DIRECTORSHIP WILL STEER FRENCH COURSE

Will Give First Attention to Foreign Affairs and Austrian Independence

Paris, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The new French government today set up a four-man directorship headed by Gaston Doumergue to handle foreign affairs swiftly and vigorously and strike hard at the possibility of a German union with Austria. With Doumergue in the directorship were Vice-Premier Andre Tardieu, Vice-Premier Edouard Herriot, and Louis Barthou, Minister of Foreign Affairs. The directorship intends to seek agreement with Premier Mussolini of Italy and the little entente—Roumania, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria—for strong support for Englebert Dollfuss, of Austria, and for general solution of the central European situation. Continued Austrian independence was viewed by the new cabinet as an urgent matter superceding proposals for disarmament and other matters. Probable success of the directorship is made possible by the fact that Doumergue, Tardieu and Herriot are without portfolios, thus enabling them to concentrate with any ministry on any particular problem.

WINTERVILLE CITIZEN DIED THIS MORNING

A. Evans Succumbs To Heart Attack Suffered Three Weeks Ago

Alex Evans, a prominent citizen of Winterville for the past 35 years, died at 11 o'clock this morning at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Evans was born July 10, 1879, in Granville County, North Carolina, son of John and Luzanna Wood Evans. He came to Pitt County in 1899 and in 1901 he married Miss Annie Smith, and since that time he has made his home in Winterville.

About twenty-five years ago he connected himself with the Winterville Baptist Church, and for twenty-three years he has been a member of the board of deacons of his church. He was always active in the work of his church until about a year ago, when he suffered his first heart attack. He served for a number of years as secretary and treasurer of the Sunday school, and at the time of his death was assistant superintendent. About three weeks ago he suffered another severe heart attack, and since that time no hope had been held for his recovery.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Annie Smith Evans, and three sons, Leon E., Bert Moye and Alex Evans, Jr., all of Winterville, N. C.; two brothers, Jack and Dodson Evans, and two sisters, Mrs. Will Nichols and Mrs. W. S. McGranahan, all of Durham, N. C.; also two aunts, Mrs. Anna Weaver, of Oxford, N. C., and Mrs. Ada Pope, of Greenville, N. C., and one uncle, J. B. Oakley, of Greenville, N. C.

For the past twenty-one years Mr. Evans has been in the employ of A. W. Angle Company, of Winterville, where he held a most trusted position.

Funeral services will be conducted at Winterville Baptist Church tomorrow at 2 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. E. H. Connolly, assisted by Rev. M. A. Woodard of the Free Will Baptist Church.

Palbearers will be: Active: A. W. Anee, J. E. Green, L. N. Demsey, C. D. Whitford, J. B. Bedford, G. L. Rouse, M. T. Spier and Roy T. Cox.

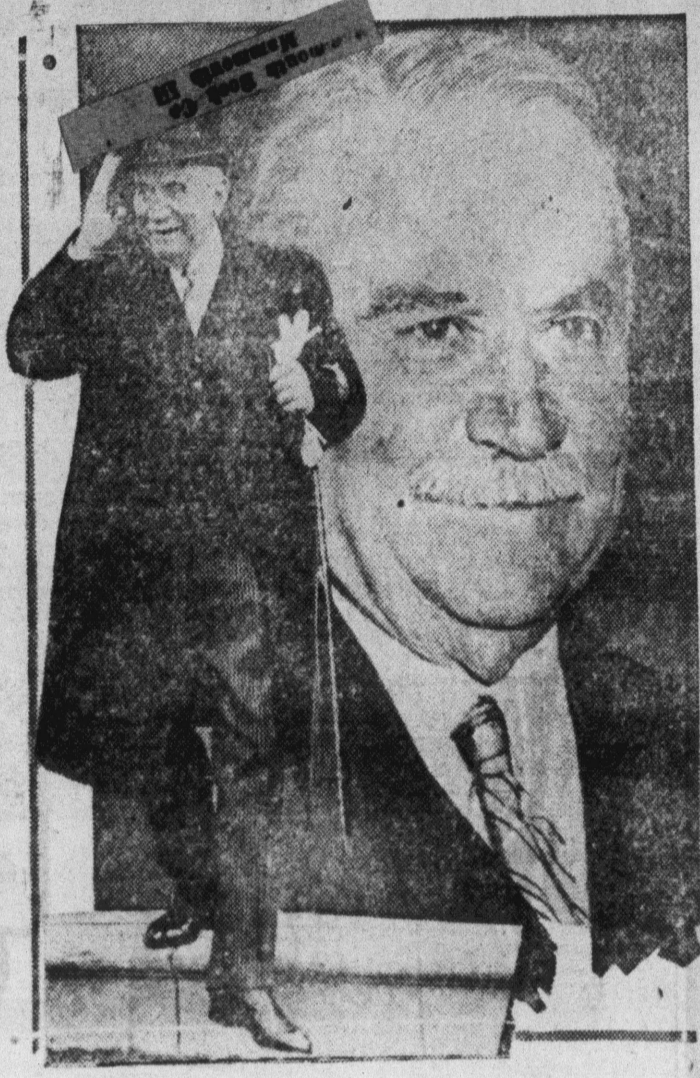

Honorary: A. D. McLawhorn, Dr. J. S. Liverman, R. H. Hunsucker, Cleveland Worthington, L. A. Barnes, H. D. Tucker, R. E. Davenport, C. D. Ward, J. L. Rollins, J. W. Rollins, R. L. Worthington, J. B. Worthington, H. H. May, O. W. Dall, J. D. McArthur, J. L. Hobbgood, R. L. Abbott, H. H. Weather- spoon, Charlie Harrington, J. J. Bullock, J. O. Edwards, O. H. Jackson, and W. J. Wyatt.

Mr. Evans was affiliated with the Masonic Order, Junior Order and Red Men. The latter order will have charge of the services at the cemetery in Winterville where he will be buried.

Raiding Wolves Reported

Ashland, Kentucky.—(AP)—Reports reaching here from the remote Hood's Creek section of Boyd County say wolves are roaming the country-side and are raiding farmers' chicken yards and pig pens. Several have been killed by hunters.

RESTORED PEACE IN FRANCE

Like a hero in a melodrama, aged and venerated Gaston Doumergue "came to the rescue" of France after two days of violence, bloodshed and fire. The veteran of former political strife came from retirement to lead France along the path of peace with his "salvation government." He was hailed in Paris by a greatly relieved, almost worshipful citizenry. The smiling premier is pictured above in two poses. (Associated Press Photo)

Late News Flashes From Over World

$40,000,000 Seed Loans.

Washington, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Senate and House conferees agreed today to provisions of the new crop production loan bill deciding that $40,000,000 would be made available for such loans during the calendar year. Congress is expected to accept the agreement, after which the measure will go to the President.

Forty million dollars was a compromise between the $45,000,000 provided in the Senate bill and the $35,000,000 approved by the House. The conferees also agreed to retain two other major provisions of the bill. One would permit loans on wheat and the other would require the borrower to certify his cooperation in the government crop reduction program.

The bill fixes $250 as the maximum individual loan with provision that this total may be increased to $400 in specially needy cases. (Continued on Page Two)

COUNTY BOARD HELD MEETING HERE FRIDAY

County's Finances In Better Shape; Push Collection Personal Property Taxes

Holding its regular monthly meeting yesterday, the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County transacted routine business, reviewed reports that showed the county to be in the best financial condition in five years, and urged increased efforts on the part of the tax collection department to collect personal property and poll taxes. The regular monthly meeting was scheduled to have been held on last Monday, but was delayed until yesterday because of the illness early in the week of R. H. McLawhorn, chairman of the board.

The tax department's report for the fall's operations showed that the better business conditions in the county had been reflected in tax collections, indicating that should the proportions of collections continue for the coming spring months of the county would complete its fiscal year within its operating budget without borrowing any money, for the first time in more than five years. The debt service budget for the year was also beyond expectations and with good collections from now on that portion of the county affairs would likewise find itself in the clear for this year.

Noting from the tax department's records that there was still outstanding a large amount of uncollected personal property tax money, the board ordered the tax officials to concentrate their efforts on collecting these taxes in order to make it possible for the county to operate in the clear this year. The nearer collections reach the 100 per cent mark each year, the lower the tax rate will have to be, the board pointed out, and citizens who have not paid will be urged to do their part by paying now.

Mercury Dropped To Nine Degrees Above Zero Here Early This Morning

Despite the fact that local residents probably shivered more yesterday and last night than in many a day, the mercury dropped no lower than it had already been once before this winter. According to B. T. Clark, official government weather observer here, the mercury reached a lot of nine degrees above zero during last night, the same point reached on the morning of Tuesday, January 30.

Mr. Clark stated that many citizens had called for the official reading and had declared they believed the mercury had touched a new low mark last night, but, Mr. Clark explained, was due to the fact that on the former occasion the drop was short-lived, while throughout yesterday and night the mercury had remained low, with the result that the weather was really colder than before, even though the mercury did not go below nine degrees.

The cold snap the latter part of January, followed by the present cold spell, is the most winter weather local citizens have experienced in years, and the result has been hundreds of frozen and burst water pipes and automobile radiators.

In view of the wide area over which the cold wave spread, little relief was promised over the weekend, but forecasts of fair weather and slowly rising temperatures were most welcome.

FORTY DEER HEADS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fredericks, Va., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Forty stuffed deer heads, the gift of an Asheville, N. C., sportsman to the United States Senate Committee on wild life, were destroyed in a fire last night which swept the truck in which they were being carried to Washington.

The deer heads, sent from Asheville by R. H. Hilderbrand, were insured for $15,000.

CAROLINAS IN GRIP OF SEVERE COLD

Mercury Establishes New Lows In Various Sections Of Two States

(By Associated Press)
North Carolina and South Carolina snarled in the icy blast which early Friday swept out of the east leaving death and destruction in its wake. Hope for relief was held out by the United States Weather Bureau which predicted fair weather with slowly rising temperatures for the two states Sunday.

At Norfolk above Cape Hatteras, four lost their lives when a schooner went down.

Snow flurries, swirled by a howling northeast wind blanketed much of North Carolina, with a few upper South Carolina points reporting light snowfalls. Charlotte reported a thermometer reading this morning of eight degrees while at Ocracoke and Cape Hatteras fishing and mail boats kept ashore as a 40-mile northeaster swept inland bringing sleet and snow. The mercury late last night had dropped to 20 degrees and coast guard patrols kept on the lookout for beleaguered shipping.

Greensboro missed a zero reading by only a few points, while at Wilmington residents reported the coldest weather in many years. Unofficial thermometers at Wilmington showed the mercury at eight degrees above zero.

DILLINGER MUTE WHEN HE APPEARS IN COURT

Crown Point, Ind., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Denied freedom on a writ of habeas corpus, John Dillinger yesterday heard his trial for murder of a policeman set for March 10. The notorious desperado, freed of manacles during his court appearance, stood mute when asked if he wished to plead guilty or not guilty, and Judge William J. Murray, at the suggestion of defense counsel, entered a plea of not guilty.

Prosecutor Robert G. Estill announced after court adjourned that defense lawyers, in the privacy of the judge's chambers, had told him that Dillinger would plead guilty in return for a pledge that the death penalty would not be asked by the prosecution.

TRUCKS SKID INTO BUILDING AT CLAYTON

Clayton, Feb. 10.—Two trucks collided here yesterday morning and skidded into a plate glass window in the garage of C. E. Hamilton, local automobile dealer. Not only the window but a large section of the brick wall underneath was knocked out. One of the trucks crashed into a new car in the showroom and damaged it considerably. Sam McCotter of Vandemere, was driving one truck and Newitt Canady the other.

Neither of the two men was injured except for shock and a severe shaking up. The accident was one of the most unusual ever to happen here. The slippery condition of the pavement is believed to have been responsible for it. Mr. Hamilton estimated the damage at $3,000.

Farm Credit Corporation Ready To Function Here

The 1934 crop season will mean the beginning of a better system of credit for many farmers who are preparing to finance the year's farming by means of short-term loans through the production credit associations which are being organized under the Farm Credit Administration throughout this State.

Under the Farm Credit Administration the land banks will continue to make long-term real estate mortgage loans; but the administration is also providing a long-needed system of short-term production credit for farmers—loans to be used for producing crops and livestock and repaid at the end of the season. This is an entirely new service for farmers, and it is designed to be permanent.

Farmers in this locality will be served by the Greenville Production Credit Association, which was chartered on December 7, 1933, to serve producers in Pitt and Greene counties. About four or five counties is the average size of an association. There is no fixed number of counties standard for all associations, but each must include enough territory to give a volume of business sufficient to secure efficient organization and low cost of operation.

The Greenville association was organized through the co-operation of representative farmers of the county, and is designed to be permanent. The assistance of the Columbia Production Credit Cor-

ARMY PLANES TO FLY MAIL FEBRUARY 19

Roosevelt Cancels All Air Mail Contracts With Domestic Companies

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Private lines of the American air mail stripped of their valuable contracts by one swift administration blow, cried out today for a hearing. President Roosevelt's wholesale abrogation of existing air mail contracts issued last night becomes effective February 19. At that time the planes of the United States Army will begin flying the mail. We'll be ready a week sooner, was the word from the War Department.

Demolition, with a single pen stroke, of the air mail subsidy ground of collision in obtaining contracts. Operators of air lines holding air mail contracts were quick to deny any collusion. Some said the loss of the contracts would probably force them out of business. Many demanded that they be given hearings before the contracts were taken from them. There was no official comment on these demands today, but there was private talk in some administration quarters of hearings at least for some of the contract holders.

Under the formal order canceling the contracts issued by Postmaster General Farley indicated the White House will let none of the companies stripped of their contracts bid for new contracts in another five years. There is a five-year provision contained in the statute under which the order was issued. It sets forth that no firm deprived of contracts because of collusion can seek another contract for five years.

SEEK HEARING BY WARREN ON NEGRO ISSUE

Communists To Demand Negroes Be Permitted Use Of House Restaurant

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—A large delegation of Communists marched on the Capitol today, but were stopped outside of the building by Capitol police. They appointed a committee of two negroes and an Italian who were permitted to enter under a police escort, and they stated that they had come to see Representative Lindsay Warren and demand that he issue an order to permit negroes to eat in the House restaurant. The delegation, however, never got to Mr. Warren, who at the time was making a speech on the floor of the House. The committee waited around for an hour and then left, stating that they would continue to press their petition for equal rights.

SMALL HOLDERS OF GOLD MAY REDEEM SAME

Gold In Small Quantities May Be Redeemed Now Without Holder's Statement

Holdings of gold money in small amounts may turn same over to banks for redemption without fear of any embarrassment if they act at once according to announcement made this morning by J. H. Waldrop, cashier of Greenville Banking and Trust Company. Mr. Waldrop stated that a new Treasury order dated February 7, and just received by the bank, stated that holders of gold in small amounts could turn same over to banks for redemption without making any statement as to why this gold had not been turned over to the government in compliance to previous orders. Under an order dated February 2 every person who turned in gold was required to make a formal statement as to why they had not earlier complied with the government orders, but this feature was eliminated under the order dated the 7th.

Persons with gold in amounts of $100 or more are still required to make statements as to why this gold was held, but in amounts below this figure no such statements are required.

This new ruling will make it possible for holders of small amounts of gold to turn same in for redemption without fear of any red tape and trouble, and it is believed there are still a number of persons who will take advantage of this opportunity to redeem their gold money which is now of no value to them so far as using it as a medium of exchange.

HEN WANTED FAMILY AND PROCURED ONE

Bear Creek, Greene County, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Here's a hen that meant she wanted a family.

Mrs. W. F. Creech refused to allow a Rhode Island Red hen to set when it started. The next day Trixie, a fine bulldog of Mr. Creech's began to whine as if something was wrong in the canine household when some month-old pups resided.

Mrs. Creech found the hen had driven away the mother dog from her pups and was sitting on the puppies with her wings spread over them.

HOSIERY EMPLOYEES STRIKE AT BELMONT

Belmont, Feb. 10.—(AP)—A number of employees of the Hatch Hosiery Mill here struck yesterday because, they said, of the dismissal of four fellow employees who had joined the United Hosiery Workers.

Members of the striking group said about 50 employees joined in the strike, but J. M. Hatch, president of the mill, said "not over ten" took part in it.

The mill, which employs 115 people in day and night shifts, was operating today. Sheriff Clyde Robinson and deputies were on hand as the mill began operations, but no disorder developed.

Hatch asserted he did not know the grievance of those who struck and said no demands had been made. No employees have been dismissed to his knowledge within the past 12 months, he said.

H. I. Adams, an organizer for the union, has been in Belmont for several days.

OFFICERS GET NEW CLUE IN BREMER CASE

Have Names of Five Persons Believed Able to Help in Solving Mystery

Saint Paul, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Fresh clues—meager but still holding possibilities—gave police and federal investigators new hope today of bringing to justice the gang that snatched Edward Bremer for $200,000 ransom. The names of at least five persons who are believed to have seen either the kidnapers' automobile or its occupants were in possession of the police and the Department of Justice agents.

One of them, Mrs. Cressens Deheimer, widow, told the investigators how she had seen the scuffle in the victim's car when his abductors slugged him with pistol butts. She is regarded as the most important witness. Another, also a woman, whose name was not divulged, reported making a note of the license number on the auto believed to be the one used by the kidnapers. From an oil station attendant, authorities heard a story that he had seen three men in a car resembling the gang's machine the day of the abduction, January 17, and that a man in the rear seat was wearing a tan overcoat.

WRIGHTSVILLE PROJECT WILL BE RESUBMITTED

Wilmington, Feb. 10.—The proposed Wrightsville Beach CWA reconstruction project was disapproved at the office of Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, state administrator, today because of the item providing for the removal of debris from fire-swept private property but a revised application, eliminating this feature, will be submitted.

In announcing the action of the state headquarters, J. A. Taylor, mayor of the beach and local CWA head, declared an amended project will be sent immediately to Raleigh.

Expect Arrest Of MacCracken Momentarily

Washington, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The arrest of William P. MacCracken was expected momentarily today by officials, following his defiance of the Senate by refusing to appear to face contempt charges. It was reported in authoritative quarters that the Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Air under the Hoover administration, would surrender during the day and immediately institute court proceedings to test the right of the Senate, to arrest a private citizen.

MRS. TUCKER URGES AID FOR WOMAN'S CLUB

Head Of Farm Women's Organization Says Club Building Of Great Benefit

Mrs. J. Brooks Tucker, president of Pitt County Council Home Demonstration Clubs, in a statement issued today, called attention to the value of the Greenville Woman's Club building to the farm women of the county and urged support of the efforts being made to aid the local club women to save their building. Finding itself in financial difficulties and unable to save their club building unless given some outside aid, the club officials laid the matter before a group of local business men here about a week ago, and as a result of this conference, a drive will start here next Tuesday to raise the necessary $7,500 to prevent loss of the club house. At least one thousand dollars of the amount has been pledged.

Mrs. Tucker's statement follows: "Speaking for the home demonstration women in Pitt County, I'd like to say that we have come to feel that the Woman's Club building is our headquarters. We have used it on so many occasions. We have gone there for district meetings as well as the county meetings, and always been proud to be hostesses to club women of other counties in this building. We appreciate what the Greenville Woman's Club has done for us, and would feel lost without the club building. We are watching this rescue fight grow with keen interest."

A statement from Miss Ethel Nice, Home Demonstration Agent, follows:

"In my first council meeting with Pitt county women six years ago, I asked the question: 'Where do you have your countywide meetings?' Each one looked at the other and after a few minutes this reply came: 'We meet in a room that is available.' This was very understandable. Sometimes the groups had to be moved from one room to another because of crowded conditions, and often women did not come because of the uncertainty. When the Greenville Woman's Club building was opened for these meetings, it was a marked improvement in interest—and it has been literally a home for demonstration women and girls. We should miss it very much. Another feature which is very important is that it brings about friendship between Greenville and Pitt county women that otherwise would not exist."

PARIS QUIET AFTER NIGHT OF RIOTING

Police Gain Control Of Situation Shortly Before Dawn Today; Several Killed

Paris, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Communists bands which created a night of terror were cleared from miles of riot-ridden streets just before dawn with unofficial reports of several fatalities, exchange of shots, hand-to-hand fighting and pitched battles across burning barricades.

A thousand police participated in the drive against the rioters. At dawn the police held the Place de Republic, communists, henchmen, where earlier the columns of rioters split into small bands. There were a hundred or more shots simultaneously over the Place de la Nation square in northeast Paris. While the night fighting raged, Premier Doumergue called upon "all Frenchmen, do your duty—refrain from rioting."

There were no details concerning the reported fatalities, but police listed 37 of their own number as wounded, some by gunfire, estimated the number of rioters wounded at 1,000. Hospitals held 140 injured during the fighting. When the police finally gained control, telephone poles were down and the streets strewn with wreckage and today Premier Doumergue issued a statement that the picked twenty members of the "Salvation Ministry" would concentrate upon plans to end disorder and show the world "this country has no need of a dictator to assure its existence."

CONDITION OF COUNTY ENCOURAGING

The financial condition of the county as a result of better tax collections for the past few months is another indication that things are on the mend in this section and that probably that long looked for corner around which we were to meet prosperity has been turned. If tax collections remain good for the next few months the county will this year find itself in the clear both as to operations and debt service, for the first time in five years, which is a most gratifying situation.

Of course, this does not mean that the county treasury is loaded down with surplus money, for the county, like most individuals, came to the end of the depression with a lot of holes to fill up but the fact that his year we might break even is certainly encouraging and gives us hope that the time is near at hand when those holes dug in the past might be gradually filled up.

NEXT THURSDAY IS DOLLAR DAY

STALIN'S FORMER PRISON TO HOUSE ART EXHIBITS

Tiflis, U. S. S. R.—(AP)—Old Joseph Stalin's prison where Melekch and other leaders of the Soviet regime once were incarcerated for revolutionary activities, is being converted into an art museum.

Used for more than 100 years as a prison for criminals as well as political offenders by both the czarist and Soviet governments, the great stone structure entered on its new regime on the sixteenth anniversary of the October revolution when all its inmates were transferred and preparations begun for alterations to be completed within a year.

Stalin was imprisoned there in 1903 soon after his revolutionary work began, but escaped after serving only a few months of his sentence. Michael Kalinin, president of the central executive committee of the Soviet government, and Maxim Gorky, leading Bolshevik writer, also languished in its dank cells.

The castle, which consists of five separate buildings, was built in 1829 adjoining a thirteenth century church, which also is in a well-preserved state.

BLOND GODDESS

A New Serial by Herbert Jensen

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame, the explorer, who is in the jungles of Yucatan, searching for Bill Langton, his missing aviator pal, has found instead the movie star, Janice Kent, whom he loves. She had been captured by the natives and was being held prisoner at the top of an ancient Mayan pyramid with her press agent. The latter is asleep in their hiding place. Frank and Janice are discussing their situation.

Chapter 29 THE RAID

"I HAD hoped," Frank explained, "to make friends with the natives and get information through them. The chicleiros, the men who gather chewing-gum sap, cover this country rather thoroughly, and see some strange things. I thought, perhaps, to learn enough through them to give me a clue to the spot where Langton had crashed. If he fell here they would surely know."

He shrugged his shoulders, and continued:

"There's not a chance getting anything from these buzzards, however. Nothing short of a squad of men with machine-guns could make any impression. If I get out of this alive, I'm coming back, no foolin'."

"He interrupted himself to smile. 'I mean when we get out of here.' Janice shook her head. Her eyes glowed and her chin was firm, but there was a hint of discouragement in her voice as she spoke.

"They're terrible. They're cruel. You should have seen—" She suppressed a small shiver. "When they appeared from the jungle, they stood calmly and shot our men down like flies. . . ."

"We left Merida, Mr. Greene, Hogarth our director, and Wallace and Bill Jaehne, the two cameramen. Ortega guided us. We had eight natives to do the work, and take care of the burros that carried our costumes and film and stuff. We didn't need many props as we were only going to take long shots here, and some authentic jungle footage with native types.

"We trusted Ortega. He said McGrath, who was our production man, had gone ahead to prepare quarters for us. He—"

"I know about that. Tell you later. What happened?"

"We came into one of those open meadows, savannahs I think they're called. Without any warning we were surrounded by these people and they began shooting. It was just at the edge of these ruins, on the other side.

"I think Hogarth and the two cameramen were killed instantly. They were almost blown off their burros. Mr. Greene's burro ran away and threw him. At first they thought he was dead, but found he wasn't. They were going to shoot him then, but they decided to take him in with me, alive.

"As we left that spot, I could hear an occasional shot. I think they were shooting our poor Mexicans."

"What of Ortega?" asked Grahame, already knowing the answer.

"That beast! He was smoking a cigaret when we came into the clearing. He was smoking the same cigaret when we left. He watched everything with those muddy eyes of his, sitting quietly on his burro, and smiling a little. I think he would have helped the attackers if his arm hadn't been wounded."

"Ah," breathed Grahame. "I gave him that. A pity I didn't hold more to center."

He answered her question by telling her of his trip with Ortega and their parting. He spoke of the boy Juan who had traveled with him to the spot, and of their meeting with McGrath.

"He was bush-whacked, the same as your party was. It seems to be a custom of the country. As far as I can make out, these people are living in this old city like a race of human spiders, luring people in here for robbery and—"

He broke off to stare at the floor. "But why didn't they kill me, then? They took the jewels I carried around my neck in a chamois bag, but they seemed—"

Her eyes widened as if with a sudden thought. Her teeth caught at her lower lip, and she drew a deep breath. She essayed a pale smile. Her hand reached toward Grahame until the fingers rested upon his arm.

"But we'll get out of here, won't we? I'm not a bit worried, really, Frank."

tened against his ear drums with a noise that was painful.

Grahame felt a shock against his back, and was flung sideways. The stone wall spun weirdly about him. His automatic thudded toward the entrance through which semi-naked figures poured. His shooting arm was numb. Vaguely, through his dizziness, he realized that he was firing with his left hand.

He was on his back. Above him was the roof-ceiling. He saw a man's naked legs dangling above him, and the heads of other men outlined against the sky. He fired upward. A body crashed upon him. He heard Janice scream, "Frank! Frank!" Dully he saw her striking a savage face with a stone. An object blanced against his head, and he plunged through a flare of light into darkness.

FRANK first became conscious of two major pains, and several minor ones that were mere discomforts by comparison.

His right shoulder, below his neck throbbled poignantly, and there was a great ache in his head that seemed to be intensified rather than lessened by the cool moistness upon his forehead. A drop trickled down the side of his nose into the corner of his mouth. He licked at it thirstily with parched tongue.

"Oho!" exclaimed a voice at this ear. "The Governor of South Carolina has a thirst." He felt a cup at his lips and he drank greedily.

"Hullo, Greene," he said thickly, opening his eyes. Pain stabbed at his shoulder and head as he struggled to a sitting position.

"Take it easy, fella," cautioned the other. "You've had a nasty whack on the old head, and your shoulder isn't the most pleasant thing I ever looked at."

"Where's Janice? What happened?"

"She's in the building here, somewhere. A fine hiding place you picked out. They carried us from there tied up like three Christmas packages. As a matter of fact you looked like something that wouldn't be opened 'til Christmas and a long time after."

"They shot you from the hole in the roof. Square bunch of guys. Shot you square in the back. Made a nice long trench from your shoulder to the small of your back, up high. Luckily, God gave you a shoulder blade. However, bullet's out, and you're doing as nicely as a young mother."

Mr. Greene grinned. His countenance was streaked with dirt and one eye was blue-black with puffiness. He looked, thought Grahame, like a man who had taken a considerable mauling. He glanced at the smaller man's hands. About the knuckles, they were caked with dried blood and dirt.

"You haven't a smoke about you, have you, Grahame? No? They cleaned me too. Have another drink."

Grahame reached for the extend cup, and paused as he saw Mr. Greene avert his eyes.

"Say," he demanded with quick suspicion, "have one yourself. This one's on me."

"Not thirsty," said Greene. "Had plenty before you woke up."

"You're a liar, charged Grahame. "Who, me?" Greene's voice was filled with injury. "That's a hell of a name to call a man. Certainly is." He moistened his lips stickily.

Grahame reached for the water jar. He winced with the pain the movement caused him. He glanced within and saw that only a cupful remained. The sides of the jar were moist an inch above the water level and he was convinced that Greene had given him everything the urn had contained. He had been about to give him the remainder.

He pointed at the cup that Greene held half extended toward him. "Drink it yourself," he said.

Greene shook his head. "Drink it, you little squirt, or I'll dump it on the floor."

Greene sighed, and put it to his lips.

"Now what?" he asked, wiping his mouth.

"Do you know where we are?"

"In a long stone building, just a little away from the pyramid. Looks like a barracks, but it's probably the jail. Janice's here, too. She called to me a little while ago and I yelled back that you were O. K."

"She asked about me?" Grahame was curious.

"And nobody else." Mr. Greene's eye bore a twinkle.

Grahame arose and walked stiffly about their prison. It was not unlike the conventional prison cell, but larger. There were several stone benches arranged against the walls.

Air-Sea Signal Light On Azores
Horta, Island of Fayal.—(AP)—In preparation for the day when trans-Atlantic aircraft will take the route via the Azores, a new lighthouse at Angra do Heroismo, island of Terceira, started flashing its light both to sea and air on February 1. The Azores hope to become a junction point for east-west and north-south traffic.

GERMAN REFUGEE INFUX
FILL PARIS APARTMENTS

Paris.—(AP)—German refugees numbering 12,000, have caused an apartment shortage in Paris. The number of self-exiled Germans in the French capital is the estimate of delighted rental agents.

Fugitives from the Hitler regime have virtually cleared the market of vacant apartments, the agents say. They have been able to obtain favorable rates, landlords add, because they brought their wealth with them and paid a year in advance.

Hotels of the Champs Elysees section, formerly half-empty because of the tourist slum, also are enjoying good times again.

New Rifle Bullet Increases Speed

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)
Bridgeport, Conn.—(AP)—Ballistic experts here have a new, square-headed projectile which goes contrary to the accepted laws of stream-lining.

It is a rifle bullet which can be speeded up by 120 miles an hour—200 feet a second—through use of its extra resistance to the air. It is in exception, moreover, that is expected by ballistic men to prove the rule that top speeds lie in streamlines.

The bullet is lead, .22 caliber, and saved off across the tip. But the tip is not an entirely flat plane. Stuck on its surface, like a sealing wax stamp, is a small circular plateau of lead, a low projection called the tip.

May Be Made Speedier
The experts think this projection has something to do with the speed of the bullet. It may be a partial stream-lining, they say, and if it is they expect some day to be able to round it up into the conventional blunt form to secure possibly more speed.

The extra velocity of the new bullet comes from the use of more powder, and the fact that it maintains its accuracy when fired with the extra charge. The conventional shape of bullet would take the higher speed, but would lose accuracy. The flat top adds accuracy and hitting power. In increased hitting power the tiny, flat surface is said to be equivalent to slapping water with the open hand instead of poking a finger into the liquid.

The bodies of game animals, being largely water, are hit with such extra force as to knock them over. The ordinary .22 bullet frequently pierces an animal completely without stopping its flight.

Drills a Clean Hole

This caliber is used more for target practice than for hunting, and the flat nose makes a perfect, round hole in target paper. When two conical .22 bullets strike within a fraction of an inch in the same spot in the bull's eye, even the experts have difficulty in deciding whether there were one or two hits.

To flat tops leave no chance for uncertainty, for their spin makes a precise cutting edge of the blunt end and drills a perfect sphere. Not only in paper but in anything this bullet is capable of piercing its entering hole is round and clean.

Australia Makes Coal Gasoline
Canberra.—(AP)—Government figures indicate that Australia is producing motor fuel from coal at the rate of nearly 3,000,000 gallons a year.

The green Vietrix which has been used in making the state club uniform for the past two years is "out of stock" this season. Another material will be selected soon. This necessarily delays the making of our club dresses. You may do either two things: wait until we get the club material or use any pattern you want and any cotton material. Remember to cut your dress as directed in club in January—and use your best workmanship. All dresses will be judged to decide which one is best.

4-H Council.
The 4-H Council met Saturday afternoon with the Winterville club officers in charge of the program.

Home Demonstration Clubs.
Red Oak: The Red Oak Club met with Mrs. N. O. Hodges Wednesday afternoon. Hostesses were Mrs. Hodges, Miss Ella May, Mrs. C. W. Bright, and Mrs. Hazard May. Roll call was answered by "What I have done" to be less tired. Typical responses were "I have a new electric iron," "I have a new gasoline iron—new linoleum," "I made some racks for the children's clothes," "I had a sink installed in the kitchen," "my ironing board was too low and I raised it," "I raised the height of my wash bench." This club will present a three-act comedy in the near future. As they have no stage to play on, they will accept invitations to other communities.

Stokes: The Stokes club met Thursday afternoon with 18 women present. Responses to roll call were similar to those of Red Oak. This is an opportune time for the kitchen—as there is a little more money than has been in the past few years—and with the reduction of tobacco acreage there will be a little more time to give to the home. Mrs. Mooreing and Mrs. Conleton were club hostesses.

Recipes For Cook Book.
Recipes for a home demonstration cook book are being collected. Each club member is asked to submit her favorite.

Granges In Action.
The eyes of Pitt County Granges are in Bel Air—the first to give a three-act play. See them next Friday night. ## Double Spy Ring Trails Stir Finland

Helsingfors. (AP)—Public attention is gripped in Finland by expected sensational cases which soon are to bring before the high court. Abo in secret trial some thirty alleged members of the two spy rings.

The political police charged that the groups were independent of each other but that both were directed by Soviet agents and that the threads lead to the United States and to France.

Arvid Jacobson, 27, who used to teach in the high school at Northville, Mich., and a mysterious brunette who is purportedly the leader, are the central figures in the first group charged by the authorities with stealing military and naval secrets. Conviction would bring a maximum penalty of six years' imprisonment.

The police claim that Jacobson has confessed but his explanation that he was trapped into becoming a member of the spy ring and kept there by threats against his family.

Finland Officer Poisoned.
Mrs. Jacobson, arrested with her husband, was absolved of complicity after three weeks' investigation. She has returned to her home in South Range, a mining community in the Michigan "copper country."

The second case involves the fatal poisoning of Lieutenant Colonel Walter Asplund, head of an army munitions depot in Lappe, Jenny Antilla, a twenty-year-old maid in his home, is said to have told the police that she administered the lethal drug at the orders of a man identified by the police only as "a widely known Soviet agent." This man got Jenny her place, but is said to have fled to Switzerland.

The revelations began in October after Lieutenant Vilho Penttinen, a photographer on the general staff of the army, disappeared with many secret photographs, maps of fortifications, specifications for arms and munitions and other documents.

Confession Starts Round-Up.
Shortly afterwards Einar Vaha of Helsingfors, was arrested and the round-up of more than two dozen others followed. The political police say Vaha confessed and named Jacobson as chief aide of "Mrs. Mary Louise Martin," the slender brunette in the case.

Jacobson and his wife were taken on October 19th and "Mrs. Martin" two days later. The woman had a Canadian passport made out in that name, but the authorities state she may describe her as 37 years old, tall, slender, attractive and with a fluent command of Russian.

She denies that she is a spy, but the authorities assert several other prisoners besides Vaha and Jacobson have implicated her. They say, too, that they have traced her to an acquaintanceship with Mme. Lydia Stahl, one of the persons arrested in Paris in fall of 1932 which involved Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Switz, of East Orange, N. J., in espionage charges.

The police searched Jacobson's apartment here twice. The first was fruitless, but on the second occasion they say they found a secret panel in a coat rack which contained secret papers and two keys. Other documents and another key were found in "Mrs. Martin's" apartment.

Keys Opens Third Flat.
The police claim these keys fitted the locks on a third apartment in an obscure section of Helsingfors. This was leased by a young Finnish woman teacher who also is said to have known Mme. Stahl. The apartment is supposed to have been the secret meeting place of the ring.

The authorities say Jacobson told them he used to be a Communist in Detroit, that he gave up this activity when he got the Northville position and that he came to Finland because of an offer of living expenses for himself and wife and tuition at the University of Helsingfors, where he hoped to obtain a degree in high-

College Girls To Play Two Games Here Next Week

The girls' basketball team of East Carolina Teachers College, has a difficult schedule for next week. It plays Wingate College on Tuesday night and Chowan College on Wednesday night.

Wingate College has one of the strongest girls' teams in the state. It has won more than a dozen games against the best girls' teams in North Carolina, including Appalachian Teachers College. Its only defeat was by the local girls on the Wingate court, a defeat that may have been due to over-confidence or to an off-form night. Certainly, Wingate will put up a strong fight here.

Chowan College girls have played basketball for a number of years, and have a fine reputation. They, too, will furnish strong opposition for the local team.

Two of the local girls are out at present. Ann Askew, former star of Greenville High, has been out for some time because of illness. Louise Register, a fine forward, was injured in the game with Rocky Mount Y. W. C. A. It is hoped that both will be able to play part of the games against Wingate and Chowan. However, neither will likely be able to play a whole game. The rest of the girls are in good condition and anxious to play.

Both games will be played in the campus building at 8 p. m.

FARM CREDIT CORP. READY TO FUNCTION HERE

(Continued on page four) The length of time required for growing and marketing the crops or livestock which the loan is made to produce. Loans for crop production will usually mature in less than a year, although loans such as those on dairy and breeding cattle may run longer—up to eighteen months.

Applications for these short-term loans are handled in this territory by J. C. Galloway.

Applications will be acted upon quickly when they give a clear financial statement of the applicant's farming condition, listing all assets and liabilities, and estimating net worth. The applicant should name specifically the farming assets offered as security for the loan, and give a plan, or budget, showing how he is going to use the loan applied for and how he is going to repay it.

Primary security for production loans consists of livestock, farming equipment, growing crops, or other personal property most appropriate to secure the loans adequately and make up a chattel mortgage. It is not intended that loans shall be secured primarily by mortgages on real estate. Where this type of security is taken it will be regarded as additional collateral.

The minimum loan is $50 and no loans may exceed 20 per cent of the authorized capital of the association. The amount of the loan should correspond with the actual need for credit. Perhaps more farmers have become heavily involved in debt because of too much credit than because of the lack of it. Loans from production credit associations will only be made as needed, and proper precautions will be taken to prevent over-extension of credit, so that farmers will not have to pay unnecessary indebtedness with resulting interest.

After a farmer's application is received his financial statement is checked and the property offered as security for the loan personally inspected by a loan inspector of the association. The minimum charge for inspection is $2.00. Regulations about inspection charges and collection may be changed as required by the production credit association. Usually no charge will be made for inspection if the loan is not granted.

If the report of the inspector is satisfactory and the loans is approved by the loan committee of the association, the farmer's note is endorsed in the name of the association, and sent, along with his credit statement and chattel mortgage, to the intermediate credit bank of Columbia. If the bank approves the credit statement and the security, it makes funds available to the association, and the association sends a check to the borrower immediately.

Each association is capitalized according to the credit needs of the territory it will serve. Most of the capital stock is purchased by the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia, and this enables the association to begin making loans immediately. Funds derived from the sale of stock to the corporation are used by the local association to purchase high grade collateral, chiefly government bonds, which are placed with the intermediate credit bank to establish a line of credit that is to get the bank to discount, or lend money on, the notes of farmers which the association has endorsed. Ordinarily the bank will discount well-secured farmers' notes up to five times an association's capital. In this way an association may get all the credit it needs.

The authorized capital stock of the Greenville Production Credit Association is $880,000. Of this amount the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia will pay in, as needed, about $50,000, making possible a maximum total of loans of $250,000 through loans and discounts with the intermediate credit bank.

Actually the Production Credit Corporation owns three-fourths of the capital stock of an association. The farmers who borrow from it own most of the remaining portion, each borrower being required to own 5 per cent of the amount of his loan in voting stock in the association.

A farmer who gets a loan from the association does not have to advance any money to pay for his stock as the purchase price may be included in the loan, one $5 share being pur-

Sundown Stories

Top Notch Cackles

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER "I know what's going on in the world," Top Notch told Willy Nilly. "The last time I went visiting the barnyard—just before I met that awful Owl on the way home—I heard them say that the children had come back from a visit to a big town where they wouldn't let people go forward on a red signal.

There was a green signal. We haven't much traffic in Puddle Muddle, but I thought we'd be very orderly if we had rules like that. So I've half a mind to arrest you, Willy Nilly, and you, Rip, for not obeying when I held up the red berries.
