TOWARD MAIL CONTRACTS IN NEXT 3 WEEKS

Farley Says Advertisements for Bids Will Be Sent Out In Next Few Days.

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—New contracts to commercial air lines to transport the air mail for three months will be let within the next three weeks. Postmaster General James A. Farley made the announcement today following conferences yesterday with President Roosevelt.

Farley said no air mail company whose contract had been annulled for fraud and collusion may bid for a temporary contract. He also barred any company "which had as any of its officers or directors any person who had entered into or proposed to enter into any conspiracy to remove competitive bids to carry the mails or has made any agreement or given or promised any consideration whatever to induce any other person not to bid for any other mail contracts."

Advertising for bids will be sent out within the next day or two. Bids are to be submitted within 15 days. The successful bidders will be required to start operations within 30 days from the time of awarding the contracts.

Growers Must Show Compliance With Contracts

1934-1935 cotton acreage reduction contracts are being prepared by the cotton section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and contracting producers will be required to execute this evidence of compliance during the summer, after cotton has been planted and before the second rental payment is made.

The certification of performance it was announced by the cotton section, will consist of a determination, by the workers engaged in preparing such certificates, of compliance on the part of a contract signer with the terms of the contract and the administrative ruling relating to the contract.

In addition to the formal terms of the contract such as the correctness of the description of the farm covered, the acreage planted to cotton in 1934, the acreage marked as rented acres, the average productivity of planted and rented acres and other sections of the contract, the certification of performance also will concern itself with the landlord-tenant relationships.

An effort will be made by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration through the certification of performance to determine whether the express policy of preventing undue economic dislocation by displacement of tenants or share croppers is being followed by contract signers.

Included in the matters that will be certified will be the following: The number of tenants of the farm in 1934 as compared with those in 1934 and the reason for change, if any.

The use of rented acres by tenants for the production of home supplies. Consideration of any complaints by landlords or tenants that the other party to the farm lease is using the Government program for acreage adjustment to work a hardship on either party in violation of administrative ruling and public policy.

The cotton section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration pointed out that full responsibility for performance rests with the contracting producer and that government agents engaged in investigating compliance with the contract will check all facts.

Any contract which cannot be certified for performance is subject to cancellation under paragraph 9 of the contract.

SEAL IS CAUGHT BY MANTEO FISHERMAN

Manteo, March 28.—A seal weighing 75 pounds was the odd catch of Hiram Gallop last week. It is now in a canal near Gallop's home. They do not often stray down this way, but during winters as cold as the last, they have been known to come into the sound. It is usually the practice of seals, say the Dare county fishermen, to enter the nets where the fish are trapped; sometimes they have been known to clean out an entire net.

INSTANTLY KILLED BY BOLT OF LIGHTENING

Aberdeen, March 28.—Hugh Adcox, about 40 years of age, was instantly killed when struck by lightning during an electrical storm about one mile from Aberdeen this afternoon.

He was untying a piece of wire that was holding the rear door of his truck when he was struck by the bolt death was thought to be instantaneous.

Three Negro men who were standing nearby were badly stunned but soon recovered.

Mr. Adcox is survived by his widow and five children, three boys and two girls, the oldest 16 years of age.

A. Devin discharged the jury. One of the jurors said that the vote was 7-5 in favor of the plaintiff.

BEGIN HEARING SUTTON CASE IN COURT HERE

Suit for Recovery Of Property Will Consume Balance of the Week.

The tangled affairs of J. W. Sutton occupied the entire time of civil court here yesterday and indications were when court reopened this morning that today and tomorrow would be required for presentation of evidence and the case would not reach the jury before Friday at the earliest.

The suit is the outgrowth of the handling of Sutton's affairs over a period of several years by a series of guardians and receivers and now Sutton is seeking to recover his property. The time of the court yesterday was consumed with selection of the jury and presentation of documentary evidence only.

In 1927 Sutton was declared non compos mentis and his wife was appointed guardian and given charge of his affairs. This guardianship continued for two or three years and when it was found that the estate was suffering losses under her management L. W. Tucker was appointed receiver. During the receivership the home place was sold under foreclosure of a prior mortgage and Tucker asked to be relieved as receiver and W. J. Bundy, local attorney was appointed guardian and given charge of Sutton's affairs.

When the home place and certain personal property was sold under foreclosure the property was purchased by Joe and Guy Sutton, sons of J. W. Sutton, and during his guardianship Bundy entered suit in behalf of Sutton for recovery of the property alleging fraud and collusion in the disposal of the property. Last year Sutton declared that he had recovered his mental capacity and was restored by a jury to his own right. Following this restoration of Sutton to his own right Bundy made accounting of his guardianship and was relieved. The suit filed by Bundy as guardian for Sutton was continued by Sutton for recovery of his property and the hearing was begun yesterday.

TRANSFORMS NRA INTO A BIG MACHINE

Legal Department Will Get Quick Action On Violations and Complaints

(Copyright By Associated Press) Washington, March 28.—(AP)—Complete check of NRA for transformation finally into a machine to administrate nearly 400 codes of industry has been started by Hugh S. Johnson.

New Orders to Johnson's staff of 1,900 had placed the process of transformation in charge of W. Averell Harriman, useful special assistant. He is the son of E. H. Harriman, railroad builder and is himself an industrialist of wide respect. He is one of the newcomers to NRA.

The biggest change ordered the creation of a litigation division to handle all court cases in the name of the Department of Justice. This was aimed at more speedy disposition of cases. This new division will be under a legal department headed by Donald R. Richburg.

All other alterations were likewise drafted with a view to greater speed cutting off protests of industrialists against slow action in setting up policies. It likewise made all deputy administrators responsible for quick disposition of all cases of non-enforcement and violation of codes under their jurisdiction.

Late News Flashes From Over World

Seek Sustain Veto. Washington, March 28.—(AP)—Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, attempting to rally administration forces in the Senate today to uphold President Roosevelt's veto gave forth the assertion that the government should not discriminate against a citizen because he did not wear a uniform. The Democratic chieflain followed Senator Canning, Republican, New Mexico, who urged the Senate to override the veto.

To a packed gallery to listen to the debate, fully realizing that the verdict hinged upon a few votes, Robinson shouted, "Every citizen is expected to yield his service to his country when it is imperiled. One who went to a concentration camp to prepare for service at the front is not to be discriminated against but is not to get any privilege denied any other citizen who did his part but did not use a uniform."

INSULL SHIP HEADING FOR RUMANIA

Bucharest, Rumania, March 28.—(AP)—All Rumanian ports were watched closely today to prevent the landing of Samuel Insull whose chartered Greek freighter entered the sea of Marmora enroute to Eumrnia today.

Insull, Turkey, March 28.—(AP)—Samuel Insull's refugee ship Maiotis steamed into the sea of Marmora today after signaling Turkish officials at Dardanelles Heights that she was bound to Rumania with one passenger aboard. Whether Insull, himself was aboard the craft he chartered more than a week ago or had transferred to some other ship in the Aegean Sea was not learned. It has been understood that Insull was the only passenger aboard the Maiotis.

Watchers looked forward, however, to the possibility of learning for sure whether Insull was following the route of Jason Aronoy in the search for the golden fleece when the Maiotis entered the narrow Bosphorus Straits enroute to the Black Sea.

MOVEMENT ON REORGANIZE COUNTRY CLUB

Committee is Seeking Subscriptions to Assist Purchase And Operation of Club.

A movement is under way today for a new organization to purchase and take over the property of the Greenville County Club as a result of the club stockholders in annual meeting last night failing to make provision for assessments to take care of outstanding indebtedness to prevent foreclosure of the property next week.

The club was organized in this city more than ten years ago and since that time has been the chief center of recreation for the people of Greenville and surrounding community. A few weeks ago the club suffered the loss of the club house by fire and in order to continue to function it would have been necessary to assess the membership to raise sufficient funds to wipe out indebtedness and erect a new club building.

The chief cause of the financial plight of the club is due to the fact that most of the original stockholders have ceased active interest in the club and during the past year only 18 of the 136 stockholding members have been paying dues to the club. This together with dues from non-stockholding members was insufficient to pay running expenses of the club and take care of interest and payments on the club indebtedness. The matter was placed before the annual meeting of stockholders at Sheppard Memorial Library last night but after some discussion the meeting adjourned without taking any action on the matter or electing officers for another year indicating that the Country Club, so far as the majority of the old stockholders are concerned is a thing of the past.

Immediately following adjournment of the stockholders meeting many of the stockholders and others present began the formation of plans for a new organization to purchase the assets of the old club and continue operation. A special committee was appointed to solicit subscription of a sufficient amount to repurchase the property when it is sold at the court house door next Tuesday and then all the old stockholders will be given first opportunity to protect any equity they might have in the club through the purchase of the stock of the new organization.

Under the plan the committee would purchase this property and hold it as trustees for the new organization for a specified period of time to permit sale of the club stock and perfecting of a permanent organization. Just how far the plans of the new organization will go cannot yet be determined but it is hoped by those interested that sufficient stock might be sold to erect an adequate club house and assure sufficient monthly income for operation of the club not only as a golf club but with entertainment features attractive to non-golf players as well.

The present club property consists of more than 100 acres of land and one of the best nine hole golf courses in this section.

SEEK LOWER TOBACCO TAX

Manufacturers Recommend 40 Per Cent Horizontal Reduction on Cigarettes.

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—Manufacturers today asked the Ways and Means sub-committee to recommend a horizontal reduction of 40 per cent in federal tobacco taxes. The manufacturer's views were presented by Junius Parker, New York attorney, who said such a reduction would cut the price on cigarettes from $3 to $1.80 per thousand. The poundage tax on manufactured tobacco and snuff would be reduced from 18 cents to 10 cents a pound.

Parker appeared before the House group, headed by Representative Vinson, Democrat, of Kentucky, which yesterday heard farmers plead for a reduction in the $3 per thousand tax on cigarettes. The farmers, while unanimous in asking tax reductions, disagreed sharply on whether it should be on a horizontal or graduated basis of the retail price.

A lawsuit, "Jersey vs. Holestine" was listed on the docket of federal court in Kansas City. Holestine is a cattle man, but Jersey is a film salesman.

AUTO THIEF IS NABBED BY POLICE

White Man Already Under Two Criminal Charges Arrested For Stealing Car

Elwood Gwaltney, white man, was in the hands of authorities here today held on a charge of stealing the automobile of C. E. Oakley from in front of Mr. Oakley's residence on Library street last night. Mr. Oakley's car was connected with the local branch of Liggett-Myers Tobacco Company here and the car when stolen, contained approximately $50 worth of cigarettes and tobacco.

Late last night police officers found the abandoned car and then with the use of bloodhounds traced the thief, making the capture early this morning.

Gwaltney admitted stealing the car and its contents and told officers he had hidden the cigarettes across the river and the tobacco in the woods on the Falkland road. The tobacco was located at the spot designated by Gwaltney but when officers visited the hiding place of the cigarettes only a part of them were found, it being apparent that someone had located them first and made away with a part of them.

Gwaltney was already under bond for his appearance in April term of criminal court here on a charge of stealing an automobile and was to face a charge of assault with a deadly weapon in next week's session of county court.

Gwaltney is said to have made the remark that he had to get a car to leave here in before time for his trial. In addition to his record here police stated that his fingerprint records showed that he had served two sentences for stealing cars at Winston-Salem.

Cotton Option Holders Must Act At Once

Cotton producers holding approximately 14,500 cotton option contracts were reminded today by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration that these options must be exercised by May 1 or the proper arrangements made for an extension. It is estimated that outstanding options are approximately 90,000 bales of cotton.

According to the terms of the cotton option contract, the option expires unless it is received for execution before May 1, 1934 or unless a formal request is made for an extension. This formal request must be made on a form provided by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration (Form C-5-B) which has been furnished each option holder, and which specifies the conditions under which the option may be extended.

If an extension is obtained by the option holder, it is provided that the purchase price of 6 cents per pound is to be increased at the rate of 40 cents per bale per month or part of a month the contract is carried after May 1, 1934. This is to cover the carrying charges on the cotton.

Spring enrollment at Texas Technological college, Lubbock, showed an increase of about 10 per cent over 1933.

MARTIN INSULL IN HANDS OF CHICAGO COPS

Will Face Charges In Connection With the Collapse of Utilities Empire.

Detroit, March 28.—(AP)—The United States Immigration Service laid the ground work today for deportation of Martin J. Insull and then permitted Chicago officers to proceed with him to Illinois where he will face charges growing out of the collapse of the Insull utilities empire.

Walter Brooks, chief immigration inspector here, explained that Insull had declared himself a British subject and was paroled to Chicago police under an excluding order. The order required that the former utilities magnate, brother of Samuel Insull, be turned over to immigration authorities for deportation to Canada as soon as disposition is made of the charges against him at Chicago.

No bond was required and Frank K. Johnson, Chicago policeman, expected to leave before noon with his prisoner he had brought from Toronto. There Insull has fought to the last ditch against an extradition warrant signed by President Roosevelt.

Technically, Brooks said, Insull is detained as a person likely to become a public charge because he had neither passport nor visa.

Discuss Proposed New Basic Law At University

Chapel Hill, March 28.—Allen J. Maxwell, state revenue commissioner, will discuss "The Taxation Provisions of the Proposed North Carolina Constitution" under the joint auspices of the North Carolina Club and the Law School on Monday evening, April 2, at 7:30 o'clock in Bingham Hall.

Mr. Maxwell was a member of the Commission which wrote the new constitution and has had a considerable part in the drafting of the article on taxation, debt limitations and finance. The General Assembly of 1933, in submitting the constitution to the voters for adoption or rejection, next November, made only one minor change in this article.

At the suggestion of Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus in the mid-winter address here, the North Carolina club, as a major part of its study of state government, is conducting a survey of the proposed new constitution. Mr. Maxwell's address next week and that of Judge John J. Parker two weeks ago were arranged in accordance with this program.

The interest of the University Law school in the new basic law for the state is manifested in an article by Dean M. T. Van Hecke which will appear in the April issue of the North Carolina Law Review, entitled "A New Constitution for North Carolina."

This article, which will come from the press on the day of Mr. Maxwell's talk, critically examines the major provisions of the new instrument, and concludes with the hope that the voters of the state will adopt it next November. This hope is based upon the writer's belief that notwithstanding particular objections to certain clauses, the instrument as a whole is a constructive step toward the improvement of state and local government in North Carolina.

GASOLINE MERCHANT ABDUCTED AND ROBBED

Mt. Pleasant, March 28.—(AP)—J. O. Herring, 60-year-old filling station operator, reported to police that he was abducted here Monday night, driven several miles from the city and robbed of $20 by two men.

Herring, making his way back to town on foot, said one of the men grasped his arm after ordering a cold drink, and forced him into their car at pistol point.

He said the men, one large, dark-skinned and gruff, and the other a youth, drove him several miles toward Albemarle, took his money and ordered him to walk down a side road. As he did so, he said, the pair, driving without lights so he could not see the license on the car, headed for Albemarle.

Judith Lane

JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Judith Dale has left Norman Dale, her husband, hereafter to be out of the picture. Her former employer, in building the Rio Double dam with the money he left her for the purpose has convinced that Norman has sided with Morton Lamper, treacherous ally of the living heirs and Norman's daughter. Judith has gone to the apartment of her friend, Cia.

Chapter 21
RETURN

"NOW, out with it," ordered Cia. "How did you know I'd left Norman?" inquired Judith guilelessly.

Cia shouted, "Honey, if you'd worn an electric sign spelling 'Reno Bound,' it wouldn't have shown any plainer. Aside from that, every sheet in town has telephoned to ask your best friend... that's me in case you don't know it... when you intend divorcing Norman."

Judith reached for one of Cia's cigarettes, lighted it and puffed awkwardly—"not going to," she announced, "he's going to divorce me."

"What!" Cia sat upright, surprised for the first time.

"That's why I'm here, to make it easy for him."

"Judith Dale, do you mean to sit there and tell me that Norman has said he intends divorcing you?"

"No, he didn't but the newspaper said—"

"Judy, begin at the beginning."

She did and when she had completed her story Cia reached for the telephone—"How you ever reached the age of twenty-four without the squirrels stuffing you into some old hickory tree is beyond me... yes operator, Glencourt 58-3200... divorce you," she sniffed, "you poor infant, don't you know that's what Lamper's after?"

"With Norman standing by you he can't touch you... hello... oh, Delphy, this is Miss Cia. Is Mister Norman in... oh I see, when? All right, yes, she's here, Delphy, but she'll be back home in about an hour. Oh yes you will," to the protesting Judith.

She slammed the receiver into place, then darted to her clothes closet and in a few moments returned, ready for the street—"Come on, we're getting out to Hillendale before it's too late... trot along. Where are my car keys, I wish someone would invent a car key with a bell that rang when you whistled... oh there they are, right by my purse."

"Now," she said as they threaded traffic, "Norman has gone to Galveston. He had to be in court at ten o'clock. He left a letter for you with Delphy and the poor old woman is nearly frantic."

Judith felt her face flush. Had she acted too hastily? But the newspaper article—surely she couldn't have remained in the house with Norman under the circumstances?

"If you'd read that properly you'd have discovered the whole thing came from Lamper," was Cia's comment.

Delphy was on the porch, her wrinkled black face puckered with worry—"Miz Dale, I sure is glad you is back, that there telegram has been ringin' its fool head off. I say, Miz Dale way out in the garden, leave yo' numbs an' I see she call you."

"Delphy you're a golden hearted diplomat," Cia said.

Delphy questioned the diplomat but she knew the meaning of a golden heart and went off for her inevitable pot of hot chocolate, "Miz Dale was that white in the face."

JUDITH went to her room, Norman's letter in her hand. Would he say he was through or... she slit the envelope.

"Judy, my dear, I'm rushing for Galveston, driving, have to be in court at ten. Only court could keep me from finding you and telling you how foolishly you have jumped to conclusions."

"Knowing me, could you think I would handle the fight against the Bevins with you as defendant? I know how true your motives are, I've never doubted you for them for an instant. My only concern has been that you see things in their true light and not distorted by even admirable sentiment."

Mathie was never a sweetheart of mine, merely a playmate with whom I was constantly thrown because our houses were in the same block, and our families friends. You may not know that it was the friendship of Big Tom for my father which won my firm the Bevins Construction Company business. The Bevins, Lamper, Mother and myself tried to trash things out last night but, as far as I was concerned, not nowhere. Under the present circumstances it seems as if I must make a choice between love and ethics. It isn't easy to leave a firm, founded by one's granfather, especially when practically all of my money is either in that or in Hillendale. Without the firm's backing I don't know that we could carry on with our home."

"I didn't come near you last night because I could not trust myself to think with sanity, if you were in my arms. Try to understand ahead. Road and weather vary the safety factor."

LAY PLANS FOR ORGANIZATION LOCAL LEAGUE

A group of men representing Kinston, Ayden, Snow Hill, Greenville, Rocky Mount, Washington, New Bern and Macesfield met in Kinston last night and discussed the question of organizing a baseball league for this summer. Goldsboro sent a letter asking for admission to the league.

They decided definitely that there would be six clubs in the league and that two games would be played at home and two games abroad each week.

Most likely the league will be composed of the four clubs in the league last year with New Bern being added to form a six club league.

Guy V. Smith, president of the league, and H. H. Duncan and R. L. Powell president and secretary respectively attended the meeting and represented Greenville. The next meeting of the league will be held in Greenville on Wednesday night April 11th at the Chamber of Commerce. At this meeting a number of important questions will be decided upon, such as how many games will be played, player limit, price of admission, amount of bond to be posted for franchise, opening date of the league.

Each town has been asked to elect their officers so their president can represent the club at the league meeting.

President Duncan, of the Greenville club, has called a meeting for Friday night March 30th in Greenville at the City Hall at 7:30 p. m. to elect officers for the Greenville Club for this year and to discuss other baseball questions. Everyone interested in baseball is urged to attend this meeting.

E. C. T. C. LOSES TO GUILFORD

East Carolina Teachers College baseball team opened its campaign here yesterday and was handed a 7-4 setback by Guilford College.

The Quakers got off to an early four-run lead with the air of errors and then sewed up the contest by bunching blows for three counters in the seventh. All scoring by the Teachers came after two were out in the ninth. Two triples and two doubles featured this four-run spurge. Cobb, pinch-hitting, tripled to send in two runs.

Dunn, teachers' hurler, gave seven hits and fanned seven. He walked three. Weston Guilford hurler, allowed nine hits and fanned five. He was rather generous with free tickets to first, passing seven.

Johnson led the Teachers at bat hitting two singles and a double. Kapelec hit a triple and a single led the Quakers. Johnson and Purnell were the opposing catchers.

U. N. C. LIBRARY DISPLAYS BOOKS BY FACULTY

Chapel Hill, March 28.—The University Library has on display, in glass cases in the lobby, a collection of books written by members of the faculty in the ten years 1925 to 1934.

Although they represent only a part of the publications by the faculty, they cover wide fields of knowledge. Periodicals, pamphlets, bulletins, monographs appearing in such a series as the James Sprunt Historical Studies, have not been included, says a notice from Librarian Robert B. Downs, "for if they were the list would require a separate volume in itself. Thus, unfortunately, is omitted the bulk of the scientific writings, from the department of botany, chemistry, geology, mathematics, medicine, pharmacy, physics, and zoology, for most of their contributions, as well as those from other departments, appear only in periodicals."

In the list prepared by the Library the books are arranged by department or subject, alphabetical by author, then chronological by work. On the list are 176 books written by 81 men and women connected with the University for either the whole or a part of the ten-year period.

A lot of our people seemed to be upset because on Sunday the News and Observer reprinted an editorial written by Robert Quillen of Fountain Inn, South Carolina, referring to the crime wave at Greenville without mentioning the fact that the Greenville referred to was not our own Greenville but the one in our sister state of South Carolina. True some of the things Quillen said about his own Greenville might well be applied to our Greenville and maybe it was for this reason that our people didn't like it. Although we haven't had a $50,000 bank hold-up similar to the one referred to, we have had more than our share of crime of late and instead of our people worrying about a little unfavorable publicity we might get because of failure to distinguish between the two Greenvilles, we would do much better to use our efforts and worries over the situation as it exists in this community.

SPEED BREEDS DEATH

One of the most serious aspects of the automobile accident problem is a constant increase in the number of fatalities per accident. In 1933, for example, the number injured non-fatally increased 2.2 per cent over 1932—while fatalities jumped 5.9 per cent.

The reason for this is obvious: Excessive speed. It is an incontrovertible maxim that the chance of an accident producing a fatality becomes greater as the speed of cars involved increases. A vivid example of this is provided by comparing last year with 1927. Registrations in 1933 were less than 3 per cent above the 1927 level. The total number of miles driven by passenger cars was little, if any, greater. But there were 17 per cent more deaths.

A recent exhaustive survey produced the fact that excessive speed was responsible for 3 per cent of all automobile deaths. And that term, "excessive speed," needs a definition. There are times when fifteen miles an hour is dangerous and there are times fifty miles an hour is overcautious. Road and weather conditions, the amount of traffic, the experience of the driver, the condition of the car—these factors, rather than a mere speedometer reading, are the tests of safe operating speeds.

Any speed is unsafe if the driver is unable to stop his car in the assured clear distance ahead.

SHE followed Delphy downstairs to find Cia out-of-doors on her knees, picking violets—"Judy, you're not bright," she said looking up. "The idea of giving up a home like this just to tickle your temper." She arose, hands busy with the purple-headed blossoms, looked up for a brief moment, caught the expression on Judith's face and looked down quickly. "What are you going to do now?"

"If I did what I wanted to do, I'd fly to Galveston on my own wings and tell Norman what a ninny I've been."

"Why tell him, he knows it? But if you want to fly, I'll phone Slim. You realize of course he'd beat Admiral Byrd's time to the south pole if you crooked your little finger."

Judith laughed—"I'd prefer the Treasure Isle, if he would take me, and leave here in time to get down there for dinner."

A telephone conversation with Slim Sanford assured her she would see Norman that night, so Judith went about the business of the new company.

She had asked the members to hold a morning session without her, so after lunching with Cia, in the friendly clatter of the Rice Grill, she went to the bank to take the papers from her safe deposit box and with Cia's assistance to carry them to Judge Morgan's office.

Pansing at the door, Cia just behind her, she looked in to see thirteen men, instead of the seven who had followed her the preceding day. A gasp from Cia, and a pull on her jacket made her hesitate, then turn back.

"See that chap with the cat-in-the-cream expression and the salt and pepper pants?" demanded the redhead. "He handled the under-cover work for Martellan's election."

"That means he's representing Lamper," Judith caught the implication quickly. "Cia, how soon can you give me something definite on him? These men are mostly engineers. They won't know him and I don't want him in on our plans."

"I'll telephone our political editor, then call you into Morgan's private office as soon as I'm ready."

Judith entered, was greeted with warm cordiality and led to the head of the long table by Justin Cunard. There she sat and listened to a report of what had occurred that morning. Her mind, free of worry since Norman's letter, was completely engrossed in the problem before her.

Cunard had just concluded when Judith was called to the telephone in the Judge's private office. Cia motioned for her to take the receiver and listen to the political editor's reply to her question.

When Judith returned to the board room her manner was brisk, alert.

"Mr. Cunard," she said, "before going further I would like to greet the new members of our board and meet the one whom I haven't met."

Judith spoke briefly to the men whom she had remembered seeing during previous meetings when she had acted as Tom Bevins' secretary, then she turned to the stranger.

"And Mr. Scathorne, J. C. Scathorne, acting proxy for Carl Mathis who is in the east," explained Cunard.

"Mrs. Dale, Mr. Mathis asked me to extend his heartfelt sympathy and most sincere congratulations," began Scathorne.

SCHOOL CENTRALIZATION SAVES OHIO $2,000,000

Columbus, O.—(AP)—A saving of $2,000,000 in two years is claimed by Joseph W. Fichter, assistant director of education in the closing of 300 "expensive and unnecessary" schools in the state aid districts.

Closing of the schools, of which there are about 4,000 in some 830 districts in the state, was done, says Fichter, without sacrificing service. Transportation facilities were revised, routes consolidated and the pupils of closed schools "centralized."

a better FERTILIZER for better times

"LAST YEAR I used 3-8-8 for tobacco and it proved superior to 3-8-5," says S. E. Harrington, of Ayden, N. C. "For the last 10 years I have never used less than 5% potash in my tobacco fertilizer, good times and bad. My first experience with 8% potash for tobacco was in 1930 and you could tell it to the row.

"Potash holds your tobacco on the hill after it ripens and saves losses from burning. When tobacco ripens normally you can get a barn cured out before you are ready for the next one. This is one of the best things extra potash does.

"My son, Edwin, sold five acres of tobacco last year for $1,775.70. It was the best crop on the place. It was fertilized with 3-8-8 and the average yield was 1,254 1/5 pounds per acre.

"I have used extra potash on both light and dark lands with good results. You have to judge your land and the amount of fertilizer to get the crop you want."

"3-8-8 FERTILIZER superior to 3-8-5" —says Mr. HARRINGTON

Mr. Harrington and other leading bright tobacco growers have found that it does not always pay to buy fertilizer on brand name alone. Check up on the analysis! Make sure your fertilizer contains the proper amounts of the proper ingredients to pay you best. Make sure it contains at least 8% potash.

Your fertilizer man is familiar with the outstanding results obtained by many leading growers from the use of extra potash. That is why he now has 3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER on sale. This mixture contains the extra potash your tobacco needs to produce increased yields of improved quality.

Quality is more important this year than ever before. The growers who produce the best quality tobacco will benefit most from better times. Use better fertilizer this year and produce "high-dollar" tobacco. Tell your fertilizer man you want 3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER.

If you wish extra copies of this advertisement and others which have appeared or will appear, simply request these on a post-card addressed to N. V. POTASH, 19 West 44th St., New York, and they will be sent you free of charge.

LITERATURE DEPARTMENT WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Literature Department of the Woman's Club met Tuesday afternoon in Ragsdale Hall, with Miss Frances Wahl as hostess. In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. W. A. Darden, Mrs. J. H. B. Moore presided.

The subject for the afternoon was "China." The paper was written by Mrs. R. J. Gray and read by Mrs. J. H. B. Moore which was very much enjoyed.

There are four hundred million people in China. She told how we must read different books to get different ideas of China. She told about some splendid books "Good Earth" and "Sons," by Pearl Buck. "Mother," her latest book, and "My Chinese Courtship" are good books, and the "House of Exile" by Nora Waln, is an excellent book, and "Oil for the Lamps of China," is a new book by Alice Tisdale Hobart.

These books are in our own library. She said if we will read these books we will have a better understanding of China. The hostess, assisted by Miss Hyman and Miss McGee, served delicious angel food cake and coffee and nuts.

The meeting adjourned to meet next time with Mrs. W. A. Darden.—Reported.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Matter" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and Societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sun day, March 25.

The Golden Text was from Exodus 20:7 "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Hearken unto me, my people; and give ear unto me, O my nation: for a law shall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to rest for a light on the people" (Isaiah 51:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Human belief has sought out many inventions, but not one of them can solve the problem of being without the divine principle of divine science. Deductions from material hypotheses are not scientific. They differ from real science because they are not based on the divine law. God never ordained a material law to annul the spiritual law. If there were such a material law, it would oppose the supremacy of Spirit, God, and impugn the wisdom of the creator. Jesus walked on the waves fed the multitude, healed the sick, and raised the dead in direct opposition to material laws. His acts were the demonstration of Science, overcoming the false claims of material sense or law." (p. 273).

SPECIAL SERVICE MEMORIAL BAPTIST CHURCH THIS EVENING

A third service in the present series was held last night with a good audience in attendance. Everyone entered heartily into the singing of the Gospel hymns which have much of inspiration and spiritual help for us. The fellowship of praise together brings much for which we are deeply grateful.

The message of the evening on the topic "God's Estimate of the Lost," was thoughtfully received, and led the thought of the listeners through a consideration of God's clear message upon this most important matter.

The services continue tonight, and a good congregation is expected to be in attendance. Our topic tonight is "The Three-fold Message of the Cross." There will be special music.

Mrs. William Webb and Mrs. E. V. Carter sang a beautiful duet as a fitting prelude to the message of the evening. These contributions to the spiritual value of the services are very much appreciated.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who can be with us as we worship together.

BETHEL NEWS

Bethel, March 26.—Last Monday afternoon from four until five-thirty, little Miss Gretchen Staton entertained about fifty of her young friends at a party celebrating her eighth birthday. Pink and green were used as a color scheme throughout in favors, decorations, and in the arrangement of the table, the centerpiece of which was a big birthday cake. Several games were enjoyed by the guests, at the conclusion of which, Mrs. H. V. Staton, the honoree's mother, assisted by Mrs. J. B. Bunting, Mrs. P. L. Andrews, Jr., and Mrs. J. R. Matthews, served a delicious ice course, in which the prevailing color scheme was used. Attractive Easter favors were presented to the guests on departure. Little Miss Staton was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Mr. E. L. Mayo of Bethel, is very much improved after a serious illness of pneumonia. Miss Iola Tankard spent the past week-end in Raleigh and Garner. Mr. H. V. Staton spent the past week-end at home with his family.

RED OAK NEWS

One of the most successful plays our community has ever given was at Winterville last Friday night when practically everyone around here turned out to see "The Wild Flower of the Hills," a three-act play sponsored by the Red Oak Woman's Club.

In spite of drizzling sleet and rain we had a good crowd present and they were generous in their applause. It is hard to say who the outstanding character in the play was since all performed their particular part exceedingly well.

Miss Ruth Evans took the leading role as "Chloe," an unwelcome wife and numbers of people have commented that they have never seen a better amateur actress. She won her audience from the very beginning by her winsome manner.

Clifton Crawford, as "John," an aviator, played opposite her and he was splendid in every way. Miss Rubelle Vandford as his mother, Mrs. Burke, and Miss Charlotte Tyson as Sue, a designing girl, could not have been excelled by anyone.

Mrs. R. B. Tyson played the part of an old southern "Mamma" to perfection. Elbert Mose as "Mose," a lazy no-account nigger, and Mrs. Pat Vainright as "Lilly," furnished most of the comedy and they outdid themselves in their acting.

Travis Crawford, as "Jed," and Gorman Dickerson as "Zack" were handsome looking "moonshiners" and gave an excellent portrayal of their parts.

Last but not least was one of the best in the play. It was Edgar Allen as "Snow-white," a man of mystery, and Edgar was unexcelled in his part. Take the play as a whole, it is one of the most enjoyable ones we have ever given.

We, the Woman's Club of Red Oak, wish to thank these boys and girls for time and efforts they have given and we also wish to thank the men and women of Greenville, Winterville and Red Oak who stood behind us with their money and your presence.

We are indeed proud of the way our own folks backed us up. We have been extended an invitation to present our play at the Chieod high school auditorium on Thursday night of this week, March 29th. We hope that we shall see many of our friends there as we gave our club play there last year to an appreciative audience.

We are making this special offer to anyone who saw the play Friday night. If you will go and take someone who didn't go before you will be admitted free.

Little Jane Tyson, who has been quite ill with flu, is convalescing nicely. Mrs. Henry Smith has been very ill the past week. We hope she will soon be well.

The Sunshine Class invites you to their Easter service next Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

agricultural surplus products for silver.

The bill was passed with many votes to spare. At the time he agreed to call up the Dies bill, Rainey also promised proponents of the Fiesinger silver measure—far more drastic—that if the House passed the Dies bill he would permit a vote on their proposal.

Now it is indicated the administration has no desire to see the House express itself on the Fiesinger bill. It is rumored that Speaker Rainey has been told so.

Still, there's the matter of his promise. If he permits the vote, will that place him in the category with others on the "wrong" list?

The subcommittee of the House military affairs committee investigating war department contracts, according to those on the inside, deliberately chose to chart its inquiry by focusing the spotlight on the activities of the present administration.

Rogers of New Hampshire, chairman of the subcommittee, is credited with having the investigation reverse the usual procedure and start at the end and work back to the beginning.

His idea was to remove any possibility that Republicans might raise the charge of partisanship and politics.

The strategy seems to have worked. Democrats involved in the letting of war department contracts, it is believed, stand a good chance of getting a clean bill of health from the committee.

Rogers is now free to scrutinize contracts let under Republican administration without fear of having the charge of politics hurled at him or his committee.

HIGH ROCK LAKE NOW NEARLY TO MAXIMUM

Rip's Bright Idea

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER "Caw, caw," laughed Christopher. So that was the fine singer! He couldn't finish his song and had to run away. Caw, caw, that's a joke.

"I cannot imagine what got into the dog," said the Signor to Willy Nilly. "Ah, he is such a great artist that I suppose he felt his audience was not of the right kind."

"If you don't like us," said Willy Nilly, "you don't have to stay." He was being spl from his chorus, he had no time to do anything for himself, and now not only was the camping of the circus here an interruption—it had become the reason for quarrels.

"There, there, my little man," said the Signor pleasantly, for he had no intention of leaving Puddle Middle where there was so much room for them to try out their new acts, and so few people anywhere nearby.

"There, there," the Signor repeated, "we'll forget all that has been said, and we'll have a band concert. The music will make us all feel better."

In the meantime the dog, who was to sing the wonderful song, had followed Rip. He had left his act and had forgotten all that he was supposed to do as Rip had whispered one magic word to him.

"Bones," Rip had said, and had looked at the dog slyly in a knowing way as though to say that he knew where bones were to be found.

"Where are the bones?" the dog had asked after Rip had led him quite a chase.

"I don't know," Rip grinned. "That was a bright idea of mine to stop your singing!"

New York Cotton

New York, March 28.—(AP) Cotton futures opened steady three to seven lower under liquidation and the unfavorable view on amendment to the Bankhead bill in the Senate.

Prices rallied from 3 to 4 from the lows on appearance of Liverpool buying on differences and far eastern price fixing by the demand market.

May sold off from 11.86 to 11.81 and at the end of the first hour prices were at net losses of 5 to 9 points.

The decline extended to net losses from 11 to 15 points later in the morning under more or less general selling credited largely to liquidation of floor contracts.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, March 28.—(AP)—A quiet rise in some of the non-ferrous metals gave the stock market a little brighter appearance today after yesterday's setback.

Most of the list held virtually unchanged from yesterday's final levels, however, and trading was about as dull as at any time this year.

The bond market held an even keel and most commodities were barely unchanged. Wheat was steady—cotton a little lower and rubber and silver futures a bit higher.

Strength in the non-ferrous metals evidently reflected a little inflationary sentiment in speculation prompted by the blow to President Roosevelt's economy plans by the House overriding his veto of the independent offices bill.

The silver movement also commanded attention with the Senate agriculture committee holding a hearing on the Dies bill.

Attacks Banhead Bill

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—With a vote imminent in the Senate on the Bankhead cotton control bill Senator Patterson, Republican, Missouri, called the measure today destructive of the principles of human liberty we have known in this country for 145 years.

Victorial power as great as that of Stalin would be given the Secretary of Agriculture over cotton, the Missourian asserted. With the statement that if they can do that with reference to cotton they can do it with reference to corn, wheat and others.

HOMEMIXED FERTILIZER Best By Test

We are using blood, cotton seed meal, peruvain, fish, and genuine animal tankage for our Organic Nitrogen in BLOUNT'S NEW DEAL; BLOUNT'S PREMIUM and BLOUNT'S WORTHMORE brands. We are using Nitrate of Soda and Sulphate of Ammonia for our Mineral Ammonia. (However, we do not recommend too much Sulphate of Ammonia in Tobacco Fertilizer.) We are using Genuine German Sulphate of Potash Magnesium and Muriate of Potash for our Potash. We are using Superphosphate for our acid. We are using Magnesium Mascot Lime for filler in our tobacco goods. All these materials are well seasoned and thoroughly cured.

There is no better fertilizer than we make out of these materials. We know this because we have been dealing with fertilizer for many years both home-mixed and other brands, and know that the home-mixed brands are better because of the test we have put them to under our own crops.

For one time in your life you can buy fertilizer and have it made to suit the land on which you are going to use it, and know at the same time just what it is made of. Buy your fertilizer from the BLOUNT FERTILIZER CO., and come to our factory and see for yourself just how it is made.
