BEGIN DRIVE TO CUT DOWN ACCIDENTS

Highway Patrol Head Orders Stricter Enforcement of all Vehicle Laws

By J. C. BASKERVILLE
Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 19.—Orders for the stricter enforcement of all the motor vehicle laws by the State Highway Patrol with instructions to patrolmen to arrest the drivers of all automobiles involved in accidents wherever the drivers are responsible were issued to all lieutenants and patrolmen today by Captain Charles J. Farmer, commander of the patrol, in accordance with instructions from Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus.

The order further directs that whenever patrolmen are unable to determine which driver is to blame in connection with an accident in which more than one driver is involved, that both drivers be arrested, so that the courts may decide which driver was responsible. The paragraph of the order dealing with this particular matter is as follows:

"In the future, there will be no roadside settlements of any accident no matter how small, and if the guilty parties can be determined they shall be arrested and the courts decide what penalty shall be given them. If the guilt cannot be placed upon any one individual or be decided by the investigating officer, both operators of both vehicles shall be arrested and the courts be permitted to decide as to which was guilty of a violation."

These new orders were issued with the full approval of Commissioner of Revenue A. T. Maxwell and Director L. S. Harris of the Motor Vehicle Bureau. It has been known for some time that several new steps would be taken in the enforcement of the motor vehicle and highway laws. But it was not known until today that the patrol would make it mandatory for patrolmen to arrest virtually all drivers involved in automobile accidents, even if the accidents are not serious. Only those drivers who can establish the fact that they are in no way to blame for accidents in which they are involved can hope to escape arrest.

"Not having a State driver's law, it has been necessary to devise some other method to deal with motorists that insist upon driving recklessly and carelessly," Director Harris said today. "As a result, we have decided to arrest all drivers involved in automobile accidents unless the drivers can show beyond any doubt that they were not to blame and had not violated any of the laws. But our experience is that almost every driver involved in an accident is usually guilty of violating one or more of the motor vehicle or highway laws."

"This means, of course, that most of the drivers involved in accidents will henceforth be arrested and have to go to court to defend themselves. This is going to cause them some inconvenience and cost them some money. If they want to avoid this inconvenience and expense, they had better observe the laws, avoid recklessness and carelessness—also drunkenness—and thus not have any accidents."

The time is also past when drivers can expect to get off with nothing more than a warning from highway patrolmen, according to Captain Farmer, unless the violation noted is very slight. As a result, careless and drunken drivers had better look out. In his new order to patrolmen, Captain Farmer says:

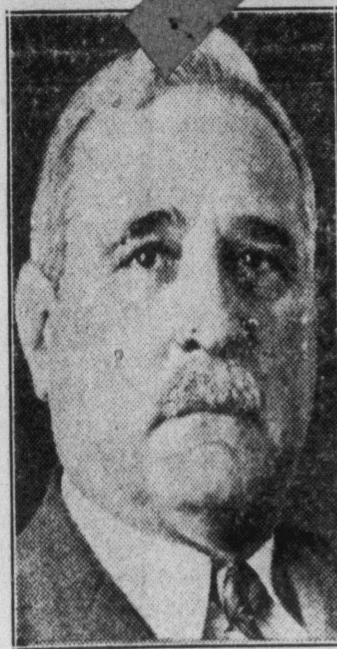

"It has been thoroughly demonstrated since January 1, by the enforcement of the license law in this State that the Motor Vehicle laws can be enforced. It is the desire of His Excellency, the Governor, that each and every member of the patrol enforce the motor vehicle laws and prevent the large number of accidents and fatalities that are now taking place on our highways. Let each and every member of the patrol do everything possible to secure the aid and co-operation of all law-enforcement officers in this undertaking and let us make the year of 1934 one of record so far as fatal accidents are concerned."

IS CONFIDENT ACCIDENTS TO BE REDUCED

Governor Urges Co-operation of People Of State to Reduce Highway Toll

Raleigh, Jan. 19.—The only comment I have to make on the heavy toll of those killed and injured in automobile accidents in North Carolina, as reflected in the December report showing 103 killed and 463 injured in 357 accidents, with a total of 853 killed for the year 1933, is the order just issued to the State Highway Patrol by Captain Charles D. Farmer, Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus said today. "As all thoughtful persons can see, the automobile accident toll in the state is too large and must be reduced."

"I realize, of course, that the Highway Patrol will not be able to do much without the whole-hearted cooperation of the individual automobile drivers in the state and of all the other law enforcement officers, over whom I have absolutely no control."

"However, I am confident that the great majority of the more than 400,000 automobile owners and drivers in the state, as well as the police officers in the various cities and towns are anxious to cooperate with me and with the Highway Patrol in the effort we are going to make to reduce the number of automobile accidents in the state. I believe they are going to work with us to banish the drunken driver, the reckless driver, the hit-and-run driver and the thoughtless and careless driver from the roads of the state and make the highways of North Carolina as safe as any in the United States."

GUARD COURT HEARING CASE AGAINST THIEF

Threats of Violence Have Been Made Against Court and Mae West

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Threatened violence brought orders for a stronger cordon of guards today in the courtroom where the robber of Mae West is on trial. Judge Harry Sewell regarded the anonymous telephone calls received yesterday lightly, but authorities who had already assigned four personal guards to the actress took no chances.

Three times, the district investigators revealed, they had been told violence might occur in his court unless the jurist took the easiest way out by instructing the jury to acquit Edward Friedman of robbing the blond star fifteen months ago, nevertheless Sewell scorned the offer of a bodyguard. He thought the phone calls came from cranks, he said.

MEDIETA TO SEEK RESTORE PEACE IN CUBA

Riotous Celebration Over Inauguration Of New President of Island

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Jefferson Caffery, President Roosevelt's representative in Cuba, boarded a U. S. destroyer at 10:20 a. m. today to meet Secretary of State Cordell Hull, now at sea aboard the U. S. cruiser Richmond. Caffery intends to confer with the head of the State Department and then return to Havana tonight.

Carlos Mendieta gave Cuba proof today that he is determined to restore peace to the strife-weary island. After a day and night of riotous celebration of his inauguration as president succeeding youthful Carlos Hevia, Mendieta called upon soldiers to make a general search of all automobiles for arms. The principal reason for this, it was learned by The Associated Press, that touring bands of oppositionists were reported as firing upon cars occupied by members of the ABC, political society which led the city-wide celebration over Mendieta's inauguration.

The most imminent threat to Mendieta's hope for success is restoring peace was the strike called to have been fostered by Antoni Quieters after the walkout that tied up Havana's power and light system yesterday, but the former cabinet officer was still reported in hiding today.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Representative Frank Hancock, Democrat, North Carolina, member of the Banking and Currency Committee, gave his support today to President Roosevelt's recommendation for government guarantee of principal of bonds issued by the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. Cotton Contracts Must Be Signed By January 30

January 30 has been definitely set as the closing date for signing cotton contracts. Pitt county farmers who desire to sign contracts can do so at the same places at which they signed tobacco contracts. Committees are located there to assist the farmers in signing up. All farmers who borrow ten cents per pound government money on cotton are obligated to sign this new contract. There seems to be some confusion among some of the growers who feel that when they borrowed this money they signed this contract. This, however, was only an agreement to sign the one that is being offered them now. All farmers who pooled cotton options are also obligated to sign the contract which is being offered now, and they, along with those who borrowed the ten cents on cotton are urged to sign before it is too late. Failure to sign will involve cotton and money borrowed.

ONE DIVORCE GRANTED HERE YESTERDAY

Granting of another divorce, bringing the week's total up to 14, refusal of the court to issue a bench warrant for R. L. Powell and taking of evidence in a suit against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad as a result of damage to woods land caused by a fire were the net results of activities in yesterday's session of civil court here, with Judge F. A. Daniels presiding.

Judge Declines to Issue Bench Warrant Against Magistrate R. L. Powell

The divorce case was that of Eugene Holloman against Polly Holloman, negroes, a decree being granted on the grounds of two years' separation. The court yesterday took up the case of J. E. Whitehurst and wife and Leonard Taylor and wife against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, the plaintiffs seeking damage of around $15 per acre on 40 acres of woods land alleging that the train set fire to said land causing damage to the timber. Practically the entire day was taken in the giving of testimony and following the judge's charge this morning and argument of counsel, the case will go to the jury.

AMERICANS SENTENCED TO PRISON

Madrid, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Four United States citizens were sentenced to six months and one day in prison for assaulting a civil guard last year at Talma, Mallorca, and at the same time the court acquitted Rutherford Fullerton, Columbus, O., one of the Americans concerned in the incident. Those jailed were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton T. Lockwood, of West Springfield, Mass.; Roger Mead, of New York and Edmund W. Blodgett, of Stamford, Conn.

All five Americans were arrested last year following an altercation in a hotel with a civil guard. Under the Spanish law matters of this kind are rendered serious and subject to court-martial. The military court, however, acquitted them of guilt after they had been held in jail six weeks while the United States government sought their release. This verdict was later refused by a military order that placed the case in the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of the Republic. The prosecution asked prison terms of six months and one day for each of the defendants. In its ruling today the court did not recommend any pardons, but the government may be asked to pardon the defendants.

LEAF MARKET WILL CLOSE JANUARY 30

Growers Urged to Market Balance of Crop at Earliest Possible Date

The final curtain on the 1933-1934 season of the Greenville tobacco market will be rung down following completion of sales on Tuesday, January 30, according to announcement yesterday following a meeting of the Tobacco Board of Trade to decide on a closing date. While there is some speculation as to whether this season will break the market's former high poundage record of close to 72,000,000 pounds, some believed that there was still enough unsold tobacco in the markets selling territory to enable the market to set a new record.

With completion of light sales again yesterday, the market was still under the 70,000,000 pound mark, with a little over two millions to go to reach the old record. Officials figures on yesterday's sales issued by K. W. Cobb, market supervisor showed 78,154 pounds sold for $12,167.02, averaging $15.58 per hundred pounds.

REPUBLICANS SEEK TO HALT MONEY BILL

Would Delay Two Billion Dollar Stabilization Measure by Amendment

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Republican in the House today sought changes in President Roosevelt's monetary bill probably throwing askew plans of Democratic leaders of passing it on to the Senate by tomorrow night. Members of the minority party disclosed organization of all possible strength of two amendments. One would place control of the proposed two billion dollar stabilization fund in the hands of the Federal Reserve Board instead of the Treasury Secretary. The other would limit the life of the stabilization fund. The amendments will be introduced tomorrow unless the Democratic majority finds some way to block the move. In any event some delay is expected despite the urge of the administration to get the big money bill enacted. Treasury officials hoped to have the stabilization plan made into law quickly in order to combat further adverse changes in foreign exchange dollar value such as occurred yesterday.

ALL HOUSES MUST CONNECT WITH SEWERS

CWA to Furnish Labor and Property Owners to Stand Cost of Materials

All houses in Greenville to which the city sewer system is available must connect with the sewers immediately according to a resolution adopted by the Board of Aldermen in special session held last night. Representatives of the State Board of Health and Dr. R. S. McGehee appeared before the Board in behalf of the matter as a health measure, and the city fathers decided to take action on this matter while it was possible to get aid from the CWA for carrying on this work. The resolution by the aldermen is mandatory and must be carried out immediately. Under the plan the CWA could furnish all necessary labor, including an expert supervising plumber, and the property owners would have only the costs of materials to pay. The board in order to make the proposition as inexpensive as possible for the property owners, the city has agreed that where several small tenant houses are close together they would be permitted to connect with the sewer system jointly provided this would be permitted by the State Board of Health. The health authorities promised to make report on this phase of the matter at once in order that the city might govern its action accordingly.

Shanghai, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. W. S. When he heard of the tragedy Grooch lost consciousness and is now in a serious condition as a result of the shock. The cause of the suicide was not explained.

GOLD MAY BE TURNED IN AT FACE VALUE

New Order Makes It Possible To Present Gold Money For Redemption

Gold may be turned in to local banks for redemption at face dollar value subject to final approval by the Secretary of the Treasury, but each individual case will be carefully scrutinized and the government does not relinquish its rights to prosecute those who have held gold contrary to law. It was revealed in a new Treasury Department order issued last night.

Under this order any customer of the bank who has not turned in gold coins or gold certificates may take them to the bank and the bank will make advances upon them and forward them to the Treasury Department for final action together with a true report as to all the conditions surrounding the holding of this money. Of course, the customer will remain liable to the bank for any advances made by the bank until final credit has been received from the government. J. H. Waldrop, cashier Greenville Banking and Trust Company, stated this morning.

There are still in this community, no doubt, many holders of a few coins or certificates in small amounts and no trouble in having the government to redeem them is anticipated, but the government so far by its orders has made this form of money worthless for spending, and the money is useless until redeemed by the government. Until each case is studied to ascertain the facts and intent behind the holding of this gold the government likewise does not relinquish its rights to prosecute or collect fines for violation of the anti-hoarding laws.

The latest Treasury Department order, in part reads: "Subject to the rights reserved in said order of January 15, 1934, supplementing the order of December 28, 1933, requiring the delivery of gold coin, gold bullion and gold certificates to the Treasurer of the United States, and without prejudice to the right to alter or amend these instructions from time to time by notice to the Treasurer of the United States, the United States mints and assay offices, and the Federal Reserve Banks, I do hereby prescribe that in the event that any gold coin, gold bullion or gold certificates held in non-compliance with said order of December 28, 1933, as amended, and said order of January 15, 1934, are offered after January 17, 1934, to the Secretary of the Treasury, the Treasurer of the United States, any United States mint or assay office, or to any fiscal agent of the United States, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Treasurer of the United States, any United States mint or assay office, and the fiscal agents of the United States shall pay for such gold coin and gold certificates the dollar face amount thereof, and for gold bullion $200.67 an ounce. Member banks of the Federal Reserve System may receive such gold coin, gold bullion and gold certificates for account of the Treasurer of the United States and forthwith forward the same to the Secretary of the Treasury, the Treasurer of the United States, any United States mint or assay office or any fiscal agent of the United States, whichever is nearest."

The order from Captain Charles Farmer to all highway patrolmen to strictly enforce all motor vehicle laws throughout the state in an effort to cut down the number of accident fatalities comes none too soon and it is to be hoped that every motorist throughout the state will give their fullest cooperation in the movement.

It was a good move on the part of the city last night in ordering all residences not now connected with the city sewer system to have such connection made at once.

The matter of federal guarantee for Home Owners Loan Corporation Bonds no doubt will receive favorable action by Congress as it should. The trouble so far with completing the loans to enable the home-owners to save their homes is that the holders of mortgages were unwilling to accept the bonds on which only the interest was guaranteed.

BLOND GODDESS A New Serial by Herbert Jensen

SYNOPSIS: Justice Kent, the popular movie star, has disappeared, and Frank Graham and Spin Winslow are busy in a hot-tracked auto plane along what they hope is her trail.

Chapter Ten THE CRASH

THE wheels grounded at the edge of the field and they bumped to a standstill. Climbing out of the plane Graham faced Winslow.

"I'll try the hotel," he said. "Take a look at the ships on the line, and see if you can see that cabin job."

"Oke," replied Winslow, "and Frank: if there's any fancy work to do, wait for me, will you?"

The men broke into a trot, Frank heading toward the edge of the field where was the path that led to the hotel.

The men broke into a trot.

companion grasp the arm of the other, who lifted his free arm and pointed toward the edge of the field. Winslow turned. "Hi! Frank!" he called. "C'm here!"

Frank joined them. "We're right, Frank. They were here. What's his name here, recognized Kent. Said he talked with Micky McGuire who flew them down. He's gone back now. But Frank... a car met them."

"A car? Where'd it go?" The man with Winslow lifted his arm and repeated the gesture Graham had observed.

"Took the Encelada road," he said.

"What's down there, Spin?" asked Frank.

"Just a Mex town, seventy miles south of here. There's a kind of a harbor, and south of it a thousand miles of the world's loudest road."

"When did they leave?" "About an hour ago. Two men, and the girl from the plane, and the guy who was waiting with the car."

"How did Miss Kent look?" Their informant swayed his shoulders and blinked his eyes; it was a poor imitation of an intoxicated person.

"Can the act," warned Winslow gruffly.

THE man shrugged his shoulders and said, "It ain't illegal in this country. They looked kind of blotto if you ask me. Except the little guy with the eagle-beak. Mean looking little cuss. Looked like he was ready to heave a stick of dynamite if anybody spoke to him..."

Graham experienced a flicker of response as the little man was described... the vulture shadow on the studio panel—that was it!

"What are you guys after 'em for?" "Serve a summons?"

Winslow smiled. "Nope. We owe 'em a drink. Ready, Frank?"

The field man talked with them to their ship. He commented that the propeller was off balance, which Winslow acknowledged. He then suggested that the beach at Encelada could be laded on if the tide were out.

"Thanks, old man," said Graham. "We'll get along."

They lifted out of the field and roared across the low range that lay between them and the coast. They swung south. For twenty minutes by the illuminated dial of Frank's wrist watch they followed the coast.

The plane seemed to shake more excessively than it had on the previous flight. Something hot stung Frank's cheek. He put up his hand; his face felt hot and greasy. Straining about in his seat he called.

"Engine loosening up, Spin. Let's get back to Caliente."

"I know it!" yelled Winslow. "I haven't been able to raise her in the last ten minutes!"

Frank pursed his lips in an inaudible whistle. That meant they were losing altitude. They could not lift over the coast range that blocked them from Caliente field.

The vibration would get steadily worse. Already the whirling crankshaft was putting an impossible strain on the connecting rods. Within minutes one of them would give; then, if the big motor did not fly apart, it would stall. The plane was nose-heavy.

HE turned to call to Winslow—to tell him to bank and attempt a return up the coast to Coronado and San Diego. The engine clattered suddenly. There was a succession of sickening humps; whereupon it seemed to erupt. Frank threw his Fayetteville, N. C., Jan. 19.—War was declared on gambling devices in Cumberland county yesterday by Judge E. H. Cramer, who is holding regular term of Superior Court here.

The judge asked the grand jury to call on all officers in the county to arrest persons found operating gambling devices, and, if necessary, to make presentments and indictments against such persons.

The Departure

Willy Nilly ran downstairs and opened the front door. "You've stolen my cow!" said the farmer who stood there. "I have been looking for her everywhere, and just a few minutes ago I heard her mooing voice. You cannot deceive me! I know my cow is here."

"I don't want to deceive you!" said Willy Nilly. "Certainly your cow is here, and I'd be glad if you'd take her home. She is a nice cow but I don't want what doesn't belong to me and I only took her in because she had hurt her hoot."

"Where is she?" asked the farmer. "Upstairs in the bedroom."

The farmer followed Willy Nilly up the stairs. "Do you mean to tell me that you haven't stolen her when I find her hidden in an upstairs room?"

"She has broken the bed," said Willy Nilly. "and she has caused me a great deal of delay in my work. I asked her if she wasn't homesick. I wanted to bring her back to you."

They had reached the bedroom now, and when the farmer saw what had happened he believed Willy Nilly's story, but he did not admit it. "You can see for yourself," said Willy Nilly. "Besides no one is going to hide a cow."

The farmer was afraid that Willy Nilly would ask him to get a new bed and he didn't want to do that, so he said:

"Well, I'll forgive you this time. Come with me, Bossy." The cow got herself loose, and soon was downstairs all right. But after they had left Willy Nilly sat down and cried.

By and large, the older a crude oil is, the freer it is of carbon-forming substance. Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil is refined and blended from the oldest Mid-continent paraffin-base crude oils, mellowed and filtered for an average of 80 million years.

And here's another reason for the high quality of this motor oil. Sinclair frees Sinclair Opaline of petroleum jelly, a non-lubricating substance which makes oil thick and heavy when cold, thin and watery when hot.

Mrs. J. H. Rose led the devotional, giving us Jesus' last command, "Go ye into all the world"—emphasizing that He wants us to live lives of service.

Mrs. J. H. Blount gave a most interesting talk on our mission work in both the home and foreign fields, telling us what becomes of our missionary dollar and what amount we give to each field.

Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, president, welcomed the visitors and new members. We feel that Mrs. Kittrell is going to lead us on to greater things with her interest, energy and efficiency.

She asks us to give more freely of our time, our money and ourselves to the missionary cause.

Mrs. R. G. Fitzgerald gave a most vivid account of the missionary conference held in Raleigh. The theme of the conference was "to move forward" and to stir the heart of the church for missions.

There were seventy members present. The work of the new year was begun with interest.—Reported.

West Greenville P. T. A. Meets. The Parent-Teacher Association of West Greenville school held the most enthusiastic meeting of the school year on Wednesday afternoon in the school auditorium.

Miss Alma Lee's second grade pupils delighted the audience with a dramatization of "The Three Little Pigs." Miss Mary Ann Duncan favored us with a reading on "What My Teacher Wears To School."

We were delighted to have Avera Wynn talk to us. The Roosevelt Birthday Ball to be held in Greenville was also called to our attention.

Miss Fullilove told us things about our school: the new additional class rooms now under construction; a music class and extra helpers with work pertaining to the school which have been made possible through the C. W. A.

The business session presided over by the president, Mrs. H. H. Duncan, was short and interesting.

After the usual routine of business, grade mothers for the ensuing month were named for each grade.

Miss Fullilove also told us about the new set of encyclopedias which the P. T. A. is purchasing for our school.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to the teachers of the primary department, Misses Agnes Fullilove, Elizabeth Higgs, Alma Lee, Jane Hadley and Helen Gray Jones, also Miss Ona Shindler, accompanist for the beautiful Christmas program, "Midnight in the Toy Shop," presented at our school on Friday afternoon, Dec. 15.

This was one of the most pleasing programs ever presented at West Greenville school and was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience. The children reflected much credit on their teachers through the careful and patient training which they manifested.

This was the most largely attended meeting of the year. Miss Jane Hadley's grade won the attendance prize for having the most mothers present.—Reported.

Forest Fire Damage Heavy In December

Raleigh, Jan. 19.—The old year of 1933 went out in North Carolina to the tune of crackling flames in the woodlands, judging from the monthly forest fire reports for co-operating counties during the month of December.

Losses from forest fires in December, according to the report issued by the division of forestry of the Department of Conservation and Development, amounted to $150,520 in the counties organized for the control of forest fire, the heaviest for any month during the last two years.

Although the number of fires occurring in co-operating counties was smaller than for the previous month, the destruction was almost three times as great as the total damages of $56,158 for November.

An accumulated deficiency of some 15 inches of rainfall for the year, foresters pointed out, added to the difficulty of controlling the flames by leaving the woods in a highly inflammable condition.

The large damage to the woodlands was blamed in a large measure on campers, hunters and fishermen whose carelessness resulted in 160 of the 206 fires, or more than one-half of the fires reported during the last month of the year.

In fact, more than two-thirds of the fires in December were credited to campers, hunters, and fishermen and smokers, the latter group being charged with setting 50, the second highest number assigned to any group.

Next highest group in responsibility for the forest fires of December were incendiaries, who were charged with causing 30. Other listed causes were miscellaneous, 23; brush burners, 14; railroads, 7; and lumbering operations, 1. All of the fires were classed as man-caused with none being assigned to lightning, the only cause beyond the control of man known in the state.

Large Hog Killed On Woolard Farm

Not only does W. H. Woolard, vice-president and executive officer of the Greenville Banking and Trust Company know his banking, but he claims to be somewhat of a farmer as well. Believing that the first essential of farming is raising plenty of something to eat, Mr. Woolard sees to it that those on his farm follow this plan. Last Tuesday was hog-killing time on Mr. Woolard's Wooten farm east of this city, and among those killed was one that weighed, dressed, 725 pounds.

When trimmed close the hams in this hog tipped the scales at 85 pounds each and the fat from the hog netted six stands of lard, to say nothing of the sausage, cracklings, backbone, spare-ribs, shoulders and other portions added to the plentiful supply of fine edibles derived from this one animal.

Wilson Cagers Meet E. C. T. C. Here Tonight

Tonight at the Campus Building E. C. T. C. will meet the Wilson cagers from Atlantic Christian College. The Bulldogs will probably come ready for a lively fight upon the local court.

Though E. C. T. C. has not yet won a game, none have been victories for their opponents, and since the hardest games were placed at the beginning of the schedule, the latter part of the season will doubtless be more successful. The probable line up for the locals will be:

Burnett, center; Ridenhour, guard; Kapelic, guard; Barrett, forward; Bostic, forward.

The game will be called at eight o'clock at Campus Building. Admission 10 and 25 cents.

Late News Flashes

(Continued from Page One) tion today when a huge ice cliff topped into the Bay of Whales. The flagship bearing most of the members of the expedition was moving slowly through the Bay of Whales seeking a permanent mooring place from which to transfer supplies to the permanent camp in little America. Admiral Byrd himself was on the bridge. The ship was moving at a slow speed about 200 yards off the barriers. Suddenly one-quarter of a mile of the barrier rising 50 to 70 feet above the surface of the bay roared into the water.

Today In Congress.
Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Portents and forays to come against the administration's monetary, NRA and veterans' policies provided a subterranean stir today in Congress where outwardly it was a passive thought. The House agreed to meet at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, an hour earlier, to pass the dollar devaluation bill. Glass, Democrat of Virginia, sent a memorandum to the Senate which no doubt will be elaborated upon when the measure reaches the floor there next week, showed he thought little of Attorney General Cummings' opinion that the government should take over all the monetary gold.

Discovery by the Democrats of strength for modification of the Roosevelt course on veterans' compensation and Federal pay cut the administration leadership began to show a willingness to compromise. House committee hearings will be conducted next week on a number of bills tempering the economy act. Further objection of legislation for the dissemination of birth control information, mainly by Roman Catholic spokesmen, held a number of representatives in hearing before they returned to consideration of the interior Department bill on the floor.

One of the first acts on getting back into session was approval of the revised bill on District of Columbia liquor regulation which now goes to the President for signing into law since the Senate quickly followed the House example.

Washington Daybook
By ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood, Calif.—There's a story ready for production in Hollywood and waiting for a star.
It's about two negro boys who have learned what winter in New York is like and yearn to get back to Dixie. The pair roam the waterfront until they spy a vessel bearing the name, "Miss Orleans."
They board it joyfully and get jobs, and it is not until the boat is under way that they discover that "Miss New Orleans" is a whaling ship headed for polar snow and ice. The plans were all made for harbor locations at San Pedro, and in a few days the cameras and sound trucks would have been down there at work. But the plans are off now. It's just a picture waiting for a star—for a couple of stars, in fact. It would have marked the return to Hollywood of the "Two Black Crows."

His Good Luck Piece
Charlie Mack, the "Black Crow" who met his death in the Arizona automobile accident the other day, was like many other actors in cherishing a pet superstition. Mack's was a lucky token he carried in his pocket, an absurd little ball made of roller-up strands of copper wire.
He once said that it had been with him since his first appearance on the stage—that eight-a-day turn he did for Alexander Pantages up in Seattle. Electricians suddenly turned actor are quite likely to pick up stray strands of copper wire and roll them into balls as they stand in the wings awaiting their cue.
Once a movie director who knew Mack's loyalty to his token, thought he'd have some fun. Just before the scene was to start, he "picked" the actor's pocket. But Mack discovered the loss before he went on, and wouldn't continue until he had regained his treasure.

The Rings 'Stays On
Maureen O'Sullivan was on the set of "Tarazan and his Mate" again the other day—for her first work before a camera since her hospital siege.

When the film is completed, Maureen will visit Ireland again. Whether she will travel as Mrs. John Farrow, wife of the scenarist, she does not know. Large among the obstacles to setting a wedding date is the desire of both, she says, to marry in the Catholic Church. Farrow having been divorced, they must seek a dispensation.

But the big square-cut diamond still glitters on the proper finger of Maureen's hand.

Philippine Bill
Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—(AP)—A measure providing for immediate independence of the Philippine Islands was introduced into the House today by Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, staunch advocate of island independence for the last thirty years.

Biologists says cypress trees flourish at no other place than in States bordering the Gulf of Mexico and in Mexico.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Financial market displayed a climbing tendency today as the dollar lost most of yesterday's advance in foreign exchange dealings. While there was no bold front, stocks and staples pointed upward most of the session. Support shifted with the rails and industrials stepped forward briskly at intervals recovered more than a cent a bushel and cotton and other commodities improved. Continued demand for bonds at substantially higher quotations was encouraging to the financial district. Early rallies in sterling apparently were not unexpected in some brokerage circle. The late tone was firm with quotations ruling around the high points. Transfers approximated 3,300 shares.

Only the Center Leaves are used in LUCKIES

For these are the Mildest and fully ripened for perfect smoking

We buy only the center leaves for Luckies. Not the top leaves for they are under-developed. Not the bottom leaves for they are inferior in quality. Only the center leaves for these are truly mild and fully ripe. And that's the fine tobacco we use—to make Luckies so round, so firm, so fully packed—free from loose ends that spill out. That's why Luckies are always mild, always truly mild. And remember, "It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.

Lucky Strike presents the Metropolitan Opera Company

Always the Finest Tobacco and only the Center Leaves
