GREENVILLE, S. C. BANK ROBBED OF $50,000 TODAY

Money Shipment Taken From Two Bank Messengers

TWO BANDITS FOLLOWED BY MANY POLICE

Messenger and Guard Held up in Downtown Business District by Couple of Men in Light Sedan; Number of Persons Witness Holdup Without Realizing What is Happening; Loss Covered by Insurance

Another First!

Greenville, S. C., March 8—(AP)—A messenger and guard of the South Carolina National Bank were held up and robbed of $50,000 on a downtown business corner here today.

The men, Blinton Foster, negro messenger, and Hugh White, bookkeeper, who was acting as guard, were returning from the postoffice to the bank with the money shipment when two men in a light, fast car forced them to the curb.

One of the bandits, short and stocky and wearing dark glasses, dashed out of the bandit car and with a pistol forced the men to hand over the package. Bank officials announced the loss was covered both by its policies and those of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond which shipped the money.

A number of persons witnessed the holdup which occurred at Broad and Laurel Streets almost in sight of the Greenville county jail, but it was over almost before they realized what was under way.

White leaped from his machine after the bandits sped away and ran to the bank while the negro notified police who gave quick chase.

The bandits apparently escaped from the city by a circuitous route and no trace of them had been found an hour after by the small army of officers which went to work on the case immediately.

DEBATE FACES AIR MAIL PLAN

Indications that Republicans Will Have Much to Say on the Floor

Washington, March 8—(AP)—A warm debate over President Roosevelt's plan to let private air mail routes on a radically revised basis was in prospect today.

There were indications that Republicans will have much to say when the legislation reaches the floor.

Many in the G. O. P. ranks have openly accepted the air mail situation as an issue.

Senate and House committees hastened to whip into bill form the president's suggestion for the return of the mails to private air mail companies on the basis of honest payment for honest service.

The president in a letter dispatched suddenly to the capital last night suggested speed in letting new contracts. As to "avoid evils of the past," he proposed these suggestions for the legislation.

"Competitive bidding for contracts not to exceed three years with fixed maximum competition; cancellation as a penalty for non-competitive agreements; and a six months qualifying period after contracts are awarded."

A ant spearhead 16 inches long and 12 inches wide was uncovered by CCC workmen near Stephenville, Texas.

NEGRO YOUTH JAILED HERE FOR ROBBERY

Alonzo Rasberry Caught in Act of Robbing Store on Fifth Street

Alonzo Rasberry, 15-year-old colored youth, was held in the city jail today on a charge of robbing Charlie Allen's store on the west end of Fifth street last night.

The youth was taken into custody by police shortly after 12 o'clock after a passerby had seen him attempting to enter the store.

The passerby notified police and when the officers arrived Rasberry had broken a window and entered the building. He made an attempt to get away but was quickly overhauled.

The boy confessed that he entered the same store last Sunday night and obtained ninety cents in cash along with cigarettes and candy. He is reported to have been gathering desired articles when police walked in on him last night.

Chief of Police George Clark said this morning that Rasberry would be given preliminary hearing tomorrow morning.

Entrance to the store is one of a series of similar incidents reported to police here the last several days. An investigation has been under way for sometime to bring the epidemic of robberies to an end.

One negro is already in jail awaiting preliminary hearing, having been nabbed by police shortly after he entered a couple of stores in the western part of the city.

BETHEL BUSY WITH 'SPUDS'

Planting Season For Irish Potatoes Causing Great Activity in Area

The planting of Irish potatoes in the Bethel territory, the largest "spud" producing area in this immediate section, was being carried on at full speed ahead today.

With warm clear weather prevailing in this section the last several days, potato growers have put hundreds of barrels of plants into the ground with indications that the yield this year, providing weather conditions are favorable, will be as great as last season.

Aside from tobacco, the growing of potatoes is one of the chief industries of the Bethel community and each season hundreds of car loads leave there for northern points. From 25 to 30 car loads were shipped each day when the rush was on last year.

With improved prices prevailing in 1933, Bethel growers made some money on their crop and if the price situation remains favorable this year they hope again to improve their financial standing.

Prior to last year prices were so low that the majority of growers lost money. In fact it was said that during the peak of the depression many car loads of "spuds" failed to bring freight charges.

The good weather not only has been favorable to the potato growers, but other planters have been busy getting their land in shape for the greatest crop in the state—bright leaf tobacco. Prices for this crop the past year were the best in years, and with the future holding out hope of continued improvement, growers this year will give more time to a curtailed crop in the hope of producing better grades.

Tobacco beds are being watched over carefully in all territories and when planting time comes thousands of people will be in the fields putting the golden weed into the ground.

Order Bankers To Go To Jail

Hendersonville, March 8—(AP)—Judge T. B. Finley today declined to hear further discussion of the case of four Transylvania county men sentenced for banking law violations and instructed Sheriff Tom Wood to proceed with them to the state prison.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Today In Congress.

Washington, March 8—(AP)—Once Congress votes tariff bargaining powers to the President, wind-up the appropriations to run the government for the next year, and enact the $258,000,000 tax bill, the administration will be ready for adjournment.

This developed today in conferences between Mr. Roosevelt and Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, with the first two weeks in May the announced time for seeking to close the session.

The measures mentioned, while stipulated as foremost, do not represent all that's wanted. A form of relief for bankrupt municipalities and simplified stock exchange regulation are included in the calculations with air mail proposals forwarded to the capitol yesterday.

Between now and disposal of these and other propositions a lot of time is going to be put on other subjects. Some investigators are just getting under way but one approach of an end today through a House naval sub-committee decision that there had been no excessive profits or commissions involved in navy plane and engine contracts.

A Senate committee of inquiry learned from Paul Henderson, vice-president of United Aircraft, that he had loaned $10,000 in 1930 to Chas. C. Dote, deputy second assistant postmaster general at the time. Meanwhile another probe into whether any air mail transportation companies were overpaid was carried ahead by the Postoffice Department and legislation to restore flying of the mail to private companies was being dropped.

WORK ON POOL MOVING FAST

Pouring of Concrete On Municipal Swimming Pool to Begin Next Week

Work on Greenville's $18,000 municipal swimming pool was being pushed forward rapidly today with indications that pouring of concrete would actually get under way in the next week or so.

The driving has been carried forward rapidly the last several days and hundreds of persons have been attracted to the location, which during the summer months is destined to be the most popular place in the city.

School children especially are manifesting much interest in work on the pool and hundreds may be seen lined along the street each day gazing into the depths of the ravine where the excavation for the pool has been made.

When the forms have been laid and the concrete poured work of building bath houses and lockers will get under way, and if plans carry as they likely will, the pool will be ready to receive hundreds of swimmers when the time to hunt the "ole swimming" hole actually rolls around.

The pool will be one of the most modern in this part of the state. It will embrace the latest features of safety and sanitation and even the most inexperienced swimmers can take daily ablutions with every safeguard thrown about them.

The pool is being built through funds provided through the Civil Works Administration with a small part of the sum being furnished by the city government.

In the same vicinity of the pool a culvert has been constructed to take care of the drainage of the section. The jobs will cost over $28,000.

TO DISCUSS FARMER AID HERE TONIGHT

"Down-and-Out" Farmers to Receive Attention at Court House at 7:30

A meeting looking to aid for "down-and-out" farmers of the community will be held at the court house tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting was called yesterday by J. T. Bland, director of the Federal Reemployment bureau here, at the suggestion of Homer B. Mask, of Raleigh, director of the farm placement movement in this state.

Heads of all public organizations of the community have been invited to attend and hear Mr. Mask explain the colonization movement recently started by the government with a view to aiding farmers who find themselves without homes to live in and land to farm.

The government is ready to finance such farmers if land is provided for them and it is the purpose of the meeting here tonight as well as others being held in various parts of the state to see what can be done toward providing the necessary land.

If farmers who have been thrown out of work by reduction of principal crops are not afforded land upon which to live it is a foregone conclusion they will be on relief rolls practically all the year. If they are given places to grow something they will be made self-sustaining at least until another planting season rolls around and they are given an opportunity to "hoe their own row."

Mr. Bland said he was hopeful all organizations of the city would be represented so that the colonization movement could be started here as early as possible.

MRS. WHICHARD PASSES AWAY

Death Claims Former Pitt County Lady at Her Home in Norfolk Today

News was received here today of the death in Norfolk this morning at 11 o'clock of Mrs. W. R. Whichard, a native of this county. Death followed illness of several weeks.

Funeral services will be conducted from her Norfolk home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The deceased was formerly Miss Ella Keel, of the Stokes section, and the daughter of the late Office Keel and Mrs. Mittie Page Keel. She was born and reared near Stokes and had been living in Norfolk a number of years. Her husband, a prominent business man and recorder of Khedive Temple for a number of years, died about a year ago.

Mrs. Whichard was an active member of the Christian church and beloved by a wide circle of friends. She is survived by her son, Cecil Whichard, and a granddaughter, Miss Frances Whichard, both of Norfolk. In addition she is survived by several brothers and sisters and other relatives in this and other parts of the county.

SHAD CATCHES MADE IN WATERS ON COAST

Manto, March 8—Substantial catches of shad by pound netters in the middle sound south of Roanoke Island were made early this week some single catches running more than the 300.

Cold weather prevented shad runs in February but warm weather along the coast will bring shad to inland waters in a hurry, experienced fishermen say.

ODGEN L. MILLS' IN-LAW INJURED AT PINEHURST

Pinehurst, March 8—(AP)—P. S. Randolph, father-in-law of Odgen L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, was slightly injured here today while trapshooting when the barrel of his shotgun burst.

Several shots were imbedded in his wrist, but after hospital treatment he was declared out of danger.

Mr. Randolph who has homes at Philadelphia and Hempstead, L. I., is a frequent visitor here.

Rolls Of Socialists List A Rockefeller

Members of the socialist party in New York were not only startled but pleased to find the name of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, 3rd (above), listed on their rolls. Friends of the family said they believed it was due to a clerical error, asserting she was not a socialist. (Associated Press Photo)

CUBA FACING NEW TROUBLE FROM LABOR

Outbreak Reported in Santa Clara, Camaguey and Other Sections

Havana, March 8—(AP)—Reports of violent labor disorders in the interior, including shooting at Santa Clara and Camaguey, reached Havana today.

Dispatches telling of the outbreaks were received after President Carlos Mendieta and his cabinet had continued in session until the early hours trying to solve the strike situation here and in other island parts.

Several persons were wounded, two of them gravely, and four were arrested after a disturbance before the provincial palace at Santa Clara.

From Camaguey where soldiers are operating trains and trolly cars came reports of shooting. A few shots were heard on the streets of Havana after midnight.

Trouble broke out at Santa Clara when a large throng of civilians attempted to release four men arrested as leaders in the disorders.

Albany, N. Y., March 8—(AP)—Albert Einstein, world famous scientist and Mrs. Einstein, were guests of honor tonight at a dinner party given in the executive mansion by Governor and Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman for 53 friends.

PRINCE WEDS 'COMMONER'

Sigvard, Prince of Sweden, Married to Fraulein Patzek in London

London, March 8—(AP)—A romance like a fairy tale of fiction came through today with the wedding of Sigvard, prince of Sweden, Duke of Upland, and grandson of the Swedish King, to the beautiful Fraulein Erika Patzek, 22-year-old daughter of a Berlin industrialist.

In taking his commoner bride at the registry office in the heart of London, the 26-year-old prince, like Lennart, his cousin, abandoned princely rights for a romance with the girl of his dreams.

Instead of carillon bells pealing for their wedding in the ancient capital of the prince's royal forefathers, Sigvard and his bride had scattering song birds in a little park outside and smiling faces of sympathy to welcome them on their wedding day.

REP. DELANEY GIVES REPORT TO COMMITTEE

Statement Declares "There is no Evidence of Collusion Between Contract and Naval Officials; Recommend a More Satisfactory 'Yardstick' of Cost; No Change in Purchasing Methods Proposed

Washington, March 8—(AP)—The navy and its airplane and engine makers were freed of charges of collusion and profiteering in a report handed to a house investigating committee today for approval.

Written as the result of weeks of investigation of naval aviation affairs, in which Hoover administration officials were called, the report said that in 1926:

"The profits made by contractors from navy planes business have been moderate and reasonable."

It added later: "There is no evidence of collusion between contractors or between contract and naval officials."

The report was submitted by Rep. Delaney, Democrat, of New York, to the investigating sub-committee of which he is chairman.

It approved by this group it will be handed for adoption to the full house committee.

One thing Delaney suggested was an extension of operations by the naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia to provide more satisfactory "yardstick" of cost.

No change in the method the navy uses for purchasing planes was proposed.

The military committee studying War Department expenditures considered today new data in a private session.

One question to which the committee sought an answer was whether the War Department had sought to "cover up" the employment and air corps officials by private aviation companies, while the officers were on army leave.

PITT DOCTORS HOLD MEETING

Monthly Session of Medical Society Held at Woman's Club Last Night

Reading a paper on "Influenza" and two case reports marked the regular meeting of the Pitt County Medical Society at the Woman's club last night.

The meeting was scheduled for tonight but was moved up a night in view of the annual meeting tonight of the Pitt County Chapter of the University of North Carolina Alumni Association. Several members of the society who were educated at the University desired to attend the alumni meeting and it was for this reason the meeting was moved up.

Dr. S. M. Crisp and Dr. W. I. Wooten were hosts and Dr. T. W. Basnight, of Stokes, president of the society, presided.

Dr. A. H. Stevens, formerly of Metta, Ga., who recently located in Farmville, was inducted to membership into the society by Dr. Tom Watson. Dr. Stevens, a graduate of the University of Georgia, was extended a hearty welcome.

Following the reading of a paper dealing with "Influenza," by Dr. S. M. Crisp, discussions of the subject were led by Drs. Dixon, Bonner, Pace and others.

Two case reports were presented by Dr. W. I. Wooten.

Presiding the meeting a delightful supper was served by ladies of the club.

Attendance was reported up to par with much interest being manifested in discussions.

After 18 years of litigation, Mrs. Stephana Potter of Sonoma, Cal., has won a court fight for a $1,000 tax refund.

MORE VOTING PLACES NEEDED

With the political campaign already getting under way in this county and with the primaries just three months off, again we call attention to the congested conditions at some of the polling places in this county on primary day two years ago that resulted in much dissatisfaction on the part of voters and left many with the belief that all did not go according to the rules around the polling places that day. At that time we urged that additional polling places be provided in the larger townships especially Greenville and Chicod before time for another election. A few weeks ago we again called attention to the approaching primaries and urged that this work of new registration or whatever it is that is necessary to provide the additional polling places begin to get some attention. There has so far been no announcement of plans seeking to relieve this situation but certainly we hope that the county board of elections has the matter under consideration and will see that the task is begun in time to be completed before the primaries.

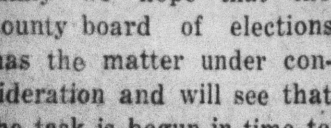

More polling places will mean less congestion, easier voting and result in, we believe, the people turning out in larger numbers to vote. And certainly there is less chance of crooked work around orderly polling places than where the congestion is so great that poll holders are faced with a task that it is physically impossible to perform properly.

Judith Lane

By JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Judith Lane and Norman Dale just have become engaged. Now they are at work getting the natives of the Rio Diablo valley out of the way of an approaching storm and flood. Judith is secretary to Tom Bevins, the engineer and contractor preparing to dam the Rio Diablo. Back to Johnston, where Bevins' headquarters are, Norman is junior partner of the law firm which handles the Bevins business. Judith is watching over the children—and watching her future husband at the same time.

Chapter Four THE STORM

JUDITH paused and looked up. Dale had stopped to give his pack train a rest—"everything quiet?" he asked. "Maybe you'd better move on to the lee of the ship rock, Scoggins says the usual high water line is about here and when she strikes—" he lifted expressive shoulders with a glance at the round-eyed children.

"We've got everything excepting the houses in a relatively safe place... I'll be with you as soon as every one's left the danger line."

He moved on, Judith's gaze following. She thought of Cha's remark that every woman who saw him wanted to take him home for keeps... she didn't blame them... women must be intuitively right.

"Tell us another, Miss Lane, tell us a storm-one this time," begged a ter, foam ridden, lipped with debris which whirled over and under, over and under.

On the high shore of the river the little adobe houses stood like doomed entities as the Devil River arose to meet the water wall and then together they mouthed the houses, whirled about, lapped greedily—

"There goes Scoggins' place," cried a voice, as one cubicle on the shore crumpled.

Judith turned her head, snuggled it into the hollow of Norman's shoulder, glad she was a woman, a child, woman who could hide her tears.

THE storm roared on. The Rio Diablo roared on. Judith, from the shelter of Norman's arms, heard them. She also heard the low moaning of the cook's wife and half envied her the luxury of relieving her emotions.

Below them the water was rising as though to meet the sudden darkness of night.

"Judith," Big Tom's voice was tense with excitement... "get your notebook."

Judith looked up in amazement... notebook at a time like this with death sizzling overhead in jagged lightning which wouldn't stay overhead, but came darting down about them in brittle crashes?

Big Tom was dictating at a rate that was testing her speed.

scrawny girl of twelve, "I'm skeered of storms," she explained.

Flashes of heat lightning showed weird mists riding furiously towards them and then a single jagged stroke of lightning cut across the heavens.

Quickly Judith improvised a jingle—"Old Mother Summer is sweeping the sky, Hist to the swish As her rain brooms brush by. Look at their handles all jagged and red..."

The storm struck with a crash. Judith hesitated a moment and Tommy manfully took up the theme:

"Duck down y'ntinies Or y'll all git struck dead."

Judith didn't have time to remonstrate. The quick pelt of rain drops had brought those below up on a run and parents were gathering their offspring together and hustling them into the shelter of the queer rock formation which loomed like a ship-shaped light house on the rim of the river basin.

"WE WANT our young-uns with us," they explained apologetically, and Judith, following them, sensed the primitive in them as children, live stock and household goods were corralled in family units.

Judith found herself in a sheltered nook, the lip of the rock breaking the storm. Tom Bevins and Norman Dale were seated on either side, the other members of the expedition and the pack train, raged about them.

Bevins pulled a pup-pent over them, and then the storm began, a storm upon which Judith would look back with a shudder of horror and the memory of which would outweigh all else when she approached the crisis of her life.

A roar and a crash, the frantic braying of pack mules fighting their halters, the hysterical scream of a woman rising above the moan of the wind, a sudden hush and a baby whimpering, and then the excited cry of men.

As one the expedition members arose. Down through the basin they had just vacated came a wall of water, automatically she reached for her hip pocket, pulled out the book, felt Norman adjust the pup tent to a more protective angle and produce a small flash light.

"Ready? Sight line from ship rock to point of narrow channel. Upper dam, secondary reservoir absolute necessity. Have Dale check site, locate deeds on—"

Crash! Judith's pencil intent upon a pphook veered upwards. Bang! Her neat bird's eye resembled a bird in flight, but on went Big Tom's voice. He was standing now as if he could see through the mark of the night and the storm, and his voice held the timber of young manhood, of a vision newly seen.

Judith didn't know when the storm calmed down, she was too busy. Big Tom was dictating at a rate which tested her speed.

"The perfect stenographer," chuckled Judith's future husband. And then when her hand was cramped and her knee balancing the book was cramped, Big Tom stopped. Judith looked up. The last volley of thunder was zooming into the distance, fires of hoarded sagebrush were being lighted, the aroma of coffee and frying bacon mingled with the woodsmoke.

Tension relaxed, but the natives' spirits were low. Thomas Scoggins, Senior, their leader, the man who had built the largest adobe house with even a private room for his Tommy, and then had watched it swept on down to the Gulf, came up to the expedition's camp.

"You see how it is, sir," he said with hopeless resignation in his voice. "We farm, and then if we get any rain at all it comes like this and everything is washed away. I'm sorry you had to see it, you won't want to go on with your dam after this."

"Won't want to go on?" repeated Bevins. "Man alive, do you think any engineer with a soul could see this water go to waste and not want to harness it into something useful?"

PERUVIAN GUANO—the manure of birds—is the richest of all plant-foods. It provides needed elements in forms that man has never been able to duplicate.

LACKING-HOUSE products are generously used in Robertson's Fertilizers. Blood and tankage-rich concentrates of nitrogenous materials, supply Phosphoric Acid as well.

FISH scrap provides nitrogen that is instantly available, yet not easily leached away. In fact, fish are found in 21 different elements—some badly needed by mankind and by certain plants.

FOR different crops and soils, we choose from such materials as Sulphate of Ammonia, Nitrate of Soda, Peruvian Guano, Animal Tankage, Cotton-Seed meal, Fish, Blood, Acid Phosphate, Sulphate of Potash, Muriate of Potash and Muriate of Potash.

Birthday Party.

On Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, Edna Ispok entertained a number of her little friends at a party honoring her eighth birthday.

After the presents had been given to the little hostesses, and several games had been played, the guests were invited into the dining room. The table was very pretty with a lace cover and a large pink birthday cake with eight blue candles. The guests were served cake with jello topped with cream and cherries. Candy was served as favors. Those enjoying the afternoon with Edna were:

Lorraine and Thorburn Whitehurst, Lenwood Stoneham, Mary Lucy Barnhill, Helen Kemp, Mary Frances Smith, Eugene Hill, Dot Stokes, Maggie and Emily Windham, Delphia Fy, R. C. Hill, Mildred Smith, Teebeele and Charles Paramore, Jr., Shirley McCowan, Sarah Mae Jones, Edith and Doris Fleming, Mary Elizabeth and Helen Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. White, grandparents.

FAMILY JOYFUL—DAD'S RHEUMATISM HAS LEFT HIM

When a man so crippled with rheumatism cannot go to his daily work and suddenly finds a swift, powerful yet safe prescription that drives out pain and agony in 48 hours can you imagine the jubilant happiness of the whole family as Dad brings home his pay envelope regularly again.

Pitt Drug Co., and leading druggists everywhere call this grand prescription ALLENRU and think so much of its mighty power to drive excess uric acid from the system that they guarantee one 85 cent bottle to overcome rheumatic pain and conquer backache, sciatica, neuritis and lumbago just as this notice states or money back—a square deal to all sufferers.

PITT COUNTY CHAPTER OF ATLANTIC CHRISTIAN COLLEGE ALUMNI MEETS

Thursday night, March 1st, at the Eighth Street Christian Church the Atlantic Christian College Alumni of Pitt county organized a Pitt county chapter. S. T. Cherry, Pactolus, was elected chairman by a unanimous vote and Miss Evelyn Moore, Pactolus, was elected secretary.

The meeting was very enjoyable and the chapter was entertained by Miss Eva Louise Shelton, Miss Hazel Windley, Miss Myra Joyner, and Paul Arline, Jr. President H. S. Hilley and Dallas Mallison of Wilson, were also present. Mr. Hilley outlined the plans of the college for the future and asked the alumni to please give him any criticism they might have of his plan. Mr. Mallison offered his services to the chapter at any time. Z. E. Brinson, alumni president, urged the alumni to do all that they possibly could to help President Hilley carry out his plans. C. B. Mashburn told of his feeling for the college and that he hoped we might build up a bigger and better alumni association.

After a very pleasant evening it was decided that another meeting should be held during April.

—Evelyn Moore, Secretary.

BETHEL ITEMS

Friends of M. E. L. Mayo will regret to learn that he is seriously ill with double pneumonia at his home in Bethel.

Mrs. J. M. Price and Miss Maria Price of Atlanta, Ga., are visiting in Bethel at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Price.

Mrs. J. T. Nelson and small daughter, Joyce, of New York City, are visiting Mrs. Nelson's mother, Mrs. L. L. Ward of Bethel.

Winerville P. T. A. Meets.

Winerville, March 7.—The Winerville Parent-Teacher Association held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, March 6, in the school auditorium with the president, Mrs. T. W. Worthington, presiding. The audience sang "Come Thou Almighty King," after which Rev. R. F. Pittman led in prayer.

Reports were received and a nominating committee for the purpose of securing officers for the next year was named as follows: Rev. M. A. Woodard, Mrs. J. R. Cox and Mrs. L. A. Manning.

The program for the evening was community singing led by Rev. R. F. Pittman of Ayden. Patriotic and folk songs and hymns were enthusiastically sung by the audience and Rev. Pittman sang "In The Secret Of His Presence" and "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes." He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Pittman.

Everyone seemed to thoroughly enjoy the program and we hope to have some more evenings of music in our community, during the spring months.

NEGRO YOUTH HELD IN DEATH OF BROTHER

Trenton, March 8.—At a preliminary hearing held here yesterday afternoon before Magistrate P. B. McDaniels, Richard Gooding, 20 year old colored youth of Jones county was held on $1000 bond in the death of his brother, Wesley, 17, who was found suspended from a rafter of a barn at the home of his father, near here, two weeks ago.

The coroner's jury decided that

Stop Getting Up Nights Lax the Bladder With Juniper Oil, Buchu, Etc.

Drive out the impurities and excess acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Juniper oil is pleasant to take in the form of BUKETS, the bladder laxative, also containing Buchu leaves, etc. Works on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box from any drug store. After four days if not relieved of "getting up nights" go back and get your money. If you are bothered with backache or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Pitt Drug Co., says BUKETS is a best seller.—(Adv.)

the youth came to his death by strangulation and at the hands of parties unknown to the jury. Richard was suspected of choking his brother and then leaving him as if he had committed suicide as prints of finger nails were very pronounced on his neck, but sufficient evidence was not available to warrant his arrest until today.

Just A Word to...

MISS MODERN,

We've often heard you—shall we say murmur—against those quite unnecessary supporters or those sophisticated little girdles which you have found give you much better form—and maybe technique, too. So we looked and looked and here's the results—no more unnecessary supporters—roll your stockings all you want to—

A new step-in Lastex Girdle... with-out supporters.

It's perfectly amazing how this little number molds the figure—and has such dash, and slim sophistication all its own. Very moderately priced too at $2.75.

Don't think us impertinent when we say the new windswept silhouette requires a highly lovely bust. Maybe you are a wee bit flat chested so we have a remedy...

An assortment of bust pads that will give you poise and sophistication. And we must mention our new uplift brassieres which—discreetly—enhances your charms.

They're discreetly priced, too, at 59c to $1.00.

TRAINING SCHOOL PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION MEETS

The Training School Parent-Teacher Association held their monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Training School auditorium. Miss Louise Golphin's fourth grade sang several songs, and Miss Alma Browning's fourth grade gave a short program, the pupils portraying characters from different books by giving a story play of "Peter Pan."

After the program, a business meeting was held. The minutes of the last meeting were read and the treasurer's report was given. Different committees reported.

At the close of the business, Miss Dora Coates made a most interesting talk, using as her subject, "A Challenge To The Home."

Montana's 1933 wheat crop was approximately 28,000,000 bushels, or about one-half the 1932 total.

HOW ONE MAN LOST 22 POUNDS

Mr. Herman Runkis of Detroit writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—My first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all of the aches and swellings out of my joints—with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now feel like a new man."

To lose fat safely and quickly take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—an 85c bottle lasts 4 weeks—Get it at Pitt Drug Co., or any drug store in America.

If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.—(Adv.)
