INTERESTING CONTESTS IN POLITICS HERE

Several Contests For County Offices Indicate Interesting Campaign

Despite the fact that the coming primary is commonly spoken of as an off-year election announcement of candidates for the various county offices indicate that there will be sufficient contests to make the campaign at least an interesting one.

Yesterday J. Vance Perkins formally announced his candidacy for the office of County Treasurer the post now held by A. T. Moore.

Perkins is a native of this county the son of J. L. Perkins of Stokes. He has made his home in Greenville for a number of years and has been engaged in business here.

On the other hand Moore has held the office for several terms and on any occasion has led the entire county ticket in the number of votes and his friends are just as confident that victory will be his.

While no announcements have yet been made for the lower house of the General Assembly the contest for the upper branch promises to be an interesting one.

Senator A. B. Corey, who two years ago represented this county in the state legislature is being contested by Mrs. J. B. Spilman.

At this time there has been no indication of any contest for the posts of county commissioners but Dudley's entry into the sheriff's race will make at least one vacancy that must be filled from the outside even should there be no opposition to the other members of the board.

Contests for various township offices will no doubt add local color to the campaign in the various parts of the county, and no doubt before the filing time closes there will be other candidates in the field for county offices.

The only contest extending outside of the county is that of D. M. Clark, solicitor, who is being opposed by Thomas Moore, of New Bern.

This contest at one time appeared to be another three-cornered race but the recent withdrawal of L. L. Ward of New Bern from the race left the field to Clark and Moore.

In the campaign of 1928 Moore was Clark's opponent but Clark proved the victor. With the race narrowed down to the two candidates Clark's friends feel that his contest will not be as difficult as had the race remained a three cornered affair.

Officers today were searching for parties who during the early hours this morning broke into and robbed, Smith's Place, a filling station just west of this city, according to the owners of the place.

The robbers had gained entrance to the station, taking about a dozen cartons of cigarettes and a slot machine and escaped. Most of the stolen property was found scattered along the highway a short distance from the station this morning.

COSTNER CASE NEARING THE JURY STAGE

Defense Presents No Evidence In Trial of Charlotte Mail Robber

Charlotte, April 3.—(AP)—Evidence was completed today in the trial of Isaac Costner, Touhy gangster charged with participating in the $105,000 mail truck robbery here last November 15.

Watkins and Young testified Costner had admitted his part in the crime and then Earle produced fingerprints taken from an apartment where Costner admitted prior to the trial he and other gangsters had stayed while planning the hold-up.

Costner, before the trial had said he would plead guilty but changed his mind when he and his counsel said government officials failed to keep their promise that he would be granted amnesty in return for his testimony in the Chicago trial of Basil Banzhart for participation in the Jake Factor kidnaping.

Banzhart, also indicted in the mail robbery here, is under 99 years sentence for kidnaping.

SENATE GIVES ATTENTION TO REVENUE BILL

Some Would Raise Income Taxes 50 Per Cent or More Over Present Scale

Washington, April 3.—(AP)—Amendments that would radically rewrite the $333,000,000 tax bill appeared likely to keep the Senate busy the rest of the week.

Chairman Harrison, of the finance committee, had the right of way at today's session to bring forward alterations that added about $72,000,000 in estimated revenue to the $258,000,000 measure passed by the House.

Senator LaFollette, Republican of Wisconsin, who proposed the 50 per cent increase would raise the normal income taxes from four to six per cent and increase surtaxes on the higher brackets to a maximum of 71 per cent on incomes of over $75,000.

Senator Gore, Democrat, Oklahoma, offered a proposal to cut down high salaries by a high tax that would allow no deductions above the $75,000 mark.

ROTCY CLUB MEETING HERE LAST NIGHT

Announce Completion Plans For Inter-City Meet Here Next Monday Night

By WYATT BROWN

President of the Rotary Club, Kinchen Cobb announced at the regular meeting of the club last night that final plans for the inter-city meeting to be held in Greenville this coming Monday night has been made.

Last night first thing Mrs. Ray Tyson, club accompanist had the boys singing to the tops of their voices enjoying many of the old familiar tunes and a rollicking good time.

The program last night was in the hands of the Vocational committee with Charlie Roberson as acting chairman.

Roy Campbell was the first speaker of the evening and revealed some of the secrets of electrical refrigeration. He said that nowadays the electrical refrigerator do not only regulate the temperature but also humidity.

"Doc" Horne made some very interesting remarks on the significance of "standing for something" in ones business. The recent severe depression could have been mitigated considerably had the human beings in this nation kept themselves clean.

One guest, N. H. Whitehurst, welcomed by the club, B. D. Johnson was inducted into the club with brief explanation of the meaning and purpose of Rotary.

COUNTY BOARD HOLDS SESSION

Tubercular Conditions and Possibility Of County Sanatorium Discussed

The Board of County Commissioners held its regular monthly meeting yesterday at which time it attended to routine matters, gave authority for the addition of a deputy to the sheriff's staff and heard and discussed of the tubercular situation in this county.

While no definite action on the latter could be taken immediately indications were that yesterday's beginning would lead to some definite steps in the near future toward procuring a tubercular sanatorium for this county.

Following its regular business meeting yesterday morning the board convened in the health department quarters in the afternoon and heard Dr. P. P. McCain head of North Carolina Sanatorium and Dr. L. B. McBrayer, president of North Carolina Tuberculosis Association discuss the situation and offer suggestions in connection with the local efforts being made to procure a sanatorium. A fiscal committee that has been working on the project for some time had received an offer from Messrs J. H. M. K. and F. I. Blount of the Westbrook property in the southern part of this city, to be converted into such a sanatorium but after careful study by the commissioners it was decided that in the long run the most satisfactory and cheapest method would be the erection of a sanatorium on a portion of the county home property in order that both institutions might be operated under a single head.

According to Mrs. McCain and McBrayer, it is expected that the plan worked out in other counties of the state that have already provided sanatoriums. Following a full discussion of the matter the commissioners took it under advisement for further study and those interested in preventing the further spread of the disease in this county are hopeful of favorable action on the part of the board.

BUSINESS MEN GIVE SUPPORT RIVER PROJECT

Association Believes Tonnage Report Will Be Sufficient to Warrant Project

The Eastern North Carolina Association, Incorporated, is busily engaged in compiling the tonnage data in connection with the Tar River project. This date is being compiled by commodities and will be put in the record in that form showing the tonnage and the savings which will result on account of the lower rates due to water transportation.

The association is receiving the full cooperation of all those receiving and shipping tonnage, however, it is not receiving the financial support it should receive. It might be pointed out that all the concerns in Greenville have not been solicited but will be given an opportunity to lend their financial support.

The following concerns in Greenville, so far, have contributed towards the expense of carrying on this proposition:

WEATHER MAN GIVES VARIETY

Record Heat, Blizzard and Floods Compose Today's Weather Menu

(By Associated Press)

Mid-summer heat in the east, a howling blizzard in parts of the west, and threatening floods in New England featured the variegated current bill offered by that veteran immemorial, the weather man.

In New York he offered odds to break an all time April high of 73.4 degrees set in 1892. That would be cheerful to citizens of Montana and Wyoming as they dig themselves out of 10-foot snow drifts piled up by a storm last night.

The thermometer reached 75 in New York yesterday while Washington reported 84 and Boston 72.

Massachusetts and Connecticut were keeping anxious eyes on the Connecticut river which had reached flood stage at several points. The present situation is not dangerous but there was fear that continued warm spell would cause further rise.

Other New England rivers were reported in the same condition.

BUSINESS WOMEN TO MEET AT OYSTER ROAST

New Bern, April 3.—Mrs. George A. Nicoll, president of the New Bern Business and Professional Women's clubs has invited the other clubs in this district to an oyster roast here on Monday, April 16.

Clubs in this district are Goldsboro New Bern, Smithfield, Clinton and Wilson. The district is to be hostess to the state convention in June at Wilson, and the local oyster roast will be the last of a series, held at the various towns in the district to make plans for the convention.

GOVERNMENT DEFICIT OVER TWO BILLION

Deficit Will Not Reach the Seven Billion Figure Estimated For June 30

Washington, April 3.—(AP)—The government closed the first nine months of its fiscal year today with expenditures of $8,848,004,000 and a deficit of $2,542,299,000.

As this was made known the treasury was planning billion dollars financing for April and noting what tangible evidences there were of business improvement.

Routine operating expenses at the close of March were $1,887,959,000 compared with revenues of $2,305,704,000. Emergency outlays exceeded the amount of the deficit.

Only three months of the fiscal year remain and treasury officials conceded that the emergency spending will not reach the seven billion dollar figure previously estimated for June 30.

The public debt at the close of March was $26,157,509,000 as compared with $21,362,464,000 a year ago. The rate of spending again dropped off in March to the lowest figure since November.

The total March outlay was $610,232,937 as compared with $635,321,855 for February and $980,579,087 the peak month of January.

Emergency operations for March were $449,808,000 or slightly more than February's $447,323,000.

DILLINGER REPORTED IN S. CAROLINA

Man With Machine Gun In Car Reported Seen In Vicinity Of Columbia

Columbia, S. C., April 3.—(AP)—State highway patrolmen rushed to Blaney, about 20 miles from here today, to investigate a report that a man with a machine gun in his automobile had been seen there.

Magistrate J. D. Watson of Blaney, telephoned A. R. Ward, assistant chief of highway law enforcement, if he felt the man in the automobile might have been John Dillinger, mid-western outlaw and killer.

Watson said the car was traveling at a rapid speed toward Columbia. He said he saw what he took to be a machine gun in the back seat.

In addition to dispatching the patrolmen to investigate, Ward asked city and county officials to keep a re-doubled lookout. He said he regarded it as doubtful that the man actually was Dillinger but "we don't want to take any chances," he said.

SUTTON WINS SUIT RECOVER HIS PROPERTY

Hearing of Suit Consumed Six and Half Days Before Reaching Jury

The jury in the Sutton case returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, J. W. Sutton, on all the contested issues about 3:30 this afternoon, after having the case under consideration since the noon hour. A motion by defense counsel to have the verdict set aside was denied by Judge J. P. Frazier and notice of appeal to the Supreme Court was given.

The hearing of the case was begun Tuesday morning of last week and consumed exactly six and a half days before reaching the jury. The case was an endeavor on the part of J. W. Sutton to recover property he alleges to have been disposed of through collusion and fraud during his state of incompetency over a period of about six years during which time the estate had been through the hands of two guardians and a receiver.

The last of the guardians instituted suit in behalf of Sutton and last year when Sutton was restored to competency he continued the original suit. The property involved in the suit was said to run upward of $300,000.

ABERNETHY LIKELY TO NAME MRS. GASKINS

New Bern, April 3.—Although definite decision has not yet been made, Representative Charles L. Abernethy, who is spending a few days here on an Easter vacation visit, states that he will very likely appoint his local stenographer, Mrs. Herbert E. Gaskins, as his Washington office secretary under a temporary appointment until he has had time to look around the district and choose a permanent successor to Miss Marion Overby, who resigned Friday after having served the congressmen during his entire stay in the national capital.

Representative and Mrs. Abernethy arrived by motor late Saturday for a visit here until Wednesday. They were accompanied by C. L. Abernethy, Jr., who has spent the week in Washington. The congressman continues to show improvement, following a prolonged period of ill health. He attended the Easter services Sunday at Centenary Methodist church, of which he is a member.

Only three months of the fiscal year remain and treasury officials conceded that the emergency spending will not reach the seven billion dollar figure previously estimated for June 30.

COLLEGE CHOIR BACK AFTER NORTHERN TOUR

Guilford College, April 3.—The Guilford College choir returned here late last night after making its fourth annual concert tour through the north, which lasted nine days and carried the college singers over 1,500 miles.

During the trip the Guilford chorus gave 15 performances and sang before a total of approximately 6,000 persons, besides broadcasting over a nation-wide radio hook-up from New York City. The singers performed in New York also at Columbia University and at John Wanamaker auditorium as well as in Wilmington, Del., Atlantic City, Washington and other places.

BODY OF MAN FOUND BESIDE RAIL TRACK

Charlotte, April 3.—The body of Clarence Weaver, 25, who made his home at 1030 North Caldwell street, was found early yesterday morning on the Seaboard Air Line railway at the crossing by two Observer news carrier boys. It is supposed the man attempted to get aboard a moving train.

The young man is survived by his father, Will Weaver of Charlotte, a brother, Loyd, and three sisters, Beulah, Estelle, and Pauline all of Rock Hill, S. C. Burial will be in Gastonia, probably, Tuesday, in the meantime the body will be at the Hovis mortuary.

G. O. P. Gather At Charlotte

Charlotte, April 3.—(AP)—Republican leaders from all parts of the state began to converge upon Charlotte today in preparation for the bi-ennial state convention tomorrow which promises to produce a lively fight for the chairmanship and control of the party's machinery.

Two meetings are on today's program. The committee on organization headed by former Representative Charles A. Jonas, was called to meet at 10 a. m. and the committee on platform, of which Jake F. Newell is chairman, is scheduled to meet at 3 p. m.

Judith Lane

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Although it means a separation from her husband, Norman Dale, Judith has determined to go ahead with the building of Big Tom's dam...

JUDITH'S ALLY

JUDITH laughed—"thanks, Clia, but I don't move in with you until we can afford a cook. Now, have you everything you want on the will contest?"

"Yes... say Jude, I don't see how you can lose."

"We can't if Lampere hasn't some underhanded tricks up his sleeve."

"How long will it take you to get down there?"

"I'll be in San Antonio in the morning, change for Laredo, and I should be in early in the afternoon, then I'll wait for the work train leaving for the dam. We rebuilt the spur, you know. Had to have it to carry supplies in."

"Think I'll come down and spend my vacation with you... there's Ligo signalling you... and there's your train... you better go to the train and I'll handle Ligo."

They started towards the train, and on the inner platform, found a hilarious crowd gathered about the colored people's waiting room.

Cunard looked over their heads and smiled—"some old mammy's bag has burst its straps and she's as mad as hops," he explained.

Judith and her party started to push through the confusion of milling, last moment crowds, then above the medley of puffing engines, rattling cars, train calls and chatter, heard something which brought her to a stop.

"Black boy," warned a familiar voice, "if you al's much as lay a finger to that can a chocolate, I'll skin your hide offen you with this here busted strap."

Judith deserted the others and darted back through the crowd. Her suspicions were justified for there, guarding a huge "telescope" which had spilled its contents onto the pavement, hovered a perspiring, bewildered Delphinium, resplendent in black taffeta gown and towering purple hat.

"Delphy!" cried Judith. The old woman looked up—"I tote Lige that strap wouldn't hold," she complained.

"Delphy, what are you doing here?"

"Ize gwine 'long with you, Miz Dale. Think I'm lettin' you go-long down there 'mongst a lot a Mexicans with nothin' to eat but mantillas an' holy beans?"

"Tortillas and frijoles," corrected Judith automatically, and then she laughed, for alongside of the can of chocolate was the familiar red brick.

With the help of a red cap, Delphy repacked her bag and roped it, then made for her car—"I'll be 'long back to see you is settled," she promised as she was hoisted up the steps.

THE train pulled out. Judith leaned a hot cheek against the cool pane. They left the train yards and began moving slowly through a maze of little houses.

Twilight eased down, children played in and out of the blue circle of street lamps, then there were fields with just an occasional farm house, yellow windowed against their black background.

Judith turned from the window, everywhere she looked she found evidence of home life. She turned to an ultra modern magazine Clia had contributed. At least here she'd find no saccharine ending, she could depend upon something astrikingly truthful, something wholesomely bitter. She skimmed through and tossed it aside in distaste, the stories in that might be true to the exception, but not to the lives of those people in the little houses.

Delphy waddled down the aisle, held laughing conferences with the car porter and waddled away again.

When the porter made Judith's berth, she was surprised to find one of her own fluffy blue checked blankets on top. She had no more than settled under it when Delphy appeared with her inevitable cup of chocolate.

"Spilled the first one," she wheezed, sitting down on the edge of the berth carelessly, "so I got that nice lookin' dinin' car cap'n to carry this long down fo' me."

Judith sipped the hot chocolate and thought of the nights she had gone through this little ceremony since her marriage. The night table with its circle of shell-pink light and just outside the circle, Delphy standing waiting for the cup to be emptied. No question but the love and care the old woman had given her had brought her renewed health and strength. Could it be that Norman realized this and had sent her on to care for her?

Colored servants rarely saved money, they were too eager to live each day to its fullness and Delphy, Judith knew belonged to a number of lodges and "Burial Associations" which drained her purse with their fees and sociables.

"Delphy," questioned Judith, as she replaced the emptied cup in the saucer, "where did you get the money for your ticket?"

"I got it honest," she said at length, and then she began to chuckle, "Yas mam, I shu' got it honest."

Judith laughed with her—"I wasn't questioning your honesty Delphy, I was just wondering."

"Well shu'," she confessed, "I got it shootin' crap with Lige. I beat him."

Judith continued to laugh, but there was heartache in her laugh. Norman hadn't sent Delphy along.

"What do you think Mr. Dale will say when he hears you've left him?" she inquired.

Delphy sobered—"I ain't carin'," she said beligerently, "I bring him up good, now he kin git along. Lige'll take care of him, you's my sponsibility."

JUDITH found her purse and refunded the money. "If you are going to work for me, I'm going to pay your expenses," she insisted, "don't worry, I have a job, well have to keep our expenses within the amount I make, though."

"There," said Delphy triumphantly, "I tote that Lige you didn't have no millions of dollars. He read in the newspapers you had but I know better. What kind of a house we goin' to live in?" she inquired with interest.

Judith sighed. She supposed she should send Delphy back. She wasn't young and perhaps she couldn't stand living in a tent. They would have to send for a big one.

"We haven't a house, Delphy, just a tent, a small one, until I can send for another."

"One of them dog tents?" inquired Delphy with interest.

Judith laughed—"No, not a pup tent, we'll wait and see, before we worry, won't we Delphy?"

"Sure will, now you go-long to sleep. You's been lookin' pinchy since Ma's Tom died."

The next day seemed endless to Judith. After the tropical beauty of San Antonio, the plains, even with their wealth of purple-headed blue-bonnets, were monotonous. She wanted to turn back to Norman. She wanted to explain why she had acted as she had, to let him explain his actions. They had never discussed the Bevins will, they had avoided it like coals. Perhaps if they talked things over they might have reached an agreement of some sort.

At Laredo she changed her smart travelling frock for the khaki outfit she wore in the field, then waited for the work train. It came in and the crew gave her high welcome and encouraging news of the dam city, which had been called "Big Tom" by the men who worked there.

"Got your eyebrows on straight?" inquired the engineer quizzically as the train approached the dam.

Judith looked up—"You can always depend upon their being straight," she said, but she looked into her purse mirror to make sure.

The train stopped. Judith started to step out of the cab. There was a queer stillness outside, the kind left by the sudden stopping of vast machinery.

Judith looked down. Below her was a sea of faces, a patchwork of sunbronzed faces on a khaki background.

For a moment she stood as though paralyzed. These men... hundreds of them... women too on the fringe of the crowd... children hoisted to tall shoulders... they were there to greet her.

For that moment she couldn't speak, and then impulsively she pulled her hat from her head and held it high.

"Howdy gang!" she shouted. The response came back in a roar, a hip-hip-hurrah, hip-hip-hurrah, hip-hip-hurrah!

Three times it rang out over the desert land and the dam sent back a faint echo as though some ethereal voice were joining in the welcome.

Timon in mighty paean came a-changin'—"Miss Judy, our Miss Judy!"

And faintly—"our Miss Judy." They stood now in silence waiting for her to speak. Someone had lighted a flare and stood beside her.

TOBACCO FIRM SUED FOR $150,000 DAMAGES

Grensboro, April 3.—Civil actions in which damages of $100,000 and $50,000 respectively are sought have been started in United States Court by Frances Imogene Lamb, by her next friend V. M. Lamb, and Otis Johnson, against the Imperial Tobacco Company, Limited, of Great Britain and Ireland.

The suit is to recover damages for injuries alleged to have been suffered by the plaintiffs when the automobile in which they were riding ran into the rear of one of the defendants tobacco trucks, which had been parked on the highway. The crash was alleged to have occurred December 15 between Mount Airy and Pilot Mountain as the plaintiffs were traveling to the latter place for a school basketball game. It was alleged the truck had no lights burning and that the crash was the result of negligence on the part of agents of the defendant.

A Correction.

In yesterday's paper in the story of the fires over the week-end, we stated that the one Sunday afternoon was at the home of a colored family on 14th street. This was an error.

The fire was at the home of P. R. Ricks (white) on 14th street.

The other two fires were a colored church and the home of Daniel Langley, colored.

GIBBS-CRANDALL

Mrs. Lizzie Crandall announces the marriage of her daughter Mildred to Mr. Bryan Gibbs on Sunday, April 1st, 1934 Farmville, North Carolina

DUPREE-HARRIS

Miss Anna Elizabeth Harris and James Thomas Dupree, Jr. were quietly married at eleven o'clock Monday at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Ledyard E. Ross.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with ferns, lily and baskets of colorful spring flowers, making an effective background for the simple but beautiful marriage.

The marriage came as a surprise and only a few relatives and friends were present.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. L. B. Tucker, at the piano, played "Love Dreams," by Brown. As the strains from Lohengrin were heard, the bride and groom took their places where Elder J. B. Roberts, a Primitive Baptist Minister, performed the ceremony of impressiveness.

Took CARDUI During The Change of Life

Cardui is purely vegetable, harmless, for women of all ages. Many women who have used it advise their daughters and friends to try it. "I took Cardui for weakness during the change of life," writes Mrs. Clara C. Allen, of Enfield, Ill. "It helped me and built up my strength. I also gave it to my two daughters and they were helped. I think Cardui is a good medicine during the change and for girls."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

and beauty. "To a Wild Rose," by Edward MacDowell, was played softly during the ceremony.

The bride was aided in a lovely suit of blue and grey with white accessories.

The bride is an attractive daughter of S. M. Harris of Belvoir, and is a graduate of East Carolina Teachers College.

The groom is the son of J. T. Dupree, Sr., and is a prosperous merchant and farmer of Belvoir. He is a graduate of Belvoir high school.

Immediately after the ceremony Mrs. Ross served a bride's luncheon to the bride and groom and a few relatives and friends present, assisted by her children, Leah Mildred and Ledyard E. Ross, Jr.

The young couple left immediately after luncheon for an extended trip to Washington, D. C. and other points. On their return they will make their home with the groom's parents.

EASTER CANTATA JARVIS MEMORIAL M. E. CHURCH

On Easter Sunday evening the choir of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, assisted by Dr. E. J. Slay and Sprull Spain, gave the beautiful Easter Cantata "Immortality," composed by R. M. Stultz. This delightful musical composition was well received by an unusually large congregation that filled the main auditorium of the church and overflowed into the adjoining assembly room.

The Easter theme has been the inspiration of numerous cantatas, orations, carols, and other musical productions. The joyous emotions awakened by a contemplation of the Resurrection of Jesus find fitting expression in sacred harmony. This brief and timely composition by Prof. Stultz is one of the very best of the more recent cantatas. The scriptural passages selected for the three parts of the cantata are well chosen and the musical setting reveals not only the work of a master in musical technique, but of a man of genuine religious instinct. The first part of the cantata is composed of prophetic utterances of the Old Testament writers concerning the Coming One who should prevail against all human foes and finally conquer death. The second part is taken from the gospel story of the actual resurrection of Christ. Part three is a brief review of the teachings on immortality by Jesus and St. Paul.

From the opening chorus of triumphant faith, "O Clap Your Hands All Ye People," to the closing one of joyous victory, "O Death Where Is Thy Sting," the choruses, solos, duets, quartettes and recitations move onward with delightful variety and an accumulating spirit of triumph, ending in a great shout of victory and assurance. There are minor strains of sorrow as the early visitors at the tomb find it empty and fear that his enemies have stolen even the body of their Master. Once of twice here there is a hint of the plaintive strain that forth again upon the appearance of the risen Redeemer and finds expression in a triumphant chorus, "Angels Hallelujah Rock Away," which closes the second part.

The choir and assisting singers gave an excellent rendition of this delightful composition. Every singer gave a good account of himself. The production revealed painstaking rehearsal and hard work in preparation, in addition to the native talent and particular training of each singer. The choir was under the direction of Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley and one bears nothing but praise of her work as the director of the production and of her superior work at the organ. Every singer deserves equal praise but it is futile to try to mention names.

We hope that the people of Greenville may have the privilege of hearing many such productions in the future.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Reality" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 1.

The golden text was from Lamentations 5:19: "Thou, O Lord, remainest for ever; thy throne from generation to generation."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "For since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him." (Isaiah 64:4).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In the material world, thought is brought to light with great rapidity many useful wonders. With like activity have thoughts' swift pinions been rising toward the realm of the real, to the spiritual cause of those lower things which give impulse to inquiry. Belief in a material basis, from which may be deduced all rationality, is slowly yielding to the idea of a metaphysical basis, looking away from matter to Mind as the cause of every effect."

ARTHUR WINS BOTH SIDES OF TRIANGULAR DEBATE

Both the negative and affirmative teams of the Arthur school won in the triangular debate over the Condee teams Monday afternoon. Red Oak was to have been in the triangle but withdrew, leaving only the two schools. The debates were held Monday rather than Friday night, due to the illness of a Condee debater.

Nannie Lucas Niles and Marjorie Flanagan upheld the Arthur affirmative, while Nancy Flanagan and Verna Joyner were the negative speakers.

Fifty-three blood tests were necessary to find the correct type of blood for a recent transfusion.

The Missing Feather

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Christopher gave a mighty leap and flew down to the ground. To his great surprise he found himself safe and free.

The monkeys were hurrying away for they felt that Christopher would be after them. But so close had Christopher come to being crushed by the lion that it was all he could do to realize that he was alive.

He sat for a while in the sunshine. Then he got up, picked up the things the monkey had dropped from his nest, and flew back to the tree.

There he stayed for a long, long time. He took a nap, and after another long time spent in sitting and thinking he finally flew away on a little trip of his own. He would see if any seeds were being planted. He needed some refreshment.

Willy Nilly had been down to the pond begging the elephants to give the ducks a chance. Some days the ducks had the pond all to themselves and were as happy as could be and at other times the elephants acted as though it all belonged to them. They were through bathing now, and Willy Nilly, having missed the sight of Christopher's narrow escape, was walking back.

The sun was beginning to go down, the air was mild, a gentle breeze was blowing and the circus wagons and tents, the animals and the people, all made Puddle Middle seem like a place of magic when Willy Nilly heard a great rattling of tips and pans. He walked back of the cook tent and saw Jelly Bear in the midst of them.

"Come quickly! You'll get into trouble if you don't," he said. But Jelly Bear wouldn't move. He was much too busy licking tins.

New York Cotton

New York, April 3.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady 2 to 4 lower under liquidation and foreign selling in response to disappointing Liverpool cables. Fluctuations were within narrow range and at the end of the first half hour prices recovered to within a point or so of the previous closing level. The market became steadier on trade buying influenced by firmness of foreign exchanges. May sold up from 11.90 to 11.93 and October 12.15 to 12.20, or back within about a point of the previous closing level with the market holding at these prices at midday.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 3.—(AP)—Only feeble flutters characterized the stock market trading during the greater part of today's session. Dullness was pronounced and prices as a whole recorded inconsequential variations. While there were soft and firm stock apparent the list was virtually at a standstill. Grains were a little depressing with wheat and corn falling nearly a cent a bushel at one time. Cotton, silver and rubber traveled in a small fractional range. Bonds were quiet and a trifle mixed. Sterling developed strength in terms of the dollar but other exchanges were narrow. A steady to firm tone prevailed in American Telephone, U. S. Smelting, American Smelting and Santa Fe, Consolidated Gas and Chrysler were a bit lower. Transfers approximated 1,050,000 shares.

HENDERSON LEANS TO HORIZONTAL REDUCTION

Henderson, April 3.—A horizontal cut in the Federal tax on cigarettes, instead of a differential for the ten-cent brands, is generally favored here, so far as has been learned, and there is a widespread opinion that the horizontal cut would make for higher prices for growers. Henderson is located in the heart of the bright leaf flue-cured belt that grows the best cigarette tobacco available. It has been argued that a horizontal tax cut would be of greater benefit to growers of this type of the yellow weed.

BOARD TO CONSIDER CONTRACT WITH PWA

Rocky Mount, April 3.—The Public Works Administration's contract for the loan and grant of $310,000 for the construction of a municipal water plant and storage tank, which is now in the hands of City Manager Aycock, will be submitted to the board of aldermen at its meeting on April 5. The board is expected to take action on it at this time. If accepted unchanged by the board, the city will be under obligation to pay the Federal government $9,000 each year from 1935 to 1944 and $10,000 each year from 1945 to 1959. The interest rate is 4 per cent. The city will have repaid the government $240,000 and interest at the end of that time. Of the $310,000 appropriated, $70,000 is an outright grant of the Federal government and will not be repaid. The city will issue bonds for $240,000 for the loan.

"AA" TOBACCO FERTILIZERS Unexcelled For Three Generations In Producing The Finest Quality Tobacco Grown For Sale By Blount-Harvey Co., Greenville, N.C.

DRAW A CIRCLE AROUND THE CENTER OF THIS FINE TOBACCO PLANT "It's toasted" Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat These are the Center Leaves—the Mildest Leaves—the heart of Lucky Strike As you can see from this picture— Luckies' fine, smooth quality doesn't just happen—for we use only the center leaves! Not the top leaves because those are under-developed—not ripe. Not the bottom leaves because those are inferior in quality—they grow close to the ground and are dirt-covered, coarse, sandy. We select only the center leaves—for which farmers are paid higher prices—for the center leaves are the mildest leaves—they taste better—then—"It's toasted"—for throat protection. And every Lucky is fully packed with these choice tobaccos—made round and firm—free from loose ends—that's why Luckies do not dry out. Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat. NOT the top leaves—they're under-developed—they are harsh! They taste better NOT the bottom leaves—they're inferior in quality—coarse and sandy!
