ROOSEVELT SEEKS TO INCREASE EMPLOYMENT

Would Reduce Working Hours To Achieve End

FACES HEADS OF INDUSTRIES AT CODE MEET

Speaking in Constitution Hall, President Tells Industrial Giants it is The Task Of Industry to Employ More People at Purchasing Wages; Says Increased Employment Means Greater Distribution Of Wealth

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt presented today to the assembled NRA authorities a summons for further reduction of working hours as a means to spread employment.

“We live to industry today this challenge,” he said to the industrial leaders who confronted him in Constitution Hall.

“It is the immediate task of industry to re-employ more people at purchasing wages and to do it now.

“Only thus can we continue recovery and restore the balance we seek. It is worth while keeping in the front of our heads the thought that the people in this country whose incomes are less than $2,000 a year buy more than two-thirds of the goods sold here. It is logical that if the total amount that goes into wages to this group of human beings is steadily increased merchants, employers and investors will in the long run get more income from the increased volume of sales.

The President said that a year ago today after inauguration day the nation “was suffering and shrinking under economic pressure so terrible that collapse was at hand.”

“We had arrived at the day to make our choice. We made that choice. The American people responded to the call for action with eager enlistment—enlistment in the struggle against ruthless, self-seeking, reckless greed and economic anarchy. We undertook by lawful constitutional process to reorganize a disintegrating system of production and exchange.

The purpose of the reorganization was not only to bring back prosperity. It was far deeper than that. The reorganization must be permanent for all the rest of our lives in that never again will we commit the social condition which permitted the vast section of our population to exist in an unmerciful way which permitted a mal-distribution of wealth and power.

EXPECT DECISION IN BREVARD CASE TODAY

Hendersonville, March 4.—Judge T. B. Finley, of North Wilkesboro, who will open the March term of Hendersonville County Superior Court here tomorrow morning, is expected to announce his decision following the opening of court in the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by four Transylvania county men who are making an effort to escape prison sentences imposed for bank law violations.

Hearing on the writ of habeas corpus was held at Marion in McDowell county on February 22, after listening to arguments by attorneys for the state and the four Transylvania county men, Judge Finley informed counsel that he would announce his decision March 5.

The four men—Thomas H. Shipman, Joseph Picklesimer, C. R. McNeely and Ralph Fisher—are at liberty, pending Judge Finley's decision, under bonds of $10,000 each. The men were convicted in August 1931 of using the county's credit to bolster the tottering Brevard Bank company. They face, as a result of their conviction on these charges, prison sentences of from two to three years each.

REFUSES WRIT FOR BANKERS

Four Bankers in Transylvania Make Unsuccessful Attempt To Get Freedom

Hendersonville, March 5.—(AP)—Judge T. V. Finley today refused a writ of habeas corpus sought by four Transylvania county men seeking to avoid serving of prison terms for bank law violations and also denied a plea for liberty under bond until the decision could be taken before the State Supreme Court.

Hendersonville, March 5.—(AP)—Trans-Atlantic sailings were delayed and harbor traffic hampered by a thick fog that hung over New York yesterday.

The liner Bremen, scheduled to leave last night, was held in port for 11 hours.

The President Roosevelt, of the United States Lines, was held at quarantine for half a day, and the freighter Atenas, of the United Fruit Lines, out of Jacksonville, Fla., nosed aground in the fog on a mudbank in Ambrose Channel. The Coast Guard reported the ship was in no danger.

Commissioners Meeting Today

The monthly meeting of the Board of County Commissioners was in progress at the court house today but at the noon hour only matters of routine nature had been considered. Chairman McLawhorn is presiding over the session.

BOY STAGES HOLDUP NEAR FARMVILLE

Takes Automobile From Man at Point Of Pistol; Later Lands in Trouble

A Farmville youth who took an automobile in a holdup two miles east of Farmville early yesterday evening was behind jail bars today awaiting action by Juvenile court authorities.

The boy, Don Taylor, 14, was taken into custody by officers early today and was to be brought to Greenville this afternoon and turned over to Frank Harrington of Juvenile court.

Taylor is charged with taking the automobile of Howard Moe, who resides two miles east of Farmville, at the point of a revolver. When Moe got into his car in the front of his home last night about 7 o'clock.

As Moe entered the car, it was said that Taylor, sitting on the back seat, pointed a pistol at him and told him to drive down the road.

When they had gone probably a mile, the youth forced Moe to get out of the car and then sped away. Ill-luck overtook the youth at Ballard's Cross roads, however, when the car stopped and refused to go. Taylor was reported to have asked the assistance of persons standing in front of a filling station. Seeing that the machine was operating perfectly, one of the men suspected the car had been stolen, and told Taylor he had better stay there awhile.

The youth was alleged to have pulled his pistol, pointed it at the men, and backed away and escaped. He was captured in a tobacco barn several miles away early this morning.

The pistol was said to have been stolen from his father. Chief of Police Taylor of Farmville said this morning he planned to bring the boy to Greenville this afternoon and carry him before Juvenile court authorities. He thought because of the youth's age the case was out of the jurisdiction of the higher courts.

WILL HOLD SCHOOL FOR TAX LISTERS

Chapel Hill, March 5.—In preparation for the annual listing of real and personal property for taxation which begins in every county in the State on April 1, the tax supervisors' division of the Institute of Government will meet in Raleigh on March 14 and 15, at which time intensive discussions of the problems of tax listing and valuation will be led by Revenue Commissioner A. J. Maxwell, Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt, Assistant Attorney General A. A. F. Seawell and O. S. Thompson, secretary of the State Board of Assessment.

The meeting, which has the official sanction of the State Board of Assessment, will be devoted chiefly to discussion of problems regarding the listing of solvent credits, the constitutional exemption on home-steads, the listing of property by corporations, trustees, estates and guardians, the methods of valuing various types of personal property, and the discovery of property escaping taxation.

All discussions will be informal and questions from the floor will be permitted, at any time.

SHIPPING DELAYED BY FOG IN NEW YORK

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Trans-Atlantic sailings were delayed and harbor traffic hampered by a thick fog that hung over New York yesterday.

INSULL MUST LEAVE GREECE IMMEDIATELY

Expulsion of American Utilities Magnate Ordered by Foreign Minister

Athens, March 5.—(AP)—The Foreign Minister telephoned the American Minister to inform Washington today that he had ordered the immediate expulsion of Samuel Insull.

The Minister of the Interior, the American embassy was informed, was directed to expel the former American utilities operator from Greece with his expulsion to take place at once.

Thus the Greek intention in regard to Insull—wanted in Chicago to face charges growing out of the collapse of his enterprises, was officially declared.

An order for his expulsion was issued Saturday but just how or when it was to have taken place remained in doubt until the Foreign Minister's announcement.

Earlier Insull was described as unwilling to prolong his fight to remain in his Athenian retreat.

There was no sign around the Insull apartment that preparations were being made for his departure.

Insull has not applied for either a Greek travel permit or a new American passport.

SHIP FIRE IS CONTROLLED

Blaze Aboard City of Montgomery Reported in Hand After 9 o'Clock

New York, March 5.—(AP)—A fire which broke out aboard the City of Montgomery of the Savannah line today was reported under control shortly after 9 a. m., in a wireless message from the master of the coast guard here.

The City of Montgomery first wireless notice of the blaze at 6:25 a. m. Her position is about 46 miles from the Chesapeake bay. Two coast guard cutters were steaming to her assistance from the Norfolk base.

The couple plan to come to Cannes on their honeymoon. Although formal confirmation was lacking the informants said the king appeared ready to forgive and forget.

NEW PAY CUT FOR WORKERS OF THE CWA

One-Third Pay Cut Becomes Effective On Emergency Jobs Past Friday

CWA workers in this county will receive approximately one-third less for their work this week than they did the past week. It was made known today by K. T. Futrell, local CWA administrator.

The new reduction in pay became effective last Friday and five hundred men will be affected.

Workers who have been receiving 45 cents to $1.10 an hour will be paid from 30 to 75 cents an hour under the new rate, the administrator said.

A specific number of man hours has been assigned the various projects now under construction in this county, Mr. Futrell, stated, and each job must be completed within the prescribed limit.

The work week was not involved in the new pay ruling, workmen on each project being permitted to remain on the job from 15 to 24 hours.

With over five hundred workmen dropped from the payroll here during the last three weeks, it was indicated today that a further cut could be expected at the expiration of this week.

The extent of the cut has not been determined, Mr. Futrell said, but full information was expected before the end of the work week.

NINE YEAR OLD BOY VICTIM OF DROWNING

Hayesville, March 5.—Early Mosteller, 9 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mosteller who live about 10 miles north of Hayesville, was drowned in Tunney creek near his home late Saturday afternoon.

Although a group of persons have sought the body for many hours, it had not been located tonight.

The boy was crossing a small foot bridge when he fell into the water. He grabbed a tree limb and managed to cling to it for several moments, but he was carried away by the swift waters.

The water in the creek is high because of recent rains.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Urge Banks To Loosen Credit.

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt beckoned the banks toward more liberal lending policy today, at a time when the Supreme Court was rendering a decision vital to the administration program.

By five to four, the same margin with which the Minnesota mortgage moratorium law was upheld, the court sustained the New York minimum milk price law on grounds that the emergency justified it.

Should the ruling have been to the contrary much recent federal legislation would have been considered jeopardized.

The message to the banks was in his address to the NRA code authorities, saying, "If the banks come along my friends, we will have the three great elements of American life working together, industry, agriculture and banking. And then the CWA can be stopped."

The Senate meanwhile heard attacks on the naval construction bill and the House passed measures including the $40,000,000 loan appropriation.

In its search for a leak on the air mail contract cancellation the Senate bank committee learned that J. P. Morgan & Co. sold 4,500 shares of United Aircraft stock before the federal action.

WILL OBSERVE FOUNDERS DAY

Mrs. W. B. Murphy Of Snow Hill To Speak at College Exercises Wednesday

On Founders Day at East Carolina Teachers College Wednesday, March 7, the speaker will be Mrs. W. B. Murphy, of Snow Hill a member of the board of trustees, well-known in Greenville because of her leadership in club work, in the U. D. C. and the D. A. R., and prominent throughout the State because of her active interest in public affairs.

Only the assembly hour, beginning at 10:15, will be devoted to the anniversary this year and there will be no effort made to have the old students return. The annual home coming of the alumnae will be a feature of the coming Commencement which will mark the close of the twenty-fifth year.

Plans are far on the way for a big pageant to be given then showing the history and work of the school.

The local chapter of the alumnae two years ago inaugurated the custom of celebrating Founders Day on or near the anniversary of the signing of the bill for the establishment of the school. They started a movement then to have a pageant at the Commencement which would round out a quarter of a century of service of the school, and to have a big-coming of alumnae from all classes and old students from the very beginning. The plans for commencement this year are an elaboration of the plans then made by the alumnae. The present student body the faculty and the alumnae are all working together to make it a great occasion.

SEEK TO CUT HOG OUTPUT

Campaign to Reduce Hog Raising 25 Per Cent Begins Here Today

An educational campaign in connection with the government's corn hog program will be carried into virtually all sections of the county this week under direction of E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Farm Department.

Mr. Arnold announced last week that the drive to reduce hog production 25 per cent in the county would get under way today, but he also said that the actual sign-up would be preceded by education of the farmers as to the real intentions of the government.

Any farmer who sells as many as 15 or 20 hogs a year will be eligible to take part in the campaign, it was said. Farmers who agree to cut their production 25 per cent will be paid at the rate of $15 a head for doing so.

Blanks for the sign-up may be obtained at the farm office and anybody interested has been asked to get in touch with the farm director or others connected with the department.

THREE HURT IN COLLISION

Ayden Men Injured When Two Cars Crash on Bridge Over Swamp

Three persons of the Ayden section were injured, two probably seriously, in an automobile collision on the bridge across the swamp on the Greenville-Ayden highway, about a mile west of Ayden, last night, it was revealed today at the office of the highway patrol here.

They were Stamey Worthington, broken jaw, W. B. Summrell, injured knee, and H. E. Summrell, injured about the face and head.

The accident occurred when automobiles operated by H. E. Summrell and Herbert Fleming, colored crashed, head on while passing over the bridge. Summrell's car left the road and crashed into the swamp. The negro escaped injury. Both cars were badly damaged.

Worthington was brought to the local hospital for medical aid and his condition was described as favorable today. W. B. Summrell was carried to Duke hospital, Durham, for treatment. His knee which was injured in a football game last fall, was said to have been injured again in the wreck.

The bodies of Mrs. Rush and two of the children were found in the yard, while that of Rush and the elder daughter were taken from the ruins of the house.

Physicians testified at the inquest that Rush had suffered from ill health for sometime and that he had been depressed mentally.

TWO STORES ROBBED HERE

Robbers Also Make Unsuccessful Attempt to Enter Third Store Last Night

Robbers who entered two stores here over the week-end and made an unsuccessful attempt to break into a third were the object of a wide-spread hunt by local officers today.

Chief of Police George Clark said the loot taken in the two robberies would amount to between $200 and $300. It consisted mainly of men's clothing and ladies ready-to-wear.

The store of J. E. Winslow and Company on Clark Street was entered Saturday night and in addition to taking a considerable number of shirts, socks, and ladies hosiery the thieves walked off with a hacksaw. The saw was abandoned after an unsuccessful attempt to enter Johnson's Cash Grocery on Dickinson Avenue last night.

Ladies' ready-to-wear valued at over $100 was taken in the robbery of Joe Hatem's store on Dickinson avenue. It was after this robbery that the thieves attempted to saw their way through the bars of Johnson's Cash Grocery and were frightened away by a policeman making his rounds in that vicinity.

This was the second time Winslow's store has been entered during the last few weeks. A considerable amount of goods were taken on February 23. The loss Saturday night was said to have been over $100.

Chief Clark expressed belief the two robberies were committed by the same band which has been operating here the last several weeks. A negro by the name of Elijah Small arrested here early Saturday morning for robbing a truck of the Smith-Herring Company was believed to be a member of the same band.

BURNS HOME DOWN AROUND HIS OWN BODY

J. L. Rush, Laurens, Slays His Wife, Three Daughters With an Axe and Then Shoots Himself After Setting The Home on Fire; Doctors Say he Was Mentally Depressed

Laurens, S. C., March 5.—(AP)—J. L. Rush, 50, killed his wife and three daughters here early today and then burned their home down around his own body.

At a hastily convened coroner's inquest meager evidence indicated that Rush slew his wife and daughters with an axe and then shot himself after setting the home afire.

The dead are the wife, Cynthia 45, Helen 16, Ruth, 13 and Ruby 11. The family lives slightly apart from other families in a mill village near here and the deaths were not discovered until flames from the burning home attracted attention, although neighbors had previously noticed a disturbance when Rush went home last night.

The bodies of Mrs. Rush and two of the children were found in the yard, while that of Rush and the elder daughter were taken from the ruins of the house.

Physicians testified at the inquest that Rush had suffered from ill health for sometime and that he had been depressed mentally.

STATE PAYS HALF OF FEDERAL TOBACCO TAX

Raleigh, March 5.—North Carolina paid $187,082,311 in federal cigarette taxes—the total amount was $355,534,623—in 1933, the monthly business summary of the Fifth District Federal Reserve Bank at Richmond shows.

North Carolina not only paid more than half the nation's cigarette taxes, it also manufactured more than half the nation's cigarettes. A total of 111,763,411 cigarettes was manufactured last year and North Carolina made $2,360,770,000.

Virginia came next 31,340,095,000 cigarettes to give the fifth reserve district a total of 93,700,961,000 of the 111,700,000,000. Virginia paid $94,020,284 in taxes.

GAIN NO HEADWAY IN FIRE INQUIRY

Wake Forest, March 5.—(AP)—Authorities apparently were up against a stone wall in their attempt to track down Wake Forest's "firebug" as a second day of questioning Wake Forest College students failed to produce tangible results.

Chief of Police John Taylor expressed the opinion, however, that the inquiry would have the effect of ending a series of suspicious fires here, the latest of which destroyed the Wake Forest Country Clubhouse last Friday.

Capt. W. A. Scott of Greensboro, state fire investigator, was in charge of the inquiry which started Saturday.

The inquiry was prompted by the fact that bloodhounds followed tracks from the scene of the clubhouse fire to a college dormitory. A number of students were questioned Saturday, but they gave good accounts of their activities.

Charles Hatem Died Sunday At Home Here

Charles Curry Hatem, 58, died at his home on Chestnut Street at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning from a stroke of paralysis suffered Thursday. Funeral services will be held from Saint Peter's Catholic church, of which the deceased was a devoted member, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Father Charles Gable, officiating burial will follow in Greenwood cemetery. Mr. Hatem was born in Syria but had spent the most of his life in the United States and had been a resident of this city for the past 19 years. He is survived by his widow, two sons, Louis and Francis Curry, of Greenville; two nephews, A. K. and Jimmie Hatem of Roanoke Rapids, and four grandchildren.

BLOND GODDESS
 A New Serial by Herbert Johnson
 Chapter 42
 BIRD OF RESCUE
 THEIR story was quickly told.
 The setting sun found Grahame sprawled across the cockpit pencil-ing a note that was to be sent from the nearest cable office.
 Within an hour or two, he hoped, duplicates of this message would be in Myberg's office and at Spin Winslow's apartment in Hollywood, two thousand airline miles away.
 Grahame gave the pilot parting instructions. "It's hurry-up that counts. This beach here is about fifteen miles long. Good landing spot for a land plane."
 "We'll be here at the northern end. Spin could land one of the big Lizzies on it if he can't get anything smaller and faster at short notice.
 Get going, now, and thanks."
 Greene said importantly. "That's
 it. Make it snappy. You make it snappy and some day I'll give you a write-up that will make your worst enemy proud to know you."
 The pilot grinned broadly. He said to Grahame:
 "What's this guy do? Own a newspaper?"
 Frank chuckled. "He's a press-agent."
 The man reached for his controls.
 "Oh, so that's it. Funny, he doesn't look crazy, but now I get it. So long..."
 The roar of the motors drowned
 Greene's indignant expostulation.

Judith Lane
 by JEANNE BOWMAN
 Chapter One
 PERFECT STENOGRAPHER
 PRING rain pelted at the office windows of the Bevins Construction Company. It sloshed on the big B, ran in a trickling stream through C-o-n and C-o-m, sheeted the sill, then shot eighteen stories to the asphalt pavement.
 Judith Lane looked at the window even as her fingers beat a ratata-ratata-ratatating on her typewriter. She should have known better than to wear a brand new suit on a morning when the wind was bound to blow up a storm... she'd have to call a taxi... ratata-ratata-ratata... her hat... maybe she could buy a magazine big enough to cover it while she dashed from lobby to curb... ratata... color of her eyes look almost blue instead of grey... ting!
 With quick fingers she whisked
 the sheet from the roller, slid it across the desk to her employer, Tom Bevins, switched on his desk light with one hand and with the other reached for the telephone which whirred impatiently.
 "Bevins Construction Company,
 Miss Lane, speaking. Oh yes, Jackson, I'll tell him. You'd better park the car and meet him in the lobby."
 She turned from the telephone.
 "Jackson's here with your car, Mr.
 Tom."
 The big head with its shock of iron gray hair turned with reluctance.
 "Tell him to go back home. I've got three hours' work ahead of me. I'll call him when I'm ready."
 "But Mr. Tom, you're scheduled to go to the Clement dinner. Mrs.
 Bevins called this afternoon and asked me to see that you left here by five o'clock. It's five fifteen now."
 "Confound the Clements. Linen and chatter and not a thing fit for a man to eat. I'll be so mighty glad when we get into the field and I can have real grub off an old cloth table cover... says that reminds me, take this letter."
 Judith reached for her note book, snapped a rubber band over the first pages, chose a finely pointed pencil and waited.
 "Dale, Lampere and Morrison...
 Better address this to Lampere,
 make it informal. Dear... ah, dear Morton: I spoke to you some time ago about the Rio Diablo project."
 "In case you've forgotten (strike that out). To refresh your memory, about ten years ago, a fly-by-night realty company conceived the idea of damming the Rio Diablo, a temperamental stream, in south-west Texas, north and east of the Rio Grande, a particularly desolate region."
 "The idea of the dam was all right, I have no doubt but what irrigation and controlled water supply will turn it into one of the leading citrus fruit sections of the world.
 However, after they'd talked a lot of poor suckers (strike that out) into investing their money in the land; had built a railroad spur into the country to carry these poor... ah, homeseekers,
 there, they decamped.
 "When the affair (put in another word for afraid, Judy) came to my notice I made a quick trip down there. I found about a hundred of these homeseekers still there because they didn't have any place else to go. They had sold their old homes to invest in this desert land and were there grubbing a mere existence out of the soil. The spur had been abandoned and their condition was pitiable.
 "I decided, after my survey, that I would build that dam out of my own capital, if necessary, and with this end in view will leave here June first with my engineers to make a complete survey of the project.
 "I am going to want legal protection every step of the way, for it is possible that the original promoters, finding they may make some more money out of that country, will try to horn in (you'll have to find some other word for horn in, Judy).
 "I am going to want someone from your office, either you or one of your partners, to accompany me on this trip for the purpose of searching titles, etc. My secretary, Miss Lane, will be available for any stenographic work in connection with the project both here and in the field, and will be familiar with all details pertaining to the expedition, should you call at the office during my temporary absence.
 "I will appreciate your immediate attention to this matter and wish to know at your earliest convenience, which one of you (better make that perfect stenographer, dinned the memory of Cia's voice. She laughed. To think that in this city of three hundred thousand, with its usual ratio of stenographers, she should have been called the perfect one.
 Five years ago she would have classified a stenographer as some sort of an unskilled business domestic. She was in college then, intent upon fitting herself to become a civil engineer and her father's partner. She had all of the practical education necessary, having traveled with him since her mother's death, when she was twelve, but had wanted to perfect her technical training.
 She had foregone the pleasure of a South American trip for this purpose, and one year before her course was completed, Emil Lane succumbed to a slow tropical fever which had been robbing him of both life and savings.
 Tom Bevins was in Austin when the dean broke the news to Judith.
 When he learned of the passing of his friend and early partner, he hurried to the girl and after her grief had subsided, helped her readjust her life. He admired her independent attitude, and when she refused financial help, suggested she use the meager life insurance as tuition at a business college where she could be speedily supplied with stenographic training which would enable her to care for herself.
 Equipped with a diploma and determination, she progressed from position to position until Big Tom's secretary married, and she was called to take her place.

 Jelly Bear's Delight
 By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
 Jelly Bear was as happy as happy could be. He felt he could help himself to whatever he saw to eat, now that Honey Bear was so well fed by the visitors to the cave.
 He sniffed the delicious breezes, and enjoyed the air. Then he turned over stone after stone and found little grubs and other delicacies to eat.
 He found that some of the Jelly
 Nilly had put away for the winter
 had not been eaten; so he ate it!
 The pantry doors, he was delighted to find, were not locked.
 No one seemed to mind what he did.
 "It's not a bad idea to go to sleep
 for the winter," he said to himself.
 "They're all glad to see us again and we're welcome to anything. Oh, life is very pleasant."
 In fact, everything in Puddle Mud-die was as happy as could be. There would be plenty of time to attend to chores later on. Willy Nilly thought.
 And surely before the Bear cubs opened their eyes his ears would not be sticking out as they were now.
 He had made up his mind to fasten them with adhesive tape so that would stay close to his head.
 Jip and Top Notch, the Ducks,
 Christopher, the Bears, and Willy
 Nilly were all in the best of spirits.
 They barked and crowed and quacked and cawed and growled and shouted for joy.
 All of a sudden they saw Grandpa
 Grouchy Galump in the distance, down by the Ducks' pond.
 "What is he doing there?" the Ducks quacked. No one felt quite easy when Grandpa was nearby. And it was a wonder!

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE—SAFETY!

A "minute man" program for mobilizing the entire motor vehicle industry against traffic accidents has been announced by Registrar Morgan T. Ryan of the Massachusetts Motor Vehicle Department, and Chairman of the Safety Committee of the Eastern Conference of Motor Vehicle Administrators. Brief messages on safe driving will be broadcast through newspapers, magazines, radios and other agencies.

The program has been endorsed by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The motor and allied industries have pledged their support. They can help make safety a household word—better, a behind-the-wheel word—with millions of automobile drivers.

The motor men can be appealed to on a business as well as a humanitarian basis. The heavy annual toll of life, limb and property resulting from automobile accidents, cuts off income, increases taxes and insurance rates and makes many persons hesitate before buying a new car.

Plans are afoot to launch the campaign before May 1. The motor vehicle industry has always believed in the old slogan, "It pays to advertise." Now it seems inclined to include "safety" in sales messages.

WHO CRIED MURDER?

(News from Overseer)
 Not all the loss of life in the air is by any means attributable to governmental flying of the mails, as some propagandists have attempted to make the public believe. The tragedy which overtook a big passenger liner in Utah a week ago dramatically demonstrated the fact that the weather plays no favorites between private planes and Army planes. That tragic accident was not unique in private flying. Charles D. Chamberlain, one of the greatest private pilots in America, on Saturday wired Postmaster-General Farley as follows:
 "May we suggest your department place more emphasis in statements to press and otherwise on fact that one commercial air line alone, namely, United Air Lines, has within past few months had four fatal crashes, killing 11 pilots, hostesses, equal number of passengers, plus about five more major crashes with no lives lost, all with latest twin-motored cabin ships and latest instruments? In addition to over 20 lives lost by this air line alone, cost planes, equipment lost, their crashes exceeds half million dollars."
 The propagandists of private air lines who undertook to charge the government with "legalized murder" for the deaths of the Army pilots in line of duty carrying the mails, cannot expect to evade responsibility for their own deaths in the air. The principal result of the propaganda against the government carrying its own mails is apt to be a loss of confidence on the part of the public in the safety of all flying.

NOTICE OF COMMISSIONER'S SALE

Under and by virtue of that certain order entered on this date by His Honor, J. F. Harrington, Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, in Special Proceeding No. 3286 upon the Special Proceeding Docket of Pitt County, entitled "J. Knox Proctor et al. vs. Mary Ann Bryan et al.", the undersigned commissioner will offer for sale, for CASH, at public auction before the Court House door in Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, at 12:00 o'clock M., on Wednesday, March 21, 1934
 the following described real estate, located in Chitwood Township, said cried out hoarsely. "They have a machine gun! Why don't they shoot? Don't they realize?" Then in the next breath he shouted with despairing anxiety: "They can't! They don't dare. The ahkin knew! A fallen body in their way would wreck a landing!"

LANGTON

The plane made a steep bank over the western buildings. Back it roared, the wheels of the landing gear scant inches above the heads of the soldiers staggered over the square.

Langton made an inarticulate sound. "God, what flying! See, they scatter, but they close up again. They'll never give way long enough to let the plane down."

"Janice! We must do something! Make a break. See, there's an open space on the eastern side. If we could run for it... divert the guards... ship can land!"

He pivoted on his sound leg. There was a dull smack as the nearer guard of the six went down. Janice heard a scream from the ahkin drowned by a riot of snarls of the jaguars as the bearers of the caged dropped it.

She felt the hand of a guard roughly grasp her arm. She twisted away and flung herself at a man whose upraised rifle was poised over the blond head of her companion. Again the motors roared overhead. The sound of rifle fire grew.

The man she clung to went limp under a slash from Langton's fist. She saw a knife upraised in a brown fist.

Langton's sneaky hand darted out and twisted it away. A lunging native knocked her down to the steps. Her wildly roving glance fell upon a discarded knife a foot from her hand.

She snatched it up as Langton burst through the twisting bodies of the guards toward her. He gasped, "We can't get away! Try to reach the ahkin and—"

His sentence ended in a moan as a clubbed rifle hit him behind the head. He pitched toward Janice. The guard who had struck him turned his eyes, crazed with excitement, toward Janice.

Slowly—it seemed almost slow-motion—he reversed his rifle. The girl knew in that instant he intended to shoot her!

She struggled backward up the steps. She was barely conscious that she had backed against the jaguar cage. Her ears were deaf to the savage growls behind her.

The rifle was raised—still with that illusion of retarded action. The native's teeth bared, the muscles of his hand tightened over the trigger guard.

A spurt of flame darted from the muzzle.

which member of your firm) will accompany the expedition—"

Judith snapped the band on her book—"Mr. Tom, you must go on home!" she entreated.

"Not 'til I sign that letter," he countered stubbornly.

With resignation the girl turned to the typewriter and sent her fingers flying over the keys. Ratata-ratata-ratata!

The margin bell echoed the final period, and again a letter whisked across the polished surface of the desk and again the telephone whirred.

"Bevins Construction Company, Miss Lane, speaking."

"Really," drawled a feminine voice. "Miss Lane, this is Miss Sanford of the Houston Tribune. Will you have dinner with me this evening?"

Judith's lips, which had curved into a smile at the sound of Cia Sanford's voice, framed a quick answer: "Delighted."

"Wait a minute," warned the other, "there's a joker in this invitation. The dinner is on the Tribune. I'm to interview a perfect stenographer."

"I'll enjoy that," returned Judith quickly. She'd been with Cia on other assignments. "Who is she?"

"You," answered Cia and before Judith could protest, "meet me in the lobby of the Rice at six thirty."

Judith turned from the telephone with such an expression of bewilderment that Bevins, looking up from the letter he had just signed, laughed.

"What's wrong, Judy?"

"Nothing in particular," she faltered, "only Cia Sanford said she was going to interview a perfect stenographer this evening and that I was—" she paused. Tom Bevins,

RED MEN MEET

One of the big social events of the season among Red Men that have been hibernating in this city was held Friday night, March 2nd. The meeting night draws large numbers of the members and a most enthusiastic spirit is manifested. "Do you remember when?" has been resurrected and each of the members try to go back beyond the memory of any who may be present. D. W. Hardee is the oldest in the trail blazers, with little thought of gain for himself, Mr. Hardee labored and had this tribe instituted April 23rd, 1903, and has been a constant member holding steadfast to the principles of freedom, friendship and charity, devoting his enthusiasm, his work, his love for his fellowman, are beyond words but which implant themselves in the hearts and minds of his friends as never "fading sources of stimulation to nobler aims and higher achievements."

The growth in membership is most gratifying and today the membership is at a new high, incidentally the tribe is in fine financial condition. The work done by members the past year and which is going on under Sachment L. E. Stocks is most beneficial. Friday night roll call of officers showed all present with renew activity. Locally we have much for which to be thankful, our tribe being in a very healthy condition. We have lost a few members through death, but we are holding our pre-depression strength.

The spirit of the membership is good, the attendance is good, and the officers are of the type who get things done. There were about 155 present including eight members from Robersonville tribe. Reports of standing committees were read and approved. Next in order were the nomination and election of two representatives to the Great Council. Rev. D. A. Windham and J. B. Hardee were elected. At the close of the business session, Brothers O. C. White, J. E. McGowan and L. O. Whitehurst served a good supper of barbecue and drinks, and boy, oh boy, did we eat. This affair was well done, but punctuated with some fun, with all hands and minds at ease. We joined in a wee bit of entertainment. Past Sachment L. S. Spence took charge of the meeting as chairman for the evening and some overed members settled back and thought the rest of the evening might be a good time to take a little snooze, but the events to follow did not give them the chance. Mr. Spence, full of "wim, wigor and vitality," pulled off one sidesplitter after another. Mr. Dink James came in second on the program. His part was also good and was enjoyed. A. B. Corey (better known as Arthur, we all know Arthur) came in third on the program. Arthur made a home run. Many entertaining and constructive remarks and speeches are made by Mr. Spence, Mr. James and Mr. Corey from time to time, but an unusual amount of wit was shown by them on this occasion. After the fun was over Mr. Spence put on a contest. Brother W. D. Cherry won a beautiful basket of hyacinths.

HOME MIXED FERTILIZER BEST BY TEST

We are using blood, cotton seed meal, peruvain, fish, and genuine animal tankage for our Organic Nitrogen in BLOUNT'S NEW DEAL, BLOUNT'S PREMIUM and BLOUNT'S WORTHMORE brands. We are using Nitrate of Soda and Sulphate of Ammonia for our Mineral Ammonia. (However, we do not recommend too much Sulphate of Ammonia in Tobacco Fertilizer.) We are using Genuine German Sulphate of Potash Magnesium and Muriate of Potash for our Potash. We are using Superphosphate for our acid. We are using Magnesium Mascot Lime for filler in our tobacco goods. All these materials are well seasoned and thoroughly cured.

There is no better fertilizer than we make out of these materials. We know this because we have been dealing with fertilizer for many years, both home-mixed and other brands, and know that the home-mixed brands are better because of the test we have put them to under our own crops.

For one time in your life you can buy fertilizer and have it made to suit the land on which you are going to use it, and know at the same time just what it is made of. Buy your fertilizer from the BLOUNT FERTILIZER CO., and come to our factory and see for yourself just how it is made.

BLOUNT'S FERTILIZER CO., GREENVILLE, N. C.

New York Cotton

New York, March 5—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady 2 to 6 lower in response to lower Liverpool cables and owing to the uncertainty over crop legislation. Trading was comparatively quiet at the start and the market narrowed enough to be influenced by small order either way. There was some trade and commission house buying on the opening decline and prices rallied a few points after the call but the bulge met further realizing or liquidation and was not fully maintained. The market worked up to 12.20 for May and 12.45 for October later in the morning or about 1 to 3 points higher. Prices reacted several points later in the morning, May sold down to 12.11 or 6 higher and was holding around 12.13 at midday with the general list showing losses of 3 to 5 points.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, March 5—(AP)—Trading in the financial markets was actually at a standstill today as Wall Street attempted to interpret the Presidents NRA address at Washington. Proceedings on the stock exchange were the dullist in some months. While a few leaders exhibited a rather heavy tone there was a volume to accentuate the decline. Grains cotton and other commodities emulated the difference of equities. Dollar rates were almost unchanged. Bonds were steady. Of principal interest to speculators was the Roosevelt challenge to industry to raise wages and reduce working hours in order to increase jobs and lift from the government the task of providing employment. Market analysts read with mixed feeling the president's speech which included a condemnation of unjustified price increases of the NRA code renewed request that consumers yield under the blue eagle, a plea for continued and better protection of small industry, a demand for freedom of labor to organize unhampered by employers domination in mergers and that the NRA act would be enforced with a firm hand.

Large advertisement for Greenville Fertilizer Co. featuring a photograph of a tobacco field. Text: "A Satisfied Customer On Field Tested Fertilizers". One of Mr. Hardee's Tobacco Fields. Greenville Fertilizer Company, Greenville, North Carolina. Dear Sirs: Under my individual tobacco crop, consisting of 14 acres, I used 1000 lbs. 8-3-5 per acre which gave me yield of 17,302 lbs., or average of 1236 lbs. per acre, exclusive of scrap. My 14 acres sold for $3,545.60. The results of my tenants' crops, I am giving you below: G. T. Corbett, 8 acres—yield, 8886 lbs. Sold for $1768.40. Jack Brown, 5 acres—yield, 5936 lbs. Sold for $1227.65. Capp Little, 7 acres—yield 7040 lbs. Sold for $1405.75. If I had been able to have marketed my entire crop during October and November, in my opinion, it would have brought considerable more money. A large part of my tobacco was sold after Christmas. I recommend your goods to those who are seeking large yield and quality crops. Last year you supplied my tenants through your Service Plan, and I commend your Service Plan, which was most satisfactory to me. Yours Very Truly, LEON S. HARDEE, Route 3, Greenville, N. C.
