Ickes Approves Marketing Code Of Oil Industry

AGREEMENT ALTERNATIVE TO FIRST CODE

Schedule Will Become Effective Immediately; Secretary Approves Order Making Violation of the Code Subject to Fine Of $500 or 6 Months Imprisonment; Section Four of Agreement Disapproved

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes, acting as the oil code administrator, today gave a modified approval to the purchase and marketing agreement submitted to him as a plan for stabilizing industry. The agreement submitted originally by twenty-four companies is alternative to the proposed price-fixing schedule which becomes effective at once.

The Secretary approved an order making violations of the agreement also a violation of the oil code and subject to a fine of $500 per day for each day of violation, or six months' imprisonment.

In his modification the Secretary highly disapproved section 4 of the agreement which provided for unusually severe penalties for those violating the marketing agreement.

F. C. HARDING CLUB SPEAKER

Lawyer Speaks as Kiwanians Observe Lee-Jackson Day Last Night

The birthdays of General Robert E. Lee and General Stonewall Jackson, famous military leaders of the War, were celebrated by the Kiwanis Club here last night with the principal address being delivered by Hon. F. C. Harding.

After paying tribute to the valor of the two Southern generals, Mr. Harding called attention of the Kiwanians to the fact that South Carolina was not the first State to secede during the Civil war as generally supposed, but that this distinction went to Massachusetts which threatened such action in opposition to Texas being admitted to the Union. The action of South Carolina, it was stated, came some time later.

He described both Lee and Jackson as two of the highest type military leaders the world has ever known and said he thought it fitting and proper that their birthdays which fell only a few days apart should be generally recognized by the people of the South.

The program was in charge of Ed Batchelor, chairman of the program committee, and Dr. R. S. McGeachy, president of the club, presided.

The club singing was led by Ralph Deal with Mrs. R. A. Tyson, Jr., club pianist, acting as accompanist.

Two delightful solo numbers were rendered by Mrs. Charles White, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Tyson.

W. A. Darden and Rev. W. A. Ryan, who will have charge of Ladies' Night two weeks from last night, were given an opportunity to tell something about the program. They said the meeting would be one of the best in years, and that a program promising something of interest for everybody was in the offing.

MAYOR LEWIS APPEALS FOR BIG BALL HERE

Farmville Mayor Calls For Support of Roosevelt Birthday Dance Jan. 30

An appeal for support of the Roosevelt Birthday Ball to be given in the Campus Building of East Carolina Teachers College, January 30, was made today by Mayor John Lewis, of Farmville.

Lauding the splendid efforts of the President to bring a return of prosperity to the nation, Mr. Lewis commented on the work he had done in establishing the foundation for cripples at Warm Springs, Ga. "Suppose there had been no Warm Springs, Ga.?" Mr. Lewis asked.

Answering his own question, she said: "I am afraid to think of such a possibility; how many little things could have changed the course of his life many years ago, but they didn't. The President naturally feels very close to the Warm Springs Foundation. No doubt he loves every single person similarly afflicted, and afflicted otherwise for that matter, but every single person in the whole United States should forever be grateful to Warm Springs."

"President Roosevelt, as you know, has given liberally to this foundation; he has not called on us to give anything to it. What he is forever and incessantly calling for is for the man with power and means to obtain the comforts of life, but the people of the United States decided to celebrate the fifty-second anniversary of the birth of our beloved President and to celebrate it by giving 5,000 dances throughout the United States and to send the net proceeds from all of these dances to the Warm Springs Foundation.

"Only those who are able to attend the dance will go, and so no one who is not able will contribute anything to this worthy cause. Just think of 5,000 dances! That means an average of one dance to every county in the United States! Isn't that a wonderful demonstration by the people of the United States to their President? And he will talk to us during intermissions; therefore, all of those attending can be assured of a most enjoyable intermission, no matter whom your partner is."

15 DIVORCES GRANTED HERE DURING WEEK

Three Important Cases to Mark Session of Criminal Court Here

The largest number of divorces probably ever granted in a one-week term of Superior court here in history was recorded in the term which came to a close yesterday.

Records in the office of Clerk of Court J. F. Harrington showed that fifteen persons received divorces during the week the majority on the grounds of two year's separation as provided by state law.

About thirty cases were disposed of during the term, about thirteen being compromised. Only two or three cases were actually given hearing with exception of the divorce actions.

Judge Frank A. Daniels, of Goeborn, presided. He will also appear here again next week at one-week term of criminal court. The session will be marked by the selection of a new six-months grand jury and the usual charge to the jury by Judge Daniels.

Two murder cases and a criminal attack charge are among the most important actions scheduled for consideration.

Heber Ayers will go before the grand jury on a charge of slaying Floyd Cox on the old Stokes Road, several miles from Greenville, during the early part of December. Allan Carson will face the jury for the alleged murder of a man named Simons over an account at Carson's filling station in the Bethel community about two months ago.

Jim Green, negro, who is being held in an unnamed jail charged with criminally attacking a young white woman near the city about two weeks ago after knocking her escort unconscious, is also scheduled to go on trial.

It was indicated the most of the week would be consumed in the hearing of the three cases, although several other minor actions were expected to be cleared from the docket.

THREE NEGRO ROBBERS GET HEARING HERE

Fourth Held in N.-S. Freight Robbery Fails to Appear and Forfeits Bond

John Jones, alias "Skin John" Marcellus Adams and William Green, colored, charged with stealing automobile tires and tubes from a Norfolk Southern freight car here several weeks ago, were bound over to the next term of Superior Court in a preliminary hearing in police court this morning.

Ed Fleming, a fourth negro charged with connection with the crime, failed to appear at the hearing and his bond was forfeited.

The four men were alleged to have broken into a freight car here January 15 and made away with several automobile tires and tubes. They were taken into custody here last Saturday and part of the loot was recovered along with them.

Officers said some of the stolen property which had been consigned to a merchant in the lower part of the State was found in the southern part of the county where the negroes had hidden it for safe-keeping. An agent of the railroad, it was stated, came here Thursday and identified the property.

None of the defendants were able to provide bond and were remanded to jail to await hearing in Criminal Court.

Mrs. Roosevelt At Warm Springs

Warm Springs, Ga., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is paying Warm Springs an unexpected visit.

The First Lady came here with Miss Lorena Hicock for a week-end of rest, motoring from Atlanta, Ga., yesterday.

It was several hours after her arrival, before residents of the community, except officials of the Warm Springs Foundation, knew of her presence.

Ready for Nation's Biggest Birthday Party

THE PRESIDENT AND HIS MOTHER, MRS. JAMES ROOSEVELT

When the President becomes 52 years old on Jan. 30 every community in the nation will give a ball in his honor to help raise an endowment for extension of the work of Warm Springs Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The President's mother bought the first box sold for the great society ball to be held in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, saying: "After all, it is my son's birthday and I am extremely interested in the splendid work of Warm Springs Foundation."

Late News Flashes From Over World

In Congress Today
Washington, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Advancement of the Roosevelt monetary legislation through the House coincided today with indications of renewed dispute over the veterans' compensation, despite the $21,000,000 a year concession just made by the administration to ex-soldier demands.

Joseph B. Eastman, railroad coordinator, notified Congress he favored ultimate government ownership of the railroads but thought the present an inauspicious time for the government to deal strongly with problems of the carriers. This was taken at once as "thumbs down" for major railroad legislation this session.

After four hours of general debate the House faced numbers of attempts to alter the new gold dollar.

NEW DOLLAR PLAN FACES TEST TODAY

Speed Used by House Members to Vote on 50-60 Devaluation Measure

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—An administration "speed" today put the Roosevelt 50-60 per cent dollar devaluation bill to its most critical test for the House vote in which every Republican leader agreed a majority would follow the President.

At the time neared for the House contest a Senate Banking Committee reported divided to a hair line on the measure, summon two of the President's most trusted professional advisers to answer criticisms.

Leaders hoped Professor George Warren Arthur of the monetary program and Professor James Harvey Rodgers could sway some of the opponents.

The House was called to order at 11 a. m., an hour earlier than usual, because of a warning by Representative Byrns, the Democratic leader, that "we will stay in session today until we pass this bill."

Five Chicago Youths Nabbed In Bank Robbery

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 20.—(AJ)—Five Chicago youth, objects of an all-day southern and western Illinois hunt in which a posse of 250 men trapped them in a woods, were in jail today and $3,400 of the money taken in a robbery of the State Bank of Girard, Illinois, was recovered.

Elction Body Will Not Seat La. Contestants

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Representative Byrns, of Tenn., Democratic leader, told newspaper men today he had been told that the House Elections Committee No. 3 would recommend that neither Mrs. Bolivar Kemp nor J. Y. Sanders be seated as Representative of the Sixth Louisiana District.

SEWERAGE EXTENSION IS SOUGHT IN SALISBURY

Salisbury, N. C., Jan. 20.—The latest project proposed for Salisbury, the extension and improvement of the sewer system, has been approved. It calls for the employment of 186 men for a period. The project will be financed by CWA funds and will save the city about $60,000 as the work is necessary as preliminary to a larger work to be undertaken under a PWA program. The latter work is estimated to cost the city around $400,000.

Wedding Control Abandoned Stillwater, Okla.—(AP)—Regulating marriages as a means of improving the human race has been given up as impracticable by students of eugenics, Dr. A. Richards of the University of Oklahoma told the annual meeting of the Oklahoma Academy of Science.

PLAYGROUNDS FOR SCHOOLS GET APPROVAL

CWA Provides $3,864 for Equipping And Grading School Grounds Here

Playgrounds for all white public schools of the city have been approved by the Civil Works Administration, it was made known today from the office of K. T. Futrell, CWA administrator for Pitt county.

The project carries an appropriation of $3,864 and provides for grading and equipment of the various playgrounds.

Another project announced by the administration was the installation of storm sewers for the city at a cost of $9,000.

The payroll for the hundreds of persons employed on CWA projects over the county today will amount to approximately $15,300, Mr. Futrell said. This was over $1,000 more than the previous week.

The payroll will be reduced sharply next week, Mr. Futrell stated, with an order today from Harry L. Hopkins, national administrator, bringing about a change in the number of hours of work to be done by the thousands of relief workers throughout the nation.

Mr. Futrell said that workers outside of Greenville next week would be allowed only 15 hours a week and that those working inside the corporation limits would work 24 hours. A1 workers previously had been working 30 hours weekly.

The administrator asserted that the various projects were making fine progress in all sections of the county and were being rushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

These provide for a wide field of activity and will play an important part in the health conditions of the various communities as well as removing unsightly spots in virtually all towns.

NEGRO YOUTH BOUND OVER

John Pugh Held For Criminal Court on Charge of Breaking Into House

John Louis Pugh, negro youth, was bound over to Criminal Court in police court this morning on a charge of breaking and entering the home of T. T. Taylor here last Thursday. The negro was unable to give bond and remanded to jail.

The youth was alleged to have stolen around twenty-five soft drink bottles and several other minor articles after breaking into the house. He later sold the bottles and shortly afterward fell into the toils of the law.

He was held in the city jail until this morning and given a hearing at the regular Saturday morning session of the police court. He was later transferred from the city jail to the county prison.

GREECE WILL EXPEL INSULL

Athens, Greece, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The Greek government was reported today as determined to expel Samuel Insull Sr., former Chicago utilities operator, no matter what decision may be taken of his case by the Council of State. This attitude was stated today by the Secretary of the Ministry of the Interior.

The council itself following a hearing yesterday at which attorneys for Insull spoke, deliberated the case two hours today. The council members argued heatedly, but adjourned until next week without reaching a decision.

Government Determined to Send Chicago Man Out of Country Soon

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace told the Senate Agricultural Committee today he would favor the Bankhead cotton gin license bill if the cotton farmers wanted it, but asserted "there was grave danger of compulsory production control if the farmers didn't want it."

ARMED MEN TAKE PART IN HASTY SEARCH

Dresser's Car Returned by Convicts After He Promises to Drive 60 Miles Before Notifying Police; Fails To Identify Companion of Jim Clark, Who With Seven Others Escape at Lansing Yesterday

Bartlesville, Okla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Lewis Dresser, 26, Kansas school teacher, who was abducted by Jim Clark and another of the seven convicts who escaped from the Kansas penitentiary at Lansing yesterday, was released unharmed near Pawhuska, Okla., at 5 a. m. today. Dresser, seized soon after Jim Clark, Bob "Big Boy" Brady and several other convicts fled over the wall of the Lansing prison, was free after a wild twenty-hour ride.

He said he could not identify Clark's companion.

Upon his release Dresser drove to Bartlesville and reported his safety to police.

Dresser's car was returned by the convicts after he had promised to say nothing to the police until he had driven fifty to sixty miles from the place where he was released, he said.

More than a score of heavily armed officers immediately concentrated in the vicinity of Pawhuska to hunt for the fugitives.

SALES NEAR 70 MILLION POUNDS HERE

Greenville Tobacco Market has Paid Out $11,683,802.73 This Season

Season sales on the Greenville tobacco market today stood at 69,790,628 pounds it was revealed today in the official report of K. W. Cobb, superior of sales.

For this amount of tobacco the market paid out a total of $11,683,802.73 at a general average of $16.75 per hundred pounds.

Sales for the week, the report also indicated, were 597,422 pounds for which growers received $8,851.15 at an average of $14.50 per hundred pounds.

The market sold during Friday 115,390 pounds for $1,277.83 at an average of $11.10 per hundred pounds.

The price situation showed considerable strength during the first part of the week with better grades of leaf commanding fairly good figures.

With season sales standing near the 70,000,000 mark, there was every indication the end of sales next week would find the figure above the 71,000,000 mark. It was hoped the market would be able to reach the 72,000,000 mark established years ago and marketing was being done as rapidly as possible with this end in view.

Farmers were urged to rush the remainder of the crop to market during the next several days after carefully re-working the leaf and seeing that it is in proper shape for marketing.

Leaf Signup Ends Tonight

That Pitt County will go over the top in fine style in the tobacco sign-up campaign scheduled to close tonight was indicated today by E. F. Arnold, director of the farm department, who said he expected around 2,500 contracts to be in his office tonight.

Mr. Arnold said he thought the sign-up would run between 2,400 and 2,500 contracts in this county and expected the final ones to be on their way to his office by midnight tonight.

He said Pitt County farmers had rallied to the government call for reduction of acreage support in a most commendable way and deserved to be highly commended.

Speaking of the cotton reduction contract campaign now in progress, the farm director urged farmers who had borrowed money last year to get busy and sign before January 30. The cotton contract committee which has been in the grand jury room at the courthouse assisting farmers in filling out the blanks, today asked growers to come to the farm department office hereafter.

Mr. Arnold said it was absolutely necessary for those who profited by the government action last year to sign if they expected to receive any further aid from this source.

The campaign closes January 30, and growers should act immediately if they wish to enjoy the advantages deriving from government participation in their behalf.

BLOND GODDESS
 A New Serial By Herbert Jensen

SYNOPSIS: Janice Kent, the movie star, has disappeared, and a woman named Ortega, certainly in Hollywood to associate for a Meas-ury, has disappeared also. Frank Winslow, explorer and his friend Spin Winslow, aviator and stunt man, believe Ortega has abducted Janice, and follow what they hope is the right trail in a battered old airplane. At Caliente they find a party possessing the proper descriptions has taken the Nevada road, and again take the air. But the plane crashes; they drop into the sea—and Spin cannot swim.

Chapter 11
THE BLOCKADE
 GRAHAME, bending over the prostrate flyer high up on the little shelving beach, saw Winslow's eyes open. For an instant the eyes were blank; whereupon consciousness flooded them. He smiled uncertainly.
 "Spin Winslow," he murmured,
 "once Consolidated's stunt man;
 now does bathing beauty bits.
 Thanks, Frank."
 "Shut up, you idiot; and lie still.
 Here—"
 But Winslow had rolled over on his chest, and drawing his knees under him strove to rise. Encircling his waist with his arm, Frank pulled him to his feet.
 "I'm all right," Spin gasped, "arm's still on the fretz but I can walk. Let's get up to the road."
 Facing the sea, between them and the road-level above, was a short cliff. Grahame pushed his companion before him. They made slow progress, Winslow hooking his sound elbow and knees into crevices in the sandstone wall, and Frank supporting him with his shoulder from behind. Finally they sprawled over the lip of the cliff.
 It was a scant two hundred yards to the road. They stumbled over loose rock until they stood upon the stony and muddy unevenness that was called the road to Lucinada.
 Winslow said, "Well, here we are.
 Once when the road was dry I made it from Caliente to Encinada—that's seventy miles—in two hours. But I nearly tore the tires off doing it. Our friends won't go so fast. Even with their hour's start, I think we're ahead of them."
 "Hope so," commented Grahame briefly.
 He strode to the side of the highway and began pulling rocks into the middle of the road.
 "That's the stuff, Frank. Get a few of those babies festooned across and they'll stop a tractor."
 Frank completed his barricade. It was not elaborate but it would serve.
 There was the possibility that a car other than the one they awaited would come first. In that case he would commandeer it—if he could—to take them into the town ahead.
 Winslow's arm—it was a break or a dislocation—would need prompt attention. And doubtless it was more practical to await the arrival of Janice Kent and her abductors flanked by local authority. It was the safer performance, and safer perhaps for Janice.
 There was always the possibility that he would fail to stop the car.
 The car contained, he knew, three determined men. They would be armed, doubtless. Well, so would he, but three against one, with Janice's presence jeopardizing his efficiency, were odds that gave him some little thought.

 LEAGUE REFORM

By WADE WERNER
 Vienna.—(AP)—Italian proposals for reform of the League of Nations are meeting in the Danubian nations the same mingled welcome and opposition as all previous suggestions for peace treaty revisions.
 In the defeated countries, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria, the action of the Fascist grand council in demanding League reform is deemed worthy of admiration.

In the Little Entente countries, whose boundaries are guaranteed by the League covenant, the Italian demand is considered just another attempt to wreck peace treaties.

 Foreign Minister Benes of Czecho-

 Foreign Minister. It so happened that at the same time the

Cordially and courteously King Alexander told King Boris at a banquet in the latter's honor.

"Only a policy of peace and consolidation of the status quo can bring to our peoples the full assurance of a better future."
 Courtesy, and just as carefully, Boris praised "peace, understanding ever, endorsing the status quo.

New Books

By JOHN SELBY
 New York.—One of the really pleasant duties a reviewer may have is to record the fact that a new novel by an established writer shows that writer to be at the top of his form.
 So with Pearl S. Buck's "The Mother," which finds Mrs. Buck in the creative stride that produced
 "The Good Earth," rather than in the somewhat halting pace of "Sons of the Mother" is a story of universal implications, quiet, strong and richly human.
 It is a big contract, and perhaps one that cannot be fulfilled completely by anybody in one book. But "The Modern World" is a first-rate attempt.

Equally serious is H. C. Knapp-Fisher's "The Modern World."
 Mr. Fisher has tried, in a book of average length, to take his reader on a sort of flying carpet trip about this globe. He gives him a glimpse of each country, summarizes its characteristics, and tries to suggest also the traits that differentiate it from other lands.

 Three of our best romances are again with us, namely, Coningsby Dawson, Faith Baldwin and the Baroness Orzy.
 The baroness is again concerned with the France of the revolution.

 is the title, the manner is that of the earlier Pimpernel books, and the story is exciting, if conventional.
 Mr. Dawson is in England this time, very competently stirring the always ready Dawson admirers with a mechanism much like those that have stirred them before. And Faith Baldwin is again telling, in her

Wise Cake Bakers Stick Exactly to Good Recipe

Melted chocolate has a tendency to thicken cake batter, but do not upon seeing this, begin to alter the batter by adding more liquid, as the cake will come out all right when baked. Select a dependable recipe and follow it exactly. Adding a little more flour or liquid to make the cake batter "look right" is the cause of many failures.

The man was half Portuguese and half negro. He was frightened away by a white person from Sloan Springs last spring, and had not been seen since. It is now known how the death occurred.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood, Calif.—A "new deal" is nothing new on the comedy lot where Hal Roach is king.

The shuffle comes with the passing of every two or three years, and the often-discussed public demand for new faces is answered—youngesters stubbornly refuse to remain "gang-sized."

"Our Gang" now has come to another age hurdle, and Roach, as often before, proceeds to shuffle his youthful deck of cards, hoping to turn up another little king or queen that will take pots in the game of box-office poker.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, D. C.—The danger of the Democratic leadership of the House in risking as much as it did with the so-called "gag rule" is perhaps as remarkable as the narrow but decisive victory the administration won.

On the eve of the session anyone would have said flatly that the high command of the House would not take a chance.

It was admitted generally that sooner or later in the session an effort would be made to liberalize procedure in the House. The pace set in the special session when representatives exercised hardly more than a voting membership would have its effect, in the opinion of many observers.

Joe Byrns, Democratic floor leader, prophesied that there would be no need of "gagging," and added that he didn't believe in the principle and never had.

Then The Test
Yet the session hardly was underway in earnest before a rule was brought in far more drastic than any of the others and, according to reports of those who opposed it, the extreme end presented in the House.

Repeal of the gag rule in the President's economy bill was fast becoming a menace. The minority party in the House steadily was pointing to its belief members from the major party.

The entire membership of the House comes up for re-election later on in the year. Salary increases were getting uneasy. First-termers were Federal employees and other phases of the economy act were in possible danger.

President Roosevelt, both in his message to Congress and in his message transmitting the budget, stressed the fact that the credit of the nation depended on continuation of certain economy legislative provisions.

The Administration Wins
The House leadership decided to act quickly and decisively. As Speaker Clegg of Alabama, who presented the rule, put it:

"The purpose . . . is to have the House deliberately determine for today and hereafter . . . whether or not they are going to follow the President's recommendations. . . . Victory was won by a five-vote margin."

Washington, D. C.—If ever a man had the right to unrestrained joy Senator Elmer Thomas, of Oklahoma, had it the morning President Roosevelt announced his new plan for revaluation of the dollar.

The tall, silver-haired Oklahoman realized in the President's message to Congress a dream at last come true.

The Thomas Crusade
Thomas never once let up in his fight to expand the currency. It was pretty much a lone fight, too.

California's Division of State Land estimates the value of the oil in the State pool at Huntington beach as in excess of $50,000,000.

CAPTURE WOMAN AT STILL IN CUMBERLAND

Fayetteville, N. C., Jan. 20.—Many liquor stills have been taken in this section, and occasionally a man is captured, but no women was ever arrested at a still in this county until Wednesday when three county officers raided a distillery in Carver's Creek Township and took into custody a negro woman who was found there. Two men left the scene at the approach of the officers. The woman, Effie Lee Elliott, is being held for Recorder's Court.

Wilmington, N. C., Jan. 20.—No arrests have been made as yet in the robbery of two Brookwood homes Wednesday night. Sheriff C. David Jones announced last night. Bloodhounds were used before the trail was four hours cold but lost it after it had led them into the city.

The homes entered were those of H. M. Kyle, on Keaton Avenue, near the Market Street road, and David A. Brown, on Keaton Avenue, near Metts Avenue.

the beginning. When he first began his crusade he was ridiculed by many. The doctrines he advocated were looked upon with fear and alarm.

The so-called "sound money" group in Congress pictured him as a wild-eyed radical who would have the government star the printing press and flood the country with paper money.

His critics were among the ablest men in the Senate. Glass, of Virginia, father of the Federal Reserve System and the Senate's oracle on all things pertaining to banking, was among the severest. Reed, of Pennsylvania, was another who crossed swords with him frequently.

Disdainful of them all, asking no quarter and giving none, Thomas went his way, pleading for "that he called an "honest dollar."

Call it a coincidence or what not, the fact remains that the President's move to revalue the dollar at around 64 per cent of the gold base comes very near to what Thomas has been crusading for.

Confessors Pizzled
Just what the President proposes to do and what his new policy means, few in Washington will dare guess. Members of Congress are as completely at sea perhaps as the man in the street.

They are cautious about talking for the very good reason they don't know what to say.

This was strikingly illustrated by the attitude of both Senators and Representatives while the message setting forth the policy was read in both Houses.

In the Senate each Senator had provided himself with a copy of the message. They followed the clerk with the greatest care during the reading. There was no comment at the end—just silence.

In the House members broke into a round of applause at the conclusion. A few attempted to get the membership to its feet while applause, but were unsuccessful.

Every one looked just a bit bewildered.

BOWL MENERS ASK FEDERAL AID FOR LAND EXPERIMENT

Granger, Ia.—(AP)—Plans for a 6,000-acre experiment in subsistence homesteading are under way in this mining hamlet, which hopes for funds from the "new deal" program of President Roosevelt.

The community of less than 500 population is the first in Iowa to seek funds from the $25,000,000 appropriation to be administered by the Federal department of the interior in a land utilization experiment.

The Granger plan calls for a community of 1,600 three-to-five-acre farms centered around the coal mines of the territory. The miners, who average from 80 to 150 days a year in the mines, would be enabled to produce their own food on these farms.

A small garment factory, creameries, stores, machine shops and amusement facilities would be operated co-operatively.

Under the Federal subsistence homestead plan the community hopes to borrow funds at 4 per cent with first-year amortization provisions for a non-profit or limited dividend corporation. The farms would be leased or sold to individual homesteaders.

WAP TAUNTS CRIMINAL TRIAL OF BOLIVIA'S EX-PRESIDENT

La Paz, Bolivia.—(AP)—The Chaco war's keeping the Bolivian Supreme Court from disposing of three-year-old charges against ex-President Hernando Siles and members of his administration, overthrown in 1930.

Siles is living at the Chilean coast resort of Yana del Mar, writing and without any desire to return to Bolivia, but several of his colleagues are commanding Bolivian troops in the war against Paraguay and under the law cannot be brought to trial while they are serving their county in battle. The group is charged with treasury frauds and violations of the constitution.

The president of the Supreme Court announced that the criminal actions are suspended only temporarily.

Only twice in Bolivian history has the Supreme Court been called upon to judge an ex-president. In the previous case the accused, General Hilario Daza, died before the case was concluded.

Sad Willy Nilly

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
Willy Nilly's friends all gathered around him.

"Why, Willy Nilly, what is the trouble?" cawed Christopher Columbus Crow.

"Don't cry, Willy Nilly," quacked Mrs. Quacko Duck, and she put a wing on Willy Nilly.

Rip snuggled up close to Willy Nilly and heked his hands.

"Oh, I'm such a foolish little goose-like man," sobbed Willy Nilly. "I have no more backbone than the white of an egg. I took care of the cow's injured hoof. I let her stay here, I let her rest on my bed, and then she broke the bed, and the farmer comes and blames me for everything."

"I shouldn't have had the blame I did all I could and it was more than I should have done with my place so upset. I don't mind doing what I did—but to be scolded when I had helped so much—oh, it makes me unhappy."

"I would have spoken up for my rights. I should have made that farmer give me a new bed. I'm just too meek for anything."

"There, there," soothed Rip. "We all love you, Willy Nilly. It was too bad about the farmer and the cow, but we'll get all straightened out soon."

"I feel at fault for making the cow like it up there by giving her that grass."

"You weren't to blame at all, Rip," said Willy Nilly. And then, seeing his devoted friends around him, Willy Nilly felt better.

"Let's light the fire," he said.

TO GO ON TRIAL FOR HOLDUP AND ROBBERY

New Bern, N. C., Jan. 20.—Rudolph and Durwood Whitford, two Craven County men, will go on trial Monday in Washington before Judge Doyin. They are charged with holding up and robbery of the home of Warren and Calvin Tuten of Small, near Aurora, on December 8.

The trial is scheduled for the first three days of the week.

D. L. Ward and Lon H. Moore, of this city, will defend the men in a case that is expected to attract much attention in Beaufort County as evidenced in the crowded court room when they were bound over to Superior Court by Magistrate Thompson under bond of $150,000 each.

ELECTIC WINS OVER WILSON

East Carolina Teachers College scored its first basketball victory last night by defeating Atlantic Christian College of Wilson, 34-14.

The Teachers held a 10 to 7 margin for first-half play. The visitors caught the locals at 10-all early in the second half, but from then on the home team stole the show.

Burnett, who made six field goals and two free throws, accounted for 24 points to feature for the Teachers.

Line-ups:
A. C. C.—Cunningham (2), Dawson (1), Bass (4), forwards; Winfield, center; Rogers (2), Amerson (5), Rose, Keel, Allen, guards.
Teachers—Bostic (7), Barrett, Waldrop (6), forwards; Burnett (14), Kapelle, centers; Ridenhour (5), Johnson (2), Eason, guards.
Referee—Hewlett (Davidson).

SPORT SPANTS

College football stars, particularly in the last half dozen years, have found the avenues leading to professional sport much more numerous and lucrative than ever before. Some of them have not yet heard much about the depression.

This has been due, first, to the fact that professional football is now operating on a bigger scale, with the consequent need of fresh, conspicuous talent; and, secondly, that professional wrestling has held out inducement to the strong-man type, with or without grappling experience.

As to the second of the two opportunities for profit, there need be little or no illusion. Headed by Gus Sonnenberg and his flying tackle, the gridiron giants who turned to the mat did so because their name and fame could be quickly capitalized. If they had personal color, the Sonnenberg or Joe Savoldi of Notre Dame, so much the better.

It is noteworthy, under the circumstances, to find that big Freddy Sington, the former Alabama All-American tackle and now assistant football coach under Wallace Wade at Duke, has chosen a baseball career in preference to either of the other means by which he could have capitalized his fame. And this despite the fact that professional baseball has never proved the toughest of all sports for the gridiron greats to crash successfully.

Has No Regrets

"I had several chances to take up pro football," says Sington, who is 225 pounds and a leg drive that would figure to wreck any kind of opposition. "The best came from Benny Friedman of the Brooklyn team."

"I have heard it remarked I was offered a guarantee of $40,000 for two years of professional wrestling. The fact is, I was offered $75,000 for one year. Somehow that did not appeal to me, either."

"Baseball has always been the sport I liked best. I wanted to start under Johnny Dobbs and jumped at the chance to sign a contract with Atlanta. I have not regretted it so far."

Still Head Man

Up to the tee-off with his latest professional rival, Ellsworth Vines in an all-star tour, Big Bill Tilden pulled up an extraordinary batting average against the best professionals in the world.

Over a three-year stretch, the old master won 321 and lost 86 matches or a percentage of .792, which is fair enough in any sport or league. Of the two European pro stars who furnished his main opposition, Tilden won 116 and lost 47 matches with Hans Nusslein in Germany, the present world champion, and showed 19 victories and 24 defeats in competition with Karel Kozulich in Czechoslovakia. He trounced Vincent Richards in 22 out of 33 matches.

"I earnestly contend that this thing has done far enough," writes Bill Cunningham in the Boston Post in commenting upon the recent exploits of Associated Press staff men coming to grips with those two celebrated "old men" of athletics, Big Bill Tilden and Babe Ruth.

"Next they will be wanting one of us to wrestle Jim London just to show how a double grapevine and hump gouge actually feels or fight Max Baer with pallbearers' gloves to chronicle the sensations of being knocked down ten times."

"The slogan of the sports writers 'Do as I say; don't do as I do.' is easy enough to write that the Harvard interference doesn't hit hard enough to knock a baby carriage over, but it would be something entirely else to have to get in there with it and prove beyond a doubt that it couldn't remove a region from its path. The cold facts are that it would probably remove him to a quiet contemplation of the ceiling of the nearest infirmary.

Dempsey Hit Him

"Once or twice in the interests of journalistic beats, scribes who were either ambitious or crazy, depending upon the point of view, have risked their well being in actual tests to discover home something or other felt. I'll never forget the earnest young man who wanted to be knocked out by Jack Dempsey so he could write a piece about his sensations. It was up at Saratoga Springs, where Dempsey was training for somebody—Sharkey—if I'm not mistaken.

"This young reporter was as big, or even bigger, than Dempsey. He was new on the job with a New York tabloid, was an ex-crewman of Columbia and was anxious to make good with a different sort of story. So he calmly requested Dempsey to let him mix it with him in a training bout, requesting him to turn his fists loose so the reporter could see what Dempsey's real opponents had to take. After discovering that it wasn't a gag, Dempsey had him sign a paper, protecting the Manassas Mauler from any law-suits, and then he took him on.

"The big 2 scribe was practically helpless. Dempsey sank three or four wallops into his white and flabby body, then whipped a left to his chin that dropped him like a log. They dragged him out, sponged him off and after a while he came to. He wrote a piece that read pretty well, but, as a matter of fact, he could have written the same piece if he'd never boxed Dempsey at all for Jack's cloud upon his jaw so completely numbed his brain that he couldn't remember having boxed at all!"

Rarely Voluntary

The idea of getting this first-hand experience is, of course, not new to journalistic enterprise, but it has rarely been voluntary, so far as the sports writers are concerned. They are content to take some other fellow's word for how hard Dempsey hits, how rough Gus Sonnenberg can be on the mat or how thrilling it is to ride in a six-day bike race jam.

Occasionally, some adventurous soul such as our Mr. Edward Joseph Neil, Jr., will risk life and limb, as he did a couple of years ago, by riding down the Olympic bobbed course at Lake Placid, right after a big smashup, and then writing himself one of the classic pieces of recent sports literature.

But for the most part, the feeling is that a little of this will go a long way, just as Bill Cunningham suggests.

Novel Basketball Chart Hailed As Boon To Coaches

New Brunswick, N. J.—(AP)—Fred A. (Pop) Hart, whose hobby for twenty years has been the task of keeping detailed records of every Rutgers football game, has devised a system of charting basketball contests that has been acclaimed by every coach who has seen it.

It is a simple method, according to the 52-year-old Rutgers statistician, holding up a sheet of paper. All that is necessary is a short pencil with red lead at one end and blue at the other and knowledge of ten symbols.

Frank Hill, veteran coach of Scarlet basketball, asked Pop to devise the chart two years ago so that he might, after a game see what each man was doing at any given time.

The Hart chart furnishes that information at a glance. It shows graphically every held ball, every shot made or missed and the position from which taken, every violation of the rules and the violator, the possessor of the ball at all times, every out-of-bounds, tribbles, the score at the time of any play, the time remaining at regular intervals during the charted game and other just as important features.

to a quiet contemplation of the ceiling of the nearest infirmary.

Brand Note As Fake

St. Paul, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Branded by police as a fake an anonymous note telling that Ed Bremer, wealthy owner and president of the St. Paul's Bank, kidnaped for $200,000 had been bumped off, was received by W. C. Robertson, Minneapolis postmaster today. The authoritative statement did not serve to allay fears of the Bremer family who had fresh in mind a threat of death and the blood stained car of the 37-year old Commercial State Bank head.

Received through the mails today in long hand by a good penman. It bore no postmark or stamp and was addressed to this Minneapolis office.

The report said Mrs. Kemp "in no way participated in the method by which she was chosen a candidate, but she always insisted that the governor call an election according to law."

American Legion officials let it be known yesterday that presidential declaration of some veterans benefit would not be equalized. The Senate Democratic leaders were optimistic nevertheless that the $21,000,000 boost in payments would provide pressure for more liberal legislation.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Stocks waded through a large amount of profit-taking in today's brief session and emerged with only a few relatively important casualties. The staples and alcohols displayed the greatest resistance. The turnover was the heaviest for Saturday's since last July's turnover, approximating 1,900,000 shares.

The close was irregular. Trading was at a fast pace throughout the two hours, preceding with the ticker tape lagging behind transactions. Moderate gains predominated until the final 20 minutes, when prices of a number of leaders sagged. The dollar was up two cents at noon in terms of sterling and was firm in relations to gold. Grains, cotton and other commodities followed narrow ruts in the morning. Bonds were spotty under realizing.
