GOVERNMENT OF FRANCE NOW FACES OVERTHROW

Negro Rapist Goes On Trial For His Life In Court Here

COURTROOM CLEARED AS GIRL TESTIFIES

Miss Marie House, Greenville Young Woman, Allegedly Attacked By Jim Green, Gives Testimony Before Noon Recess; Other State Witnesses to Take Stand This Afternoon: Case Expected to Go to Jury About 5 O'clock

Jim Green, confessed criminal assailant of Miss Marie House, 16-year-old Greenville girl, went on trial for his life in the criminal term of Pitt County Superior Court shortly before the noon hour today and indications were the case would go to the jury between 4 and 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The jury, picked from a special venire, was expected to return a verdict shortly after receiving the case.

Judge Frank A. Daniels ordered the courtroom cleared as Miss House, principal witness for the state, went on the stand. Her testimony was completely shortly after one o'clock and court recessed until 2:30, when work was resumed.

The courtroom was packed almost to suffocation when the judge's order came to clear the room of all but those connected with the case.

The several hundred men and women from all sections of the county filed slowly from the room and milled about the building in the hope they would eventually be able to sit in on the trial.

That hope came after recess when spectators again were admitted to the courtroom.

When recess came only the testimony of Miss House had been recorded. Steve Edwards, her companion, who was knocked unconscious by the negro as he and the girl sat in an automobile on a road a few miles east of Greenville, took the stand this afternoon. He was followed by Sheriff Whitehurst and other officers connected with the case.

Green, who was said to have been spirited away to Raleigh when he was arrested two days after the alleged crime, was returned to Greenville late yesterday and was arraigned last night.

The stocky negro handed Sheriff Whitehurst an alleged confession shortly after being taken into custody, and it was problematical whether he would take the stand in his own defense when court recessed at noon.

In the confession, covering two typewritten pages, the negro told of attacking Edwards, knocking him unconscious, and then forcing the young woman to remain in Edwards' automobile while he drove into Pactolus township, later abandoning the car.

He admitted attacking the young woman twice, forcing her under threat of physical violence if she did not do as he commanded.

Miss House gave a resume of the attack when she took the stand today, telling of the two attacks and then being left lying on a road in Pactolus township the night of January 7. She found her way to a nearby farmhouse where the alarm was spread. Green was arrested by county officers near Black Jack.

Edwards suffered a severe scalp injury when he was allegedly hit in the head with a club by the negro, and several stitches were necessary at the local hospital to close the injury.

Heating Prevents Tobacco Disease
Washington, O. C.—(AP)—The Department of Agriculture has found that heating tobacco plant beds to temperatures near 70 degrees prevents the spread of blue mold, or downy mildew, even though the plants are first inoculated with the disease.

NEGRO HITS WHITE GIRL WITH A CLUB

Night Prowler Flees From Home of Columbia Doctor After He Is Discovered

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A stocky unidentified negro forced his way into the home of Dr. P. F. Caughman and struck Miss Catherine Caughman on the head with a blackjack here last night.

The negro was prowling through the house and came upon the girl sleeping in an upstairs room. She screamed when he entered her room and he hit her, inflicting a scalp wound.

She, with two brothers, Dick, 12, and Joe, 9, were alone in the house. She ran into her brothers' room. She awoke them and telephone the police department and residents next door.

The negro went back downstairs and fled when Miss Caughman called out to his that police were coming. As the negro walked down the street, Dr. O. R. Blaz, a neighbor, fired at him with a pistol but missed him.

Police arriving on the scene gave chase but the negro escaped by running through a filed in a suburban section.

RUSH COTTON DRIVE IN PITT

Committeemen Putting on Full Speed in Effort to Make Sign-up Complete

With the cotton reduction campaign scheduled to come to a close January 30, committeemen were putting on full steam ahead in all sections of the county today in the hope of making the sign-up as complete as possible for this county.

E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Farm department, indicated today, there was no disposition on the part of the growers not to sign the government contracts to reduce acreage, and that he expected the campaign to be one of the most complete probably ever conducted in this section.

Legislation is now before congress, Mr. Arnold said, that has as

CUBA CHEERED BY PROSPECTS OF RECOGNITION

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The new government of Cuba was cheered by word that the United States is ready to extend recognition, pressed confidently today toward settlement of serious internal difficulties.

Scenes of wild enthusiasm in the interior were reported as the news spread that recognition would affect all parts of the land. Sources close to President Carlos Mendicta said the government hoped to settle the medical strike by tomorrow possibly without the decree dissolving the Cuban medical federation.

Seven hundred students demonstrated near the presidential palace against a proposed decree by Mendicta, who forced the dissolution of the medical federation and the closing of all hospitals of the Spanish societies until the difficulties were adjusted. Sanitation employees at Santiago walked out in sympathy with the Havana doctors.

Walter Relis, American anti-imperialist leader, was held at Manzanillo accused of agitation among students.

SHAD NOW RUNNING IN EASTERN WATERS

Point Harbor, Jan. 23.—Four shad, one roe and three bucks, were caught by the fishing crew of Twiford and Gibbs at Point Harbor Wednesday, which is said to be the earliest catch of shad to be made at Point Harbor in many years.

A few shad are known to be caught in other parts of the sound before this, but it is usually much later than this before they are caught at Point Harbor.

Shad fishing, which once furnished one of the largest incomes at Point Harbor, had been poor for the last few seasons, causing many of the old fishermen to leave the trade, but those that still are fishing are looking forward to a better season this year.

These four shad were sold at a fair price of 35 cents a pound for the roe and 22 cents a pound for the bucks. Jim Traylor and Warren Bibbs are owners of this fishing crew.

A survey revealed that traveling at State expense is the largest single item in expenditures of Texas governmental departments.

INTEREST IN POSTMASTER RACE IS KEEN

Six Contestants Reported Since Beginning of Examinations Ten Days Ago

With the ordering of examinations about ten days ago, interest in the postmastership race in Greenville today with all eyes centered on the final announcement expected to come before the latter part of March when the term of Postmaster H. R. Hunford expires.

Although Civil Service employees are not permitted to divulge any information concerning activities in connection with the examinations it was a foregone conclusion that at least six applicants were seeking the office with others expected to enter before the filing date expires January 30.

Mr. Munford has served for 12 years and his time will be out the latter part of March when a new postmaster is expected to take his place. Although it is impossible to say when the nomination will be made at Washington, this is likely to take place at any time after the examinations are in the latter part of this month and eyes will be cocked toward the capital city every day in anticipation of the expected announcement.

Those reported to have taken the postmaster examination are: Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale, stenographer in the office of the Clerk of Superior court, and long active in the club and civic life of the city.

E. F. Tucker, deputy clerk in the office of the Clerk of Superior court and former rural mail carrier.

S. M. Woolfolk, assistant of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, and operator of a grocery store here.

J. T. Eland, former manager of the Gas Company, and at present in charge of the local Reemployment bureau.

T. T. Hollinsworth, deputy state sales tax collector, and former hotel operator.

D. J. Whitchard, Jr., former assistant postmaster, ex-service man, and publisher of the Daily Reflector.

Commenting on activities of the Greenville office the past year, Postmaster Munford stated yesterday that receipts for 1933 were $35,841.07 as compared with $35,464.06 for the previous year. This was a gain of $377.01 over 1932.

Applications For Crop Loans Now Being Received By Production Agency

The crop production loan agency recently set up at Washington today was taking applications from farmers for loans on this year's crops.

All applicants should be filed here at the farm department, E. F. Arnolds, director of the department, said today.

The loans are being made through the Greenville Crop Production Loan Association which serves both Pitt and Greene Counties. Mr. Arnold said $400,000 had been made available in need of funds to carry on their work during the coming planting season.

Mr. Arnold urged growers desirous of obtaining funds this season to immediately apply at the office and file their application.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Money Bill Approved.
Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The administration money bill was speedily approved today by the Senate banking committee after it had voted several modifications, including a provision making the proposed two billion dollar stabilization fund temporary.

The important monetary legislation was approved 15 to 2. A time limit of two years on the operation of the stabilization fund was the most important modification.

Another amendment would place the stabilization fund under a board of five instead of vesting complete control in the secretary of the treasury. The administration was upheld in a vote to leave the title to the gold with the Federal Reserve.

ASA GARRIS FOUND GUILTY

Judge Daniels Reserves Decision in Case Of Ayden Man Until Later Date

Asa Garris, young white man of the Ayden community, was found guilty of a charge of selling whiskey in the opening session of criminal court here yesterday, but Judge Daniels did not pronounce judgment, leaving that to some other day during the one week term of court in session.

While work was going on in this case the grand jury was going through a batch of presentments and true bills were returned in two of the most important cases scheduled to be heard this term in addition to a score or more smaller issues.

A true bill was returned in the case of Jim Green, colored, charged with criminally attacking Miss Marie House, Greenville young woman, after beating her escort, Steve Edwards into unconsciousness, on a road several miles from Greenville on the night of January 7. He later confessed the crime to Sheriff Whitehurst.

The negro, who was spirited away to state prison at Raleigh immediately after his capture, was returned to Greenville late yesterday. He was scheduled to go on trial this morning at 11 o'clock.

A true bill was also found in the case against Heber Ayers, young white man, held in jail here since the latter part of December in connection with the mysterious slaying of Floyd Cox, filling station employe, on the Old Stokes road. This case was set for tomorrow. Special venires were ordered for both cases from which juries will be chosen.

Few witnesses were to be heard in either case and only minor time was expected to be consumed in the hearings.

LITTLE HOPE FOR SOLVING GIRL'S DEATH

Action of Chicago Court May Leave Mystery in Murder Of Retta Wynecoop

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—There was a growing belief in some quarters today that the death of Retta Wynecoop will forever remain an unsolved mystery. The possibility of quick legal decision on the question of guilt or innocence of Retta's mother-in-law, Dr. Alice Wynecoop, having been dissipated for the time being, there were many both in and out of the criminal court who believe the elderly defendant would never face the ordeal of a trial.

"It's just like freeing her," Nurdan Gardner, of Indianapolis, father of the dead Retta said yesterday after the decision of Judge Joseph David who declared a mistrial because of the possibility that Dr. Wynecoop would fall dead before the eyes of the jurors.

POLICE QUELL DISORDERS IN CITY OF PARIS

Stones, Sticks and Torpedoes Hurlled As Demonstrators Attack Police; Hundreds Arrested But Released; Possibility Of Government Being Overthrown Talked Both Inside And Outside Chamber of Deputies

Paris, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The cabinet of Premier Camille Chautemps appeared tottering today in the face of repeated attacks from both inside and outside the Chamber of Deputies.

Police resources were taxed during the night as 400 battled 1,500 Royalist demonstrators around the Chamber of Deputies and 3,000 disgruntled civil employes crying out against pay cuts joined in the manifestation near the city hall.

"Down with Chautemps!" was the Royalist cry.

Stones, sticks and torpedoes were hurled during the struggle with police. Hundreds were arrested but released.

The possibility of the government being overthrown as a result of increasing opposition over the Bayonne pawnshop scandal was discussed freely in the chamber lobbies of the House of Deputies.

Royalists charged that the government was to blame for the condition which led the pawnshop closing.

PITT COUNTY FAR OVER TOP IN LEAF SIGNUP

More Farms Signed This Time Than in First Drive For Tobacco Agreements

Pitt County went over the top in a big way in the tobacco reduction campaign which came to a close the latter part of last week, it was revealed at the office today of E. F. Arnold, farm director.

Mr. Arnold stated that more farms were included in the sign-up this time than during the first sign-up in the fall with the 2,500 contracts reported covering more than 3,000 farms as against 2,922 farms in the previous signing of agreements to reduce acreage.

Rentals and equalizing payments from the tobacco reduction campaign will bring approximately three-quarters of a million dollars to Pitt County growers in the spring, the farm head said, along with the improved prices for tobacco as promised when the campaign was launched last fall.

Mr. Arnold said he was proud of the fine work done by committeemen in all sections of the county, and praised growers for the fine way they responded to the government effort to lift the price of tobacco and improve the economic life of the grower.

Had it not been for this spirit of co-operation on all sides, Mr. Arnold said, it would have been impossible for such a complete sign-up as that just completed.

STAGE FOR MARIONETTES SEEMS FULL SIZE

The miniature stage for the Tony Sarg Marionettes will be set up in the center of the larger stage in the Campus building of East Carolina Teachers College for the matinee and night performances of the Uncle Remus Stories on next Monday, January 29. Side curtains frame it in and the overhead curtains hide the bridge from which the puppeteers manipulate the characters.

In a few moments the stage seems to grow to full size and the characters seem life-size or larger. At the end, when a man steps into their midst, he looks like a giant. This trick of illusion is due to the fact that everything is made by a certain scale and one sees all in a certain proportion. The voices of the puppeteers seem to come from the puppets. The opening for the stage acts as a megaphone or amplifier, so the lines are heard as clearly as if the actors were speaking the lines directly to the audience.

LOCAL HIGHS TO MEET KINSTON TONIGHT AT 7:30

The game should attract much local attention because of the keen rivalry existing between Greenville and Kinston.

Premier Showing of "Carolina." An assemblage of literary notables is expected in Charlotte on Wednesday evening, January 24th, when that city will be privileged to present the world premier showing of the new motion picture entitled "Carolina."

This first showing of "Carolina," according to plans, will be an event of importance over the two states, with a number of notables expected from other states. It has been pointed out that the name and product will carry the name and product of the two Carolinas not only throughout the width and breadth of the United States, but also to most foreign countries, and will be an important asset in advertising this section.

"Carolina" was adapted from "The House of Connelly," written by Paul Green of Chapel Hill, North Carolina's own famous author and playwright. It stars Janet Gaynor. Other prominent players include Robert Young, as the romantic son of the Connelly family; Lionel Barrymore as the aristocratic old Carolinian; Henrietta Crosman, as the mistress of the Connelly mansion; and Richard Cromwell as the storekeeper's son. A chorus of negro spirituals is woven into the context of the story. The popular negro comedian, Stephen Fitchett, appears with his lazy drawl.

The picture was photographed in part in North and South Carolina. Henry King, the director, spent some time in the two states, searching for old fashioned homes, rail fences and scenes typical of those depicted in the story.

Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus of North Carolina, and Governor Ibra C. Blackwood of South Carolina, have been invited to attend.

The opening will take on the aspects of the typical "first night" in Hollywood. The fanfare of spotlights, floods and other festive effects are to be used on the occasion. Fox Film Corporation, producers of "Carolina," and Fox Movietone News are expected to have a news reel cameraman photograph the gathering of celebrities. Shortly after its world premiere, "Carolina" is to be shown in other prominent cities and towns through out the two states.

"Carolina" will be shown in Greenville in the near future.

BIDDING OVER REDOUBLE

If an opening bid is doubled informally, and bid immediately by partner of the opener shows strength. The weaker the hand to the partner of the opening bidder, the greater the obligation to pass. In contrast is the position of the partner of the doubler in case there has been a redouble. As most players handle the situation, the weaker the hand, the greater the necessity of a bid by the partner of the doubler. A pass over the redouble shows strength. In illustration is a hand from a rubber game sent me by Henry Enoch of the Bridge House, New York:

Vulnerable. South opened the auction with a heart. West passed. North bid two hearts, not being hopeful.

With a two-suitor and a void in hearts, East doubled. South redoubled. West passed. So did North and East, and South walked away with an easy rubber. He made three hearts, getting 400 for a redoubled vulnerable overtrick. East and West could make game in diamonds or spades.

East expressed himself to West promptly as the score was being added. "Why didn't you bid two diamonds? With my fit with your diamonds, I would have forced in spades, and we would have played four spades. You knew North must be weak, having said two hearts just to keep the bidding open for South."

West disagreed: "It was up to you to call your own suit. I had no means of knowing what it was, other than that it was nohearts and might be spades. My hand was so weak that I put it up to you. With the strength shown by your double, I thought my hearts would prove useful in stopping them with hearts as trump."

East ended the argument: "Of course, I certainly would have bid and not let them play hearts except at a prohibitive price if you had not passed. "Your pass shows distinct strength and a belief that you could set the heart contract. Since they were vulnerable and we were not, it seemed to me after your pass of the redouble that we had a juicy penalty in sight that would have been much more to our advantage than a non-vulnerable game."

My Beauty Hint

By SUNNY SIMPSON (Stage Actress) To keep superfluous flesh off hips and ankles I take two hours' exercise daily. A rowing machine is good for the bust and arms, and swimming and roller skating, in season, improve the figure and art in besides. Over-indulgence in violent exercise is to be avoided.

BY DOROTHY DEARING (Screen Actress) Ten minutes daily for a period of a month in training the muscles of the abdomen will do much to help the not-so-perfect figure. Simply contract and relax the muscles, slowly and systematically, and after a while improvement should be evident.

Top Notch's Eye

Willy Nilly rushed to open the door of the repair shop. "Now what's the matter?" he asked in alarm. As Top Notch came hurrying up the steps of the front porch, blinking and crying.

"I was hit over the right eye with a snowball," he cried. "Do you suppose I'll be blind, Willy Nilly? Oh, it feels as though my eye had been put out. Let me have my little mirror so I can see with my left eye if my right one is there."

"It's there all right," said Willy Nilly, and Rip came running along saying: "I didn't mean to hit you, Top Notch. You know I wouldn't hurt you."

"Your aim is very bad," Top Notch said angrily. "Oh, it's looking swollen. Oh, dear, oh, dear."

"Wait a moment, Top Notch," said Willy Nilly. "I'll put some good hot water on it. I've repaired the pipes and I'll be able to heat some water in a jiffy."

For a long, long time, Willy Nilly bathed Top Notch's right eye. When he would stop Top Notch would say: "You'd better work on it a little longer, Willy Nilly. I want to be sure it is all right."

"Maybe you'd better stay with me for awhile," Willy Nilly later suggested. He thought that Top Notch might take a nap now and he could continue with his work when, to his great alarm, he heard the voice of Grandpa Grouchy Galump. That meant trouble.

It has been going on for five years, but Lionel Nastor, member of the city council, says much broom-wielding remains to be done in the Latin quarter, Montparnasse, Moutmartre and the Champ Elysees, the latter a rapidly growing center of night life.

The Latin quarter alone by police count, is the playground of 45,000 adolescent boys and girls, of whom 10,000 are foreigners. The councilmen regard them as needing both watching and protection.

Drastic Laws Urged. What Paris needs, Chiappi retorts, is more drastic laws. He says that for five years his policemen have harassed purveyors of dubious pictures and publications, have kept on the trail of producers of unwholesome stage shows, have put into effect strict regulation on dance halls and night clubs and have made hundreds of arrests.

The city was stirred a few months ago by reports of the "Streets of Paris" s'ideshow at the Chicago Exposition. It was further upset recently when testimony at two sordid murder trials disclosed that denizens of the underworld posed as students, soldiers and sailors in carrying on nefarious callings.

Imitator Blamed. There were loud demands that the city be relieved of the implications growing out of the Chicago exhibition and that bona-fide students and men serving the flag be defended against imputations cast on them by loose-living imitators. M. Nastor launched his campaign in the city council by applauding Parisian "tolerance," but deploring Parisian "indulgence."

"Behind closed doors we can tolerate a lot of things," he said, "but must we permit them on the streets of Paris?"

SPORT SPANTS

There can be no conspicuous "squad" this year over the selections for the 1934 American Walker Cup golf team.

The United States Golf Association has not lacked a Democratic outlook, but it is nevertheless further proof of the cosmopolitan character of the game itself to find this year's team, including Johnny Goodman, the Nebraska boy "from the other side of the tracks," and Johnny Fischer, the mall man's son from Cincinnati, along with 50-year-old Chan Egan, the old Harvard star, and Lawson Little, Jr., the son of an Army officer.

These four are the newcomers to a line-up which has for years been top-heavy with social standing as well as golfing prowess. They make the 1934 Walker Cup array the most representative of any that has yet been picked to meet the British in amateur competition.

Egan Popular Choice
Strictly on the competitive results of 1933, eighteen-year-old Jack Munger, of Dallas, Texas, a semi-finalist at Kenwood, Texas, a semi-finalist at Kenwood, might have been named the team "baby," but the United States Golf Association went to the other extreme by naming Chan Egan.

No more popular choice could have been made, not alone because Egan's record and comeback deserve recognition, but also because he typifies the feeling of millions of golfers that age is no barrier to high achievement.

For years the rush of youth has been ballyhooed. The dominance of Bob Jones helped emphasize the advantage of stamina, combined with youthful power, in a game which previously had not felt the rise of the younger generation so much as other sports. Old-timers were being brushed aside without much ceremony.

This the come-back of Francis Quimet to the national championship heights in 1931 struck a highly responsive popular chord. The triumph of 55-year-old Michael Scott in the British amateur last year proved fresh inspiration to the veterans. Now comes the selection of Egan for high honors, in recognition of a startling victory over the youthful Goodman in last year's squad.

Ruth Leads Smile Please Parade

By A. L. MURPHY
(News Editor, Associated Press Photo Service)

New York.—(AP)—Who is the most photographed person in the United States?

Everyone has had his picture taken once or twice—but what man or woman has faced the camera more times than anyone else?

The correct answer is: Babe Ruth. Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh would be first if they did not sun the public eye. Calvin Coolidge had front rank until his death a year ago.

Roosevelt Gaining
There are many runners-up, but none except the President really rivals Ruth. Roosevelt is gaining ground rapidly, and indications are that he will pass the Babe in a year or so.

The Prince of Wales is photographed whenever he makes a public appearance. Jimmie Walker was "shot" almost daily until he resigned as Mayor of New York, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jack Dempsey, Mrs. Roosevelt, Mary Pickford, Al Smith, Hitler, Mussolini and Herbert Hoover were among those who had to be considered in making this selection.

Babe—in Detail
Although Ruth broke into the major leagues in 1914, it wasn't until about 1920 that the news photographers began to pay him particular attention, and that attention has continued and increased to this day. The actual playing season of baseball is short, but in recent years the picture-taking of Babe has continued throughout the year.

To illustrate this point, the files of The Associated Press contain among numerous others these off-season pictures of Ruth: riding horseback, fishing, playing golf and billiards, spectator at boxing bouts, polo matches, cricket, refereeing boxing bouts, in a dentist chair, working out at a gym, manquets, benefits and beefsteaks and "at home."

Baseball Pictures
The gym workout and some of the others are annual winter features. And baseball? Well, to give just a little idea, during regular season games in New York, the camera will be clicked on the Home Run King twenty or thirty times during each game. During a world series of five games he has his pictures taken at least 350 times—and Ruth has played in ten world series.

It would be difficult to compute the number of feet of film the newsreels have made of Ruth since 1914. The same is true of the amateur still photographers whose output of "Ruth" pictures is too prolific to be ignored.

Ruth Has Head Start
While Ruth's pictures have been accumulating for twenty years, it is interesting to note, his closest rival, the President, started to have his picture taken as a Big Leaguer only a year and a half ago.

The explanation of this sudden rise is the personality of the President, plus the fact that news photographers become the constant companions of a man the moment he is nominated for the Presidency. He doesn't go anywhere without them. Cameras Are Vigilant

Roosevelt and Hoover were each accompanied by seven photographers on the long campaign tours and that number was augmented at every stop. This vigilance on the part of the photographers continues until the President has retired to private life. Then and only then does it taper off.

While the Babe may wear the "most photographed" crown only a little while longer, he always will be a favorite of the news photographers—he never says "no" to their "just one more."

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly five to eight points decline in response to lower Liverpool cables and under liquidation. There was some foreign selling at the opening, but initial offerings were taken by trade buying of covering, and after a decline of about eight to ten points prices steadied.

March contracts sold around 11.07 at the end of the first half hour with the market moderately active and steady. The market met increased offering late in the morning. Prices worked into new low grounds for the movement. March sold off to 10.97 and July to 11.29, making declines of about 12 to 15 points.

The market at midday was quieter at net declines of about eight eleven points.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Financial markets continued to undergo some minor adjustments today, but on the whole the speculative approach was still optimistic and most prices showed an upward slant. Stocks were bit irregular in the early hours.

Leading issues though found buyers on the reaction. The activity was somewhat under that of the previous session.

The dollar was only slightly lower in terms of sterling and gold currency. The grains were almost unchanged, but cotton, robber and silver were a trifle heavy.

Prime investment bonds were steady to firm and secondary loans lagged. Earning reports of 1933 continued to bring cheer to trading circles. Forenoon irregularity gave way to better levels in the late trading.

serve System and take the profit from revaluation through franchise tax on the system.

Meanwhile debate over the measure broke out in the Senate with Senator Fess of Ohio, assailing it and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, speaking in its defense.

The committee also placed the limitation to two years on President Roosevelt's power to devalue the dollar.

Both times limitations were voted with the provision that the President could terminate the powers in less than two years or extend them for one additional year. Chairman Fletcher said he would file a report with the Senate today and ask that it be taken up for debate tomorrow.

U. S. Recognizes Cuba.
Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Ending six months of unofficial relations during which Cuba had been in turmoil, the United States today accorded recognition to the new government of President Carlos Mendiatra.

Official announcement was made by President Roosevelt and by Secretary Hull after the question had been considered by the chief executive and his advisors during the day.

Jefferson Caffery will become ambassador to Cuba upon presentation of his credentials. Manuel Marquer Sterling, former Cuban secretary of state who has been acting in an unofficial capacity in Washington, will become Cuban ambassador here.

Meanwhile 10 of the 16 American war vessels that have been in Cuban waters were withdrawn. Further withdrawal of the remaining vessels is expected to follow.

French Cabinet Wins

Paris, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Premier Camille Chautemps and his cabinet weathered a blistering barrage of opposition fire over the Stavisky scandal today and won by a vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies, 368 to 201.

Earlier a warning that Premier Chautemps himself and three members of his cabinet would be named in the documents on the Stavisky scandal was made by Deputy Henriot.

Approve Naval Treaty.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—By a unanimous vote the House naval committee today approved the Vinson treaty naval bill and decided to try to attach it to the annual naval appropriations bill now being considered in the House with passage a certainty by tomorrow at least.

It had become plain a short time earlier that once this bill was enacted, prediction of which was made by Speaker Rainey, then the administration would ask up to $25,000,000 to be actually appropriated at this session to start on 20 new warships.

Eighteen of the 25 naval committee members were present when the bill was reported.

The Vinson bill, which calls for the expenditures around $76,000,000 a year for four years to bring the fleet up to treaty limits in all categories and replace present obsolete vessels.

Port Terminal Being Studied.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The office of Senator Bailey, Democrat of North Carolina, said today it understood the Morehead City, N. C., application for $400,000 of public works money to develop its port terminal was being studied by army engineers.

The application has been before the board for several months. It was vigorously opposed in North Carolina by residents of Wilmington, North Carolina's largest port.

after President Roosevelt informed Robert G. Fechner, director of the corps, that he contemplated asking Congress for sufficient funds to carry on work of the corps for another year beyond March 31.

The most probable figure which the President would ask for, officials speculated today was $250,000,000, it being estimated that with the present strength of 315,000 distributed among 1,400 or 1,500 camps, the operations are costing about $20,000,000 a month.

SIGNAL DEVICES ARE ORDERED ON TRUCKS

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 22.—Sergeant C. L. Maynard, in charge of the Norfolk territory of the Virginia State police, issued at statement Saturday warning all truck drivers and owners to equip their vehicles with the necessary devices.

Sergeant Maynard referred to section 106 of the Virginia Motor Vehicle code which states that "any motor vehicle which is so constructed or carries a load in such a manner as to prevent a hand and arm signal required in section 75 of this act from being visible both to the front and rear of such vehicle, shall be equipped with a mechanical or electrical signal device which meets the requirement of the act and is of a type that has been approved by the director."

Warrants will be issued to truck drivers found without such equipment, Sergeant Maynard said.

This means that those who refuse to sign will receive none of the benefits to be derived from contract signers and will have to pay a tax on the cotton they produce if the measure passes.

The farm director said the cotton campaign would bring approximately a quarter of a million dollars in rental to growers of this county, in addition to improved prices expected for the next crop.

He impressed upon growers the importance of giving due attention to this important matter and to sign at once and get in line for the government benefits to be derived from the campaign.

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Fortunate indeed is that modern man or woman who does not get nervously upset. Raw, jangled nerves seem, all too often, to be the order of the day.

If nerves are your problem, we suggest a check-up now—on your eating, sleeping, and smoking. Get a fresh slant on your smoking by trying Camels. Much is heard about the tobaccos used in various cigarettes. But this is a fact, as any impartial leaf-tobacco expert will tell you:

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand.

Everywhere you see Camels smoked more and more. People do care about mildness... about good taste... about their nerves. And Camels never get on your nerves... never tire your taste.

Eddie Woods, All-Around Champion Cowboy, says:
"To have nerves that can take it, I smoke only Camels. I've tried them all but Camels are my smoke! They have a natural mildness, and I like their taste better. Camels do not jangle my nerves, even when I smoke one after another."

Mrs. Phyllis L. Potter, Home Maker, Montclair, N. J., says:
"I don't doubt but what it takes healthy nerves to ride an outlaw horse! But any woman who is a home maker will agree with me that shopping, cleaning, and answering the doorbell a dozen times a day are enough to jangle anybody's nerves. I know that I have to be careful in choosing my cigarettes. I am a confirmed Camel smoker because I can smoke Camels freely without a hint of jumpy nerves!"
