PRESIDENT APPROVES PLAN FOR NEW BANK ORDER

STRONGER DEFENSE IN THE AIR DISCUSSED

GOVERNMENT BOUNTY FOR PROJECT SEEN

Comptroller Working Out Plans to Cut Down Excessive Profits on Army-Navy Planes; Brown Says the Charges Against Him Without Justification.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—(AP)—A direct Federal bounty for aviation replacing air mail contracts was receiving strong administration talk today.

An idea behind that undisputed bounty would be to build up a strong aerial defense in case of war. Another disclosure sure today was that Comptroller General McCarl, watchdog of the Federal expenses, is shaping the stop gap against excessive profits on Army-Navy plane contracts. This move is at congressional request. Whatever the new Federal plan, it appeared that the air mail plan is far from over.

Walter Brown, Hoover Postmaster General, said that charges of conspiracy and illegal acts by his administration as put forward by his successor were lacking in "justification." Vowing immunity, Brown arranged to tell the Senate air-mail investigation committee on Monday of his version of the tangle.

NO APPEAL IN GREEN'S CASE

Warden of State Prison Makes Inquiry in Pending Execution of Pitt Negro.

Did Jim Green, Pitt County negro sentenced to the electric chair here two weeks ago on a charge of criminally attacking a young white girl, file notice of appeal to Supreme Court?

This is the question which Warden Honeycutt, of State's Prison, wants to be certain of before he goes about Green in proper spiritual condition for his execution set for April 25.

The inquiry was made in a letter recited this morning by Mr. Harrington who immediately wrote the State prison warden that Green did not signify the slightest intention of an appeal. In fact, he didn't have anything to say about his case except that he wanted his body shipped back to Pitt county for burial.

Sheriff's officers who accompanied Green to prison said he confessed the criminal attack a second time to them. The first confession was made in the presence of Sheriff Whitehurst shortly after his arrest.

"You can't blame Warden Honeycutt for wanting to be sure of himself in this case," Mr. Harrington said, "because a human life is involved—and human life is precious."

He said there had been an indication of an appeal the fact would have been transcribed on the commitment papers sent to Raleigh along with Green.

Green is scheduled to die between the hours of 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. He attacked the young woman after beating her escort into unconsciousness and taking his automobile.

FATHER HELD IN DEATH SON

Charles Backus Hurlburt Sick Youth in Ice-Bound River in Illinois.

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Charles Backus, middle-aged vegetable peddler, stood near the ice-covered river here and pointed to a hole in the ice and told police "I put it there; I was scared."

It was the body of his eight-year-old son, Charles, Jr., who had been missing eight days.

The father had persisted in denying knowledge of his son's whereabouts last night. After long questioning he said, to Joe Banks of the State highway patrol: "All right I'll show you where it is."

Then followed the trip to the river where the peddler pointed out the air-hole into which he told police he had dumped the boy's body.

Backus told police he had repudiated his son when the boy came home from school a week ago Wednesday. "The boy appeared ill," the peddler said.

"I struck him and he became unconscious. (We), presumably meaning members of the family, carried him to bed and rubbed him, and I thought he died of poison candy. I took his body and loaded it on a truck and went to the foot of Clifford Street and found an air hole. I stuffed the body into that."

SEE COMPROMISE IN NEW BERN LABOR FIGHT

New Bern, N. C., Feb. 16.—A compromise in the local labor situation on the new postoffice here is in sight, according to word received here from Charles L. Abernethy, Jr., acting for his father, Representative Abernethy, who reports that an effort is being made to have a special ruling made by the Labor Department to give preference to local workers over the union workers from outside the county, since this is non-union territory.

Should this proposal fail, with the Federal authorities refusing to change their present ruling which allows a union company to hire union men from outside when they cannot obtain skilled union men locally, then the local men will be formed into a temporary union, it is planned by Mr. Abernethy. Thomas A. Lane, union representative, and J. T. Briscoe, of Washington, will be here Monday to offer to help organize the local laborers.

AYERS GIVES UP APPEAL TO HIGHER COURT

Will Begin Serving 25 to 30 Years in Prison in Connection With Cox Murder.

Heber Ayers, young white man of this community, convicted of second degree murder in criminal court here about two weeks ago in connection with the mysterious slaying of Floyd Cox, on the old Stokes road in Guilford, abandoned his appeal to the Supreme Court here yesterday. It was reported this morning from the office of J. P. Harrington, Clerk of Superior Court.

Mr. Harrington said he was informed by attorneys for Ayers, S. J. Everett, of Greenville, and Judge Calvin Smith of Robersonville, that they would not seek a new trial, and that Ayers would go to State's Prison to serve a sentence of from 25 to 30 years at hard labor imposed by Judge Frank Daniels following the long-drawn out trial here.

Ayers, who has been held in the county jail here since his conviction awaiting perfecting of his appeal, was to be transferred to the State penitentiary probably today to begin serving his term. Clerk Harrington said he would issue commitment papers this morning.

Cox's body was found near the old Stokes road early one morning in December with a bullet wound in his head and one near the heart. He was believed to have had a considerable sum of money when he was last seen at the filling station where he was employed the night before but only a small amount of change was found at the scene of the slaying.

Ayers who was said to have been at the filling station until a late hour was taken into custody after officers found a pistol under his bed containing bullets similar to those which killed Cox. Sheriff Whitehurst said footprints at the scene of the murder corresponded with those of the prisoner.

A ballistic expert from Washington testified at the trial that the bullets taken from Cox's body positively were fired from the gun found in Ayers' possession.

Although tried on a charge of first degree murder, the jury found the defendant guilty of second degree murder. The presiding judge told them they could find him innocent or guilty either of first or second degree murder.

FIRE PROBE UNDER WAY

Blaze on Heber Whichard Farm Last Night Believed of Incendiary Origin

County officers, under the direction of Sheriff Sam Whitehurst, today were investigating the burning of a woodhouse and shelter at the home of Heber Whichard, near Stokes, where several weeks ago a negro house was destroyed by fire with the loss of three lives.

The blaze last night, which entailed a loss of $300 or more was believed to be of incendiary origin.

The burned structures were located a short distance from the dwelling house occupied by the Whichard family, but the blaze was controlled by the efforts of the family and neighbors, and other buildings were not damaged.

Sheriff Whitehurst said that while it was believed the fire was of an incendiary nature, they had found no clues upon which to base their investigation. However, the probe will continue, he said, in the hope that some clue may be obtained.

Damage exceeding $2,000,000 was done to pasture and timber lands in Mississippi by forest fires last year, J. C. Holt, State Commissioner of Agriculture, estimates.

FRANCE TELLS HITLER WHERE TO 'HEAD IN'

Doumergue Government Openly Charges Germany With Re-arming

Paris, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Premier Gaston Doumergue armed with the big stick of popular support, in France showed a firm hand to Germany today.

His new ministry, with its eyes fixed on Austria's troubles, openly charged Chancellor Hitler with having re-armed Germany.

"Hence," said a note to Berlin, drafted as one of the cabinet's first acts, "further Franco-German talks on Germany are useless."

In the Doumergue government's first encounter with Parliament it won the almost unprecedented support of 193 of the 595 deputies. This it was recalled was a bigger margin than was accorded the beloved Raymond Poincare, the savior of the franc in 1926.

DEATH CLAIMS DR. HARRELL IN GRIMESLAND

Popular Physician Succumbs to Stroke of Apoplexy at his Office Yesterday.

A stroke of apoplexy yesterday afternoon claimed the life of Dr. George Norfleet Harrell, fifty, prominent Grimesland physician. Dr. Harrell was found dead in his office about 2 o'clock, and a coroner's examination shortly afterward disclosed that death was due to apoplexy. He apparently had been in good health and news of his death was received with pronounced shock and sorrow throughout the community.

Funeral services were conducted from his home at Grimesland this afternoon at 1 o'clock by Rev. Richard Bagby, pastor of the Washington Christian Church and burial took place in the cemetery at Hamilton.

Dr. Harrell, graduate of the University of North Carolina and the Richmond Medical College, moved from Hamilton to Grimesland about two years ago, and since that time had served as practicing physician in the community. He was very popular among a wide circle of friends and enjoyed an extensive clientele through that section of the county.

He had been in active practice for twenty-five years at Murfreesboro, Hamilton and Grimesland. He was a member of the Baptist Church of Murfreesboro and showed much interest in development of the work of the denomination. He was also a member of the Scottish Rite Masons.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Catherine Everett, of Hamilton; one daughter by a former marriage, Miss Fannie Brown Harrell, of Murfreesboro; one sister, Mrs. Parker, of Potocasi, N. C.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. at the home of the deceased.

RAIL CHIEFS TALK PAY CUT

Appeal From White House That Present Pay be Continued Considered

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16.—(AP)—White House plea that railroad wages be continued without further reduction will receive consideration by rail chiefs.

Railway executives gathered in Chicago let it be known today that Mr. Roosevelt's proposal would be placed for decision alongside one of their own—a 15 per cent cut in the basic pay rate effective July 1.

GIRL BADLY WOUNDED BY INFURATED MAN

Shelby, N. C., Feb. 16.—Infuriated when his offer of a ride in his car was repulsed by Florence Jones, 23-year-old mill worker, Louis Sentell, 50, and father of several children, fired a shotgun twice into a bevy of four girls here at noon today and on the second shot seriously wounded Miss Jones. Another girl, Emily Drake, was slightly wounded. Sentell pursued the girls into their yard and was attempting to beat Miss Jones with the gun when Mrs. Joe Williams, middle-aged boarding house-keeper, leaped from the front porch and grappled with him. He then fled in his car, a 1927 model Chevrolet coach, and was last seen in Forest City, with sheriff and police hot on his trail.

Miss Jones is in the Shelby hospital, her condition critical. Sentell borrowed the shotgun this morning ostensibly to go hunting, and worked all the morning at his loom in the Byrum Hosiery Mill. He is said to have been repulsed by Miss Jones before.

GUERRILLA WAR IS COMMENCED IN AUSTRIA

Socialists Begin New Type of Campaign against Government Troops.

(By The Associated Press)
Wholesale fighting was at an end in strife-torn Austria today, but the tenacious Socialists began a campaign of guerrilla warfare against the Fascist home guards, backbone of government support.

Reports were circulated that Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, gamecock of European politics, had been the subject of an assassination attempt along with Vice Chancellor Emil Fey and Prince Ernst von Starnberg, home guard leaders. The rumors were unverified. Socialists called for acts of sabotage.

Other European nations closely scanned the Austria situation which they considered fraught with danger to European tranquility, especially should the Nazis gain control.

To avoid this, France and Czechoslovakia decided to give the Dollfuss government non-military aid.

Reports were current in Rome that Italy might demand a probe by the League of Nations of published charges that Czechoslovakian supported the Socialist uprising by shipping arms and munitions into Austria.

First attacks on Czechoslovakia, the foreign office admitted, represented the Italian government view. Dr. Edouard Benes, Czechoslovakian foreign minister, issued a statement in Paris that this government had supported the Socialist outbreak in any fashion.

The charges, he told The Associated Press, are absolutely without foundation.

ALL FEDERAL AGENCIES AID THE NEW PLAN

Officials also Looking to Amendment Of Banking Laws; Hope to Lift Some of the Restrictions Bankers Say are Placed on Capital Quotations; Decision on New Move Pending.

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A radically different banking order for the period of the economic emergency would be set up under a plan tentatively approved today by President Roosevelt.

The plan means the shifting of the load of capital financing from the banks to ex-holders especially created for the purpose.

At Mr. Roosevelt's word the Federal Reserve Board is preparing legislation for the chain of banks organized to make loans to little industries.

Other agencies are co-operating, including the treasury, N. R. A. and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

And if some officials have their way the securities act and 1933 banking laws will be somewhat amended to lift restrictions bankers said their statute places on capital quotations.

These banks would be somewhat analogous to the intermediate credit banks that lend to farm co-operatives, but no decision has been reached whether the capital should be subscribed by the government as in the case of farm banks or privately.

COTTON DRIVE CLOSES HERE

Farm Department Is Well Pleased With Effort to Reduce the Acreage in Pitt.

The cotton acreage reduction campaign came to a close here tonight and reports from the office of E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Farm Department, showed that around 1,200 contracts had been received.

The farm director said he expected more contracts, none in the hands of committees in various parts of the county, will reach his office sometime today, swelling the total to near 1,500 mark.

The farm head said he was well pleased with the success of the campaign and the splendid response made by growers in all parts of the county. He also expressed appreciation of the fine work done by the committeemen in assisting growers in signing the contracts.

The campaign is an effort on the part of the government to reduce cotton acreages next year and thereby to relieve the over-crowded condition of the world market. This, it was believed, will stimulate prices and bring greater returns to the growers.

Pitt County farmers have rallied both the tobacco and cotton reduction campaigns in a splendid way. The county was one of the first to go over the top in the government's effort to reduce tobacco acreage, and was not far behind in the cotton movement.

NO TIME TO STOP

Certainly it is to be hoped that the CWA work will not be discontinued until projects now under way are completed. Not only are there still great numbers of workers in this community that need the work as a means of a livelihood, and for whom there is no private employment at this time, but some of the projects are of such a nature that to remain uncompleted will render them practically worthless. Then there are other projects for which thousands of dollars worth of material has already been purchased. To be sure those in charge of the CWA will see to it that such projects are carried to completion before the workers are demobilized. Other wise those who wish to criticize the CWA as a wasteful procedure will find some grounds upon which to base their criticism.

GOOD BUSINESS

Merchants taking part in Dollar Day here yesterday report good business, which goes to show that if you have real values to offer and tell the folks about it they buy. Whether it is a special sales event or the regular everyday sales message you want to put over, Mr. Merchant, the best way to do it is to tell the buyers about it through the columns of your newspaper.

If your business is not up to par maybe one of the reasons is that you are not going after business as you should. A consistent and well arranged advertising campaign is the best method of keeping your name before the public and creating the desire to purchase the merchandise that you have to offer.

By HERBERT PLUMMER Washington, D. C.—One of the favorite diversions in Washington, after Congress has rocked along for a month or so, is to start guessing and predicting when the session will close. This year has been no exception. Speaker Rainey blandly tells newspapermen that by April 1 the House will be through and "the boys" will be able to go home and start campaigning. Over on the Senate side rumors fly that the leaders have set

BLOND GODDESS A New Serial by Herbert Jensen

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame, the explorer, with the movie star, Janice Kent, and her press agent, Dorothy Greene, are led out to be married to a beautiful girl, Juan Pineda, who has been caught by the imaginary adventures after he has slipped away from his wife and friends, and not going into an airplane crash, also is to be married to the same girl in the interior of Yucatan. Janice looks as fresh as if she were in Hollywood.

Chapter 34

JUAN'S REVENGE

IT MADE Grahame feel clumsy and uncomfortably unwashed. He passed his hand over the stubble of beard on his cheek; he ran his fingers through his hair in an unconscious attempt to tidy himself. The girl smiled. "They left me my compact," she said, still smiling. Grahame chuckled, then abruptly his expression sobered. "Have they told you..." While her smile was fixed, he noticed the clear blue of her eyes darkened.

"Yes," she said quietly. "I know. Is there any hope at all?" The guards seemed very still. Although they were speaking in English he observed that some were pressing close, as if listening. Grahame's glance met the girl's levelly.

A drum began a sullen thumping.

"None," he said distinctly. She drew a breath, fluttering. Her shoulders straightened, and her chin lifted. Then suddenly, as if by impulse her hand reached out and patted Grahame's wrist. "Thank you, Frank," she said. "You came into this for me, didn't you? I can't say anything—" The activity of her guards interrupted her. They were hedged through the doorway and into the early sunlight.

Grahame blinked his eyes at the shimmering glare. A few hundred yards to the left the serrated sides of the great pyramid slanted upward toward the temple-house. In the quiet air above, a column of smoke streamed straightly upward, then flattened as it touched some new atmospheric stratum.

Crowds of people clung to the sides of the huge monument and were gathered about its base. As they pressed through the lanes made by their guards, they saw that the concourse was composed of both sexes, men in their breech-clouts and sandals, the women in their long cotton robes.

Some of the women carried young children upon their hips, holding older ones, solemn eyed little people, by the hand. A gala day for them, thought Grahame bitterly, like the Roman shows of old in the coliseums when men were caused to flounder in their own blood, for the glorification of a Caesar.

It was age-old, this business; it was only the conditions that varied.

THEY mounted the eastern steps. This side was clear of people, whether because of official mandate, or because the show would be more interesting on the side facing the pool of the cenote; at any rate, Grahame made a mental note of the fact.

As they topped the last of the steps he looked backward and toward the central space within the city. There, almost hidden by the long morning shadow cast by a distant building was the airplane. It caught some of the sun's rays on its metal wings.

To Grahame, from the height at which he stood, it appeared like a tiny dragon-fly resting upon a distant stone. He felt the skin of his back crawl with anticipation. His thoughts skipped again to the possibilities of his getting to it, and the probable chances of his taking off successfully.

Had the tires held their inflation? The stuff poor Juan had poured into the tank might not have been high-test gasoline. Perhaps Langton had left enough in the carburetor to rev up the motor until its heat would make an inferior grade good fuel.

A cloud of incense wreathed about the heads as they were taken around the temple-house to the altar slab. It made Janet cough. It smelled like burning paint, with an under-odor that was like rank tobacco.

They turned the corner of the house. Facing them, held by two armed natives, was Juan. The lad's face was pale. About his head was swathed a cloth, stained with dirt and blood.

His eyes however, flashed with anger and defiance; they glittered like fresh-chipped obsidian. The lips beneath his aquiline nose were a thin line of defiance. As he saw Grahame they relaxed in a smile.

"BUENOS dias, Senor," he greeted. His lips parted. The rough palm of a guard smote the words back into his teeth. Juan's jet eyes brightened. He still smiled, although a thin line of blood welled at the corner of his mouth and spread downward over his chin. "Goat!" The boy's eyes burned into those of the guard. The man's glance fell, and he attempted no repetition of the blow. "Senor," he continued in his liquid Spanish, as if there had been no interruption, "I have had been no happier. I told them, when I was taken, of the sympathetic assistance that Don Raoul Ortega gave us. How he helped me hide, and made it possible for you to effect the escape of—" "He lies!" From the entrance of the temple-house, Ortega came. His hands were bound behind him, and two guards held him by the elbows. His, apparently was a pitiful plight. The man's lips were flaccid with panic; coherence was lost in the jumbled sentences that tumbled from them. "He lies! The boy lies! I tell you I am your friend. There is a mistake. I brought these people here for you. I have been your friend for years..." One of his guards struck him across the face. A drum began a flat, sullen thumping from within the temple. A figure suddenly appeared at the temple entrance. Grahame recognized the dark face of the ahkin although the figure was strangely changed. The ahkin left the sacrificial stone, and approached Ortega. He held his hand above the Mexican's head, and released a small shower of feathers upon him. The big man winced as the downy particles touched him—quite as if they burned his skin. The priest drew his knife and held it over the stone. It happened suddenly. There were no preliminaries. Fresh smoke flowed from the temple door. Grahame heard a scuffling, and an agonized cry that broke in a squeal. He saw the bulk of Ortega stretched across the altar stone. The white tunic had been ripped from his breast, which gleamed upward.

Kelvinator Will Conduct Hostess School Next Week

Results of years of experiment in practical home economics and research into the problems of the modern housewife on the part of the staff of the famous Kelvin Kitchen will be made available to women of this city during the free hostess school sponsored by the Carolina Kelvinator Co., Inc., Taft Furniture Co., and Kelvinator Corporation, to be held next Tuesday, Feb. 20th, at the Greenville Woman's Club under the direction of Miss Margaret Doughty, Kelvin Kitchen trained home economist.

The Kelvin Kitchen is operated under the sponsorship of Kelvinator Corporation, which has gathered together one of the best trained and capable group of home economics experts in the country to conduct its famous research work into the problems of home management. Originally conceived as a place where new applications of electric refrigeration were to be given a trial under actual kitchen conditions, the Kelvin Kitchen has expanded its activities to a point where its staff has won national recognition as authority on all home economics branches.

In the Kelvin Kitchen all new product improvements designed by Kelvinator engineers are given the acid test of actual kitchen use. Because of this system of practical testing, the record of Kelvinator's improvements during the past number of years shows that every one has performed as well in the homes of customers as in the laboratory. Centralized in Kelvin Kitchen are the activities of scores of home economists employed by Kelvinator distributors in all parts of the country. Women in almost every important city of the country, through these Kelvin Kitchen trained women are busy throughout the year bringing the story of modern home management to thousands of housewives.

The staff of the Kelvin Kitchen itself numbers among its duties the development of new recipes for salads, desserts and other dainties. New ideas are tested many times, desserts are frozen in several different refrigerator models before they are released to the hundreds of thousands of Kelvinator owners with the kitchen's final O. K. Scientific menu planning is given considerable attention and the Kelvin Kitchen's monthly bulletin to owners contains a few examples of balanced meals with recipes for the feature dishes.

In fact the Kelvin Kitchen represents one of the most important examples of how Kelvinator Corporation retains its interest in the users of its products. One of the main duties of the distributor home economists is the keeping up of the company's contact with Kelvinator users. Visits to the homes of these owners with new information regarding desserts and meal planning, ideas on how to obtain added service from the refrigerator and similar contributions to the enjoyment of women obtain from their refrigerators have become an important phase of the activity of these field representatives of Kelvin Kitchen.

COMMUNITY SING TO BE OUTSTANDING EVENT AT COLLEGE SUNDAY

A real musical treat is in store for the people of Greenville and vicinity Sunday afternoon, Feb. 25, in the campus building of East Carolina Teachers College. The program will be a combination of concert music and community singing and is free to the public.

Several interesting features will be included in the musical. Among them will be the Wilmington male chorus, the Goldsboro male chorus, the East Carolina Teachers College glee club, and the "Rhythm in Color and Melody" by Joe Johnson. Mr. Johnson will paint the "Moonlight Sonata" by Beethoven while the pianist paints. The big feature of the entire program will be the assembly singing led by Pat Alderman.

"Music for everybody, everybody singing and everybody happy," is the slogan for this sing. Favorite hymns of yesterday and today, folk songs and ballads loved by everybody, will be sung. Song sheets will be provided so that all will have an opportunity to enjoy this feature of the program.

The Greenville Community Sing is being sponsored by the Greenville Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Woman's Club, the Junior Woman's Club, the college and the Reflector. It is one of the series of community sings being given throughout Eastern Carolina. The final sing will be held in Raleigh sometime in March, when this series will culminate in one big combined sing for North Carolina in the Memorial Auditorium.

Two of the series have already been given, one in Goldsboro and the other in Fayetteville. Last Sunday at the Carolina Theatre in Fayetteville the auditorium was crowded to capacity and a very responsive audience proclaimed it one of the best musical treats of the year.

The Greenville program will begin promptly at 3:30 in the Campus building of the college. Make your plans now to be there and come early if you want a seat. Remember it is free and promises to be one of the highlights in musical entertainment.

For the second successive years Charles Davis, University of Oklahoma tennis star, has been ranked No. 1 in Oklahoma.

Oil Official Tells of Huge Adv. Program

The trillion dollar advertising program to be put on by the Puroil Company during six months in 1934 in 1934 was explained by S. P. McConnell, vice-president of the Colonial Oil Company of Norfolk, distributors of Puroil products in East-Carolina and Virginia, to fifty or more representatives of the company attending a banquet at the Pector Hotel here last night.

The advertising program, Mr. McConnell said, will be carried on in newspapers, billboards, radio, airplanes and moving pictures in every territory served by the company. Thirty-two Eastern States will be included, he said.

Mr. McConnell showed lantern slides of all methods to be used to aid dealers in serving the millions of people in their territory, and declared every advertising idea would be employed during the campaign.

Those attending the banquet represented the Puroil Company in Martin, Edinboro and Pitt counties. The meeting was one of a series being given in this territory. George P. Rierman is local agent of the company.

SEARCH FOR TWO MEN WHO ESCAPED FROM JAIL

Laurinburg, Feb. 16.—Sheriff T. J. Hadwin and Deputy A. G. Hutto of Bamberg county, S. C., were here yesterday searching for Sidney Cohen, 23, and Joe Edward Glover, 21, who broke out of the Bamber jail while held for a hold theft of six bales of cotton at Ehrhardt, S. C.

The sheriff said the cotton was sold to Truluck and Company, Laurinburg cotton dealers.

Pitt County Man is Accepted by Navy

Jacques Putrell Edwards, son of Mrs. George N. Edwards, of Winterville, was one of the limited number of young men accepted for enlistment in the United States Navy at the recruiting station, Room 502, Wachovia Bank Building, Raleigh, N. C., during the month of February, according to an announcement made by Lieutenant Commander Robert H. Maury, U. S. Navy, officer in charge of navy recruiting for the State and South Carolina.

Edwards was transferred to the Naval Training Station, Norfolk, Va., for a eight weeks' period of intensive training in the duties and customs of Uncle Sam's men or war's men. During this period a man is instructed in seamanship, manual of arms, infantry drill, signalling and a variety of subjects to fit them for duty aboard ship.

It has been further announced by Commander Maury that applicants for enlistment are being received daily at Raleigh office, and young men who are interested in the Navy will be fully explained.

Sectional Basket Ball Tournament Set For City

Greenville High School will stage a sectional basketball tournament to be held here next week, February 23, 24 and 25. There will be teams from six counties in this section of the State competing. Games will be played both at the High School auditorium and that of East Carolina Teachers College. The college itself is not a sponsor of this tournament, but has gladly donated its services as one of the hosts to the many teams that will be here. The city of Greenville will also play host to the participants, and the many visitors that are expected to be here.

Already twenty-four teams have registered with Coach Hewlett, who is arranging for the tourney. These teams are: New Bern, Washington, Belhaven, Jamestown, Pink Hill, Pataula, Grimesland, Bethel, Chicod, Walstonburg, Stokes, Farmville, Greenville, Grifton, and Winterville. At least six more teams are expected to be here. Some of these teams named have entered both boys' and girls' teams. This means that around thirty teams will compete.

Along with teams from each town are expected large delegations of fans to witness the games. The boys' teams are entering eight players, while the girls' teams are entering ten. This means that over 250 high school players will compete in the first day of play, Friday, being the first day of play. Play will start that morning and continue all day and that night.

Saturday's games will most likely start that afternoon and play will continue that night. Saturday night's games will most likely be played at the college. The finals will be played Monday night at E. C. T. C. There will be four games for final play, as there are two divisions for both boys and girls. All high schools with over 150 enrollment will be classified in A class and those under in B.

Trophies are to be awarded to the winning teams of each division of play. An all-tournament team for both boys and girls will be chosen by a group of coaches. This tournament is the beginning of what is believed to be one of the largest sectional basketball tournaments staged in the State other than that conducted at N. C. State. Should it prove a success, then a larger one will be conducted next year. It is hoped that the people of Greenville will turn out in force to witness these games as well as display a real spirit of sportsmanship and courtesy to the visitors.

Any local merchants interested in donating one of the trophies for this tournament will please get in touch with Coach A. J. Hewlett of Greenville High School at once. These trophies will not exceed $6.00 in cost.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

Marse Joe McCarthy, whose contract as manager of the New York Yankees has two more years to run, has not had much to say this winter, but he has no doubt been doing considerable thinking while reading a few of the newspaper suggestions that Babe Ruth is or will be ambitious to replace him when his (Marse Joe's) term of office expires.

It would not be surprising, in fact, if Marse Joe had been thinking somewhat along this line (although it must be distinctly understood the words are not his but those of an observer who has known the man from Buffalo for upwards of twenty years in and out of baseball).

"Baseball is like this: you win the pennant one year, get a flock of cheers and a new contract. You are runner-up the next and who cares? Sure, I'm not making any complaints. I am in the game long enough to know how it is: I'm being treated all right by the big boss.

"But in the big leagues—or any league, for that matter—they know that well enough, from experience. I'm the only manager who has had a pennant winner in each big league but I'm not kidding myself about that, either. So what about this year. Why wouldn't it be a good idea to say nothing, saw wood and see if these Yanks can't be pulled together again for another spell on top.

"We didn't get too many good breaks last year, but maybe we did get a few the year before. That makes it our turn again. If the Babe can stick it out for at least 100 games, Lou gets the long range again, a couple of those young infielders come through and our pitchers return to their 1932 form, who's going to stop us?

"Not a bad idea, at that. It would make life easier next winter."

It's All In The Psychology
All this shatter about the new standard ball with the nice red stitching and lively cover does no harm at all, from the standpoint of major league ballyhoo, but it also gives Bill Benswanger, the Pittsburgh Pirates chief executive, much amusement.

I mentioned the subject to him during the mid-winter rally in the Big Town. He tapped his head significantly, but hesitated to add it was not because he thought anyone continued to advance today despite becoming a trifle balmy—and occasional profit talking, although explained:

"I mean it's mostly psychological day. Improved sentiment was at-

Edenton Boxers To Appear Here For Tilt Tonight

The High School boxing team will be a similar aggregation from Edenton High School in the local high school auditorium tonight. The card promises to be one of the best seen here in sometime, and in view of the fact that the sport is a recent addition to high school athletic activities, a big crowd was expected to be on hand to witness the local fighters attempt to capture first honors.

Edenton has had several meets this year, and have been quite anxious to meet Greenville. This indicates that they are confident of having a good team.

High school boxing contains all the thrills and excitement that is found in a real pro game. While the boys won't be as smart as the high-ups, they will be in there trying for a victory, which is an assurance of an evening's entertainment. Various weights that will total seven bouts will be held. The boys start as low as 90 pounds and go to 165.

Greenville's team will be chosen from the following candidates: Cox, Parrish, Siz, Eilers, Minnes, Simpson, Joe Williams, John Williams, Fleming and Cayford. Edenton's line-up is not known.

The first fight will be under way at 7:45 o'clock. The meet had been advertised to start at 7:30 o'clock, but this was an error. It will be staged in the High School auditorium.

—all this talk about whether the livelier bill will be better for the National League hitters and worse for the pitchers. If nothing at all had been said about changing the ball, and it was just tossed out to the players, in the usual way, I doubt if you would hear mention of any difference whatever.

"The world series furnished proof enough, certainly, that it's the players, not the ball, that make the difference. If there's any marked change in our league this year, from the standpoint of either batters or pitchers, I will be willing to wager it's more due to a state of mind—in other words, confidence or lack of it—and not because of the new ball itself.

Mickey Does Mathematics
Mickey Cochrane wishes his old boss, Connie Mack, lots of luck this year and all that sort of thing but the new manager of the Detroit Tigers can't see how the A's are going to figure in the American League race, minus anything resembling a replacement for his old pal, Lefty Grove.

"Here's the way to figure that situation," says Mickey. "The A's finished third last year. They won 79 games. Grove pitched 24 victories for himself and saved ten other games. That's a total of 34 games won the winning side for which he deserved all or partial credit. How are you going to replace a guy who has nearly 50 per cent of your pitching staff?"

New York Cotton

New York, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Cotton futures opted today steady, nine to sixteen points higher in response to steeper Liverpool cables and on favorable reports on the result of the acreage reduction plan.

Rallies of about twelve to sixteen points met further liquidation or profit-taking and prices reacted two to six points from early highs. May sold off from 12.37 to 12.32, and at the end of the first half hour active months were ruling about six to ten points higher. There was a fair demand for intraday and commission house sources late in the morning, but the buying was by no means aggressive while the market met considerable realizing. Very little Southern selling was reported, but prices sagged off a few points with May selling down to 12.26 and October to 12.58, or within a point or two of yesterday's closing prices. Trading was quite at midday, with the market fairly steady at two to eight points net higher.

Scientists Unearth Bones of Ancient 'Kangaroo Mouse'

Washington.—(AP)—Nature was perimentering with animals which carry their young in pouches, like kangaroos and possums, twenty to forty million years ago.

This is one conclusion drawn from the fossilized bones of an ancient forerunner of the kangaroo and possum families found in fossil beds in central Colorado. It was hardly bigger than a mouse and lived in trees, says D. C. L. Gazin of the Smithsonian Institution who described it to the Geological Society of Washington.

This tiny mammal was a member of the marsupial order, which includes all animals that carry their young in pouches, and its closest living relative in an opossum in Central and South America.

The Colorado marsupial lived at a time when camels roamed North America, along with small rhinoceroses, tiny three-toed horses, and oreodonts.

The old marsupials may have died out in North America as did these other animals which now are extinct, but the line continued in South America, possibly the place of origin of the possum, the only marsupial in North America today.

Atlanta Puzzled By Lone Buzzard On Skyscrapers
Atlanta, Ga.—(AP)—High above the roar of traffic, a lone buzzard has been frequenting the window ledges or skyscrapers in the heart of Atlanta—and getting on the nerves of office workers.

Stenographers first noticed it resting on a sill and peeping at them through a window on the thirteenth floor of a business building. It seemed droopy and despondent and sady.

Office boys tried to catch it, but it flew across the street to another skyscraper. L'wellers in a penthouse likewise were unsuccessful in efforts to snare it.

The next day the buzzard returned to the vicinity at about the same hour and its daily visits continued without interruption.

Some feared its presence might be a warning the body of a person or an animal was hidden on the roof. Search was made of the housepots but nothing could be found.

Scientists Unearth Bones of Ancient 'Kangaroo Mouse'

Washington.—(AP)—Nature was perimentering with animals which carry their young in pouches, like kangaroos and possums, twenty to forty million years ago.

This is one conclusion drawn from the fossilized bones of an ancient forerunner of the kangaroo and possum families found in fossil beds in central Colorado. It was hardly bigger than a mouse and lived in trees, says D. C. L. Gazin of the Smithsonian Institution who described it to the Geological Society of Washington.

This tiny mammal was a member of the marsupial order, which includes all animals that carry their young in pouches, and its closest living relative in an opossum in Central and South America.

The Colorado marsupial lived at a time when camels roamed North America, along with small rhinoceroses, tiny three-toed horses, and oreodonts.

The old marsupials may have died out in North America as did these other animals which now are extinct, but the line continued in South America, possibly the place of origin of the possum, the only marsupial in North America today.

Atlanta Puzzled By Lone Buzzard On Skyscrapers
Atlanta, Ga.—(AP)—High above the roar of traffic, a lone buzzard has been frequenting the window ledges or skyscrapers in the heart of Atlanta—and getting on the nerves of office workers.

Stenographers first noticed it resting on a sill and peeping at them through a window on the thirteenth floor of a business building. It seemed droopy and despondent and sady.

Office boys tried to catch it, but it flew across the street to another skyscraper. L'wellers in a penthouse likewise were unsuccessful in efforts to snare it.

The next day the buzzard returned to the vicinity at about the same hour and its daily visits continued without interruption.

Some feared its presence might be a warning the body of a person or an animal was hidden on the roof. Search was made of the housepots but nothing could be found.

To pay for their next summer vacations Boy Scouts of Antioch, Cal., were asked to collect 3,000 pounds each of waste paper.

In its first year as a seaport, due to the dredging of a deep water channel, Stockton, Cal., handled 309,262 tons of freight.
