republicans Organizing

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—(AP)—The Democratic Congressional Committee today planned to start a concerted elect-Democrats-to-the-House move next week at a meeting designated to settle the chairmanship question for next fall's campaign.

Confronted by the expressed desire of Representative Byrnes, of Tennessee, party floor leader, to be relieved of the chairmanship post of the Congressional Committee because of many duties, the members are casting about for a successor.

Many feel that Byrnes should be retained because of his prominence, and there is a move to draft him as chairman for the coming campaign and give him an assistant to carry on detail work.

The Republican Congressional Committee has been re-organized. Representative Bolton, of Ohio, was elected by them months ago. Under the guidance of Representative Snell, of New York, party floor leader, the organization has been united into a militant group and now is casting about for issues in the campaign.

RUM CAR IS WRECKED HERE

Dempsey Ellis, Negro Rum Runner, Escapes as Machine Crashes Into Tree

A car containing 24 gallons of whiskey, and said by police to belong to Dempsey Ellis, negro rum runner, was abandoned by the bootlegger when the machine wrecked at the corner of Greene and Third Streets early today. Ellis escaped.

Although the machine was badly damaged when it crashed through a telephone pole, a small tree and sign-board, the liquor was unbroken and police confiscated it and the car and carried both to headquarters to be held until Ellis is nabbed.

The illicit beverage was contained in three cases and was of the corn variety consumed in such tremendous quantities by imbibers of this community.

Whether Ellis was injured in the impact was not known as he escaped as soon as he had disengaged himself from the wrecked machine. Just how the crash occurred had not been determined by police. They said the car was coming into Greenville from the direction of the river. It was believed the driver lost control while trying to prevent hitting a car at the intersection.

To Sue Uncle Sam Oklahoma City, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Two attorneys were authorized by Gov. W. H. Murray today to sue the United States Government for recovery of about $100,000,000 which State alleges would have been collected in taxes from Indians of the five civilized tribes had their lands not been tax-exempted.

COMMISSION GIVES OYSTER ROAST HERE

Number of Guests Enjoy Annual Affair at Water and Light Plant

The annual oyster roast of the Water and Light Commission was given at the plant of Tar River last night and city officials from this and surrounding towns, in addition to many other visitors, enjoyed the hospitality of the men who are charged with the responsibility of directing the operation of Greenville's $2,000,000 municipal-owed industry.

There was no speech-making in connection with the affair, visitors being told upon arrival to dig in and eat until they felt like they couldn't hold any more.

The visitors were given an opportunity to look over the plant, classed as one of the best of the kind in this part of the State, and they were loud in their praise of the evidence of thrift shown on all sides.

The mighty machinery that furnishes power for citizens of Greenville and several surrounding towns was spick and span—just like it had just been installed, and guided by Martin Swartz, superintendent, and members of the commissioners, the officials and visitors were given a good impression how an up-to-date plant of this kind is operated.

Improvements at the plant were halted the last two or three years, but at this time the boiler-room is being completed, making room for another boiler when needed. One end of the room was left uncompleted several years ago, and the work now is merely carrying out original plans.

The plant has experienced growth in the last ten years, and is classed as one of the best in the State, furnishing unbroken service to the community day and night.

Although actual improvements at the plant are few, the commission continues to extend water and sewer lines to various parts of the city as well as power lines to surrounding towns. At this time sewer lines are being placed in the Riverdale section of the city, and when completed, will provide a long-felt need, in the opinion of residents in that territory.

Among the visitors last night were business men from Charlotte, Richmond and Norfolk, who expressed keen appreciation of the fine showing made by the plant here. The commission a few years ago took over operation of the gas plant, greatly increasing its importance and value to the community.

MARKET NEAR 70 MILLION MARK TODAY

Close of Week's Sales Yesterday Found Sales Standing at 69,193,206

Sales were drawing near the 70,000,000 pound mark on the Greenville tobacco market today with indications that this figure would be reached the early part of next week.

The official report of sales for the week issued yesterday afternoon by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, showed the market sold 287,762 pounds of tobacco Friday for $42,409.51, at an average of $14.73 per hundred pounds.

For the week the market handled 1,129,460 pounds for which farmers were paid $164,093, at an average of $14.53 per hundred pounds. Sales for the season were given at 69,193,206 for $11,595,151.58, at an average of $16.75 per hundred pounds.

Sales have been comparatively light this week, and the same condition is expected to continue the remainder of the season, with the bulk of the crop already sold. However, there still remains right much tobacco to be sold, and sales next week probably will push the market well above the 70,000,000 pounds, enabling it to reach the record of 72,000,000 established several years ago.

Farmers are urged to re-work their tobacco carefully before offering it for sale, and in that way increase their chances for enjoying the improved prices noted since the reopening of the market after the celebration of Christmas.

GOLD PRICES UNCHANGED

Same Price For Domestic Metal Posted For 20th Consecutive Time

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—(AP)—The government gold price was unchanged today at $34.06 an ounce. This offer for newly-mined domestic metal was posted for the 20th successive business day as the administration contained the longest record for the figure since buying began October 25.

During this period plans have been advanced for nationalizing all monetary gold, including the $3,500,000,000 gold reserve of the Federal Reserve System.

President Roosevelt considered he had ample authority to capture this stock by executive order. Such a move is considered by experts a necessary step to reevaluation of the gold dollar.

Official circles maintained strict silence regarding new monetary moves but with the Treasury confronted with a tremendous refinancing program, it was thought the President would act to relieve the present discussion over the money situation.

RETURN WITH NEGRO WANTED FOR SHOOTING

Sanford, N. C., Jan. 13.—Sheriff G. Ernest White and Deputy M. J. Thomas have returned from Jacksonville, Fla. They brought back Tom Pollock, alias Charles Simmons, negro, who is charged with shooting George Matthews, negro cafe owner, here.

The shooting occurred several months ago in the cafe, following an argument over money Matthews claimed that the other negro owed him. Pollock, alias Simmons, fled after the shooting, and only a few days ago was nabbed by Jacksonville police. He is in Le County jail awaiting trial at the next term of Superior Court.

LINDBERGH TAX REPORT IS STUDIED

Members of Senate Committee Also Studying Reports of Other Fliers

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—(AP)—An income tax study to combine Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and a host of other persons in the air-mail field was revealed as going forward by the Senate committee.

Members of the Senate air-mail investigation committee who have already caused one sensation at the capital this week, disclose today an order to check-up also on Walter F. Brown, former Postmaster-General, and others, in his administration, and Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of the former President.

Investigators explained they had sent out about 200 questionnaires to men prominent in carrying the mail and those who took part in making contracts for this work during the last administration.

As the information requested came back to the committee they said they had been asked to check the income tax reports of the men concerned with the idea of finding any contrary statement.

One of the investigators indicated to newspapermen that the Lindbergh tax report was one of the most recent requested, since only the last few days had the questions sent him been returned.

MOB SEARCHES FOR RAPIST AT WILLIAMSTON

Pitt County Men Said To Have Sought Jim Green at Martin Capital

(Williamston Enterprise) Jim Green, 25-year-old Pitt County negro, charged with criminally assaulting a white woman near Greenville twice last Sunday night, was arrested near Focelus Tuesday morning by Sheriff Sam Whitehurst, of Pitt County.

Guarding against mob action, Sheriff Whitehurst and other officers brought Green here for safe-keeping. Rumors were heard Wednesday morning indicating that a search of the jail would be made here that night, and Sheriff C. B. Roebuck was advised to move the prisoner to another jail. The Martin sheriff and Patrolman Rodman left here that afternoon at 2 o'clock, and it is believed they delivered Green to State Prison authorities in Raleigh for safe-keeping until the Pitt grand jury meets the latter part of this month.

Green was chained and placed in the foot of the car with a blanket over him. The officers followed an indirect route into Raleigh, it was said.

Reports stated that several persons, riding in two cars, believed to have been from Pitt County, came here about midnight Wednesday inquiring after Green. They were told at a filling station here that Green had been moved, but they did not accept the information in its entirety, as they went to the home of Sheriff C. B. Roebuck about one o'clock. They did not call the officer, but they went a short distance from his home and fired several pistol shots and left. It was stated that several cars were outside of the town limits awaiting developments, but the source of this information was not established. Sheriff Roebuck and Deputy J. H. Roebuck made an investigation early yesterday morning, but they failed to learn of any mob activities.

COURT WILL BEGIN WORK HERE MONDAY

Two-Week Session of Superior Court to Hear Civil and Criminal Cases

A two-week term of Superior court will convene in this city next Monday morning with Judge Frank A. Daniels of Goldsboro, presiding. The first week will be confined to the hearing of civil actions and the second to criminal.

The civil calendar completed by the bar the middle of last week contains approximately fifty cases of more or less importance to the people of the community and indications are that a great number will be disposed of.

The criminal docket is heavy as usual and hundreds of people are expected to be on hand from day to day as spectators, witnesses and jurors.

The case of Heber Ayers, charged with the slaying of Floyd Cox, is scheduled to go before the grand jury. This is probably the most important case coming before the court with exception of the criminal attack charge against Jim Green, charged with assaulting Miss Marie House after beating Steve Edwards, her escort, into unconsciousness, about four miles east of Greenville last Sunday night. This case is also scheduled to go before the grand jury.

TOWN SHAKEN AS THOUGH BY EARTHQUAKE

Damage Estimated at $50,000; Debris From Brick Boiler Room Scattered Over 100 Feet; Explosion of 3 Boilers Believed Caused by Low Water; Engineer and Five Negro Helpers Killed; Rescue Workers Search For Other Bodies

Hertford, N. C., Jan. 13.—(AP)—At least six men were killed and seven injured here early today in an explosion of boilers at the Eastern Cotton Oil Company plant in the heart of Hertford.

The large plant was wrecked with damage estimated at $50,000. Debris from the brick boiler room was scattered for more than one hundred feet and the entire town was shaken as though by an earthquake. The known dead:

J. C. Wilder, engineer and five negro helpers; Solicitor Wilson, John Wright, Kenly Forehand, George Broadway, Jr., and Oscar Eason. First reports said the blast which occurred after the night shift had left the plant, was caused by low water in the boilers, but later it was said it had not been substantiated.

Rescue crews were at work in the wreckage of the boiler room which contained three boilers, in an effort to determine if others had been tent of their injuries could not be determined in the confusion which spread over the entire town.

The plant is located within two blocks of the center of the business district. About twenty-five persons were believed by officials to have been in the plant at the time of the explosion.

Mrs. J. R. Elliott, wife of the superintendent, witnessed the blast from her home 200 yards away.

Both fathers and mothers interested in the project are urged to attend the meeting and use their influence in making it possible. GOOD WORK BY THE OFFICERS

Whether or not there is any truth to the reports that a mob went to Williamston seeking to search the jail there for Jim Green, negro arrested for a recent attack upon a white girl in this county, we are glad that the officers had foresight enough to remove the negro to state prison at Raleigh. When the negro was first arrested, Sheriff Sam Whitehurst used good judgment in not revealing where the negro had been confined and then the Martin County officers did well to remove the negro to Raleigh just as soon as rumors that a mob would visit Williamston, were heard.

It is to be hoped that the days of lynchings in North Carolina are over but if there is ever another one in this state we sincerely hope that it will not be in Pitt County or at the hands of Pitt County people.

We congratulate all the officers concerned for the wisdom they showed in connection with this negro's arrest and confinement.

1934 TIPS FOR DRIVERS

Early reports on 1933 indicate that there was an increase in motor vehicle fatalities and injuries over 1932 in spite of the fact that fewer cars were operating during the year. The last quarter was especially bad.

Predictions are that fatalities will approach 30,000 and injuries, 1,000,000. This is a record that certainly should not be repeated.

A set of New Year's resolutions for the motorist is a good starting point for a safe 1934:

- 1. Drive at speeds suited to traffic conditions; slowly, in the city, moderately, on the open highway.
2. Use better judgment in passing. Wait until there is 500 feet of clear distance ahead before attempting to maneuver.
3. Slow down at intersections.
4. Obey traffic signals.
5. Watch out for pedestrians.

These are the five most neglected rules of the road. Obedience to them would have saved a majority of the lives and limbs lost during 1933. Remember them in 1934.

BLOND GODDESS A New Serial by Herbert Jensen

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame, aviator and explorer, has seen a vision of the future. He has seen the vision of the future in the vision of the future. He has seen the vision of the future in the vision of the future.

Chapter Five INTRODUCING SPIN

IT WAS natural that Grahame be asked to come to Hollywood on an "opportunity contract". It was natural that he should accept it. Grahame was quite willing that he be "found". He loved the jungle; he would always love it, but civilization had begun to take on a more substantial glamor that he had ever thought possible.

He would always feel a poignant ache at dawn or at sunset. In Hollywood flocks of parrots do not spin like vivid green wheels against a background of old rose, smooth savannahs do not shoulder between sullen walls of jungle, nor do strange flower scents wrap you when you sleep.

Nevertheless Grahame liked cities, or at any rate, this one. He had discovered two old buddies among the flying stunt-men. Another had "gone native" and played heavies. These spoke of still others that he would remember knowing well before he quit piloting planes for plotting jungle expeditions—personable, adventurous fellows that he had known in far corners, with whom he could yarn in vainglorious exaggeration.

He was about to make his decision to stay when he met Janice Kent.

As he helped her from her car and across the lawns to her Beverly Hills house he was sure that this accidental meeting was about to add pleasant finality to this decision.

A maid took his hat from him within the entrance. Janice smiled toward him as she mounted the stairs.

"I'll be down in a minute or two," she said. "I'll phone Mr. Greene in the meantime."

In the drawing room, standing before the open fireplace, Frank thrust his upturned palms toward the crackling logs. It seemed incongruous in these tastefully appointed surroundings of civilization to allow himself to think of sinister shadows, of furtive pursuit; yet a frown of abstracted reflection remained on his forehead.

Thoughtfully he rubbed at the slight soreness of his right knuckles. He could not drive away the mental image of the vulture-like profile shadowed on the studio window. Some dim memory faintly stirred—obscure as the hushed pulse of a native drum felt, rather than heard, across miles of jungle.

GRAHAME, home in his apartment, stared moodily at the afternoon paper on his lap. With an angry gesture he pushed away the paper and stood up. He turned to another man seated where a westerly sun's rays slanted in.

"Tell me, Spin," he said, "you know this racket out here. What in hell do they mean by publishing all this tripe? I called you over here five minutes after I bought this paper. You work for Myberg and the Consolidated; so does Janice, and so I suppose, does this little liar Greene. Look! . . . He kicked the paper toward the other."

Spin Winslow grinned. He did not glance at the paper but contemplated with a loving absorption the contents of his tall glass.

"What's it say? You tell me, Frank. Did Greene say you fought desperately with a hundred-thugs and snatched the swooning Janice from their hairy clutches?"

Grahame snorted. "Something like that, only worse. I thought there was something phony about that little article when I met him last night. He asked me if I had any baby pictures. Baby pictures! He had the guts—about two o'clock today—to phone and ask about them again . . . said he wanted them for an article he was calling, 'Babyhood Romance Flowers in Tragedy.' I thought he was kidding, but I bought this paper just to see." He laughed frostily. "But he wasn't."

"Moreover it said that Miss Kent was confined to her bed with shock. She was all right when I left her last night—unless Greene shocked her with an outline of what he was going to write today. I phoned today to find out if she really was ill . . . She a frail, delicate little thing—"

Winslow laughed wholeheartedly.

BOOTLEGGERS JAM JAILS SO FINLAND BUILDS CAMP

Helsinki—(AP)—So many bootleggers have been sentenced to compulsory labor under recent legislation that barracks capable of accommodating two hundred have been built in the Sukeva district of Central Finland.

The sentenced bootleggers are to be employed in reclaiming marshy and rocky land. Finnish customs authorities report that 129,000 gallons of contraband liquor was seized in the first eleven months of 1933 as compared with

"Hold on, Frank. You phoned and couldn't reach her?" "Yes, it worried me. I—Say, how do you know?" Winslow chuckled into his glass. "She was at the studio with Myberg and Ortega and me. She was confined all right but not to her bed. There's a new picture coming up—a honey—foreign stuff. She's to be the golden haired lead; I'm to fly the stunts."

"They were discussing who'll play opposite her, but they can't tell who'd fit until the continuity men hack out a plot . . . What d'ye mean she's frail and delicate? You couldn't club that girl to death—she's white-bone and gristle under that skin you love to tou—"

GRAHAME'S gesture interrupted the other. "Who's Ortega?" "A gentleman from Central America, Mexican, maybe." Winslow drained his glass and set it down. "I can't figure him myself. He showed up here a month ago with a lulu of an idea. Well, you know the publicity these Chichen Itza ruins in Yucatan are getting? He says he knows bigger and better ruins further in that country with more jungle around for the atmosphere shots."

"You know how Myberg loves his authentic backgrounds,—or should—if you've looked at his pictures. Well this Don Raoul Ortega's idea is to use that old Maya business as the foundation. You've read stories of the blond gods those ancient fellows used to worship. "Well this is to be a blond goddess picture, or at least she is to be his bride. The Bride of Quetzalcoatl is the tentative name." He laughed. "Myberg said he didn't like the name. It reminded too many people of pants and vests."

Grahame smiled. He liked this gossipy fellow whose nerves were of steel beneath his happy-go-lucky, cynical exterior. But he wanted to know more of this man Ortega whose name Janice Kent had defended so arbitrarily the evening before.

He decided to take Spin partly into his confidence. He told him that Miss Kent seemed to agree that the idea that the accident may have been planned until Ortega's name was brought definitely into focus as the party responsible.

Monday, Frank gets a piece of good advice from Spin.

"Erer Rabbit," "Erer Fox," "Judge Bear," "Mr. Possum," "Mr. Coon," and other "critters," with Uncle Remus and the Little Boy, will prance around on the stage in the puppet play made from the stories by Joel Chandler Harris, which was written especially for Tony Sarg's Marionettes. There will be two performances, one in the afternoon and one at night, at East Carolina Teachers College, on January 29.

Mrs. Harris, the widow of the author, gave permission for the use of the characters, and will receive production royalties. Lucian Harris, the son of the author, and Tony Sarg, together made business arrangements and a joint announcement about the production.

Mr. Sarg says he takes a certain amount of liberty with the stories, there are touches of modernity, but despite those, the spirit of flavor of the original has been kept.

Seeing Through My Windshield

(By ETHEL NICE, H. D. A.) 4-H Girls' Program.

The 4-H girls are starting their club uniforms this month. We are using the National Uniform Pattern and the State Material, Green Vietrix. It consists of a sleeveless dress and a jacket, all green except a white collar and tie. All uniforms should be made exactly like the pattern. The juniors may make just the dress if they find it difficult to make the jacket. A little later, white hats will be made to be used with the green suits. Mothers are urged to insist on their daughters cutting and making their own dresses, but it would be wise to check them after the patterns are pinned to the material before the dresses are cut.

SPONAR HEARD BY BIG CROWD

Confession as Practised by Catholics Held in Sermon Here Last Night

The "False Stumbling-Block" went trumpeting last night at St. Peter's Catholic Church before the withering arguments that knocked out one prop after the other as the Reverend Leo Sponar clearly showed that there can be no reasonable objection to auricular confession at taught and practiced by the Catholic Church.

Anything concerning the improvement of Greenville and Pitt County is always of vital interest to this progress. 'Two-Piece Togs' Strongly Favored At Beach Resorts

By ADELAIDE KERR Paris—(AP)—"Two-piece togs" are the rule for the plustime clothes designed to fit the Riviera and Palm Beach.

A jacket of sunlight yellow tree-bark silk with a natural colored linen skirt, a vest of red, blue and white elastic ribbon over a short-sleeved white linen frock and a vivid blue cotton sports dress are among the most striking clothes designed for wear about resorts.

Some Models Short-Sleeved The frocks are sometimes short-sleeved models with trim little tailored collars. Again they are sleeveless and backless except for a spine strap down the center.

Pajamas have virtually faded from the pageant of styles designed for sunlit sands. Shorts, skirts and short-sleeved shirts as severe and tailored as a man's shirt are the newest combination. A skirt and jacket designed to be slipped on over the bathing suit are another. The skirts, which are about twelve inches from the sands often button right down the front so that they may easily be taken off.

HARRINGTON LEADING PITT BUSINESS MAN

Clerk of Superior Court Prominent in Activities of City And County

In the write-up of sponsors of the Rotogravure edition of The Daily Reflector yesterday the story concerning J. F. Harrington, Clerk of the Superior Court, was unintentionally omitted and the management today expressed deep regret over the occurrence.

Mr. Harrington, in addition to being Clerk of the Superior Court, is one of the best known men of the county. He has long been associated with the business and political life of this section and has served the county in a most commendable way over a period of many years.

He is a member and former president of the Kiwanis Club, and his interest in the work of the organization has played an important part in the growth it has shown in recent years.

He is also Judge of the Juvenile Court, and has manifested considerable interest in the work of this organization. Hundreds of youths out of jurisdiction of the higher courts, have been handled by the Juvenile Court, and Mr. Harrington's clear insight into the needs of the youngsters has resulted in their finding their way to a safe road back to place of responsibility in society.

He has also been identified with the work of the Masonic organization of the city, having served in several official capacities.

In practically every movement started for the betterment of the community, the willing hand of Judge Harrington has had a conspicuous part and much of the progress that the city has made is due to him and men of his calibre.

Born in Winterville where he operated a general supply store for many years, Mr. Harrington came here several years ago. He has served several terms as Clerk of the Superior Court. He numbers his friends by the thousands and is in line for higher honors should he make known his desire.

Anything concerning the improvement of Greenville and Pitt County is always of vital interest to this progress. The man, and this has been largely responsible for the way the people have rallied behind him at the polls, and the high honors which have been bestowed upon him by various organizations.

A Further Delay By MARY GRAHAM BONNER Willy Nilly had fixed the Cow's hoof and she was lying on the floor, chewing her cud. Willy Nilly wondered how he would ever be able to fix up the place, with Bessy Cow taking up all the room. They had to scramble over her if they wanted to move.

"I've simply got to fix up this place," he said after a while. "The pipes must be mended. The wood must be dried so we can have a good fire. I must see that there are no bits of glass or china around, as I don't want any one to have his feet hurt."

"But I have a small room upstairs, Mrs. Cow, and I think you could just get into it. You may stay there until your hoof is well and until we get this place fixed."

"Moo, moo," said the Cow, "that would be very pleasant. And if it wouldn't be bothering you too much perhaps I could have something to eat."

"Certainly," said Rip, the Dog, "you may lie on the bed up there and make-believe it is a meadow, and I'll bring you up your supper on a tray. That will be style, all right?"

The Cow grinned. "Ah, I can see how pleasant it is going to be here," she said, and started to limp up the stairs.

But as she reached the top and turned to go through the little hall that led into the bedroom she called out:

"Come and see what has happened! I can't go any farther. I'm stuck."

Willy Nilly looked up the stairs, and there, sure enough, was the Cow. She could neither move forward nor backward.

LOCAL HIGH WINS OVER CRAVEN LADS

Greenville High School defeated New Bern High School last night in the High School auditorium by a score of 16 to 13.

The first quarter was mostly a defensive battle with New Bern doing the scoring, a full point being registered four points to seven for New Bern, the half ending 8 to 4 in New Bern's favor.

At the start of the second half the locals staged a neat comeback. Station, Wells, Warren, Carroll and Dunn were starters for this half, and the passing and ball hawking improved tremendously.

The locals looked better than in their two previous starts, and give promise in developing into a neat passing, fast and well balanced team. What they need is more experience and a bit more practice in ball-handling, and they will be tough for any high school team in this section.

There is an almost paternal interest now manifest by the elderly Mr. Babe Ruth in the slugging exploits of young Master Jimmie Foxx.

There was a time when the Babe felt the keen spirit of rivalry, first first upon the rise of his broad-shouldered team-mate, Lou Gehrig, subsequently the one-season spurt of herculean Hack Wilson, and a year or two later the challenge of Foxx to the king's own record of 60 home runs.

That rivalry no longer exists, for the simple reason that Ruth cannot play enough complete games to have a real opportunity, either to defend himself in a home run tussle on a single season or to hang up a new record. He likes to console himself now with the thought that the magical 60 will stand the test of time and youthful battering, but upon reflection he admits he is not quite so sure Master Foxx will not crack it.

That kid certainly can give the ball a ride," flatters Ruth. "Nothing fancy about him. He just takes a toe-hold and clouts. He has a great pair of shoulders and a good eye. When he really connects, no fence or stand in the country is any barrier to him. He is not handicapped by reason of being a right-hand hitter. Sure, he has a chance to bust my record."

Jimmie's Goal 65! Foxx himself thinks he may collect as many as 65 circuit blows during 1934, considering first that he hopes to be in better condition at the outset and, secondly, that the targets in Chicago and Cleveland will be much more to his liking than they were last year.

The White Sox diamond has been altered to lessen the distance between the plate and the outer barriers. The Indians will play in the old league park at Cleveland again, instead of in the mammoth Municipal Stadium, where it is almost a full brass shot to clear any of the outfield fences.

The A's big sticker hit his 58th home run on the last day of the 1932 season, the closest any slugger in either big league has come to touching Ruth's record. He led both leagues again with 48 last season but he was handicapped by a poor start, due to injury. For instance, he had 24 home runs by the middle of June, 1932, whereas it was the middle of July before he reached that total in 1933.

The fact is that Foxx hit more homers during the last two months of last season than he did during a similar period the year before so that he has good reason for feeling, granted good condition, he has not lost his touch.

Babe Likes the A's Ruth thinks the Athletics will be very much in the 1934 American League race, despite the loss of Grove and Cochrane. "They have a strong, young team and that old man, Mack, has a habit of coming up with pretty good pitchers," says the Babe. "Grove, on the other hand, does not figure to make the Rex Sox a pennant contender and I can't see where the team has been much strengthened otherwise. It still hasn't got the punch."

The great man thinks Washington, Philadelphia and New York will again be the leading contenders, with possibly Detroit furnishing the most opposition from the West. He doesn't expect to find any push-over, unless it's the St. Louis club, and something may be done about that situation before the season opens.

Appalachian Trims E. C. T. C.

Appalachian State College basketball quint continued its successful invasion of the eastern section of the State by defeating East Carolina Teachers College cagers, 41-26, here last night.

McConnell, with nine points, paced the visitors. Bostic and Burnett, each with eight points, led the home team. Line-up follows:

E. C. T. C.—Bostic (83), Waldrop (2), Barrett, King, Eason, forward; Burnett (8), center; Ridenhour (2); Dunn, Kapelic, Johnson, guards.

Appalachian—Lackey (1), Beal (2), Brown (6), Oehler (2), forwards; McConnell (9), Rudisell (5), centers; Mosteller (2), Weaver (4), Bauson (4), Davis (6), guards.

Referee—Brook (Furman).

Starts Year As Substitute Now Captain Buckeye 5

Columbus, Ohio.—(AP)—If Ohio State's basketball team makes even a fair show of defending its 1933 Big Ten co-championship this winter, Fred "Blackie" Conrad may be the lat to thank.

Almost wrecked by graduation of Howard Mattison, Lew Hinchman and Herb Brown, and the early ineligibility of Bob Colburn, the Buckeyes were plunged into real despair when Big Bill Hosket, All-Conference center, became ineligible at mid-year.

Two seasons ago Conrad, a six-foot-four Wooster, Ohio, boy, filled in at center during the preliminary season while Hosket attained eligibility, but had to be content with sparse relief work during the main campaign.

Last year Blackie again had to play second fiddle, but on one night, against Iowa, he stepped in when Hosket was floundering and led the Buckeye attack brilliantly.

He was apparently slated for another year of understudy when Hosket again struck scholastic shoals. On a holiday trip to Pittsburgh the Buckeyes elected Conrad to the captaincy, a tribute to his unusual willingness to learn, his improvement during his three varsity years, and his dependability.

Budget Needs, Dollar Value--Balancing Task

By FRANK I. WELLER. Washington, D. C.—(AP)—What effect Federal budget requirements of $10,000,000,000 within the next six months is going to have on the "dance of the dollars" is a vexing question on Capitol Hill.

On January 5 the RFC gold-purchase price had completed its twelfth day at $34.06 an ounce compared with the statutory $20.67. The previous high had been $34.01 for an even longer time on December 7. Between the two dates the gold value of the dollar declined from 64.1 cents to 63.5 cents.

Gold Content Comprise? With unprecedented peace-time borrowing ahead, there seems to be more sentiment among conservatives and inflationists alike for the President to call their spokesmen together on a common ground—namely, a compromise on the gold content of the dollar. They say that to remove uncertainty would bring "fear-frozen" deposits out for investment.

Senator Thomas of Oklahoma says there is a possibility of Mr. Roosevelt cutting the gold value of the dollar to 50 cents by increasing the price of gold to $41.34 an ounce. For the sake of stability, James P. Warburg, a former monetary adviser to the President, and other champions of "orthodox money," have indicated willingness to go along with a 50-cent dollar.

Economy As Credit Guarantee. At present one of Mr. Roosevelt's closest advisers appears to be Prof. George F. Warren who would tie the purchasing power of the dollar to the rise and fall in the general commodity price level. The President's message to Congress was interpreted as indicating he had no intention of steering away from that course.

Rather, it appeared, he sought to entrench it by making Federal statutory economy a guarantee for government credit. He hoped to borrow more by keeping normal expenditures at a minimum. Some believe he hoped, too, to head off congressional action for an increase in veterans' compensation or full payment of the bonus—which might necessitate some outright inflation.

The approaching congressional campaign is considered a strong inducement for those who will be candidates to advocate payment of the bonus.

Late News Flashes

Conferees at the White House after a two hours parley were silent but conviction grew that the President was preparing for an early move in his managed currency campaign.

Secretary Morgenthau, Attorney General Cummings, Earle Bailey, assistant to Morgenthau, and Andrew Olliphant, counsel to Morgenthau, attended the White House meeting. All refused to comment but did indicate that no announcement was in prospect over the week end. Taking over the gold held by the Federal Reserve System is generally agreed as the most likely step as a preliminary to permanent revaluation of the dollar.

Slayer Sentenced To Die. Columbia, S. C., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Robert H. Wiles, 49-year-old mechanic, today was sentenced to be electrocuted March 13 for the murder of Hubbard Harris, Jr., 16.

A Richmond county jury brushed aside an insanity plea and returned a verdict of guilty without recommendation of mercy after deliberation of 22 minutes.

Anderson At Raleigh. Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Hartley "Hunk" Anderson was welcomed to N. C. State College today as head football coach by a group of two thousand persons after he had been greeted by Governor Ehringhaus.

Coach Anderson, who directed the Notre Dame football team after Knute Rockne was killed, called at the office of the Governor at the dustries were the awe and joy of the nation. Now the rapidly changing picture has many of Mrs. Rainey's contemporaries bewildered.

"The Greatest Revolution" But not so Mrs. Rainey. Side by side with her husband she has seen legislation born and put into effect for more than twenty-five years. As his research secretary she has interviewed thousands; until she has listened, seemingly, to every form of human woe and greed.

That's why this changing world fascinates her. "This is the greatest revolution that has ever happened," she says about the nation today. "We must all go along with it."

But how shall we go along with it? That is for each person to decide, Mrs. Rainey says, and she laughs mischievously over her own methods.

She was faced one day with a solemn and despondent group of manufacturers. She could sense they were ready to fight. They couldn't see Speaker Rainey for thirty minutes, so they talked to her—everyone does.

She has a low voice, a sort of maternal gentleness and, when the occasion demands, an honest thrust to her conversation that must make men with selfish motives remember suddenly their mother's scoldings in other years.

"This time she swung on her callers. "Gentlemen," she said, "you're talking a dead language. There is a new language in the making. It is being written for the people. And who are the people? Why, you are. Remember that and it won't be so hard."

A week later the leader of the manufacturing group arrived with an armful of roses for her. "We found out you were right," he said, "and you saved us a lot of time by talking to us straight from the shoulder."

She Saves a Farmer. Just recently a trembling little grandmother who runs a farm in the river bottoms of Illinois arrived with the papers concerning the farm held in a grimy little bundle in her hand. The bank had notified her she must get out.

As she talked Mrs. Rainey, from the corner of her eye, saw the president of the bank come in another door.

"Here's a story that would interest you," she said calmly, and she introduced the grandmother an the bank president.

"When the two left the farm had been saved. "Well, I'm due at the Polish embassy for tea," Mrs. Rainey ends. "I know this black dress isn't right, but I just don't have time. Do you know a dress-maker who could think for me? You do? Send her around. This is no year to be wasting time on clothes."
