DEMOCRATS SEE CLEAR TRACK FOR NEW BANK BILL

Government To Pour Millions Into Industries

TO ESTABLISH NEW BANKS IN RESERVE AREA

Proposal Also Will Enable R. F. C. to Make Loans Direct To Industry; $700,000,000 Will be Asked of Congress to Lend Money to Industry Unable to Obtain Loans From Regular Channels

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—Democratic leaders saw today a reasonably clear track ahead for President Roosevelt's plan to create 12 new banks dedicated to pouring $700,000,000 more capital into industry.

A bill to set up the new banking system with one institution in each Federal Reserve District, will be considered tomorrow by the Senate Banking Committee. A similar house bill is expected to start work immediately.

Substitution of the President's plan was expected to embrace a proposal by which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation also would make loans direct to industry.

Some of the features of the proposed bank plan are: The Federal Reserve System would set up the 12 banks in each district capitalizing them at $140,000,000 through the sale to the Treasury of stocks in the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Each bank would be empowered to borrow five times the amount of their capital bringing the total for the system to $700,000,000.

Plans would be made direct to establish businesses that were unable to obtain requisite financial assistance on a reasonable basis from usual sources.

Effects were made first, however, to make loans for as long as five years to business concerns through the bank and other financial institutions.

Investigation of the transfers was that of F. M. Wooten, commissioner, for Federal Land Bank, 271 acres, for $5,374.

The next most important of the transactions was that of W. A. Thigpen to Clayton M. Thigpen, 215 acres of land, for a consideration of $5,100.

The third largest deal was that of C. W. Humbler and wife to Frank Hart, 40 acres of land for $2,250. Another financial consideration of the same size was involved in the transfer of 45 acres of land from Dr. L. C. Skinner and wife to Nora Lea Heath, for a consideration of $2,250.

The remainder of the transactions follow: Mattie Humbler to Blaney Sumner, 130 acres $10,000; W. A. Thigpen to Clayton M. Thigpen, 215 acres $5,100.00; Eliza Jones to Virginia P. Jones 1 lot $103.00; A. J. Crane and wife to F. S. Powell and wife 1 lot $1,400.00; C. W. Humbler and wife to Frank

REVEAL VAST PLOT TO SPY ON AMERICA

Britain and France Also Involved in Espionage Activities In Paris

Paris, March 20.—(AP)—Spying against the United States, France and Great Britain was charged by police today to a widespread plot they said finally had been revealed through testimony of two American prisoners.

Investigators said Germany and Soviet Russia had been the beneficiaries of what authorities described as a vast international espionage syndicate.

Police of the United States and England have been co-operating in the investigation of the spy ring, and it was largely through their efforts that the tangled skein of the mystery of the so-called plot finally is commencing to unravel.

Police voiced the charge as developments came thick and fast following seven hours questioning of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bordon Switz, Americans in a secret session before Judge Andrea Beranon investigating magistrate, which did not end until shortly before last midnight.

Early today five persons including two women were arrested in what police described as a direct outgrowth of their questioning of the Switz, held in the alleged plot since December 20.

Police officials said the pair made a "full confession to whatever part they played."

A third woman police had expected to arrest today escaped, it was announced before the early morning raid which brought those held in connection with the investigation of the alleged firing to fifteen.

Paris, March 20.—(AP)—Hundreds of shouting persons crashed police lines today in an effort to capture eight Stavisky scandal prisoners on their way to jail from Bayonne. The police regained their men.

NAME SAFETY COMMITTEES AT MEET HERE

Township Citizens Enlisted in Campaign To Reduce Highway Deaths

Highway safety committees for each section of the county were named at a meeting at the court house here yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The meeting, called by Dr. R. S. McGeachy, safety director of this county, was attended by representative citizens from virtually all townships and much interest was manifested in the movement to reduce the death toll on public highways.

Dr. McGeachy presided and told of the movement in all parts of the state to enlist men and women in an educational undertaking to cut down the number of automobile accidents and accompanying injury and death.

Brief talks were made by Mayor R. C. Flanagan, who declared he thought the highway safety plan a good thing and stood ready to offer his aid in the movement.

Lieut. Lester Jones of the State Highway Patrol, told of the highway laws and said the committee members should find the dissemination of these laws would play a prominent part in the success of their plan.

Dr. McGeachy told of the contest put on in connection with the campaign. He said it is sponsored through the National Safety Council in conjunction with Motor clubs in all parts of the nation. Six population groups are embraced in the plan and the community in each group showing the greatest decrease in highway deaths during the year will be presented with a bronze plaque.

Recent vital statistics figures compiled in this state show that only four types of illness took more lives than automobiles. They were given as influenza, pneumonia, cancer and tuberculosis.

Fifty-six deaths were chalked up against automobiles in the state during the month of February and 107 deaths from preventable accidents were also recorded.

The committee members will be furnished with information dealing with the subject and a concerted campaign will be put on immediately to improve the accident situation.

Those named on township committees follow:

A. W. Sawyer, Ayden; John Stanton, Bethel; Mack Smith, Beaver Dam; R. N. Simmons, Belvoir; Arthur Woodard, Carolina; Roy Venters and S. A. Porter, Chicod; Dr. Stevens, Farmville; H. C. Smith, Falkland; Albert Mercer, Fountain; D. J. Whichard, Jr., Greenville; J. J. Satterthwaite, Pactolus; W. C. Chauncey and Hugh Stokes, Swift Creek; W. S. Stafford, Winterville.

In view of the size of the population in Greenville township, Dr. McGeachy said other names would be added to the committee in the near future.

TWO KILLED, ONE HURT IN ACCIDENT

Marshall, March 20.—(AP)—Two boys are dead and one is recovering from injuries as a result of an automobile accident in the remote Big Laurel section of Madison county late Saturday night. A fourth member of the party escaped injury.

Bronson Rice, 19-year-old son of John Rice, a farmer of the Big Laurel section, was killed instantly and Edmond Lewis, 17-year-old son of Theodore Lewis, a farmer of the Big Laurel section, suffered injuries to his chest from which he died two hours later, when the automobile in which four boys were riding, ran off the Lewis Branch road and fell down a 50-foot embankment. The car turned over four times and landed near Big Laurel creek.

A son of Wicks Rice received painful but not serious injuries. John Rice, who was also in the car, escaped unhurt.

Roosevelt Issues Warning. Washington, March 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today warned railway employers and workers to settle the wage dispute and suggested a public commission to examine the controversy.

The President took this action after railway employees had demanded a 20 per cent wage increase above what they are negotiating effective July 1.

In a letter to the concerning rail executives and labor officials the President reported his proposal for six months extension of the present wage agreement.

MEAT THEFT AT BALLARD'S

Eljah Stocks, of the Ballard's Cross Roads community notified police early today that approximately 900 pounds of meat was stolen from his smokehouse. The robbery was believed to have taken place about 2 o'clock but was not discovered until Stocks went to the smokehouse around daybreak to get a piece of meat for his breakfast.

He notified police of the robbery and an investigation was commenced immediately.

Chief of Police George Clark said that this morning the meat was valued at around $125. It consisted of hams and shoulders which Stocks had killed during the winter for consumption of his family until another hog killing time rolls around.

Officers expressed the opinion that the robbers came toward Greenville after leaving the Stocks farm. In fact the trail as it left the farm was in this direction.

This is the largest theft of meat reported in this immediate section in sometime. In fact, thieves in recent months have confined themselves to two or three hams or shoulders, apparently for home consumption until conditions improve.

Trappers were paid $115,000 for 200,000 pelts sold to fur dealers in Richmond, Ky., last year.

FREAK SNOW FALLS HERE

With Spring one day off, Old King Winter hurled a freak snowball at this section today to put what is generally believed to be a finishing touch on one of the most severe winters this part of the country has witnessed in many a day.

Snow started falling shortly before 10 o'clock this morning and in spite of the wet earth, the ground was well covered within half an hour.

The flakes descended thick and fast during the first hour and it the intensity of the fall is to be taken as a harbinger of what is to come, then the section is in for one of the largest snowfalls of the winter.

Rain descended here most of the night and the ground was thoroughly wet when the first flakes began falling. In a few moments the snow was coming down like a blanket, piling up on automobiles and making driving hazardous.

The snow, like the freak one of last week, was not forecast by the weather man, and came as a distinct surprise to the community. It caught lots of people unprepared as did the two bitter cold waves which swept over the state in January and February and hurried calls for fuel were received by virtually all fuel dealers of the city.

GREAT CHASM BETWEEN AUTO MEN AND LABOR

Attempt to Reach Decision as Strike Looms Less Than 24 Hours Away

New York, March 20.—(AP)—An ominous chasm separated automobile manufacturers and the American Federation of Labor today with what industrial circles called "the greatest strike in history" looming less than 24 hours away.

General Hugh S. Johnson directed a last minute fight to prevent major convulsion from retarding the march toward recovery.

Eyes were turned toward Washington to see what President Roosevelt would do.

The leaders of the industrial codes authority gathered for a second session behind carefully closed doors. Only the slightest progress is being made, came from the industrialists last night after they spent the day conferring amongst themselves and with the NRA chief.

Stocks sagged in Wall street yesterday as the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and the American Federation of Labor hurled denunciatory proclamations at one another.

ROTES TEST VOCAL POWER

Songfest Marks Regular Weekly Meeting Of Clubmen Here Last Night

By WYATT BROWN

With a bow to Apollo and wink at three of his nymphs, Caliope, Melpomene, and Thalia, we hasten to tell of last night's meeting of the Greenville Rotary club in their club building. Bill Lee, the chairman of the Music Committee, who had charge of the program, started it all.

Melpomene sat beaming as Bill did her well with "Little Grey Home in the West" and "Without a Song" singing in a good voice much to the pleasure of his fellow members.

Then, Edgar Meeks rendered "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes." At the piano was Mrs. Ray Tyson who continued there the remainder of the program in spite of it all.

Here is how it happened. Before getting started we had just as well tell you for you would hardly have heard him if you had been there even, it was Claude Gaskins who gallantly answered the challenge of "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf" variously stated to music by Yoe Walker, Edgar Meeks, "Happy" Watson, and Herbert Reberker with a chattering "tra, la, la." Then, everyone joined in the chorus lustily.

When Bill Lee called for all the good tenors and bases to come near the piano to improve the singing of Polyhymnia's choicest gem "Grandfather's Clock" which chorometer, incidentally, through twice as tall as grandfather, did not weigh an ounce more) it left Sam White, Doc Horne and Kinchen Cobb sort of lonesome at their places about the table.

Two new members were taken into the Rotary Club last night, B. D. Johnson and W. C. Dresbach. The attendance prize donated by John Aman was won? by Yoe Walker, member of the prize distributing committee???

INSULL PLANS TO RETURN TO U. S. SOMETIME

Chicagoan Will Wait Until Excitement Of His Case Dies Down Somewhat

Athens, March 20.—(AP)—Samuel Insull planned to return to the United States today after the excitement of his case dies down and he may live in America peacefully the rest of his life, one of the aged fugitive's attorneys told the Associated Press today.

The lawyer, Mr. Xeros, declared he was in communication both with Insull's ship on the Mediterranean and his London solicitors who are handling the former Chicagoan's affairs.

Although Insull's destination remained more a mystery than ever to the public, an attorney said Mrs. Insull and her husband's lawyer were maintaining close check with Insull by special code.

"Insull seems happy now in calm weather," the lawyer said.

"Whenever he is going now he will make his permanent home if the United States continues to persecute him.

Mrs. Insull will go to Paris Saturday and thereafter will leave for London in a few days," Xeros said.

Insull may visit as many as 20 countries before he finds a haven said Xeros.

SUNSHINE IS REPORTED IN SOME SECTIONS

Snowfall Traverses Areas From Southwest to the Coast; Latest Snow Since 1915; Fair Weather Predicted Tonight And Wednesday With Slightly Colder Temperatures

(By Associated Press)

Old Man Winter paid a farewell visit to the Carolinas today to intermix snow, sleet and rain followed with warm sunshine through large areas of the two states.

Spring will arrive officially tomorrow.

It is the latest snow in North Carolina since 1915 and sleet and fleecy flakes fell from one end of Tar Heel to the other as the storm traversed the areas from the southwest across to the coast.

Temperatures over the two states hovered well above the freezing mark and bright sunshine, which shone at most places today, melted the snow rapidly.

Fair weather was predicted for the two Carolinas tonight and Wednesday with slightly colder weather. A low mercury of 30 was predicted for Raleigh.

Greenville, S. C., had rain and sleet and snow during the night with freezing temperatures at 9 o'clock this morning, but at 9 o'clock the thermometer had gone up to 43 degrees.

Chester, in the Palmetto State, reported slight snow which was washed away by the rain.

High Point had shivers of apprehension when it sleeted there last night. Citizens recalled the damage done by the sleet and glare on the street there several weeks ago but their fears were abated when the sleet turned to snow and then rain. This morning the sun came out and melted the ice.

At Raleigh the lowest temperature was 33 but a two hour snowfall today gave lawns a white covering for awhile.

Durham, Greensboro and Rocky Mount also had snow. Today Charlotte reported snow during the night.

LAND SUIT IN COURT HERE

Controversy Over Piece of Property in Bethel Area Holds Limelight

The two-week term of Superior court which convened here yesterday morning started hearing in a case that threatened to go through the greater part of today before finally being completed.

It was the action of A. J. Simmons of Bethel, against J. L. Williams, of Greenville, it centered around a piece of land in the Bethel territory which the plaintiff turned over to Williams as security for a loan of $500 in 1932.

Simmons had a life estate in the property. The loan was to have been paid January 1, 1933. The agreement provided that if Simmons failed to repay the loan Williams should use the farm for two years.

Simmons failed to pay and last year Williams farmed on the property. He was planning to do the same thing this year when Simmons filed suit claiming the defendant made enough off the property last year to pay off the indebtedness.

Williams, on the other hand, claimed that there were so many debts to be paid on the farm that he did not make enough to pay the debt. In the original transaction Simmons turned over to Williams a signed deed to the property and one of the important issues which the jury must consider is whether the deed may be considered as a mortgage. The case was begun when court opened yesterday morning and indications were it would be completed sometime today, probably after the noon hour. It must then go before the jury for final consideration.

the public, the consumers of cigarettes: Under the present taxes the man who smokes a package of cigarettes a day pays to the government $21.90 a year, four times as much as the married man who has an income of $4,000 pays in income tax. It matters not how rich nor how poor the user of cigarettes may be, each time he purchases a package of cigarettes he pays in taxes to the government six cents. There is no other commodity, whether it be called necessity or luxury, on which there is levied so heavy a tax as on cigarettes.

Since 1929 there has been a decrease in the use of cigarettes. According to the best ascertainable figures, there were approximately ninety billion cigarette papers sold in 1933 for the use of those who roll their own cigarettes from tobacco on which the tax is eighteen cents per pound instead of one dollar per pound, as it is on the tobacco that goes into the manufactured cigarettes.

What would be the effect of the removal of the prohibition tax of ninety-five cents put on in 1919 and the war tax of eighty cents put on in 1917, putting the tax back to the figure of one dollar and twenty-five cents imposed until 1917. This is the question that Congress must decide.

It seems clear to us that the effect would be most beneficial to the farmer, to the manufacturer, to the consumer and in time to the government. As we are informed and believe, the reduction of the tax from three dollars per thousand to one dollar and twenty-five cents per thousand would enable the manufacturers who make cigarettes that now sell for fifteen cents a package to reduce the price of their cigarettes to ten cents, and the manufacturers who now make cigarettes to sell for ten cents to reduce their price to eight cents or two packages for fifteen cents.

These reductions would, we believe, so increase the use of cigarettes that the government would collect nearly as much revenue from the reduced taxes as it now collects from the higher taxes. The increased use would mean an increased use of good tobacco with resultant benefit to the grower and also to the manufacturer and the users of cigarettes, the consuming public, instead of paying six cents for taxes on each package would pay only two and a half cents.

Under the present plan there will be a reduction of 50 per cent in the land devoted to the growing of tobacco and in the poundage grown. This reduction works a material hardship on many growers. The man who has grown ten acres, the maximum one man with his family can care for, will be reduced to five acres from the growing of which the tenant cannot make a livelihood at any price that has been paid in the last ten years. We know of no movement that would insure more to the benefit of the agricultural sections of the tobacco growing States than the reduction of the taxes on cigarettes, with ultimate benefit to the government.

Try Our Want Ads. The fourth party in interest is the government. In 1910 the tax on cigarettes was $1.25 per thousand. As a war measure that tax was increased in 1917 to $2.05 per thousand and, as a result of prohibition, was increased again in 1919 to $3 per thousand. Under this tax the government collects approximately $800 million in taxes on the tobacco for which the manufacturer receives $300 million and the grower $100 million.

Judith Lane by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Big Tom Bevins' death breaks up Judith and Norman Lane's unquenchable love. Judith was formerly Big Tom's secretary, and has promised him to carry out his plans for the Big Tom Hotel and reclamation project should he die. Norman has returned from the Bevins house, where he was called by Mathilde Bevins, Judith's would-be rival. Now Norman tells Judith he finds he is too married to a millionaire stenographer.

Chapter 14 "RIGHTFUL HEIRS" NORMAN sat down on the couch, but this time instead of drawing Judith into the circle of his arm, he faced her.

"What did you mean about a millionaire stenographer?" she asked, with serious intentness. "A reporter just telephoned and asked me how it felt to be married to one. Judge E. C. Morgan has Tom Bevins' will, he filed it in probate court this morning. And—"

"Norman... go on." "He left you the bulk of his estate, several million dollars and the controlling interest in the Bevins Construction Company. His wife and daughter will be cared for through a trust fund."

He paused and waited for Judith to say something but she sat mute, staring into the flames. "Judith," there was a note of irritation in his voice, "haven't you anything to all to say?"

Judith looked up, her cheeks chalk white, her eyes limpid with unshed tears—"What can I say?" she asked. "Aren't you surprised... Judith?" and now she heard suspicion in his voice. "You didn't know this was coming did you?"

"No, Norman," she spoke with firm honesty, then added, "at least not this way." "You mean you expected money?" he asked. "No, I really didn't." "And under the circumstances you'll return it to the rightful heirs," he suggested gently.

Judith looked at her husband a forecast of pain to come in her eyes. To whom was her loyalty more important, the ghost of a memory, or this man beside her?

Guardedly, she answered, "Norman, I think we'll find when the will is read, that the money and the company stock has been left me in trust, not for my personal use."

"But of course that will be depriving Mrs. Bevins, the rightful heir, from using it as she would prefer." Judith looked up in surprise. She started to ask if the money had not been earned by Big Tom, then realizing he would see only the ethical side of such a question, countered with: "Let's wait and see for ourselves what the will contains. What else did the reporter want to know?"

"A million and one things. He wanted to know why the old gentleman left his fortune to you, his stenographer, instead of his rightful heirs..."

"Norman," Judith jumped to her feet, "if you say 'rightful heirs' to me again I'll scream. As if I could help what I didn't know was going to happen!"

SHE wheeled from him and ran to the little glassed-in sun-porch and threw herself onto a wicker couch. But there was no time for tears. Life was beside her, the telephone in his hands. "Miss Sanford," he said. "Hello, Judy. Cia's friendly voice came across the wire, 'hate like the dickens to call you at a time like this, but I'm determined you're going to have your say. Every biddy in town will be tearing your reputation to shreds by nightfall and... well, how about it child, what spell did you cast over Big Tom to have him leave you five million?'"

"Five million?" questioned Judith, then, "Cia, I swear I didn't know anything about it, but please, say for me that I'm hoping Mr. Bevins' heirs will withhold judgment until the will is read. Say if I have been left anything at all... and Cia, I give my word of honor I don't know what the will contains... but if I have been left anything, it has been left for me to carry out some business for him, and not for my personal use."

There was silence at the other end of the wire. Judith heard dim noises. The far buzz of a news city room, click of typewriters, call of Telephone Curly, take booth 2 and "Copy up," then Cia's voice again. "Judy, did I start this, telling you about the Lampere-Marietta conference in the file room?"

"I believe so, Cia. But don't say anything about it. It might put the other parties on guard. I can trust you, I know."

Judy listens, tomorrow, to a voice from the grave. REALTY STILL ON MOVE HERE (Continued from page one) Hart 40 acres $22,500.00 Town of Greenville to M. L. Wright 1 lot $125.00 L. M. Smiles and Silence Are Ruling France

By M. K. WHITELEATHER Paris—(AP)—A "dictatorship" of smiles and smiles has France under its thumb.

"Papa" Doumergue, premier extraordinary, has subdued political strife with his honest smile, pithy phrases and good old rule of early to bed and early to rise.

He has been backed solidly since he plastered walls with a three-sentence appeal as soon as he had patched a ministry from discordant political elements. His posters said: "To the French people: Citizens: I have been called to form a government of truce, pacification and justice."

"This government has been constituted. "In its name, I invite you in your turn to do your duty in renouncing all agitation and in placing above all the interest of France and the Republic."

This language cooled over-heated blood and cleared the streets of rioters. His next step was a daring one—for France. He told his ministers to keep their mouths shut. Thereupon the ministry of smiles and silence was born.

The silence rule hit hard at two stars of the Doumergue cast: Edouard Herriot and Andre Tardieu, ministers without portfolio. Each relishes his "wisecracks." But not a word has come from either. The 71-year-old ex-president, who thought he had washed his hands of public life when he left the Elysee Palace in 1931, lives a farmer's life in Paris. He has seen no reason to change for he considers that he is in the capital for only a short time.

He and Mme. Doumergue "put up" at a hotel. Mme. Doumergue prefers this suite overlooking the Tuilleries gardens to the sumptuous living quarters of the foreign office. The premier rises at 5:30 a. m., and goes through physical exercises. He arrives at his office at 9 o'clock. When luncheon time comes, he recrosses the Seine to his hotel and enjoys the meal with his wife. He leaves his office at 8 p. m., and nothing prevents him from going to bed at 10 o'clock without

A report from Johore shows that 45 persons were killed by tigers and 12 by crocodiles last year, compared with 85 persons killed by tigers alone in the preceding year. The report attributes the decrease to the campaign accounting for 185 tigers, eight leopards and panthers and two crocodiles.

"You can't fool a Tobacco Plant—that's why I use Royster Field Tested Fertilizer" If you want good quality leaf, with proper texture and weight, you've got to give your tobacco the kind of plant foods that stay with it, ripen it evenly, and hold it on the hill. Royster's Tobacco Fertilizer does these things. Our field-tests prove it to us. Your profits will prove it to you. Don't take any chance when you buy your fertilizer. Remember this: Royster's is made in one quality only—the best. You can pay more or you can pay less; but you cannot buy better fertilizer for growing tobacco. Royster experts are continually studying tobacco, learning all there is to know about fertilizing it. They never stop experimenting and improving. They test every fertilizer in the laboratory, then field-test it in the tobacco field. Only refined materials are used to make sure that the purest obtainable go into Royster sacks. As a result, we know that Royster Tobacco Fertilizer will give you the results you want. See your Royster agent today and let him know how many tons you need. F. S. AERIAL LEGION ROUNDUP TO BE HELD ON MAY FIRST

Aerial Legion Roundup May 1. (Special To The Reflector)

Indianapolis, Ind., March 19.—Plans are moving rapidly to completion for the second great aerial roundup of the American Legion, to be held May 1, with planes converging here, the home of national headquarters, from all parts of the United States; H. L. Plummer, assistant national adjutant in charge of membership, announces.

The date of the flight to Indianapolis is just prior to the meeting of the national executive committee May 3 and 4. "We are preparing for and look forward to transporting 100,000 membership cards and dues by plane that day," Mr. Plummer said. "The national roundup will immediately follow similar events within the various departments."

Mr. Plummer said four major routes will be covered by aerial messengers bringing cards in commercial planes. As last year, there will be numerous individual flights bringing cards, and some of the departments have already arranged for separate state trips in national guard planes to Indianapolis.

The first annual roundup, one year ago, resulted in 50,000 cards being collected by 50 planes in a single day.

The banquet to be held the evening of the roundup already has become an annual classic, and as last year, will be attended by outstanding figures in the aviation and military circles, representatives

THE PASSION PLAY PLEASURES LARGE AUDIENCE AT COLLEGE

Two large audiences, with reverent spirit and deep enjoyment, witnessed the impressive presentation of the Passion Play yesterday afternoon and night at East Carolina Teachers College.

From the time the curtain went up on the "Glorification of the Cross" and the triumphant entry into Jerusalem through the seven last days, they followed the scenes in the life of Christ as they were presented with sympathetic understanding and beautiful art. The beautiful story took on new meaning. The prologue as uttered by Rev. W. A. Ryan seemed to get the people into the right mood. There was an air of sanctity and one felt as if he were following Easter services in a Cathedral.

The lovely music, beautifully sung by the Greenville Choral Club under the direction of Harold Loring, with Mrs. Guy V. Smith at the piano, added greatly to the deep impression the whole made on the audience.

The costumes and lighting produced effects, neither glaring nor spectacular.

The acting of the main characters was done with great art. There are sixteen of the Passion Players. The few minor parts that were taken by local people were so well done that one did not realize all were not professionals. The groups such as the scribes, soldiers, people of Israel, made up of about fifty college students and fifteen Greenville high school boys, did splendid work. The director said he had never worked with a more responsive, satisfactory group of helpers.

Miss Elizabeth Madrin distinguished herself in the Salome dance. The director of the chorus was highly pleased with the results with the Choral Club and says Greenville has excellent musical material that it should have a strong permanent choral organization. The songs sung were among the most beautiful ever written. These were "Adoration of the Cross," "Palm Branches" by Jean Baptiste Favre, "Ave Verum" by Mozart, "The Crucifixion Chorus" by Steiner and the "Hallelujah Chorus."

In the afternoon there was, unfortunately, delay in getting started, due to difficulties in handling the stage scenery, but these handicaps were overcome so that at night there were no waits.

The entertainment committee of the college, of which J. B. Cummings is chairman, is responsible for getting the Passion Play here and assured responsibility for the guarantee.

The Junior Woman's Club joined in the sponsorship and helped in many ways to make a success of the occasion. It was at their request the Choral Club furnished the singing. Most of the publicity work was done by them under the direction of the representatives of the players. M. O. Fulcher, Jr. spent several days in town and handled the presentation here.

FRIGIDAIRE ANNOUNCES NEW REFRIGERATOR MODELS

Dayton, Ohio, March 21.—Enthusiastic over the promise of exceptional sales volume in the remaining months of the year, Frigidaire Corporation, subsidiary of General Motors, today announced introduction of the most comprehensive line of household electric refrigerators in its history.

Fifteen models with prices ranging from $99.50 to $500, plus freight, make up the 1934 line, according to E. G. Biechler, president.

Coincident with the unveiling of the new models on March 21 in more than 6,000 retail outlets from coast to coast, Mr. Biechler said that the largest advertising campaign Frigidaire has had in recent years will be inaugurated in 509 key city daily newspapers and national magazines.

"Contrary to the current trend of increasing prices," Mr. Biechler said, "Frigidaire is establishing the lowest possible retail selling price, consistent with maintenance of quality. Extraordinary sales volume in the last three months has enabled us to maintain mass production schedules."

"Our analysis of the requirements of many homes convinces us that a price this low opens the way for tens of thousands of housewives to modernize their kitchens even though their family incomes are in the lower brackets."

Do you think that all electric refrigerators are noisy and expensive to operate? ... Do you think that the ice trays of all electric refrigerators stick and have to be pried or hammered loose? ... Do you think that defrosting all electric refrigerators is a nuisance? Then visit our Spring Showing of the Frigidaire '34! It has automatic ice tray release... the trays slide out at a touch of your finger! It has automatic defrosting... turns itself on after defrosting is completed! The extra quiet motor is so efficient that it operates on an amazingly small amount of current!

And the Frigidaire '34 line contains models that have the Sliding Utility Basket which is wonderfully convenient for storing small articles... adjustable shelves... much greater Hydrator capacity... generous ice-freezing capacity... the convenient, new, Frigidaire Serva-shelf, and... Lifetime Porcelain inside and out!

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COON
Hollywood—(AP)—In movies they occasionally kiss and make up, but more frequently they make up and kiss—even though they've just been introduced.

It's a quaint procedure, and it happens so often that people in Hollywood think nothing of it.

It's "how do you do, Miss Curlylocks—a pleasure, I assure you!" and "delighted, Mr. Collar Ad—I've admired you on the screen a long time."

"Funny we never met, isn't it? There—they're calling us—I hope you don't mind—a touch of garble with your kiss. I'm sorry, but that cook of mine—and they would do the boudoir scene this morning, wouldn't they?"

And Miss Curlylocks and Mr. Collar Ad, formalities of introduction past, go before the camera and pretend with ardor that they've been sweethearts since childhood, or at least since the first reel.

That was the general situation though not the conversation when Joan Crawford met Edward Arnold, for the first time, on the set of "Sadie McKee" just before Arnold, as a tipsy man-about-town, was to make ardent love to Joan. As that, it was better than if they'd met before the next scene, which required Arnold to do some high-powered abusing of our Joan.

It happens most frequently with references to Hollywood, who soon learn that a kiss at first sight is just like routine, like Monday washing, and there's no time for embarrassment.

Still Rosemary Ames was somewhat embarrassed at her introduction to the studio portrait gallery, where before production on "I Believed In You," the usual pictures were taken in advance. She had to pose affectionately with John Boles, having just met him.

Jeanette MacDonald and Ramon Novarro had seen each other in pictures, but their acquaintance began when they co-starred in "The Cat and the Fiddle."

A love scene was first on the schedule after Madeleine Carroll, newly arrived from England, had met Franchot Tone, her leading man in "The World Moves On."

Clark Gable and Elizabeth Allan work on the same lot, but hadn't met until Gable, as a surgeon, walked on a set where his patient, Miss Allan, was reclining on a hospital cot. In this case the introduction was followed by an operation!

Stage actors who rush to Hollywood by airplane never know how often they are destined to land, figuratively speaking, in the arms of a Hollywood siren, to be kissing before the make-up is dry!

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, March 20.—(AP)—Stocks struggled toward recovery today but confronted by menacing labor situations in the motor and rail industries there was little vigor in the upturn.

Many issues which suffered in yesterday's reaction rallied fractionally to a point or more but buyers were still timid and prices soon drifted back to the previous closing levels.

Trading was again dull most of the time although the volume picked up on the decline.

Silver futures rallied round 6 to 8 cents an ounce and rubber, grain and cotton improved moderately. The British pound firmed in terms of the dollar but the gold currencies were still narrow. Bonds were irregular.

The upturn was over a wide front with particular activity in Motor, Steel and Rail shares. Late advances of one to around three points were shown by Dupont, Auburn, Santa Fe, General Motors, U. S. Steel American Telephone and U. S. Smelting.

Transfers were 1,750,000 shares.

Watch out for the telltale signs of jangled nerves

Other people notice them—even when you don't—little nervous habits that are the danger signal for jangled nerves. And remember, right or wrong, people put their own interpretations on them. So it pays to watch your nerves.

Get enough sleep—fresh air—recreation—and make Camels your cigarette, particularly if you are a steady smoker. For remember, Camel's costlier tobaccos never jangle your nerves—no matter how many you smoke.
